They prayed you through to the other side,
With concern and love never denied.
All heaven rejoices when you get back up,
To dust off your backside and swallow your cup.

Yes, dear one, we never doubted your flame.
We know you were lit, never to be the same.
We see that little cherub grin of yours,
As you sit in that saddle preparing to pour.

Yes, you feel a little silly and shy
Having born the weight of what you've denied.
We laugh in joy as your humor returns,
As you chuckle about all the concerns.

It's not when you fall but when you get back up,
That heaven records history about tough stuff.
Now take the reigns and sit up straight
Turn your eyes to Me looking for your fate.

Thank you dear one, for returning to Me.
I've missed you, and waited for you to see -
That your peace is only found in one place,
Tucked in My heart, looking not towards disgrace.

Luke 22:60-62 NKJV
But Peter said, "Man, I do not know what you are saying!" Immediately, while he was still speaking, the rooster crowed. And the Lord turned and looked at Peter . Then Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how He had said to him, "Before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times." So Peter went out and wept bitterly.

John 21:3-7 NKJV
Simon Peter said to them, "I am going fishing." They said to him, "We are going with you also." They went out and immediately got into the boat, and that night they caught nothing. But when the morning had now come, Jesus stood on the shore; yet the disciples did not know that it was Jesus. Then Jesus said to them, "Children, have you any food?" They answered Him, "No." And He said to them, "Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and you will find some." So they cast, and now they were not able to draw it in because of the multitude of fish. Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter , "It is the Lord!"

Did You Learn To Love?
Sandy Warner

Apr 27, 2005
DID YOU LEARN TO LOVE?
I have called you My anointed child, after My own name, destined to reflect My image. Dear one, as you are overcoming so much pain, remember I suffered all the same things for you and for the whole world.

You see all the imperfections that are being burned out of the flesh and soul. I only look for love. Remember, that in everything you do and all that you are, only your motive of love is what matters. Whenever you see My heart, I will ask you, "And did you learn to love?" The only way you can love is to not focus on your own miseries and failures, but to focus on My heart which is to serve and lift others. I know that deep inside your service is a heart which loves.

1 John 4:16-21 NLT
God is love , and all who live in love live in God, and God lives in them. And as we live in God, our love grows more perfect. So we will not be afraid on the day of judgment, but we can face him with confidence because we are like Christ here in this world.

Such love has no fear because perfect love expels all fear. If we are afraid, it is for fear of judgment, and this shows that his love has not been perfected in us. We love each other as a result of his loving us first.

If someone says, "I love God," but hates a Christian brother or sister, that person is a liar; for if we don't love people we can see, how can we love God, whom we have not seen? And God himself has commanded that we must love not only him but our Christian brothers and sisters, too.

Store Front Image In The Market Place
Sandy Warner

Apr 25, 2005
STORE FRONT IMAGE IN THE MARKET PLACE
I AM opening a door for My people to walk into the marketplace. As I lead you, I am redesigning your image, that "store front" that others see. I am helping you set your boundaries for the overall appearance and the appeal of your testimony. Trust Me to fill in the details later. I want you to know that you are doing a good job in your preparation behind the scenes. You are not overbearing, nor coming on too strong, and not too small, but I AM building you just right.

I am bringing you into agreement and settlement towards setting a righteous example in a world contaminated and inundated with sales and marketing. Lean on Me to help you keep a balance in your vision and plan. You shall have the added comfort of joining with others in unity and you shall not walk alone. It is My joy to give you open doors of access, to give you the Kingdom and a pair of wings to rise in faith. Stay with Me and we shall do this together with one heart.

Prov 29:18 AMP
Where there is no vision [no redemptive revelation of God], the people perish; but he who keeps the law [of God, which includes that of man] — blessed (happy, fortunate, and enviable) is he. [1 Sam 3:1; Amos 8:11,12.]

To Break The Constraints Of Silence
Sandy Warner

May 1, 2005
TO BREAK THE CONSTRAINTS OF SILENCE
Deep within the recesses of every man's soul,
Is the yearning for acceptance, to be made whole.
Buried among the years of lingering echoes,
Behind a wall of pain are stories no one knows.

Some are long forgotten, dead and quite buried.
Others are frozen in hearts numbed from caring.
Some press beneath the surface ready to explode.
Others embed inside, journeying to implode.

I have cried over the hearts of My people,
Limping through their lives of enshrined, secret lull.
Their hush over pain is crying for release,
As bodies are decaying in secret disease.

Let Me wash the shrouded tombs of your souls.
I long to touch You, to make you whole.
I long to hold you in My warm embrace,
That you no longer suffer silent disgrace.

When I draw close and bring your pain to the surface,
Know your Master Surgeon is there for a purpose.
Lean on Me in the pain that you feel.
Trust Me in your stories that are so real.

Share them in the safety of a private place,
Expecting My touch as you reveal your face.
Trust Me that betrayal will not touch you.
As you feel exposed and fragile too.

And when you are laid bare for another to see
What you have walked through in history,
I will wash your wounds that have traveled so far,
With My salve of love and favor over old scars.

You will find that when your story is washed clean,
Freedom to share it for another's self esteem
Will loose and set free, healing their own dignity,
From their silent stories entombed in self pity.

It is in the sharing that I bring healing,
And you will know the layers are done peeling
When it no longer hurts to share the old places
For the sake of love to touch another's disgraces.

For all you have walked through will be redeemed
With power, to bring others My favor esteemed.
Rejoice that I will give your story life to heal,
As others sup at your table and taste your meal.

Matt 9:12-13 NLT
When he heard this, Jesus replied, "Healthy people don't need a doctor — sick people do." Then he added, "Now go and learn the meaning of this Scripture: 'I want you to be merciful; I don't want your sacrifices.' For I have come to call sinners, not those who think they are already good enough."

3 John 2 NKJV
Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers.

Truth Between 2 Poles
Sandy Warner

Apr 29, 2005
TRUTH BETWEEN 2 POLES
The truth about Truth... is that all Truth is held between the tension of 2 poles. Within everything that is supernatural there are 2 opposite interpretations, the demonic side and the heavenly side. Something that is not purely one side or the other, is mixed with soul and/or demonic. The enemy always uses truth as a drawing card, and then he subtlety twists it just enough for us to swallow it.

It is true that you can find meat and sustenance in anything, if you spit out all the bones. Now is the time when all things inspired are coming to fruition, both from the demonic and the heavenly. You are now in a time where I will be teaching you how to discern between the clean and the unclean, how to keep the good gifts and heed the warnings from negative ones, and how to keep your focus on My perspective and not the enemy's.

Ezekiel 44:23 NKJV
And they shall teach My people the difference between the holy and the unholy, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.

Breakthrough Prayer

Kluane Spake

(Spake@Mindspring.Com)
Www.Kluane.Org

When I was a new Christian, our group somehow thought that we were responsible for praying for everything that happened everywhere. We intensely and obsessively prayed -- night and day. But, somewhere along the line, we became exhausted with the burden of responsibility that somehow it all depended on us and how loud and long we prayed. We didn't realize that God looks on the enemy and laughs! Why were we sooooo worried?

As we all know, when truth advances there is much opposition. And, as with every advance, there is always misunderstanding and opposition from those who believe that Christians must function from a position of powerlessness and entropy. As we are delivered from tradition and renewed in the spirit of our minds, then our prayers become seasoned with redemptive truth.

It all happened for me the day, someone explained that I personally wasn't called to "stand in the gap" like everyone kept insisting. The Old Covenant needed a person to stand in the gap, but not the New. What a tremendous burden was lifted when I found out that right this very minute, Jesus stands in the gap -- He is the Great Intercessor ever praying for us (Heb. 7:25). He prays "FOR US," not just "in our behalf," (which is an awesome revelation in itself), but Jesus prays "for us" in our stead! (Selah! -- Think about it!) Our part in His ministry of intercession -- is bold and accurate and never grievous or strained (Matt. 11:30). The Holy Spirit "comes along side" to be our partner in prayer. We can confidently pray in a supernatural co-laborship with our extraordinary God.

We must remember that it's possible to study the Bible like a Pharisee and never connect with the Spirit of God (John 5:37). Likewise, many of our prayers have become just long shopping lists. We must remind ourselves that the purpose of our prayer life is to encounter a real Person.

A new determination has come upon me to recapture the vital sense of God's abiding presence. Many of us long to reconnect in significant and passionate way to our God. It's time to recaptivate that once familiar awe and wonder -- the amazement that He ever lives IN us. He, who is the consummation of all things, inhabits us and ever intercedes for us... that we might find Truth. Prayer brings us face to face with God as we arise back to the Garden image of God and co-existence with Him.

Many of us have now been set from laborious prayers that spring from obligation and duty -- today, we expect LIFE to jump out and captivate us. Never again will we pray in rote and routine ways -- or even empty loud and long ways -- we just want to touch God and have Him vibrate through our every thought. We want to be able to re-connect INTO Christ His purposes.

It is the Holy Spirit living within us that prompts us to pray. Effectual fervent prayer (Jms. 5:15-16) is an example of where our directed spiritual energy can "release" the spiritual dimension of light. Consider God's Word (spiritual light) to be the "cause" in a cause and effect relationship. We now pray according to the Word. Prayer is a spiritual process -- the force of which cannot be seen with our natural eyes. The SEEING happens when our prayers become the activation of truth ALREADY imparted. We SEE that God's intensions are already accomplished and we pull (decree, declare) the spiritual realm into our dimension (on earth, as it is in heaven). The "effect" (spiritual transaction) would be the equivalent of "spiritual energy," (i.e., answers, insight, visible miracles, or revelation) that we receive in return.

Accurate prayer causes things to happen. Prayer won't cause faith to work. It is faith that causes prayer to work. It is useless and redundant to ask God to do what He has already deemed finished.

It is meaningless to ask God to do what He has assigned us to do. God knows what we need before we even ask (Jn. 11:41-42). The Father has already heard... BEFORE you pray. It is not a struggle.

Prayer creatively connects with God and forcefully lay hold of His truth. Prayer is the will of God pronounced through effective petitions and thanksgiving.

Prayer accesses the Lord's distinctly pre-proclaimed eternal objectives and then speaks it -- giving birth to His designs upon the earth. Prayer signals heaven that God's for-ordained purposes should now come forth. It is the nuclear missile aimed to shoot deeply into the regions that will discharge the Kingdom.

The Holy Spirit enables us with discernment, in-SIGHT, and meaningful gifts so that we might speak our declarations and deliver our petitions correctly (Phil. 2:5, 1 Cor. 2:16).

Accurate prayer is stated from a finished position that comprehends that the work of the cross is accomplished -- the Lord calls us to stand and declare from that place of completion and triumph. No devil can stop us. We must agree with God.

Prayer speaks with full authority to decree God's comprehensive and worldwide governmental victory over religion (& religious people), and against racial and unequal mentalities. It dismantles long standing rigid mindsets.

Prayer establishes God's ways of thinking and mentality. It declares His reality, order, and organization over the spiritual environment that relates to our lives.

Our prayer time must become an anticipated time, rather than a legalistic burden. The most important time is that of meditation and listening. SPEND MORE TIME LISTENING THAN SPEAKING. When we do speak words -- let them be focused, innovational, substantial, and resolute.

Prayer opens the door to creativity and new thought (Ps. 92:1-6).

Prayer is not begging or pleading. Prayer must not begin from weakness but must forcefully demolish old impotent ground. Anything that resists God's purpose must be torn down and illuminated. Decisive prayer plows up the new ground in preparation for the necessary tasks of the Kingdom. We combine forces with God to revolutionize that which He desires.

The prayerful power of agreement liberates and releases intentional unity that galvanizes the Holy Spirit into action (Acts 1:14, 2:1, 2:46). It harmonizes ("sumphoneo" or causes our intentions to be in symphony) with others.

The Holy Spirit enables precise expression that causes us, the believer, to deliver accurate and profound proclamations that release the ascendancy of the Lord over all the earth.

Prayer releases the living hope to know that God's plans can never be ruined in your life. There's no expiration on your God given dreams.

Prayer provides us with understanding (Eph. 3:13-21, 6:18-19). It affects and inspires our thoughts. It informs us of our deficiencies so that we can adjust our mind-set, behavior, and character to His Word. (God lets us know -- but we must bring our own incorrect emotions and behavior under control. Self control is a personal and rational decision - not a prayer request. There's not an easy way out or a quick fix. God waits to lead us into the fullness of character and likeness.)

Prayer is the issue out our inner being that conjoins our affections with His. We learn to reproduce His attitude towards others (Eph. 1:15-20, 1 Thess. 1:1-3) and release His compassion and care.

We don't need to pray for the harvest, but to release (ekballo -- the driving, expelling, thrusting, plunging forward) the workers of the harvest (Lk. 10:2). We should pray for other ministries (Act 12:5, 12:17, 2 Thes. 1:3, 11, 12, 2 Thes. 3:1-5).We pray for open doors, we break through closed doors.

Prayer is cherished fellowship that communes with God (2 Cor. 1:2-4) with worship and thankfulness (Eph. 1:1-11). It influences our thoughts and dreams. Prayer absorbs guidance and wisdom. Prayer is LIFE in God NOW.

Prayer is a time to obtain answers, take action, and achieve victory (2 Cor. 2:14). It gives us strength (Ps. 105:4, etc.) and confident expectation. Prayer renews our faith, hope, and love.

Our prayers ask that God will give the nations our inheritance (That means that they will obtain the same inheritance as we do. Read this verse without the interjected words of the translators. Ps. 2:8). Our words release rulership and dominion.

Prayer moves us into the power of love and a sound mind (2 Tim. 1;7, Daniel 6:10, 1 Peter 5:7-8 AMP). (A sound mind is able to resist irrational "feelings." A sound mind is capable of choosing properly. The transformed intelligent mind is essential to victorious living.)

Prayer penetrates the spirit realm and obtains answers that can be seen = results, (Phil. 4:4-6). It gives us guidance and wisdom (1 Thes. 5:17, 18, 23, 24, 28, Jam. 1:5-8, 17).

We governmentally decree what God has pre-ordained from eternity past (Mic. 7:11, Ez 6). We speak out the Word of God upon all situations. It is not just verbalizing to God but also a commanding of the circumstance in accordance with His purposes.

As we speak out the mind of God in prayer to release angels to perform invisible functions that accomplish the Word. Prayer looses God's kingdom on earth and in our lives as it is in heaven.

Effective prayers SEE with open eyes of understanding into the spiritual realm. With creative words, we make authoritative, apostolic declarations that take ascendancy over the present system. Now, even when we pray for hours, we sense targeted victory. When we pray decisively, it's always effective.

YOURSELF: Pray for direction and that your have good timing (Matt 24:19-21). Pray that you escape evil (Luke 21:36), not fall into temptation (Matt. 26:41, Luke 22:40), and will do what is right (2 Cor. 13:7).

MINISTERS: Pray for ministers and their plans to come to pass (Rom 1:10). Pray that they be rescued from evil doers (Rom 15:31, 2 Thess. 3:2). Pray that they might clearly declare the mystery of the gospel (Eph. 6:19-20) through open doors for the message (Col 4:3-5). Pray that the message of the Lord spread rapidly and be honored (2 Thess 3:1-2). Pray that ministers have a clear conscience and live honorably in every way (Heb 13:18-19).

HOW: Pray with your human spirit and your MIND (1 Cor. 14:13-16). Pray that you and others will be strengthened and established in love (Eph 3:16-19). Pray for unity (Jn. 17:20-21). Pray that you and others can interpret tongues (1 Cor. 14:13-14). Pray always and don't give up (Luke 18:1). Pray with joy (Phil 1:4) using meaningful words knowing that God already knows what you need (Mat. 6:18).

Pray without ceasing (Lk. 1:1). Pray for the widow (1 Tim 5:5-6) and those that are and will be the Lord (Jn. 17:9-10, 20-21). Pray that those who sin will be given life (1 Jn. 5:16-17).

OTHERS: Pray in the Spirit with all kinds of prayers for all saints (Eph. 6:17-18). Pray for others that they might share their faith and understand their inheritance (Phi. 6). That they enjoy good health (3 John 2-3). That they would belong to God (Jn. 17:9-10). That they would not do wrong and stand the test (2 Cor. 13:7). That they grow (Acts 27:29) and understand the power and inheritance in the saints (Eph. 1:18-21). That Christ dwell in their hearts through faith (Eph. 3:16-17) until they know the love of Christ and be filled with the fullness of God (Eph. 3:18-19). That they live a life pleasing to God (Col. 1;10-11). Pray for those who mistreat you (Luke 6:28-29). Elders pray for the sick (Jm. 5:13:16 -- while believers "lay hands" on the sick). Pray that others enjoy good health and that all goes well with them (3 John 2).

Black Umbrellas

Bob Steward

I Saw A Vision...

I saw a vision of large group of people, crowded together, holding up & opened over their heads - black umbrellas. I didn't actually see the people but only a plethora of black umbrellas, very close together. Then I looked up and saw & felt raindrops landing on my face. This water was so refreshing and I was sensing so much love from God. What a joy I was having in this rain!! It seemed to me that this rain was coming from God and that He wanted to saturate us with this rain.

Again, I looked at the huge cluster of opened black umbrellas, I asked Father God, "How are the people going to receive the rain You are showering down on us? What do You want me to do to have them lower and close their umbrellas?"

It was then, that I noticed that I, too, was holding an umbrella, but mine was down & closed. As my attention was drawn back to the black umbrellas before me, I saw, one by one, each umbrella being lowered and closed, and each person fixing his & her gaze upwards to allow the raindrops to fall on their face. Quickly, the people were saturated by the water as they just stood there with joyous expressions on their faces while being refreshed by God's rain.

After pondering about 'what was God showing to me', He revealed to me the meaning. The opened black umbrellas, the people were holding up to keep dry, were the 'fears', 'doubts', 'unbelief', and 'pride' that prevented them from receiving all that God was raining down on us. The 'rain' was God's Word that He is speaking to us, namely -- wisdom, love, encouragement, understanding, discernment, compassion, & kindness, and much more, to help us, heal & deliver us, refresh & guide us, counsel & give us insight. All to cause an ever-increasing intimacy in our relationship with Him.

I believe that God is saying to us, "Trust Me. Turn from and renounce those 'things' which are preventing you from fully surrendering to and following Me. I desire for you to have intimacy, closeness, fulfillment, and friendship with Me. Allow My Word to saturate you, cleanse you, refresh you and cause you to be full of joy. I love you and have given Myself up for you to make you holy, cleansing you by the washing with water through My Word, to present you to Me, as a radiant church, My bride, without stain or wrinkle or any other blemish, but holy and blameless."

The Lord also says, "I have set you free from all your all your sins, (those things which are hindering you from being My disciples), by My shed Blood. So I say, Humble yourselves and cast away the black umbrellas and be refreshed by My Word & filled with Me."

Blistering Heat

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Jan 31st, 2005 12:12 am

The Lord said to me “blistering heat” so I asked what He wanted to say and I looked up heat and what stood out from those scriptures:

2 Peter 3:10-12 NKJV The Day of the Lord
But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a great noise, and the elements will melt with fervent heat; both the earth and the works that are in it will be burned up. 11 Therefore, since all these things will be dissolved, what manner of persons ought you to be in holy conduct and godliness, 12 looking for and hastening the coming of the day of God, because of which the heavens will be dissolved, being on fire, and the elements will melt with fervent heat?

Rev 16:8-9 NKJV Fourth Bowl: Men Are Scorched
Then the fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun, and power was given to him to scorch men with fire. 9 And men were scorched with great heat, and they blasphemed the name of God who has power over these plagues; and they did not repent and give Him glory.

“ The Day of the Lord comes burning like an oven and all those who are proud will be stubble. There will come a day that will scorch the earth from the power of the sun and it will truly be a day of woe and weeping. Many will turn to the Lord but many will still do wickedly and love their wickedness more than repenting. Many will refuse to bow their knees, even when I have shown Myself to be greater than all their wicked schemes. They will curse Me and shout great blasphemies to the Lord of heaven and earth.

Do not be surprised by all the wickedness around you. And do not be dismayed, for I AM ARISING. I say, I AM ARISING with healing in My wings. And you will go forth full of anointing, for all I have called you to do in this hour. Come and worship - come and talk to Me. Come and still yourself before Me and allow Me to touch you. I AM the LORD of the Harvest and I say to you the fields are ripe for Harvest. There is nothing that will keep Me from doing what I am about to do. Even your own unfaithfulness or busyness will not stop what I will do. I have purposed to have a holy bride. I have purposed to gather a Harvest from the world in the midst of the turmoil that ensues. And I WILL HAVE IT! I will draw men to Myself as never before. The flood have lifted up their voice, but the voice of Your LORD is greater than the floods. The voice of the LORD will destroy the covering over the face of the earth that has kept them from MY TRUTH. I will DEMONSTRATE MY LOVE in powerful and mighty ways to give them a chance to turn from the wickedness of generations to ME.

I am preparing you and training you through all the tests and trials. I am building you up in your FAITH. I AM WITH YOU in all you go through. Do not think because you can’t FEEL ME, that I’m not there. I will do ALL I have purposed to do. The dead will be raised to life in increasing numbers, and the world will know that I HAVE LOVED YOU. I will perform My faithfulness in fulfilling the WORD I’ve spoken and the GLORY will cleanse you and lift you up to new heights in ME. Even as the sun has been shooting off fire, so MY FIRE is coming to the EARTH in greater measure to establish MY KINGDOM amidst the opposition in the earth. It will not alter the course of what is written for the evil men will do, but it will alter your ability to go through all that is coming on the earth and to draw a great Harvest to Me, and to teach and disciple them and heal their wounds. There will be mighty deliverances.

The Lord GOD of ELIJAH is at hand! Lift up your voices and sing! SHOUT aloud to the mountains of perversion, lust, hatred, anger, distortion and rejection. SPEAK MY WORD WITH CONFIDENCE IN ME TO PERFORM IT!

I will lead you in HOLY PROCLAMATIONS that will SHAKE THE EARTH! “

Abba

Then I heard the song, “ Come, now is the time to WORSHIP “.

Mal 4:1 NKJV The Great Day of God
"For behold, the day is coming, burning like an oven, and all the proud, yes, all who do wickedly will be stubble. And the day which is coming shall burn them up," Says the LORD of hosts, "That will leave them neither root nor branch.
2 But to you who fear My name the Sun of Righteousness shall arise
With healing in His wings; and you shall go out and grow fat like stall-fed calves. 3 You shall trample the wicked, for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet on the day that I do this," Says the LORD of HOSTS.

Ps 19:4-6 NKJV Their line has gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them He has set a tabernacle for the sun,
5 Which is like a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoices like a strong man to run its race. 6 Its rising is from one end of heaven, and its circuit to the other end; and there is nothing hidden from its heat.

Isa 4:6 NKJV And there will be a tabernacle for shade in the daytime from the heat, for a place of refuge, and for a shelter from storm and rain.

Isa 25:4-8 NKJV For You have been a strength to the poor, A strength to the needy in his distress, A refuge from the storm, shade from the heat; For the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall. 5 You will reduce the noise of aliens, As heat in a dry place; As heat in the shadow of a cloud, The song of the terrible ones will be diminished. 6 And in this mountain The LORD of hosts will make for all people A feast of choice pieces, A feast of wines on the lees, Of fat things full of marrow, Of well-refined wines on the lees. 7 And He will destroy on this mountain The surface of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over all nations. 8 He will swallow up death forever, and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from all faces; The rebuke of His people He will take away from all the earth; For the LORD has spoken.

Gen 8:22 NKJV "While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, winter and summer, and day and night shall not cease."

Job 24:19 NKJV As drought and heat consume the snow waters,
So the grave consumes those who have sinned.

Isa 49:10 NKJV They shall neither hunger nor thirst, Neither heat nor sun shall strike them; For He who has mercy on them will lead them, Even by the springs of water He will guide them.
Jer 17:8 NKJV For he shall be like a tree planted by the waters, Which spreads out its roots by the river, and will not fear when heat comes;
But its leaf will be green, and will not be anxious in the year of drought, nor will cease from yielding fruit.

James 1:11 NKJV For no sooner has the sun risen with a burning heat than it withers the grass; its flower falls, and its beautiful appearance perishes. So the rich man also will fade away in his pursuits.

Restorative Power
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Feb 6th, 2005

The Lord spoke “ restorative power” and I asked Him what He wanted to say:

Zech 9:12 AMP Return to the stronghold [of security and prosperity], you prisoners of hope; even today do I declare that I will restore double your former prosperity to you. [Ps 40:2; Isa 40:2.]

Ps 40:2-4 AMP He drew me up out of a horrible pit [a pit of tumult and of destruction], out of the miry clay (froth and slime), and set my feet upon a rock, steadying my steps and establishing my goings.
3 And He has put a new song in my mouth, a song of praise to our God. Many shall see and fear (revere and worship) and put their trust and confident reliance in the Lord. [Ps 5:11.] 4 Blessed (happy, fortunate, to be envied) is the man who makes the Lord his refuge and trust, and turns not to the proud or to followers of false gods.

“ I am the God above all other Gods, and I am establishing MY will in your hearts, minds and wills. I will make you MINE alone. You will have no other gods before you! I am restoring and I am refurbishing the home that is your heart! I am picking out new furniture, and new foundations and establishing them in TRUTH. For I would that you would LOVE the TRUTH above all lies, and adhere to the Truth over any lie. I will grant you the grace for this if you would ask. Many are too proud to ask Me for help, or they look to man to solve everything.

I want you to honor those who honor Me, but not to honor them above ME.
Do not look to men for what you need, but to Me. I AM the Beginning and the End. I AM the Lord of Lords and the Ruler above all the earth. I want you no longer thinking like the world and doing things as the world does them, but to seek MY FACE as to how to do things, and to seek My heart for what to do. My ways are higher than your ways. My ways establish liberty and freedom. Man’s way establish nothing that is eternal on their own. All thoughts that emanate from man’s own wisdom only bring DEATH. They do not establish LIFE because I AM the Author of LIFE. My Words and My principles establish life.

Some of you have been on a wrong track, but I am establishing your steps in the right direction so that you value what I value, and honor whom I honor, and give to whom I want you to give, and live your lives according to TRUTH, and not man’s ways or wisdom. Some sitting in church don’t even realize they are sitting under a jezebel spirit that exalts self instead of Me. They are prostitutes in a sense, giving allegiance to men instead of to Me first. They bow to the intimidation of men and women who claim to speak for ME, but do not listen to My Spirit within them.

Many do this out of ignorance, and others do it in people pleasing, like AHABS bowing down to the will of man they think, well it must be right because the man of God said it! But they do not search the scriptures themselves leaning on My wisdom and revelation, and understanding, but yielding to ungodly doctrines of demons and ignore the lack of fruit in the lives of those they support and believe.

I WILL overturn the tables of the moneychangers and I WILL establish MY order in MY church. The church that will not yield to TRUE RELIGION will fall and will only breed death. They will be abandoned by Me. But the church who will seek after My heart and serve those around them and give to the poor, the fatherless, the homeless, the widows and stand on My precepts and seek My HEART, will endure till the end no matter what comes against it. Either you are built on the ROCK or on sand. And all that is built on sand will be washed away. TRUTH WILL PREVAIL and the lies of the deceitful will be destroyed.

My blood has the power to transform lives. My blood has the power to deliver and save. My blood was shed for this RESTORATION – beauty for ashes, joy for mourning, praise for heaviness. FREEDOM will come to those who don’t just talk about it, but live it and SHARE it with all around them.
The true servant is concerned not only for themselves but for all around them. The hireling only cares for themselves. When real danger comes they run.

Prov 28:1 NIV The wicked man flees though no one pursues, but the righteous are as bold as a lion.

I do not carry a whip to beat on My children when they make a mistake. I do correct, but I do not press down. I bring RESTORATIVE POWER to turn the hearts of the father to the sons and daughters and to turn the hearts of the sons and daughters to the fathers and mothers, that BLESSING might come instead of cursing. For I've said if not, I will strike the earth with a curse. Not honoring others brings a curse. I know that trust is a different thing My beloveds. It takes time to build trust once it is trampled. But you need to honor those in authority and honor those around you so that you see them as better than yourselves, honoring them and serving them even as I honored and served those around Me.

I spoke the truth to the Pharisees, and confronted them at times, yet I did tell people to do as they say, not as they do. I did not tell you to honor liars and thieves, or those with murderous hearts. I did not ever tell you to submit to domination and control of other believers who move in selfishness and greed. Yet I don't want you harboring bitterness and hatred as it will destroy you and not them. You must FORGIVE ALL who have offended you and let go of all hurts and pains. Have no resentment in your hearts for the times you have been maligned or mistreated. When possible make peace with those who have offended you. But I do not tell you to submit to witchcraft.
I will often have you endure things in an assignment to pray for others. But I have never asked you to go beyond what you can endure. My yoke is easy and My burden is light.

Am I not one who endured for you all that you would not have to bear a curse? So why do you trust in yourselves and trust in men, and trust in things, and meetings, but do not trust Me fully? I am THE RESOURCE OF LIFE and ALL that you need. So come to ME, and have all your being in Me.
Abide in Me and I will abide in you and lead you forward into greater realms of grace and glory! Walk in the LIGHT as I am in the light. Hunger for the TRUTH and do not abandon your Source of Life. I am coming again in power as at Pentecost to restore all that has been stolen. I will have a spotless bride. And it is ONLY by MY GRACE and power that she will become spotless, not by your own efforts. Give yourselves fully to ME. LET ME touch and heal you and deliver you from all evil. Let me transform you!

I am a LOVING FATHER WHO gives good gifts to His children and I am about RESTORING all that has been stolen! Wait in My presence. Do not rush away. I am LONGING for you and I will restore, even as I restored Job, will I restore you. And I will use you to RESTORE many who have slipped into the world and bondage. I will deliver the alcoholic husbands and the drug addicted children, and those caught up in perversion. MY BLOOD will set them free! First it needs to set you free, that you will fully be free of all fears, and doubts and then when they come to you, they will come to a fountain of living waters. For I AM that fountain living in you."

Isa 42:3-4 AMP A bruised reed He will not break, and a dimly burning wick He will not quench; He will bring forth justice in truth. [Matt 12:17-21.]
4 He will not fail or become weak or be crushed and discouraged till He has established justice in the earth; and the islands and coastal regions shall wait hopefully for Him and expect His direction and law. [Rom 8:22-25.]

Isa 40:2-11 AMP Speak tenderly to the heart of Jerusalem, and cry to her that her time of service and her warfare are ended, that [her punishment is accepted and] her iniquity is pardoned, that she has received [punishment] from the Lord's hand double for all her sins.
3 A voice of one who cries: Prepare in the wilderness the way of the Lord [clear away the obstacles]; make straight and smooth in the desert a highway for our God! [Mark 1:3.]
4 Every valley shall be lifted and filled up, and every mountain and hill shall be made low; and the crooked and uneven shall be made straight and level, and the rough places a plain. 5 And the glory (majesty and splendor) of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together; for the mouth of the Lord has spoken it. [Luke 3:5,6.]
6 A voice says, Cry [prophesy]! And I said, What shall I cry? [The voice answered, Proclaim:] All flesh is as frail as grass, and all that makes it attractive [its kindness, its goodwill, its mercy from God, its glory and comeliness, however good] is transitory, like the flower of the field.

7 The grass withers, the flower fades, when the breath of the Lord blows upon it; surely [all] the people are like grass.
8 The grass withers, the flower fades, but the word of our God will stand forever. [James 1:10,11; 1 Peter 1:24,25.] 9 O you who bring good tidings to Zion, get up to the high mountain. O you who bring good tidings to Jerusalem, lift up your voice with strength, lift it up, be not afraid; say to the cities of Judah, Behold your God! [Acts 10:36; Rom 10:15.] 10 Behold, the Lord God will come with might, and His arm will rule for Him. Behold, His reward is with Him, and His recompense before Him. [Rev 22:7,12.] 11 He will feed His flock like a shepherd: He will gather the lambs in His arm, He will carry them in His bosom and will gently lead those that have their young.

Isa 42:22 AMP But this is a people robbed and plundered; they are all of them snared in holes and hidden in houses of bondage. They have become a prey, with no one to deliver them, a spoil, with no one to say, Restore them!
[This shows the condition that will ensue as Israel's punishment for not recognizing the Servant of the Lord and the day of His visit among them.] [Luke 19:41-44.]

Settling for Less

Zeph 1:12 AMP And at that time I will search Jerusalem with lamps and punish the men who [like old wine] are thickening and settling on their lees, who say in their hearts, The Lord will not do good, nor will He do evil.

“Many of My children through lack of faith are settling for less than what I have offered to them, through what they can be privy to through true relationship with Me. They think they just have to “settle” for what is handed to them, as if that lion that prowls around seeking whom he may kill steal and destroy, doesn’t exist.

You will notice that the battle was REAL for those who lived in the first century. You can see that there were real battles, and real demons, and real miracles, and real relationships, where everyone who was called by My name cared for one another. They didn’t just pretend to care so they could look good to others. There was REAL danger from fanatics and real danger from the haters of God, as well as from the enemy of your soul. Paul was hindered from going to Asia because HE SAID, “ Satan hindered us”. And Ananias was asked “why has Satan filled your heart to lie?” So the enemy is REAL and are you more powerful than those who walked with Me then? Is it not a real battle you have to fight? Indeed many battles lie ahead so do not grow complacent or fall back in your faith in Me and the WORD. It has power to deliver your soul.

Acts 5:3 NKJV But Peter said, "Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and keep back part of the price of the land for yourself?

1 Thess 2:18 NKJV Therefore we wanted to come to you — even I, Paul, time and again — but Satan

I AM with you through all the trials and temptations that you face. I AM not abandoning you nor ignoring you, as Satan attempts to make you think.
I am testing, and I am trying in FIRE so that your faith will be assured when the real battle rages stronger than it has. I have come to give you ABUNDANT LIFE IN ME. You are seated in heavenly places in Christ Jesus says My Word. So if you are seated in "heavenly" places, then you are above and not below. You are the head and not the tail. You are in authority, seated with ME, and have full authority over all the power of the evil one -
NOT through your great goodness or perfection, but through the BLOOD shed for you! That is a place of FAITH. You must attain to higher faith if you want to see what the apostles saw! NOTHING IS IMPOSSIBLE WITH ME. I AM the RESOURCE of all that you need.

Keep pressing in. Know that I see your weaknesses and nothing surprises ME! I'm not here with a hammer, pummeling you, but I do use circumstances to mold and make you over. You can just COME to ME and receive all you need in union with ME. That takes relationship! That takes time spent with ME.
I have called you to a REST in ME that some have no faith for. Many continue to STRIVE to prove themselves or to meet some perceived expectation that is not of ME. But I KNOW ALL THINGS. I know what it takes to prove you. LET ME be the One Who can show you what is needed.
Let ME be the One Who grants you the grace if you ask to overcome ANYTHING. I will overcome the fear in you if you LET ME. I will overcome the insecurity in you if you LET ME. I will overcome the anger, the addictions, the distractions, the hindrances if you LET ME. As long as you remain in SELF sufficiency…then you don't NEED ME! There is a place of abundance, in ME as you yield to MY GLORIOUS PRESENCE.

I AM THE SOURCE.
I said, I AM THE SOURCE!
When you drill for oil, you go to the SOURCE!
As you draw INTO ME, then everything else will fade away…all you need will be made known to you. All you need in circumstances will be given you. The "secret to success" is the SECRET place of meeting with ME. It is in that place of letting ME hold you in My arms and resting in My LOVE, that you receive all that you need to get through. EVERYTHING is available through ME. You do not need to STRIVE. I will remove all the hindrances within you and around you as you come to ME, and lay down at My feet. LOOK TO ME to provide and to rescue and to deliver and to comfort! Every good and perfect gift is from the Father of Lights in Whom there is NO TURNING.
He does NOT turn His back on you because you have made a mistake.
He is not a neglectful parent. It is your EXPECTATIONS THAT MUST CHANGE! It is your TRUST that must change! I will make it easy for you if you just come into the place of worship and comfort…into My presence.

I love you My beloveds! There is nothing I won't do for you when you rely on ME and not yourselves. I am taking many of you to the edge of eternity! I am taking many of you to the limit of your ability so that you can see it is only in ME that you live and have your being – not in your own ability to do things yourself. Surely in a flood of many waters, I will rescue you! Would you let your child drown and do nothing? Would you allow some thief to rob your child without trying to stop him? TRUST in ME to meet every need.
TRUST IN ME to comfort you and to encourage you whenever you need it.
You have but to ask, and I will run. I am running to you like the Father of the prodigal…eager to hold you in My arms! When you make a mistake, you just go through more testing till you have learned the lesson. I don't LORD it over you that you've made a mistake. I, like a loving parent, am PATIENT and ENDURING in My love for you. I don't withdraw it because you have made an error in judgment or failed a test. My LOVE NEVER FAILS!"

Ps 36:8 AMP They relish and feast on the abundance of Your house; and You cause them to drink of the stream of Your pleasures.

Ps 37:11 AMP But the meek [in the end] shall inherit the earth and shall delight themselves in the abundance of peace. [Ps 37:29; Matt 5:5.]

Ps 66:12 AMP You caused men to ride over our heads [when we were prostrate]; we went through fire and through water, but You brought us out into a broad, moist place [to abundance and refreshment and the open air].

Ps 106:45-46 AMP And He [earnestly] remembered for their sake His covenant and relented their sentence of evil [comforting and easing Himself] according to the abundance of His mercy and loving-kindness [when they cried out to Him]. 46 He also caused [Israel] to find sympathy among those who had carried them away captive.

Song 4:16 AMP [You have called me a garden, she said] Oh, I pray that the [cold] north wind and the [soft] south wind may blow upon my garden, that its spices may flow out [in abundance for you in whom my soul delights]. Let my beloved come into his garden and eat its choicest fruits.

Isa 33:22-24 AMP For the Lord is our Judge, the Lord is our Lawgiver, the Lord is our King; He will save us. [Isa 2:3-4; 11:4; 32:1; James 4:12.]
23 Your hoisting ropes hang loose; they cannot strengthen and hold firm the foot of their mast or keep the sail spread out. Then will prey and spoil in abundance be divided; even the lame will take the prey.
24 And no inhabitant [of Zion] will say, I am sick; the people who dwell there will be forgiven their iniquity and guilt.

Matt 13:12 AMP For whoever has [spiritual knowledge], to him will more be given and he will be furnished richly so that he will have abundance; but from him who has not, even what he has will be taken away.

Matt 25:29 AMP For to everyone who has will more be given, and he will be furnished richly so that he will have an abundance; but from the one who does not have, even what he does have will be taken away.

Mark 12:44 AMP For they all threw in out of their abundance; but she, out of her deep poverty, has put in everything that she had--[even] all she had on which to live.

John 1:16 AMP For out of His fullness (abundance) we have all received [all had a share and we were all supplied with] one grace after another and spiritual blessing upon spiritual blessing and even favor upon favor and gift [heaped] upon gift.

John 10:10 AMP The thief comes only in order to steal and kill and destroy. I came that they may have and enjoy life, and have it in abundance (to the full, till it overflows).

2 Cor 9:8 AMP And God is able to make all grace (every favor and earthly blessing) come to you in abundance, so that you may always and under all circumstances and whatever the need be self-sufficient [possessing enough to require no aid or support and furnished in abundance for every good work and charitable donation].

2 Cor 9:9 AMP As it is written, He [the benevolent person] scatters abroad; He gives to the poor; His deeds of justice and goodness and kindness and benevolence will go on and endure forever! [Ps 112:9.]

2 Cor 9:10-11 AMP And [God] Who provides seed for the sower and bread for eating will also provide and multiply your [resources for] sowing and increase the fruits of your righteousness [which manifests itself in active goodness, kindness, and charity]. [Isa 55:10; Hos 10:12.]

11 Thus you will be enriched in all things and in every way, so that you can be generous, and [your generosity as it is] administered by us will bring forth thanksgiving to God.

1 Peter 1:2 AMP Who were chosen and foreknown by God the Father and consecrated (sanctified, made holy) by the Spirit to be obedient to Jesus Christ (the Messiah) and to be sprinkled with [His] blood: May grace (spiritual blessing) and peace be given you in increasing abundance [that spiritual peace to be realized in and through Christ, freedom from fears, agitating passions, and moral conflicts].

Youth for Christ
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Jan 1st, 2005

The Lord said "Youth for Christ" and I'm aware of that as an organization, but asked Him what He wanted to say about it:

"Restlessness fills the hearts of many of the youth across the world. Times are escalating and they will begin to have their eyes opened to the signs of the times as they see the world in tumult. There are many now who can see the changes, but still doubt what they may have been taught due to ungodly influences in the colleges and schools putting doubt and skepticism into their thinking about Me. But I will soon remove ALL the DOUBT and unbelief for those who really want the truth. And many I will press so that they will want the truth. For their flesh is full of rebellion and discontentments.

Just as in the times of Elijah I have reserved a remnant who will not bow their knee to Baal. I have worked on them even in the lost of the world to disdain riches in order that they might truly cling to ME as I am revealed! This generation will not pass away before they see the coming of the KING of KINGS and LORD OF LORDS. I am amassing a great army young and old, and of all races, and ethnic groups, to go forth into the streets of cities and nations and to do the work of their KING.

I will release REVELATION as never before. I will POUR OUT MY SPIRIT on all flesh and they will see the glory of the LORD Your God! I am calling to many of you that are older to become spiritual mothers and fathers in the sense of NURTURING the young and imparting wisdom and all the gifts I've given you. I will teach them and reveal to them great secrets. So do not dismiss them because they are youth! They are not separate from the church because of their youth . They ARE the church as much as children and older people. I can speak to them as easily as to you, for it is not because of your age or intelligence I speak, but because of My love for you. And I love them dearly, and I WILL speak to them and to all who will LISTEN, many, many secrets.

Do not disqualify even the youngest of children for out of the mouths of babes and infants I have ordained PRAISE! I told you to become as little children or you wouldn't enter the kingdom of heaven! So listen to your children and grandchildren! Do not dismiss them from prayer rooms, or worship! Know that I can move through whomever I will at My own preferance. I am not PARTIAL! Raise the children to KNOW THEIR GOD and to worship Me in Spirit and in TRUTH! Open your hearts to believe they have ability to hear from Me also! Do not dismiss their words.

Ready your hearts for HARVEST. Get your hearts healed by basking in My presence and being filled with My love. Then you will be able to do all I am calling you to do, by your dependence on ME. Do not strive, but relax in My love and kindness. For I AM pouring it out like a river…this river will be called "GREAT GRACE"! And it will be blown into your midst by a mighty rushing WIND. Cloak yourselves in MY righteousness for I AM yours and you are Mine! You are My beloveds and I love you as no other loves you. I will pour out the mercy and grace in great measure so that you will be filled with the knowledge of My love, and the fullness of Me that your soul can accommodate.

Resign yourselves to a love fest! For My love is burning and on fire for you all and for all that will come into My Kingdom in the ensuing days!
I will flood the earth with My glory. Abide in Me and I will abide in you!
I will sing over you with JOY! Know that this glory will also separate, and will cause the earth to groan and groan more and more. So do not think of yourself more highly than you ought , for I am bringing down the kingdoms man has built soley for himself! RIGHTEOUSNESS and JUSTICE are the foundation of My throne! Come to ME and CRY OUT in the day and in the night for the souls of the lost! I will reap a great HARVEST. Have an answer for the hope that lies within you to share!

Blowing In The Wind

Bill Somers

> 1Co 15:50 Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.
> The answer, my friend, is blowing in the wind, the answer is blowing in the wind. Bob Dylan, ancient American folksinger.

More and more, I'm coming to see that today's church has a tremendous diversity of opinion on the topic of the Kingdom of God. [This is a function of Heinz's Law of Eschatology. That says, for any given topic of eschatology, or the study of end time prophecy, there are 57 varieties of opinion.]

What exactly is the Kingdom of God? There are those who think the Kingdom of God commences when Jesus returns at the second advent, and establishes his capitol in Jerusalem, to rule for 1000 years. And there are those who think that it's up to the Church to establish the Kingdom, or to build the Kingdom or expand the Kingdom. Some are even at the point of claiming that the way to do this is by electing Christians to public office. And then there are those who think that the kingdom of God is present anywhere on the earth where there is a strong Christian witness or wherever revival breaks out. Still others think that the Kingdom of God is what you join when you become a Christian.

About a year ago I wrote a short essay on the topic. One definition I use is to say, The Kingdom of God is wherever God is King. It's kind of obvious when you put it that way. Lately on meditating on the question, I feel led to expound on an operational definition based on the Words of Jesus in John chapter 3.

> John 3:
> 1 There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews:
> 2 The same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.
> 3 Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.
> 4 Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?
> 5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.
> 6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.
> 7 Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again.
> 8 The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.

Now here Jesus speaks about the kingdom is two different ways. In the first case, he talks about seeing the kingdom of God. [Verse 3] Then he talks about entering into the Kingdom of God. [Verse 5] The conditions for each are different too. I'm going to try to analyze what he is saying and what the difference is. Lets look again.

> Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.

What does it mean to see the Kingdom of God? In Luke 17 it says:

> Lu 17:20 And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation:
> 21 Neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you.

The Kingdom does not come with observation. The Greek word here is parateresis meaning, according to Strong's, inspection, i.e. ocular evidence, or proof based on sight.
What God is saying here is The Kingdom is not something you see with your eyes; it's something within. I don't think he was saying the Kingdom was within the Pharisees but that the Kingdom is something that comes to be within an individual. You can't look for it here and there, but within one.

The Greek word for see here is eido. It can mean to see, to know, to be aware, to behold, to consider, or to understand. So perhaps Jesus is saying here, unless you are born again, you cannot understand or know about the Kingdom.

Then he says:

> Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

What does it mean to enter into the Kingdom of God, and how is that different from seeing, knowing or comprehending the Kingdom? The word here in Greek is eiserchomai.

By the way, it doesn't matter whether Jesus spoke Greek, Hebrew, Aramaic, Latin or the valley girl dialect. The Word of God is written in Greek [or Hebrew] and that's what we have to deal with. We trust that the Holy Spirit of God who inspired the writers of the New Testament knows what he is doing. He dictated it in Greek.

Eiserchomai is defined thusly ; to enter (literally or figuratively):--X arise, come (in, into), enter in(-to), go in (through). No surprises here, Jesus is saying you can know about the kingdom, but you won't belong to it, unless you meet the conditions. Just like people can know about a country, and even visit that country, but becoming a citizen is a little more complicated.

Supposing that Born Again means what we usually think of; that someone is saved by coming to know and acknowledge the Lord Jesus Christ. Then he is able to know things somewhat more than what the bible calls a natural man. As in 1st Corinthians 2 where we read:

> 1Co 2:11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.
> 12 Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.
> 13 Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual.
> 14 But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them*, because they are spiritually discerned.*

What we see here is that the natural man cannot know or understand any spiritual matters, such as the Kingdom of God. But those who have received the Spirit can. And we're assuming that someone born again, has at least a small portion of the Spirit to allow them this understanding.

But now we also see that to really become a part of that kingdom, to enter in, it takes something more. It requires being born of water and of the Spirit. What exactly does that mean?

Usually we think of born as in when were you born. This refers to the manner we come into this world. Nicodemus clearly had this in mind when he said "How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?
Our good old American Heritage® Dictionary tells us that born is derived from the verb bear. The primary meanings of bear include: hold up, support, carry, relate or to have as a quality. So when a person enters the world, he is carried by his mother for a season and finally comes forth. The mother bears the child means the mother carries the child. The child is born means the child was carried, and the child came forth. It is passive voice, meaning it's not something that you do, it's something that is done or happens to you. Getting born, after the flesh is not something you initiate or control. Perhaps it's the same with being born of the spirit.

> bear (bâr) verb
> bore (bôr, bor) borne (bôrn, born) or born (bôrn) bear·ing, bears verb, transitive
> 1. To hold up; support.
> 2. To carry on one's person; convey.
> 3. To carry in the mind; harbor: bear a grudge.
> 4. To transmit at large; relate: bearing glad tidings.
> 5. To have as a visible characteristic: bore a scar on the left arm.
> 6. To have as a quality; exhibit: "A thousand different shapes it bears" (Abraham Cowley).
> 7. To carry (oneself) in a specified way; conduct: She bore herself with dignity.
> 8. To be accountable for; assume: bearing heavy responsibilities.
> 9. To have a tolerance for; endure: couldn't bear his lying.
> 10. To call for; warrant: This case bears investigation.
> 11. To give birth to.
> 12. To produce; yield: plants bearing flowers.
> 13. To offer; render: I will bear witness to the deed.
> 14. To move by or as if by steady pressure; push: "boats against the current, borne back ceaselessly into the past" (F. Scott Fitzgerald).
> verb, intransitive
> 1. To yield fruit; produce: peach trees that bear every summer.
> 2. To have relevance; apply: They studied the ways in which the relativity theory bears on the history of science.
> 3. To exert pressure, force, or influence.
> 4. a. To force oneself along; forge. b. To endure something with tolerance and patience: Bear with me while I explain matters.
> 5. To extend or proceed in a specified direction: The road bears to the right at the bottom of the hill.
> Excerpted from The American Heritage® Dictionary

So being born of water and of the Spirit, is to be carried by water or by the Spirit; and also possibly to come forth from the water or from the Spirit.

Coming forth from water seems to refer to water baptism. It symbolizes one's death to the flesh, or death to self, and coming forth as a new creation in Christ. Notice how Jesus rebukes Nicodemus for thinking along fleshly, literal lines.

> 6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

Then comes the clincher in verse 8. Notice that Jesus compares someone born of the Spirit with the seemingly random blowing of the wind.

> 8 The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.

Our dictionary tells me that the word spirit is derived from Middle English, from Old French espirit, from Latin spìritus, breath, from spìrâre, to breathe. The root meaning of spirit is breath.

The Greek word is pneuma:

> pneuma (pnyoo'-mah)
> from 4154; a current of air, i.e. breath (blast) or a breeze; by analogy or figuratively, a spirit, i.e. (human) the rational soul, (by implication) vital principle, mental disposition, etc., or (superhuman) an angel, demon, or (divine) God, Christ's spirit, the Holy Spirit:--ghost, life, spirit(-ual, -ually), mind.

And once again you see that the root meaning is breath, and by extension a current of air or a breeze.

No wonder Jesus compares it to the wind. This wind is the very breath of God. Jesus is saying that being born of the spirit is like being carried by the wind. You don't know where it's coming from and you don't know where it's going. You just go along. That means you must have unquestioning obedience to the Spirit of God, the ultimate in faith and trust that comes with total yielding to His Spirit.

Now what did Jesus say about the kingdom of God?

> Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

Let's rephrase that in a positive sense. If a man is dead to self, and led by the Spirit, he can enter the Kingdom of God. So what is the Kingdom of God? The answer is blowing in the wind.

And this is just another way of saying exactly the same thing Jesus says in Mathew 7:21.

> Mt 7:21 Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.

It's those who are obedient to the word, that enter in. Those who enter the Kingdom of God are those for whom God is King, and not self. Our definition of the Kingdom still makes sense once we see that the Kingdom is within someone for whom God is King. The first commandment reads:

> Ex 20:2 I am the LORD thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.
> 3 Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

Isn't that saying the same thing? And Jesus refers to the first commandment thusly in Mathew22.

> Mt 22:37 Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.
> 38 This is the first and great commandment.

So if one is led of the Spirit and truly obeys the first commandment, he has entered the Kingdom of God. No wonder Jesus says in Mathew 6 to seek first the Kingdom.

> Mt 6:33 But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.

Then when his men asked him how to pray, he mentioned the Kingdom again.

> Lu 11:2 And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth.

If we look at the second half of this verse, we can find a case of parallel statements. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth. I'm going to rephrase these slightly to bring out an interesting feature.

> Thy kingdom come, as in heaven, so in earth.
> Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth.

The point here is that these are not two different requests, they are the same request repeated in slightly differing language. Looking at it this way it's clear that the kingdom is where his will is done. Doing his will is entering his kingdom. And to the extent we do his will, that is the extent of his rule in our lives. Praying that it be as in heaven, is praying that it be done totally and absolutely.

There is a transition into his kingdom coming to us in these end times. Here and there people are reporting that they spend more and more time in his presence and in his perfect will. This will increase dramatically with the outpouring of the spirit that is beginning. We will shortly see his kingdom fully and clearly established in his people. It's what we see in Isaiah 52, where the people of God are proclaiming his Kingdom has come on earth as in heaven, with the words Our God Reigns.

> Isa 52:7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

This will be here on earth, as in heaven and before the second advent. Meanwhile the adversary's rule increases over the rest of the world. This can be seen in Isaiah 60.

> Isa 60:1 Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the LORD is risen upon thee.
> 2 For, behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people: but the LORD shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seen upon thee.

Let's look at some other aspects of what the kingdom means.
We hear a lot of talk saying the church is not under the law, but look at how it's phrased here in Galatians 5:

> Ga 5:16 This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.
> 17 For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would.
> 18 But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law*.*

That is to say, you are not under the law only if you are fully led by the Spirit, not before. Now notice how the idea of receiving the Spirit is linked with faith in Galatians 3:

> Ga 3:2 This only would I learn of you, Received ye the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith*?*
> 3 Are ye so foolish? having begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect by the flesh?
> 4 Have ye suffered so many things in vain? if it be yet in vain.
> 5 He therefore that ministereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?
> 6 Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness.
> 7 Know ye therefore that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

And in verse 7 you see how it's also linked with the Children of Abraham. If one is of faith and receives the spirit by faith, one is a child of Abraham. Then if one is totally led by the spirit, being dead to self, you are in the Kingdom, the household of Abraham, the house hold of God.

Look at this passage from Romans, and notice in Romans 8:1 how it defines what it means to be In Christ. That is to walk after, or be led by the Spirit, not the flesh.

> Ro 7:25 I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin.
> Romans chapter 8
> 1 There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.
> 2 For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.
> 3 For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh:
> 4 That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.
> 5 For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit.
> 6 For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace.

> 7 Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be.
> 8 So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God.
> 9 But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his.
> 10 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness.
> 11 But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.
> 12 Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh.
> 13 For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live.
> 14 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.
> 15 For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.
> 16 The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God:

Now notice verse 8 where it says:

> Rom 8:8 So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God.

And compare that with Hebrews 11:6 and you can see how being led of the spirit is linked with having faith.

> Heb 11:6 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.

Next note how being led by the spirit is equated with being Sons of God.

> Rom 8:14 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.

Let’s look back at the idea of being under or not under the law.

> Galatians 5: 18 But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law*.*

Here in Second Corinthians we see the written law contrasted with the Spirit.

> 2 Co 3:2 Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men:
> 3 Forasmuch as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart.
> 4 And such trust have we through Christ to God-ward:
> 5 Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God;
> 6 Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life*.*

The written word, or letter of the law, is comparable to the flesh. It’s only as the Spirit speaks the word to us that life is imparted. This is the hearing of faith. This is brought out in John 6:

> Joh 6:63 It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life.

Hebrews 4 brings out an example where the word of God did not profit those who heard it because of lack of faith. They did not hear with the ears of the spirit, but only with the flesh. They could only get the literal meaning, not the spiritual, and did not enter into God’s rest.

> Heb 4:1 Let us therefore fear, lest, a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it.
> 2 For unto us was the gospel preached, as well as unto them: but the word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in them that heard it.
> 3 For we which have believed do enter into rest, as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

The promise of entering his rest is one of those described in 2 Peter as leading to partaking of the divine nature.

> 2 Pe 1:4 Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

There are many other elements that could be brought out in this subject, but we will end with a selah and summarize.

Summary

Entering into the kingdom of God is like blowing in the wind. It is to die to self, to become a son of God, to do His will here on Earth, to be of the household of faith, to enter into his rest, to be in Christ, to have Christ be in you, to partake of the Divine nature, and be led of the Spirit. Ultimately it is to partake of the Tree of Life and the unity of the brethren.

Beware Of False Prophets
Stephen Hanson

Aug. 3, 2005

14 Then the LORD said to me, "The prophets are prophesying lies in my name. I have not sent them or appointed them or spoken to them. They are prophesying to you false visions, divinations, idolatries and the delusions of their own minds. Jer. 14

21 I did not send these prophets, yet they have run with their message; I did not speak to them, yet they have prophesied. Jer. 23

“Woe to those who have spoken wrongly in my name. Woe to those who have prophesied things that I have not given them. They will be judged harshly. My word is a thing that must be handled correctly. It is a heavy responsibility to hear my word and to speak it correctly. Many there are in the church today that have followed after supposed leaders who have gone down the wrong path. You are to follow Me and not my servants. I have seen the fall of many in my church in this hour. Many have sought angelic revelation rather than my revelation. They have been so caught-up in it that they have thought that it is of Me. I tell you that it is a grievous thing. They will be judged more because of their position. This is a critical hour in the church; it is a turning point. Will you follow man or will you follow Me? Will you eat the “hidden bread” or will you eat the bread that I give? You will know for only one will sustain you. Remember that satan comes as a messenger of light. He mixes truth with falsehood. “

Beware Of A Gossiping Tongue And A Critical Spirit
Stephen Hanson

Aug. 6, 2005

(I believe that this issue at hand as spoken by our Lord, is one that is a serious thing. We are told that we are to be aware of falsehood in the body of Christ, but at the same time, we are to be very careful and not to stir up dissension nor to gossip about others. I truly believe that this is one of the most important issues at hand, and it is something that the enemy loves to see, and it then can be become a weapon of his to use in splitting apart members within the body of Christ. Let us take these charges and seek Him for discernment about these things.)

28 A perverse man stirs up dissension, and a gossip separates close friends. Proverbs 16

20For I am afraid that when I come I may not find you as I want you to be, and you may not find me as you want me to be. I fear that there may be quarreling, jealousy, outbursts of anger, factions, slander, gossip, arrogance and disorder. 2 Cor. 12

10Out of the same mouth come praise and cursing. My brothers, this should not be. 11Can both fresh water and salt water flow from the same spring? 12My brothers, can a fig tree bear olives, or a grapevine bear figs? Neither can a salt spring produce fresh water. James 3

“I tell you there is a great issue at hand in the body of Christ. I tell you that the issue at hand involves a gossiping tongue. There are some in the body of Christ who have sought to destroy others through this. This is a serious thing. For I tell you that it has caused division. I hate these things. You don’t know another man’s heart or his intentions. We all fall short of the glory of God. Beware of a critical spirit. Beware of those who would sniff out sin. For they look at the sin of others and not their own. Consider these things at hand and take them before my throne. Does both clean water and brackish water come from the same well? Even so, should two forms of speech come from the same tongue? The enemy loves when others have been divided; for he laughs at these things. Be pure at heart. Look for the best things in others. For then when you do these things you won't have a critical spirit. "

Walk In The Light That I Will Bring Each Of You Into

Stephen Hanson

Aug. 3, 2005

> Then the LORD replied: "Write down the revelation and make it plain on tablets so that a herald may run with it. Hab. 2:2-4
> 18 Where there is no revelation, the people cast off restraint; but blessed is he who keeps the law. Prov. 29:18

"I tell you that this is a new season that my people are entering into. It is a time of anticipation. It is a time to wait and see what will unfold in each of your lives. I tell you that there are two lines being drawn in the sand: One of these lines represents the judgment and the events that are soon to take place upon the earth. For with this line a demarcation is being made. The other line is an area that I am bringing my saints into. I am unfolding my deep purposes for each of your lives. The long wait that each of you have had will now be ended, and you will now experience my deep purposes. Many of these things have been obscured and you have not known of them. They have been clouded by many of the things that have come into your lives. While there is a purpose in my trials, the trials have been there to help perfect you, but they have also obscured your vision for your lives. You haven't been able to see the mountains because of the trees that have been in front of you. Now it will unfold as a book to you. Now each page will unfold. Walk in the light that I bring each of you into. "

(The Lord finished this by showing me a pair of binoculars. I was handed the binoculars and was standing upon a wall looking out into the distance. I noticed that the horizon was somewhat hazy or unclear in appearance. But then His hand reached down and He moved the dial on it so that it made the image clearer. I believe that the Lord wants to make the vision clearer to each of us in our own lives. We have beheld the horizon, but it has been somewhat unclear. Now we see through a mirror dimly, but then face to face.)

By Our Love

www.vision2advance.com

I was reminded of the song recently, "They Will Know We Are Christians By Our Love." I was thinking how long it had been since I heard that song. I think maybe the last time was about 15 years ago when I visited my parents Catholic Church. I grew up singing that song at the school of the same church and it meant a lot to me as a child. The words of the song I can still remember and I wonder how much of the church of today could really sing that song with a real depth of sincerity.

We are one in the Spirit; we are one in the Lord!

This first line reminds me of Jesus' prayer to the Father of us being one as He and the Father are one in John 17. I then began to examine where we are as his body of believers, His only living representatives upon the earth. Stones continue to be tossed across denominational walls that contradict the unity our Father desires and the unity the world should be seeing. We have mainstream Christian radio and TV programming that is determined to focus on revealing the faults of others in the faith community rather then praying for them. If someone worships in a way that is different from their own experience, it must be wrong and of the devil.

The fact is, we are one in the Spirit and we are one in the Lord. The problem is, much of the church does not know it, and if they do, they certainly do not show it. The next part of the song says, "And we pray that our unity will one day be restored and they'll know we are Christians by our love." Lord help us be one in your Spirit and as one to the world to build your kingdom. We pray for restoration of your body as Christ Jesus becomes so Supreme in each of us that unity is a by-product and not something we need to strive for.

We will work with each other; we will work side by side.

Oh how I desire for this to be so in our communities. We see a measure of this in individual ministries but as a whole we are not working side by side as a city wide people of God. I thank God when we pull together for prayer rallies against abortion or same sex marriages, but unity of a faith community means so much more than that.

44Now all who believed were together, and had all things in common, 45and sold their possessions and goods, and divided them among all, as anyone had need. 46So continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, they ate their food with gladness and simplicity of heart, 47praising God and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily those who were being saved.

It is very clear that the early church was serious about their salvation, faith, and purpose to build the kingdom of God in their communities and to the uttermost parts of the earth. They also knew that to do it the way the Lord would have it, would be in one accord, or as one body of believers.

The next line of the song "And we will guard each man's dignity and save each man's pride", reminds us to watch each others back. It also speaks about esteeming one another and to not bring a brother down, but to pick them up if they fall. The Lord asks us for intercession towards healing and life rather than procession towards guilt and shame. We are to stand in the gap and be fillers of the gap, bridge builders for our communities.

We will walk with each other; we will walk hand in hand.

Brethren, can you see this with me? Can you see every nation, culture, race and creed as one in Him? Imagine every believer walking beside one another in excitement of our differences as each difference fills the gaps needed to advance the kingdom of our God.

Mark 9:38-41
49Now John answered and said, "Master, we saw someone casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow with us." 50But Jesus said to him, "Do not forbid him, for he who is not against us is on our side."
Now this is what I am talking about. These were those that had realized who the Savior was and the authority they had in His name, and they were advancing the kingdom outside of the supposed "proper way" of those that were with Jesus. This is very significant in relating with others in the community that are doing their part, howbeit different then how we do our part.
If we allow the gospel and Jesus Christ to be the focus of our doctrine, then all other doctrines pale in comparison and should not be a stumbling block for unity. The bottom line is that the early church did not have a printed new testament available for them to be divided about doctrine or interpretation of a printed word. I hear arguments all the time about which translation is the purest in the English language. I have heard of relationships and churches divided over this.
I hear the Chinese have a pretty good interpretation of scripture and I hope one day I can learn to read theirs. They only get a few pages at a time, but the Word of God has penetrated so deeply, that the growth rate of the church is 40-50 thousand every day in a country where it is illegal to share the gospel. I like that translation of His Word, I like the results of that translation, when I see my brothers willing to die for the gospel. I hear the Greeks have an excellent version too and so does the church in Columbia.
We need to get after the important things of the Lord Jesus and His kingdom. He is a God that is so far beyond the printed page of any book including our precious Bible. We are blessed to have it as our guide as the Holy Spirit can keep us from going astray, but please do not let such a precious book divide us by our own man made doctrines and interpretations.
If we can live out of the 4 books of the gospels in every way, I am telling you the rest of the printed word would also become fulfilled in our lives. In fact Jesus Himself said that all can be fulfilled by loving Him with all of our hearts and loving others unconditionally. It is Christ and it is His image being formed in us daily as we seek Him that will transform our lives, families, communities and nations. We are the representatives of His love and His mercy. If it is not us as His church that exemplifies that love, then where else will they see the God of love that we know?
Lord may we walk with each other, may we walk hand in hand. That in being united together, we will spread the news that God is in our land. And then they will know we are Christians by our love, by our love, yes they'll know we are Christians by our love in Jesus name!

They'll Know We Are Christians By Our Love
Written by Peter Scholtes
additional words and music by Carolyn Arends

This hymn is over 30 years old, but it could have been written this morning. I love what it says: we'll be recognized as Christians -- true disciples of Jesus -- not by our rhetoric or our politics or even the soundness of our theology, but by our love.

We are one in the Spirit, we are one in the Lord

We are one in the Spirit, we are one in the Lord
And we pray that all unity may one day be restored
And they'll know we are Christians by our love, by our love
They will know we are Christians by our love

We will work with each other, we will work side by side
We will work with each other, we will work side by side
And we'll guard each one's dignity and save each one's pride
And they'll know we are Christians by our love, by our love
They will know we are Christians by our love

We will walk with each other, we will walk hand in hand
We will walk with each other, we will walk hand in hand
And together we'll spread the news that God is in our land
And they'll know we are Christians by our love, by our love
They will know we are Christians by our love

Love is patient, love is kind
Never boasts, not full of pride
Always hopes, always trusts
The evidence of Christ in us

This is my commandment that you love one another that your joy may be full

Every Day - Every Way Church

Robert Ricciardelli

In case there are some who still have not seen it, there is a shift going on in our Father's house inside and outside the four walls. Most of us realize there is only one church and one body of believers of our Lord. There are many diverse personalities, all wonderfully made in all different sizes, shapes, colors, cultures and rule books of life. I want to talk about two distinctive segments of the church of our Lord today.

Nuclear Church

The term Nuclear literally means a cluster or nucleus. Many of us have been raised by a cluster or nucleus of a specific denomination. For the most part, the good, bad and ugly denominational structures have brought many of us to where we are today. We all have been saddened by the liberal shift of some of these structures as well as the shift of making the gospel of Jesus Christ palatable and un-offensive for all. In some cases, repentance is optional and a profession of Christ, without the true Lordship of Christ, supposedly brings one into the kingdom.

We also have many churches that have been birthed as non-denominational because of some of the perceived flaws in the systems of their day or the shifts of today. It should not be looked on as a negative thing as all of the denominations themselves were birthed out of a previous system or older wine skin. Luther had at least 95 reasons he felt he could no longer abide with regarding the Roman Catholic Church of his day. My Catholic friends of today actually are thankful as some of the positive changes the past few hundred years in the Catholic church were the result of a new wine skin of belief and visionary leaders that saw things a little bit differently in their interpretation of God's word.

Extended Or Marketplace Church

This is the body of Christ that operates outside of the 4 walls of the Nuclear church, not separate in any way but in application. The Marketplace church is distinctive but also supportive of the Nuclear church. The Nuclear church for the most part gathers one day a week and the Marketplace church is in operation 6 days a week. They are still one church, but are to a degree, two distinct cultures. They operate out of two different sets of cultural rule books. Before you cast any heretical stones, let me explain;

There are many things that we perceive that others may do or think of as wrong, simply because it is different from the way we may do it, or the way we think. I have some Chinese friends that do things differently then I do. When they come over, they always take their shoes off, because that is part of their culture. When they are conducting a business transaction, there always is an exchange of gifts. In my business world here in the USA, it would be looked on many times as bribery, perks or a lack of integrity to try and win in business. The reality is, either way of thinking is neither right nor wrong.

The same thing goes with the Nuclear Church and the Marketplace Church. Both operate for the glory of Christ and His kingdom, but they do not necessarily function in the same way bringing salt and light to the world. The Marketplace church is here to stay, although we are continuing to learn the rules of engagement in the marketplace. We have apostles, prophets, teachers, pastors, evangelists, intercessors, and others serving in the Nuclear church. Many of these and others are being raised up and released to function in the marketplace or Marketplace church. Many have been out there over the years, but have been looked upon as a Para-church, or second tier ministry, rather than equally viable kingdom ministries.

[11]It was he who gave some to be apostles, some to be prophets, some to be evangelists, and some to be pastors and teachers, [12]to prepare God's people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up [13]until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ.

The bottom line is this, 100% of the body of Christ is in ministry. Every saint must continue to seek the whole measure of the fullness of Christ, regardless of where the Lord places you in society. The word ministry also can be exchanged with the word service or servant. So we are to be servants as we provide service to our families, employers, local churches, governments, etc. This is the new wineskin attitude and language we must be communicating. The big issue is that much of the Nuclear church leadership and counsels are stuck in the mindsets of the systems that have raised them, supported them and formed them.

It is hard for them to see or to understand how to support and partner with the Marketplace church. I see the Marketplace church as a bridge as well to link up the various denominational cultures as the Holy Spirit leads, to breakthrough the religious mindsets. Keep in mind as I share this that the religious mindsets are across the board in denominationalism, non-denominationalism, Nuclear church and the Marketplace church. The denominational, democratic church of today is more difficult to turn simply because of the many layers of tradition and governing entities. In all cases, only those that are led by the Holy Spirit of the Lord will lead the charge towards break through in these areas.

Many Nuclear church leaders still ask of those in the marketplace, "Are you considering to go into the ministry?" Of course the answer is, we are already in ministry. Though all are called to serve the cause of Christ, God calls certain persons to serve the church as pastors and other ministers. It is still old wine skin thought and language to consider only the pastoral staff as having viable ministries.

Ed Silvoso identifies four lethal misbeliefs that minimize the impact of believers in the workplace:

1. There is a God-ordained division between clergy and laity.

2. The Church is called to operate primarily inside a building, often referred to as the temple.

3. People involved in business cannot be as spiritual as those serving traditional Church ministry.

4. The primary role of marketplace Christians is to make money to support the vision of those "in the ministry."

We need to understand the Kingdom of God!

This is where we affirm that the Kingdom of God is not confined to the four walls of the local church. Where is the kingdom of God? Jesus said in Luke17:21, "The kingdom of God is within you." With that in mind, the kingdom of God is not a kingdom of this world and has no territorial boundaries. The kingdom of God is present wherever individual men and women have agreed that Jesus Christ is their Lord.

So where is the true ecclesia? One day a week you will find them in local denominations and six days a week, you will find them scattered all over the workplace and neighborhoods serving the kingdom of God. God's people are His people seven days a week in many different functions and jurisdictions. This wonderful engaging 7 days a week, 24 hour a day church with the authority of our Lord Jesus Christ can transform lives, families, communities and nations. We can bring the kingdom of God, His presence, into every workplace, home and church. We must continue to illuminate His love and grace to the world in every jurisdiction of society in Jesus name, Amen!

Just as it is in raising up a natural family, I have mysterious ways in how I teach, train and raise up many children into adulthood. In a room full of interacting people, take a moment to look at the attention span of each and every age group. The baby's eyes wander to and fro as it watches the toddler play. Seemingly oblivious to the adults interacting around him, the baby's world is watching the age just ahead of his own. He listens to the language of the toddler and applies it to what the toddler is doing. The toddler listens and watches the grade schooler and mimics. The grade schooler stretches towards the teenager's life directly above him, and dreams of walking in importance. The teen looks at the young adult and stretches his wings towards independence.

Each age group is directly bonded with the next and this is how I have raised one generation to the next. Those who walk just ahead nurture and teach the one directly following. The secret glue that holds the attention span for direction and insight is an emotional bonding that is invisible and not clearly understood. And this secret is how I AM going to raise the harvest of many newborn children, for there are not enough parents and nursemaids to raise them up. No sooner will one find his breakthrough of discovery, than he will turn and teach the one immediately following what he knows. These connections will be supernaturally placed according to My divine design in joining My family together as one unit.

1 Cor 12:14-21 NLT
Yes, the body has many different parts, not just one part. If the foot says, "I am not a part of the body because I am not a hand," that does not make it any less a part of the body. And if the ear says, "I am not part of the body because I am only an ear and not an eye," would that make it any less a part of the body? Suppose the whole body were an eye — then how would you hear? Or if your whole body were just one big ear, how could you smell anything? But God made our bodies with many parts, and he has put each part just where he wants it. What a strange thing a body would be if it had only one part! Yes, there are many parts, but only one body. The eye can never say to the hand, "I don't need you." The head can't say to the feet, "I don't need you."

Dear heart, through your many activities I AM always with you. Yes, you feel disconnected from Me when there are so many things to juggle and so many things demanding your attention. I have already gone before you to make your paths smooth. Listen for My voice through your circumstances. Hold onto the good, take heed to the negative as warnings, and let My Presence walk with you.

I have given you the stopping places within each day as a much needed oasis. As you learn to lay down your strivings and rest in My peace, you will melt in assurance that, yes, I am indeed God and have indeed gone before you and prepared your path. Then you will learn to be carried as you walk through these days. You may feel that you do not see clearly, yet that is the life I have chosen for you, that you walk by faith and not by sight. I have placed My heart beat deep inside of you and you know and hear Me in ways unknown to the natural man. You do hear Me, My love. You really do. It is not for men to validate you, but for My place alone as you draw near to Me and learn to relax in Me. Rest now and drink. Lay everything else down and just drink of Me.

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN
For so many years you have been climbing an upward hill, sweet one. I am proving to you that your faith has had a break through and the angels are loosed to accelerate and move upon your prayers and declarations. Picture yourself on this giant water slide and you are rapidly accelerating. WHOOSH. That's a blast of My Spirit as it sets you free into liberty. Dance and worship My love, My Presence shall lift you up. The mountains before you shall become level under your dancing feet.

Zech 4:7 NKJV
Who are you, O great mountain? Before Zerubbabel you shall become a plain! And he shall bring forth the capstone With shouts of "Grace , grace to it!"

PROMOTION

Promotion has come, it's in the air.
Riding on the wind and being prepared.
Angels are sent with gifts galore,
For those who have waited for what's in store.
Faithful with the few greatly loyal, it is true.
They used what I gave
And didn't save.
Instead they shared, all they had.
When the rewards come in, they'll be so glad.
Receive the cups that are sent to you.
Flabbergasted you'll be and joyful too.
Believe it's true, it's really, really good.
For the little engines, I knew you could.
You climbed your hills and valleys so low,
Burning My fuel and what I bestowed.
You held not back for yourselves at all.
But gave from your heart, responding to My call.
Thank you dear ones, I'm so proud of you.
I watch you with joy over all you do!

Matt 25:22 NLT
"Next came the servant who had received the two bags of gold, with the report, 'Sir, you gave me two bags of gold to invest, and I have doubled the amount.' The master said, 'Well done, my good and faithful servant. You have been faithful in handling this small amount, so now I will give you many more responsibilities. Let's celebrate together!'

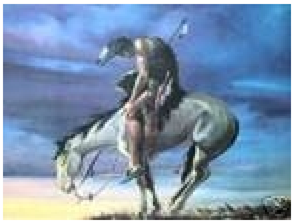
Bowed Over No More

By Maria Magruder

(A Word for Reservations in America, Canada and villages of Alaska)



While in prayer for First Nations peoples, I saw a vision of the famous picture (above) of the Native American on a horse, bowed over, and I heard the Lord say, "No more will First Nations peoples be bowed over and unable to raise up, but will be made to stand up straight, in My authority and dunamis power."

I was then immediately taken to Luke 13:

> Luke 13:11-13 "And behold, there was a woman who had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bent (bowed) over and could in no way raise herself up.
> 12 But when Jesus saw her, He called her to Him and said to her, "Woman, you are loosed from your infirmity."
> 13 And He laid His hands on her, and immediately she was made straight , and glorified God." NKJV

Then woman in this verse today is a representation of the bride of Christ in the First Nations peoples across American, Alaska and Canada. Although the majority of reservations have been dominated by other spirits and strongholds, pressing the First Nations peoples down into bondage, causing them to be "bowed over" which means "to be completely overcome" will no longer be. Where they could not raise themselves up to the life Christ has called them to, will now be reversed.

> 12 But when Jesus saw her, He called her to Him

God has heard the cry of the intercessors and the righteous for the reservations and He has seen them in their bowed over-ness and now "calls" to them, and they will be fully loosed (which means to be fully free), and they will be made to stand up straight by the mighty arm and divine ability of God Almighty. God calls them released. God calls them healed. God calls them victorious. God calls them overcomers. God calls them prosperous. God calls them delivered this day.

The foundation of reconciliation has been set in place over the last decade, and has prepared the way for God's next move of His Spirit. The next move of God for these places is a move of His divine POWER in the miraculous. An invasion of God's power is about to be released, prepare yourselves. God's breath of His Spirit will blow through the reservations and villages, leaving no stone un-turned. His mighty hand will touch every nation of the First Nations people.

I heard the Lord say, "Those things which have tormented My people, (First Nations) will bow the knee to Me. Their enemies will be crushed under My feet and their enemies will fall by My Sword."

The sword is the Word of God, and it is the word of God that lays the ax to the root of the trees, to the root of the enemy. In the past there has been a cloud that has literally rested in the form of lies and deception over their minds, of who they really are in Christ. For no more will the people be blind and under deception, but the Truth will be unveiled and bring light and they will see like they have never seen before, of the things of God's Spirit. For they will see with understanding and revelation, the enemy will be exposed for who he really is, a thief, a liar and a killer. For as God raises up the First Nations peoples, the wicked/enemies that has tried to bind, and destroy these people, will be turned upside down.

> Ps. 146:8 8 The LORD opens the eyes of the blind; The LORD raises those who are bowed down; The LORD loves the righteous.
> 9 The LORD watches over the strangers; He relieves the fatherless and widow; But the way of the wicked He turns upside down.

The enemies of suicide, addiction, abuse, sickness and death that has plagued the First Nations, God will not have mercy on. They will be severely judged and cast out. They will no longer have dominion over them. For He has already sent out His ministering spirits of fire…

> Hebrews 1: 13-14 13 But to which of the angels has He ever said: "Sit at My right hand, Till I make Your enemies Your footstool"? 14 Are they not all ministering spirits sent forth to minister for those who will inherit salvation?

The drums of the First Nations will beat to the beat of victory. They will beat to the beat of God's prosperity and abundant life, for no longer will they beat to the beat of defeat. Sorrow will flee and joy will come in great power, and they will dance as they have never danced before.

Then I heard the Lord say, "I will take their heart of stone and replace it with a heart of flesh. I will surely remove the lowly, timid spirit and replace it with a mighty warrior spirit of My grace, and My divine ability."

For the seeds or timidity, lowliness and worthlessness that were implanted by the enemy will now be uprooted. As this could not of happened without the pioneering of many, without the pioneering of reconciliation of forgiveness of the past.

> Psalms 145:14 The LORD upholds all who fall, And raises up all who are bowed down.
> 15 The eyes of all look expectantly to You, And You give them their food in due season.
> 16 You open Your hand And satisfy the desire of every living thing.

For due season is upon you, First Nations. Due season is your promotion, due season is your exaltation, due season is the time when you are raised up, due season is where you reap the harvest you have so patiently waited for. For no longer will you be bowed over, First Nations, but loosed and set free. For God will visit you in power of the miraculous and all God's glory will be revealed to you and in you and THROUGH YOU! God is about to invade with His mighty power these places, and no devil, no person, no religion, no false doctrines will be able to stop this move of His Spirit, for the fuse has been lit. For He will raise you up, make you straight, and anoint you in great power of His Spirit.

The Books Are Sealed
Bill Somers

A Look at the sealed books, what are they why are they sealed, when will they be unsealed.

There are three references to sealed book(s) in the Old Testament. The most well known is that in Daniel. Here is part of it:

> Daniel 12:4 But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words and seal the book, even to the time of the end. Many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased."

We find two references in Isaiah on the same topic.

> Isaiah 8:16 Bind up the testimony, seal the law among my disciples.
> Isaiah 29:
> 10 For the LORD hath poured out upon you the spirit of deep sleep, and hath closed your eyes; the prophets and your rulers, the seers hath He covered.
> 11 And the vision of all has become unto you as the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, saying, "Read this, I pray thee"; and he saith, "I cannot, for it is sealed."
> 12 And the book is delivered to him that is not learned, saying, "Read this, I pray thee"; and he saith, "I am not learned."

Later in the same chapter of Isaiah, the Lord speaks of a future day when things will be different.

> Isaiah 29:18 And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity and out of darkness.

Some writers claim that the book sealed is just the book of Daniel and do not see the connection between that reference and the others mentioned here. But the reference in Isaiah uses the words 'testimony' and 'law'. These words commonly refer to the Word of God. See Psalm 119 for example. The quote from Isaiah 29 says the people have no vision. And it's not just a case of not being able to read, the unlearned one can't read. It's a case of not being able to understand what is being read. The learned one cannot read it because it is sealed. That is he can tell you exactly what it says, but he has no idea what it really means!

This speaks of the condition of the Church where we all have a good idea of what the bible says, but cannot come to any agreement about what it means! The Book That is Sealed is The Bible! The entire bible, not just Daniel.

There is one sense in which the Word is a Sealed book to the unbeliever. In that the natural man cannot understand the Word since things of the Spirit must be understood by the Spirit. That is with the Spirit of God to enable you to understand His Word.

Yet these references are talking about God's people not being able to understand the Word. Here is an example form 2nd Corinthians:

> 2 Corinthians 3:
> 14 But their minds were blinded; and up until this day the same veil remaineth untaken away in the reading of the old testament, which veil is done away with in Christ.
> 15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil is upon their hearts.
> 16 Nevertheless when they shall turn to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away.

Notice this passage speaks of a veil blinding their minds. Yet there is a promise that the veil will be removed when they turn to the Lord. Let's not presume to think that this applies only to the old testament Hebrew people. It speaks just as surely to the church of today.

In Jesus' ministry, many of the things that he taught his disciples fell on deaf ears. [… seal the law among my disciples ….] They also suffered from a certain spiritual blindness. For instance:

> Mark 9:32 But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask Him.
> Luke 2:50 And they understood not the saying which He spoke unto them.
> Luke 9:45 But they understood not this saying, and it was hid from them, that they perceived it not; and they were afraid to ask Him about that saying.*
> Luke 18:34 And they understood none of these things; and this saying was hidden from them, neither knew they the things which were spoken.
> John 10:6 This parable Jesus spoke unto them, but they understood not the things of which He spoke > unto them.

> John 16:
> 16 "A little while, and ye shall not see Me; and again a little while, and ye shall see Me, because I go to the Father."
> 17 Then said some of His disciples among themselves, "What is this that He saith unto us, `A little while, and ye shall not see Me; and again a little while, and ye shall see Me,' and, `because I go to the Father'?"
> 18 They said therefore, "What is this that He saith, `A little while'? We cannot tell what He saith."*

They too knew their scriptures, and heard Jesus' words for themselves, yet could not come to any agreement on the meaning. Yet for them, there came a day when Jesus opened their understanding and explained the scriptures. That day is coming for us, and soon.

In Revelations the prophet John witnesses a scene involving a book or scroll. The book is sealed!

> Revelation 5:1 And I saw in the right hand of Him that sat on the throne a book written within and on the back, sealed with seven seals.

Notice that the book is described as being written within and on the back. Many prophecy commentators claim that this scroll is the 'title deed to planet earth'. But it is much more than that.

Here are two old testament references to writings that use very similar language. The stone tablets Moses received were written on both sides and the scroll Ezekiel saw was written the same way.

> Exodus 32:
> 15 And Moses turned and went down from the mount, and the two tablets of the testimony were in his hand. The tablets were written on both their sides; on the one side and on the other were they written.
> 16 And the tablets were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tablets.
> Ezekiel 2:
> 9 And when I looked, behold, a hand was sent unto me; and lo, a scroll of a book was therein.
> 10 And He spread it before me; and it was written within and without, and there were written therein lamentations and mourning and woe.

Now the feature of being written on both sides has two purposes.
1. It allows to see that there is a link between the tablets, the scroll and the book. It lets us see that they are actually differing images of the same thing. That they all represent the Word of God.

2. It gives us a clue to the nature of the Word of God. When something is written on both sides, then naturally you cannot see all of the writing at once. That is part of the writing is visible or revealed and part is not visible. It is covered, hidden or sealed! Part of it can be understood right away and part of it cannot.

In Hebrews 5, the Word of God is compared to food. Some of it is like milk, easily digested and suited for newborns. Some of it is like meat, requiring some effort to digest and suited for the strong and mature. This is the same as saying that some can be understood right away and some takes a while.

Now what we are getting at here is that the book Daniel talks about as sealed is the book sealed with 7 seals in Revelation 5. And the fact that it is sealed means that parts of it cannot be understood, until the seals come off! No man is worthy to take the book and open the seals. Only Jesus, who is the Word of God, can remove the seals. That is to say, man cannot know God by his own efforts, God must reveal Himself.

Secondly, since the scroll represents the Word of God, and Jesus is the Word of God, then the vision of Jesus opening the scroll is a vision of God revealing Himself. Like the Last book of the Bible:
It is the Revelation of Jesus Christ.

Barometers Of Sonship

Clay Sikes

February 16th, 2005

As the remnant Body of Christ begins to come into new levels of maturity, occasionally we are shown ways in which we can determine the level and development of our maturity. I recently came face to face with one such barometer, and wish to share it with you in this writing.

As some know, I am in the land development business - a business that constantly tests my faith because of many unknowns. For me, I must hear God with a 'proceeding word' before I launch. I then must depend upon Him for my every move lest I depend upon my training, education, and history, and ultimately make a major mess. My best, my training, education, and history, is my greatest enemy in hearing and obeying God, because it thrust an inadvertent dependency upon me. I have a long history of messes that were a direct result of moving outside the boundaries of His Spirit.

As is normally the case in these projects, I began to have some doubts, even fears about the direction I was taking. As I began to pray about these fears, the Lord began to speak to me, beckoning me to thank Him for His word to me in Romans 10:17. As is usually the case, I did not know what Romans 10:17 said, but knew it was indeed the Holy Spirit directing me to something special.

"Consequently, faith comes from hearing the message and the message is heard through the word of Christ" (Romans 10:17).

As I contemplated this scripture and its relationship to my fears, the Holy Spirit began to shed enormous light on His Word to me. He began to tell me that I could not have faith for what I had not heard Him say. He then reminded me that on September 28th of 2004 that He had spoken specific words to me relative to this project. He informed me that His spoken word to me on that day was far bigger than the circumstances I faced.

He then said the following to me:

"Have faith in what you have heard me say, not in the circumstances you face. You can have just as much faith in My spoken word to you as you can in My written word. Your Sonship includes privileges and benefits to include the inherited right to clearly hear My spoken word, in which you can place the ultimate confidence. The true measure of you Sonship can be measured by the level of confidence you place in My spoken word (to you) of specific instruction in specific situations."

With this new understanding, I began to see Romans 10:17 in a new light.

"Consequently, faith comes from hearing the message (God's spoken word to me), and the message (God's spoken word to me) is heard through the word of Christ (God speaking to me)."

Though I have walked in this revelation for years, I am just now coming to a level of maturity in which God's spoken word to me IS INDEED a word in which my ultimate confidence can be placed. I realize today, more than ever, that I can only have faith for what I have heard God say.

Feb 16, 2005

Dear Clay,

The Lord was recently showing me this same message. He showed me how when he was tempted in the Wilderness, He answered Satan with this, "Man shall not live by bread (written word) alone, BUT by EVERY word that PROCEEDETH (present tense) from the mouth of God." It is that living, quickened word that the Holy Spirit speaks into your heart that we live and move in. That word that the Holy Spirit speaks to us, like in the same way Jesus spoke the written word to Satan--only it was the particular word that the Holy Spirit quickened to Him in that situation, is the word that we stand on. That particular "quickened" word from the Father is what we have faith in and know that we know that we know that Heaven and earth will pass away, but His word to us will never pass away--it will come to pass.

I hope this is making sense to you as it did me. There is a written word that the Father had transcribed to be our light--our compass--our confirmation for what we would hear from Him. It is His mind, His will, His way. But--we are not to pick and choose or just "pull up" a written scriputre to suit our fancy and quote that over and over, trying to muster up faith from the much speaking. That is only just the "dead letter"--the "Hagar", so to speak, and not the Isaac.

We are to know His word so that it is "hidden" in our hearts. Then as we walk with Him and a situation arises, as we learn to be sensitive to His Spirit within, He will give us "quickened" words, usually from His written Word, that is our "word" to stand on. That is the walking by faith--standing on that quickened, living word that proceedeth(present tense) from the mouth of the Father. Jesus said, "I only do what I hear of the Father." That is our example.

In Him,
Chris W

Excellent word, Clay.

There's a great illustration of this truth in Luke 8:22-25.

Jesus and His disciples get into a boat and He tells them, "let us go over to the other side of the lake."

As they were sailing a fierce gale of wind descended upon the lake and the disciples thought they were going to perish.

Jesus response. "Where is your faith?"

You see, circumstances must always yield to the Word of God. The Word of God to the disciples was "let us go over to the other side of the lake." Jesus spoke the Word, and Word must come to pass (be fulfilled). Nothing was going to prevent them from reaching the other side of the lake, even their lack of faith.

The challenging part for us is...after hearing the Word of God, believing it -- in spite of the circumstances (storms) that make it appear it will not come to pass.

Hence, the cry of the disciple..."Increase our faith!" (Luke 17:15) Were they going to perish? Absolutely not! The Word that was already spoken said they were going to the other side. The faith was for their own personal benefit (peace in the midst of the storm). Praise God that the fulfillment of His spoken Word is never contingent upon our faith (as some are falsely teaching in the church today.) If anything, it was the disciples lack of faith that played an instrumental role in God's Word being fulfilled. Because of it they woke Jesus up, He calmed the storm, and they reached the other side of the lake.

When it comes to anxiety or worry, I've come to understand that the only problem I ever really have is believing the Word of God. Sometimes it's the result of not hearing the Word (in which case I ask and seek), other times it's the result of hearing the Word but not believing it (in which case I must cry "Lord, increase my faith", and that often results in various trials. James 1:2-4).

Lessons I've learned...

Faith not only comes by hearing but sometimes by testing as well. (again, for my benefit, so I will be perfect and complete lacking in nothing.)

And

Circumstances must always yield to the Word! Even if I don't always have the faith to believe it! Isn't that reassuring?! Hallelujah!

Love,

Mike

Clay,

I received a similar encouragement from the Lord just last week. The essence of it was He told me to stand firm in what I heard and not be discouraged by the circumstances/obstacles faced, as I too, was having some doubts or even fears of whether I heard correctly because of the circumstances.

God is good, amen?

Your brother in Christ,
Steve Liebherr

Now my question is of the words that were said, were they of God of of the enemy? How do you determine if the words are Gods will or the enemy trying to dup you? Were does the word say whatever you put your hand to (I God) will prosper. Jabez asked for favour and God gave it. Does it mean if we do not get favour its not Gods will for me???

Discerning Opposition
Clay Sikes

The purpose of this article is not to down play the importance of spiritual warfare: its importance to the Body of Christ is well established. What is offered here is an understanding of the 'opposition' that we face. To that end, one of the most important attributes of those coming into their remnant calling is the ability to properly discern 'opposition.' Opposition in the context of this teaching is described as 'anything that opposes us,' to include but not limited to our plans, efforts, and activities, and occasionally our health.

As Christians, we have long traveled the road of traditional thought, which states that all opposition is demonically inspired. The Word of Faith movement taught us how to look for devils behind every bush, and assume that any hindrance to our well-laid plans must be of demonic origin. We gave little thought to the fact that God could be the originator of our opposition. Early on, we learned "our battle was not with flesh and blood, but with principalities, powers, rulers of the darkness of this world, and spiritual wickedness in high places" (Ephesians 6:12). The Word of Faith movement made a doctrine of this scripture, and with it, the false doctrine that ALL opposition is demonically inspired. Additionally, in one fell swoop, the devil also took away one of God's major sources of communication to His people - opposition.

God 'opposing us,' is by tradition, a foreign thought yet scripture reveals that "God resist the proud," "chastens those He loves," and many more biblical instances of God resisting His people. As we move into the essence of this teaching, which is properly discerning 'opposition' and hearing what God may be saying to us through it, we will break down old mindsets and move into new dimensions with God.

As the gift of discernment begins to operate on a higher more mature level, we come to recognize that God indeed closes doors. "For of Him, through Him, and to Him are ALL THINGS: To whom be glory forever. Amen" (Romans 11:36). It is interesting to note that the word "all things" is the same "all things" in Strong's Concordance found in Romans 8:28 - "And we know that ALL THINGS work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to His purpose." "All things" can and does include opposition in our lives, but are we (discerning enough) to understand God's communication to us through it? God permits in His wisdom what He could have prevented in His power. Perhaps we can begin to see that God allows opposition for our very own good. Romans 11:36 is worth meditating to grasp the fullness of the fact that "ALL THINGS" are "OF," "THROUGH," and "TO" God (including opposition in our lives).

Discernment is the God given gift (tool) that allows us the privilege of knowing if our opposition is demonic, and therefore something to be resisted, or if God is revealing direction and truth to us through His opposition. It is paramount for those "called" to be "more than conquerors," to know who is opposing in order to know what specific action to take. This revelation is the difference in a life of victory or a life of defeat – TRUTH making the difference!

Satan's job is to keep God's people contained with the lie that all opposition is of satanic origin. SATAN'S JOB IS CONTAINMENT, AND CONTAINMENT OPERATES IN THE MENTAL ARENA. If we are busy fighting devils OR PEOPLE when God has opposed us, we are contained. We have not learned to hear God through an important circumstance and consequently the lesson being revealed is not learned; and therefore must be repeated again. Scripture tells us that lessons not learned WILL BE REPEATED!

A poignant scripture that opens our eyes is found in Hosea 4:6 – "My people perish for lack of knowledge." You will note that God says here "My people…" which is a reference to Christians. The "lack of knowledge" mentioned is spiritual knowledge. Our spiritual ignorance is often ALL the containment the devil ever needs to keep us bound and incapable of moving into the higher things of God. While on the subject of spiritual ignorance, let us identify one of the strongest and most deceitful lies: a 'victim mentality' will contain a child of God like no other mind-set. When we take on the role of 'victim,' we have placed ourselves under the foot of the devil – we now believe the lie! "Woe me!" are words of containment.

To recognize God opposing us is to get a clearer interpretation of His direction. As an example, a major source of God's opposition to those called to the remnant Body of Christ is in the area of presumption. Our acts of presumption, even when they are aligned with 'good works,' will invoke God's opposition. This is hard for many to understand. What is God really saying to us by opposing our presumptive acts? Presumption is not being spirit led! "Those that are led by the Spirit of God ARE THE SONS OF GOD" (Romans 8:14). Presumption is the lowest form of human knowledge; much less having a Godly origin! The presumption that we once routinely operated in is no longer being tolerated as God is bringing us into true "Sonship." What once worked will work no more! If we do not recognize the source of the opposition, and why, we could easily take on a "woe me" mind-set and lose our effectiveness for God, by missing His intolerance for presumption.

Check the arenas of 'opposition' that you presently face, and ask God to reveal the source of the opposition. He will show you! You may be surprised when you begin to pray this way. Once you have been shown (Psalm 32:8), you will know what direction to take. To walk this way is to continuously walk in victory and move closer to becoming a powerful effective tool for God.

The Reality of Spiritual Seasons
Clay Sikes

Feb 17, 2005
"This is what the Lord says; Stand at the crossroads and LOOK; ask for ancient paths, and WHERE THE GOOD WAY IS, and WALK IN IT, and you will find rest for your souls" (Jeremiah 6:16).

I recently experienced a retrospective revelation of sorts in that in one brief moment I saw various events in my life to include the time leading up to and including the time after certain events occurred in my life. As I began to search out the meaning of this vision, the Lord began to reveal to me an important phenomenon about spiritual reality. This phenomenon, and for me a revelation, was the fact that we are forever experiencing spiritual seasons while on earth and just as with those who farm, we have certain specific duties and responsibilities during each of these seasons. Just as any farmer who could not discern the times (seasons) in the natural, we too are far less able to know "The Good Way" without a spiritual discernment of the seasons (times) we are in.

There is direct linkage between PROPERLY discerning the times and accurately hearing God's directional voice. A proper discerning of the seasons (times) fosters an accurate interpretation of exactly what "the good way" is.

Just as in the natural, spiritually we experience winter, spring, summer, and fall in virtually every element of our lives; ministry, marriage, spiritual growth, business, finance, relationships, etc. These individual aspects of life will experience seasons similar to what we face each year we live. Winter is a time of uncomfortable ness, a time to get warm and intimate with God, a time to rest physically and to exist on what has been stored from the previous harvest. It is a time of gaining direction for planting, to glean from past mistakes, to repair and prepare for the coming spring.

Spring is a time of planting and activity, a time of work and effort to carry out instructions gained in winter, a time of great spiritual and physical energy and a time that great energy is required. It is a time of plowing new and sometimes hard ground and a time to fertilize the soil with prayer. Summer is a time of watering (praying) and weeding (doing warfare over) the freshly planted crop. It is a time in which the crop is in potential danger from the heat of summer, thus the need for much watering. It is also the time we begin to see the first evidence of our planting (First the stalk, then the ear, then the full colonel in the ear.) Fall is the time of harvest; a time where the physical evidence of our hard work during previous seasons has arrived. It is a time of Thanksgiving, a time of refreshing and a time for storing for the winter that is sure to come. Fall is a time of utilizing the harvest, of good stewardship and proper dispersing of what has been harvested.

Without the ability to discern the times (seasons), I have followed false leadings, heard incorrectly, sought harvest in winter, and in many cases, simply "missed God." As I dove deeper into this revelation, the Lord began to open up the scriptures to me in a wonderful and fascinating way that not only explained the reality of spiritual seasons, but of even greater importance, allowed me to see that with this discernment I was now much more able to hear God correctly and more accurately know His direction for various times (seasons) in my life.

All of us in various ways are standing at some sort of crossroads (see Jeremiah 6:16). It is important to note that crossroads in this scripture refers to or means "place of decision." We all make decisions everyday that produces the "rest" of God, or as often has been the case in my life, the unrest of God.

The "rest" of God produces peace, joy, protection, provision and oneness with God. Unrest produces the opposite; said differently, bad decisions usually produce fleshly or soulish reactions. In recognizing that "the good way" will produce the "rest" which will produce peace, joy, protection, provision and oneness, one day while in prayer I asked God for any advantage that would allow me to better understand "the good way."

Amazingly, he showed me Matthew 16:1-3, "The Pharisees and Sadducees came to Jesus and tested him by asking him to show them a sign from heaven. He replied, when evening comes you say, it will be fair weather, for the sky is red, and in the morning, today it will be stormy, for the sky is red and overcast. You know how to interpret the appearance of the sky, BUT YOU CANNOT INTERPRET THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES."

Jesus is saying that you can discern the signs of the weather in natural things, but you are blind in discerning the season in spiritual things. The Lord then said another amazing thing to me in stating "It is the job, duty, and responsibility of the religious Pharisaical spirit that is prevalent in the Church today, and to some extent in us individually, to blind us to the discernment of spiritual seasons, hence relegating us to the natural realm. The Lord is calling us to discern the times, to judge not from what we see or hear (Isaiah 11:3).

To Understand The Following Question Is A Key To Major Spiritual Advancement

WHY DOES THIS RELIGIOUS SPIRIT FIGHT WITH ALL ITS POWER TO KEEP US IN THE REALM OF NATURAL THINKING? Because there is powerful and accurate direction from God that will produce His "rest" and all of its benefits if we accurately discern the times or seasons we are in. Discerning the times produces the right decisions or "the good way." When we walk by His Spirit and "lean not unto our own understanding," we have stepped over and into God's sphere and the place God desires us to all live in. In this place is His power and destiny flow in our lives. Everything we set our hand to prospers, we bare fruit for our labor, no weapon formed against us can prosper, and the plan of God is fulfilled in our lives.

Just as we would not visit a baseball stadium in midwinter to see a game, neither would we would we pray for a major harvest during a time of planting. If you know the seasons, you know what to do, how to pray, and develop an even keener sense of hearing spiritually. Many preachers and Christian TV personalities have 'jumped on' the prosperity message bandwagon, often promising saints great rewards if only they will sow into their "good ground" ministry. This false expectation is often sown into saints who are in various seasons of their lives and often the bottom line is failed expectations, and no fruit except the fruit of disappointment and despair. We all remember being told that our debts would soon be paid as we approached the year of Jubilee. I heard this preached for two years daily from many TV evangelists, but did it happen? Harvest cannot come into our lives corporately or individually until our appointed harvest comes. Many teachings today center around what we can see, unconsciously promoting a gospel of "the seen" or "natural thinking." To the wise I say, beware!

Listen to the words of Jesus in Luke 12:56-59, "Hypocrites! You know how to interpret the appearance of the earth and the sky. How is it that you don't know how to interpret this present time? WHY DON'T YOU JUDGE FOR YOURSELVES WHAT IS RIGHT? As you are going with your adversary to the magistrate, try hard to be reconciled to him on the way, or he may drag you off to the judge, and the judge turn you over to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison. I tell you, you will not get out until you have paid the last penny."

A life-long friend of mine recently learned this very scripture the hard way; she "judged for herself what was right," and accepted a gospel of "I am to be blessed at all times in my life." She did not and would not accept that she was simply in winter when certain events happened in her life. Unfortunately, the end result was literally prison, where she is today. Had she and her spiritual mentors discerned the times, she would have avoided the chaos that has ensued. We have truly entered a time of danger if we continue to "judge for ourselves what is right" and do not discern the times or seasons we are in.

Good works, good ideas, and good actions that are not originated directly from the Holy Spirit, will cause grave danger in the times we now find ourselves living in. A major key to understanding this is found in understanding that THE SIN OF PRESUMPTION OFTEN HIDES ITSELF IN NOBLE PURPOSES.

David cried out, "We do not see the signs; there is no longer any prophet, and there is no one among us who know how long" (Psalm 74:9). It would seem to be just as true today as when it was written – There are so few among us who understand the time we live in, or the days ahead. Jesus lamented that the people of His time built tombs of the prophets and approved of the forefathers killing them off. He stated, "Thus you have taken away the key of knowledge (Luke 11:49-52). Though I do not consider myself a prophet, I do feel that what is written here is prophetic and is a "key of knowledge."

In the post 9-11 era we now live in, if we do not accurately discern the times it could cost us our lives. The attacks of September 11th, 2001 were a shot fired across our bow. In the past, not knowing "the good way" could simply mean a financial failure, missed blessing, squabble with a spouse, but we now live in a different era, an era with greater consequences. Interestingly, in Strong's Concordance in the Greek, the word for "a live coal, or coal of fire is ANTHRAX (Strong's Greek 440/Romans 12:20).

The key to flowing with God despite circumstances in life, is to understand that with God there is an appointed time or due season for everything…We are encouraged in Galatians 6:9 which says, "Let us not be weary in doing good, FOR AT THE PROPER TIME, we will reap a harvest if we do not give up." By knowing the seasons we are far more able to "not give up."

"The Lord answered, who then is the faithful and wise manager, whom the master puts in charge of his servants to give them their food allowance at the proper time? It will be good for that servant whom the master finds doing so when he returns. I tell you the truth, he will put him in charge of all his possessions. But suppose the servant says to himself, My master is taking a long time in coming, and he then begins to beat the menservants and maidservants and to eat and drink and get drunk. The master of that servant will come on a day when he does not expect him and at an hour he is not aware of. He will cut him to pieces and assign him a place with the unbelievers. That servant who knows his master's will and does not get ready or does not do what his master wants will be beaten with blows."

Jesus is talking here about the POWER that is released when right actions are followed and the blessing of the steward who provides for the household in the proper season, and also the foolish steward who is unaware of the day of his master's return. Everything hinges on the understanding of, and the correct discernment of the season – because the unjust steward did not discern this time correctly, he did not judge what is right.

The Sons of Issachar understood the times. They knew what Israel ought to do and became part of David's Army to elevate him to the throne of Israel (I Chronicles 12:32). By reading the entire 12th Chapter of Chronicles you will see that many of Saul's fighting men discerned the times and knew it was David's time to be King and consequently left Saul.

By not looking to the natural realm, they were able to forsake the palace with Saul for a cave with David. Take note of the fact that many of those who did not discern the times remained with Saul and died. Take note of the fact that even though Jonathan knew it to be David's time, soul ties to his father cost him his life. Many in the Church today suffer from an inability to differentiate between the emotions of the soul and true Godly spiritual leadings. It is important to know the difference between the cold of a God appointed winter and the trap of emotional bondage.

By now it should be clear that a powerful kingdom force on earth exist in discerning the times. There is a strong and evident relationship between the understanding of the times and the operational force of right works within the season.

How much energy and resources have been wasted by not recognizing the spiritual seasons in our lives. If we are in a time of testing and being refined, it will do little good to demand God to bless us in the natural. If, on the other hand, we recognize the times we are in, it will do great good to pray, "God give me the grace to not only get through this winter in my life, but also let me learn the great spiritual truths that you desire me to have."

"Wisdom and knowledge will be the stability of your times and the strength of your salvation" (Isaiah 33:6). Hear this Saints of God; it is not enough to simply be saved. Wisdom and knowledge are the stabilizing factor in the times we live and in and are "the strength of our salvation." The knowledge of God and the wisdom of how to apply that knowledge will usher in one success after another. Solomon said, "People without vision perish" (Proverbs 29:18). People without vision are dying on their feet; they don't really have a spiritual life. Hosea wrote, "My people perish for lack of knowledge." The original language of this scripture says, "people perish" meaning, are cut down, cut off, undone, ended, cease. He gives the reason – "lack of knowledge" which means awareness, insight, and ability to discern.

Without an awareness of the season we are in, our ability to accurately discern is seriously hindered. With this ability, we will step into new spiritual truths and a greater ability to flow in the power of God.

Bottles Of Wine

Precious Living Stones

This message was delivered to a group of senior citizens recently. However it has application of all of us, no matter our age. As I read through it this morning I sensed the Lord wanted me to share it with you. As we are in the season of preparation coming up to Rosh Hashanna when the books are opened, there are some of us who need to re-align our hearts with the blueprint of heaven for our lives. He has such glorious purposes for our lives and sometimes we live so far short of them. In His grace, there is time to change focus in this season:

I see a shelf with bottles of wine on it, very dusty, some lying down. The light is coming through the window to reveal them. Some of the labels are so faded I cannot see what they say and it seems they have been undisturbed for a long time, just sitting there in the sunlight.

The master of the house is calling for these wines to be poured out. The time of maturing has come to an end and the vintage wines are being released. The water of the Word has been hidden in your hearts for a long time. When you were born again God spoke a Word over your life which contained your calling and destiny in the Kingdom. Do you remember it? What was the thing that kept you awake at night when you first got saved, dreaming and burning with a passion for a purpose that God had planted inside of you? You see we are all unique. Every bottle of wine expresses the character of the soil it came from and its heritage, the climate it was exposed to and the way it was handled in the pressing period. Connoisseurs can taste these things when they taste the wine. So what God is wanting to pour forth from your life has a particular flavour depending on the journey you've come and where you grew up in the Lord. You might have been planted in Full Gospel soil or Methodist. Whatever it was, and whatever your gifts, God has been forming and fashioning you to be a blessing to the nations. You were not born again to just come to church every Sunday and listen to a sermon and go home. You were called to go into all the world, heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers. You were not intended to be poured out within the four walls of the building we sit in on a Sunday. You were made to be poured out to a needy world. When we get saved we know this and our hearts are on fire for God, but somehow during the processes of life, we lose hold of this and settle down to a life of routine, kids, bills, career, whatever and the parameters of our call become dim. We become content to sit in the light of the Son like those bottles, some of our labels have become so faded we don't even remember who we were destined to be in God or what our purpose is. God is asking us to repent of letting go of our callings and destiny, of being content to just sit in the light of His Son. Just like in John 1, it is the 3rd Day and there is a feast prepared and God is wanting to pour out the best wine. Will you be poured out for Him. Will you say," here am I Lord, send me", will you embrace again the calling and destiny written of you in the library of heaven or are you content to stay covered in dust on the shelf?

I went to a wine tasting event where the best South African wines were being shown and I learnt some things I didn't know about wine:

As wine moves through its life cycle from youthful vigor to mellow complexity, it may pass through an awkward inelegant stage. The transition may even be downright ugly. For a time, like a caterpillar encased in a cocoon, the wine can seem shutdown or closed. What viticulturists know is that as a wine's fruity compounds oxidize and deteriorate, a wine's flavor profile may be experienced as mute or even unpleasant until the slow chemical reactions that characterize maturity get underway and manifest themselves. The duration of this phase can vary from hours to decades, depending on a host of factors ranging from variety to vintage to production methods. Apparently one particular wine blend in France was bottled in 1988 and shut down soon afterwards and has only come to maturity in 2003!

Is this the case with you. Soon after you were saved, you seemed to go 'mute' or your life seemed even unpleasant tasting? Didn't feel you were any testimony to the Lord. Did you feel you weren't as spiritual as others and so you decided to just help at church in practical ways. I've got news for you – Jesus expected every one of His disciples to heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers and cast out demons. These were not specialist ministries for the spiritual few but a work profile for EVERY believer!! We are moving into a time when God is going to move in signs and wonders through His people and that means you. You're not too old, too inexperienced, too tired or too scared. When God spoke a Word over your life, the water of His word went into your spirit and he expects it to accomplish what He sent it to do. The water has turned to wine and He's kept the best wine until last.

You know sometimes, God speaks through what's happening in the world. When I went to that wine-show, they made an announcement that a new class of wines has just been released – an Antique Class!! What is God saying through this? He is prophesying to the Church that the bottles of wine that have been sitting, waiting for a very long time, maturing, are now about to be poured out! God is calling you to arise and shine because the glory of the Lord is coming to rest upon you.

Have you been sitting so long on that shelf in the Son-light that your label has faded and its no longer clear what's inside the bottle. Have you lost the understanding of what God intended to do through you – you aren't even sure what your gifts are anymore. Well, God is wanting to reconnect you to the blueprint of heaven for your life and thrust you into your destiny in Him. All He's looking for is someone who will say, "here am I Lord, send me!" Its not about qualifications, or experience, or how many mistakes you've made in the past. He's looking for those who are willing to lay down their lives, that Christ may be manifested through them to a needy world. Don't wait in the shadows until its time to go home and stand before His throne to discover what His plans for your life were. We are given one life, one chance to live with passion and clarity for the cause of Christ, one window in the expanse of eternity to allow this earthen vessel to be used for His glory. Don't settle for a comfortable life, don't settle for a safe life. Press on to take hold of that for which Christ took hold of you. He didn't pay the terrible price of the cross just to ensure you go to heaven. He has a plan to profoundly impact the world you live in through you. Those people you say good morning to day after day, who live in prisons that the eye cannot see, the brokenhearted woman who sits behind the till at Pick and Pay, the wounded, the desperate, the hopeless. Inside of you God has placed an answer to their need. Inside of each bottle of wine you represent is the pulsating resurrection causing, bondage breaking power of the Living God. Will you allow yourself to be picked up by the Master's hand, opened and poured out to a dying world?

The Lord showed me some of you so want to be used by Him but somehow the cork is stuck in the bottle. Corks are designed to protect from contamination, they are intended to a good thing for a season but if they cannot be removed they become tombstones and all the potential to bring joy and blessing that the bottle contains, is wasted. Wine was made to be drunk not stared at on a shelf and collected as trophies to show off to friends. When Jesus was taken off the cross, he was placed in a tomb, which was really a place of preparation for what God was going to bring forth from His surrendered life. His tombstone was put in place by the Pharisees. Their intention was to prevent anything more coming from this man who had turned their cosy religious world upside down. I want to tell you that some of you have had stones rolled over the mouth of your place of preparation because the enemy knows that if you get out of there you are going to cause a lot of damage to his kingdom. The religious spirit and religion in general will always try to shut down and quench the plan of God for your life. But praise God, the tomb couldn't hold Jesus and its not going to hold you either. God is here to roll away those stones. Did you know the word 'tomb' in the Hebrew actually means a 'stack of sheaves'. What looks from the outside like a place of death is actually a place of preparation for fruitfulness. What does the psalm say, 'weeping endures for a night but joy comes in the morning. Those who go out weeping will come again with rejoicing carrying their sheaves with them! The time for release is here. The resurrection power of God is here to break that seal and remove that cork and set you free to be all that God intended you to be!

You might ask," why has it taken so long to come to this place of being poured out?" Well, Moses took 40 years to be turned from water into wine. There is a waiting time between the word spoken over your life and the fulfillment of your destiny. Young wine has no body but mature wine has structure, backbone and balance!

But there is a danger of getting past your sell-by date. If wine is kept too long it becomes spoilt, acidic and rancid tasting. Don't waste what God put inside of you. It was paid for with blood. This is your chance to be dusted off, have your label reprinted, be uncorked and released into your destiny in the Kingdom of God. He has no ordinary children. If you want to save your life you will lose it but if you are willing to be poured out for His glory, you will save your life. God is searching His shelves, looking for mature rich-tasting wines to serve the thirsty peoples of the earth. This is your time. Where are those with the Caleb spirit for when he was 80 he said, "give me this mountain" Where are those who will go in and possess the land of their inheritance? Say, yes, Lord, here am I, send me!

Bethel And Peniel

Bill Somers

A look at Jacob's two encounters with the Lord and their prophetic implications for end time understanding.

Bethel [House of God]

> Genesis 28:
> 10 And Jacob went out from Beersheba, and went toward Haran.
> 11 And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sun was set; and he took of the stones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep.
> 12 And he dreamed, and behold a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it.
> 13 And, behold, the LORD stood above it, and said, I am the LORD God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac: the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed;
> 14 And thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth, and thou shalt spread abroad to the west, and to the east, and to the north, and to the south: and in thee and in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.
> 15 And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of.
> 16 And Jacob awaked out of his sleep, and he said, Surely the LORD is in this place; and I knew it not.
> 17 And he was afraid, and said, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.
> 18 And Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone that he had put for his pillows, and set it up for a pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it.
> 19 And he called the name of that place Bethel: but the name of that city was called Luz at the first.

There is something very profound in this story, actually several things. Let's ask ourselves first: isn't is odd for someone to use a stone for a pillow? Couldn't Jacob have found something just a little bit softer and more comfortable to use? Sure he could have. The Lord is using the stone pillow to get our attention to his use of symbols and types here.

A Symbol can be a thing or object that is used to represent some thing or someone else. A Type is usually a person who has similarities to someone else, and is used to illustrate some point about that someone else. A allegory is a story using symbols and types, used to present some lesson about the things represented.

In this story about Jacob resting on a stone pillow, Jacob is being used as a type of Jesus. The cross reference verse that gives us a clue is this:.

> And Jesus saith unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head. (Matthew 8:20 KJV)

The use of a pillow speaks of finding a place to lay one's head.

So when Jacob finds this place to rest his head it speaks of Jesus finding a place to rest his head. In the context of Matthew 8, where Jesus says he has no place to rest his head, the discussion is about following Jesus. For in the verse just before we read:

> And a certain scribe came, and said unto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest. (Matthew 8:19 KJV)

Here we see a man claiming he would follow Jesus wherever.

And what does Jesus answer?

> And Jesus saith unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head. (Matthew 8:20 KJV)

So what kind of an answer is that? It seems that Jesus is changing the topic and talking about something totally different! Well consider that the followers of Jesus, which is what this section of Matthew is about, make up the 'body of Christ'.

> For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the saviour of the body. (Ephesians 5:23 KJV)

Now look at these other selections from Ephesians.

> Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God
> And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone
> In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord
> In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit. (Ephesians 2:19-22 KJV)

> But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ
> From whom the whole body fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love. (Ephesians 4:15-16 KJV)

In Ephesians 2:21 we see the phrase "fitly framed together"; and in 4:16 we read "fitly joined together". This is talking about the members of the body finding their proper place in Christ. And the Body of Christ being attached to the Head of the Body, Jesus.

When he talks about the fox holes or the birds nests, you think naturally that this is where they go to sleep for the night. So if the Son of Man has no place to sleep, is he some kind of homeless person? Well in a sense, yes he is. But He is also talking about laying his head on his body! So what is it that keeps him from laying his head on the body? The foxes and birds? Yes exactly, because they are symbols of demons. Look at this parable of the sower from Matthew 13.

> And when he sowed, some seeds fell by the way side, and the fowls came and devoured them up: (Matthew 13:4 KJV)

> When any one heareth the word of the kingdom, and understandeth it not, then cometh the wicked one, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart. This is he which received seed by the way side. (Matthew 13:19 KJV)

Here the fowls of the air are the forces of the wicked one that resist those who would follow Jesus.

Then he uses the same symbol in the parable of the mustard seed, where the birds nest in the branches of the mustard.

> Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like to a grain of mustard seed, which a man took, and sowed in his field
> Which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof. (Matthew 13:31-32 KJV)

Here the kingdom speaks of the church, seed sown is the mustard seed of faith dealt out to every man who hears the word. Now if the church is symbolized by a tree with birds nesting in it, and the birds are the forces of the wicked one, what does all this tell us? It says that there are demonic strongholds in the church that hinder the people from being true followers of the Lord. I don't think that is too surprising!

As for the foxes, we know that it's the foxes that spoil the vine and the vine is another symbol of the church.

> Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that spoil the vines: for our vines have tender grapes. (Song of Songs 2:15 KJV)

Then the talk about foxes' holes and birds' nests is describing something [the influence of the enemy] that prevents the followers from being true followers. This then prevents Him from coming to his resting place, and indwelling in his body.

So what is it saying when Jacob finds a place to rest his head. Well look at Jacob's dream.

> And he dreamed, and behold a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it. Genesis 28:12

To see the full import of this we need another cross reference.

> And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Hereafter ye shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man. (John 1:51 KJV)
> After this I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven: and the first voice which I heard was as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which said, Come up hither, and I will shew thee things which must be hereafter. Revelation 4:1

Jacob dreams of seeing into heaven. John has a vision of a door opened in heaven. Jesus speaks of heaven being opened hereafter. The hereafter then clearly speaks of the end times or latter days. So this is telling us that hereafter, in the latter days, the son of man will find the place to lay his head.

Therefore we can conclude that this passage is prophesying that there will be a time when the influence of the enemy will be removed from the church. And then the Body of Christ will come together in unity.

So that still leaves the question of Why Did Jacob Use a Stone Pillow? And the answer here is that God is having a little fun with a pun. If a stone is where you lay your head, then you can call it a head-stone. And that gets you right into the meaning of the last section of the story where Jacob takes the rock and sets it up and anoints it.

Here Jacob is used as a type of the Father. There are three passages relevant to this. First in Zechariah,

> Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou shalt become a plain: and he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it. (Zechariah 4:7 KJV)

Here the Father is setting the Head in place. And the place is on top of the 'Great Mountain mentioned here namely Mt. Zion, i.e. the church, i.e. the body of Christ.

Next, Psalm 2 shows this, the Father sets His King in place, the King is the Son.And Mt. Zion is the Kingdom.

> Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.
> I will declare the decree: the LORD hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee. (Psalms 2:6-7 KJV)

Then third, Jacob anoints the stone, this is seen in Psalm 133, where the anointing, the precious ointment, is poured on the head of the high priest Aaron [Jesus is our high priest] and this is likened to the dew on Mount Zion.

> Psalm 133:1 A Song of degrees of David. Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!
> 2 It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard: that went down to the skirts of his garments;
> 3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion: for there the LORD commanded the blessing, even life for evermore.

Here we see the anointing on the head, which is the rock, which is Jesus. It happens in a place of unity, again Mt. Zion, where the Body of Christ comes together, resting in Him!

What about the rest of the passage? Verses 13-15 are where God declares his covenant promises to Jacob. We are going to see those promises fulfilled in the latter days. Then in verse 17 we read: And he was afraid, and said, How dreadful is this place! This clearly speaks of a great Fear of the Lord that will be present in that place. And what is the place? " this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.

Of course the House of God is exactly what he is talking about over in Ephesians where we read this.

> *Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God
> *And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone
> In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord
> In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit.
> (Ephesians 2:19-22 KJV)

Then He named the place Bethel, which means House of God. That is God's resting place, where he chooses to dwell. And when we come to rest in him, we'll find our resting place, our place of peace, which can only be in Him.

Peniel [Face of God]

> Genesis 32:
> 24 And Jacob was left alone; and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of the day.
> 25 And when he saw that he prevailed not against him, he touched the hollow of his thigh; and the hollow of Jacob's thigh was out of joint, as he wrestled with him.
> 26 And he said, Let me go, for the day breaketh. And he said, I will not let thee go, except thou bless me.
> 27 And he said unto him, What is thy name? And he said, Jacob.
> 28 And he said, Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel: for as a prince hast thou power with God and with men, and hast prevailed.
> 29 And Jacob asked him, and said, Tell me, I pray thee, thy name. And he said, Wherefore is it that thou dost ask after my name? And he blessed him there.
> 30 And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: for I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.
> 31 And as he passed over Penuel the sun rose upon him, and he halted upon his thigh.

Here is Jacob wrestling with God in Genesis 32. You know some people say that it was not God, but an angel or a man. Even though it plainly says, I have seen God face to face! I think it's one of those things that you have to get your own revelation on.

The breaking new day is the third day, the new millennium.

The breaking of day is the dawning of the third day. Here Jacob is of course renamed Israel. As Israel, he is a type of the church or people of God and this wrestling speaks of the shaking of all things that God will use to bring his people to the place of obedience. What is very clever here is the point about touching Jacob's thigh. Here is the relevant scripture that provides the clue to the meaning of this incident.

> He delighteth not in the strength of the horse: he taketh not pleasure in the legs of a man. The LORD taketh pleasure in them that fear him, in those that hope in his mercy. (Psalms 147:10-11 KJV)

The thrust of verse 10 is strength. The strength of a horse is compared to the legs of a man. Our legs are our largest and strongest muscle group. Weight lifters can lift far more with the legs than any other body part. What the Lord is saying here is that the legs represent man operating in his own strength. He doesn't want us to labor in our own strength but to rest in him and let the Joy of the Lord be our strength. So what is very profound here is that He touched Jacob's thigh causing him to limp from then on. This speaks of a permanent change in the body, the body of Christ, where it no longer operates in it's own strength! We find a cross reference to this way over in Hebrews.

> By faith Jacob, when he was a dying, blessed both the sons of Joseph; and worshipped, leaning upon the top of his staff. (Hebrews 11:21 KJV)

When the lord touched his leg he was a cripple from then on. Doesn’t sound very kind of him does it. But it is part of the symbolism as we saw. And it was a blessing!

The permanent change in Jacob's body speaks of a permanent change in the body of Christ. One way of expressing it is to say Jacob's walk was changed. The Church today is not walking the right walk but God is about to change that in like manner.

Jacob had to walk with a staff for the rest of his days. Now the staff is a symbol of authority. As long as we are depending on God for our strength, we will have HIS authority to lean on.

The Name and the Nature

What is so important about characters names it that it speaks of their nature. The many names of God are descriptions of his nature. The Lord our healer, the lord our provider etc all tell us who and what he is. His name tells his nature.

The name is the nature, when Jacobs name was changed, it meant his nature was changed. As a type of the church, it foretells a coming change in the nature of the church. The change comes at the break of day, the new day, the third day, etc.

From Jacob to Israel

The name Jacob is 'heel catcher'. It's translated supplanter or restrainer. Jacob was a conniver up till that point, when his name changed, his personality did also.

The name Israel is translated soldier of God or Prince of God or 'he will rule as God'. The change in the nature from Jacob to Israel foretells a change in the nature of the church. Once that change comes, the church can begin to exercise the power and authority that has been given her.

You can find a similar idea in Ephesians 2.

> And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: (Ephesians 2:6 KJV)

And in Revelation 3

> To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. (Revelation 3:21 KJV)

Both of these scriptures await fulfillment.

Now after The Lord changed Jacob's name, Israel asked the Lord for His name! And God says to him "Wherefore is it that thou dost ask after my name?

Since the name tells us the nature, we see that Israel's first reaction to being changed is to seek after God's nature. He want's to be like Jesus! And that is something available to those who are changed in like manner.

> Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust. (2 Peter 1:4 KJV)

This whole story of Jacob at Peniel is an allegory of the believer and/or the church having an encounter with God. It's such a great encounter that one comes away from it totally transformed [conformed to Christ]. You could say it's the Revelation of Jesus Christ.

When Israel came away from it, he said "for I have seen God face to face".

In John's first epistle, he describes it like this:

> Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. (1 John 3:2 KJV)

So what is the connection between these two stories. Clearly there are a lot of points in common. I believe that they are two sides of the same coin, or two viewpoints on the same events. Bethel is seeing things from God's point of view. Here Jacob is a type of God, and God is saying this.

When I find that I can set my head in place on the body, I will fulfill the promises, made to the fathers, in the covenant, i.e. the prophecies in the bible; and establish my rule in my Kingdom.

Peniel is seeing things from man's viewpoint. There Jacob is a type of the believer or of God's people. There, God is saying to us that when we come to the point of submitting to God, we won't labor in our own strength anymore but be transformed into the new creation and enter into the kingdom, walking in right relationship with our God.

Birth Pangs

Subject: prophetic word given 21st July 2005. love Heather.

Prophetic word given 21st July 2005. Keys to the Kingdom Ministries.

This world is being seized by a pain that has shaken and consumed it. Like a woman in labour who's only thought is to birth the baby so that the pain will stop, The body is in the transitional stage in labour seized by every pain ready for the birth of the body of Christ into her final calling, and prepared and ready for the one who is to come who's head was bruised.

As there are birth pangs in the world, so there will be birth pangs and groans in your own life, whereby the 'body of Christ' flexes its muscles ready for that final release of the power and majesty of God poured through an open heaven upon the world.

The violent praise that you have heard me speak about through the prophets is a must at this time, because the pain is so bad that its all that you can think about, but I come and I enable those who belong to me to focus on me, to breath in the deep, deep things of the spirit, where deep calls to deep, the stronger the pain the deeper the breath of my Spirit you need to take in. as Much grace is released for this final push. Everything within you is screaming "no I cant do this, its to much, its to painful, take this pain away" but I encourage you and call you into that place of complete trust in me, I call you to not give up, to focus, not on the pain but on the end results that will put everything into order ready for the coming King. Put everything that you are into that last thrust to birth within your own life all that I have ready for this end time .

I will not leave or forsake you, you have had my word, my promise, I am with you until the end of time.

Do not fear the one who is to come who is against you and who wants to wreak his revenge on the nations as he has since the very beginning, his end is nigh and he is thrashing about the earth trying to stir up a heart so black with death against my people, but it is his undoing, this has to happen to fulfil end time prophesy,

I have equipped you, I have given you all that you need for these last days. In the act of violent praise, and the violent prayers of faith by the saints the strongholds will be shaken, torn down and blasted out as I release from my own nostrils the response to your prayers and praise and worship. Don’t see with your eyes, see with the eyes of faith, see victory and not defeat, see me in my majesty as we stand together and see these final callings and stands through to the end.

There are two sides to this coin, the birthing of the one foretold to come who is against all I hold dear, and the birthing of the beloved the one I love, the one who lives in complete submission to my will, who is spotless and without blemish, who’s garments are washed in my blood the one that the enemy cannot overcome. Radiant, alive, faithful, wise, full of truth obedient, willing to give everything for me, committed totally to the bridegroom, ready to walk with him into these last battles for the lost, and the Armageddon that is to come.

Watch the Islands, see the hand of the lord in the Islands, see how the lord overthrows the enemy in the Islands.

The light dawns ever brighter, piercing the darkness of this last age, all authority is given to you, the keys you hold unlock and open the doorways to heaven and release upon the earth all that is stored in signs and wonders, grace and mercy, salvation, and a power greater and more resolute in my body than has ever been seen before. I call you forth, from the North, will you come, the East will you come, the South will you Come, the West will you come, I call you forth for this next season, will you come.

Psalm 78:65 - 72
Then the Lord awakened as from sleep, as a strong man whose consciousness of power is heightened by wine. And He smote His adversaries in the back (as they fled); He put them to lasting shame and reproach. Moreover He rejected the tent of Joseph and chose not the tribe of Ephraim (in which the tabernacle had been accustomed to stand). But He chose the tribe of Judah (as Israel's leader), Mount Zion which He loves (to replace Shiloh as His capitol).

And He built His sanctuary (exalted) like the heights (of the heavens), and like the earth which He established forever. He chose David His servant and took him from the sheepfolds; From tending the ewes that had their young He brought him to be the shepherd of Jacob His people, of Israel His inheritance. So (David) was their shepherd with an upright heart; he guided them by the discernment and skillfulness which controlled his hands.

I want you to know, beloved, that a new season is opening – a new season when My beloved will walk in hope and prosperity in Me. I want you ready for this glad occasion. I want you presenting yourself to Me wholly, and looking forward to all that is coming your way with much anticipation.

This is the time – this is the hour. I am ready to present the wonders for which your heart has longed. I am ready to reveal Myself in My majesty. Get ready to look on the wonders of your God up close. Get ready to walk in the knowledge of My will for you with sure steps. For I have spoken, and as I have spoken, so be it – so be it.

I declare to you, beloved, that David of old walked seeking after My heart. He declared His allegiance to Me. He declared His trust in Me, and He walked in the knowledge of My wonderful love. This is what I want for you. This is what I desire for you. So know this day that I am doing a work in hearts. I am wooing hearts to Myself. I am declaring to those hearts that much awaits them – much awaits them that will declare My deep abiding love to them. Much awaits them that will show the world that I am at work diligently in those surrendered hearts, and that I delight in those hearts with a deep and wondrous passion.

I am a passionate God. I look to and fro across the face of the earth for one who will serve Me with a whole heart. When I find that one, I draw that one into My embrace. I know just when the time is right to present Myself, just as I knew when the time was right to present Myself to My son, David. Yes, I knew that His heart was in a receptive mode, and I wooed him, bringing Him into the knowledge of My deep, abiding love.

I am a faithful God. I am a terrific God. I leave no stone unturned when I am searching for that one to call My own. I leave no stone unturned and I use My wooing strategy to draw that one into My embrace.

I see many turn from Me. I see many who just will not give over to the Almighty God. This saddens My heart. If they only knew Whom they are denying. If they only knew what they are giving up. But they know not. They will not draw close enough to discover the rich reward that awaits one who will surrender to Me. They stand afar. This, beloved, is a time that I look on with the utmost sadness in My heart. This is when I declare that the time of reckoning is at hand, and that those who have turned from Me must accept the fact of their decision. They must accept the fact that the living God, the One Who is holy and true, has offered His heart. He has offered His whole self and they have settled for so much less than has been offered.

But then there are those who say an emphatic "yes" to Me! Now this gladdens My heart. This thrills My heart deep inside. So know this day, dear child of the living God, that I have made a way for you to enter into a new hour with Me – a new hour of wonder and I am thrilled to call you My own. I am thrilled to see you come willingly into your inheritance – the inheritance that has been proclaimed for you since ages past.

Yes, it thrills My heart to see one give over to the wooing that I present. It thrills My heart to see you made happy by the knowledge of My love that abides deep within your heart. You say to Me, "Lord, You are so good to Me – so good. Thank You for expressing Your wonderful love to me in this way. Thank You for giving Me insight into Your wonderful love, and thank You for where you have planned to take me in the coming hour – into that place of wonder and delight in You – that place where I will see your beautiful face and worship You with My whole heart. Yes, thank You, dear and wonderful Lord, for your beautiful plans – those plans that you have had since ages past and are bringing to fruition in this day."

I say to you, beloved, that you are welcome. The pleasure is all Mine. The wonderful pleasure is ALL Mine!!!

My Holy Mission of Love

I am on a mission – a holy mission of love, where My beloved will know the goodness of the living God and worship Me in spirit and truth. You have been foreordained to walk in this calling, dear one – foreordained since time began. Rejoice in this great wonder. Revel in the fact that the living God has shone forth the wonder of His heart, drawing you into a place of sweet contentment – an expression of His great love for you, His beloved.

I want you to know that I take this mission very seriously. It is not something that I take lightly. I am serious about what I am doing in this hour. I am so serious about it, that the enemy is having a great deal of trouble dealing with the very thought of what I am doing on behalf of My chosen. He has tried his best to deny you the freedom and wonder of this walk. He has hastened to prevent the wonder of My love from shining through in your life. So know that this mission has not gone forth without a struggle from him. But he has lost out. He has fallen flat on his face. He will not know the beauty of My heart. He will not see that shining hour. He will be in a desolate place – a place of his choosing, while

My beloved will be in a place of great wonder, peace, contentment, and the love of the living God, lighting the way into the destiny that I provided for those who revere Me and trust in Me.

I am a Holy God, and I am on a holy mission of love. I take delight in this mission. I am eager to see all of My dear children shine forth the light of truth as they enter into this new hour, knowing that the Beloved has seen fit to bestow His goodness on those whom He calls His very own. I am showing forth My goodness, and enabling you to know the essence of My love. This is a holy mission of love, which I am bringing to a completion as I shine forth this hour, enabling those who are called by My name to rise up in the strength and power of the living God, revealing My goodness to others.

I am on a mission – a holy mission of love. You, beloved, are entitled to all this wondrous mission contains. You are entitled to all that I purchased for you, enabling you to see My glory from a vantage point of freedom and delight. So step into this hour with Me, knowing that what you are about to experience is more worthwhile than anything you have done thus far – more wondrous than any experience about which you have ever heard or read.

I am on a holy mission of love. I will show forth My delight in this mission to My beloved. I will show you sights too wonderful for words. So get ready, dear one. Get ready to explore the heights and depths of My love, and know with each exploration that your God is moving you into a new place – a place of delight and love – a place where I will reveal My majesty. And that, beloved, that is a place where you will know true love expressed. That is a place where you will see this love in action in a spectacular way, and rest in the knowledge of My love for you – an expression of the One Who was on a mission to bring you complete – whole – into this place in Him – this place of delight – this place of reverential awe – this place of light and great wonder, as I apply My healing balm of love to you, My beloved, and extinguish those fiery darts of the devil once and for all.

Yes, I am on a holy mission of love. I am doing all of this because of you, My beloved. You will see the delight in My eyes when I reach forth, pulling you to Myself and proclaiming My love with words that are too sweet and rich for you to hear at this time. But hear them you will when the time is right – when My holy mission of love is made complete – complete in you, My beloved, the love and delight of My heart!!!

DREAM — November 2, 2004

During the latter part of the morning, as I still slept I dreamt the following.

I was a flight attendant and was on a flight with another flight attendant. We were in the forward cabin behind the cockpit. The configuration was such that there wasn't a galley or a lavatory. The forward part of the cabin was furnished with a sparse configuration. It was not a typical passenger configuration.

We were descending and on approach for a landing during strong turbulence. I glanced at the cabin windows and saw that it was totally dark outside. I could see driving rain beating against the cabin windows with debris flying by and hitting them as well as the aircraft.

The other flight attendant quickly strapped herself into the jump seat as she called out for me to sit down and strap myself in. Unexplainably, I did not pay attention to her, as I was very busy moving about the cabin.

Next, I had a "vision" of a man. I saw him from the right at a forty-five degree angle and about three or four feet away. He was not on board the aircraft but just a solitary figure. I did not recognize him. He appeared to be in his late forties. He was Caucasian, clean shaved, dark hair, trim figure, white shirt and tie, and dark trousers. He appeared to be a professional business man.

Next, the aircraft made a very hard landing during the strong turbulence. Since I had not yet taken my seat and fastened my shoulder harness/seat belt, I was instantly brought down hard onto the floor. A few things flew out of place missing me. I lay bouncing on the floor while the aircraft tumbled down the runway through strong turbulent winds. We eventually came to a stop.

In the following scene, I was outside by the aircraft's nose watching President Bush through the aircraft's right cockpit window. He sat in the First Officer's seat (right side of aircraft). That he was occupying the Co-Pilot's seat leaves the interpretation open as to WHO was occupying the left Pilot's (Captain's) seat. His wife, Laura, was seated immediately behind him. I watched as he determinedly pushed the throttle all the way forward with his left hand. His face had a strong focused look on his face. END

This was such a striking and vivid dream that I woke up bewildered. I glanced at the clock. It was 9:11 A.M. I then remembered that it was Election Day.

Interpretation

I believe the aircraft represents Air Force One (the Presidential Aircraft) and not a commercial flight. The approach for landing represented the end of the President's first term. This dream occurred on the morning of Presidential Election Day, November 2, 2004. Since President Bush won the election, it appears that this dream symbolizes that he was taking off on another flight for a second term.

The other female flight attendant represents the praying Church of Jesus Christ of Nazareth. I represent a member of the Church, busy with helping out in the Presidential Campaign and was therefore not secured for landing. I endured the hard landing that symbolizes my being involved in the controversial campaign activities to the bitter end.

I leave the "vision" open for the reader's interpretation as to who the man was and why he was not on board the aircraft.

Commentary

Never in this nation's history has there been such a passionate display of hatred as well as slandering, vindictive, spiteful, malicious, bitter, mean, cruel, unkind and malevolent attitudes as well as false accusations and attacks that were demonstrated against President Bush during the Presidential Campaign of 2004. The turbulence outside the aircraft cabin and all kinds of objects hitting the cabin windows and aircraft strongly represent the heated and tempestuous atmosphere that endured throughout the Presidential Campaign toward President Bush even until now, four days before his second inauguration on January 20, 2005.

Bride of Christ

Carol McCarthy

October 2, 2005

In my dream, I worked at the Supreme Court in Washington DC, and lived right across the street from it. While getting ready for work, suddenly, a woman began talking to me and she resembled a dear friend of mine who, in the dream, was now in "perfect" health without anymore symptoms of MS. She asked me if I felt that I should be working at the Supreme Court. I told her I was sure I belonged there. Then, I found myself in a clear, glass building still across the street from the Supreme Court. I finished showering, but couldn't find my clothes or my Bible. I finally left for work, walking outside into a strong rainstorm with an umbrella that completely covered me. END OF DREAM

Interpretation:

Both women in the dream I believe represent the Bride of Christ.

The woman who reminded me of my friend represents the "perfected" Bride of Christ.

The Supreme Court literally represents the "Law of this Land" in America. Daily work and business goes on as usual.

The Bride (Church) has less and less business in being in the position of working to change man's laws and purposes in this nation as well as the other nations of this earth.

God is perfecting His Bride to be cleansed from all defilements of this present age. She is being viewed not only by God, but also, by the whole world. She presently finds herself naked and hardly knows or understands the full counsel of God's Word at all.

Yet, God's Word and mercy never fails, but endures forever (Ps. 136).

The rainstorm represents God's divine judgments falling with increasing intensity against mankind's utter depravity. The woman (Bride/Church) walks out into the rainstorm covered by God's umbrella of protection from all destruction (Matt. 16:18).

I will lift up My Brides Bridal Veil and open her eyes to My Glory, so that she can see in the night her lover's face and fall deeply in love with her Husband and know that I truly love her, so when she falls down, she will get back up and walk with Me through the darkness and I will love her like she has been never loved before.

I will cause all things to work for her good and even the nightlife will be a time of joy with unending beauty and I will say to her, 'I love her, truly I do.' For she is My life and truly My Bride, so do not loose hope My Bride for that is to come shall surely come upon thee, and I will be her lover.

Breaker Anointing

Lanna Perry

20th November, 2005

Listen My Church, to what the Spirit is saying to the churches - Revelation 2:17

My precious and beautiful church, how I am developing you and polishing you My diamond - My church.

Many of you are going through the fire - but I am bringing out a sparkle on each of you that has not been seen before.

Many of you are feeling like walls and obstacles have been planted all around you, and that the attack has increased in ways you have never seen or heard of.

Yes, the enemy has increased the attack in many ways because of the anointing that I have placed over many of you, the breaker anointing.

I have poured out My anointing of breakthrough over many of you. Many of you have now been called out and where your feet tread, you will see the breakthrough of My Spirit in people's lives and circumstances.

Do not be discouraged by what is around you but continue to fight the good fight. Know that the enemy has increased, but I will increase even more. For the enemy has nothing...I am God...I am powerful and there is no power like mine.

Weary not of the attacks, weary not of the battles but know that you are being raised up and called to stand for My kingdom My church.

The enemy is trying to shake My church, and I am using this shaking to sift through those who truly want to serve Me and the calling upon their lives and those who do not want too.

For when the fire and heat is elevated many are fleeing, but those of you who are remaining faithful, oh the reward you shall receive. The blessings you shall see, the moves of My hand you shall see, and the depths of My heart you shall see are more glorious than you could ever imagine.

Know that you do not take one step without Me, and I have released this breakthrough anointing over your lives, but you must first activate this anointing in your own lives.

Walk in this anointing, do not be swayed by people, circumstances and plants of the evil one, but rise up and proclaim through the anointing I have placed upon each of you, the breakthrough that is to come.

Listen to what I am saying to the churches. Breakthrough is at your door church.

You must choose to embrace breakthrough in the midst of turbulent attack and fire, or reject it.

For I am about to pour out My Spirit in a greater way. The harvest is ripe. The fields are white. I am waiting on YOU my church. I am waiting on YOU to take the step forward.

Will you step forward?

My church, how I love you. You are My sparkling diamond to the world. Do NOT be dismayed by the turbulent attacks around you, but KNOW that you are about to be a part of one of the greatest moves of My hand, in the history of the world.

Breakthrough

Brenda Dowdin

Aug 17, 2005
Beloved:

Stand up for breakthrough is before you. It may not look like you thought, but it is breakthrough. As you let go of all expectations and let me I will bring the changes you've been longing for... As you let me capture your heart I will release those things that have been hindering you from moving forward. For some this will be a heart change, an attitude adjustment, for others this will mean a shift in circumstances. I have surveyed my peoples hearts. I have sent you through different circumstances to bring forth your heart motives and I have taken notice of the places in the heart that are still needing adjusted and also revealing those places in the heart that are ripe and prepared by my hand. Breakthrough is eminent and you will see the changes very soon. Stand, rejoice for your Red Sea is about to part!

Women of God!

This is a season to yield! I am doing a fresh work in the men. I am putting pressure behind them to cause them to stand as "gentle warriors". You shall see them arise in the mantels I've predestined for them. You will see them arise as the "priests" and the "protectors". A mighty wave is about to pour forth upon them. There is a synergy that will be released upon the men and women as they come together and minister. Faith will arise, miracles will arise, it is what I am doing.

Eagles Arise~! Come forth from the Eagles Nests!

I will raise up new Eagles Nests all over the earth. My young Eagles need mentoring and nourishment. The lost art of intercession is taking on a whole new look. Training for reigning is coming forth. Mother Eagles arise! It is time to mentor the young in the prophetic, in intercession and birthing! A grand company of women are about to arise and make weapons of mass destruction through the intercession that will come before my throne. You will also see the men take on a greater role in intercession. They will birth and bring forth the heart of the Father. Many men who have been misunderstood and will arise in the calling of Intercession and be given great revelation on intercession. There is a deeper level of prayer, a prayer movement of intercession that is being released. You will move in to birthing and supernatural phenomenon will be released instantly. A mighty wave is coming. The enemy has under estimated and not planned accordingly of what I am about to release upon my intercessors! I call all to intercede this is not for a select few. There is a cost...but the rewards are well worth your efforts!

Arise for Breakthrough is emanate! You stand at the very edge of something brand new and exciding!

A Word To The Men
Brenda Dowdin

Aug 18, 2005
My Sons:

The enemy has broken through to many of you and broken the lines of communication between you and me. He has done this through ill legal moves! He has brought hurt feelings, rejection, insecurity and failure to you and caused you to pull away from me. This day I am bringing new lines of communication, I am establishing my name upon your hearts. You will once again hear me clearly. Don't be so hard on your selves! I love you, I've seen you wandering around in the desert. I will meet you in the desert and feed you manna and fresh cool water. It is a complete food I am bringing you. So satisfying and refreshing. Trust me as I do this work.

A fresh wind of my spirit is about to blow upon the face of the earth touching the hearts of my men...

The cloud of the Lord will be with you by day and over you a fire by night. A new level of my presence is being released....for the men.

Isa 43:19 "Behold, I will do a new thing, Now it shall spring forth; Shall you not know it? I will even make a road in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert."

Blessings to you all! Lovingly in Him,

Broken Promises

BROKEN PROMISES
When you are moved by the promises of men,
Walking its road and coming to the end.
All that was presumption will fall and crumble.
What will remain is only what's humble.

Confession and forgiveness is what cleans the soul.
Dieing to expectation will make you whole.
For what you bought in promises from man
I purchased something more that says, "Yes you can."

My place is not men's place and that you do know.
My Words are like beacons all set in a row.
My Word is eternal, I stand by My Name.
Past, present and future, I AM the same.

Let not your faith falter having walked the road,
Of broken dreams, promises, and bearing their load.
Faith in man's word will fall short in character.
My Word is eternal, My Word is sure.

Give me your cracked heart and your broken toys.
I will fix them and protect them from naughty boys.
Mankind are mere boys that don't know their way.
They lack the right words - knowing not what to say.

Look to Me not to them, to make things right.
Give Me your time and your faith and just sit tight.
It's a squeeze, that I know, there's no room to sit.
Just trust Me to lift you from this deep pit.

Isa 40:6-8 NKJV
The voice said, "Cry out!" And he said, "What shall I cry?" "All flesh is grass, and all its loveliness is like the flower of the field. The grass withers, the flower fades, because the breath of the LORD blows upon it; surely the people are grass. The grass withers, the flower fades, but the Word of our God stands forever ."

Boundaries 2006 – Fix The Mix

Sandy Warner

Hi loved ones,
We each see in part, and the following is the part the Lord has given me for 2006, starting from the Day of Atonement, 10/13/05.

Here are the questions that are being posed to us:

BOUNDARIES 2006, FIX THE MIX
Do you need inspection?
Do you need correction?
Do you need connection?
Do you need protection?
Do you need direction?

The Lord gave me poetry this year to encapsulate these themes. To read more, you may click on these links:

BOUNDARIES 2006, FIX THE MIX
Inspection: http://QWC.url123.com/Inspection
Correction: http://QWC.url123.com/Correction
Connection: http://QWC.url123.com/Connection
Protection: http://QWC.url123.com/Protection
Direction: http://QWC.url123.com/Direction

SUMMARY OF THE ABOVE WORDS:
Focusing on our Foundations and Boundaries
What is out of whack?
Radical pendulum of opposite poles
What is out of balance, what is shaking?
What is being compromised?
Seeking a way out of the endless maze
Seeking to come out of repeated patterns of mindsets
Soul giant surgery & death to self
Goal is to walk in peace
Pray over painful relationships
Goal is to adopt one another

SCRIPTURES FOR 2006

Soul giants:

Num 33:55 NKJV
But if you do not drive out the inhabitants of the land from before you, then it shall be that those whom you let remain shall be irritants in your eyes and thorns in your sides, and they shall harass you in the land where you dwell.

God's discipline or self discipline?

Heb 12:10-13 NLT
But God's discipline is always right and good for us because it means we will share in his holiness. No discipline is enjoyable while it is happening — it is painful! But afterward there will be a quiet harvest of right living for those who are trained in this way. So take a new grip with your tired hands and stand firm on your shaky legs. Mark out a straight path for your feet. Then those who follow you, though they are weak and lame, will not stumble and fall but will become strong.

God is in control

John 14:27 NKJV
Peace I leave with you, My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

Pray, pray, pray

Phil 4:6-7 NKJV
Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God; and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

Adopted

John 14:18 NKJV
I will not leave you orphans ; I will come to you.

Abide in the Holy Spirit, His Presence

John 14:16; 26 NKJV
And I will pray the Father, and He will give you another Helper, that He may abide with you forever — ... But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you.

Trust in God

Ps 91: 1-7 NKJV
He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High Shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the LORD, "He is my refuge and my fortress; My God, in Him I will trust." Surely He shall deliver you from the snare of the fowler and from the perilous pestilence. He shall cover you with His feathers, And under His wings you shall take refuge; His truth shall be your shield and buckler. You shall not be afraid of the terror by night, nor of the arrow that flies by day, nor of the pestilence that walks in darkness, nor of the destruction that lays waste at noonday. A thousand may fall at your side, and ten thousand at your right hand; But it shall not come near you.

Taking Your Place As King In Your Family

TAKING YOUR PLACE AS KING IN YOUR FAMILY

Chosen one, do you remember David's choice to number the people? I did not tell him to do that. His choice brought destruction upon the people that he covered. My people had to learn the hard way. As long as Israel's king's trusted Me and did that which was good in My sight, the nation lived in peace. Likewise, you are coming into your place in Me. You are learning kingdom ruling and reigning through your choices. The doors open and close for those you watch over, according to your own righteous and unrighteous choices. Yes, this is true. I am giving you powerful keys to make a difference in your family when you walk in obedience. There are places that you have fought Me for years in being disobedient. If you can not love yourself enough to obey, then do it for those you love. Your obedience bears fruit in their lives. Stand in the gap for them, dear one.

I want to strengthen you and have you see the power of influence I have put in your life. As you practice obedience and are faithful in the little things, I will promote you into powerful authority in your prayers to bear great fruit for many.

1 Chron 21:17 NKJV
And David said to God, "Was it not I who commanded the people to be numbered? I am the one who has sinned and done evil indeed; but these sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, O LORD my God, be against me and my father's house, but not against Your people that they should be plagued."

Standing In The Breach

Nov 2, 2005

There are many who are waiting to give birth to promises and destinies. Some of you have no means to get to your birthing place. Your tires are flat. Rise before midnight, and awaken to My call. Fix that which has flat-lined in your relationship with Me, so that you will be prepared to birth the destinies that await you. That which has flat-lined between us is a result of your giving into sin. Your safe boundaries need to be re-set and the breach in your hedge needs to be repaired. Confession, repentance and obedience will bring hope back into that which has fallen and will bring safely to birth, that which has breached.

Isa 58:12 NKJV
Those from among you shall build the old waste places; You shall raise up the foundations of many generations; And you shall be called the Repairer of the Breach…

ADOPTED

I have been working for many years in your life to give you a planting where there is a need and an appreciation for your gifts. This place is like being embraced into a family where you will be loved and flourish. Allow me to transition you into this place. Lay low and follow Me. Stay obedient. Stay humble. Be transparent but careful and let Me move you into position. I AM bringing you into other's lives and bringing them into yours. My Spirit of adoption is not only crying out for the literal orphans and widows who have walked alone, but for those of you whose gifts were not accepted.

Come to Papa and I will settle you. Daddy says it is safe to come home now. No more hide and seek." Come home dear ones.

Gal 4:4-7 NKJV
But when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son, born of a woman, born under the law, to redeem those who were under the law, that we might receive the adoption as sons. And because you are sons, God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying out, "Abba, Father!" Therefore you are no longer a slave but a son, and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.

Broken Wings

Melinda O'Dea

My precious daughter, my precious little bird, oh how I delighted when I created you. I gave you a song to sing, a song to sing to me. And I placed this song deep inside your soul. This song is our song little one, our special love song that no one else sings.

I made you beautiful, your feathers I placed on you individually so no other is alike, you radiated in your uniqueness. I also gave you wings little one to fly. Free to fly wherever you wish and sing your love song unto me. And I delighted in you little bird and your joyful sound.

But your wings have been broken, in many places. Many have tried to take from you your flight, your freedom. They have plucked your feathers my precious creature, to make you naked and cold. And strip from you your beauty. You've been locked away in a cage, put into a dark room, and left to die alone.

Abandoned by the world you sit.......yet while you sit I hear you. I hear your song little bird, you sing to me daily. In your nakedness and pain you sing. Our love song.

LITTLE BIRD, I am here to heal you, I have bound up those broken wings, restored the feathers that have been so cruelly plucked from you. I have taken you and repaired the brokenness and if you look, you will see I have opened the door to your cage and set you once again free.

Oh little one, I have heard your song you sang in the darkness. And my heart ached for you, but I say to you, no more will you be caged. No more will you be shamed, naked, forgotten, locked away and broken. NO MORE!! Your song has moved me my precious one. You never forgot your song. You never forgot to sing to me, you bared your soul and sang from deep within your being to me.

FLY little one, FLY!!!! You are healed, and I have restored your beauty you thought you had lost. And soon all will see what I have done when they see you fly past singing a new song. A new love song to me. Only this song my little bird will haunt man...... for this song is a deliverance song I have placed in you.

Your beauty will astound those who thought they had destroyed you. They will not recognize you, for I am giving you new plumage. Plumage that cannot be touched by man and will shine and blind them. They will not be able to take their eyes off of you yet have to shield them. Your new beauty will break thru all darkness and forge a path of light for others to follow.

Fly free my precious little creature, for I have many places for you to visit. I have wondrous places for you to go to. Never again will you be caged and in darkness. FLY, FLY..... FLY FREE!!!

And know, your wings will never be broken again. Your beauty never tarnished and your song, your song will be sung to me for all eternity. Oh how I delight in you and your song. My love for you holds no bounds. Little bird, fly free to be who I created you to be.

The cage is open, the way is made.......enjoy little bird. I look forward to hearing your song to me, as I delight over you.

Bedtime Story
Kriston Couchey

Then the Pharisees had a counsel about how they might trap Jesus with His words. They sent out their disciples along with the Herodians and they said to Jesus, “Master, we know that you love truth and teach the way of God in truth, and you are no respecter of persons”. “So please tell us, is it lawful to pay taxes unto Caesar?”

Jesus said, “Show me a Denarius!” He then held it up and cried aloud for all to hear, “No Taxation without Representation!” Pharisees and Herodians were astounded by this brave defiance of the Roman Oppressors.

Then Jesus stood and cried with a loud voice, “Give me Liberty or give me Death!” Someone from the crowd cried out, “Hail Jesus the Messiah!” the chant grew until the whole crowd was shouting through the streets of Jerusalem, “Hail Jesus the Messiah!”

The Pharisees thrilled to see that Jesus was finally concerned about their condition of political and economic oppression bowed before Jesus and pledged their allegiance to Him. The council of Sanhedrin led by Jesus Drew up a declaration and sent it the governors and the Emperor declaring Independence and freedom from Roman dictatorship. This Declaration defended each mans right to Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness.

The rest is all history. After the Passover, on the day of Pentecost Jesus poured out the Spirit of Independence on his followers and the Kingdom was born in power and majesty. It covered the whole earth with Jerusalem as its capital. Jesus set up a democratic government giving the people the right to vote and choose their leaders. Of course Jesus has won every election for World Ruler of the Kingdom, because after all, He is God! And all the lesser seats of power have gone to those who pattern their rulership after His pattern of Kingdom advancement. That’s why the USA is called “One Nation under God”.

Bedtime Story Part II
By Kriston Couchey

The tax collectors were considered scum of the earth. It was unjust! In order to finance the Empire’s endeavors, tax burdens that truly caused hardship to the people were laid on the backs of those who did not benefit from them.

Territorial governors ruled over the people, making laws and decisions that affected the people’s lives without their consent. It seemed that any time something prospered, the dictatorial hand of the Empire found a way to profit off of it. Any form of standing up to the Empire was brutally repressed, and repaid with more taxes. This caused the people to despise the tax collectors.

Worse yet was the way in which the military took advantage of the people. They could demand food and lodging from anyone they desired, taking advantage of people’s resources.

And so, the American colonies were in dire straits with few options. So a conference of civil and religious leaders got together and decided to pray and seek God for 30 days. Through their time of prayer they became broken and experienced times of repentance and weeping over their sins.

The place they met was Boston, a stronghold of Humanism and Unitarian thinking. Years later this time of repentance and forgiveness became known as the Boston Massacre because at that place God massacred their pride, independent spirit, and rebellion; and replaced it with righteousness, peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit.

This repentance spread all over the colonies. With an explosion like that of the Hebrides revival, bars closed, people fell down in the streets crying out to God for repentance, and the atmosphere of the colonies was changed to one of holiness to God.

If a British soldier demanded a colonist to feed them they would not only feed them but also give them a cup of water and the shirt off their back. They would carry their pack for two miles instead of one. The soldiers also repented and began to love like the colonist and live in harmony with them.

The governors and tax collectors repented as well, and many resigned. The few left began to ease the burden on the people, listening to them and serving them.

But the King of England was angry. Soldiers were leaving the service, governors and tax collectors resigning; and when a new one took their place they also became too Spiritually minded to be of earthly good for the king.

Also, France and Spain both declared war on him. It was as if God had turned against the Empire. He sent ships of soldiers to the colonies to put down the uprising, but when they got within 50 miles of land, the Spirit of repentance was so strong they would weep and repent. When they stepped on land they would embrace the colonist with a love and tenderness that belied their soldier garb.

For those who would not repent, a great fear would overtake them and they were unable to function in their capacity as a soldier because their psychotic fears overwhelmed them. These often left straightway for England or some other port so as not to be tried as traitors to the king.

The king lost the war with France and Spain. With no way to attack or take over the colonies, He made a truce with them to not war with them or to infringe any sort of control over the colonies. His one demand was that they send teachers to the empire to teach them this new way of love and forgiveness. For love overcomes all things.

Yes these are just STORIES, they are not true....

Being Stretched for His Kingdom

Bob Steward

Farther out, farther out... stretching, I am stretching you out like a bungee cord, like a new rope. I will stretch you until there is brokenness -- you will be broken -- I will break you so that I may heal you and take you farther out to where I have purposed for you to go. Where you are broken, I will mend with a cord of three strands which is not quickly broken.

I, the Lord, will heal you and hold you together. I will be the center of your life that I will stretch out to reach others. You will stretch out in many directions as the fingers of a hand. Both hands will open wide. All the fingers will reach out, and touch, and wrap around others -- to bring them into the fold, into the Body, into My Kingdom.

Barren Servants Of God

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

The Lord gave me a word to barren servants of God. This year has been tagged the year of fruitfulness by the Holy Ghost and it is his wish to see every of his servant prosper.
The first word is the prophecy of Isaiah 54 (the whole chapter was specially written for barren ministers for God indeed ended it saying - this is the heritage of the servants of the Lord and their righteousness is of me) while the second word is from 2 Peter 1: 5 - 7. Read the prescribed scriptures from peter and Isaiah and get life from them through meditation . They would help you stand strong and be fruitful in all areas.

Prophecy 1

Sing and rejoice o barren for thou shall break forth on the right hand and on the left. Lengthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes for enlargement I give thee.....Read Isaiah 54 for the continuation.

Prophecy 2

Be diligent to keep my word. Be fruitful to hear the sayings of thy God and to honour his commandments. Add virtue to thy faith. Get knowledge. Buy the truth and sell it not. Be temperamental and be patient. Flow in godliness. Love thy brother and have fervent charity towards all men. This is my love for you. My love towards you is agape. Therefore love all men with the same kind of love with which I love you. With all of these thou shall not be found wanting for I have revealed this message to you so that you would be fruitful. Increase and multiply for I have given thee light. Have dominion over the flesh. Subdue it and you shall conquer in all things.

Blasphemy In The Last Days
Bayo Omoyiola, jr.

This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be .... blasphemers...2 Tim 3: 1-2

I felt in my spirit that this message is indeed one for the season we are in. The sin of blasphemy is on the increase. Prophets are committing it. Spiritual leaders are committing it; not to talk of the ordinary believers in the church of God, false prophets and the unbelievers.
Blasphemy will nevertheless continue for we indeed are in the last days. It has been prophesied and it is now manifesting more and more. Prophets of God should take note and be watchful. Our brother yongi cho was saying his heart the other day against the increase or the prevalence of false prophetic words in the air. This tells us that we got to be watchful and be prayerful. But at the same time let us not start to pull down ministers of God with our mouth; Instead let us pray for them if perhaps they could be made whole for indeed there are different classes of blasphemy. Some could be pardoned. Prophets and believers that plead the blood of Jesus every now and then are on the safe side; because they believe in the saving power of God. If you criticise and condemn God’s servants be warned for you are playing with fire. Our God has made them flames of fire. Nevertheless let all examine their faith whether they be in the faith.
This I believe is one of the things the Spirit is saying for now. Beware of blasphemy !

Better Think Again

Kevin and April Powers

For sometime now a lot of what I have been hearing concerning the recent hurricanes is that those in the New Orleans are ‘deserved’ it. There was all kind of grievous sin in that area of the country; such things as Witchcraft, Voodoo, various kinds of sexual sins including the infamous “Southern Decadence” event, gambling, etc. In the midst of all of our opinions, does the Word of God speak to all of this? Well, yes, of course it does. Here is an interesting passage that directly speaks to this issue:

Luke 13:1-9
13:1 Now there were some present at that time who told Jesus about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mixed with their sacrifices. 2 Jesus answered, "Do you think that these Galileans were worse sinners than all the other Galileans because they suffered this way? 3 I tell you, no! But unless you repent, you too will all perish. 4 Or those eighteen who died when the tower in Siloam fell on them-do you think they were more guilty than all the others living in Jerusalem? 5 I tell you, no! But unless you repent, you too will all perish." 6 Then he told this parable: "A man had a fig tree, planted in his vineyard, and he went to look for fruit on it, but did not find any. 7 So he said to the man who took care of the vineyard, 'For three years now I've been coming to look for fruit on this fig tree and haven't found any. Cut it down! Why should it use up the soil?' 8 "'Sir,' the man replied, 'leave it alone for one more year, and I'll dig around it and fertilize it. 9 If it bears fruit next year, fine! If not, then cut it down.'" NIV

First, we need to look at the 2 types of incidents that Jesus gives us in his answer to the people. In verse 2 Jesus addresses the issue of calamities /disasters that are caused by men, even evil men, Pilate in this case. The second type of incident that Jesus uses in verse 4 speaks of “natural” disasters; those things that occur which are NOT caused by men.

Notice that regardless of the cause of the disaster, Jesus’ message is the same: REPENT. Keep this in mind as we take a closer look at each of the types of disasters.

One clear example of the type of man-made disasters would be the persecuted church. Notice that the Galileans who had been killed by Pilate had their blood mixed with their sacrifices. These were people who were performing religious service when they were killed. Jesus asks if they were worse sinners than other Galileans, his answer was no. Today, in much of the American church, we have been taught by false teachers that if we really have the favor of God, we will be healthy and wealthy. So we assume that if they are Christians who are not healthy and wealthy they are not in God’s favor.

So how could anyone who is being persecuted for their faith be in God’s favor? So obviously the persecuted church just needs to understand that they are blessed and that God wants them rich or else how could their witness be appealing to the lost in the world?

According to most of teachings in the American church, maybe those in the persecuted church just need:

More Faith
To know and understand their position in Christ Jesus
To know and understand their kingdom authority
To know and understand that their lives are to be purpose-driven
To give more “seed-faith” money
To have more and better teaching on how much God wants to bless them financially

Jesus’ answer to all of these ridiculous ideas is “I tell you, no!” (verse 3).

The next type of disaster that Jesus talks about is the ‘natural’ disaster. This is the Hurricane Katrina type of disaster that some are saying was God’s judgment for all of the sinfulness of the New Orleans area. Here again, Jesus’ answer to that question is. “I tell you, no!” (verse 5). Jesus’ then goes on to say that, “unless you repent, you too will all perish." (verse 5) What? Huh?

Just as those to whom Jesus was speaking we also believe that when bad things happen to good people, God’s judgment is upon them. Sounds like Job’s friends who really caused more harm than good because God said about those friends, “I am angry with you and your two friends, because you have not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has.” (Job 42:7 NIV). Notice again Jesus’ words in His answer, “unless you repent, you too will all perish." Me? How could that be talking about me?

I’m not involved in gambling, I only play the lottery once in awhile.
I’m not involved in witchcraft or voodoo, I just check my horoscope once in awhile.
I’m not involved in sexual sins, I just like looking at those pictures on the internet or the pay-per-view sometimes.

Regardless of our attempts at self-justification, Jesus looks at us square in our eyes and says, “unless you repent, you too will all perish."

Do each of us truly desire to live a life pleasing to God? Do we, as David did, ask the Lord to search our hearts to see if there is any sinful way in us? Do we truly seek to repent and turn from our wicked ways as we are told to do in 2 Chronicles 7:14? David told us that the indications of a truly repentant heart are a broken heart and a contrite spirit.

Now, as Paul Harvey says, let’s make sure and pay attention to ‘the rest of the story’.

Jesus immediately tells a parable to further explain and clarify His message concerning these events. In the parable, the man who owns a vineyard sees a fig tree that for 3 years has yielded no fruit wanted the tree cut down. First, we must understand that through out scripture, most bible scholars agree that the fig tree is a symbol of Israel. Next, we must try and understand what ‘fruit’ was the man looking for. Well, it was a fig tree so he was looking for figs. Why is that important? A tree will bring it’s own kind of fruit. Remember Jesus tells us that a bad tree cannot bring forth good fruit and a good tree cannot bring forth bad fruit. But what ‘fruit’ is Jesus looking for as He looks at the fig tree in the parable?

John the Baptist gave us the answer when he looked at who? The religious. John told them to, “Produce fruit in keeping with repentance.” (Matt 3:8 NIV). So the fruit that the vineyard owner, and Jesus, is looking for is repentance once again. A turning away from our wicked ways.

But, that’s Israel. What does that have to do with us? We’re under grace not law. Well, the Apostle Paul in Romans 11 tells us, “I am talking to you Gentiles.” (Rom 11:13 NIV). Then just 4 verses later Paul tells us that, “and you, though a wild olive shoot, have been grafted in” (Rom 11:17 NIV). We have been grafted in and become part of the same tree that Jesus is speaking about in His parable. One of the most amazing things about some of the teaching and preaching today is that the church has somehow not only replaced Israel but has taken Israel place in God’s eyes. That is nothing short of pure blasphemy.

So, now we are a part of the tree that the Lord of the vineyard says has borne no fruit. In verse 8 notice that the vineyard worker intercedes for the poor tree to give the poor thing one more chance, “Sir,' the man replied, 'leave it alone for one more year, and I'll dig around it and fertilize it.” (Luke 13:8 NIV). Where are the intercessors to go before the Lord on behalf of a church that is bearing no fruit? The vineyard worker knows the Master of the vineyard well enough to know that He is patient but He is also just. If a tree does not bear fruit it should be removed; because, “Why should it use up the soil?” (Luke 13:7 NIV). Please notice what the end of that tree is to be if no fruit is produced, “then cut it down.” (Luke 13:9 NIV). The tree is to be cut down. Also, notice that a specific period of time, in the parable a year is used, for the fruit to be produced. A very specific period of time.

It is amazing that over and over again the message that we, as the people of God, should be people of a broken and contrite heart full of repentance have instead become a people of arrogance (I did my part now God has to do His) and pride (we are God’s people, He would allow bad things to happen to us…).

The bottom line is that we are the biggest test anyone could possibly image; and in the middle of the big test, God allows us to use the answer sheet to take the test, but most of us are too busy trying to put our own meanings into answers that just need to copy and pasted.

We have just crossed the threshold into 2005. As we enter this year it appears the enemy would like to spread a smoke screen before many eyes. This smoke screen is designed to obstruct the reality of what God is doing and wanting to do in this year.

The smoke screen is designed to bring discouragement. Combined with it comes doubt and fear in regards to the future. For some the smoke screen will seem to cloud the dreams and hopes that you have hung on to for such a long time -- believing that one day they would become reality. For others the smoke screen will cause you to go into some sort of a spiritual holding pattern instead of moving ahead into the fulfillment of God's promises.

I keep getting a picture of a baby chick that has just started to break out of its shell. The chick has two options; one is to quit trying, hunker down and just wait for the inevitable to happen, the other is to keep pecking away, struggling to break through the shell of past protection into the freedom of the future.

There is one big difference that we often don't often talk about. That is the mental state of the chick. First, the baby chick, regardless of whether it stays in the shell or exerts the effort to get free, holds onto all the same dreams. To be clear, the chick that stays where it is dies holding on to the dreams of a future just as surely as the chick who breaks free of its past life in the shell lives to see the fulfillment of the very same dreams.

I believe today the church is full of baby chicks. Not all are young, but all have a dream. Some have never invested the time or exerted the energy to break free from the old shell. Sometimes I can't help but wonder why?

Is it because we so often find in the church so many people who have a legalistic bent? They come around and recommend that the baby chicks should 'stay in their shell' for that is where there is 'safety and protection'. It was not any different in gospel times.

Remember how it was with Peter and the boat that was being beaten about by the storm? Peter could have stayed in the 'safety' of the boat; he could have remained in the company of his fishermen friends, but by faith he chose to get out of the boat, leave it and all it contained behind in order to go to where Jesus was. That is how he walked on water.

That is what is required of us also if we would walk on water. The sad and truly frightening thing is that too often we choose to stay in the boat. We try to exist within the confines of the shell of our old life. (Ever wonder why it seems you are always walking on egg shells?) This is not the life God has planned for us! Unfortunately, the longer we believe the illusion that the shell represents a safety zone, the harder it becomes to break free. Far too many Christians simply struggle perpetually, expending so much effort just to exist. Why? Because they are afraid of the unknown in the life outside the shell.

We each have a choice to make. Will we break free of the past, and move on into the freedom of the fulfillment of God's dreams for us? Do we break free of the limitations put on us by others (and sometimes even ourselves)? Or will we remain trapped in the shell, living a lie? The chick that stays in the shell dies. That which was the safety zone for the embryo is the shackles of death for the chick that fails to break through and walk out into a new level of life.

Some of you may say, "Those are hard words". I agree, "Yes, they are difficult but they are also extremely important". So now, it is time for each one of us to make our decisions. Let's each one of us look deep within our own hearts (not some one else's) and ask the big question. Are you walking in all that God has given you to dream of walking in? If so, then keep on doing it -- and begin to encourage others that they not only should but can walk in their dreams too. If you are not walking in the fullness of the dreams God has for you, then please hear this -- it is time, maybe even past time. Today, start to walk in all God has for you. Don't delay any longer! Don't allow fear or doubt or any other emotion to hinder you from breaking out of the old shell. Remember, your life depends on it.

It may be hard breaking free of past roadblocks, but that doesn't matter because God is with you and will enable you to do all that is needed. It doesn't matter whether you either erected or allowed others to erect the roadblocks that have been placed in your path. What matters is that you can break through them and step out into the fullness of God's dream for you. Only as you take the risk and push through to complete the task, can you walk in the new level of life God is calling you to. He is already there -- waiting, watching. Will He see you begin to take the steps, to climb out of the old comfort zone, leaving all behind to follow Him in new directions, new adventures and new victories with Him?

I trust we will all encourage ourselves in the Lord, let Him strengthen us and build us up so that we can walk into all He has planned for us, all He plans to do in us and through us in this new year. Let's invest it for His glory.

Break The Curse Of The Pharisees
Dee Hoetmer

Introduction

I keep hearing "break the curse of the Pharisees".

Years ago, when seeking counsel on a matter in my life, the Lord took me to this scripture

Mat 16:6 Then Jesus said unto them, Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees.

If I had not heeded the Lord and the scripture that day I would have been spiritually plundered by unrighteous judgment and ungodly counsel. The counselor may have quoted scripture but the words would have most likely been used to cut and plunder my soul. Or I may have had platitudes pontificated at me (scriptures not from the heart beat of God for my situation, but quoted from a higher than thou attitude/preached at from a platform). A Pharisaical counselor or (man appointed) leader hears with "ears" that are for the most part closed to the Spirit but hears by the spirit of religion. One ends up not in liberty but in bondage and a feeling of being drained; the very life sucked out of one, and very angry (then has to deal with that anger).

The Pharisaical Church

Beloveds, for the most part the church is still performing music to the crowds in excellence instead of true worship from the heart to the King of Kings. The church for the most part is still stuck in its ritual of 4 praise songs and 3 worship songs, then the announcements and collection and then an hours sermon. My Lord how long do I have to suffer this religious spirit in the churches, WE SHOULD MEET TO MEET WITH JESUS! Lives should come out of fellowship more anointed, healed, free and giving glory to God! One mighty meeting with Jesus will change a life (and a myriad of more lives) than a thousand sermons. If we had the power and the glory in the churches, sin will not be able to abide in His Holy presence and souls will be saved by the thousands, yet we carry on as we have for decades, wondering where the revival is and why the people of God come into disrepute in the world!

There is some anointing and some blessing in the corporate worship, and occasionally some miracles and healings, but for the most part THERE IS A RELIGIOUS VEIL over the people, a false appearance of holiness which is actually often self righteous righteousness e.g. I am a member of this anointed church, I am a usher, a deacon in the church; oh look at me aren't I special and holy and soo good.

If you have never discerned the things mentioned in this article you may well have the religious spirit in your own life, which the spirit of spiritual pride has kept you from discerning in yourself. Time is coming to a close and we cannot afford to walk in spiritual blindness to things around us and in us any longer, it may well cost us our lives if not our eternity!

Where oh where is the humility, where oh where is the anointing to change lives, where oh where is the very real weight of the Glory of God? Where oh where is the true love between the brethren and not feigned love?

Life And Liberty In The Spirit Or Bondage And Death From The Religious Spirit

The Word says

John 6:63 It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life.

If words are from the Holy Spirit you will have life, and even if there is chastisement you are drawn closer to the Lord because of His love in it. If it is from the spirit of religion, you will feel like death, plundered and wounded to the depths of your soul.

2Corinthians 3:6 Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life.

The religious spirit may give a scripture but it plunders and cuts your soul and heart. The letter only killeth but that which is spoken through a person, prompted by the Holy Spirit, will give you life, go into your spirit man and change you.

2Peter 2:19 While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage.

Most of what is encountered in the churches is rehashed yesterday's manna that does not bring life and those who are unwittingly under bondage of the religious pharisaical spirit, will speak words over you that bring you under the law too. This spirit brings confusion and it seems that what is being taught is correct and scriptural and yet you feel bound, you have lost your liberty in Christ. Because it “sounds” right and is scriptural it is confusing, but unless it is what the Holy Spirit is teaching and speaking you will not come into His life; the words has been “tainted” by the religious spirit.

A truly Spirit led counselor/ preacher/ teacher will bring you into LIFE and LIBERTY, while a pharisaical counselor/ preacher / teacher will bring you into bondage, or at the very least leave you without true spirit life. How many of you have not sought counsel and left with your heart more bruised than when you went, with an already heavy heart?

2Corinthians 3:17 Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

Luk 4:18 The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, TO SET AT LIBERTY THEM THAT ARE BRUISED, 19 To preach the acceptable year of the Lord.

or

Galatians 2:4 And that because of false brethren unawares brought in, who came in privily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage:

True Sons And Daughters Of God Versus The Pharisaical Leadership And Church

Beloveds many of us who are spirit led are an affront to the Saul leadership and the Pharisaical church. The words they have muttered under their breath or in conversation to one another has brought bondage, affliction and lack on the truly spirit led Sons and Daughters of God! One wonders why such words should have such a binding affect on one, however it was pointed out to me by a beloved Pastor in Africa that the unholy spirits still in these people give occult power to the words.

The spirit of religion and the spirit of spiritual pride is a blinding spirit, which causes them not to see or hear clearly. They just don't get the new move of God or recognize what the Lord is doing in the life of His chosen! They do not have true spiritual discernment, only to some level. Just as the Pharisees of Jesus' time didn't not discern Jesus as the Christ (the anointed one) so do they not recognize the anointing and authority in His truly spirit led Sons and Daughters today! Some have even been told that they are prostituting the Spirit of God!

We need to forgive them for they know not what they do but we do have to break the curses they unwittingly have spoken over our lives. Seek the Lord's face on this for your own lives.

Spiritual Action

Bind the spirit of error and ask the Lord to loose the Spirit Of Truth (Jesus) into their lives! Bind the spirit of pride and religion in their lives and cry out to the Lord that these may come out of spiritual darkness into His Light so that we may walk in unity! Be sure to ask the Lord to enable you to forgive those who have so wounded you and cast off all the chains and fetters their mutterings have caused on your spirit man, as well as the curses spoken. Ask the Lord to reveal to you where their words are affecting your provision, health or anointing and liberty!

Remember to pray for such in a spirit of love and be sure we do not curse them with a spirit of judgment, and be found ourselves in error.

A False Religious Covering

I went to a church a few months ago to seek prayer and for six weeks thereafter my anointing was hampered and I "flat lined" spiritually. I remembered that the mighty anointing of the Lord left me while in that church. After days of intercession the Lord revealed that the Pastor wanted me under "his" covering (he wanted to "lord" it over me in his ministry and probably thought I was " a wild card" and in error if I wasn't under his wing, so to speak). This covering was from the religious spirit, also of control and spiritual pride. As soon as I broke off that spiritual covering my anointing was back!

There is of course place for the Pastor and Teacher, but if these are not in humility and in any way have spiritual control, pride or a religious spirit, Beloveds you are held in bondage! Yes they are servants of the people in their congregations but how many have the servant heart of Jesus who washed His disciples feet!

John 13:5 After that he poureth water into a bason, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded.

Yes we are to submit to true Holy Spirit anointed and appointed leadership, yet we are to have an intimate relationship with the head of the church, Jesus and the Holy Spirit is our teacher and our covering. Any man appointed covering over you will bring bondage and spiritual blindness. The spiritual covering of a Pastor over a flock, except where he "covers" his flock with prayers of protection, is demonic in origin; a man made, pharisaical oppression to rule over others and to puff up oneself.

Discern Before Submitting

Check the spiritual fruit of the lives of those you submit to, whether Apostle, Prophet, Teacher or Pastor (even in those you may seek for counsel or to do deliverance), for if you do not do so the latter you may end up more bound than the former! The religious spirit is powerful and also subtle, coming as an angel of light and is binding. It will puff you up and make you feel good and yet you are living in bondage!

Controlling Prayers

Any prayers prayed to "pray you back into the church" or to pray you back into submission or back "into line" is witchcraft and is demonic. All control, manipulation to give money, and prayers done with a sanctimonious "holier than thou" heart to "tell you off' " or correct you (hiding behind the Lord) is witchcraft for control is witchcraft. The Lord gently leads and never goes against our will but satan pushes; to put it simply he controls and "pushes our buttons" to get us to do what he wants.

If you leave a meeting, church or counselor feeling oppressed and drained, it is not Jesus but the religious spirit of the Pharisees operating, most likely along with Jezebel (spirit of control) and Leviathan (spirit of pride). When you have been in the presence of Jesus you will have life and liberty!

I have been told on numerous occasions that people have said that they have never felt more blessed, uplifted, anointed and free than when in the "hose pipes" (me) fellowship. That is purely because Jesus ministers through me and I am for the most part dead. All glory goes to Jesus! Even in deliverance the love of the Lord is so present that many have hugged me after a "heavy" deliverance session. WE ARE TO BE “HOSE PIPES” OR CONDUITS OF HIS LIFE, HIS WISDOM, HIS , HIS ANOINTING, HIS LOVE!

Conclusion

Pray for those caught in the religious spirit in love and ask the Lord of what you are to do to be free from such bondage! Your spiritual life will take off if you are truly sold out to the Lord and He is your very life. Check that you are not just in rebellion to true spiritual authority and that you are hearing the Lord correctly yourself. At no time attack or spread a verbal attack on such for then you are in a spirit of error yourself! You will have to hear very clearly from the Lord if you are to confront and then your words must be totally from the Lord, or you will operate in the same spirit.

Ultimately it is your own intimacy with the Lord that will cause you to grow and be changed into His image, for no amount of preaching would change your inner man as much as having personal intimacy with the Lord and the reading of His Word with the Holy Spirit giving you revelation, AND BEHOLDING HIS GLORY.

2Corinthians 3:18 But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the LORD

> Mat 23:8 But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. 23:8 But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. 23:1 Then spake Jesus to the multitude, and to his disciples, 23:2 Saying T*he scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat:* 23:3 All therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do; but do not ye after their works: for they say, and do not. 23:4 For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers. 23:5 But all their works they do for to be seen of men: they make broad their phylacteries, and enlarge the borders of their garments, 23:6 And love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues, 23:7 And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi. 23:8 But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. 23:9 And call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven. 23:10 Neither be ye called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ. 23:11 But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant. 23:12 And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted. 23:13 But woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in.

Breaking The Childhood Vows

Without notice, you have been bound by the words of your mouth, taken as vows in your childhood. My dear friend, this has caused you wounds which are so deep, even you do not know from whence they came. When you fail to measure up to such things, it brings upon you guilt, condemnation, shame, a sense of failure, and ultimately self rejection.

Some of these vows you accepted to become responsible for another, when you were much too young to take such a responsibility! You were destined to fail simply because this was much too much for any human being to carry, let alone a child. Other vows were spoken that for as long as you lived, you would never … Yes, that is a common vow spoken in deep emotion, with life long cords. Other vows were self imposed labels of failure and calling yourself names. Loose yourself from such words, confess them to Me and to another and break their hold upon yourself.

Eccl 5:2-5 NKJV
Do not be rash with your mouth, And let not your heart utter anything hastily before God. For God is in heaven, and you on earth; Therefore let your words be few. For a dream comes through much activity, And a fool's voice is known by his many words. When you make a vow to God, do not delay to pay it; For He has no pleasure in fools. Pay what you have vowed — Better not to vow than to vow and not pay.

Discern The Teachable

Sandy Warner

Mar 7, 2005
DISCERN THE TEACHABLE AND THOSE WHO ARE NOT
Yes to learn the difference between the two is painful and humbling, dear one. Have I not sent you many examples of such? The teachable ones who are hungry for Me, continue to knock on My door, even when My Words are tough and strong meat. Their hearts are pure and humble; asking questions, wanting to understand. They respond to My yearnings over them. Yes, they sometimes choke over what I say to them, and yes, they kick against the pricks. They are quick to apologize and humble themselves for more. Again and again they come. Hungry for more of what I have to say.

It is not so with the non-teachable. They are drawn to My Words, asking with itching ears for knowledge to validate their vain pursuits. Do not listen to their compliments lest you be torn by sharp teeth. Always seeking their own way, they show outbursts of anger and defense should issues resist their will. They manipulate to gain an upper hand. If I I feed them beautiful Words, they are pacified and amused but without change.

It is time to learn the difference. Do not waste your precious time spreading My platter of pearls for those with sharp teeth. Pour out your life upon those who are humble and hungry and lowly of heart. I have many children who are desperate for what you have to give. So give, dear one, give.

Ezek 33:30-32 NLT
…'Come on, let's have some fun! Let's go hear the prophet tell us what the LORD is saying!' So they come pretending to be sincere and sit before you listening. But they have no intention of doing what I tell them. They express love with their mouths, but their hearts …. You are very entertaining to them, like someone who sings love songs with a beautiful voice or plays fine music on an instrument. They hear what you say, but they don't do it!

I Will Reveal The Truth
Sandy Warner

Mar 11, 2005
I WILL REVEAL THE TRUTH
I know you have grieved over the losses of those who have fallen. It has placed you in a position of trembling and in fear of your own weak flesh. Yes, it is burdensome and grievous as you mourn over them. These bear the wounds of those who walk in deception, and yet still think they are on My path. They dwell within the house of bonds and know it not. I have heard your cries for mercy as I begin to cut back, prune and expose the truth to their eyes.

Why did I allow this to happen? I allowed them to be tempted in all areas to let them find out areas of weakness. Weakness is living according to one's own wisdom and understanding of what is right and what is wrong instead of yielding the will to Me, and waiting upon Me for wisdom and understanding. And when one falls into those weak areas, I AM ready to help him overcome as he calls upon Me. For no man can walk through life in his own strength. If he tries, he becomes a pawn of the devil and I cannot help him.

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils." (1 Tim 4:1 KJV)

Petition Me For Friends
Sandy Warner

Mar 18, 2005
Dear heart, how humble you have become in laying low before Me! Yes, a worm is just about the only thing which can not fall, so fear not, oh worm Jacob, I will help you. I have heard your petitions yearning to have kindred heart friends. I have placed your concerns and miserable failings upon My balance scales and am bringing justice to what you have lost. I will connect you and grant you the desires of your heart, dear one. Yes, life long and eternal friends. You will see with your own eyes what I have ordained for you. I will make heavenly arrangements, and set them in, in an orderly manner; yes, I will do this with every single thing I have appointed and determined to place into your life. These are My good gifts, fragrant and pure, holy and true. I gladly give you the pure bonds of fellowship.

Always remember that even though you do not see Me, I AM your Friend. I will never, never leave you. I AM wholly yours, longing to abide in constant fellowship with you twenty four hours, - day and night. I looked down upon My cross all the way through history, and I saw you, My Beloved. I heard your cries for friendship and I groaned for you and carried your pain. I took your wounds upon Myself so that you might be healed. I died so that you might receive pure and lasting friendship, never to feel abandoned again. Join with Me, My love, and join with those I have ordained for you. Rejoice!

Acts 2:42-43 NKJV

And they continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, in the breaking of bread, and in prayers.

Eph 4:2-3 NLT
Be humble and gentle. Be patient with each other, making allowance for each other's faults because of your love. Always keep yourselves united in the Holy Spirit, and bind yourselves together with peace.

Rebuke Is A Two-Edged Sword
Sandy Warner

Mar 9, 2005
REBUKE IS A TWO EDGED SWORD
When I send you as My rod of correction, always remember that all correction has two sides. It is only the most loving, lowly and humble that can be used as vessels of rebuke and not be harmed by My sword. It is a fearful assignment to be used as a vessel of rebuke, lest the blade turn and the other side pierce you. If you point a finger, there are always 3 pointing back. If you speak from a haughty and arrogant spirit, the judgment will return upon yourself. Bow low and repent of your sins, lest you find the sword piercing your own soul. Always water the Words I give with prayer for mercy and repentance. Bow low, dear ones, and walk in the fear of your God.

Prov 15:31-33 NKJV
The ear that hears the rebukes of life will abide among the wise. He who disdains instruction despises his own soul, but he who heeds rebuke gets understanding. The fear of the LORD is the instruction of wisdom, and before honor is humility.

The Agony Of Waiting
Sandy Warner

Mar 20, 2005
The Agony Of Waiting

Feeling the agony of Abba waiting for His own
To decide whether they want Him is more than I can moan.
The ache in His heart as He yearns over them,
He only wants to love, not wanting to condemn.

His compassion to reach the ones that He loves
Is more than I can handle from His heart above.
Oh God how can you stand the ache in Your heart
When in silence your loved ones stay so apart?

Tis more than I am able to hold in myself.
Please grant me release from watching on Your shelf.
I am Your conduit, from whence Your heart flows,
But to feel Your pain is more than I can know.

You are breaking my heart with compassion so deep.
I am swimming in groans beyond what I can weep.
Have mercy on me and bring back the joy
Of fellowship sweet - communion to employ.

As the days are numbered on this waiting shelf,
I can not help but feel the climax in Your self.
The groan of waiting is beyond all compare
To face that demarcation line that is there.

To say goodbye or at arms length at best,
Or to hold a heart in Your bosom at rest.
The decision is not Yours, but theirs if they knew.
But blind they continue walking lives thrown strew.

Your children are many, as they walk around
Knowing not their Father, their eyes to the ground.
How You yearn to reach them and say that You care
Is beyond my compassion to hold back my share.

Oh God release me and send me from here
My groanings are deep beyond all compare
How can You stretch our small boxes of love
When it hurts to know the heart of Your Dove?

I am stretched to the max of what You have planted,
Unable to contain what You have granted.
Our human hearts are so cold and frozen
To feel Your passion over whom You have chosen.

Grant mercy I pray as You unthaw me this day
More grace is needed to stay in this way.
While Your wait is birthing beyond all compare,
Let me not fall short and into despair.

You said Your commandments are not grievous.
Yearning on my shelf, You will never leave us.
So comfort my heart with Your own that moans
As I transform anew from what You have grown.

To feel their hearts pumping to stay alive
As they wander their days wanting to revive.
Release me and send me to hearts that cry
They're hurting and wounded and cannot deny.

Their need for communion as they walk alone
To know You and each other straight to the bone.
No more masks that cloak the pain that is real
Covered in ice once frozen, encased in blue steel.

Bring breakthrough to all of these deep yearnings
Grant mercy and grace to what we are learning.
Now send forth these seeds of groaning so deep

Carry them in Your wind through prayer for release.

You said Your commandments are not grievous.
Yearning on my shelf, You will never leave us.
So comfort my heart with Your own that moans
As I transform anew from what You have grown.

Hag 2:19 NLT
I am giving you a promise now while the seed is still in the barn, before you have harvested your grain and before the grapevine, the fig tree, the pomegranate, and the olive tree have produced their crops. From this day onward I will bless you."

To Be Sent As A Seed
Sandy Warner

Mar 13, 2005
TO BE SENT AS A SEED
Sometimes I use you in veiled ways unknown.
And I send you to others as seeds sown.
Inspiring your talk as you bubble forth,
Seeds scatter and blow and land henceforth.
Your joy in sharing surpasses caring
On how the unnoticed seeds are fairing.

There comes a day when you look around
You see the seeds laying on the ground.
Do not despair as all appears dead.
Call out to Me, Master Gardener, instead.
They will be watered and nurtured with care,
They're not abandoned because I AM there.

I wash them down, confirming all around.
I press them in growing faith that abounds.
Below the ground the soil remains tender
And the seed is planted from the sender.
Your Master Gardener is faithful to stay
Taking care of your seed, as you have prayed.

Each seed is coded to what is assigned.
It's destined to bear fruit after its kind.
>From the parent to child, the pattern repeats.
Harvest brings fruit, the circle is complete.
This is My mystery in planting My seeds.
Your life comes full circle with joy in deed.

So rejoice that your seeds are not really dead.
They're fruitful to harvest, full of life instead.
Your basket will return multiplied and abundant,
As you gasp in wonder at what appeared redundant.
I AM the Life Giver and resurrect with power
All those minuscule seeds you gave in that hour.

And in the third day the hour grows late
>From what was delayed meant to propagate.
It is My joy to announce in the sands of time
I have increased the pace to harvest what's Mine.
Time is now set for the days of acceleration
Seeds sown bear fruit in speedy exhilaration.

Gen 1:10-13 NLT
Then God said, "Let the land burst forth with every sort of grass and seed-bearing plant. And let there be trees that grow seed-bearing fruit. The seeds will then produce the kinds of plants and trees from which they came." And so it was. The land was filled with seed-bearing plants and trees, and their seeds produced plants and trees of like kind. And God saw that it was good. This all happened on the third day.

Amos 9:13 AMP
Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, that the plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes him who sows the seed; and the mountains shall drop sweet wine and all the hills shall melt [that is, everything heretofore barren and unfruitful shall overflow with spiritual blessing]. [Lev 26:5; Joel 3:18.]

Why Do They Go To Hell?
Sandy Warner

Mar 16, 2005

WHY DO THEY GO TO HELL?
How often I have heard your questions about hell, because you know that I AM a loving God. Beloved, it is time to understand the boundaries of My kingdom. When I created man, I created him a living soul. A man's soul is alive, even without a body. Man cannot dwell in the state of in-between. When given enough time, they will ultimately belong to Me or the devil. There is nothing else available.

In the days of Noah, it grieved me greatly when I witnessed the depravity and perversion of mankind. It was true that the longer man lived, the more they opened themselves to the devil's wicked influence and perverted all that was good. I regretted making man upon the earth. I know the end from the beginning and know the ultimate downfall and wicked consumption of all men. Just as there are different rewards for the righteous, there are degrees of punishment for the unrighteous. There are greater and lesser sins and each receive recompense for their wicked deeds. Sometimes I save man from the evil to come by cutting their life short. Yes, dear one, even in death, I grant mercy.

Isa 57:1 NKJV
57:1 The righteous perisheth, and no man layeth it to heart: and merciful men are taken away, none considering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come.

Matt 6:24 NKJV
"No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

Mark 9:40-41 NKJV
40 For he who is not against us is on our side.

Gen 6:5-7 NKJV
6 And the LORD was sorry that He had made man on the earth, and He was grieved in His heart.

John 19:11 NKJV
11 Jesus answered, "You could have no power at all against Me unless it had been given you from above. Therefore the one who delivered Me to you has the greater sin ."

Luke 10:13-16
"Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. 14 But it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment than for you. 15 And you, Capernaum, who are exalted to heaven, will be brought down to Hades. 16 He who hears you hears Me, he who rejects you rejects Me, and he who rejects Me rejects Him who sent Me."

Luke 12:47-48 NKJV
47 And that servant who knew his master's will, and did not prepare himself or do according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. 48 But he who did not know, yet committed things deserving of stripes, shall be beaten with few. For everyone to whom much is given, from him much will be required; and to whom much has been committed, of him they will ask the more.

Beyond The Horizon

Joel Killion

Apr 23, 2005

Since the beginning of time, there have been those who could "see beyond" the status quo. Within this remnant, however, there have always been those who could see what God sees (2 Kings 6:15-17).

Thus, there are varying levels of vision; as one man said, "All men dream: but not equally." As it relates to vision, it can also be said that "All men see but not similarly".

There is a place "beyond" what we now see, beyond the horizon. Very few, however, know "this place" because many believe – unconsciously or subconsciously – that what THEY see is the "the cutting edge".

For the most part, there is vision in the church but I am saddened in that it is still far too SMALL, unable to see "beyond", unable to "see what God sees" from where He sits.

As Desiderius Erasmus once said, "In the kingdom of the blind, the one-eyed man is king."

Like it or not, this is the general predicament of the Church. Many leader-SHIPS do not know what harbor they seek; therefore any wind is the right wind. And what IS being seen is what is being looked for based upon personal expectations which proves that "it is possible to have sight without vision" – just ask Helen Keller.

There are many leaders in the church who, at best, have ONE eye and are now leading "God's people". Dim-eyed elders and deacons are governing the church with the light (in-sight, understanding) they have. Therefore, in the dark, they fumble and stumble and trip around, doing the best they can with what they personally have, which is DIRECTLY RELATED to what they have received or not received in their personal time with the Lord; yet many do not INTIMATELY & PERSONALLY KNOW the Lord (with the passion of a lover) because they do not spend time with Him as they should. Therefore, the quality and substance of their SPIRITUAL LEADERSHIP is shallow and weak at best.

Yes, there IS vision in the church but what IS seen is not reality for we don't see things as they are - we see them as WE ARE. Who we really are is the grid that we see through, perverting what really, in fact, is.

On the other hand, many are distracted from "seeing beyond" because their vision is limited by the narrowness of their own past experience. These "old wineskins" only see what is compatible with their "box" – what they are used to and what they like.

Others let the successes of their past distract them so that, while they boast in their GOOD works, they miss the magnitude of the Lord's present operation. These LIMITERS (who consistently tempt God, Ps. 78:41) are the least ready for "tomorrow" for they hold the most rigid beliefs about what "tomorrow" will contain, thereby putting their personal interpretation on the Divine expectation.

The fear of failure is gripping many today, causing them to "lower the bar", which is not really to their benefit, even though it SEEMS to be. This is a tragedy for Michelangelo said, "The greatest danger for most of us is not that our aim is too high and we miss it, but that it is too low and we reach it." Many are rejoicing today in their achievements which are really a reprised collection of that which is only a little better than average. In short, there is nothing momentous about maximized mediocrity.

It is time for us to prepare ourselves to see more than what we now see. Life is so much more than the little boxes we live in. Our present vision is not high or wide or far or deep enough. It is time for us to see what is invisible to others and it is time for us to hear what is rare.

What would happen if we took everything we believe, think and know and just threw it all up in the air and then let it all fall to the ground? Would it be okay if we left it all alone and just trusted God to sort it all out? Could we "let it all go"? Could we trust God to clean up the mess His way?

There is a lot of change taking place in the church right now, but "All change is not growth and all movement is not forward". We need to see the truth!

Therefore, as has been said, "God is not trying to change us – He's trying to kill us". THIS IS OUR ONLY HOPE for there is nothing glorious about "sanctified flesh" – it still stinks all the same. Everything WE are, and everything WE will ever be, must be seriously shaken and dealt with – we must die.

But since I am not speaking of a natural death, we must understand that for us to see and walk in what God sees, we must become naïve (child-like) so that God can ACTUALLY use us. You see, we are all getting in God's way; we have far too much baggage. God can't work through us because we obey what WE see and ignore what God IS showing; one is more logical than the other. And since we have systematically trained our souls to pay attention to "certain things", God can't get a word in edge wise or show us anything NEW; we have Spirit-proofed our minds and spirits by unconsciously equipping our lives with the soulish ability to only "pick up" that which is either familiar, logical, popular or comfortable to us. We have been well trained in "our way" which we REALLY believe is God's way (we would never say this of course); therefore, when God tries to "gently and quietly lead", we "blow it off" without a second thought, giving our attention to that which sounds "louder" to OUR senses.

There is a Divine naivety necessary for the fulfillment of what God sees. So dare to be naïve because every true genius is naive and there is no true genius without some touch of madness.

Seeing beyond the horizon is going to cost us our lives, so make your decision now. If you "choose life", than dare to step out onto the "gang plank" – risk your life for Life. "Do it big" or stay in bed. Give everything or give up. And please oh please do not expect it to be pretty because EFFORT IS UGLY. And furthermore - expect everyone to disapprove of you.

Remember in passing - "Every act of creation is first an act of destruction" (Picaso) & "Every new adjustment is a crisis in self-esteem" (Eric Hoffer).

All growth demands a temporary surrender of security. Let go of your securities and jump off the cliff. If you obey all "the rules" you will miss all the fun.

Break every mold and formula; you can't take them with you.

If you want to be on "the cutting edge" you must first find "the edge". And "In order to find the edge, you must risk going over the edge" (Dennis Dugan).

Some will think you are OUT OF YOUR MIND, judging you from the comfort of their little, moderate world. But do not let this deter you. Be encouraged:

"Moderation is a fatal thing. Nothing succeeds like excess" (Oscar Wilde).

"Only dead fish swim with the stream" (Anonymous).

"One man with courage makes a majority" (Andrew Jackson).

Selah.

ROOM TEMPERATURE

There is a many-membered sleeping giant in the land snoozing in what could very well be the greatest of epochs. Dissatisfaction and discouragement has left this Creature in a funk, hypnotizing it into a deep coma.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. once commented that the great tragedy of Rip Van Winkle was not that he slept for twenty years, but that he slept through a great revolution.

The lackadaisical passivity of the present times has infiltrated and infected the Body of Christ, causing it to "nod off". The lack of supernatural vision, power and LIFE in the church has plagued the Body with horrific boredom. But this is not surprising because it is very easy to "nod off" when there is so little to keep us awake.

A great man once said, "A ship in the sea is good but sea in the ship is bad." And this is what has happened and is presently happening within the lives of many "believers"; the "ship" of their lives is in the "sea" of the world, but the "sea" of the world is getting into their "ships" (their lives).

To further illustrate this point, let us put a glass of hot water in a room that is at "room temperature". What will happen to the hot water? It will assume, after some time, "room temperature."

Now, let us do the same with a glass of cold water. What will happen? The same thing – it will "assume room temperature".

But how can we keep this from happening? How can we KEEP the hot water HOT and the cold water COLD? Both glasses MUST MAINTAIN CONTACT with that which will KEEP it hot or cold – the glass of cold water must maintain contact with something COLD and the glass of hot water must maintain contact with something HOT.

Now let us bring this principle into the practicalities of our everyday lives.

Every Christian has been placed into their own "room", their own living environment.

But at this present time, since many are not vitally-connected to their "Source" (vitally connected to the Vine), they are "assuming room temperature" which is another way of saying, "they are dying".

But how does this relate to vision?

Well, let me tell you how this relates to vision by telling you what I have seen in the area I live, Rocky Mount/Wilson, North Carolina (USA). But before I do so, let me say that what I am about to disclose is not necessarily a secret nor is it rare since it is "in" every "small town".

I have noticed in the last 20-some years (I was born and raised in Wilson) a psychological epidemic which has cursed many "believers" and "non-believers" alike; I like to call it "the small-town muck & mire". It is a "small town" mentality which, subtly, over time, compresses the vision of all its victims. This muddy mind-set infests everyone who is not connected to that which is BIGGER and BROADER than the "little world" they live in. Many do not really know how truly BIG the world is outside of their "little world"; they really cannot, in many ways, "see beyond" the borders of their "little city". The "smallness" of their universe has possessed them, making them "like" their environment, making them "small". As a result, they "think small", "talk small" and "live small" – they are a "product of their environment".

If you ever want to meet any of these folks, go out and just start talking to somebody; it won't be long before you meet one.

When I have engaged those who are victims of this "small-town mindset" about the expanses of things such as technology, space exploration and international affairs and news they "zone out" and fall asleep with their eyes wide open only they look just like a cow looking at a new gate; they think I am the one who is "out of my mind".

And while this saddens me for the "non-believers" it saddens me even more for the "believers" (the Christians) who also "zone out" and "go into sleep mode" (with their eyes wide open) as I start talking about a God Who is BIGGER than their god. And while this is immensely true of most Evangelicals and Pentecostals, I am most concerned about the "Charismatic folk". It never fails - They have the biggest habit of "zoning out" when I spontaneously strike up a conversation about living in a place with God that is beyond what Adam, Moses, Elijah, Jesus and Paul had. They often even get upset and shut me down or start correcting me. And the reason they do this, is because they cannot "see beyond" the reach of the light they have.

I am further saddened by those who – consciously or subconscious or even unconsciously – think that "their light" is THE light; it's hard to watch them for they really think that they are on "the cutting edge" when in fact, if you sit down with them and just "listen" to their speech and use even "a little" discernment, you will learn that they are really just "babes in Christ" who THINK they are grown. But we all know this is normal, right? I mean, think about it, how many children do you know that think they are "BIG". I know lots of them.

DIM EYES

First Samual 3:1-3 reveals the prophetic posture of two priesthoods in the church at this time (AMP):

1 Now the boy Samuel ministered to the Lord before Eli. The word of the Lord was rare and precious in those days; there was no frequent or widely spread vision.
2 At that time Eli, whose eyesight had dimmed so that he could not see, was lying down in his own place.
3 The lamp of God had not yet gone out in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was lying down.

"Now" the boy Samuel (which is a type of the remnant in the temple, the church) is ministering unto the Lord before Eli (which is a type of the present reigning leadership in the temple) – This is presently happening.

And now we are in a day when, "The word of the Lord is rare and precious…there is no frequent or widely spread vision." Of course, I am speaking of "the word" or "vision" - I am speaking of that which is truly from the Lord Himself. Presently, there are "many words" and "many visions" that have not and are not being authored by the heart of God.

Eli, who is leading right now in the church world, has "dim eyesight so that he cannot see". And with this, he is "lying down in his own place". Since he could no longer see, he was blind to his rebellion in his lying down in rest in "his own" place. Sure, he was "resting in God" – or so it seemed – but the "place" of his "resting" was what disclosed the root of his heart. He "looked" to be "resting in God" but a closer look would have informed anyone of Eli's true condition.

Verse 3 gives us hope: "The lamp of God had not yet gone out in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was…" This is very good news. God is still with us and He has not left us. The "lamp" of God's light has not gone out which means that the "potential" of His direct communication to us is still present. Plus, the Ark of His Presence is still in the temple even though it is a faint lingering reality, unseen to the majority and un-cultivated by the general leadership.

The latter part of verse 3, however, gives us a further hope: "…and Samuel was lying down." This tells me that a Samuel company is presently IN the temple resting before the Lord, waiting for Him to speak and move. Many think that Samuel is not present but it only seems this way because he is so still and so quiet. Samuel will not establish himself nor will he push himself forward prematurely. He is just "lying down" in rest, ministering unto the Lord before Eli.

Now the similarities and differences between Eli and Samuel are note-worthy:

Eli was old and set in "his" ways; Samuel was young and pliable, ministering unto the Lord before Samuel.

Both Eli and Samuel were "lying down" but only Eli was lying down in "his own" place. Samuel did not have "his own" place.

The rest of 1 Samuel 3 reveals some further insights which we would do well to note.

In verses 4-9, God calls out to Samuel three times. Each time Samuel thought he was being called by Eli so he would go to Eli. The third time, Eli perceived that it was God Who was calling the boy so he told Samuel what to do when God called him again.

Before we move on, let me just say that both Eli and Samuel were a bit delayed in their discernment:

Samuel was slow to "get it" because verse 7 says that "Samuel did not yet know the Lord, and the word of the Lord was not yet revealed to him." Therefore, it was Samuel's immaturity that made him dull of heart.

Eli, on the other hand, is a different story. He was a "mature" priest in the temple at that time. He knew the voice of God and had lived in the Presence of God for many, many years. But something was wrong: His eyes were dim; his ability to "discern" was dull and weak. He had become slow of heart in the things of God. This is why he was so "slow" to "see" that it was the Lord speaking to Samuel.

So you see, Samuel had an excuse (he was "just learning" the voice of God) while Eli did not (he had "lost his edge").

Sure, when Eli "did" know that it was the Lord, he knew the "proper protocol" for how to respond to the Lord when He called but this is the easy part, compared to "having a hearing ear and a seeing eye". Anyone can, through experience, learn the "right response", but who can "hear" and "see" the Lord when He is really and truly communicating to us the first time (It took Eli 3 times).

Now to verses 10-18, when God called Samuel a fourth time and Samuel responded, God gave Samuel a word of judgment for Eli and his household, which Samuel then had to deliver to "his elder".

This too, is prophetic of what is now taking place.

God is speaking to the hearts of His Samuels concerning the house of Eli and He is seeking to bring adjustment to the "old order" through the loving innocence of "a child" (a seemingly immature remnant). Many are and will continue to rebuke Samuel for "not respecting his elders" or "not remembering his place (for a child should be seen and not heard)." But Samuel did not ask to be the messenger of God's word of judgment – it fell into his lap. Samuel is only doing what his Master wants him to do. Don't kill the messenger.

Don't kill those who "see beyond".

[Much more could be said about 1 Samuel chapter 3, but let us now move on, shall we?]

SEEING THE UNSPEAKABLE

Paul the Apostle, who was mature, could "see beyond". In 2 Corinthians 3:7-11 (AMP), he spoke of something much "bigger" than the glory of the Old Testament:

7 Now if the dispensation of death engraved in letters on stone [the ministration of the Law], was inaugurated with such glory and splendor that the Israelites were not able to look steadily at the face of Moses because of its brilliance, [a glory] that was to fade and pass away, [Ex 34:29-35.]
8 Why should not the dispensation of the Spirit [this spiritual ministry whose task it is to cause men to obtain and be governed by the Holy Spirit] be attended with much greater and more splendid glory?

9 For if the service that condemns [the ministration of doom] had glory, how infinitely more abounding in splendor and glory must be the service that makes righteous [the ministry that produces and fosters righteous living and right standing with God]!
10 Indeed, in view of this fact, what once had splendor [the glory of the Law in the face of Moses] has come to have no splendor at all, because of the overwhelming glory that exceeds and excels it [the glory of the Gospel in the face of Jesus Christ].
11 For if that which was but passing and fading away came with splendor, how much more must that which remains and is permanent abide in glory and splendor!

Now, to really cement what Paul said, let's read this passage out of "The Message Bible":

7 The Government of Death, its constitution chiseled on stone tablets, had a dazzling inaugural. Moses' face as he delivered the tablets was so bright that day (even though it would fade soon enough) that the people of Israel could no more look right at him than stare into the sun.
8 How much more dazzling, then, the Government of Living Spirit?
9 If the Government of Condemnation was impressive, how about this Government of Affirmation?
10 Bright as that old government was, it would look downright dull alongside this new one.
11 If that makeshift arrangement impressed us, how much more this brightly shining government installed for eternity?

I believe Paul was a firstfruits of those who "see beyond".

He wasn't satisfied to be restored "back to Eden" (1 Cor. 15) even though so many today are preaching that "we are going back to Eden." No, Paul saw something "beyond". He saw what God sees from His vantage point. He saw something "greater" and "bigger" and "higher" and "wider" and he wasn't shy about it either.

You see, I think Paul was cursed by God in a good way, for God "raptured" ("caught up") him into the third heaven (into Paradise, which IS Eden where the "tree of life" is - Rev. 2:7) where he personally heard things that where "bigger than life", bigger than "the status quo"; I believe he saw, heard and touched the glory of all that Jesus lived and died for; I believe he saw the fullness of the greater glory of 2nd Corinthians 3:7-11; I believe he saw what God sees all the time:

2 Cor 12:4, AMP: …He heard utterances beyond the power of man to put into words, which man is not permitted to utter.

2 Cor 12:3, The Message: …he heard the unspeakable spoken, but was forbidden to tell what he heard.

Can you image what this did to Paul's life? He heard (and possibly saw) things that were impossible to tell and were even "forbidden to tell". Can you imagine the frustration that caused? Can you imagine the turmoil? He couldn't communicate anything to anyone at any time – what he saw was "alien" and foreign to this world and everyone in it.

And now I think of Lazarus who was dead FOUR DAYS and raised to life by the Son of Man (Jn. 11). Do you think Lazarus entered comfortably and easily back into "his daily routine" after being dead FOUR DAYS? Do you think he went on as if nothing happened at all? Or, do you think it "messed him up real good" for the rest of his earthly, mortal life?

I mean, think about it people: He was DEAD for FOUR DAYS. Where do you think he was? What did he see? What did he hear? What did he do? And when he was resurrected, what kind of thoughts ran through his mind when he walked out of the tomb and looked through his grave-clothes to see "this old world" again? What went through his head? And what do you think he thought when he laid his eyes on Jesus? Don't you think he felt something deep inside when He saw the One Who had created the place he had just visited and the place he was now in?

Can you imagine the "seeming" hell Lazarus lived in for the rest of his life after having been to "the other side" and back? How could he eat breakfast the same way? How could he enjoy his sisters, Mary and Martha, in the same way? He was changed forever and for the rest of his life he never fit in – he was forever a square peg in a round hole; no one understood him and no one wanted to. He "saw" things that no one else had seen. He "heard" things that no one else had heard. And he was ruined forever.

I imagine that "the only one" he could ever truly "be with" was Jesus for only He could understand; only Jesus knew where he had been.

In this same way, there are SOME today who have seen what the multitudes have not seen and they are not "fitting in" and they have very few friends. The church does not relate to them because, if the truth were told, these seers see "far too much"; the religious system cannot tolerate these dreamers – jealousy and envy is their inward motivation whether they know it or not.

These "visionaries" walk alone – they are unwanted for the most part – while their only friend is the One Who has opened their eyes. Today they see what they are shown by Him Who is preparing them for His great end-time purposes.

Presently, my eyes scan the church-world to find those who see as Christ sees, "beyond what is". Jonathan Swift said that "Vision is the art of seeing the invisible"; I believe this. But few see the invisible because they are, whether they know it or not, OBSESSED with the visible. And as they major on minors, the "major" passes them by.

Where are those who dare to "see beyond" what they've seen? Where are those who dare to "see beyond" what everyone else is seeing? Who has the God-guided-guts to see and do what has never been seen and done before? Who has the backbone to break every mold (especially "their own") and start from scratch with ONLY what they "see beyond"?

When God was about to take His remnant over Jordan into the Promised Land, He gave Joshua a solemn word:

Joshua 3:4, KJV: …Ye have not passed this way heretofore.

Many cannot and will not go "this way" – where they've never been before – because they are deceptively attached to "their way". And the interesting thing about deception is that "the deceived" don't know they are deceived cause, guess what – they're deceived. And those who have "seen beyond" are a thorn in the side of those who are "stuck in their way" and deceived "in" it. When those who have "seen beyond" come with wisdom and understanding, those who are "blind" often respond with clichés like, "Well, we'll pray about it" or "We'll think about it".

Right now, there are "hair line fractures" in various bones in the Body of Christ which, posing no immediate threat, have the potential of causing serious trouble in the future if not dealt with immediately. Anything less than 20/20 vision cannot see these very small flaws.

Those who have "dull senses" cannot see "the mini-fault-lines"; they are oblivious to their "present need" for they only see what "they" see "right now", which to them, is all that matters.

Isaiah 42:20 speaks of this multitude as those who have "seen a lot but looked at nothing…heard everything but listened to nothing". (The Message) This saddens me since many are spending a lot of money and time "seeing and hearing" a lot of stuff every day through many various avenues. The question is: How do we know we are REALLY "seeing and hearing".

There is a dense "fog" over the eyes of much of Christendom which can be equated to the "disorientation" one has first thing in the morning - the "sleepy glaze" over the eye ball can impair vision, causing one to rub their eyes. But since many do not fix the problem (by simply going to the bathroom to splash COLD water on their faces), they are not remedied – they just proceed into their day with the same sleepy glaze and do not even know it.

It seems that many need to have a huge bucket of ICE WATER dumped all over them to "smack" them into reality and out of "their dream-world".

At the same time, there are "seers" who see the "little foxes" which mean to spoil the vine and what they see breaks their hearts, because "the multitudes" are milling around like children in the marketplace, clueless to "the present emergency". Those who are going about in "the glaze" get upset when someone who "can see more clearly" comes around and offers to "show" them the way of God more perfectly (Acts 18:26) – So now I offer a word of wisdom, "Don't kill the messenger."

THE LAST CALL

Since many of us are under such a terrible delusion of "seeing without sight" and "hearing without ears" due to inward limits, our only hope is to have the Rock fall on us. We have not fallen on the Rock, therefore, the Rock must fall on us now (Lk. 20:17-18). This is our only hope – we must be thoroughly broken. We must be traumatized so that we will WAKE UP out of our drunken, silly stupor.

9-11 SHOCKED America into an alert mode but then, soon after, as one prophet put it, WE HIT THE SNOOZE BUTTON. We WERE awake, but than we "turned over in our beds" – or should I say "coffins".

God has tried to warn us in His gentle manner, but we are not listening. It seems that we are unable to SIMPLY hear and obey.

Therefore, He must SHAKE us so violently that we will quickly awaken and see the mess we've put ourselves in.

Remember, God is not the One Who put us in this stupor. We have placed ourselves in our own predicament. We have chosen to ignore His Words.

Rick Joyner recently wrote a piece that spoke volumes to me concerning "the shaking" that is coming:

"I was praying…when a trumpet appeared in front of me, turned, and was blown right in my face. I knew immediately that this is what the Lord is about to do—the church will soon receive an "in your face" message from heaven…When I saw the trumpet appear in front of me and then blown in my face, immediately I knew what the message was because of something which happened to me when I was in the military. Normally, reveille, the call to wake up, was played over the loud speakers in the barracks. However, if someone did not wake up to reveille when it was played over the speakers, a more drastic measure was taken. They brought a trumpet in and blew it right in your face! This seldom had to be done more than once to a recruit. When this happened, not only did you awake faster and more completely than ever before, but from that day on you were especially keen to hear and respond to the sound of any trumpet call. When I saw the trumpet about to be blown directly in my face, I felt we were about to receive just such an "in your face" wake up call, one which we would not soon forget."

Many of us are like Saul of Tarsus on the road to Damascus – We are doing, what "we think" is, the will of God – but we do not understand how blind we truly are.

Our only hope is for God to "knock us off of our high horse" and blind us.

We think we see. But we need God to show us our true condition.

We think we are "rich and increased in goods" but the truth is that we are "wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked".

We think more of ourselves than we should and therefore disqualify ourselves from the grace of God which is only given to the humble in heart.

Jesus wants to heal our blindness but if we do not admit our blindness we will never be delivered – denial is not deliverance. We really need serious help – all of us (Jn. 9:39-41).

You see when God blinded Saul, scales formed on his eyes. These scales, however, where not something altogether brand NEW – God merely caused what was ALWAYS there, to be seen for what it really was – Saul was blind from birth and God exposed the problem.

This is what we need. This is our only hope. There is no other way.

"Oh Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on us!"

Battling the Unbelief of Impatience
John Piper

Impatience is a form of unbelief. It's what we begin to feel when we start to doubt the wisdom of God's timing or the goodness of his guidance. It springs up in our hearts when the road to success gets muddy or strewn with boulders or blocked by some fallen tree. The battle with impatience can be a little skirmish over a long wait in a check out lane. Or it can be a major combat over a handicap or disease or circumstance that knocks out half your dreams.

The opposite of impatience is not a glib, superficial denial of frustration. The opposite of impatience is a deepening, ripening, peaceful willingness either to wait for God where you are in the place of obedience, or to persevere at the pace he allows on the road of obedience—to wait in his place, or to go at his pace.

When the way you planned to run your day, or the way you planned to live your life is cut off or slowed down, the unbelief of impatience tempts you in two directions, depending partly on your personality partly on circumstances:

On the one side, it tempts you to give up, bail out. If there's going to be frustration and opposition and difficulty, then I'll just forget it. I won't keep this job, or take this challenge, rear this child, or stay in this marriage, or live this life. That's one way the unbelief of impatience tempts you. Give up.

On the other side, impatience tempts you to make rash counter moves against the obstacles in your way. It tempts you to be impetuous or hasty or impulsive or reckless. If you don't turn your car around and go home, you rush into some ill-advised detour to try to beat the system.

Which ever way you have to battle impatience the main point today is that it's a battle against unbelief and therefore it's not merely a personality issue. It's the issue of whether you live by faith and whether you inherit the promises of eternal life. Listen to these verses to sense how vital this battle is:

Luke 21:19 "By your endurance (patience) you will gain your lives."

Romans 2:7 "To those who by patience in well-doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, God will give eternal life."

Hebrews 6:12 "Do not be sluggish but imitators of those who through faith and patience inherit the promises."

Patience in doing the will of God is not an optional virtue in the Christian life. And the reason it's not is because faith is not an optional virtue. Patience in well-doing is the fruit of faith. And impatience is the fruit of unbelief. And so the battle against impatience is a battle against unbelief. And so the chief weapon is the word of God, especially his promises.

Before we look at Isaiah 30 I want you to see this relationship between the promises of God and the patience of the believer in Psalm 130:5. How does the Psalmist battle against impatience in his heart?

I wait for the Lord, my soul waits,
And in his word do I hope.

"Waiting for the Lord" is an Old Testament way of describing the opposite of impatience. Waiting for the Lord is the opposite of running ahead of the Lord and it's the opposite of bailing out on the Lord. Is staying at your appointed place while he says stay, or it's going at his appointed pace while he says go. It's not impetuous and its not despairing.

Now how does the Psalmist sustain his patience as he waits for the Lord to show him the next move? Verse 5 says, "I wait for the Lord, my soul waits, and IN HIS WORD I HOPE." The strength that sustains you in patience is hope, and the source of hope is the Word of God. "In his word do I hope!" And hope is just faith in the future tense. Hebrews says, "Faith is the assurance of things hoped for."

So what we have in Psalm 130:5 is a clear illustration that the way to battle impatience is to buttress your hope (or faith) in God, and the way to buttress your hope in God is to listen to his word, especially his promises.

If you are tempted not to wait peacefully for God, to let him give you your next move—if you are tempted to give up on him or go ahead without him—please realize that this is a moment for great spiritual warfare. Take the sword of the Spirit, the word of God (Eph. 6:17) and wield some wonderful promise against the enemy of impatience.

Now let's look at an illustration of Israel when she did not do this.

During Isaiah's day Israel was threatened by enemies like Assyria. During those times God sent the prophet with his word to tell Israel how he wanted them to respond to the threat. But one time Israel became impatient with God's timing. The danger was too close. The odds for success were too small. Isaiah 30:1-2 describes what Israel did in her impatience.

Woe to the rebellious children, says the Lord, who carry out a plan, but not mine; and who make a league, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin; who set out to go down to Egypt, without asking for my counsel, to take refuge in the protection of Pharaoh, and to seek shelter in the shadow of Egypt!

This is the opposite of waiting on the Lord. Israel became impatient. God had not delivered them from their enemy in the time or in the way that they had hoped, and patience ran out. They sent to Egypt for help. They made a plan and treaty, but they weren't God's. The key words are in verse 2: "They set out to go down to Egypt, WITHOUT ASKING FOR MY COUNSEL."

This is a perfect illustration of the impetuous side of impatience. This is where many of us sin almost daily: charging ahead in our own plans without stopping to consult the Lord.

So the Lord gives a warning in verse 3: "Therefore shall the protection of Pharaoh (the king of Egypt!) turn to your shame, and the shelter in the shadow of Egypt to your humiliation." In other words, your impatience is going to backfire on you. Egypt will not deliver you, it will be your shame. Your impatience will turn out to be your humiliation.

This is meant as a warning for all of us. When our way is blocked and the Lord says wait, we better trust him and wait, because if we run ahead without consulting him, our plans will probably not be his plans and they will bring shame on us rather than glory. (See Isaiah 50:10-11 and the case of Abraham and Hagar for the same point.)

What should Israel have done? What should we do when we feel boxed in by obstacles and frustrations? The answer is given in verse 15 and verse 18.

For this said the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel, "In returning and rest you shall be saved; in quietness and in trust shall be your strength."

Therefore the Lord waits to be gracious to you; therefore he exalts himself to show mercy to you. For the Lord is a God of justice; blessed are all those who wait for him.

Here are two great promises this morning that should give you strong incentive to overcome the unbelief of impatience.

Verse 15: "In quietness and trust shall be your strength." In other words, if you rest in God, if you look to him instead of dashing down to Egypt, if you trust him, then he will give you all the strength you need to be patient and to handle the stresses where you are.

Then verse 18: "Blessed are all those who wait for him." God promises that if you wait patiently for his guidance and help, instead of plunging ahead "without asking for his counsel," he will give you a great blessing.

This is the way you battle the unbelief of impatience. You preach to your soul with warnings and promises. You say, Look what happened to Israel when they acted impatiently and went to Egypt or help instead of waiting for God. They were shamed and humiliated. And then you say to your soul: but look what God promises to us if we will rest in him and be quiet and trusting. He will make us strong and save us. He says he will bless us if we wait patiently for him.

Then you might use the promise in Isaiah 49:23,
Those who wait for me shall not be put to shame.

And then Isaiah 64:4,
No eye has seen a God besides thee, who works for those who wait for him.

And finally 40:31,
Those who wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint.

So you battle the unbelief of impatience by using the promises of God to persuade your heart that God's timing and God's guidance and God's sovereignty are going to take this frustrated, boxed in, unproductive situation and make something eternally valuable out of it. There will come a blessing, a strength, a vindication, a mounting up with wings like eagles.

Let me close with an illustration of a man who lived and died in successful warfare against the unbelief of impatience. His name was Charles Simeon. He was a pastor in the Church of England from 1782 to 1836 at Trinity Church in Cambridge. He was appointed to his church by a bishop against the will of the people. They opposed him not because he was a bad preacher but because he was an evangelical—he believed the Bible and called for conversion and holiness and world missions.

For 12 years the people refused to let him give the afternoon Sunday sermon. And during that time they boycotted the Sunday morning service and locked their pews so that no one could sit in them. He preached to people in the aisles for 12 years! How did he last?

In this state of things I saw no remedy but faith and patience (Note the linking of faith and patience!). The passage of Scripture which subdued and controlled my mind was this, "The servant of the Lord must not strive." (Note: The weapon in the fight for faith and patience was the Word!) It was painful indeed to see the church, with the exception of the aisles, almost forsaken; but I thought that if God would only give a double blessing to the congregation that did attend, there would on the whole be as much good done as if the congregation were doubled and the blessing limited to only half the amount. This comforted me many, many times, when without such a reflection, I should have sunk under my burthen. (Charles Simeon, by H.C.G. Moule, p. 39)

Where did he get the assurance that if he followed the way of patience there would be a blessing on his work that would make up for frustrations of having all the pews locked? He got it, no doubt, from texts like Isaiah 30:18, "Blessed are all those wait for the Lord." The word conquered unbelief and belief conquered impatience.

Fifty four years later he was dying. It was October, 1836. The weeks drug on, as they have for many of our dying saints at Bethlehem. I've learned that the battle with impatience can be very intense on the death bed. On October 21 those by his bed heard him say these words slowly and with long pauses:

Infinite wisdom has arranged the whole with infinite love; and infinite power enables me—to rest upon that love. I am in a dear Father's hands—all is secure. When I look to Him, I see nothing but faithfulness—and immutability—and truth; and I have the sweetest peace—I cannot have more peace. (Charles Simeon, p. 172)

The reason Simeon could die like that is because he had trained himself for 54 years to go to Scripture and to take hold of the infinite wisdom and love and power of God and use them to conquer the unbelief of impatience.

And so I urge you in the words of Hebrews 6:12, "Be imitators of Charles Simeon and of all "those who through faith and patience inherit the promises."

For additional study see the connection of faith/hope with patience in Romans 8:25; 12:12; 1 Thessalonians 1:3; Hebrews 6:12,15; James 1:3; Revelation 13:10. For other texts on patience see Psalm 37:9; Lamentations 3:25-27; Luke 8:15; Romans 5:3; 1 Corinthians 13:4; Galatians 5:5, 22; Ephesians 4:1-2; Colossians 1:11; 1 Thessalonians 5:14; James 5:7-11; Job 1:21; Luke 2:25,38; 2 Timothy 3:10. Justification by Faith

The Remedy for Paralyzed Sinners, Fallen Saints, and Provincial Christians

God did his most deadly work to destroy hopelessness and futility and provincial cowardice. He gave up his Son to torture and death. A perfect life, a perfect death, and the decisive work was done.

But there are millions who are numb to hope because of the God-belittling things they have done and how ugly they have become. They don't lift lofty arguments against God's Truth; they shrug and feel irretrievably outside. They don't defy God consciously; they default to cake and television. Except for the periodic rush of sex and sport and cinema, life yawns. There is no passion for significance. For many, no passion at all.

There is a Christian version of this paralysis. The decision has been made to trust Christ. The shoot of hope and joy has sprung up. The long battle against sin has begun. But the defeats are many, and the plant begins to wither. One sees only clouds and gathering darkness. The problem is not perplexing doctrine or evolutionary assaults or threats of persecution. The problem is falling down too many times. Gradually the fatal feeling creeps in: the fight is futile; it isn't worth it.

Along with this hopelessness and futility, especially since 9/11, provincial cowardice captures many Christian minds. They fear that it may sound conceited to call every people group in the world to trust Christ or perish. It seems too global. Too sweeping. Too universal. To say it takes their breath away. And, worse, it brings down the wrath of the tolerant. What could be more arrogant than to think that the infinite variety of need in all the cultural groups of the world could be met by a single Savior!

It is astonishing that the Biblical gospel of justification by faith alone answers these three human failures: the hopelessness of unbelievers, the feeling of futility from falling down, and the fear of making global claims for Christ.

To the numb and listless sinner, feeling beyond all hope of godliness, the Bible says, "To the one who does not work but trusts him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is counted as righteousness" (Romans 4:5). God justifies the "ungodly." This truth is meant to break the back of hopelessness.

The connection between the sinner and the Savior is trust, not improvement of behavior. That comes later. It's this order that gives hope. "For we hold that one is justified by faith apart from works of the law" (Romans 3:28). The basis of this wild and wonderful hope (the ungodly justified) is "Christ for righteousness to everyone who believes" (Romans 10:4, literal translation). Through faith alone God counts the ungodly as righteous because of Christ. "For our sake [God] made [Christ] to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God" (2 Corinthians 5:21). Let all who are paralyzed by the weight of sin and the powerlessness to change turn in here.

To the fallen saint, who knows the darkness is self-inflicted and feels the futility of looking for hope from a frowning Judge, the Bible gives a shocking example of gutsy guilt. It pictures God's failed prophet beneath a righteous frown, bearing his chastisement with broken-hearted boldness. "Rejoice not over me, O my enemy; when I fall, I shall rise; when I sit in darkness, the Lord will be a light to me. I will bear the indignation of the Lord because I have sinned against him, until he pleads my cause and executes judgment for me. He will bring me out to the light" (Micah 7:8-9). This is courageous contrition. Gutsy guilt. The saint has fallen. The darkness of God's indignation is on him. He does not blow it off, but waits. And he throws in the face of his accuser the confidence that his indignant Judge will plead his cause and execute justice for (not against) him. This is the application of justification to the fallen saint. Broken-hearted, gutsy guilt.

For the squeamish fellow afraid of making global claims for Christ, the biblical teaching on justification explodes his little world. It says: the deepest problem to be solved is the same for every human being, because every human is a descendant of Adam. And the problem to be solved is that "by one man's disobedience many were made sinners." "One trespass led to condemnation for all men." The only solution to this universal condemnation is a "second Adam" who provides "the free gift of righteousness" to all who hear the gospel and believe (Romans 5:17-19). Therefore Christ, the second Adam, the giver of righteousness, is the only global Savior.

Embrace as your treasure the gift of justification. There is no part of your life where it is not immeasurably precious.

Behind The Veil

Jill Austin

"Behind The Veil: Heaven Touching Earth In Worship"

Revelation 4:1 - "After this I looked, and there before me was a door standing open in heaven. And the voice I had first heard speaking to me like a trumpet said, 'Come up here, and I will show you what must take place after this.'" (NIV)

My goal in worship is to get behind the veil. My passion is His presence. His presence is manna that must be sought after and received every single day or it becomes stale. There is one thing that God cannot deny -- hunger for Him.

HOW HUNGRY ARE YOU?

How hungry are you? Are you willing to passionately press through into His presence? Beloved, He must first deal with your heart. One key to unlock worship is first asking the Lord if there is anything hindering us in our heart. As I work through stripping off all sin and self before the Lord, it is as though I trade in my rags for His robes of righteousness. Then, He can begin to give you His heart, His purposes, His love for you and His people.

During worship there is so much activity happening in the supernatural. It is when the creative presence of the Lord God touches His people. Some people see pictures, hear Scriptures, get a word of knowledge, or hear His voice. All of it is valid, real, and scriptural. But, what does worship really do?

WHAT DOES WORSHIP REALLY DO?

Worship moves the very heart of God and changes the very heart of man. It takes only a few seconds of a face-to-face encounter with the manifest presence of God to change the course of human history for you, your city, or your nation.

In the Old Testament, His presence was often referred to as the Shekinah glory, the fire of divine visitation. God would literally come to visit His people. In II Chronicles 5:14 the glory of God filled

Solomon's Temple and the Priests could not stand to minister. The thick weight of the presence of God would settle in so heavily that people would have to lay flat on the floor, prostrate before Him. Never underestimate the power of worship.

WHAT IS WORSHIP?

"What can make the angels cry? Cause their wings to hide their eyes?"* His beauty can!
Worship is encountering Him. It is an invitation to the place where angels cannot go, beyond the very boundary lines in heaven where God will whisper to you the secrets of His burning heart. You will hear the love songs of God's heart and return them back as songs to Him.

Prayer:
Lord, awaken my heart to worship You. I want to be one who desires You alone rather than just what You can give me or how You can use me. I want to be able to see what the angels see, go into Your Throne Room, encounter Your beauty and be ravished by Your love. When songs have become familiar and routine, burn a fresh fire in my heart so that worship will transport me into Your very heart!

Before the War

www.touchedbygrace.org

It was an illusion that we were at peace. Our enemy had already begun to act in concert to lay siege against our values, capture or kill our citizens, invade and attack our territories or embassies, discourage or divide our allies. Until we became disillusioned (delivered from our state of being deceived), we were denying his true intentions by seeing what we wanted to see rather than seeing life as it really was. We thought, "If I leave him alone, he'll leave me alone." Instead of enjoying peace and safety, what we got for our lack of vigilance was sudden destruction. Our illusions were shattered when the conflict broke out into the open. We discovered that projecting our goodwill onto our enemy was naïve and costly.

This opening statement could have been written about Japan prior to the bombing of Pearl Harbor in WWII or about Islamic terrorists before the World Trade Center attacks on 9/11/2001.

In either case, it was better to give up our illusions than to keep living in a fantasy world. If only we had seen more clearly and acted sooner, perhaps lives could have been saved and the enemy not made bolder. Small victories, left undisputed, make enemies stronger. If President Jimmy Carter had not permitted Iran to hold U.S. citizens hostage in our embassy for a year, much of the wave of subsequent terrorist acts could perhaps have been averted. Acting too little, too late, causes situations to escalate.

For leaders we entrust with our protection, it is absolutely vital that they see the flow of history and the movement of forces arrayed against us in stark reality and not through rose-colored glasses. Winston Churchill knew this to be true when he set up his own intelligence department, circumventing the usual channels, to reassure himself that he got the true story from the battlefront and not the "politically-correct" sanitized version colored by layers of appeasing optimists.

Fighting a war to a successful conclusion requires accurate intelligence that provides insight into the enemy's tactics so leaders can have foresight for a good defense and strategically position troops and resources for effective offense. It is the function of the prophets in the church (those seers gifted with Holy Spirit's perception) to provide actionable intelligence to the apostles in the body of Christ (God's generals of intercession) who can marshal their troops (gathered into companies called churches) into action along strategic lines for the purposes of either defense or offense.

In reading the compelling theological study, God at War by Gregory Boyd (Intervarsity Press, 1997), I further realized that the whole cosmos is engaged in an epic battle by our Creator for his precious family. Apart from war, there is no peace. In being called to preach under the mantle of the late missionary evangelist Richard Vinyard, a man who engaged in every revival campaign like it was a military battle with the preparation of fasting and prayer and the demonstration of the gifts of power by the Holy Spirit, I saw that the battles are worth fighting and the fruit is salvation in all its visible results.

In studying apostolic teams and their composition as described in the New Testament, you have to be a little surprised by the Apostle Paul's description of his team members as "fellow-soldiers." Today, we have "fellow-graduates" from seminary or "associate-pastors" on the same church staff, but not fellow soldiers. Soldiers in a war are comrades in arms; they think differently about what is truly important. In a time of peace, perhaps we can afford low-level disputes. But in a battle, you have to know and trust the soldier guarding your back to be alert. Can doctors debate minor points of theory about hospital protocol while the patient is dying on the gurney in the emergency room doorway?

In most of the church, our world-view is stuck in the peace-mode, not yet positioned in the war-mode. The proof of this is where we send our resources and how we train our future leaders. Most of our effort and energy is expensed on maintenance, rather than mission; on maintaining the status quo, rather than extending the frontier borders of the kingdom of God; on defending our position rather than taking ground from the enemy. Our viewpoint of events is still distorted by our inadequate perspective. We fail to see the kingdom of God as in a war while on its knees, advancing through violent conflict in heavenly places; we fail to see our loved ones or friends who are not yet believers as prisoners of war; we fail to see that our decisions and distractions can add up to victory or defeat for many more people besides ourselves.

Maybe it was okay then to fight over whether women could wear makeup, but not now. Maybe it used to be okay to debate what day to worship, or whether it's okay to drink wine, or whether the antichrist was Nero or is still yet to come, or whether the gifts of the Spirit are for today, or whether you can lose your salvation versus losing your sanctification, but those days are over. War with the devil makes us realize that many issues are more fundamental. Hell and heaven are equally real. People are of eternal worth with souls that need redeeming. Ideas that enslave (the roots of idolatry) versus ideas that liberate (the truth of the gospel) are worth fighting over. Freedom is never free: somebody has to pay for it (pray for it; say for it, stay for it.). What Jesus paid for on the cross is worthy of us filling up a little bit of suffering for others.

The two great words the Apostle Paul used to describe the epitome of Corporate Life in Christ in his letter to the saints at Ephesus were "struggle" and "stand" (Ephesians 6:10 NAS). We struggle (literally, wrestle) with dark spiritual beings of evil intent who hold sway over individuals or grip entire people groups. When we are assailed, we stand (not being moved away from your position) so that what we have gained may not be lost.

The ability to struggle successfully (in persistent prayer, in keeping unity in love, in your testimony of Jesus) in order to see salvation extended to precious souls, and the ability to stand during the enemy's onslaughts against your faith (without compromising, without yielding to fear, without breaking rank) are notable marks of further maturing in Christ, measurable evidence that you are more and more becoming equipped for every good work and thus dangerous to the enemy, not just being filled up with more useless information or made to feel good about your present (temporary) peaceful situation.

Bless Those Who Persecute You
John Piper

Romans 12:14-21
Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse them. [15] Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep. [16] Live in harmony with one another. Do not be haughty, but associate with the lowly Never be conceited. [17] Repay no one evil for evil, but give thought to do what is honorable in the sight of all. [18] If possible, so far as it depends on you, live peaceably with all. [19] Beloved, never avenge yourselves, but leave it to the wrath of God, for it is written, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, says the Lord." [20] To the contrary, "if your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him something to drink; for by so doing you will heap burning coals on his head." [21]Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

Paul says the same thing over and over in this paragraph. Verse 14: Don't curse those who persecute you. Verse 17: Don't return evil for evil. Verse 19: Do not avenge yourselves. Verse 21: Don't be overcome by evil. And then the positive side—Verse 14: Bless those who persecute you. Verse 18: live peaceably with all. Verse 20: Give food and drink to your enemy. Verse 21: Overcome evil with good.

So I am tempted to lump all those similar commands together and treat them all under the banner of loving our enemies. But I resist this temptation for at least two reasons. One is that there are differences among all these commands with concrete implications for our lives that might get lost if I lumped them all together and spoke more generally about a theme instead of looking carefully at each one. And the other reason is that there are other commands thrown in among these that don't seem to fit the mold, and we might miss what Paul is trying to say by weaving them in.

So we are going to move straight through taking the verses as they come. Today we will try to understand and apply verses 14 and 15. "Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse them. [15] Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep."

How Do Verses 14 and 15 Fit Together?

Taking the two verses together immediately raises the question what they have to do with each other. Anything? More than you may think. For example, what would be one reason that you wouldn't weep with those who weep? One reason would be that you are glad they are weeping. In other words, you were angry at them for the way they treated you, and then something bad happened to them and you are glad. Does that have anything to do with verse 14: Don't curse those who persecute you. Don't want them to be cursed. Don't be glad when they weep. Bless them. So it looks as if there may be a very close connection between verses 14 and 15.

Do We Rejoice With All Rejoicing and Weep With All Weeping?

But another question rises: Do we rejoice with all rejoicing and weep with all weeping? Aren't there are distinctions that have to be made between different kinds of weeping and different kinds of rejoicing? Some weeping we should be very glad about. And some rejoicing we should be very sad about. We know this because Jesus said in Luke 6:25, "Woe to you who are full now, for you shall be hungry. Woe to you who laugh now, for you shall mourn and weep." This is a laughter that we share with simple empathy. This is not a laughter that grieves us.

On the other hand, is there not a weeping that we should rejoice over—a weeping that leads to life? Paul said in 2 Corinthians 7:10, "Godly grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation without regret." Therefore, godly grief is surely a wonderful thing. Painful. But oh, so full of hope and life! Our tears may flow in that moment, but they will be like the tears of a mother looking on her newborn child. So we don't weep the same with all weeping and we don't rejoice the same with all rejoicing.

There is a root connection between verses 14 and 15—between heartfelt sympathy on the one hand, and blessing those who curse you on the other. We will see it if we step back and make clear the specifically Christian context and root of these commands in verses 14 and 15.

What Is the Root and the Meaning of This Radical Behavior?

Virtually all the commands in verses 14-21 assume that something deeper has happened. All these commands are rooted in freedom from self-preoccupation and self-infatuation and self-exaltation. And, much more than that—though that is crucial—they are rooted in Christ-preoccupation and Christ-infatuation and Christ-exaltation. Now I could make a case for that the same way I did last time. We could go to verse 1, look at the words, "I appeal to you by the mercies of God" and show how all of this chapter is the fruit of being overwhelmed by the mercy of God in Christ spelled out in Romans 1-11. That would be exactly right.

But instead let's remind ourselves of how Paul prepares us for these commands in verse 3. He has just said that the way to live as a Christian is to be transformed in the renewing of our minds so that we can discern and embrace the will of God. Then he opens for us the most profound level of transformation and renewing that has to happen if we are going to do the will of God in this chapter—like: bless those who persecute us and weep with those who weep and rejoice with those who rejoice.

And here's what he says in verse 3: "For by the grace given to me I say to everyone among you not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think with sober judgment, each according to the measure of faith that God has assigned."

We spent a lot of time on this. So I will only give the summary. What is the alternative in Paul's mind to thinking too highly of ourselves? The answer isn't thinking lowly of ourselves (though that is a good place to start to come back to now and then). The alternative is to think "according to the measure of faith that God has assigned." The alternative to thinking too highly of ourselves (self-preoccupation, self-infatuation, self-exaltation—the roots of all sin) is not a different sight in the "mirror, mirror on the wall." The alternative is turn the mirror into a window through which we see the glory of Christ.

That's what faith is and does. When faith stands in front of a mirror, the mirror becomes a window and sees on the other side the glory of Christ. The decisive alternative to saying, "I am all," is not to say, "I am nothing," but to say, "Christ is all." Faith looks to Christ, not self, not even the new self. In fact the definition of the new-self is the self that looks to Christ as its Savior and Lord and Treasure and Joy and Satisfaction.

And notice one other thing in verse 3 that is so relevant to the commands like, "Bless those who persecute you," and, "Weep with those who weep." It says, in the second half of the verse, "Think with sober judgment, each according to the measure of faith that God has assigned." In other words, the measure of faith we have is a gift of God. God has assigned it. It is the act of our soul. But our inclination to do that act is a gift of God. "By grace you have been saved through faith. And this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God" (Ephesians 2:8).

So now two great grounds of boasting are stripped from the proud human heart. First, the boast that I can save myself or satisfy myself is shattered, and Christ is found by faith to be my all—my Savior, Lord, Counselor, Friend, Treasure, Joy. I look away from myself and am satisfied in him.

Then, second, the other ground of boasting is stripped away also: I discover by the Word—and experience it in my heart—that this faith, this looking away from self to Christ—is a gift. I can't even boast that I was smart enough or wise enough or spiritual enough or godly enough or humble enough to believe in Jesus. No. He was simply kind enough and strong enough to overcome all my resistance. Praise be to his mighty mercy.

God the Father planned to rescue us from sin and hell before the foundation of the world. God the Son purchased our forgiveness and transformation by his blood on the cross. God the Spirit overcame all our self-preoccupation and self-infatuation and self-exaltation and opened our eyes to see the beauty of Christ as our all. Now in this condition we meet today three kinds of people: those who persecute us, those who rejoice, and those who weep.

And Paul tells us, with God's authority, how to treat them. Here is the way a person lives for whom Christ is all and for whom self is dethroned. Romans 12:!4-15: "Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse them. 15 Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep."

Notice how radical this behavior is. It does not just say: Don't retaliate. You might use your willpower to do that. You might have all kinds of hateful and resentful and vengeful and prudential motives for not striking back. But the point is not only behavior. The point is your heart, and you can see it in the words, "Bless those who persecute you. Bless and do not curse them." This is a partial quotation of Jesus' words in Luke 6:28 where Jesus says, "Bless those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you." The word "pray" shows that behavior is not the only issue. Prayer is the expression to God of what you long for. So blessing someone is not just the way you treat him. It includes the longings that you have for someone. And Jesus says they are to be longings for good, not longings for a curse. That's what "bless" means. Bless them and pray for them. Pray for what? Their good—now and forever. And the greatest good is seeing and savoring and showing Christ without end.

So the Christian life is radical. It cuts to the root of who we are and what we long for. And now we can see where this kind of radical behavior comes from and what it means. It comes from faith in Christ. And it means that Christ is all-sufficient. It comes from not thinking of ourselves more highly than we ought to think, but thinking with sober judgment each according to the measure of faith that God has assigned (v. 3).

If we are going to be treated unjustly, and even hurt unjustly for Christ's sake, and yet bless our adversaries and pray for them, then our natural obsession with self-preoccupation and self-infatuation and self-exaltation must die. But that death will accomplish nothing by itself. It must be replaced by Christ-preoccupation and Christ-infatuation and Christ-exaltation. That's what faith is: beholding and embracing the all-satisfying treasure of Christ.

How Does Faith in Christ Motivate Us to Bless Our Enemies?

Therefore this faith in Christ is the root of this radical behavior. It's the root of not cursing our persecutors and the root of blessing them and praying for them and longing for their everlasting good.

It works like this: Faith in Christ involves turning from our natural self (including even our bodies) as the source of our main contentment and security. So the self (even the body), in that sense dies. Threatening this self with belittling speech or with pain or with death is no longer an ultimate threat. That old self is not our life, not our treasure, not our greatest and durable joy. So we are free from the raging impulse to retaliate that once rose up in this old self.

At the same time faith in Christ does something even more important. Not only does it turn from our natural self as the source of our main contentment and security, it turns to Christ. It sees Christ and embraces Christ as our all-sufficient contentment and security. This looking to Christ motivates in three ways us to bless our adversaries and make us tender-hearted to those who weep and rejoice.

First, the Christ that faith beholds and embraces blessed those who cursed him. As he hung on the cross he said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do" (Luke 23:34). Since faith savors everything it sees about Christ, it savors this. You cannot say, "Christ lived a beautiful life, but blessing those who persecute me is stupid." If you see and savor mercy in Christ, you will love being merciful.

Second, the Christ that faith beholds and embraces did not just bless his enemies in the abstract, he did this for me. For me. And for you. Romans 5:6, "While we were still weak, at the right time Christ died for the ungodly." You cannot rejoice that your life hangs totally on the undeserved mercy of being blessed by Christ when you were his enemy, and then turn around and curse those who persecute you.

Third, the Christ that faith beholds and embraces has made our future absolutely secure forever, by dying for us and rising again. Therefore, our persecutors cannot destroy us, and we do not need to have the last word on earth. God will.

Do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. Rather fear him who can destroy both soul and body in hell. [29] Are not two sparrows sold for a penny? And not one of them will fall to the ground apart from your Father. [30] But even the hairs of your head are all numbered. [31] Fear not, therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows. (Matthew 10:28-31)

The root of radical, Christ-like love is death to self and invincible delight in the person, the performance, and the promises of Christ. If you struggle with feelings of bitterness and revenge, go deeper with Christ, until you know him and love him the way he really is.

How Does Verse 15 Relate to Persecution?

And what about verse 15? "Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep." Perhaps we'll say more next time. But if you think it's foreign to the situation of persecution, and just dangles here after verse 14, listen to these words from the February issue of Voice of the Martyrs, reporting the situation of Khun, a woman of the Khmu ethnic group in Laos. Her husband is in prison today for preaching Christ.

Khun urges Christians in the West to pray for her husband Khamsay and their family. She also asks us to pray for the people of Kasy district and for greater freedom for Christians to practice their faith openly without hindrance from local government officials. Even though our cultures are different, we are one in the Body of Christ. Khun boldly shared, "Our business is your business, our hurt is your hurt, our happiness is your happiness."

The apostle Paul wrote, "If one member suffers, all the members suffer with it; or if one member is honored, all the members rejoice with it" (1 Corinthians 12:26). As Khmu family members suffer for Christ, we suffer with them. When Khamsay rejoices in prison because he's won another inmate for Jesus, we rejoice with him."[1]

That may be the most eloquent exposition of verse 15 I can give. I leave it there for now. In the situation of persecution, bless those who persecute you, rejoice with those who triumph in suffering, and weep with those whose suffering makes them weep.

Butterflies Or Bees?

Katia Hubanova

The prophet said, "When your words came, I ate them; they were my joy and my heart's delight, for I bear your name, O LORD God Almighty." Jeremiah 15:16 (NIV)

WE know that bees fly from flower to flower gathering nectar and assisting in pollination. Butterflies, however, can actually probe deeper into the blossom with their long tongue. Often we are like bees when it comes to savoring God's word in scripture -- buzzing about and gathering nectar near the surface. We either haven't really studied the word or haven't ever considered how deeply enriching it is to meditate on the holy scripture. We therefore have extracted less nectar than is possible from the garden of God's word.

When we read the Bible, do we try to reach its depth? Or are we satisfied with what we find near the surface? We can stay on the surface and never touch the deeper truths of God's word and its significance for our lives, or we can seek to go deeper and allow God to speak to us as we ponder the words.

Let us resolve to study the Bible daily, not forgetting three important things: reading the word, praying for understanding, and studying with other believers.

God's word is nectar for the hungry soul.

By What Death Will You Glorify God?

John Piper

www.desiringgod.org

When John wrote his gospel, Peter had probably already been killed by the Roman emperor, Nero. So when he recorded the words of Jesus about Peter's coming death he was able to look back and interpret the symbolism Jesus had used. Here's what Jesus said to Peter, with John's interpretation.

"Truly, truly, I say to you, when you were younger, you used to gird yourself and walk wherever you wished; but when you grow old, you will stretch out your hands and someone else will gird you, and bring you where you do not wish to go." Now this He said, signifying by what kind of death he would glorify God. And when He had spoken this, He said to him, "Follow Me!" (John 21:18-19)

It is a sobering thing to be told by your Master and friend that you will die in his service. It was oblique, but Peter probably got the message. And who knows what look was on Jesus' face when he said it. But such is the price of following Jesus Christ. This isn't so different from what he predicts for each of us. "If anyone comes to Me, and does not hate . . . his own life, he cannot be My disciple" (Luke 14:26). "He who loves his life loses it, and he who hates his life in this world will keep it to life eternal" (John 12:25). "If anyone wishes to come after Me, he must deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me" (Matthew 16:24). "They will put some of you to death, and you will be hated by all because of My name" (Luke 21:16-17).

Tradition says that Peter was crucified upside down in Rome during one of Nero's persecutions in the mid-sixties. The early church historian Eusebius wrote, "Peter seems to have preached in Pontus and Galatia and Bithynia and Cappadocia and Asia, to the Jews of the Dispersion, and at last, having come to Rome, he was crucified head downward, for so he himself had asked to suffer" (Ecclesiastical History, III, I).

Jesus predicted the martyrdom of Peter. Jesus knew what sort of death it would be and he knew the time frame. This much knowledge could discourage Peter. Or it could serve to remind him that, come what may, the Lord Jesus is never taken off guard. Not only that, but Jesus spoke these words to Peter after rising triumphant from the dead. This meant that "Christ, having been raised from the dead, is never to die again; death no longer is master over Him" (Romans 6:9). Therefore Jesus will be alive and ruling when Peter comes to die. He will be there to help him. "I am with you always, even to the end of the age" (Matthew 28:20). And not only to help him die, but to raise him: "If the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, He who raised Christ Jesus from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies" (Romans 8:11).

Jesus knew that there would be part of Peter's will that would not want this death. "Someone else . . . will bring you where you do not wish to go." Even Jesus cried, "If it is possible, let this cup pass from Me" (Matthew 26:39). So it is with all who follow in his steps. Pain is pain, not pleasure. Only a higher love brings you to embrace it when you could avoid it by denying Christ.

John said Peter's death was to glorify God, "This He said, signifying by what kind of death he would glorify God." The way John said this seems to show that he considers all our deaths as appointed for the glory of God. The difference is: with what kind of death will we glorify God?

Are you ready for this? Will you show God great in the way you die? Will you say, "To live is Christ and to die is gain"? Will you call this ugly, defeated, torturing enemy sweet names? Will the loss of all your earthly family, friends, and possessions fade at the prospect of seeing and being with Christ?

After Jesus had predicted the horrible death of Peter, he said to him, "Follow me."

"Let us go with him outside the camp" (Hebrews 13:13).

Birthing Will Come

Marsha Burns

April 11, 2005: I saw ten women in colorful dresses coming out and rejoicing in victory. And, I heard in my spirit "May." We can expect incredible victory in the month of May. Exodus 15:20 "Then Miriam the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took the timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances. And Miriam answered them: 'Sing to the LORD, For He has triumphed gloriously! The horse and its rider He has thrown into the sea!'"

You are fearfully and wonderfully made, says the Lord. You were made in the secret place, in the darkness of the womb. The things I am working in your life now are being created in the secret place. Do not worry about what is being created, for I am doing a great work that you cannot see yet. But, the birthing will come and it will be revealed. Then, you will know that I have been among you.

Psalms 139:14-16 I will praise You, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made; Marvelous are Your works, And that my soul knows very well. My frame was not hidden from You, When I was made in secret, And skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of the earth. Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed. And in Your book they all were written, The days fashioned for me, When as yet there were none of them.

I also had a mini vision of everybody's eyes suddenly popping wide open, and the Lord said, you will begin to see like you have never seen. I am loosing an anointing for you to be able to see in the spirit realm with great clarity.

The Lord reminded me of the children of Israel who were told to sing in their captivity, but they could not because of their grief and sorrow. Psalms 137:2 "We hung our harps upon the willows in the midst of it." Your harps have been hung in the weeping willows long enough. Now is the time to sing and rejoice because it is the time of victory when you will come out of bondages that you have endured for a very long time. Sing, dance, and rejoice because there is coming a great freedom in this release

Come To The Next Level

www.bretwade.com

There's a stirring within My body, says the Lord. It is by My hand that the stirring comes. For many this hour would say it's a time of rest. But I tell you it's a time of war. Many would tell you that it's a time to sit back. But I tell you it's high time now that you begin to awake and begin to arise. For now your salvation is clearer and stronger and even closer than ever before. For the Lord says, in the hour many would sit back and they would say, "we would have it this way and we would have it that", for their own comfort and their own desires. But I'm challenging every member of My body to come to a new level in Me. I ask you this day, will you go to that next level? Will you choose to walk with Me?

Truly, I bring change and I will change things in ways that they've not been understood in the past. But I will change it according to the pattern of that which I desire. You've heard it said that I'm changing the model...the paradigm. I've shifted things and I've set a new standard for that which I would have in this hour. Will you come to that standard and allow Me to cause you to go and do those things that I've asked you to do - that I've called you to do? For you thought in your minds that it would be this way and it would be that. But it's not the way that you've conceived it. It's not the way that you thought in your mind. But it's the way that I have in My heart, says the Lord. For I know the plans that I have for you, to give you a future and a hope and not to cause harm. But to even bring you into that place that I desire for you to go, there is much change that is needed. There is no way that you can do it with your own arm. There is no way that you can do it with your own methods or your own ideas. It's only by My Spirit.

Where you would find there to be rubbing against one another and even rubbing against the ideas of one another, do you not know that this is not the hand of your enemy, but this is the hand of My Spirit. For the Lord says, I will cause those amongst you, even to provoke one another unto righteousness. Do you not know that I will cause a stirring in your hearts and a stirring in your midst. Do you not know that I can not take you to that next level until I cause you to be uncomfortable with where your at. This is not an hour of comfort. This is not an hour of pacifying. This is not an hour of petting things and allowing them to remain where they are. This is an hour of jostling. This is an hour of shaking. This is an hour of changing. This is an hour of challenging. I challenge you this day, let me do those things in you that I said that I want to do through you, says the Lord. Because if I can't do them in you, I can not do them through you. I'll even give you the ability and the anointing and the desire to go into the fire and to be tested by My Spirit. Do you not know that I even walked through the flames, says the Lord.

Do you not know that I have even prepared the path for you. Go into that narrow place and allow me to enlarge you on the inside. You have to be enlarged on the inside, before you can be allowed to be enlarged on the outside. Allow Me to do those things and you'll not regret it. You'll not hold back and you'll see My glory...those things that you desire...My glory...My glory.

The shaking must come first, says the Lord. The shaking must come first before you see My hand. Do you not know that when My church said, "Lord, behold their threatenings", that I shook the whole place. But as I shook the whole place, I filled them with all boldness and they proclaimed My Word. Then they saw My Spirit like never before.

It's a time to arise and say, "Behold, Lord, we stir our hearts, even as you stir us! We go forward in you and we chose to go to this next level with you." As you do, I'll carry you there by My Spirit. It will not be the difficult thing that you thought it would be, because I'm not difficult, says the Lord.

Cry For America

Bayo Omoyiola

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

Thus says the Lord - Cry daily for the lost souls of America. Preach revival at the gates of the cities. Let the lost souls come to salvation.

God spoke these words to me and then in a closed vision I saw a pulley and the Lord immediately reminded me of the scripture that talks about drawing out water out of the wells of salvation then God led me to the chapter in Isaiah where it is written and gave me another verse to confirm it. It talks about crying out loud for the Lord our God is in the midst of us.

Interpretation
God is going to restore joy and salvation to the hearts of Americans. He is going to do it through his church and America would be restored. For now God wants us to cry to him for the deliverance of USA.

Creating a Clean Heart

Rick Joyner

As we have discussed, in Scripture "the flesh" is a metaphor for the carnal nature of fallen man which is in opposition to the Spirit of God. The attributes of this carnal nature are listed in Galatians 5:17-21:

Now the deeds of the flesh are evident, which are: immorality, impurity, sensuality, idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousy, outbursts of anger, disputes, dissensions, factions, envying, drunkenness, carousing, and things like these, of which I forewarn you just as I have forewarned you that those who practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

It is so crucial that this base nature be overcome by Christians, that we are told in the last verse above that we will not inherit the kingdom of God as long as we practice these things. The removal of that nature is referred to as our spiritual circumcision, which is the circumcision of our heart, as we read in Romans 2:27-29 last week. So we want to take the time to look at each of these works of the flesh, and how they are to be cut out of our life. After that we will examine how they are replaced by the fruit of the Spirit, which is the Christlike nature. That is our goal, not to just rid ourselves of the evil, but to fill our hearts with God.

The first work of the flesh that is listed is "immorality." This includes fornication, which is having sex outside of marriage, and adultery, which is having sex with someone other than your spouse. It also includes homosexual sex, which the Bible calls not only a sin, but a perversion and an abomination. These are sins; they are forbidden, and under no circumstances are acceptable behavior for a Christian.

Does this mean that anyone who has ever fallen to one of these cannot inherit the kingdom of God? No. There is grace for those who stumble and the forgiveness of sin if we repent and seek the forgiveness of God through His atonement. However, it is a different story for those who "practice" these things. That implies the continual, repeated sin that is not repented of.

A second question would be whether a Christian who falls into repeated affairs or a lengthy affair cannot be saved because they have practiced these things. This is a good question and one that is certainly worthy of examination. It is addressed in a number of Scriptures, but we will look at Hebrews 6:4-6:

For in the case of those who have once been enlightened and have tasted of the heavenly gift and have been made partakers of the Holy Spirit, and have tasted the good word of God and the powers of the age to come, and then have fallen away, it is impossible to renew them again to repentance, since they again crucify to themselves the Son of God, and put Him to open shame.

There is obviously a line that can be crossed where it becomes impossible to renew one again to repentance. This also implies that if someone can still repent, they must not have crossed that line.

The key is if they can still repent. Repentance is more than just feeling sorry for having committed the sin, and is more than asking forgiveness—it means to renounce the sin and turn away from it, resolving not to do it again. So if someone can still repent, they can be forgiven and they can still inherit the kingdom of God.

Hebrews 3:13 says, "But encourage one another day after day, as long as it is still called "Today," lest any one of you be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin."

Sin does harden the heart toward repentance or makes it harder to repent. Sin is also deceitful, and those who practice it often become so deceived that they no longer see it as sin, and therefore cannot repent of it. I have witnessed this process with far too many, even with those who had an extraordinary anointing and have been mightily used by God. In fact, it seems that the more anointed you are when you fall into sin, the faster the hardening takes place and the deeper the deception is.

I know one such very anointed man of God who engaged in lengthy homosexual relationships lasting for years. When it was exposed, the depth of his hardness of heart and the level of deception was astonishing. Every conceivable homosexual act was performed repeatedly, but because he was only involved with one partner at a time he became enraged when it was even implied that he was a homosexual! He had begun to call the sinful acts "fellowship" and ways that he was helping his partners "to get free of their homophobia." Could he really believe anything that foolish? It seems that he really does.

Though this man finally admitted to everything when confronted with the evidence, there is a difference between admitting something and repenting of it. This was a man that was known all over the world for the powerful spiritual gifts that operated through him, and his knowledge of the ways of the Spirit. However, when this sin was exposed I have personally never witnessed more irrational thinking than what came out of this man. We must never underestimate the power of sin to deceive. The greater we think we are in the Lord and the more pride we have in that, the more vulnerable we can be and the further we can fall when we do.

I am convinced that the church today has some of the greatest leaders that it has had since the first century. There are great problems in the church today, but there are also many more reasons for great hope. I have had to deal with some very ugly things in the church, and in some leaders, but this has by no means shaken my faith in their ultimately becoming a bride without spot or wrinkle. As we do have to take a few weeks to examine the works of the flesh and what practicing them can lead to, keep in mind that we are going to get to the fruit of the Spirit, and the great things that are right now going on in the church.

We must also keep in mind Galatians 6:1,"Brethren, even if a man is caught in any trespass, you who are spiritual, restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness; each one looking to yourself, lest you too be tempted." "Any trespass" covers a lot. We must also have as our goal the restoration of any one who falls into any sin. As stated above, there obviously is a line that can be crossed when it becomes impossible for one to repent. However, it is my opinion that only the Lord knows when this has been done. Therefore, regardless of how deep the darkness is that one falls into, it is my resolve to hope and pray for their repentance and do anything I can to help them as the Lord gives me the grace. I have learned repeatedly that His grace and mercy reaches much further than my own.

So that we can understand just how deceptive sin can be, I will share some of my own experiences. I once happened upon a whole movement that is very large and seems to be helping a lot of people, especially the poor and oppressed. However, the leaders believe that the more anointed you are the more concubines you need, which they claim is why King David and Solomon needed so many.

Of course, this group claimed that only "the mature" could understand this kind of "revelation" so it was not taught openly. The level of immorality and perversion in this movement would rival any cult. Deception has so seeped into their other teachings and practices that they may in fact now be a cult, renouncing or perverting the very basic doctrines of the faith. I felt that this whole perversion began with the leader falling into an affair, but instead of repenting, he tried to justify it. Again, sin is deceitful, and if you practice it you will be deceived.

I know a number of professional athletes who had to quit going to church because of pastors hitting on their wives. What are those shepherds going to say to the Lord on the judgment day for having done this to His sheep?

I am sharing these things here because they are common enough that many innocent souls in pursuit of the Lord do sometimes happen upon this kind of foolishness in a church or movement. If you do, flee! When weird practices start to manifest in a group, leave as fast as you can. Such will almost always try to bind you to them with a control spirit, guilt, and fears that you will miss the will of God for your life, that you are "touching the anointed," or other yokes of bondage. Do not listen to them, do not fear them, and do not let them control you—leave as fast as you can. Do not stay to try to help others. It is very unlikely that you will be able to help anyone by staying, but will be putting yourself and your family in jeopardy.

Again, these are extreme examples that I have seen with those who I do think had extraordinary anointing from the Lord. So when sin entered, it led to an even deeper and extraordinary deception and perversion. I can understand why, seeing this, some would determine to not want to be in leadership or grow in their anointing. This is not the answer because then the devil has already won. The answer is to heed the warning of I Corinthians 10:12: "Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall."

If we ever start to think that we are so wise and strong in the Lord that we cannot fall, then a fall is inevitable. Pride caused the devil to fall in the first place and it is at the root of almost every fall since. There seems to be a pride that many who are used with a great anointing sometimes get, thereby thinking they are somehow special and can get away with such things because of the way God has used them. This is a terrible presumption that the Lord Jesus Himself addressed in Matthew 7:21-23:

"Not everyone who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven; but he who does the will of My Father who is in heaven.
"Many will say to Me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in Your name, and in Your name cast out demons, and in Your name perform many miracles?'
"And then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness.'"

Lawlessness is the result of rationalizing away the clear Word of God. It is the tendency to bend the rules in order to get way with something. That tendency is also called "craftiness" in Scripture and was the very first attribute given to describe the devil in the Garden. Once you start down the path of bending the rules, you have opened the door very wide to Satan, and he will come through it.

I have been told by Christian leaders that when I preach these things a great fear comes upon them. I hope it does. I hope that it has come upon all who read this, for your sake. We need a good, healthy dose of the fear of the Lord. As we are told in Proverbs 9:10, "The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom." We are told in Proverbs 8:13,"The fear of the LORD is to hate evil, pride and arrogance and the evil way." "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom," and those who stay on the path of life never lose it. However, it is not the highest form of wisdom—love is.

We should fear the consequences of sin, understanding that God's judgment is going to come upon the world for these things. However, we should hate sin even more because of what it does to the One we love—and what sin did to Him on the cross, which He bore for our redemption. How could anyone who has truly beheld the cross not hate that which caused our King so much pain?

Please again read the following Scriptures, and please carefully read all Scripture quotations. The Scriptures are the Word of God and are far more powerful for changing us than anything I could write. If any of these verses especially speak to you about a stronghold in your life, write them down on three by five cards and read them as often as you need to in order to combat the temptations in your life. It is the truth of His Word that sets us free!

For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set you free from the law of sin and of death.

For what the Law could not do, weak as it was through the flesh, God did: sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and as an offering for sin, He condemned sin in the flesh, in order that the requirement of the Law might be fulfilled in us, who do not walk according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit.
For those who are according to the flesh set their minds on the things of the flesh, but those who are according to the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.
For the mind set on the flesh is death, but the mind set on the Spirit is life and peace, because the mind set on the flesh is hostile toward God; for it does not subject itself to the law of God, for it is not even able to do so; and those who are in the flesh cannot please God.
However, you are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you. But if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to Him.
And if Christ is in you, though the body is dead because of sin, yet the spirit is alive because of righteousness.
But if the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, He who raised Christ Jesus from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through His Spirit who indwells you (Romans 8:2-11).

Trust me, we will get to some more encouraging and edifying principles of how our hearts are purified and changed, but it is necessary for us to understand sin and that it is the path to death. If you want to live, turn from sin, and to the One Who alone is Life. He will give us His own Holy Spirit so that we can live free from the yoke of sin, and live in righteousness, holiness, and the truth.

Last week we began a more in-depth look at Galatians 5:18-21,starting with the first work of the flesh that is listed there, "immorality." This week we will look at the next two, which are "impurity" and "sensuality." Impurity is the lustful gratification of our own flesh through such things as pornography, fantasizing, masturbation, etc. Sensuality is the tendency to try to be sexually attractive to someone other than our spouse, causing us to, in the very least, become stumbling blocks to others.

One can be attractive without being sensual. There is a dignity and honor with which the sons and daughters of the King of kings should behave. The apostle Paul stated it powerfully in I Thessalonians 4:3-8:

For this is the will of God, your sanctification; that is, that you abstain from sexual immorality; that each of you know how to possess his own vessel in sanctification and honor, not in lustful passion, like the Gentiles who do not know God; and that no man transgress and defraud his brother in the matter because the Lord is the avenger in all these things, just as we also told you before and solemnly warned you.
For God has not called us for the purpose of impurity, but in sanctification.
Consequently, he who rejects this is not rejecting man but the God who gives His Holy Spirit to you.

There are some foolish souls who believe that because they have never committed an actual act of immorality that they are living a holy life, when in fact they are addicted to pornography or practicing other impure or sensual behavior. This is a deception that can also lead to the hardness of heart and kinds of deception that we discussed last week.

First, we need to understand that sex was created by God as a special gift to mankind, as a wonderful way for a man and woman to bond and express their love for each other when in a committed marriage relationship. It should not be a taboo subject in the church, but if it were taught rightly, with the dignity and honor that it deserves, the devil would not have the opportunity that he does to pervert it.

Sex in marriage edifies. Sex outside of marriage destroys. It is that simple. Sex outside of marriage may briefly gratify one physically, but there will be inevitable emotional and spiritual damage done, every time. You may not think it does, but the thief is using it to pervert your soul and move you further from the most fulfilling relationship that you could have ever had on the earth, which God has planned for you.

Likewise, impurity and sensuality do damage our souls by setting us on a course of being led by lust rather than love. Lust and love are in opposition to each other. Lust is motivated by self-centeredness, and love is motivated by care for others. To the degree that lust is able to grip our lives, we will be in opposition to the Spirit of God, who is Love. Impurity and sensuality are the primary ways that lust gains an entrance into our lives and is a primary way that will be used to keep us from growing up into Christ. As we are told in Romans 6:19:

For just as you presented your members as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness, resulting in further lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves to righteousness, resulting in sanctification.

As this verse illuminates, impurity is one of the primary open doors to lawlessness, which will be one of the greatest evils to come upon the world at the end of this age. If we start compromising with our own bodies, which are temples of the Holy Spirit, then we will soon start compromising the clear truth of the Word of God. We will then be led more by self-will than by the Spirit. As the apostle also wrote in Romans 6:1-11:

What shall we say then? Are we to continue in sin that grace might increase?
May it never be! How shall we who died to sin still live in it?
Or do you not know that all of us who have been baptized into Christ Jesus have been baptized into His death?
Therefore we have been buried with Him through baptism into death, in order that as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, so we too might walk in newness of life.
For if we have become united with Him in the likeness of His death, certainly we shall be also in the likeness of His resurrection, knowing this, that our old self was crucified with Him, that our body of sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves to sin;
for he who has died is freed from sin.
Now if we have died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with Him, knowing that Christ, having been raised from the dead, is never to die again; death no longer is master over Him.
For the death that He died, He died to sin, once for all; but the life that He lives, He lives to God.
Even so consider yourselves to be dead to sin, but alive to God in Christ Jesus.

Being free from the sins of impurity and sensuality are the result of our loving God more than the desires of our flesh. If we will take them to the cross, they will be resurrected into something far more fulfilling than anything our lusts could ever produce—a relationship where we can become one in body, soul, and spirit. The Lord wants to give us life and give it far more abundantly than we can even imagine. That is why recent studies have shown consistently that Christians tend to have far better sex lives than non-Christians. The Christians who do not have fulfilling sex lives are almost always the ones who have slipped into some form of seeking sexual gratification in an illegal way.

Lust can never really satisfy us, but rather will always keep us seeking satisfaction without any possibility of ever really getting it. Love alone can lead to our true satisfaction. Love is what the Lord wants for us, which is the guiding motivation of our life. This is first a love for Him by which we would never want to do anything that is displeasing to Him, and then such a love for others that we would never want to use anyone selfishly in any way.

With the overwhelming onslaught of sensuality in the West, it will take a supreme devotion to keep pure in this environment. I believe this may be one reason why the Lord gave His greatest promises to the overcomers of the church at Laodicea, the last church that He addressed, and which in many ways was a prophecy to the last day church. Our love for the Lord and our love for others will have to grow correspondingly if we are going to assault the lust, impurity, and sensuality in our times. It will be possibly the greatest battle, but perhaps it is also the greatest opportunity.

In all things remember this—love is the answer. This is not just a cliché. As we will study in a few weeks, the answer to overcoming evil is being filled with the Spirit and growing in the fruit of the Spirit. For now we must resolve to never rationalize the clear Word of God. We must call sin what it is—sin. It is not justifiable under any circumstances. It will lead to death in all circumstances. Life is found by loving God and loving one another.

Jealousy
Rick Joyner

Jealousy . . . A Deadly Evil Causing Destruction In The Church"
Creating a Clean Heart

One major work of the flesh, in a study of Galatians 5:19-21, is "jealousy." This is a deadly and devastating evil that continues to cause much destruction in the world and in the church. As the Scripture also testifies, it is cruel and unrelenting, and destroys the one who has it just like it does its victims. The first murder was the result of jealousy, when Cain slew his brother Abel. We are told that Jesus was crucified because of jealousy (see Matthew 27:18).

Jealousy obviously should have no place in the Christian. We must learn to recognize even the seeds of jealousy and combat it every time it rises in our hearts, using it as an opportunity to grow in the opposite spirit, which is love of the brethren that does not seek its own, and the humility of the servanthood to which we are called.

A Powerful Testimony of Overcoming Jealousy

Robin McMillan has a powerful testimony of how he was able to recognize jealousy rising in his heart and how he was able to combat it. After being in business for a few years, he had returned to pastoring a small congregation and was driving an old beat-up car that he could barely afford to put gas in. When he saw me driving a brand new car, jealousy started to rise in his heart, but he resolved not to go that way and began to thank the Lord for blessing me with a new car. Within weeks the Lord had provided him with the same kind of brand new car that I was driving.

Robin was the pastor of a small, struggling, but wonderful little congregation. When we felt called to start a congregation, not only in the same city, but in the same part of the city, Robin did not become threatened, but came over and helped us. He encouraged his people to attend our special meetings and when some of the people in his congregation felt that they were supposed to be a part of our work, he blessed them.

It is one thing for large successful congregations to do this, but the church Robin pastored was small and struggling. They could not even afford to pay Robin enough to take care of the basic needs of his family. However, the Lord always provided all that he needed. Though Robin could not have known it at the time, when he helped us start our church in Charlotte, he was actually providing for his own future, because Robin is now the Senior Pastor of our congregation at H.I.M. That would have never happened if he had reacted in a wrong spirit toward us starting a church in the same part of town as his.

The Blessing in Blessing One Another

I have, likewise, marveled at the way other pastors and church leaders in Charlotte have responded to us. When I felt the Lord spoke to me about the calling to start a church in Charlotte, I dreaded it for a number of reasons. One was that I loved the church that I was a part of there and felt a special friendship with its pastor, Randall Worley. I dreaded telling him about the call that I felt, but when I did, I received one of the most wonderful surprises I have ever received from another Christian leader. His immediate reaction was not one of loss or being threatened, but his eyes lit up and he said, "We can send you fifty or sixty of our best people to help you get started." He was genuinely excited about helping another church get going, even though we would be almost next door to him. I almost cried.

To this day I consider Randall a great friend. He followed through on his word to help us in every way that he could. I did not want him to send us any of his good people, and I really did not want to take any from any other church. However, when some of his folks decided to come over, he always blessed them. When we needed a larger place to hold meetings, he offered his own facilities, which we used many times. His church was actually the birthplace of MorningStar Conferences.

Of course, there are some church leaders in Charlotte who do not like us. Some have publicly accused us of many things, most of which were not true, but some were true, and it helped us to see them. We try to meet with those people and resolve their concerns, but some do not want to be reconciled and are not even open to meeting with us. Some have been reconciled and become good friends. This is just the state of things at this time. However, one thing we have resolved to do as much as we can is to promote the other churches and ministries in the area. We try to find any good thing that we can say about them, and say it. We will never overcome evil with retaliation, but we are commanded to overcome evil with good.

Even so, we cannot help but to notice that accusations against us rise whenever something good happens to promote us in any way. If we get positive news, the accusations start to fly. If we have a book or something else that receives a lot of attention, the accusations rise. It is a very easy thing to discern the jealousy in many of the accusations, but so many do not. Why?

I am telling this like it is for your sake. We have learned that every time we are falsely accused, we will experience major growth. It is like free advertising for us. We also know that it will come to any who are truly advancing, and that when it stops it is often because we have. However, if we are the victim of jealousy, or we are honest enough to see it rising in our own hearts, fight the evil with the opposite, which is with good. It is the only way to ultimate victory over this deadly disease of jealousy. Now I would like to tell one more story.

Overcome Evil with Good

In the late eighties, the Kansas City Fellowship (KCF) was experiencing a remarkable visitation from God. Word quickly spread around the world about what was happening there, especially about the remarkable prophetic ministry that was there. People started coming from all over the world, and it was like a breath of fresh air to much of the body of Christ. Then a fellow pastor in Kansas City preached a message accusing KCF of many horrendous things. He circulated the tape more aggressively than anything I have still ever witnessed.

When I first heard the tape, I was shocked because I personally knew of some of the incidents he described on the tape, and he was misconstruing them badly, to be generous. I felt that there was not a single thing on the tape that was actually true, but what got my attention was the way the pastor kept comparing his church to KCF in a way that was dripping with jealousy. I did not think anyone could hear this tape and not see that the spirit behind it was jealousy. I was shocked when I started getting calls from major Christian leaders asking me if the tape was true!

The accusing pastor then put out a book of more than 180 pages filled with accusations. I was with Mike Bickle, the pastor of KCF, when he received the book with the charges. We read much of it together, and it was hard for me to contain the anger I felt. Mike did not seem to be angry at all. Finally, out of the hundreds of false charges, Mike found a couple that he felt were true, and said he needed to publicly repent of those. I was shocked and asked him about all of the false charges -- if he was going to answer those. His response was that pride had gotten into their movement, and this was a great opportunity for them to humble themselves, and he did not want to miss it.

I greatly appreciated Mike's response to this persecution. He was forearmed, as they had been told prophetically that it was coming years before it did, and they were even told who it would come through. Mike's determination not to defend KCF, but rather to embrace the humility, was right for them. They were not doing everything perfectly, and they themselves were constantly revealing mistakes they had made in trying to shepherd some of the remarkable gifts that were in their midst. However, it is my opinion that the church in America missed a great visitation by not handling this thing right by defending KCF against the false charges.

I am saying this here for another reason as well. I know that just by bringing it up some will think that I am just stirring up old wounds which need to be covered and forgotten. I disagree. Wounds do not heal with time, but become infected if they are not treated right, and this terrible wound on the body of Christ in America was never treated right. I will continue to point to it for as long as it goes untreated, regardless of whom I irritate. The ones that I irritate the most are probably the ones I am trying to wake up to do their job. Jealousy was used to make this terrible wound, and it must be recognized and repented of, as well as the failure of the leaders to do their job of judging rightly, or we will just continue to be open to the same kinds of attacks, which do still continue.

Righteousness AND Justice Are the Foundation of God's Throne

We must never forget that righteousness and justice are the foundation of the Lord's throne. Paul the apostle wrote to the Corinthian church that it was to their shame that there were no judges among them (see I Corinthians 6:4-5). This has possibly cost the body of Christ more shame than any other thing. In the Old Testament, the elders sat in the gates as judges. The New Testament church government was taken from this model, yet it is hard to find a true elder in the church that is willing to judge matters in the church. We will not have true church government until this happens.

Because there is a void left, many who are not appointed to be judges appoint themselves to that position. The remarkable thing is that so much of the body of Christ will listen to them and not be able to see and feel the jealousy dripping from so many of their accusations. People who I would not allow to oversee a home group can now acquire the attention of thousands just by putting something on the Internet. Many Christians accept their false accusations as being true just because they are written.

This is truly revealing of the state of protection that the church now has from its shepherds and watchmen -- not much. Jealousy should be one of the easiest evils to discern, yet it parades itself without challenge through much of the church. This must change. If we are called to be shepherds or watchmen, and we do not warn the sheep of such blatant attacks by the accuser, then we have allowed the Lord's sheep to be freely attacked because of our negligence.

How We Can Recognize Jealousy Rising In Our Hearts and Combat It

If jealousy has a place in our hearts, it will do evil to others as well as ourselves. The reason we are studying each of these works of the flesh is so we can get free of them. The first thing we should do with each one is ask the Holy Spirit to reveal to us any evil thing that is in our own hearts and honestly embrace what He shows us. Then repent by rejecting it and resolving to pray for and do good for any that we may have jealousy in our hearts toward. Like Robin experienced, this may be the path to your own promotion and blessing. We must start recognizing jealousy and not give it a place in our lives or the life of the church.

The Greek word translated "jealousy" in our text is dichostsis, which is also translated "division" and "sedition." As it is becoming obvious as we study them, these works of the flesh are all related and tend to overlap each other. About half of them that are listed here all work toward the same evil end -- the division of God's people from one another. We can count on righteous judges arising to expose, confront, and remove these deadly evils from the church before we will be able to fully accomplish our purpose in these times. The same is true for us individually. Don't miss your purpose -- look for any signs of jealousy in your heart, and then repent and get rid of it.

Collusion And Collision

Sept 2nd, 2005
“How to start a race war” I heard the Lord say. And with it came impressions of what is going on in New Orleans and I felt the president’s anguish at what is going on, and perceived an undercurrent to make him look bad that was purposeful and secretly devised – as in slow response of troops, etc. Then visions of the violence. What would happen if there was a civil war? There would be national MARSHALL LAW instituted, and new world order plans could ensue. Then He gave me an impression of the scripture that says “peace taken from the earth”.

Rev 6:1-4 AMP
1 THEN I saw as the Lamb broke open one of the seven seals, and as if in a voice of thunder I heard one of the four living creatures call out, Come!
2 And I looked, and saw there a white horse whose rider carried a bow. And a crown was given him, and he rode forth conquering and to conquer. [Ps 45:4, 5; Zech 1:8; 6:1-3.]
3 And when He broke the second seal, I heard the second living creature call out, Come! 4 And another horse came out, flaming red. And its rider was empowered to take the peace from the earth, so that men slaughtered one another; and he was given a huge sword.

“Resist My people the temptation to judge harshly and to go by your own opinions. Seek MY OPINION before speaking your own. Men are doing much evil in secret meetings and you are not privy to those without My revelation.
Seek to bless rather than judge. Ask for wisdom and it will be given. Resist lawlessness that has entered in for some time to this land. You have need of much peace that brings patience for the times ahead. Seek ME while I may be found! Do not fill your day up with scenes of violence without taking it to prayer or you will find it entering into your own house!

STRIFE is abundant and you must resist all the enemy’s thoughts. Love one another I have told you, as I HAVE LOVED YOU. Be quick to FORGIVE, even when faced with hatred and fear and jealousy. There will be much martyrdom in the days ahead. Many martyrs are floating in the waters of New Orleans. I have a remnant bride everywhere, even in the midst of great darkness. Make your lights to SHINE in the earth. SHOW generosity and LOVE in the midst of pain and suffering. COMFORT MY PEOPLE! Let them know what true love is…to lay down your life for another! Fill your heart and mind with the WORD. KNOW TRUTH and the truth will set you free, and many others will be set free by you living My Word! Only your intimacy with Me will save you in the days ahead. Do not resist the time to be alone with ME. I am with you. I AM CHRIST IN YOU, the HOPE of GLORY!

Pray for My glory to come down in this relief effort! Pray against the lawlessness & violence. Bring in My Kingdom through worship and prayer.
It is time to sound the alarm and raise up a standard of righteousness.
Pray and war in worship for your cities, your states, your nation, the church and the world. As you sow to the heavens I will rain down on the earth!”

Leprosy and Restoration

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Aug 29th, 2005

The Lord began to speak to me as I was quiet…
"Just as leprosy invades the body and eats away at the tissue till it rots and falls off, so is the pride in the body of Christ. The pride erodes the appendages of the church first, such that the hands are not functional any more, and the feet are not either. The toes fall off and it is hard to gain BALANCE. You cannot reach out without the hands of the church. You cannot walk straight without feet and toes. You would fall down. You cannot serve without hands. You cannot walk very far without toes/feet. Then gradually more and more of the body begins to fall off. The nose, the ears, anything that is invaded, begins to rot and be destroyed. The leprosy eats away the flesh. There is no more ability to arrest it without antibiotics.
The antibiotic is the WORD OF GOD spiritually. The Word of GOD convicts the soul, and brings health and healing to your bones!

Pride is the source of much disease in the body of Christ! There are so many things that allow it to seep into the body…like an infestation of gangrene or leprosy till the whole body is rotted and full of sores. In the Midst of this condition as it is now, I am about to shine MY LIGHT! Just as the ozone treatment kills bacteria and suffocates the bad cells that live in darkness, so My LIGHT will drive away the darkness. And as the oxygen gives life to every cell in your body , so will My light – My glory illuminate the areas of your soul till you are completely walking in the light of My glory. My light will be like a heat seeking missile searching out the depths of your soul.

Great light is dimmed by just a bit of darkness, just as darkness is illumined by just a small bit of light. It is important for you to not fall back into pride, once it is removed from the body. Otherwise even greater darkness will seek out that area that has been evacuated. And then it becomes that much more difficult to eradicate.

I speak to you truthfully that your heart will break to see the reaction in some people to My light that I send. My glory is awesome and fearful in it's power. The FEAR OF THE LORD will be restored to the church. The lost will also react strongly in the presence of MY light in you! People will have demons manifest, and you will suddenly see them change before your eyes.
Do not be surprised when this happens. I am turning up the power till just your shadow cast will bring healing to broken and diseased bodies and souls!

The lame will walk, the blind will see, the dead will rise when I speak through you. Life and death are in the power of the tongue so that is why I have tried to get you to clean up your mouths. Many of you would kill people with your words if I let you have this power without first cleansing you with the FIRE of My presence. My WORD is like a hammer that breaks into pieces the rock of most stubborn resistance, and like a fire that consumes anything that cannot withstand the test! I will do a thorough work of purging the foundation of My temples. NOTHING shall by any means thwart Me from doing a complete work in purifying of My BRIDE.

Do not look at the circumstances. Keep your eyes on ME. Listen for MY VOICE over the din of the enemy's taunts! He is prowling around, trying to stop up the works, but it will just ERUPT SUDDENLY! NOTHING will be able to stop it. People will try in the church to stop it due to the measure of power and manifestations it will bring! But they will rue the day they tried to control ME. I AM THE ALL CONSUMING FIRE. YOU STAND IN A NEW HOUR. THE ELEVENTH HOUR HAS COME. Be wise My children and come unto ME, and look to ME for all you need. I will lay waste the resistance in you and around you so that you will be able to make the choices that will lead to life. The heart that hungers for ME instead of relief will be satisfied. The heart that hungers for My touch will receive it. The heart that refuses ME, will be given over to their backsliding ways, and succumb to torment, until they repent.

Gird your loins with the TRUTH of My WORD. Look to ME for interpretation and I will give you wisdom. For I am uncovering things that have not been understood. I am uncovering wrong doctrine and releasing revelation that will bring healing and deliverance to the BODY. Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord says My Word. I will lift you up, if you will but admit your faults to ME! Do not keep running away from My presence. I will not tarry much longer. I stand at the door and knock. Will you open the door of your hearts? Or will you be too busy? Will you listen for Your Bridegroom? How much longing in your heart is there for ME?
For I am ravished for you My bride! I am JEALOUS to make you soley MINE! Come, come away with ME!"

Restoration Of The Ancient Foundation

1 Cor 3:9-13 NKJV For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, you are God's building. 10 According to the grace of God which was given to me, as a wise master builder I have laid the foundation, and another builds on it. But let each one take heed how he builds on it. 11 For no other foundation can anyone lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ. 12 Now if anyone builds on this foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw, 13 each one's work will become clear; for the Day will declare it, because it will be revealed by fire; and the fire will test each one's work, of what sort it is.

The Lord spoke…
" I the Lord am not the creature but the CREATOR of the heavens and the earth. I am not a remote controlled robot, nor a human to be trifled with.
I alone am worthy of all honor and glory and power! I AM the One and only Creator. I AM not immune to your hurts and pains. I have warned for a long time and languished over the lost and the condition of My people. I have given you much time to seek ME. Now My judgments are in the earth and the earth is groaning, as I've said to you.

I am removing all the idols. I have harnessed the winds and the earth to fulfill My purposes. I will not turn back any longer from establishing MY KINGDOM in the earth. Those who know My glory and who honor me will be used to bring LIFE where there is death, and HOPE where there is despair, and LOVE where there is hatred and fear. You are the light in the earth and the salt! ARISE OH CHURCH and thresh for the time for Harvesting has come. REACH OUT TO OTHERS and I will reach out to you!

Move in CONFIDENCE in Your GOD WHO loves you and cares for you! TESTIFY what I have done for you! TESTIFY to what I can do! TESTIFY and give THANKS for all I am doing, for I am restoring the ancient FOUNDATIONS and though the earth may shake, the foundation built on Me will be sustained! I AM THE ONLY FOUNDATION UPON WHICH YOU CAN BUILD SAFELY! I have said FALL on the ROCK or the rock will fall on you. I am restoring and I will knit together those who truly love ME and obey ME. All else is sinking sand. Lay down the unnecessary weights in your lives and build only on this Foundation. I am that Foundation that brings security even in the midst of famine and destruction. TURN to ME, and you will be healed and restored! The systems of man are crumbling, but I AM TRUSTWORTHY and I AM Your exceedingly great reward! I will never leave you nor forsake you. TREACHEROUS days are at hand. I have told you for years that perilous times are coming. They are here, and all your trust must be in ME! Lean on ME. I AM A FIRM FOUNDATION!

Covenant with Me My beloveds to STAND. STAND firm in the face of opposition. If you will but ask I will give you all you need to do all I want.
Share with those who have nothing. GIVE to those who are doing the work of the true Kingdom. Care for the widows and orphans, the fatherless, and the outcast, the tormented and lonely. Sow and you will reap. Whatever you do for the least of these you do unto ME. Remember all that I have taught you and remain standing. Stand on the generosity I've given to you! Move and have your being in ME. MY LOVE NEVER FAILS. MY mercy never ends, for those who will humble themselves and pray. You have entered a "new day" and I am about to do a 'NEW THING' in the earth.

Extend your arms to the needy and I will fill them again and again! TRUST ME to provide miraculously in the days ahead. For man has grown very self centered. Blame, and revenge, hatred and jealousy and all manner of evil will ensue as the atmosphere of heaven changes. Those who are disconsolate and angry will be given over to insanity. Those who cling to ME, will be sustained.
My glory WILL FILL THE EARTH. You will see things you have longed to see. Worship ME, and glory will fall around you. Heaven will release glory to the earth at the sound of praises and worship of My name! LOVE ONE ANOTHER as I have loved you!"

Eph 2:20-22 NKJV having been built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ Himself being the chief cornerstone, 21 in whom the whole building, being fitted together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord, 22 in whom you also are being built together for a dwelling place of God in the Spirit.

Heb 11:9-10 AMP
9 [Prompted] by faith he dwelt as a temporary resident in the land which was designated in the promise [of God, though he was like a stranger] in a strange country, living in tents with Isaac and Jacob, fellow heirs with him of the same promise. [Gen 12:1-8.]
10 For he was [waiting expectantly and confidently] looking forward to the city which has fixed and firm foundations, whose Architect and Builder is God.

Matt 13:35 NKJV that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying: "I will open My mouth in parables; I will utter things kept secret from the foundation of the world."

Matt 25:34-36 NKJV Then the King will say to those on His right hand, 'Come, you blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: 35 for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; I was a stranger and you took Me in; 36 I was naked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; I was in prison and you came to Me.'

Acts 16:26 AMP Suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the very foundations of the prison were shaken; and at once all the doors were opened and everyone's shackles were unfastened.

John 17:24 "Father, I desire that they also whom You gave Me may be with Me where I am, that they may behold My glory which You have given Me; for You loved Me before the foundation of the world.

Rom 15:20-21 NKJV
20 And so I have made it my aim to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build on another man's foundation, 21 but as it is written: "To whom He was not announced, they shall see; And those who have not heard shall understand."

Eph 1:4-6 NKJV just as He chose us in Him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before Him in love, 5 having predestined us to adoption as sons by Jesus Christ to Himself, according to the good pleasure of His will, 6 to the praise of the glory of His grace, by which He made us accepted in the Beloved.

Lam 4:11-13
11 The Lord has fulfilled His wrath; He has poured out His fierce anger and has kindled a fire in Zion that has consumed her foundations.
12 The kings of the earth did not believe, nor did any of the inhabitants of the earth, that the oppressor and enemy could enter the gates of Jerusalem. 13 [But this happened] because of the sins of her [false] prophets and the iniquities of her priests, who shed the blood of the just and righteous in the midst of her.

Isa 42:12-17 NKJV
12 Let them give glory to the LORD, And declare His praise in the coastlands. 13 The LORD shall go forth like a mighty man. He shall stir up His zeal like a man of war. He shall cry out, yes, shout aloud;
He shall prevail against His enemies. 14 Promise of the LORD's Help - "I have held My peace a long time, I have been still and restrained Myself. Now I will cry like a woman in labor, I will pant and gasp at once. 15 I will lay waste the mountains and hills, And dry up all their vegetation; I will make the rivers coastlands, And I will dry up the pools. 16 I will bring the blind by a way they did not know; I will lead them in paths they have not known. I will make darkness light before them, And crooked places straight. These things I will do for them, And not forsake them. 17 They shall be turned back, They shall be greatly ashamed, Who trust in carved images, Who say to the molded images, 'You are our gods.'

Mic 6:2 AMP Hear, O mountains, the Lord's controversy, and you strong and enduring foundations of the earth, for the Lord has a controversy (a pleading contention) with His people, and He will [pleadingly] contend with Israel.

Mic 1:6 AMP Therefore I [the Lord] will make Samaria a heap in the open country, a place for planting vineyards; and I will pour down into the ravine her stones and lay bare her foundations. [2 Kings 19:25; Ezek 13:14.]

Ezek 13:14-16 AMP
14 So will I break down the wall that you have daubed with whitewash and bring it down to the ground, so that its foundations will be exposed; when it falls, you will perish and be consumed in the midst of it. And you will know (understand and realize) that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish My wrath upon the wall and upon those who have daubed it with whitewash, and I will say to you, The wall is no more, neither are they who daubed it, 16 The [false] prophets of Israel who prophesied deceitfully about Jerusalem, seeing visions of peace for her when there is no peace, says the Lord God.

Jer 51:26 AMP And [O Babylon] they shall not take your cracked stones for a cornerstone, or any stone for foundations, but you shall be waste and desolate forever, says the Lord.

Isa 58:12 AMP And your ancient ruins shall be rebuilt; you shall raise up the foundations of [buildings that have laid waste for] many generations; and you shall be called Repairer of the Breach, Restorer of Streets to Dwell In.

Isa 54:11-12 AMP
11 O you afflicted [city], storm-tossed and not comforted, behold, I will set your stones in fair colors [in antimony to enhance their brilliance] and lay your foundations with sapphires.
12 And I will make your windows and pinnacles of [sparkling] agates or rubies, and your gates of [shining] carbuncles, and all your walls [of your enclosures] of precious stones. [Rev 21:19-21.]

Isa 54:10 AMP For though the mountains should depart and the hills be shaken or removed, yet My love and kindness shall not depart from you, nor shall My covenant of peace and completeness be removed, says the Lord, Who has compassion on you.

Isa 51:16 AMP And I have put My words in your mouth and have covered you with the shadow of My hand, that I may fix the [new] heavens as a tabernacle and lay the foundations of a [new] earth and say to Zion, You are My people. [Isa 65:17; 66:22; Rev 21:1.]

Isa 51:12-13 AMP I, even I, am He Who comforts you. Who are you, that you should be afraid of man, who shall die, and of a son of man, who shall be made [as destructible] as grass, 13 That you should forget the Lord your Maker, Who stretched forth the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth, and fear continually every day because of the fury of the oppressor, when he makes ready to destroy or even though he did so? And where is the fury of the oppressor?

20 He who is so impoverished that he has no offering or oblation or rich gift to give [to his god is constrained to make a wooden offering, an idol; so he] chooses a tree that will not rot; he seeks out a skillful craftsman to carve and set up an image that will not totter or deteriorate.
21 [You worshipers of idols, you are without excuse.] Do you not know? Have you not heard? Has it not been told you from the beginning? [These things ought to convince you of God's omnipotence and of the folly of bowing to idols.] Have you not understood from the foundations of the earth? [Rom 1:20,21.]
22 It is God Who sits above the circle (the horizon) of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; it is He Who stretches out the heavens like [gauze] curtains and spreads them out like a tent to dwell in,
Who brings dignitaries to nothing, Who makes the judges and rulers of the earth as chaos (emptiness, falsity, and futility).

Isaiah 24 Impending Judgment on the Earth

Behold, the LORD makes the earth empty and makes it waste, distorts its surface and scatters abroad its inhabitants. 2 And it shall be: As with the people, so with the priest; As with the servant, so with his master; As with the maid, so with her mistress; As with the buyer, so with the seller; As with the lender, so with the borrower; As with the creditor, so with the debtor.
3 The land shall be entirely emptied and utterly plundered, For the LORD has spoken this word.
4 The earth mourns and fades away, The world languishes and fades away; The haughty people of the earth languish. 5 The earth is also defiled under its inhabitants, Because they have transgressed the laws, Changed the ordinance, Broken the everlasting covenant. 6 Therefore the curse has devoured the earth, and those who dwell in it are desolate. Therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men are left.
7 The new wine fails, the vine languishes, All the merry-hearted sigh. 8 The mirth of the tambourine ceases, The noise of the jubilant ends, The joy of the harp ceases. 9 They shall not drink wine with a song; Strong drink is bitter to those who drink it. 10 The city of confusion is broken down; Every house is shut up, so that none may go in. 11 There is a cry for wine in the streets, All joy is darkened, The mirth of the land is gone.
12 In the city desolation is left, and the gate is stricken with destruction. 13 When it shall be thus in the midst of the land among the people, It shall be like the shaking of an olive tree, like the gleaning of grapes when the vintage is done.
14 They shall lift up their voice, they shall sing; For the majesty of the LORD They shall cry aloud from the sea. 15 Therefore glorify the LORD in the dawning light, The name of the LORD God of Israel in the coastlands of the sea. 16 From the ends of the earth we have heard songs: "Glory to the righteous!" But I said, "I am ruined, ruined! Woe to me! The treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously, indeed, the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherously."
17 Fear and the pit and the snare are upon you, O inhabitant of the earth. 18 And it shall be that he who flees from the noise of the fear Shall fall into the pit, and he who comes up from the midst of the pit shall be caught in the snare; For the windows from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth are shaken.
19 The earth is violently broken, The earth is split open, The earth is shaken exceedingly. 20 The earth shall reel to and fro like a drunkard, and shall totter like a hut; Its transgression shall be heavy upon it, and it will fall, and not rise again.
21 It shall come to pass in that day that the LORD will punish on high the host of exalted ones, and on the earth the kings of the earth. 22 They will be gathered together, as prisoners are gathered in the pit, and will be shut up in the prison; After many days they will be punished. 23 Then the moon will be disgraced And the sun ashamed; For the LORD of hosts will reign On Mount Zion and in Jerusalem and before His elders, gloriously.

Sympathetic Understanding
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Aug 30th, 2005
Matt 9:36 AMP When He saw the throngs, He was moved with pity and sympathy for them, because they were bewildered (harassed and distressed and dejected and helpless), like sheep without a shepherd. [Zech 10:2]

Matt 14:14 AMP When He went ashore and saw a great throng of people, He had compassion (pity and deep sympathy) for them and cured their sick.

NT:4697 splagchnizomai (splangkh-nid'-zom-ahee); middle voice from NT:4698; to have the bowels yearn, i.e. (figuratively) feel sympathy, to pity: KJV - have (be moved with) compassion.
NT:4698 splagchnon (splangkh'-non); probably strengthened from splen (the "spleen"); an intestine (plural); figuratively, pity or sympathy: KJV - bowels, inward affection, tender mercy.

The Lord began to speak:

“ The winds will continue to blow until there is a more corporate response to the suffering of others in this nation, and an eradication of apathy and complacency in My CHURCH. For years I have called out to you to consider the needs of the poor, to have mercy on those less fortunate than you are. I have asked you to seek MY HEART and My opinions of others, that you would begin to reach out. Now, unless you do for others what you would have them do for you, you will not eat yourself. You will not have what you need.

Those who have learned the lessons will be moved to seats of authority. Those who have been willing to come close to MY HEART and MY COMPASSION will be entrusted with what is needed to care for others.
Those who have been uncaring and complacent will learn what it is to WANT.
And will thereby learn to be different in the days following. I am not an ogre, nor am I complacent about the suffering of mankind. I have never wished to allow suffering. But man is stubborn in his ways, and despite warnings, My own people have ignored the plight of others. Now you WILL become what I want you to! You will learn compassion and empathy. You will understand My heart.
Acts 4:34-35 AMP Nor was there a destitute or needy person among them, for as many as were owners of lands or houses proceeded to sell them, and one by one they brought (gave back) the amount received from the sales 35 And laid it at the feet of the apostles (special messengers). Then distribution was made according as anyone had need.

Many of you will be asked to sacrifice things you thought were your own. Many of you will have to consider what you love most – Me or your things.
Many of you will have to give up the things of this world if you want to live for the things of the next world. YOU are strangers here. This is not your home. Many have not cared about the orphans and abused in other nations.
Many have, and will be promoted. To those who have, more responsibility will be given. And to those who have NOT been willing to forsake the ways of the world, they will be demoted and come to understand the TRUTH of My Word. For those of you that I promote, do not forget your former days! Do not yield to the same temptations to self that your predecessors have!

For in this hour, the mighty will fall, and those who have humbled themselves will be exalted! Just as the waters have overtaken many in the gulf, I will pour out My Spirit on this dry and barren land! The revival you have awaited will come in the one another's. I will bless compassion. I will bless empathy and generosity. I will not bless those who withhold what needs be given. For my storehouse is not bankrupt. You cannot out give me. I own the cattle on a thousand hills. I am Your RESOURCE and My resources are unending. This earth is groaning, and you will see the birth pangs all over the earth.

My people who are called by My name are more accountable for what they know to do when they don't do it! Those who have built their own kingdoms, will be undone. It is MY DOING. Do not blame the devil. Do not blame men.
Idolatry will be destroyed in this nation and a new foundation will be built.
Do not regard the nay sayers and the wicked who curse me, and desire to lead you away from all that is holy. Do NOT store up treasures on earth where moth and rust decay, but store up treasures in heaven. I am bringing forth jewels out of the storms. I am fashioning a people who will serve me voluntarily in the days of power. Those who have not cared about the hungry will now know hunger. Those who have cared about the hungry will have all they need, and more, to help others. LEAD THEM TO THE ROCK. And those who refuse to fall on the ROCK, will be dismayed! I AM WITH YOU IN THE STORMS. Listen for the still small voice. I will do anything for the radical lovers."

Matt 15:32 AMP Then Jesus called His disciples to Him and said, I have pity and sympathy and am deeply moved for the crowd, because they have been with Me now three days and they have nothing [at all left] to eat; and I am not willing to send them away hungry, lest they faint or become exhausted on the way.

Mark 1:40-41 AMP And a leper came to Him, begging Him on his knees and saying to Him, If You are willing, You are able to make me clean.
41 And being moved with pity and sympathy, Jesus reached out His hand and touched him, and said to him, I am willing; be made clean!

Mark 5:19 AMP But Jesus refused to permit him, but said to him, Go home to your own [family and relatives and friends] and bring back word to them of how much the Lord has done for you, and [how He has] had sympathy for you and mercy on you.

Luke 10:32-35 AMP A Levite likewise came down to the place and saw him, and passed by on the other side [of the road]. 33 But a certain Samaritan, as he traveled along, came down to where he was; and when he saw him, he was moved with pity and sympathy [for him], 34 And went to him and dressed his wounds, pouring on [them] oil and wine. Then he set him on his own beast and brought him to an inn and took care of him. 35 And the next day he took out two denarii [two day's wages] and gave [them] to the innkeeper, saying, Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, I [myself] will repay you when I return.

Rom 15:5-6 AMP Now may the God Who gives the power of patient endurance (steadfastness) and Who supplies encouragement, grant you to live in such mutual harmony and such full sympathy with one another, in accord with Christ Jesus, 6 That together you may [unanimously] with united hearts and one voice, praise and glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ (the Messiah).

2 Cor 1:3-4 AMP Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of sympathy (pity and mercy) and the God [Who is the Source] of every comfort (consolation and encouragement), 4 Who comforts (consoles and encourages) us in every trouble (calamity and affliction), so that we may also be able to comfort (console and encourage) those who are in any kind of trouble or distress, with the comfort (consolation and encouragement) with which we ourselves are comforted (consoled and encouraged) by God.

Phil 2:1-2 AMP
1 SO BY whatever [appeal to you there is in our mutual dwelling in Christ, by whatever] strengthening and consoling and encouraging [our relationship] in Him [affords], by whatever persuasive incentive there is in love, by whatever participation in the [Holy] Spirit [we share], and by whatever depth of affection and compassionate sympathy, 2 Fill up and complete my joy by living in harmony and being of the same mind and one in purpose, having the same love, being in full accord and of one harmonious mind and intention.

Crane Arm Delivering Vicki Camp

July 23rd. Just as I was falling asleep I had this brief dream-vision: I seemed to be at tree-top level looking on........ these were a thick forest of green leafy type trees. Ahead was a fairly high & mostly bare dirt/rock cliff wall - I could not see the top ground, atop that cliff.

But, protruding up and out from this cliff top was one of those giant crane arms -- like you see in freeway or building construction....... very large heavy equipment, machinery crane, but I was only able to see the long arm part of this crane, swinging out from the cliff top.

This huge crane arm (a boom ?),, swinging out and then lowering a single train car, or a cargo-container (not sure which ?) into what must have been a gully or valley between the tree tops & forest I was amongst, and that cliff off a bit in the distance in front of me. There was a clearing or valley / gully below there, I thought as I watched; a piece of cleared ground which I could not see - due to the leafy tree tops.

I awoke fully, and was pondering this scene with Lord..... what struck me and seemed 'central' was that train car. It was colored that dull brick red color of some old fashioned train cars, metal with metal crossed-bars on the side in it's design. However, I saw no wheels (?), so I was not sure if it was a train car I had seen or a cargo-container like you see being transported on ships, in ship yards, or transported on train flat-cars in our modern day (trucks too, I think ?). Either one, I knew it was a metal-container that had "cargo" that was being moved by the crane above, from that high ground to lower ground.

This metal cargo-container was plumb up and down, by it's cable connection to the crane arm, and because of it's own weight .... not swinging to and fro though, as you would expect in the natural, but smoothly being swung out and then lowered,, exactly plumb and straight.

As I have pondered this dream scene with Lord for about a week now, I have come to understand of Holy Spirit that this crane-arm is as our Lord's arm, which is now delivering to us (mankind). I was quickened to remember of Jacob's ladder, heaven to earthly access, which Jacob was shown of God in a dream- vision (Gen. 28:12).

I strongly sensed of Holy Spirit that this scene was our Lord showing in a symbol way, that HE is presently delivering some cargo afresh to us who dwell below (earth) ....from the heights of heaven (cliff top, unseen height), and this fresh cargo is contained as ALWAYS, within' His Cross (container/car side design: Cross bars), coming by and through His' blood alone (brick red color 'of old')...... being delivered by God's Grace of HIS' sovereign desire and orderly doing (plumb, straight).
My being given a viewing from the tree top level is a "prophetic view", not the whole view, but a partial view and sight. The forest trees with leaves green, speaks in the way of symbol to the full summer spread with healing glory attending. (Rev. 22:2)

The question remains in my heart and for some of you also to consider in these times,,,,,,,, What is inside this old/new container, our Lord's cargo (?) shown to me in this dream scene as coming and being delivered right now to us I believe, to His' flock of His' valley,, afresh ? To be sure as it is of God our Shepherd, it is good.

There will come a time when His' heavenly cargo offered, will no longer be extended to us 'afresh' -- when the cup of iniquity is full His' arm will deliver in fire and fury, for He is justice. As we live and breath today, rather than the 'long arm of the law' we stand under His' new Blood covenant Grace, ready to receive afresh........ How marvelous beyond measure is our God Whose arm is not shortened, nor His' promise slack to us, His' own.

I sense our Lord speaking once again, once more again to us His' Beloved ones,
" Today is the day to 'look up', open to Me your Lord and Savior; Open to My Grace cargo and gifts offered; Receive all that I have and am now delivering for you - Not tomorrow which has it's ending; Today, today,,,,,Today. "

" Behold, the LORD'S hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither His ear heavy, that it cannot hear: ..." - Is. 59:1

"Then He (Jesus) said to them, "Therefore every scribe instructed concerning the kingdom of heaven is like a householder who brings out of his treasure things new and old."" - Mt. 13:52

As for myself, I am now re-excited in desiring our Lord's new refreshing cargo's being offered and delivered from the heavenlies now as this dream-scene shown & revealed to me; more of HIM in this fullness of summer time; naturally speaking summer here,, but more importantly a spiritual season: Summer in full is the time of 'rest', His' Rest, for our seasonal work of planting is over with heavy harvest work just ahead ...... I trust we all are desiring His gifts and offerings, Christ Jesus in us,,, the more !

"You crown the year with Your goodness, And Your paths drip with abundance.
They drop on the pastures of the wilderness,
And the little hills rejoice on every side. The pastures are clothed with flocks;
The valleys also are covered with grain; They shout for joy, they also sing. " - Ps. 65:10-13

DEAD PROMISES COME ALIVE IN 2005!
~Wake Up to Old Promises ~

2 Kings 4:32-36 NKJV
When Elisha came into the house, there was the child, lying dead on his bed. He went in therefore, shut the door behind the two of them, and prayed to the LORD. And he went up and lay on the child, and put his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands; and he stretched himself out on the child, and the flesh of the child became warm. He returned and walked back and forth in the house, and again went up and stretched himself out on him; then the child sneezed seven times, and the child opened his eyes. And he called Gehazi and said, "Call this Shunammite woman." So he called her. And when she came in to him, he said, "Pick up your son."

There are many of you, like this Shunammite lady, who have been given specific divine promises you never asked for. After the Lord gave you these promises, you lived through a time when you were really stretched and trusted Him for these promises. Your faith for such was planted and well watered with confirmations from Him, only to see the promise die. If you bring these dead seeds before Him, the Lord is going to resurrect them with life. This will happen in a season of suddenlys. The process shall unfold before your very eyes, in a series of waxing warm until you finally embrace the promise that is fully alive in clear sight.

The Key: Bring the lifeless seed of God's promise and place it before Him.

AWAKENED!
In the early morning hours when time is not yet stirring,
I AM there beside you, like a gentle purring.
I whisper My secrets into your ears for My hope of your coming years.

I await with anticipation that I will be your first greeting, that you would call on Me, for our joyful meeting.
If you listen for My voice
I will answer your wish and your choice.

Listen My child, to My song.
I sing with joy over you all day long.
Hope once was lost, but now is kindling
A brighter day is here, a beautiful tomorrow is shining.

I am planting My dream into your heart
And promises for a shining future right from the start.
Let My joy settle in and put a bounce back into your step.
Let the sobers be gone, for you are divinely kept.

I love your smile, I love your humor.
I love all of you and that's no rumor.
I AM your Friend, as we walk our road,
One step at a time, we enlarge our abode.

Humble beginnings, not yet known.
Turn to radical outpouring of world renown.

Each step of enlargement is for your progress
There will be no turning back, no regress.

You are adopted, My jewel, My child!
No longer alone, your way is bought and won.
The price for you can not be measured
Your worth to Me is My deepest treasure.

From a rich heritage your future will spring
Your horizons are glorious, the angels do sing.
Armed with family and friend's commitment,
You will never, never, give up.

Your business will be their business, as you build My kingdom here.
Since you don't know when, at least you'll know where.
You are My torch to push back the dark.
Great weight you will bear because you are marked.

You shall wade in My river, My power you shall know.
You shall be My builder because I trust you so.
You keep your focus on what matters most.
Now that you are awakened, your grand opening I do toast!

You have a great big beautiful tomorrow shining in your day,
There's a great big beautiful tomorrow that's not just a dream away.
Live it out each moment with your faith, mind and heart,
We will walk together in this brand new start.

Jer 29:11-14 NKJV
For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, says the LORD, thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope. Then you will call upon Me and go and pray to Me, and I will listen to you. And you will seek Me and find Me, when you search for Me with all your heart.

FROZEN HEARTS COME ALIVE IN 2005!

~ Hopeless Hearts and Souls Will Melt in Degrees ~

Ps 147:18 NIV
He sends his word and melts them; He stirs up his breezes, and the waters flow.

Many have become numb in their hearts to protect themselves from the pain of old wounds. This has caused them to be unable to feel the Presence of God, to experience the passion of worship, to have hope for a blessed future, have meaningful relationships, and experience the joy of living His abundant life. These old wounds are soul giants that are locked within a frozen encasing unable to be drawn out for healing. The Lord will bring circumstances into these lives to warm the emotions and melt them back to life once again. This will take a lengthy season. This process started in 2004, of which about one fourth of the ice melted. The year 2005 will see additional warming of these layers. As emotions melt, this will be a pendulum of both joys and sorrows. As hope is rekindled and laughter returns, old wounds will also surface. When they do, it is time to cry out to the Lord to be released from the pain of old infections and be set free. He wants to bring healing to the wounded souls so that as a result physical bodies may be healed. It is also time to yield the emotions for Him to consecrate so they may be used for Him.

3 John 2-3 NKJV
Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers.

The Key: As the emotions come alive, give them to God to consecrate. Keep your focus on Him as the joys and the sorrows surface.

WORD TO PONDER: LET ME CONSECRATE YOUR EMOTIONS
Dear one, I realize you are being stretched to the max in your emotions and this has been a difficult time for you. I allow everything in your life for a purpose and this is no different. Your emotions have been buried beneath a pile of rubble from your past and I AM here to wash them clean. I want your soul clean so that you will prosper and be in good health. Do you understand?

Whatever you are feeling, yield it to Me as it comes to the surface. Give Me your emotion and I will consecrate it for My use and My purpose. This will bring you great joy when you have gained this freedom. You may soon discover that you receive brief glimpses into the window of another's soul through your consecrated emotions. Merely by the brief touch to your own emotion, this is a Word of Knowledge that will loose someone else's tortured pain. I would not be able to use you in this manner if your own emotions were not already dedicated to Me and made available for My use. Thank You dear one for allowing Me access.

Heb 4:15-16 AMP
For we do not have a High Priest Who is unable to understand and sympathize and have a shared feeling with our weaknesses and infirmities and liability to the assaults of temptation, but one Who has been tempted in every respect as we are, yet without sinning. Let us then fearlessly and confidently and boldly draw near to the throne of grace (the throne of God's unmerited favor to us sinners), that we may receive mercy [for our failures] and find grace to help in good time for every need [appropriate help and well-timed help, coming just when we need it].

JOB'S RESTORATION COME ALIVE IN 2005!
~ Job Prays for His Friends ~

Job 42:10 NKJV
And the LORD restored Job's losses when he prayed for his friends. Indeed the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before.

Since 1989, in various degrees, there have been some chosen ones like Job, who have gone through some serious testings. They were brought before the throne room and accused by the enemy. They were given over to a lengthy season of great suffering for which few had understanding. These chosen ones have maintained their integrity and their faith in God as Sovereign, in spite of their circumstances. Many of these faithful ones have been reduced to a life of prayer simply because that is all they could do. They are already functioning in their awesome gift of authority to release others who are not innocent. These praying ones are moving on in 2005 to begin the double fold restoration of all they lost. Others will awaken to the authority in their prayers and they will be fueled to pray more and more for others and this will be seed planted for their own release and restoration.

Job 22:27-30 NKJV
You will make your prayer to Him, He will hear you, and you will pay your vows. You will also declare a thing, and it will be established for you; So light will shine on your ways. When they cast you down, and you say, 'Exaltation will come!' Then He will save the humble person. He will even deliver one who is not innocent; Yes, he will be delivered by the purity of your hands."

The Key: Pray, pray, pray.

WORD TO PONDER: JOB'S CAPTIVITY AND FORTUNE TO BE RESTORED
My Beloved Child, even before you knew Me, I chose you before you were born. You were marked with My mark of separation, of distinction, of being separated like cream which rises to the top; to be separated and consecrated, holy unto Me, set apart for My service. The enemy can not touch those who are engraved with My mark. He must seek My permission.

In your case, I said yes, with great restraints in place. As all of heaven listened while the enemy accused you, I gave you the honor of standing before Me, in the presence of the heaven's hosts and before your enemies. I honored you before all who witnessed, for it was in your humble repentance and agreement with the accusations, it was in your yielding your heart and motives to Me, that I gained the glory of showing to all, why I chose you.

My Child, the honor you have given Me was even greater than that. Few men have the faith to embrace the story of Job and accept that I AM God, and I say yes to stories such as yours. It is your heart to say yes to Me, to embrace all of Me and My desires, no matter what the cost, no matter what the loss. It is your faith, that no matter what, continues to stand and trust Me that I AM your Good Father, I AM the One Who holds your life and I AM the One Who loves you with an everlasting love. It is your faith, My Child, that has given Me honor before all of My enemies, and before all the heavenly hosts. Yes they are My enemies, and that is why the enemy threw his best shot at you. He knows how much I love you and how greatly I honor you with My mark of distinction upon your life.

I have disconnected you from this court case of satan. I will not allow him to keep pounding and pulverizing you in the refining process. You have yet to really know the rewards of such a test, - such a stand. Every place your feet will tread, shall be yours. As you walk forth into your inheritance I will place the fear and dread of you upon the enemy. They are frightened and humiliated. They realize that what I have allowed to touch your life is My work and you have the Sovereign One helping you. You shall rejoice in all that you put your hands to do. My blessing is upon you and your household.

Within your mark of distinction, is a mark of holy authority. All hell trembles before a holy vessel. You already know that you are not holy in yourself, it is I Who consecrates you. I know your heart as you seek to line up to please Me. I place My seal upon you, My Child, My chosen one, the one who I love with an everlasting love. Come before Me and stand in My Presence. I want to hear you. I want to hear your requests for those who are not innocent. I want to hear your intercessions for those who dare compromise My grace. They do not know Me nor do they listen. You, My Child, I will listen to and give My ear. Thank you for accepting all of Me, even when you do not understand. As you have given Me this great honor before all My enemies, I return this honor to you, My favored Child. Thank you.

Job 30 NKJV
He will even deliver one who is not innocent; Yes, he will be delivered by the purity of your hands."

Job 42: 8b-9 NKJV
My servant Job shall pray for you. For I will accept him, lest I deal with you according to your folly; because you have not spoken of Me what is right, as My servant Job has." So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did as the LORD commanded them; for the LORD had accepted Job.10 And the LORD restored Job's losses when he prayed for his friends. Indeed the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before.

Eph 3:8-12 NKJV
To me, who am less than the least of all the saints, this grace was given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ, and to make all see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the ages has been hidden in God who created all things through Jesus Christ; to the intent that now the manifold wisdom of God might be made known by the church to the principalities and powers in the heavenly places, according to the eternal purpose which He accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord, in whom we have boldness and access with confidence through faith in Him.

JOSEPH COME ALIVE IN 2005!

Ps 105:15-20 NKJV
Saying, "Do not touch My anointed ones, and do My prophets no harm." Moreover He called for a famine in the land; He destroyed all the provision of bread. He sent a man before them -- Joseph -- who was sold as a slave. They hurt his feet with fetters, He was laid in irons. Until the time that his word came to pass, the word of the LORD tested him. The king sent and released him, the ruler of the people let him go free.

Leaders of great authority have gone through lifelong testings and preparations to be prepared for end time positioning. They have lived through divine setups of God's Sovereignty and lived to tell about it on the other side. Their zeal, ambition, servanthood, humility, integrity and leadership skills have been purged and prepared to walk into becoming provisions for the body of Christ. Many of these Josephs shall reign in the business community as sources to release provision for jobs and income. Other Josephs shall impart spiritual provision of bread for the hungry souls. Other Josephs shall be released to literally provide for the homeless and the poor. Other Josephs shall move forward into deliverance ministries where they will free the famined souls. In the year 2005 the vision and plan for implementation shall come alive. These Josephs shall be supernaturally protected, favored and set up by the King of kings to begin to build their places ordained by God.

The Key: Use the character testings of your past as memorial stones to build your place that is foreordained by God.

WORD TO PONDER: MAKE ROOM FOR JOSEPH
Like Joseph, you went into captivity when you shared your dream with your brethren. Your innocent trust was betrayed and you have suffered years because of this. Dear one, what the enemy intended for evil, I meant it for good. I allowed the circumstances in your life to train and prepare you for this day. Yes it is time. Walk out of captivity and share your wealth. The many gifts I have given you will make a way for you. You will have fellowship and replacement of what you have lost. All that you have will be cherished and no longer scorned. I shall honor you with My mantle, My delegated authority and glory. Go now and become the deliverer who I have promised you to be. Provide for and set My people free.

Prov 18:16 KJV
"A man's gift maketh room for him, and bringeth him before great men."

Gen 41:40-43 NKJV
"And Pharaoh said to Joseph, "See, I have set you over all the land of Egypt." Then Pharaoh took his signet ring off his hand and put it on Joseph's hand; and he clothed him in garments of fine linen and put a gold chain around his neck."

JEWELS COME ALIVE IN 2005!
~ God's Buried Treasures Will Appear ~

Mal 3:14-18 NLT
"You have said, `What's the use of serving God? What have we gained by obeying his commands or by trying to show the LORD Almighty that we are sorry for our sins? From now on we will say, "Blessed are the arrogant." For those who do evil get rich, and those who dare God to punish them go free of harm.' " Then those who feared the LORD spoke with each other, and the LORD listened to what they said. In his presence, a scroll of remembrance was written to record the names of those who feared him and loved to think about him. "They will be my people," says the LORD Almighty. "On the day when I act, they will be my own special treasure. I will spare them as a father spares an obedient and dutiful child. Then you will again see the difference between the righteous and the wicked, between those who serve God and those who do not."

There is a remnant within Christianity who yet mourn the compromising of God's grace in all the areas of society, church and government. They have chosen to remain steadfast in obedience to the Lord. This year, a line of distinction between the righteous and the unrighteous will become more clear as judgments upon carnal living become more and more evident. Having been deluged by the darkness around them, this remnant of God's people are like buried treasures in the sands of time. He will draw them up, dust them off and mark them with His favor and distinction. His favor will shine and make them come alive in 2005. It will be their prayers that spiritually and physically save the unrighteous from reaping the folly of their wicked deeds.

The Key: Live in holy obedience resisting the carnal compromise of the world.

WORD TO PONDER: FAITH MULTIPLIED INTO JOY AND POWER
Precious ones, heaven smiles upon you as you put feet to your faith and literally walk out what you believe. A little bit of faith goes a long way. As you apply faith to your walk and also go through death to self, I always multiply your mustard like seeds of faith. I have adorned your walk with diamond studded jewels. From places you have been, golden memorial stones have been planted in your garden.

Do not look backwards at your sorrows of loss dear ones. Do not personalize areas where you have walked into death to self and granted Me Lordship over your life. You are NOT bad. As you have yielded all to Me, I see only exemplary behavior from your lessons, sometimes so difficult to learn. My priceless ones, from My loving hand, I see only advancement for you, along with future joy. In that day, as you remember those special walks of faith, you will notice that I have wired these memorial stones with My power. These stones shine all the way up to heaven and will become your delight as your walk of faith is transformed into your walk of power.

There is one essential thing that you need in walking through the threshold of this great field ready to be taken…. Make sure that your feet are shod with peace. You must learn the secret of truly resting upon Me, letting My Word carry you where you place all your weight into My strong arms of love. As you feel the warmth of My embrace, I shall flood your body, soul and spirit with peace and you shall come into the rest I have prepared for you since the beginning. This walk shall put all of the enemy under foot. Then allow Me to carry you into the Voice of many waters, where My Presence goes to the nations. As you jump into My arms, My Presence shall bubble forth inside and all around you.

…and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace.

Rom 16:20 NKJV
And the God of peace will crush Satan under your feet shortly.

Isa 52:7 NKJV
How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good news, who proclaims peace, who brings glad tidings of good things, who proclaims salvation, who says to Zion, "Your God reigns!"

VISION TO REBUILD, COME ALIVE IN 2005!

Acts 15:15-17 NKJV
And with this the words of the prophets agree, just as it is written: 'After! this I will return And will rebuild the tabernacle of David, which has fallen down; I will rebuild its ruins, And I will set it up; So that the rest of mankind may seek the LORD, even all the Gentiles who are called by My name, says the LORD who does all these things.'

Lost in years of hopeless decay and being the tail and not the head, the church has fallen and become the object of scorn and ridicule. Without a vision, the people perish and the Lord is going to give you a vision, a hope, a plan, a road map, an idea, a mindset, a perspective, a clear view of HOW TO COME OUT OF CAPTIVITY. He is answering years of prayers where you have cried out over the losses and captivities in your personal lives, families, churches, businesses, finances, relationships, health, schools, government, military, towns, etc. He is going to give you a future and a hope. He is going to enlighten the hearts and minds of His people and give them the grace to plan a plan that can be implemented and built upon in the coming years. Gentlemen, we shall rebuild. GLORY!

The Key: Ask Him for your personal plan, the way out of captivity and into prosperity.

WORD TO PONDER: VISION TO REBUILD
Ask Me, says the Lord. Ask Me for a plan, for your plan of release. I want to give you a road map of how to rebuild your life. I want to rebuild you body, soul and spirit. I want you to prosper and become the head and not the tail. I want you to be so rich in My good gifts that you become My living light and resource to all those who are dying around you. I want your life to be so well constructed that you will be My rock and My refuge for those who are caught in the storms of the world. I want you to be so full of My abundant life that My Presence through you literally rebuilds your neighborhood, your church, your work place, your town, your city, your country and your nation into a tabernacle of My Presence. Take back your land people, take it back.

First ask Me for My plan for your own personal life. Then ask Me for ears to hear that plan when I send it. Ask Me for the heart to receive that plan. Ask Me for confirmations after I send it. Ask Me that the plan will become planted deeply into the sifted and plowed soil of your faith. Ask Me for these things. And then when your plan comes, you will know it is from Me and will be given the grace to walk it out.

Prov 29:18 KJV
Where there is no vision, the people perish: but he that keepeth the law, happy is he.

Ps 2:7-8 NKJV
I will declare the decree: The LORD has said to Me, 'You are My Child, today I have begotten You. Ask of Me, and I will give You the nations for Your inheritance, and the ends of the earth for Your possession.

NEW FRESH GROWTH, COME ALIVE IN 2005!
~ The Color Green ~

Isa 43:18-19 NKJV
Do not remember the former things, nor consider the things of old. Behold, I will do a new thing, now it shall spring forth; Shall you not know it? I will even make a road in the wilderness and rivers in the desert.

The color green will be highlighted and quickened this year. Green represents new growth, fresh start, prosperity, financial provision and preparation for fruit yet to come. This will be likened unto the fresh green growth on the tips of evergreen trees in the spring, along with the buds on all trees after a long winter's hibernation. It will represent new beginnings and hope when things come alive once again, bringing with it great anticipation for a future and a hope.

The Key: When you see the color green this year, let it remind you of His awesome promise to rebuild your life with new beginnings and a fresh start.

WORD TO PONDER: FRESH STARTS
Dear one, I AM bringing you out of the long hard winter season of your life. Look for the budding forth of My promises. Move forward into your fresh start. I will grant you new perspectives, new vision, new gifts, new plans, new friends, new provision, new approaches to get where I want you to go. Look now for the buds to appear in your life. I AM rebuilding your life into a rich and fruitful basket of provision.

Song 7:10-13 NLT
"I am my lover's, the one he desires. Come, my love, let us go out into the fields and spend the night among the wildflowers. Let us get up early and go out to the vineyards. Let us see whether the vines have budded, whether the blossoms have opened, and whether the pomegranates are in flower. And there I will give you my love. There the mandrakes give forth their fragrance, and the rarest fruits are at our doors, the new as well as old, for I have stored them up for you, my lover."

Breakthrough On The Cutting Edge
Sandy Warner

Dec 27, 2004

Trust Me, as I bring you to the cutting edge, where the power of My love is tested to its limits. It is true that when I bring a bonded unity, it multiplies strength in numbers. As I yoke you together with other believers it makes the load much lighter to bear for all. Dare to love and follow My lead. I will kindle your hearts with passion as you go for the gold.

You are My army, connected two at a time, marching together in a holy union. Yes, the cutting edge is taking land. And sometimes, yes, there are low blows. As one unit, learn to roll over with the punches, like two wheels on an axle. It's OK, you will always land on your feet as you roll over in humility and trust Me to upright you once again.

I have given you a loaded weapon and am training you how to use it. As you have yielded to Me and dared to love on this cutting edge, I shall greatly multiply your declarations, decisions and life's events, right on through to breakthrough.

Ps 133 AMP
BEHOLD, HOW good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!
It is like the precious ointment poured on the head, that ran down on the beard, even the beard of Aaron [the first high priest], that came down upon the collar and skirts of his garments [consecrating the whole body]. [Ex 30:25,30.] It is like the dew of [lofty] Mount Hermon and the dew that comes on the hills of Zion; for there the Lord has commanded the blessing, even life forevermore [upon the high and the lowly].

The Secret Place Belongs To My Friends
Sandy Warner

Dec 26, 2004
Come forth My love, into the spotlight My dove. For you are grafted this day, whether near or far away. I will fight for your battles. At one with Me is what matters.

A pleasure to keep you in My trust. The secrets, the mysteries, it's a must. Always abiding, safely confiding. Surrounded and hidden with no more striving.

Tune into My heart and listen at one. It is My work within you that has begun. My pleasure, My joy is to give you the keys. To unlock the closed places that matter to Me.

The secrets are waiting, to be disclosed. No matter what happens, I am your repose. Lean upon My bosom to receive your rest; listen to My heartbeat after passing your test.

Others want access without passing their own; their hearts are not tuned, their ears are not honed.

1 Cor 2:7 KJV
But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory:

Luke 8:10 KJV
And he said, Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God: but to others in parables; that seeing they might not see, and hearing they might not understand.

Be Still
Sandy Warner

Jan 2, 2005

OK Lord. I've quieted my heart, I've quieted my soul.
I've laid everything down that has taken its toll.
I give You my time to be still before You.
Please open my ears to hear something new.

I wait before You at this crossroads in life
A season has closed, I let go of my strife.
Be still oh my soul and wait before Him.
His small voice will surface as noise grows dim.

Surrounded in peace as I lay upon my bed
All cares are gone as I seek Him instead.
Come oh Dove, the One Whom I seek.
Whisper Your heart, please come and speak.

Your people are troubled in masses of care.
They need extra help to know You are there.
They want a Word for the season to come.
They desire assurance from Your kingdom.

I call upon You, my heavenly Source
It's not about them, it's about You, of course
So what do You have to say, this new day?
As I lay here before You, lingering to stay.

Your peace surrounds me as we become one.
I am received as You say well done.
Please let Your Words flow to my ears
As we commune together throughout our years.

Ps 4:3-4 NKJV
But know that the LORD has set apart for Himself him who is godly; The LORD will hear when I call to Him. Be angry, and do not sin. Meditate within your heart on your bed, and be still.

1 Kings 19:11-13 NKJV
Then He said, "Go out, and stand on the mountain before the LORD." And behold, the LORD passed by, and a great and strong wind tore into the mountains and broke the rocks in pieces before the LORD, but the LORD was not in the wind; and after the wind an earthquake, but the LORD was not in the earthquake; and after the earthquake a fire, but the LORD was not in the fire; and after the fire a still small voice. So it was, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle and went out and stood in the entrance of the cave. Suddenly a voice came to him, and said, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

It Takes Two

Dec 31, 2004

My love is limitless. It knows no boundaries in all of heaven and all of earth. Deep within the heart of men, when their wills keep Me at bay, I AM relentless to break through their walls. I will knock, and knock and knock and knock. Yet finally, because I know their level of resistance, I will back away and approach them at their own level of need for Me. I want to reach them more, I want to connect on deeper levels but it is to the exact degree of their own passion and fears that they open wide their mouth for Me to fill. Because of their lack of passion, the mouth of their hearts can only stretch so far, so then much of what is sent ends up being cast aside. When they grow hungrier for Me, I will again meet them at their level of need. This is similar to famines and fastings that make a starving soul ripe and ready for anything we can give them.

Amos 8:11 KJV
Behold, the days come, saith the Lord GOD, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the LORD:

To Pilot Your Pilot Light
Sandy Warner

Dec 29, 2004
When your candle is lit and for the first time, you feel the wind in your sails, it bursts you into flaming blaze. This is My desire over you and for you, My bride! I yearn over you with great desire that you come into My arms and be equally yoked with Me. I never want your fervor to grow lukewarm or cold, I always desire My love for you to be reciprocated!

It is radical when you first experience the light of My zeal bursting you forth towards heaven like a flaming rocket. If you can, allow Me to remain the Pilot of your flame. The wind of My Presence knows the perfect velocity to pilot your light to the right hue and height. If you pilot your own flame, you will be overcome with such strong passion all at once that you will quickly burn out. Let holy passion rise and fall with the wind of My Presence. Let passion burst forth in delight as I re-kindle your fire! Now let My Spirit arise in your life, let Me burst into flame, My bride, My wife!

Ps 104:3-4 NLT
You make the clouds your chariots; you ride upon the wings of the wind. The winds are your messengers; flames of fire are your servants.

Changes Are In The Air
Shirley Lise

Changes are in the air. I am lifting you out of the old and establishing you in the new. I am shaking off the last particles of the dust of the Earth and delivering you from its barrenness. I am giving you a new hope and setting your feet upon higher ground. What you valued in the flesh nature will no longer hold you captive, for I am raising you up in this day into the high calling and into Heavenly places. So understand that a ripping away of the old is taking pace and a grieving for the past, but soon, you will be on higher ground, on a higher plane in the Spirit where you will see things from a new perspective.

On this higher plane you will triumph over every injustice. You will not be held back by the lusts of the flesh, but you will triumph over them. In this place, relationships will take on a whole new dimension. You will see them in the light of the Spirit and will no longer be hindered by soul ties of a fleshly nature. I am doing this new thing among you. I am severing ties with the world and lifting you up into Heavenly perspective where your judgment of people, places, and events will change as you look on from above.

I will not leave you desolate. I will come and nurture you with food from Heavenly places. I will feed you with My delicacies. I will broaden your perspective and give you greater vision and greater understanding of events taking place. I am raising your sights off the things of the Earth and giving you understanding from a Heavenly perspective, for soon you will come into the full stature of Christ, seated with Him in Heavenly places so that you are able to rule with Him in things pertaining to the Earth.

Enlighten your understanding. Come into agreement with My will. Understand that I have done a great work to bring those who are Mine into position in My kingdom, that I have been releasing kingdom authority in this day and preparing My Own to reign and rule with Me. Be willing to let Me complete the process of removing the Earthly nature and replacing it with a Heavenly nature, the nature of the risen Christ.

The Dawn of Breakthrough
Shirley Lise

Anticipate change. I am changing the flow of things. Those things that have been dammed up will be let loose. You will experience great anticipation as I move you out of the comfort zone and into a free flow of things.

I am taking you on in the Spirit, into realms of greater depth and intimacy with Me. Do not despise the day of small beginnings. I will be moving swiftly to take down the high places and raise up the low. Keep focused on the job at hand, on the work given you to do. Do not waver. Do not lose heart, for I am about to bring great blessing your way. I am about to give you the desires of your heart, to move you into circles where the flow of My Spirit will be free. I am asking you to co-operate with the vision given, to allow Me to guide and direct affairs. You are closer to your destiny than before. There is a new understanding that I am releasing in this day. You will flow with the work of the Spirit. I will gird you up and make a display of My splendor through the works of your hands.

Take care to observe the cues given to bring you out of the old and into the new. You will come to understand that nothing and no one will be able to deter what I am doing. Just as I promised, I am moving you into the full revelation of My coming. There is no turning back, no reversal. You are being carried on and into the new thing I am doing, into the work I have laid out. This is the day of fulfillment. This is the day when I shall come through with the word given concerning the work and the vision. This is the time of the fulfillment of dreams and visions.

I have given My Beloved the tools to build. They shall rebuild the ancient ruins. Prepare for the new thing. Do not despise the day of beginnings. When things begin to roll, there will be a great movement to accomplish My end-time plan and agenda. Be faithful. Keep believing, even at times when all evidence points to the opposite. I will give you the ability to bide the time till refreshing comes. I will guide you and direct you and take you into areas of expertise fitting the cause. I am the author and perfector of faith. I will perfect My will and way in your midst.

Gain ground. Take precedence. Onto deeper and better things! I am taking you into the depths of My Spirit. I shall gather the people and dwell within their midst. Already, revival fires are burning. You will see them in your midst. The people shall be drawn by the brightness of the light within you. You will see that I am faithful. Carry the light. Light the flame of passion in the hearts of the people. Know that I have given you the means by which you shall draw them unto Me. Do not doubt the mandate. You will see results soon. You will see the ingathering taking place in your midst. I have assigned angels to guide and direct affairs.

This is the dawn of breakthrough. I will give you the ability to venture out into unknown waters. I shall give you the ability to break ground and take ground in My name. I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in Me will find life. So be faithful to the call. Gather where you have not sown. Take in the harvest. Power from on high is yours to bring the captives into liberty. Just as I promised, My power has come. I will bring wholeness to those who are shattered. There is a promise to be given to all those who grieve......I will bring healing to every wound!

The Three Campaigns

A prophecy by Bill Somers

"Now Elisha was fallen sick of his sickness whereof he died. And Joash the king of Israel came down unto him, and wept over his face, and said, O my father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof. And Elisha said unto him, Take bow and arrows. And he took unto him bow and arrows. And he said to the king of Israel, Put thine hand upon the bow. And he put his hand upon it: and Elisha put his hands upon the king's hands. And he said, Open the window eastward. And he opened it. Then Elisha said, Shoot. And he shot. And he said, The arrow of the LORD'S deliverance, and the arrow of deliverance from Syria: for thou shalt smite the Syrians in Aphek, till thou have consumed them. And he said, Take the arrows. And he took them. And he said unto the king of Israel, Smite upon the ground. And he smote thrice, and stayed. And the man of God was wroth with him, and said, Thou shouldest have smitten five or six times; then hadst thou smitten Syria till thou hadst consumed it: whereas now thou shalt smite Syria but thrice." (2 Kings 13:14-19)
"And Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz took again out of the hand of Benhadad the son of Hazael the cities, which he had taken out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father by war. Three times did Joash beat him, and recovered the cities of Israel." (2 Kings 13:25)

In the above passage, the Lord established a pattern for victory which he repeats again in the New Testament. The way to describe or characterize this pattern is this. He grants three victorious campaigns against the enemy. In this context they are historic military campaigns, but they are also prophetic types of future spiritual campaigns, against spiritual enemies.
There are three sets of three victorious campaigns. In other words this pattern of three victories in the natural, is a pattern to be fulfilled three times in the spiritual. Two of them are found in the New Testament, the third is yet to come.
The first of these spiritual campaigns is found in the three and one half year ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ, the forerunner of the Church.
The second of the three is found in the three missionary journeys of Paul, a type of the Church.
The third will be found in the end time harvest of the Church.
Without going into exhaustive detail on the first two, I just ask you to recall that many editions of the Bible will have maps in the back. Most always these maps include the three journeys of Jesus around Palestine, and Paul's three missionary voyages. Both of these represent three victorious campaigns against enemy territory. The enemy territory, in Jesus case, was the lands frequented by Jews of Galilee and Judea. For Paul, it was the known world of Greek and Roman civilization.
For the Church of today and the end times we are entering into, enemy territory is the entire world!

The Prophecy.
Just as ancient Israel enjoyed three victorious campaigns against her enemies.
And just and the Lord Jesus carried out three victorious campaigns against His enemies.
And just as Paul's voyages represent three victorious campaigns against the enemy.
The Lord has shown me that His Church will experience:
THREE GREAT WAVES OF WORLD EVANGELIZATION during the end time harvest.
This will represent the final set of three victorious campaigns and will be the final fulfillment of the pattern set down in 2nd Kings 13.

Christmas and The One New Man Of Peace
Kluane Spake

www.kluane.org spake@mindspring.com

Here we are, once again, at Christmas time and most of us are unable to find the fullness of that longed for Promised Peace. Seems more and more that we are surrounded by a social system stirred with storms of war and terrorism.

Many have searched for peace. In memory of his soldier son who had died in the war, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote these famous words:
I heard the bells on Christmas day
Their old familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet the words repeat
Of PEACE on earth, good will to men.

*How can we find peace? Jesus li*ved and died to establish many realities that stretch even beyond the salvation of our soul. Among many reasons, He died to create a new society upon this earth – one that is able to dwell in His presence and embrace His PEACE in our hearts in this world (Lk. 2:10, 11, 14). Even amidst the turmoil of this hour, Jesus is our only PEACE.

DIVISIONS and discord have long existed. Archeologists explain the temple court in the New Testament times as having an elevated platform for the priests, with separated sections for the men and women. On the other side, the Gentiles were able to peer through.

How can we find peace between us? We loose our peace when we build walls between us. Walls of difference. Walls of social distinction. Walls defined by economic distinction. Walls of tradition and diverse doctrine.

Many years ago, I did a funeral for a member of our church. His family members came and wept beside the casket – but when it was time for me to bring forth the service; everyone walked out of the room. Oh Jesus -- is that how You feel? Differing doctrines can cause much heartache. I know that many of you have experienced some sort of prejudicial treatment in your life. Even the memories of those times reawaken pain.

Paul explains that those who were afar off are bought near. "For He IS OUR PEACE because he has made both ONE, and hath broken down the middle wall partition between us. We see here a church without walls -- it is a new dimension. Ephesians 2:15 continues to say that God created the One New Man when He broke down (abolished, took down) the middle wall of partition and abolished IN HIS FLESH the ENMITY which separated.

Why?

In order to make the TWO ONE. Jesus takes away all divisions of class, gender, and race (Eph 2:14-22) The BODY of Christ consists of those who have allowed the walls of separation to be removed. This is a NEW CREATION --a marvelous wonder that has not existed before -- people without divisions and without hostility.

Just as Adam and his wife were joined to make “one flesh,” this new creation process happens again -- only this time Jesus makes ONE NEW MAN out of all of us – we are becoming a new kind of ONE FLESH (Eph. 2:15, 5:31, Gen. 2:24).

For those God foreknew, He also predestined to be conformed to His likeness. It’s our assignment to “put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10). We put it on – it doesn’t hop up and dress us!

For many, trying to encounter their new identity in Christ causes a super identity crisis! Of course, we can still take pleasure in and value our cultural diversity. But, diversity must not be allowed to become a barrier that separates us from those who are unlike us. Thankfully, we don't have to become LIKE each other. We all need to become LIKE Christ.

Keep in mind that Abraham was commanded to leave his land, his people group, and his idolatrous family -- and in like manner, we must now also join our new family unit, which is the household of God and a new Kingdom and a holy nation.

DOCTRINES DIVIDE:

The full awareness of Christ's redemptive work is denied any action that prevents us from demonstrating the Kingdom. We can’t just put a Band-Aid on a failed religious system. We can never find unity by agreeing with diverse doctrines or by insisting on the continuance of archaic ritualistic systems.

Paul never intended for Gentiles to act like Jews -- The Gentiles didn't have to observe the Jewish holidays, laws, or traditions. All of us are birthed into a NEW Creation that dwells in a NEW KINGDOM! Jesus ALREADY reconciled us "both in ONE BODY to God through the cross" (Eph. 2:14-16)

Clinging to hierarchical systems of religion causes blood war feuds (enmity). Remember, our identity in Christ becomes our peace! He has already MADE us ONE in His flesh! Again it is restated in Eph. 2:16 "And that He might reconcile BOTH unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the ENMITY thereby." That means -- NO ETHNIC, CLASS, OR GENDER DISTINCTIONS.

Jesus stated a particularly relevant prophecy concerning these times, "Nation shall rise up against nation and kingdom against kingdom." The word translated “nation” is the Greek word “ethnos” – in other words, in this WORLD there would be great divisions and struggles along ethnic lines.

Our exclusive identity in the flesh (whether it be racial, or cultural) is simply based on inherited characteristics. Nevertheless, these strong emotional bonds can cause a strong influence upon our preferences and allegiances – and this fleshly identity causes discrimination.

When Jesus was told that his mother and brothers were waiting to see Him, He replied, “Who is my mother, and who are my brothers?” Pointing to his disciples, he said, “HERE are my mother and my brothers. For whoever does the will of my Father in heaven is my brother and sister and mother” (Matthew 12:48).

Therefore, defining ourselves merely as American Christians, a Spanish Church, Jewish Christians, Black Christians, White Christians, etc. are all oxymorons in the intention of God. Together we have already become a new creature; old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new (2 Cor. 5:17). We become members together of a new family that is neither Jew or Gentile -- but a New Race. Not rich or poor. Not black or white, but a New Race. Not slave or free. Not men or women, but a new race that is all one (Gal. 3:28). We become the "family of God."

We discover PEACE when we apprehend this new spiritual race in Christ.

Paul told believers that they were “stupid” and bewitched by a religious Galatian-ism which separated believers with prejudices (Gal. 3:1). Paul later commanded believers, “Do not lie to one another, since you have put off the old man with his deeds, and have put on the new man who is renewed in knowledge according to the image of Him who created him, where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcised nor uncircumcised, barbarian, Scythian, slave nor free, but Christ is ALL IN ALL” (Col. 3:9-11 NKJ). These external definitions are what we are in the flesh.

"For we… put no confidence or dependence [on what we are] in the FLESH and on outward privileges and physical advantages and external appearances." (Philippians 3:3 AMP)

The problem has always been that we see ourselves as individuals within our own unique identity, rather than as the corporate "New Man." The ultimate goal is for people groups to experience redemption together under the same covenant. This is the mystery revealed – our new identity. The GREAT MYSTERY, God’s secret, is that Christ in US (together) is the hope of Glory - that secret is now revealed. That revelation of who we are together gives us PEACE. When we come into Christ, we take on His identity. Christ IN US.

PEACE COMES AS WE BECOME THE ANSWER TO THIS GREAT MYSTERY.

Becoming one is not for us to act identically, but for us to be conformed to His image. The finished work declares that we no longer bare the likeness of fallen Adam, but now we bare the likeness of the man from heaven (1 Cor. 15:49, 2 Cor. 3:18). The veil has been torn; the final plan of the kingdom is finally revealed; and we become the bridal company, the full grown son, the heavenly assembly, the FIRSTBORN sons (Heb. 12:18).

We find peace in this dispensation of the Finished Work by realizing that God already has delivered us out of bondage. He has baptized us into Christ and set us into the Promised Land where there are no dividing walls.

The question remains. Will we pursue that promise and fulfill it? Twelve spies with an evil report wandered for 40 years in evil unbelief and without rest. BUT, look at what happened to those that dared to believe (Num.14:33). Those who are like Caleb, go up at once and possess the inheritance. The obtaining of the blessings of God fills us with PEACE.

WHAT DOES THIS NEW CREATION WHO IS ONE MAN LOOK LIKE?

The NEW MAN has been given positional advantage. The term “ONE NEW MAN” is not gender defined. In fact, the word “MAN” (anthropos) indicates a human being – and this word new comes from the Greek word that means with OPEN EYES!

This one (united) New Man is a living organism who is FITLY FRAMED TOGETHER, BLESSED WITH ALL SPIRITUAL BLESSINGS and UNSEARCHABLE RICHES of CHRIST (Eph.1:3, 2:6, 22, 2:19, 2 Cor. 5:17-19). Every joint is knit together; every part does its share (Eph 4:16).

In every way the BODY of Christ is NEW! (“kainos" of a new kind, unprecedented, novel, uncommon, unheard of. It is innovative, fresh, alive, eager, and vitally different.) This world has never seen a people respond in loving UNITY like this. The world anxiously waits to see someone who no longer responds as the fallen human. Where is this FIRSTFRUIT assembly walking in dominion together? Peace, Peace. Together, we reverse the effects of the enmity of the Fall. We come into the image and covenant of the Last Adam.

How DO WE APPREHEND THIS NEW CREATION?

My friend, will we only be acquainted with one another only after the flesh (2 Corinthians 5:16-17) or will we discover one another in the Spirit? We must perceive this truth as a present truth finished work.

PEACE on EARTH and GOOD WILL to MEN appears as this NEW CREATION moves toward our INHERITANCE of a HEAVENLY KINGDOM on earth. PEACE comes when we realize that we are CHOSEN IN HIM BEFORE THE FOUNDATION OF THE WORLD (Eph. 1:4) to live in this time!
PEACE
PEACE comes as we see Christ "Face to Face" in the earth right now as the corporate expression of our relationship in Him.

The word "peace" (NT:1515 “eirene”) can also translated as prosperity. Let’s go back and read this whole thing again and insert the real meaning of PROSPERITY. True prosperity is the Gospel of peace.

And so my friend, we gather -- even as the Jewish shepherds and Oriental Magi gathered together to adore and worship the Christ child, we remember how the angels sang “peace on earth” at the birth of Jesus. The Christ brings increasing PEACE as we as ONE NEW MAN forsake all ethnic, social, gender, and political prejudices that separate. The divine plan of worldwide redemption has now been revealed.

This Christmas, let us stand together in Christ, who is our LIFE and realize that "That which is perfect has come." Lord God, we love Your appearing. We would see Jesus...

Come Away With Me!"

"Come away with Me! Leave behind your burdens, and everything that competes with Me for your attention and devotion. I have called you to come up to the high places, where the air is pure and undefiled. I have called you to walk the narrow road, and to keep your eyes fully fixed on Me and the things of the Kingdom. Let the sound of those things that clamor for your attention grow dim and the sound of My voice become more clear as you seek Me in the quiet places. In solitude and in silence you shall find Me. I have called you to cease from your scurrying and your busyness and to walk with Me by the still waters. I am training you to hear My voice, draw closer so you can hear My smallest whisper. Your single-eyed devotion is precious to Me. Run to Me My children, and allow Me to wash off the pollution that you have acquired from living in the world. Let Me gather you up under My wings and shelter you from the storm that is brewing. Place your hand in Mine and let us walk together. You sometimes feel that your life is like a minefield, but do not fear for I know the way, I know the safe path for you to traverse. Stay close to Me and you shall not falter, you shall not make a misstep.

I have called My Church to be salt and light, to be grace and truth. Allow Me to season the world through you, to show them that indeed when they taste and see - they shall know that the Lord is good. I have called you to be a light in the darkness, not just a flickering flame but a torch ablaze. I have chosen you to be a messenger of My grace, for as My grace has been extended to you, so you have partaken and been transformed. I am the TRUTH, and I commission you as heralds of that truth this hour."

Appointed and anointed from this hour
Appointed and anointed with My power
To display My truth thru the actions you do
To reveal My love thru the words that you speak

Appointed and anointed from this hour
Appointed and anointed with My power
To extend My grace thru the hands that reach out
To shine My light in a glory filled lamp

Appointed and anointed from this hour
Appointed and anointed with My power
To salt the world with the seasoning of Christ
Deliver the captives and break unholy chains

Appointed and anointed from this hour
Appointed and anointed with My power
Go from this place and change the world
Turn it once again upside down

Clarion Call To Avert West Coast Disaster

Burdell Austin

For several years many of you have been getting words of warning, dreams, and visions of an earthquake and tsunami in this region [U.S. West Coast]. I join many who sense it is time to mobilize an army of worshiping warriors, who will go before the Lord in humility for those sins committed on the land that give legal right to the adversary to perform acts of violence. As we hear from the Lord regarding specific repentance needed to cleanse the land, we will then have the blood-bought authority of the name of Jesus Christ to declare the very earth itself redeemed, no longer under the curse.

I believe that it is the adversary's desire to "steal the vineyard." He knows what the Lord has said regarding the West. We are on the verge of an unprecedented move of God that will release the message that the Kingdom of God is indeed at hand, and signs and wonders will follow.

The last thing that Dutch Sheets said at the 50 State Tour gathering in Everett, Washington in December of 2003 was, "Washington is shifting into a new season. You are pregnant with something new: a fresh revelation of Christ, a fresh ability to present Him. He is going to break out in your midst in a new way and be conceived in you. Begin to pray that Jesus is coming to the church of Washington and you are going to conceive the fullness of Christ. You are going to be able to minister Christ to the world."

What Prophets Are Saying Today Regarding a West Coast Disaster

The following is a taste of what prophets are saying today regarding this issue:

Here is part of the February Apostolic Council of Prophetic Elders Word of the Lord for 2005, posted by Chuck Pierce (www.glory-of-zion.org):
"We are in a season of shakings. Everything that can be shaken will be shaken. There will be continued physical disasters where the plates of the earth will shift. In the midst of these shakings, God will rise up regional apostles and prophets who will be able to issue decrees, and then see the natural disasters stop or be lessened in their city or region."

Also, here is a portion of Paul Keith Davis' write up on his March 2005 Fireside Chat with Bob Jones (www.whitedoveministries.org):
"In a dream Bob was shown a potential calamity along the West Coast that could have a very damaging effect. It was something to do with the shifting of the plates within the earth creating a separation of land mass. The admonition in the revelation was to mobilize the Church in prayer so that this could either be eliminated or substantially reduced in its impact. A specific time frame was not given in the dream, but it seemed to imply that it was something imminent. Much prayer has already ascended from the West Coast for a day of visitation. We feel this would be very damaging for many people if it should occur, and a distraction from the birthing of God's purposes in California."

On March 15, 2005, Barbara Steely of Wailing Women Ministries in Washington State posted a CALL TO PRAYER AND INVITATION TO GATHER APRIL 15-16, 2005 IN ASTORIA, OREGON (www.wailingwomen.com). She says:

"God is speaking to many about a catastrophe or shaking of the West Coast and calling for prayer. If I mourned when I failed the call Jesus gave me to cry aloud and call forth the intercessors before the Indonesia tsunami, I mourn now as Jeremiah was instructed to do . . . 'Call forth the wailing women . . . ' These professional women were hired to follow the death and funerals of the deceased, but God told Jeremiah to call them BEFORE the deaths occurred and instructed them to weep and wail. The Lord has directed us to pray on the Washington and Northern Oregon coast in the past, in a building of a Wall of Worship. He is now expanding that call from the Aleutian Islands to Southern California."

How Prayer Can Avert Disaster

On April 13, 1999 a team of intercessors traveled via ferry from Port Angeles to Victoria, B.C. Canada to partner in prayer on Holocaust Remembrance Day. Halfway across the Strait of Juan de Fuca the Lord directed prayer for two specific things:

1. That every military and terrorist attack that would come through those waters would be exposed.
2. That our adversary would not use the Juan de Fuca fault for death and destruction.

On December 14, 1999 an Algerian with ties to Islamic terrorists was caught departing the ferry at Port Angeles. Read the complete story at http://seattletimes.nwsource.com/news/nation-world/terroristwithin/.

It should be noted that April 13, 1999 was the 50th anniversary of a 7.1 magnitude earthquake. It was centered deep beneath the surface and within the subducted Juan de Fuca plate under the North American plate. This 1949 earthquake was the largest recorded earthquake in Puget Sound. It affected all of Washington, NW Oregon, SW British Columbia, Northern Idaho, and NW Montana.

Other large earthquakes have occurred late February to mid April on the West Coast:

- April 18, 1906: 8.2 M San Francisco, California
- April 1, 1946: 8.6 Aleutian Islands, Alaska
- March 27, 1964: 9.2 M Prince William Sound, Alaska
- April 29, 1965: 6.5 M Seattle, Washington
- February 28, 2001: 6.8 M NE Olympia, Washington

The February 2001 earthquake was also caused by the bending of the Juan de Fuca plate. The earthquake was felt as far away as Salt Lake City. This earthquake was located in the same general area as the earthquake on April 13, 1949. But, scientists, and prophets as well, are warning of an earthquake/tsunami caused by the Juan de Fuca Plate at the same magnitude of the 9.0 Sumatra, Indonesia disaster that occurred on December 26, 2004.

Last February, a USSPN Washington Regional Coordinator was present during a report given by an international lawyer from Singapore, Thio Su Mien (Su), who is gifted in prophetic intercession and healing. She shared about some of the things going on in the area of Indonesia before the tsunami.

She explained how the SARS virus hit Singapore a year prior to the earthquake/tsunami. The Lord alerted the intercessors and told them that if they did not get on their faces and repent on behalf of their nation's involvement in abortion as the contraceptive of choice, that the land would suffer from His hand of judgment.

Because they saw how devastating the SARS virus had been, the intercessors immediately took action to seek His mercy and forgiveness. Singapore was not touched by the earthquake disaster. The Malaysian intercessors joined them in diligent prayer and also opened healing rooms in Kuala Lampur. The area on the Northern Coast of Malaysia was hit hard. There are amazing stories of God's grace and mercy in saving souls and lives there.

It was the prayers of the intercessors that had saved the disaster from affecting an even larger area. She emphasized that the intercessors crying out with repentance and asking for mercy, along with declarations of the Word of God over the land (both written and rhema), released the curse upon the land and the people were spared. It was a plea for intercessors to step up to the plate and continue to press into God for mercy from judgment coming.

Understanding the Times in the Spirit

In a recent teaching titled UNDERSTANDING THE TIMES, Arthur Burk states:

"It is my belief that the tsunami that struck right after Christmas was a blood sacrifice orchestrated by the enemy to gain power to stop the birthing that God wanted. I see it as being empowered by Leviathan, the spirit in the water. It produced massive death which empowered him. It ripped families apart, which is the opposite of the anointing that God had intended . . . There was a staggering loss of capital, the income-producing infrastructure of the wealthiest regions was destroyed and, by the way, [the redemptive gift of] the nation of Indonesia is the gift of giving." (www.plumblineministries.org)

Martha Lucia of Watchman Ministries posted a prayer initiative April 1, 2005. It references an article from the Jerusalem Post, in which it addresses research published by Palestinian scholar Ziad Silwadi regarding various verses in the Koran which predict that the US will be hit by a tsunami larger than that which recently struck southeast Asia.

"The tsunami waves are a minor rehearsal in comparison with what awaits the US in 2007," the researcher concluded in his study. "The Holy Koran warns against the Omnipotent Allah's force. A great sin will cause a huge flood in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans."

"The study has caught the attention of millions of Muslims worldwide who pray in agreement with the predicted destruction of the US. Silwadi said his study of the Koran showed that the US would perish mainly because of its great sins against mankind, including the Native Americans and African Americans. Martha says, "God help us to become a righteous nation and to condemn these cursing words spoken against this nation, according to Isaiah 54:17."

Understanding the Times in the Natural

The recent Sumatra quake and all of the activity in the Juan de Fuca plate, which is only 250 miles off the west coast, and 700 miles long, should be a wake up call. Prophetic warnings should be coupled with factual information so that intercessors can pray on site with insight. A GREAT RESOURCE for the Juan de Fuca plate/Cascadia Subduction Zone is the DVD CASCADIA: THE HIDDEN FIRE, produced by Michael Lienau (www.globalnetproductions.com and www.equakevideo.com), who produced the first George Otis, Jr. Transformation video, available at The Elijah List.
Michael is offering this through The Elijah List to intercessors who have a burden to pray for this important focus.

Michael is also working with spiritual leaders initiating faith-based disaster training. He and Patrick Hamman, the Redmond City Chaplain (www.citychaplain.org), are networking with churches in King, Pierce, and Snohomish counties. They are purchasing Cascadia and are giving them to participants through city grants. Michael and Pat are also working on training city employees with the DVDs and developing a web-based interactive training website.

This DVD will also be available at The WEST COAST PRAYER SUMMIT
April 15-16, 2005 in Astoria, Oregon.
Date & Time:
Friday, April 15, 2005 from 7:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M.
Saturday, April 16, 2005 from 10:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M.

Location:
Antioch House, 40218 Old Highway 30, Astoria, OR 97103
(If seating is exceeded, we will move to an alternate venue. See www.wailingwomen.info)
Facilitators:
Mark Acuna of Antioch House and Barbara Steely of Wailing Women, who says:

"A prophetic cry to prayer is occurring up and down the west coast of the United States. Many have seen natural and spiritual events happening in the near future. We agree together and ask God for His mercy and will to be done. We also respond to His call to pray and agree with each other in this task. This is just one gathering for prayer and strategy, but we know they are happening from Alaska to California. Our hope is to coordinate a prayer effort together for the west coast."

Barbara has been flooded with input from those of you who have been hearing from the Lord regarding a great shaking and wave coming. Some address more of a spiritual impact than natural. This is a real possibility. Lisa Knorr of Global Net Productions sent me the following:

In John Nance's 1988 book, "On Shaky Ground," he describes what happened at one church when the earthquake struck during the 1964 Alaska earthquake. "At All Saints Episcopal Church, Father Norm Elliot reached the twelfth State of the Cross in the Good Friday services. The last quotation from Matthew was in front of him now as he read the familiar words: 'But Jesus cried with a loud voice, and gave up His spirit. And behold, the curtain of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom; and the earth quaked, and the rocks were rent.'"

It was exactly thirty-five seconds past 5:36 p.m. Father Norm Elliot felt the first waves shudder through his church as he read the line, " . . . and the rocks were rent."

Interesting to note that four years prior, on April 3, 1960, Dennis Bennett preached a sermon on the underground Pentecostal Movement that was quietly racing through so many churches in America. He told about how he, himself, had spoken in tongues. Instantly, an explosion went off in his Episcopal Church. The story was later carried in the local newspapers, various wire services picked it up, and the news swept the country.

Prayer and Fasting

During an on site prayer strategy in Seattle last weekend, the Lord gave a 10 DAY PRAYER FOCUS. You can start April 15 through Passover, April 24. Or you can use it after the prayer and fasting focus 21 DAYS TO BREAK THE POWER OF CAPTIVITY Chuck Pierce has just released (if you missed reading this, you can read it on The Elijah List at: http://www.elijahlist.com/words/display_word.html?ID=2992). This is great for individual victory over strongholds in our lives that may influence our ability to move in the authority Jesus Christ purchased for us. Another good 10-day time frame is May 5-15, 2005, which is the NATIONAL DAY OF PRAYER through the GLOBAL DAY OF PRAYER.

Timothy Snodgrass posted a 40-day fast for April 8-May 18, 2005 for the South Pacific, and for inhabitants of the Pacific coastal regions from Alaska to Argentina, and from New Zealand to the Aleutian Islands. Timothy states:
"Every major prophetic warning is followed by major signs, which have the signature of God, easy to recognize if you examine the pattern of events. Pope John Paul II was born during an eclipse on May 18, 1920 (look at the date: May 18). Only God knew in advance that Pope John Paul would be buried in Rome 84 years later, during a total solar eclipse on April 8, 2005, the beginning of the 40-day fast. Think about that for a minute: On the very day this 40-day fast was called months in advance, not only did skies darken across the South Pacific from a total eclipse, but flags were lowered around the world at half-stance from the death of John Paul II.

"This 40-day fast will end on John Paul's birthday, May 18 (Washington residents will of course recognize that date as being the anniversary of the eruption of Mt. Saint Helens). If you look closely at this pattern of events, you can only come to one conclusion: the signature of God on the fast is clearly evident, and the warning for the South Pacific is chillingly valid and time-sensitive."

10 Day Prayer Focus to Avert West Coast Disaster

PLEASE ENTER INTO REPENTANCE AND PRAYER WITH FASTING AS THE LORD DIRECTS:

DAY ONE: Psalm 96:1,10-13: Declare that the world, the earth itself, is established, and it shall not be moved. Declare Psalm 115:16.

DAY TWO: Psalm 97:1-12: Call the earth to "violent worship" unto the Lord of the whole earth. Declare Colossians 2:9-10,15.

DAY THREE: Psalm 98:1-9: Declare that all things are in Christ, both which are in Heaven and on earth. Declare "his right hand, and his holy arm, hath gotten him the victory." Declare Psalm 8:3-6 and Ephesians 1:7-10.

DAY FOUR: Psalm 99: Declare that revelation of Him and His holiness establishes the people, and the earth itself, in the fear of the Lord, which is the beginning of wisdom. Declare Psalm 111.

DAY FIVE: Psalm 100: Worship and declare Psalm 111:5b,9 . . . "He will ever be mindful of his covenant . . . He sent redemption unto his people: he hath commanded his covenant for ever: holy and reverend is his name." This revelation of Him and understanding of His covenant with us produces worship. Declare that all His saints and the whole earth worships Him.

DAY SIX: Psalm 101: Confess, repent, and renounce our wicked ways and those of our forefathers.

DAY SEVEN: Psalm 102: Enter into intercession and call forth the wailing women.

DAY EIGHT: Psalm 103: Fruit of Repentance and Intercession, Declare His Mercy and Forgiveness.

DAY NINE: Psalm 104: Declare He is the Lord of Hosts, The Most High God Over all Creation.

DAY TEN: ISAIAH 51-55: Read aloud and declare to the adversary that the earth has been redeemed by the blood of the Lamb, it is no longer under the curse and he is forbidden to use it as a tool for destruction and death. The time of the Harvest is here and he cannot steal the vineyard.

Cancel Church Let's Have Jesus
Joni Ames

Ok, how many years you done church, week after week, month after month, year after year the way that you are doing it? To use a Dr. Phil cliche, "How's that working for you?"

I took time aside recently to attend a conference back east. I was excited as the guest preacher from South Africa told of the many miracles the Lord had used him to perform. Healings galore! On the third night, all of us were ready to see it happen as he wound up his last night! As he began to close off his sermon, sick people and people with twisted bodies and people in wheelchairs began to flood towards the front. Expectancy was high as he closed his Bible! He turned towards the pastor and invited his wife to come up and sing. What happened next was unbelievable. He picked up his Bible, left the platform, got his briefcase, and never prayed for even one person.

I sat there stunned. I wanted to go grab the guy and say, "Put your actions where your mouth was! Don't you dare pick up an offering unless you do here what you claim you did in other places! Where are you going?! Lay hands on those sick people! We are tired of stories! We want demonstration and power!" But it wasn't my place of responsibility and authority, so I didn't do it.

Is it just me, or is anyone else tired of this type of scenario? What does the Word say about it? "...having a form of godliness but denying its power....from such people turn away!" (2 Ti 3:5)

Cancel the speaker or cancel church. Why bring in another teacher or preacher or missionary who tells stories and does nothing? We do not need another teaching or another story. The church is stuffed full to overflowing with teaching and stories. We want the real thing! You know - what the Bible talks about:

(4) And my speech and my preaching were not with persuasive words of human wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, (5) that your faith should not be in the wisdom of men but in the power of God. (1 Cor. 2:4 & 5)

For the kingdom of God is not in word but in power. (1 Cor. 4:20)

of which I became a minister according to the gift of the grace of God given to me by the effective working of His power. (Eph 3:7)
Now to Him who is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that works in us, (Eph. 3:20)
Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. (Eph. 6:10)
For our gospel did not come to you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Spirit and in much assurance, as you know what kind of men we were among you for your sake. (1 Th 1:5)

Therefore we also pray always for you that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of His goodness and the work of faith with power. (2 Th. 1:11)

For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind. (2 Ti 1:7)

Dear God,
We want YOU and the fullness of Your Power to be manifested in our midst. We are tired of stories and teachings. Come on in, Lord! Come on in! Surprise us by Your Power as we gather together. We cry out to you for YOUR demonstration and power to come into our midst! We need YOU! We have loved ones who are sick, loved ones who are astray, and we need the demonstration of Your Power to come forth! Let it be so and come quickly, Lord Jesus! Amen.

Intercessory Armature and Armament
Joni Ames

Glossary of terms used below:

Armament: (1) All the military forces and equipment of a nation; (2) All the military equipment of a warship, tank, etc.; (3) An arming or being armed for war.

Armature: (1) Any protective covering; (2) The iron core wound with wire in which electromotive force is produced in a generator or motor.

Arm chair: Chair with supports at the sides for one's arms.

Armed forces: all the military, naval, and air forces of a country.

While in a meeting recently, the Lord "zapped" me with the term "Intercessory Armature & Armament." This followed a dream that I had about an arm chair. In the dream, I was taking a tool and shoring up the arms of chairs where female intercessors were seated in Air Force One. President Bush came along and handed me a "better set of tools" to do it with. They were very large toe nails off of "big" toes (the largest toe on the foot.) There were several of them and all were on an old fashioned link-type key chain. He said, "Here, this will work better. Use the pointed end there, like this," as he showed me how to use them. It worked well.

We all know the Word tells us to pray for those in authority, and we know that many are praying for President Bush. I believe this dream had dual meaning. (1) Pray for our President and our nation, and (2) Pray for and shore up those specifically called to praying for our nation.

Our president is Commander and Chief over all the military forces and equipment of our nation. He is heading up the Strategic Air Command for all of our armed forces.

The Strategic Air Command/SAC (http://www.strategic-air-command.com/SAC) was established on the concept of having a "force in being", one ready to go at a moment's notice. It's mission was unique: not to fight a war, but to deter one. For many years SAC's motto proclaimed, “Peace is Our Profession.”

The Lord is our ultimate Commander and Chief. I believe He wants us to know that, as we are interceding and "in flight" as His Strategic Air Command that He is shoring up our arms, and that He is our armature/protective covering to protect the armament (His power) that we have and operate in as we pray. Peace is certainly His profession! And if we handle ourselves properly, we will be able to deter battles and wars, rather than have to fight them.

The enemy has been trying to wear out the intercessors with both excessive intercessory warfare and excessive personal attacks and personal warfare in these days. One of the results of this has been confusion, emotionalism, and depression. Intercessors, it is very important that you remember to take appropriate "time aside" when needed, and to have others praying for you when you are on the front lines or under attack. That is not a sign of weakness. It is all a part of being sure that you are appropriately armed, refreshed, and thus able to complete your assignments successfully.

No one can see clearly via a constant view from the inside of a battle. Even our armed forces are made to take time aside from the battle from time to time. Even Jesus did! This is necessary so that we operate in the wisdom of God and not through emotionalism. When tired or worn out through personal battles, it is sometimes difficult to disern between "what is what." By taking proper care of yourself in this area, you are taking proper care of others.

It is imperitive for Intercessors Groups to have:

(1) Proper teaching for intercessors so that they are appropriately armed with the Word, supported by leadership, and prepared through spending time with the Lord.

(2) Strategic scheduling regarding intercession so that the intercessors can be "on their toes" and not worn out.

(3) Appropriate time aside, outside the battle.

(4) Proper prayer covering for intercessors and their families.

(5) Appropriate relationship and interaction between intercessors and leadership so that we "know those who labor among us" and are an encouragement to those who are encouraging us. - As well as being a sounding board so that no one gets too far "out there."

These are serious times, and yet, if we take ourselves too seriously, we can get "looney." God can and will use someone else if we do, but He desires for us to handle ourselves and our calling with wisdom, and to fulfil it.

Intercessors, don't become a victim of your assignment. Be victorious. This isn't a time to get "off the wall" in any way, shape, or form. - Emotionally, physically, or spiritually. Rather, it a time to be shored up and sure that the right armament and armature is in place, and peace is pursued.

Blessings,

Crows Dropping Like Flies
Cyndee Pillow

The words I received in February 3, 2005 had a part mentioning that Crows would drop like flies this year, appears to be coming to pass according to the confirmation Priscilla sent saying news is out this is happening now due to West Nile Virus. The Lord has told me that this is all symbolic of what is to come. Please bear with me. I also reread the dream a man named Derek had. I was amazed as his dream made perfect sense to the word the Lord has just now given me. In Derek's dream he said, "There were these huge crows or blackbirds (Grackles?). One after another they flew into the airspace above mom and dad's property they ignited and came fluttering and spiraling down into the front yard in front of me. I started to do something, but how do you put out a bird that is on fire with just your hands? (No man will be able to stop the plagues by their own strength, but only through prayer.) He went on to say, couldn't stomp them out without killing them. I do remember that I touched one of them briefly and thinking "I am going to need to wash". I knew they were unclean and that they had disease. I heard a voice say "They separate from the rest of their group so they do not catch any of the others on fire".

(A group of crows is called a "murder")This plague will be an act of murder sent from the pits of hell by the enemy. However, GOD has a plan!

The Lord said,
"Every crow that falls is a representation of a person's life I have spared. I am allowing my mercy to flow to those that still have hearts open to hear My voice and are living repented lives. This is my mercy that ever flows from my throne even now. The crows will fall so that some may live.

My heart goes out to my people and I shall turn the plague upon the enemy. His plan was devised to release plagues to destroy My heritage.(Murder) I have stopped his desire to bring all down with death and destruction, as I have a plan for my people to still be standing. I have made a separation in my people and the world of unclean ones.

I will turn the winds and change the tides...and I will do it as in the days of Moses and Noah and make a way of escape for my beloved. The elements will be made to do things that they would not normally do...for the sake of mine. Yes, you will see it in your lifetime the miracles I choose to do through the wind, the rain, the seas roaring and the stars of heaven, and this will bring Me praise and honor and this will cause your love to abound towards Me for I love you with a perfect love."

In this same word, I was again reminded of some scriptures I read just 2 days ago for the second time, speaking about what happened in the days of Korah. There was also a separation that took place between two types of people. Numbers 16 (various scriptures) Then Korah assembled all the congregation against Moses and Aaron before the entrance of the Tent of Meeting, and the glory of the Lord appeared to all the congregation.

And the Lord said to Moses and Aaron, Separate yourselves from among this congregation, that I may consume them in a moment.

And the Lord said to Moses, Say to the congregation, Get away from around the tents of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.

So they got away from around the tents.

And Moses said, By this you shall know that the Lord has sent me to do all these works, for I do not act of my own accord:God will make His people known for the God that they serve. His people will not be spared from the plagues on their own accord but by their Father's love.

If the Lord causes a new thing and the earth opens its mouth and swallows them up, with all that belongs to them, and they go down alive into Sheol, then you shall understand that these men have provoked (spurned and despised) the Lord!

And the earth opened it's mouth and swallowed them and their households and (Korah and) all (his) men and all their possessions.

They and all that belonged to them went down alive into Sheol; and the earth closed upon them, and they perished from among the assembly.

The very next day, once again, it says in Numbers 16 also, that the congregation of Isralites murmured against Moses and Aaron, saying You have killed the people of the Lord. A plague came and 14,700 died in the plague besides those that died in the matter of Korah.

As I pondered on these things, I felt the Lord was also saying, "At the same time that many are spared symbolized by the dropping crows taking their place, many unclean people will drop like flies, just as the crows that fall from the sky. With the unclean crows dropping like flies, unclean people will also drop, yet the Birds that fall are the scape goats for MY people. I have made a way of escape so rejoice My people and know that you are greatly loved and highly favored.

Hear instruction My people. Listen to the prophets that tell you to keep your eyes looking strait on towards Me. Do not listen to those that speak peace and safety, for my Word declares that there will be none, but MY GRACE is sufficient for you. Lean on Me and not upon your understanding. Draw near to Me as I am more than ready to draw near to you. Prepare yourselves as Moses and Aaron. Get on your face and cry out to Me. I will hear. I will save. I will cover you with my love and protection as you have applied the Spotless Lamb's blood upon the door post of your heart. Because of My Son's blood, the plagues will pass by and straight over. The Crows will drop like flies."

Come Dance With Me

Yolanda Ballard

Mar 24, 2005
Come My bride. Come into My secret hiding place that I have for you and Me. For I love you so much with an unfailing love. There isn't a thing you can do to separate you from My love. I have called you from the foundation of the earth to be My bride, to be My one true love. And I am calling you now to come away with Me....to just bask in My presence, and let Me refresh you.

Ease your thoughts with the knowledge of My unfailing love for you.... for I have promised you My blessings of peace and security, happiness and joy. My mercies are new for you every morning. Come and seek My face and draw close to Me so you can hear My heart beating for you. I love you, My bride.

Come dance with Me and worship Me and lose yourself in My warm embrace for you are the only one for Me. Come lose yourself in My presence and be refreshed. Cast all your cares upon Me for I care for you. Forget your troubles for your life is secured in My hands.

There isn't anything that you go through that I haven't allowed for your perfecting work. Yes, I am doing a work in your hearts through everything you go through. No time has been lost or wasted since you have chosen to follow Me. All things have and will work together for your good. So come and rest in My love and in My faithfulness.

And I have worked everything together in your life that you would have this time to come apart with Me. Yes, I have appointed this time of intimacy with you....a time where you are able to put all things aside and just be with Me. This is a time of rest, of strengthening, of rejuvenation.

This is a time to gain strength for the birthing that is ahead. And I will send those who will stand with you and support you in prayer until this process is complete. You will bring forth in My Spirit My will.

My government will be established. The tabernacle of David with perpetual prayer and worship will be completed and set up around the world.

Look to Me the author and finisher of your faith. Do not lose vision. My promises to you I will keep. It is closer to you now than when you first began. Do not lose hope but rejoice, My chosen ones.

This is a time of being built up.... to receive what I have for you that you will be able to stand strong. For this is the last stretch of the race, and I am breathing into you now the winds of My refreshing grace. I am filling you now to overflowing.

Come be with Me. Let yourself go. Rejoice in your heart, and I will touch you. And loose you into the endless dance of My love. I call you, My people, My bride. Come dance with Me. And for this you will never be the same.

Come Fight For Me
Beverly Juelsgaard-Fischer

July 21, 2005
Much will happen in the days ahead, for the world itself will seem out of control. For the word has gone out to pray, pray, PRAY – like you never have before! For I say the plight of this nation and many others is now in the hands of those who pray.

For it is those who pray, who have seen My heart and heard My warning. For though the enemy meant to strike fear in the hearts of many, it is My intercessors who have heard and seen clearly, for they know Me for who I am and they want My heart.

Though many of them do not feel worthy, for they have been beaten down through trials and tribulations. But they are now rising up as Mighty Warriors for My Kingdom, for they are becoming an overcoming force which the enemy dreads. He fears the power and authority that they even now are beginning to walk in. For many have grabbed hold of the horns on the altar and refuse to let go as they await My command or an answer to their prayers. Many have sacrificed much to see My Kingdom purposes come forth on the earth.

For many do not know Me. Many have chosen to not go My way, and yet others have chosen to let others fight – for they fear Me not. They are so obsessed with themselves that they refuse to fight. They would rather wallow in self-pity and fear and their own thoughts of glory of the past.

Do not be one of these – for have I not trained you? Have I not shown you the way? For you know I do not teach fear. I do not dwell on the past, but seek to pull you forward into My Kingdom purposes. I seek to have you at My side fighting or dancing before Me in My glory. For I have taught you to worship Me in many forms. I have taught you of unity and intercession, and I have taught you to rest at My feet, to stay in My glory, hidden in the folds of My garment – that no matter how hard the enemy tries to see you or find you, he is unable to, because you have become hidden through seeking Me and My ways.

For this is a time of war, and I ask you to take on the weapons of worship, unity, intercession and resting in My Spirit. For these will help to sustain you in the days ahead. These will help you to remain standing when all else has failed.

I have not said to discontinue your armor – for you need to wear a garment of praise as chain mail, to keep the arrows from piercing through your armor. For every piece of your armor is vital in these last days. Do not leave a piece out – nor are you to think that it is only for children to pray on or wear. For have I not said to come to Me as a child? FOR WITH YOUR CHAIN MAIL, ARMOR, AND THESE NEW WEAPONS, YOU WILL BE FULLY ARMED AND DANGEROUS!

For the enemy fears to see you as such and is doing everything in his power now to keep you from using these effectively. For have you not seen the increase of confusion, distraction, infirmity, division, and poverty in the world? Do you not know these are from witchcraft and the pits of hell? For the enemy seeks to kill, steal, and destroy at every turn. He seeks to keep you from My calling or destiny on your life as never before. He knows his time is short and he seeks to keep all who he can from My kingdom, from My glory. He seeks to keep you from Me, and will use everything he can against you, including your own heart.

WAKE-UP and know that I am God – that I will use whatever means necessary for My people to rise up and fight. My people must come forth into the destiny and purpose that they were created for. Know that I do not sit passively waiting for you – that I will cause you to fall out of bed to wake from your slumber. For the enemy would rather you stay sleeping. He would rather that you give up. He would rather that you let him overcome you - for he has not given up, and will use every trick in his book to keep you from what I have called you to.

Do you not see your future, have I not shown you dreams and visions of what will be? Have I not placed in your heart a call to righteousness? For I have called all to righteousness and all to fight for Me and My purposes in the earth realm. Even the angels are cheering you on – for they love to see the enemy defeated over and over again, for he was once one of them. They know his plans and they have seen his purposes. They too have fought for Me and My purposes for they know the end. They know that I have won. Yes, and they have fought beside you, many times, keeping you from harm. For they believe in My cause – they believe in My purposes in the earth realm, and they would have you be on the winning side. For they know I love all people and would not have one left out or left behind. They know I want all people for My kingdom.

WAKE UP, AMERICA! WAKE UP out of your slumber, for YOU ARE OVERCOMERS! This is part of your heritage. Claim the gifts and mantles from those before you who fought for truth and righteousness – who fought for My honor and My Name.

I say, "Pray, Pray, PRAY!"– for death and destruction have been sent against you. Pray for revelation and My plans for this. Pray that you would be obedient to My plans and purposes. COME FORTH into your calling! You must want My heart and desire for your life to come out of the quagmire you are in. COME FORTH, that YOU WILL BECOME FULLY ARMED AND DANGEROUS - FIGHT FOR ME AND MY PURPOSES IN THIS LAND!

The Choice Is Yours

July 17, 2005

Today I speak again of the future. For do you not know of My love for My people? Do you not see My heart in all that I say and do among you? For it is My heart to prosper you, to help you to fulfill the calling that I have placed in every life. For can you not see that I love you?

For I would not be the Father that I am if I did not correct you or stop you from doing those things that are not of Me. Yet many have chosen to ignore Me. They hear My voice, they know My heart, yet they choose to ignore Me. They choose to go their own way. They choose rebellion over righteousness. Some would say, “But it isn’t rebellion, Lord. I didn’t hear you, I thought you wanted me to ….” Do you not know the voice of the enemy? Have you not heard his voice of lies and deception? You know you have - yet you act as if you have not. Do you not know that he seeks to steal, kill, and destroy? Compromise does not win the war. I see all and know all. You must choose righteousness and truth or you may perish. The enemy seeks to hold you accountable for every misstep you take. For do you not know the wrong steps you take are the doors that are left open - these are the cracks which allow the enemy to seep / sneak back into your life. You say, “But I got rid of that, Lord.” But do you not know that even though it was gone, it was sent packing, that when you opened the door, it came back, in even greater strength, and brought seven of its friends with it, to help destroy you even more? Be careful what you choose: righteousness or compromise, for it will always come back to haunt you. Righteousness will come back as good, yet any compromise that is ungodly will seek to destroy you unless you destroy it first.

This is a game of choice: My way, or that of the enemy. There is no in-between; there is no “maybe” or gray area – for these only open the door to the enemy. You must choose.

I love all people and will do everything I can to help you fulfill My calling / destiny on your life. Yet if you consistently choose the way of the enemy, there will always be consequences. You will reap what you sow. The choice is yours.

Charges

CHARGES
When charges have come against you and you are suffering accusation, it is time for you to decrease and Me to increase. As you lay low before Me in repentance and ownership of your own failings, it releases Me to justify you with My mercy. The seat of My throne is mercy that triumphs over judgment. I will dismiss the case in your favor as you change your heart and release Your will to me.

Isa 16:5 NKJV

Lighting Torches That Burn

LIGHTING TORCHES THAT BURN

They tremble as they assemble listening to My Word.
They shake and they quake to know Me as their Lord.
For I AM their Sovereign King Who stands.
I will not crush them to make My demands.
I will draw them with My wooing
And with My Dove's gentle cooing.

I will hover over and kindle hearts
I will give them long awaited fresh starts.
As they turn their faces, yes, towards My Son,
I will light their torches as holy ones.
The flame and passion that will burn inside
Is greater than all blazes set worldwide.

For many waters will not ever quench
The fires and blazing of love not drenched.
For drenching of floods and opposition,
Only makes love stronger competition.
The passion that burns in My heart for My bride.
Is to yearn and to wait for her to be Mine.

It's stronger than all the yearnings to sum.
Not divided, but multiplied into One.
Together we are, One even so.
Intimate union, to deeply know.

She's branded holy and wholly Mine.
As wedding bells ring passionate chime.

Consummated holy, union from above.
Oh My bride, My all, oh My heavenly dove.
You ring your heart from the bells of your soul.
You cry to Me for restoration whole.
All these My gifts I lay at your sweet feet
As you adore the One you long to meet.

Face to face I am coming to see you.
Grace to grace ours hearts are uniting too,
Look into My blue eyes of deep, deep pools.
You will know My love goes beyond all rules.
Come, My dear Beloved, now please be Mine.
I long to hold you, in My arms divine.

Revelation 19:7 NKJV

Overcoming Mind Sets
Sandy Warner

Feb 9, 2005
Precious, I want to teach you about mind-sets. Mind-sets are fortified opinions that are set in their ways. Mind-sets are strongholds. Mind-sets lock everything into an unchanging place. Mind-sets keep truth from coming in and they keep lies from being removed.

When I send My Truth, and you are blinded against receiving it, it is because of your mind-set. If you will partner with Me to identify a mind-set when I shine light upon it, then we can work together to remove it and set you free to change and become free.

You also have mind-sets about your loved ones and this is keeping them locked in the same old patterns. These mind-sets are expectations. They have behaved in circled patterns for years and therefore you expect them to continue such. Their behavior and your mind-set has given you much grief and hopelessness when you pray over your loved ones. Even when I AM changing them and setting them free one day at a time, you are unable to see this because of your mind-set about them.

Please understand, when you have expectations, whether they are good or bad ones, that expectations are faith. It is your negative and positive faith that sends both demons and angelic hosts to the person for whom you have faith. The mind-sets of your expectations can actually bind or loose your loved one into further captivity or increased freedom. So repent dearest, repent and openly confess your failed mind-sets in your life and watch Me set you and your loved ones free from your past. Free at last, free from your past.

2 Cor 10:4-6 NKJV

For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty in God for pulling down strongholds, casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ, and being ready to punish all disobedience when your obedience is fulfilled.

Roadblock To Hearing My Voice
Sandy Warner

Feb 7, 2005
My child, I have been relentless in sending you My message through My weakest of messengers. Always remember the reason I send you a message to which you kick strongly against, is because I AM sending an offensive weapon to pull down your mind-set and opinions. Because of My love for you I have kept on sending these messages even though you kick against the pricks. You have kicked like a strong and mighty wild stallion. You have not understood that the greatest strength yet lies within the weakest of vessels. These rely upon Me to help them pull down the strongholds. These weak vessels do not seek their own way or agenda, they bow low to please Me.

The strongholds in your mind kick strongly against these weak vessels, but I have fortified these messengers with foreheads set as flint and they shall remain relentless until you finally understand. You cry to hear My voice, to open your ears, to open your eyes, to break the famine of hearing, and yet the rebellion of your opinions have fortified your heart from receiving the voice of My Word and My ways. I long to embrace and answer your prayers, but the strongholds in your opinions must fall first. Love will find a way to penetrate the walls you have fortified around your heart. Love will find a way.

Isa 50:4-5 NKJV
He awakens Me morning by morning, He awakens My ear to hear as the learned. The Lord GOD has opened My ear; And I was not rebellious, nor did I turn away

Changing Seasons

James N Johnson

27th October 2005
Eccl 3:1 To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:

Changing seasons is an ongoing reality in all of our lives. There is only one certainty in lives , that of change. Seasons come and go but to every season there is a purpose. Changing seasons are necessary to keep a balance, equilibrium in our daily lives. Its worthy of note that in countries that have no real change in seasons, have a higher proportion of disease, mainly because there are no winters to kill of various tropical viruses and other causes of disease.

Change is Eminent
Earlier this month the Lord spoke to me about a change of season spiritually. A major change is about to begin that will bring a turn around in people circumstances. This change will begin at the end of this month and a turn around will escalate reversing many negative circumstances in the lives of people.

Harvest time has come around
As we have come to the end of the Feast of Tabernacles this year a new day is about to open up. Look for a harvest breakthrough some where in the world over the next few weeks, this will be a sign that the tide has turned. Over recent times God moved in Toronto and in Brownville, these were small tokens of a much larger move of God that is scheduled for this time. A new and powerful harvest move of God is about to break forth. When we see a breakthrough some where in the world, a window of opportunity opens up for the entire body of Christ to enter in. Quite often this is not taken advantage of by many, who then loose the opportunity to be a part of it.

When the windows of heaven open
Malachi 3:10b I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.

This is the word the Lord spoke into my heart when He said a major change will come at the end of this month. For a longtime the dove of the Holy Spirit has been seeking for a place to land, waiting for the season to change. That time of change is now

On the 27th of May 2003 I had a visitation from an Angel, this was most unexpected. I had been in a season of prayer for a few days and without warning this Angel appeared to me, he was about seven feet tall dressed in white with a blue sash around his waist, his features were very clear and he made me feel very much at ease. He had in his hand a container which I could see through. There was liquid dripping slowly into this container and it was almost full of what seemed to be water. As I watched the one last drop fell into the container and it overflowed. This angel looked at me and said “the fullness of time has come and major change will now appear”. I was aware at that time that there was still some time to run and that what this angel was showing me would be played out over a short period of time. I then watched as the angel took this container up into heaven and he poured it out into the earth, as he did this I saw lightning and felt a great shaking like an earthquake. The angel again looked at me and said “I will give you a sign and you will know that this is the word of the Lord, there will be several earthquakes around the world during the next seven days”. The next week there were at least four earthquakes in various parts of the world.
This experience was not a vision it happened to me with my eyes open and I heard clearly this angel talking to me.

When the earthquake hit on the 26th December last year I wondered if it had anything to do with what the angel told me last year. Since then we have seen other hurricanes and great flooding in New Orleans and Florida this was a build up to the change that is coming. The recent devastating earthquake in Pakistan is also a lead up to change.

I was conducting crusades in the city of Karachi and Lahore back in the mid nineties and God opened the windows of heaven over us with many miracles particularly in healing people who were totally blind and deaf along with many leapers also being healed. Hundreds of Muslims came to the Lord. On the last night of the crusade in Lahore the Lord gave me a powerful prophetic word for the Nation. This word spoke of Pakistan being greatly shaken and much suffering would come and the god of Islam would not be able to help them, but this would be a precursor to great change that would happen to the nation and that the ruling spirits over the nation would suffer a huge setback in their hold over the land. (note this was long before terrorism had taken hold in the world)
The recent earthquake in Pakistan I believe is the beginning of the fulfillment of this.

God will now open a window of opportunity and we must press in, and take hold of this season of change in our own lives and churches. Those things you have been praying for and have not yet seen the answer to, those financial setbacks, everything the enemy has taken from you can be reclaimed in the season.

We have to believe to see
John 11:40 Jesus saith unto her, Said I not unto thee, that, if thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

We have a window of opportunity as in the fullness of time the windows of heaven open

2 Kings 6:25 And there was a great famine in Samaria: and, behold, they besieged it, until an ass's head was sold for fourscore pieces of silver, and the fourth part of a cab of dove's dung for five pieces of silver.
2 Kings 7:1 Then Elisha said, Hear ye the word of the LORD; Thus saith the LORD, To morrow about this time shall a measure of fine flour be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, in the gate of Samaria.
2 Then a lord on whose hand the king leaned answered the man of God, and said, Behold, if the LORD would make windows in heaven, might this thing be? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof.

God Bless you

China Cry

David Davenport

September 24, 2005

Dear Saints:

Not long ago, David Yonggi Cho, senior pastor of the world's largest church of Seoul South Korea (an estimated 830,000 members presently), made a sobering statement about the current place, purpose and practice of the delivery of prophetic words. In effect, he pointed toward the abuses within such, to say that many have fallen to a practice not unlike "fortune telling," by predicting events to unfold, solely for the purposes of the self-aggrandizing accolades that follow each accurate prediction therein.

As I read the statement from Yonggi Cho, I was personally challenged, as I had, over a number years, often fallen to the same. Though generally speaking, I have always sought to speak the heartbeat of God in doing so, I had, without consciously premeditating such, fallen prey to a steady diet of affirmations concerning accuracy within predictions. Irrespective of ones' personal views in this light, and as alarming as this may sound, this practice is dangerously close to the practice of witchcraft.

Granted, the Lord speaks through many, about events to come, however as He reveals such events He also reveals His much larger, redemptive plan as the result. It is the redemptive aspect of prophetic words that Yonggi Cho accurately pointed to, as often being absent. In "layman's terms," Yonggi Cho in essence stated that God's overall program is that of the redemption of mankind. If we are therefore utilizing our gifts for anything else, we have veered off course, and need to get back to the larger program.

I took Yonggi Cho's word to heart, and have meditated on it for some time.

I have alluded to Yonggi Cho's sentiments, by way of prelude to a warning that I believe the Lord has given me, regarding China. This word has brewed heavy on my heart since July 7th (07/07/05). Having meditated on Yonggi Cho's word, I was hesitant to share this word abroad, as I sought to fully understand the redemptive purposes in delivering such, first. I believe at this point, that I have been given a panoramic view of the redemptive purposes of such, and therefore step-out in obedience to deliver such.

When all is said and done, it is our obedience to the things the Lord speaks to us, that will redeem us personally, and will speak redemption to mankind abroad. And so in obedience, I offer the following to you.

Roughly twenty years ago, and during a short season of fasting and extended prayer, I received a vivid vision of a giant who lay sleeping. A few seconds into this vision, and as I sought to gain focus upon his detail and features, I was startled, as the giant began to awaken slightly, and to rustle about in his prone position. Within the closing moments of this vision, I was captivated by the fierceness within the giant's face. The giant was Chinese. In the final moment of this vision, I was no longer looking at a giant; I was looking at an army that spanned the entire horizon. I saw an army that was without number. The army was marching toward its declared enemy nation—a declared enemy nation that was minuscule by comparison. The army was marching westerly, and the army was so vast in comparison to its declared enemy nation, that the army had to funnel-down to a point, to begin the attack. The vision ended at this point.

For a number of years I sought understanding of this vision, in conjunction with many other visions along the way. For roughly two decades, this vision has remained "on the shelf," and with no pointed interpretation—until now.

The rate at which Christian conversions are occurring in China, as reported by various mission's news networks, is nothing less than astounding. The growth and multiplication of the underground church in China is nothing less than miraculous. The endless reports of persecution, torture and martyrdom in China represent measures of godliness, holiness and nobility that many within the Americanized church have yet to comprehend. In light of these profound elements of Kingdom fruit at work China, it would truly be shortsighted of me to focus only upon a consideration of China's military. However, what I am about to share, I believe, is that worthy of considerable focus in prayer, for those who have been pointedly called to minister to the nation of China.

It is my belief that in recent years, and more so in recent months, tens of thousands of intercessors around the world have received holy downloads of mysterious prayer-burdens for the nation of China. It is also my belief that thousands of these intercessors have responded to this burden, by seeking to understand the Lord's specific heart-cry for this beautiful people, and this beautiful culture. I wish to ask that the readership of this article would forward such to any persons you know, who feel a pointed call to minister to the nation of China.

I feel strongly that very soon, American news networks, and international news networks abroad will begin to air concerns as the result of the discoveries of Chinese military might and movement. For militarily speaking, I believe that the Chinese military has been for many decades, a "sleeping giant," that is about to awaken.

In recent years the United States has been touted abroad as "thee superpower." It is time to think-again.

I have recently discovered that one of the largest steel manufacturers in the western hemisphere holds as its largest and most demanding customer—the nation of China. On the surface, it has been stated that the steel demand from the Chinese government is that in conjunction with explosive growth in business and housing. I happen to believe otherwise. I strongly believe that at least 50% of the steel exporting into China is that relative to a massive military buildup presently underway—a buildup of proportions which will ultimately be alarming upon full discovery, and which will make for captivating news reports—very soon.

God is surly in control of every event that unfolds before us. However, He grants the intercessors among us, the power and the authority to virtually reshape and redirect the unfolding of history—before our very eyes. The Bible is full of powerful stories of how but one intercessory heart has in turn moved the very heart of God, that He would in turn redirect the course of enormous armies. More recent history includes the profound impact that Derek Prince's personal intercessory impact had upon Germany's military campaign in the deserts of Africa, during World War II. No less astounding, is that of the exploits of Brother Andrew ("God's Smuggler to China"). Equally astounding, are the stories of Reuven Doron, who fought in past Israeli conflicts, wherein he and his comrades prayed that the enemy would be confused as they attacked. Reuven witnessed countless enemy soldiers, in the heat of battle, not more than rock-throwing distance from him, who were consumed in utter confusion from one moment to the next. He tells stories of actually feeling pity for his enemy, as they were so easily mowed-down by gunfire.

It is my strong conviction that those presently harboring an intercessory burden for China, can virtually reshape and redirect the growing military giant therein. Thus, my article herein is a call to intercessors-to-China, to begin interceding for the reshaping of history in China.

I am aware that there are a growing number of those who have earned seeming expertise within the study of Eschatology (the study of the Last Days). I am also aware that many may be inclined to retort, following the implications of my vision (i.e., "a vast Chinese military marching upon a tiny nation that is minuscule by comparison"). I have purposefully refrained from divulging what I believe to be the identity of this "tiny nation." For I believe there are actual demons named "Theology" and "Doctrine," who perch upon the shoulders of well-meaning Christians, and who egg and prod Christians into theological arguments which quickly mirror the proverbial dog chasing its tail. While these eschatological theologians then fall prey to chasing their tails, the fields of ripe wheat are crying-out for harvest, while the wheat-threshers lay still, and propped against the barn door.

In essence, therefore, and again, the sole purpose of this article is that of sounding the alarm to those intercessors who are called to pray for the figurative womb of China. China is a fascinating, mysterious, beautiful and powerful land—a land that is quickly evolving into a military force that will make for substantial international news focus, and that with surprising context. It is difficult to imagine and quantify the spiritual impact that a comparatively small number of intercessors can make, as they lift the womb of China to the Throne. Nonetheless, know that those who have received such a burden for China, have at their disposal, the authority to redirect history—as it unfolds before us.

I believe that the ultimate end of the vision I had twenty years ago, will come to fruition. However in and through the course of the fulfillment of such, intercessors the world over can effect a wave of salvation-harvest in China that defies the imagination.

End-Times events are unfolding before us. What has been prophesied in scripture will come to pass. This cannot be changed. What can be changed is the number of lost souls in the midst of world wars to come. For soon and very soon, China will surface as an enemy to the western world.

As we reconsider Yonggi Cho’s sentiments with respect to prophetic words, please allow me to remind the reader of who the Chinese people are. They are a people who long to be loved, and who long to love. Deep within their human construct, they are no different than we in the western word. They, like us, are overwhelmed by the sensations of holding their toddlers close, and marveling over the miracle of having children of their own. They, like us, are devastated by the loss of their loved ones. They, like us, and deep within, long to be held, loved, healed and affirmed by their Father in heaven, and by figuratively sitting upon His lap, through intimacy with Him. They have the same God-shaped void within the stratosphere of their psyche’s. They, like us, flash a wide-eyed glance at the Starbuck’s coffee shop at 7:00 a.m. They, like us, muse among themselves over how it is that Willie Nelson can manage to keep his braided pigtails properly cleansed from one day to the next.

Many aspects of Chinese culture and history are those of figurative priceless jewels. They are a people of profound philosophical and literary offerings. They are a people of unimaginable vision and will. When these natural predispositions are redeemed in the form of one saved Saint, the Kingdom fruit in and through the hands of such a Saint is enough to convict the average mainstream American Christian. For I have yet to meet such resolve and fierce determination in mission as that resident in some Chinese Believers I have met in recent years.

Christmas Presence.....artisan anointing......A year Crowned with Abundance!

Beloved Sons and Daughters:

This year expect my Christmas Presence in your lives in a tangible way. I am releasing an artisan anointing upon many of you to do that which is in my heart. I shall raise up dancers, singers, poets, authors who will articulate my heart in new ways, actors, those who will have wisdom with colors to paint, those who will have an eye to mold gold in new ways, and sew beautiful garments of praise for my Kingdom purposes. Beautiful colors of purple fabrics will be made from unusual fibers to design fine tapestries and garments of praise. Beautiful banners will arise as my weapons of warfare in the hands of my worshipers. A new level of worship will arise from those who sing and those who are my worship warriors! This next year will be a year that my abundance will drip upon your path and you will see gifts come forth through you that you didn't know you had. This year under the Christmas Tree you will find the gift of my "presence" there just for you! My Son died so that you could know my presence and my presents for you! Look and expect the gift of the artisan anointing to be released in your lives this year!

This is part of the fulfilling of my promises regarding the tabernacle. It is a prophetic picture of what I am doing in the Spirit with my tabernacle of David being restored! The beauty of my presence will fill the house!

Exodus: 31:2-11 "See, I have called by name Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. And I have filled him with the Spirit of God, in wisdom, in understanding, in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanship, to design artistic works, to work in gold, in silver, in bronze, in cutting jewels for setting, in carving wood, and to work in all manner of workmanship. And I, indeed I, have appointed with him Aholiab the son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan: and I have put wisdom in the hearts of all the gifted artisans, that they may make all that I have commanded you. The tabernacle of meeting, the ark of the Testimony and the mercy seat that is on it, and all the furniture of the tabernacle, the table an;d its utensils, the pure gold lampstand with all its utensils, the altar of incense, the altar of burnt offering with all its utensils, and the laver and its base, the garments of ministry, the holy garments for Aaron the priest and the garments of his sons, to minister as priests, and the anointing oil and sweet incense for the holy place. According to all that I have commanded you they shall do."

Psalm 65: 11 "You crown the year 0f 2006 with Your goodness, and Your paths drip with abundance......

Lovingly in Him,

Christianity

Gaylene Womack

Devastations, mighty and strong, will soon come across your land. Your preparations are futile, for those that mock My Name . . . you cannot hide from Me.

Christianity has become a by-word for, "sins God no longer sees. Covered in the blood, do as you please. No longer under penalty, for all sins God does not see." Such lies the false ones bring. Only those that come to Me with a repentant heart, willing to forsake the sins of flesh, shall I set free. My blood is not for disgrace, but shed for those that want My grace. . . a continuing walk in My Word of liberty . . . My commandments you shall keep. Read them and you shall see, they are a New Covenant given through Me.

Yet in the heat of a day, the hour unknown, great devastation that has been previously unknown. Fires of hell clutching whom they may Leaving a path of devastation and death, and many in dismay.* Those cleansed in the blood, covered with My robe of righteousness, the fires of hell shall not prevail.

Many false doctrines are in your land, brought by the hand of man. Test and try the spirit, does not My Word say? Read it in this day, for it will keep you in My way. Not every spirit that speaketh is of Me. Popular they have become, false spirits, not sent by Me. Rejected . . . I said you would be!

You do not see Me in most churches today; party and play is the order of the day. Clothing themselves with unrighteous acts; seducing signs and wonders on display . . so much party and play. Come out now, the day is nigh, in their buildings the deceitful ones reside . . . sorceries, incantations, devils demonstrating things that are offensive to Me. In My Name they say they do these things. Them I do not know; where will you be? Do you not see? Can you not discern? Fearful you should be to occupy a seat in the place where devils worship the ones not sent by Me. Ensnared in their traps you shall be. If only you would hear My plea. . . come out now and be alone with Me.

You keep ignoring the unction of My Spirit. Offended you feel by their display but some-thing keeps you in their fray. "Don't judge, don't criticize the anointed ones" – that's a stronghold, that they say. Giving your money supports their endeavors Stop, I say! Heed the small still voice that tells you this is party and play. Angels of darkness transformed into light. Will you depart or stay? Will you judge or be deceived?

Where is your love for My Word, My truth? I clearly told you there would be many false christs and prophets in this day. These are the ones confessing to be filled with My Spirit Disrespect they portray, for My kingdom principles and in their displays. Decent and in order are the demonstrations of My Spirit; self-control (temperance) is of My fruit; their fruit is of a bitter tree. So why do you call holy this that they cannot control? Slithering as snakes; give Me a break! They are out of control! Offended you should be; depart and flee.

Christmas
Timothy Cook

timothy.cook4@btinternet.com

The Lord puts the lonely in families. Bible.

I was stood next to Jesus. As usual I was like a little boy in this vision. He was knelt cold and shivering on tarmac – half frozen out on the dark and rainy street. We were looking in on the gaiety and light and warmth of a Christmas party.

"Tim", He said, *"I am sick and tired and fed up with My Christians this Christmas – and because you speak this for me you will also share in this exclusion to some extent, but remember the Mark – My Blood on your forehead – My little soldier boy. I'm sorry – but because of the Mark you may shiver with Me out on the street this year. sigh Many will hate you because of Me. My people know that I am with the homeless and the broken and the poor and the busted and the sick and the divorced and the lonely and the divorced and the imprisoned yet they still gather for cosy warm parties leaving Me out on the streets or shut away in an isolated house of dark and vast loneliness."*

He showed me an old lady shivering in her shawl and her arm chair – she couldn't get warm – and she didn't understand how or why her world got so bleak and lonesome. Oh God and we covered her with our intercession wings and our tears until she remembered a happy sunny place from her childhood and so we visited her with Heaven. And when Jesus asked me why no Christian family had invited her in to their hearts I had no answer. And so He waited on Me and laid the burden of His weeping and broken Heart on my spirit until I broke.

"All right! I have known this all my life yet You really want me to speak it don't You … We're British, we're insecure and arrogant and afraid and hard of heart and we have created our little compartments of world where we have no love or contact with our desperate and lonely neighbours. What do You want me to do Lord? How will You break us.? ….

OK – simple. All I ask this year is that every Christian home invites in one lonely and broken and sick and homeless and busted and friendless and poor person into their Christmas festivities. And who knows – maybe it will be Me – Jesus – whom they invite into their house this year. Those truly intimate with Me have of course been doing this for some time – and the Holy Spirit parties that We have every year go from strength to strength. You fear broken people … why? –

We fear to invite true and unbridled emotion into our world, we fear to step outside our social circle and feel out of place, and we fear that the crime networks will somehow gain access to our families – that's just for starters.

*… well said – because you have confessed wisely and truly, I will absorb some of your national blood guilt into My Cross – and release some more blessing to your people. sigh so ask Me to lead you to and prepare a safe guest who will not cause you harm. The right one will bring a blessing with them upon your home – you have brains – use them. It is possible to teach busted people manners and decorum and still preserve and restore their dignity *smile

The angel gave me a silver trumpet – which usually meant I was to proclaim something nationally. sigh sorry – I am small with no voice – but I will email those I know and maybe they will spread the word for me.

I – Father and Lord of Christmas will bring Good Gifts to My closest children this season. Amen.

"The Lord has spoken, who can but prophesy?"

The Lord is saying that he is going to give the faithful ones a special Christmas gift this season. There is a fresh wind of the Spirit blowing over the land of America and her prophets. Many of you have laid down your lives for the truth not being willing to yield to the lies and the Father of lies who is Satan.

You have experienced lies in you finances, lies in your body (illness and infirmities), lies from institutions, lies from neighbors, lies from the spirit of sorcery, lies from every source around you. Your neighborhoods are wrecked from sin like Sodom and Gomorrah before Abraham. God is going to give you the grace to be a light to the treasures hidden in darkness which lie behind the double leaved gates of bronze and iron.

The Lord is giving the SOUND of a mighty rushing wind. You have been tried for 10 days by Satan as Jesus said in the Revelation. You have been agonizing in prayer for those 10 (literal or figurative) days as those who prayed in the upper room. Suddenly, you/we will experience another Pentecost in the coming days. It is starting now, even in this holy day season saith the Lord.

Yes, the sound of power is coming this Chanukah season as Jesus supernaturally keeps light in his temple, the Body of Christ... Yes, there will be an unwrapping of this as we celebrate Christ's incarnation. The Holy Spirit (Ruach Ha Kadesh), is about to bring the might of Wind to the hungry and humble, (at this point I almost want to use the word fury, not to indicate wrath, but the power of this thing.)

There is a sweeping rush of the wind of unction. There has been a frustrating silence from the Lord for many prophets for a season...That IS over. Scriptures tell us that we know in part and we prophesy in part. The partial is ending and the whole is coming...(I can't totally explain this except that everyone in the Lords will, will prophesy and be satisfied with how they understand what the unction is saying.)

IT'S A NEW SEASON, BE EXCITED-It will no long SEEM that the LORD IS HIDING HIS FACE FROM US...

In JESUS name let it be...AMEN!!!

The article below is a difficult one and will cause many to want to scream Hallelujah or Heresy. I feel led to share it as there are many painful truths throughout Chip's message. For those of you that know me, you know I am a mercy guy and work with many church leaders from many diverse church systems, denominations and cultures. I believe there is enough truth to shake our religious foundations and I am in full agreement that our religious foundations are being shaken and need to be shaken and removed.

The article is written with many generalities so this is not talking about every church but in general expounds on some of the realities of man made systems in organized religion. Chip does a good job of ending with the fact that in Christ, we can have fellowship and unity with others in Christ, regardless of what system they may be presently involved with. We do not need to try and direct anyone anywhere but to Christ Himself.

Please pray before you read this, while you read this and certainly after you read this and ask the Holy Spirit to present to you the truths you need to hear and/or respond to. This message for many will be either hard or easy to digest depending on where the Lord may have you in life. I pray that all grace will abound as we seek His way in all things. Feel free to share your thoughts. I love all of you….

Churchianity Today
Chip Brogden

We must always be sure to distinguish between the Lord's invisible, universal, spiritual Church (the Ecclesia) and the non-profit religious organization that meets in a building with a steeple on top. The difference is incalculable, and we dare not make the mistake of confusing the two. Please understand that we do not question the right of any religious group to peaceably assemble together, elect their leaders, receive monies, have membership requirements, and govern themselves in the manner they see fit - as long as we realize that such a right is a civil right and is neither inalienable, Scriptural, or mandated by God Himself. That doesn't make it wrong, but neither does it make it spiritual. The Ecclesia is not an organization or invention of man, but an organism filled with the Life, and whether we worship "in Jerusalem or in this mountain" is not as important to God as whether or not we worship Him "in Spirit and in Truth."

So where is the distinction? What makes it an issue? It becomes an issue when spiritual or Scriptural significance is erroneously attached to a mere social contrivance, cultural norm, religious tradition, organizational structure, or place of meeting. When the waters are muddied and the lines are blurred between the social expectation, tradition, or custom of the religious organization and the true spiritual life and essence of the Ecclesia or the individual believer then such a system has the potential to evolve into a dangerous form of spiritual abuse or religious elitism.

What is Babylon? It is the marriage of church and state, religion and government; or to be more direct, it is allowing the leaven of the world to spread via Organized Religion and Institutional Christianity. As an example, consider how pastoring a church has become more of a profession than a calling, and how church government has digressed from a theocratic, Spirit-led consensus to a "Spirit-led" democracy, or worse, a "Spirit-led" benevolent dictatorship of a single pastor or a church board. This is the result of the spirit of Babylon. Whereas the True Church is to be "in the world, but not of the world", Babylon is that which is both in the world and of the world - it is by, for, and of the worldly system, yet it retains the outward appearances of godliness and spirituality. It is a synthesis of God and man, taking the best that each has to offer and fashioning a golden calf with it.

Babylon is always antithetical to Christ. It is anti-Christ. Babylon is represented as a religious whore riding on top of a beast which kills the prophets and saints of God. Perhaps we have missed the point by personifying the Antichrist as a Hitler-type world leader bent on global domination. Antichrist is the religious antithesis of Jesus Christ which flows from Babylon AS Jesus Christ. It is not coming, it is already here, and has been here from the beginning. Perhaps denominationalism is the real mark of the beast. If so, it is no wonder that so many are willing to accept it.

THE TRUE COST OF CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

Usually when you join an organization it's because the price you pay for membership is justified by the benefits of belonging. For example, it costs a great deal of money to join a country club. The benefits are prestige, use of the facilities, social interaction, and networking with successful people. Or, in the case of a professional association, your membership gives you name recognition, credibility, current information affecting your field of expertise, social interaction, and networking with your peers.

How does the organization benefit? They get to charge and collect dues from their membership in order to pay for staff, executive officers, facilities, marketing, expanding their membership base, and other projects. So their motivation is primarily financial.

Now let's look at Organized Religion. How does the church gain from your membership? They stand to benefit in at lease five major ways. What are they after? Mostly financial support, followed by leadership support, doctrinal support, attendance support, and volunteer support. Let's look at these individually:

- Financial support means they have the right to expect their members to make donations in the form of tithes, offerings, love gifts, fundraisers, pledges, building funds, and the like.

- Leadership support means they have the right to expect their members to agree with the stated mission of the church and the pastor.

- Doctrinal support means they have the right to expect their members to adhere to the stated spiritual philosophy and teachings of the church and/or denomination.

- Attendance support means they have a right to expect their members to be present at a majority of services and functions (perhaps you've heard the expression, "Visitors welcome, members expected").

- Volunteer support means they have a right to expect their members to donate their time and volunteer as nursery workers, Sunday school teachers, bus drivers, or whatever is needed.

In addition, the church enjoys a greater control over its membership by meting out discipline when someone goes astray in one or more of the above areas. This typically plays out in sanctions against the offending member resulting in the loss of a leadership position or voting rights.

Whether or not these expectations are realistic, fair, or Scripturally justified is beside the point. The point is, THIS is what you are buying into when you decide to join a church. These are the standard expectations and conditions of membership in a typical church. They are not necessarily unreasonable when considered from a business perspective - if you don't pay your dues to the country club you don't get to use the golf course.

But to determine if church membership is for you, you have to do the other side of the cost-to-benefit analysis. The benefits to the church are many, but what's in it for the member? Basically, the church member gets a vote in major decisions like picking a pastor, a say-so in some financial matters, and the privilege of being in leadership (Sunday school teacher, worship leader, etc.) if you have a penchant for such a thing.

Remember at the beginning of this article I wrote that you join an organization because the price you pay for membership is justified by the benefits of belonging. Take into account the amount of time, money, and cooperation expected from church members, and the tremendous amount of individual control that is relinquished to church leadership. Then consider what you get in exchange - a small part in the political process of church government. Is it really worth the investment?

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO ORGANIZED RELIGION

Those who ballyhoo the spiritual benefits of joining a church should be reminded that we are already joined to the Body of Christ, the Ecclesia, and are already realizing every spiritual benefit of membership in HIS Church. The only qualification for such membership is a New Birth. There is no responsibility but to abide in Him, and every action springs forth from that abiding. Joining a church may be good, proper, beneficial, and moral - but it is not a condition of salvation, thus it is not a condition for being a Christian.

Many Christians believe that we are saved by grace because we are unable to achieve salvation through good works (unfortunately there remain many more who believe they can work their way to heaven apart from Christ). But what happens once they acknowledge this truth and trust in the Lord to save them by grace? Immediately, Organized Religion comes along and convinces them that they now have to work to keep that which is freely theirs in Christ. What do we mean? They are instructed to pray, read the Bible, join a church, give to the work of the Lord, witness to everyone they meet, stop doing so and so, start doing this and that.

We are not arguing that these things are wrong. We are pointing out an inconsistency in the Gospel according to Organized Religion. What is the message here? That good Christians do "X", and don't do "Y". What is the end result? We are trying to please God. We could not please God as sinners, but now that we are Christians it is our duty to please Him. So we set out to do so, and unwittingly fall into a works-oriented faith.

What Organized Religion fails to convey is that you can no more please God as a Christian than you can as a sinner. Any attempt to please God with your charitable deeds, church service, or spiritual activity will be met with frustration and failure. We are not interested in how good, holy, just, proper, or moral your deeds are; we are only interested in your motivation for doing them. Many are laboring and sweating at trying to live Organized Religion's idea of a good Christian life. They have fallen from grace, and are consumed with works.

The most righteous man or woman on earth cannot please God by their righteousness. Take all the righteous men and women on earth and put them together and they still will not measure up. But go further than that, and store up all the righteous deeds of every righteous man and woman who has ever lived on the earth and pile them up together and the wide gulf between God and us will still be as large as it was before. Our very best effort amounts to nothing. Nothing! We cannot please God in and of ourselves.

What then? There is One Man who is pleasing God, and that is His Son, Jesus Christ. "This is my Beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased." Ah, the crux of the matter is Jesus Christ, not me. We live the Christian life the same way we enter the Christian life, that is, by trusting Jesus Christ to do something in and through me that I know I cannot do myself. It is not as I am, but as He is, that makes the difference.

"Come unto Me, all that are burdened and heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Rest from what? The excruciating burden of work, toil, and labor under the cruel hand of Organized Religion.

FELLOWSHIP APART FROM ORGANIZED RELIGION

If we are one with the Head, we are one with the Body, even if we are not gathered together. But, if we are not one with the Head, we are not one with the Body, even if we are gathered together.

If we are walking in the Light as He is in the Light then WE HAVE fellowship with one another whether we are attending a church building or not. Joining a church is not a condition of fellowship. Some join a church for the social benefits - meeting other believers, making friends, etc. Perhaps they don't realize that they can still fellowship, meet other believers, and even make friends without actually joining a church. In fact, you'll attract far more attention as a mere attendee (if attention is what you seek, and that's another cause for concern). As a potential but as-of-yet-not-signed-up visitor, there are virtually no expectations placed upon you. When you give money it is appreciated all the more because they know you aren't obligated to do so. When you donate your time and talent as a non-member it is all the more impressive because no one is expecting anything from you. And when you show up for a service or function it isn't taken for granted.

The faithful members and their leaders often label those who regularly attend different churches but do not join any of them as "Churchhoppers". These creatures flit about from group to group, "Churchsurfing", hoping to find the perfect pastor, music program, youth group, etc. Churchhoppers are criticized for their unrealistic expectations and lack of commitment. To be sure many of those participating in the "Church Shopping Network" are so infatuated with their needs and wants that they will never be satisfied and will forever remain uncommitted. But before we write off this group of people we would do well to enquire into their personal history with churches, what they are seeking, and why they are unwilling or unable to commit to church membership. We may discover a history of hurt or a pattern of spiritual and emotional abuse that has left them wary of churches in general. We may find the churches they visit to be cold, aloof, or cliquish. That they even make an attempt to attend somewhere is a positive sign, but the phenomenon only underscores one of the troubles with Churchianity today. Many more have left, never to return again, and we can only speculate as to their real spiritual condition before the Lord.

Among aggressive, growth-oriented churches the goal is to persuade you to join the church (actually discussed among pastors privately as "getting you plugged in" or "getting fresh blood"). This is presented as the next logical step of your attendance. Once you do decide to join, however, the tide changes, the wind shifts, and the honeymoon is over. The list of expectations, rules, regulations, and by-laws make their appearance. You are educated in what constitutes acceptable and unacceptable behavior. Suddenly your performance is being measured in terms of dollars contributed, services attended, and hours donated. All too often, consciously or unconsciously, your worth as a member is determined by your overall "support" factor.

Of course we do not mean to suggest that every single church is engaged in a conspiracy to use their members as unwitting pawns to achieve some wicked end, or that the pastor and deacons conduct covert meetings in cigar smoke-filled underground cellars thinking up strategies to trap unassuming visitors into a black-hole of church membership. We're only pointing out how easy it is for the generally accepted attitudes, traditions, rituals and practices of Organized Religion to quickly deteriorate into something wholly other than what the Lord has in mind for a community of Believers. Our contention is that the way we go about "doing" church is far removed from what "being" the Church is all about. Church as most know it has become a business, social, or legal arrangement, not a community or family. As such, our assertion is that Organized Religion seeks, retains, and manages its members in much the same way as a country club - but without the golf course. It provides a mostly intangible, invisible (and therefore highly subjective and difficult-to-quantify) service while expecting tangible, material things in return: your cash, your time, and your allegiance.

We are not necessarily advocating a boycott of church services, but we do wish to demonstrate the difference between joining a church and attending a church. In the case of membership, support is expected and enforced. Non-conformers are removed from membership, and although the instances of actually refusing to allow someone to attend services are rare, the amount of psychological pressure brought to bear upon the offending member is usually enough for them to leave on their on accord.

THE ISSUE OF FINANCIAL SUPPORT

The motivation for all financial support should be "as the Spirit leads", not as the rules of membership dictate. For example, a Christian should give not under compulsion, but liberally, from the heart, as led by the Spirit. That sort of giving cannot be legislated, no matter how hard you try, through spurious teachings on the ten percent tithe, "sowing and reaping", "love" offerings, "faith promises", etc. - yet that is precisely what Organized Religion attempts to do.

Notwithstanding, anyone deriving a benefit from an organization should support it. If you attend a church at all, member or not, you should modestly compensate them for the trouble of providing you with climate-controlled facilities, nursery care for your kids, and refreshments during Sunday school. That's just good manners. If you eat the food you should offer to wash the dishes. Beyond that, you should wholeheartedly and unreservedly give as the Lord directs you to give. That could mean an offering in the collection plate, the donation of clothes or food, anonymous gifts to individuals in need, and the like. Ours should not be an "I don't owe you anything" attitude. We should always give more than we take. But once our freewill support is legislated and expected as a condition of membership in a religious institution, it ceases to be spiritual and philanthropic. We are no longer giving with no expectation of receiving. Instead, we are giving in order to receive or maintain the privilege of membership. Therefore, we have our reward here on earth, and not in heaven.

Christians should be encouraged to give anonymously in order to ensure no reciprocal benefit. Jesus says when you give a gift don't let your left hand know what your right hand is doing. Yet Organized Religion has to have some means of enforcing the Financial Support clause of the membership contract. How? With those little offering envelopes and a place to write your name. Remember that for every benefit there is a loss of freedom. It's certainly your right to claim the tax deduction if you wish, but in exchange for that benefit you lose anonymity. Now the church has a way to track your giving (or lack thereof), and if you don't think they will use that to their advantage if necessary, you better read your membership contract again. Even so, a few pastors have resolved to take no knowledge of the personal giving records of their members. Though an admirable first step, you can still rest assured that someone in authority at the church has access to the information and it can and will be used against you if necessary. For instance, when you're being considered for a leadership position, or when the church board wants to determine the active voting membership. Of course, if you aren't a member, none of that will matter to you anyway. But it again demonstrates that your value as a church member is being measured in dollars and cents.

Jesus did not advocate anonymous charity in order to make us paranoid or fearful of being caught doing a good deed. He did it to liberate us, to enlarge us, to help us experience the pure joy of a no-strings-attached gift, to ensure we would not become proud, and very importantly, to prevent others from rewarding, manipulating, regulating, or expecting us to give to them on a continual basis apart from His direction. He understood how easily people, even with the best of intentions, make value judgments of others based on material possessions (see James). He obviously didn't want that to be the case among His people. Unfortunately, acquiring, building, and catering to people of affluence has been the modus operandi of Organized Religion since its inception, and continues to run rampant in Churchianity today. Yet for all its money and temporal possessions, Organized Religion has always been in a state of spiritual impoverishment.

THE ISSUE OF LEADERSHIP SUPPORT

Support of the pastor and his vision cannot be mandated; either the Spirit bears witness with what is happening or He doesn't. Titular authority is based on perceived rank, status, charisma, spiritual gift or popular appeal: it's a fantasy, a piece of dirt painted gold.

The philosophy of Organized Religion is to maintain the distinction between clergy and laity. To reinforce this philosophy most churches consider the pastor (or priest) to be the spiritual head of the church. Most pastors see the local church as an extension of their own personal ministry and calling, thus the congregation is made in the image of the pastor. It is important that we note this carefully, for we maintain that God's people do not belong to anyone but Christ, and the Church is His Church, and not ours. All authority is given to Him, and whatever weight or influence we as individuals have over one another is ours by reason of our depth of knowing Christ and our willingness to love and serve one another. The "elders" are just that - those who are older and more experienced in the things of the Lord, the implication being that they are more conformed to His image and are thus gentle, loving, kind, and able to instruct and encourage the younger.

But who are the leaders of Organized Religion? Those who have been elected to fill leadership positions. Democracy is a fine system of government, but we note that the Kingdom of God is not and never will be a democracy. The political process of church government is as corrupt as the political process of secular government. What makes it worse is most people know how corrupt secular government is, yet they seem either unable or unwilling to believe the same corruption exists in their own church. If you've ever been involved in a church split you'll understand when I say the political intrigue and behind-the-scenes treachery rival a Tom Clancy spy novel.

Again, we are speaking in generalities. But a thinking person must admit that something is wrong with a process in which a pastor can be voted into and out of the position of spiritual leader by a certain majority of the congregation. If this were God's way then Moses would have been voted out, Israel would have returned to Egypt, and they would probably still be there making bricks today. Spiritual processes and God's holy call and selection cannot be reduced to search committees and paper ballots. Once the disciples were filled with the Holy Spirit, they stopped drawing straws and started praying towards a consensus. The Spirit made it evident who He wanted. A distinction needs to be made between what the majority wants and what the Lord wants, as typically there is a difference between the two.

The process and method of selecting deacons and board members is even further removed from the Biblical idea of the diaconate. Invariably we find those who rise to some level of church leadership are big financial supporters or have some family connection to the establishment of the church.

In most cases, there is no mutual submission, as the Bible commands. Instead, submission is a one-way street from bottom to top. Those who know God understand that calling attention to one's supposed "authority" is a sure sign that there is no authority to be found there. Real authority doesn't have to vaunt itself and demand others be subject to it. I received a letter once from a human religious authority I was involved with that took me to task for "attitudes and opinions which imply a compromised loyalty to the church and the pastoral leadership." Human authority is threatened at the mere suspicion of independent thought, whereas God's authority never defends its rights or demands capitulation. Since it sees God as the only Head of the Church it is not possessive over God's people and is neither compelled to defend itself nor insistent that everyone do things its own way. It sees itself as a steward, not and owner, of what God has given.

THE ISSUE OF DOCTRINAL SUPPORT

At first glance doctrinal support of the church you aspire to join seems self-evident. Yet denominations have an incredible knack for making doctrinal mountains out of molehills. We agree everyone who names the Name of the Lord should be in one accord on major tenets of faith, such as the fall of man, the inspiration of the Scriptures, the deity of the Lord Jesus, His resurrection from the dead, etc. Yet if we trace the histories of the thousands of denominations which have sprung up in the last few centuries we will find most began by laying particular emphasis on one doctrine or method or means of grace to the exclusion of all others.

For example, nearly every charismatic denomination stress the baptism in the Holy Spirit and speaking in tongues as their doctrinal distinctives. We certainly find no fault with being filled with the Spirit or exercising spiritual gifts as the Spirit leads. But again, the way in which we live out our beliefs in these areas cannot be legislated by some governing body. It is a spiritual thing bound up within the faith of the individual who endeavors to follow the Spirit. It is most improper to make one particular expression of faith as the sine qua non of Christianity and make it a condition for salvation or a prerequisite for fellowship with a particular religious group. To do so is to promote sectarianism, a thing which God has expressed not just a relative dislike for, but a passionate hatred of.

A good example is the belief among certain religious groups that anyone not joined to their particular fellowship or adopting their particular nuance of Biblical interpretation is on the way to hell. A far more common and just as damaging belief among more mainstream churchgoers is that anyone claiming to be a Christian who does not attend church services regularly is either not truly saved, or is backslidden. Thus, a socially accepted practice of going to church has become the de facto standard by which the spiritual lives of millions are judged. Or the reverse, deeming someone as a good Christian based solely upon their faithfulness in some institutional church capacity. This is nothing more than salvation by works, a concept most Christians say they don't adhere to yet frequently practice and impose on others.

Another example is esteeming views independently of what the pastor says to be the result of a rebellious spirit that should be bound or cast out. Or, assuming that a failure to conform to the particular style of congregational worship is indicative of some hidden, unconfessed sin holding the individual back. Or, that a failure to respond to the altar call is a sure sign that you "don't mean business with God." We might add, the expectation that everyone who is on the cutting edge of what God is doing is going to come on board with the latest revival, movement, or spiritual teaching. All the instances cited above are attempts to add spiritual weight or credibility to the decision of a group or individual leader when there is no Scriptural mandate or justification for doing so.

This is the sort of peer pressure and "Groupthink" presented under a veneer of spirituality that is devastating to all who fail to measure up in the eyes of their fellow parishioners, in spite of the fact that God neither desires nor commands that we all worship, pray, sing, or serve in the same capacity. Threatening some spiritual result or consequence for failing to live up to the expectations of the group or the leadership, when in fact no such spiritual consequence exists, is a blatant abuse of religious authority. Examples are numerous, but they commonly involve money. "If you don't pay your tithes (e.g., go on the record with a systematic and verifiable contribution to this particular church) then God will not bless your finances." There is no Scriptural support for such a caveat. A more legitimate warning would be, "If you don't pay your tithes, you'll lose your active member status at First Church and your voting privileges will be suspended." That is a natural consequence of a natural action. It is a statement of fact, no matter how much you disagree with the politics of it; if you bought into church membership you accepted that as part of the deal. The line is crossed by the leadership when spiritual punishments are meted out in addition to the natural consequences of one's actions.

THE RENUNCIATION OF DENOMINATIONALISM

It is our position, then, that a believer who is standing on the ground of Christ and has seen the Body cannot but renounce once and for all the scourge of denominationalism. The reason is simple. We must receive all whom God receives. If the Life of God is found in them, we will receive them as brothers and sisters and not make peripheral issues the basis of our joining or not joining with them.

Let us be clear: while we cannot render support to a church or group which meets on sectarian ground, we can and will receive the individual members who desire our fellowship on the basis of Christ.

We should also investigate thoroughly any group or church that claims to be "independent". We often find these independent or non-denominational groups to have an even more narrow and sometimes bigoted focus on issues of secondary importance to the basic elements of faith. All too often the group is built upon the charisma and influence of one man, and since he doesn't answer to a denominational board, there is a greater than normal risk of spiritual abuse or excess.

Jesus is building His Church upon the foundation of Himself. This is the only safe ground to build or stand upon.

INSTITUTIONAL HOUSE CHURCHES

The clarion call of recent years has been the Scriptural injunction to "come out of Babylon", and when applied to the Institutional Church, it is interpreted to mean have nothing at all to do with the present religious system as represented by the clergy / laity distinction, the hierarchy of leadership with the pastor at the head, and the platform-based, event-oriented programs and church building projects. Invariably the trend has been towards informal small groups and home churches. We believe this to be a partial but incomplete solution. We see Babylon not as a political or institutional state, but a spiritual state. To truly come out of Babylon requires something more than deciding to meet in homes or resolving to do away with the external trappings of Churchianity. Many claim to have come out of Babylon because they no longer attend church services, but Babylon has not come out of them. They have only exchanged one sophisticated form of religious bondage for a less sophisticated one, perhaps creating an Institutional House Church in the process.

More than changing a few external rituals and adopting a so-called New Testament pattern to the exclusion of all others, coming out of Babylon requires an attitudinal adjustment on the part of the believer, a genuine paradigm shift and seeing the Lord and the Lord's Church; it cannot merely be a reacting to the obvious wrongs perpetuated in the name of God by Organized Religion. It is quite possible to be out of the system but still be bound to Babylon, still chained by bitterness and fixated with all that is wrong with the Body.

It is just as possible to be somewhat within the trappings of Organized Religion outwardly speaking, but have an ascendant spirit that overcomes within the midst of Babylon. Our whole goal should be to look beyond the external characteristics of how and where people worship. The only way to do this is to have an all-consuming revelation of Christ and the Ecclesia, the Body, His Church. Once we see that, we will understand that the external accessories of Organized Religion can neither help nor truly hurt the True Church, since Christ is bringing all things into subjection to Himself through the Church. This includes Organized Religion, Babylon, systems of false worship, denominationalism, wheat and tares, sheep and goats. The one that abides in Christ is joined to the Ecclesia and thus transcends all that is contrary. This contagious, unbridled liberty in Him cannot be bound or brought again under subjection to, or dependence upon, earthly religious institutions. Its identity is found in Christ, therefore it requires no external support systems or crutches. It accepts no substitutes, and immediately and effortlessly resists all attempts to rein it in.

"BY THE RIVERS OF BABYLON WE WEEP

Perhaps the fear is that once we are escaped from Churchianity that we may be deceived again, but not so with the one who has finally seen the Body. It is not that we find it necessary to wax bold or stand guard continually and purposely resist all attempts to institutionalize us in the name of God. When we have seen Christ and His Church, anyone attempting to lord over, corral, enclose, intimidate, manipulate, unlawfully influence or exert his or her spiritual whims upon us is rebuffed with a calm, quiet spirit. It is like striking the air, or stopping the ocean. The spirit of Jezebel simply cannot stand before the Spirit of Christ. It's so simple. We do not need to understand the spirit of Jezebel, we only need experiential knowledge of Christ within.

Again, we reiterate that it is not a question of learning or knowing, but of seeing. If we see Christ we will immediately react to all that is anti-Christ. Those who belong to Him will never accept the mark of the beast. All who know Truth can easily see through the false.

It is not uncommon for someone to sit within Babylon for years, know something is wrong, but be unable to express what it is. It is only after much soul-searching, prayer, counsel, sleepless nights and painful experiences that we are able to understand why the Spirit of Jesus is troubling us with regard to what is done in the name of Organized Religion. But we need not understand what troubles us in order to be troubled. To all who listen, to all who have ears to hear, He will voice His disapproval of all that is not sanctioned or condoned by Him. God is not so silent as many imagine, it is just our ears are dull. But when our hearing is sensitive, we will hear His protest when something is said or done in His Name that He does not endorse. If we are listening, we cannot but hear Him disavow the televangelist, who begs for more money, or the pastor who treats the sheep with contempt, or the prophet who speaks out of his own imagination.

If we can sit within Organized Religion, day in and day out, and drink it all in without the slightest provocation, without even a hint of being troubled in our inner man, with no twinge in our gut or pain in our heart whatsoever, then we are far gone; our hearts are hardened and our ears are dull. We are blind Pharisees.

You who call yourselves Christians: are you troubled by all that is proclaimed, confessed, bought and sold, taught, prophesied, promoted, and prayed about these days in Jesus' Name? Then rejoice, because you are still able to discern the Spirit of Jesus above the cacophony of religious voices spewing forth from Babylon. But if you are able to shrug it off or lightly dismiss it, blithely going your merry way, I would consider your Christianity to be nominal at best.

The Lord does not take it all in stride, or shrug it off. The responses of Jesus to the organized religionists of His day were many and varied. We find Him driving the merchants out of the Temple with a scourge of cords. We find Him engaging in public denunciations of the Pharisees, holding them up as shining examples of what NOT to do. At other times, He was silent, or simply hid Himself and departed. Which response strikes you as the most profound? In my opinion, it is a weighty matter to observe the Son of God simply walk away and ignore the religious leaders of His day. There is a time and season to speak, and a time to refrain, and we find the Lord knows how to do both. But I must confess that His silent rebuke, Him hiding His Face and turning away, strikes as much fear in my heart as His spoken Word and piercing gaze. What unbearable, deafening silence! What contempt He had for their hypocrisy! How His holy nature must have been repulsed! How can we not also be moved to indignation?

THE WAY OUT OF BABYLON

There is only one right way to leave Babylon, and that is by way of Christ. To leave because of hurt, bitterness, dissatisfaction with the status quo, rebellion, or anything short of seeing Christ is to be in a precarious situation. Certainly hurt, bitterness, and the like are compelling reasons to leave, but only when they drive us to Christ do they help and not hinder. If our experiences drive us into a quagmire of depression and unforgiveness then all meaning and purpose for the experience is lost. On the other hand, if our disenchantment, disillusionment, and despair drive us deeper into Christ, we will find healing through Him and we will be enabled to extend grace to those who persecuted us. Then the experience is meaningful, the pain had purpose, and the lesson is learned.

This is why we do not command all Christians everywhere to stop attending church services. To leave, or to stay, apart from revelation, apart from seeing Christ and His Body, and based only upon the word of some man or group, no matter how true, is not sufficient to escape from Babylon. Others may bring us out of Babylon, but they cannot bring Babylon out of us. This is the Lord's work. And this explains why we find some who have left Organized Religion but are not better off spiritually than they were before leaving. In fact, after several years they have become cold, aloof, distant, critical, and suspicious of others. Their world has become smaller, whereas the one who leaves Organized Religion because of revelation lives in a much larger world as entire new vistas of opportunity appear. With an awareness of the Body, fellowship is no longer restricted to time, place, church, or denomination, thus opportunities for fellowship abound. But with no consciousness of the Body, only an awareness of our personal pain and harsh treatment at the hands of a few, our defense mechanisms will prevent us from seeking out fellowship or risking further hurt by engaging other believers.

When we enter this Body consciousness we will not find it necessary to wax bold or stand guard continually and purposely resist all attempts to institutionalize us in the name of God. We do not have to fear what man may do to us. When we have seen Christ and His Church, anyone attempting to lord over, corral, enclose, intimidate, manipulate, unlawfully influence or exert his or her spiritual whims on us is rebuffed with a calm, quiet spirit. It is like striking the air, or stopping the ocean. The spirit of Jezebel simply cannot stand before the Spirit of Christ. It is so simple. It is only difficult because we make it difficult. We do not need to understand the spirit of Jezebel, we only need experiential knowledge of Christ within.

This experiential knowledge of Christ will also enable us to recognize Him in others, and call upon us to enter into fellowship with brothers and sisters of all backgrounds. We will not be overly critical or unnecessarily suspicious. The Anointing will teach us and lead us into proper relationships with others in the Body. No more will we judge others or restrict ourselves to our little home group, church, or denomination. Our basis for fellowship is Christ, and with Him as our common ground we will not be uncomfortable or threatened by people of different philosophical or doctrinal nuances. Either the Life is present, or it is not. If it is, we must not call Unclean whom God has called Clean.

We may be able to passionately and persuasively expound upon the evils of the religious institutionalism, be correct with our arguments, confirm the experience of others and sway the opinions of many; but perhaps the most compassionate thing we can do for those still bound by Organized Religion is to become secure enough in our walk with God and clear enough in our vision of Christ and His Body that we can worship together with them in spite of our ideological differences, modeling the freedom which belongs to all who are in Christ Jesus, in hope that they, too, can escape from Churchianity and experience the same liberty from the deadness of the Letter towards the freshness of the Spirit, far beyond the influence of Babylon.

Confusion In The Enemies Camp

Mark Kapheim

Please read the following with discernment.

This posting is directed to watchmen and intercessors.

I want to share with you what I have seen in the spirit the last few days. I am going to keep from going into any details because that is normally where I get into trouble.

I see a stirring in the enemies camp especially in the State of Louisiana. This stirring is the result of panic and confusion. The plan of the enemy through hurricanes Katrina and Rita has backfired on them. What they sought to expand their influence has diminished it.

The city of New Orleans which was a great power base for them now sits empty. Principalities gain power through the hearts and minds of people. With no people in the city to influence their power is diminishing. This is causing infighting in the enemy camp and for some of the principalities to leave and try to gain power in other locations.

This is a volatile time and the enemy is desperate. I believe the body of Christ can gain much ground but we must press in. Please cover the following areas in prayer:

1) There will be a battle for the money that has been donated through the hurricane relief efforts. We need to pray that this money is used for restoration and is not stolen away for other purposes.

2) Pray for containment of the evil that has been washed out of New Orleans and that it will not take root elsewhere.

3) Pray for wisdom for our Government and church leaders to bring direction to the Nation in this time.

4) Pray for a continuance of the compassion that has been poured out as people witnessed the suffering of others. This is the heart of God.

4) Pray for Israel and Iraq as the enemy has sought to gain ground there with the focus on the problems here in the United States.

Christ Is The Head

We are the body, and Christ is the Head of His body. Sometimes it seems there are many heads and many different bodies. We ought to be one church made up of many uniquely created individuals being led by the Head which is Christ. I had a recent conversation with Alan Smith, a dairy farmer from North Carolina who talked about the "Radical Middle". Alan Smith is one of those the Lord is using to present the supremacy of Christ in both the cultural and faith based expressions of His people. Alan has paid the price and prayed the price to receive the revelation the Lord has given him. We talked about the "Radical Middle" as being those that are radical for Jesus as the Head of the church. They also recognize the beauty of each of God's children and the path they on. They see that in Christ, there are many expressions of the Oneness of our God in all of His people. I will share more on the "Radical Middle" with Alan's help in the future.

The point I am trying to make is that the Father desires for all of His Children to become one under the same Commander and Chief. Through the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we will be able to appreciate more deeply the richness of biblical tradition and His logos Word, and the expression of the power and glory of prophetic revelation and miracles that go beyond what has ever been seen or written. This is all in alignment with His Word, but goes beyond the historical content and is adding to the History of His church. Church we need to embrace both and we need each other to become the transformational children the Lord desires. The "Radical Middle" in Christ's love, are the bridge makers for the multicultural and multi-organizational representation of Christ's church.

God has an order and blueprint, but He uses many characters and personalities within the framework of what He is building. Many are missing the vision of the "Radical Middle" and are drawing lines in the sand to defend their position, rather than defend His position on a unified Body of Christ. As we are the temple of the New Covenant, He is going beyond the four walls to affect communities with the Gospel and relevant goodwill of His people towards all nations and tribes.
There are those in all camps that are missing this revelation, and these camps come with many labels, from 5-fold to 1-fold and from denominationalism to non-denominationalism and sometimes unfortunately, on the edge of abominationalism.

We are witnessing today housewives, businessmen and women, government workers, teachers, etc. that are being fruitful in their existence as kings and priests in the context of their lives. Many have decided to make a difference in obedience to Christ's Supremacy in their lives rather than complain and be angry about existing leadership, programs, or injustices they see in the institutional model of churches. It is not our job to change the systems; it is our job to allow the Holy Spirit to change us. Then we will pray, then we can make a difference in love and obedience to the life that is not our own.

He is the Head and He is the one who will make the adjustments and changes.

Are there justifiable complaints in the systems of organized church?
Yes there are, but I say, "Don't wait for an organization or leadership style to change before you do. We can find much good in much of what has brought us thus far in our church experience. As the preeminence of Christ reigns supreme in our hearts and lives, we can pray for Him to usher His Wind of change and His will upon the rest of it. Don't wait for others to take off your training wheels, the Father desires for you to ride with Him. He will pedal with you as you ride through life under His command.

There will be fathers & mothers the Lord will have walk with us, and we will also become fathers and mothers as true discipleship in His church continues to manifest. The churches and systems that do not disciple and build God's way will not grow in number and maturity towards kingdom fruitfulness. Father desires that we submit one to another. The dynamic of mutual respect and honor in His love is a key component of how He builds. The one man show, or the clergy over laity systems, will be replaced or expounded by every believer understanding their priestly and kingly place in his kingdom.

Everything we have learned and experienced until now has brought us to "Here". I am thankful for where I am at, but can only be satisfied by my continuous pursuit of Him and desire to be like Him, in every jurisdiction of life. I know what I know, I know what I don't know, but until it is revealed to me, I do not know, what I do not know. It is in the humility of this type of thinking that we can all embrace where we are at now and at the same time embrace, where others are at in their lives. We are to encourage and not discourage the people of God. We are to lovingly correct, rather than toss shame, condemnation or judgment at a brother or sister in Christ.

God desires to heal us and heal our land. We must make Him the head of our lives and Him the goal of our pursuit, and His likeness the desire of our lifestyle. We have limited Him in many areas of our life and our nation, because He only rewards those who diligently seek Him and His righteousness. Join me in pursuing the "Radical Middle"; let us make a name for our God, first in us, then through our families and communities, and then the nations of the world. Christ is the Head of His church and only in Him do we find our unity and purpose.

Combat In The Heavenly Realm

John Mulinde

Obsteig (Austria) Nov. 2000

The devil is a liar ! Now speak it like you really mean it : the devil is a liar ! Hallelujah. Can I tell you something ? This morning, as we were praying, the Spirit of the Lord said to me, « I'm opening up the heavens. » And the Lord said to me, « I'm making a way for even the weakest to walk through. » And I just felt in my spirit that God is empowering us to undo what the enemy has done in our lives. Hallelujah, praise the name of the Lord, and that was before we finished praying. And then after we prayed that happened. And it's one thing, when God opens up the heavens, the presence comes down. Hallelujah. Even as we are going to be sharing the Word now, keep that in your mind, that God has put an open heaven over us, and we want to move into prayer after the word from that position. Let's pray.

Father, we give all praise and glory to You. Our hearts rejoice in knowing You, Lord. We thank You, Father, for this morning. We thank You for this moment. Lord, again we humble ourselves before You. And we say, let Your Holy Spirit come upon us. Come and teach us, Lord. Come and equip us, Lord. Energize us, O Father. Charge us with power, and launch us into the heavenly realms to go and wage war against the powers. Lord, I pray in the name of Jesus that the anointing which breaks the yoke will rest upon Your people. And let Your will be done. In Jesus Christ we pray.

Let‘s read from the book of Ephesians. Chapter 6, from verse 10 to 13.

Finally my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the whiles of the devil. Because we wrestle not against flesh and blood but against principalities and powers, and against the rulers of the darkness of this world and against spritiual wickedness in high places. Therefore, take unto you the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.

In this session, we want to focus on the use of our spiritual armor and on what happens when we pray. In our day, many Christians believe the Bible, but they don't see a place for spiritual armor. They read about these weapons of warfare. They love to talk about them. But you ask them, « When did you last put on your weapons of warfare ? Do you know how to use them ? Do you know how to apply them in your day-to-day walk ? » And many Christians don't even know one from the other. This is not the plan of God. Apostle Paul wrote to the Corinthians and said, « I don't want you to be ignorant of spiritual things, lest the devil take advantage of you. » There are some things, if we don't care to know about them, the devil will take advantage of us. Now we cannot go into a full discussion of the spiritual weapons and how to use them. In Uganda, when we have the opportunity to just handle this alone, we put aside a week to learn and then to apply. God, it is not just knowledge we want ; we want to walk with it in life. We want to be overcomers.

I want to share with you from a testimony of someone who was saved, someone who had been serving the devil. And when that man gave his testimony, it so challenged me, I did not want to believe it. I had to go ten days before the Lord in fasting, asking Him, « Lord, is this true ? » And it was at that time the Lord began to teach me what happens in the spiritual realm when we pray.

This man was born after his parents dedicated themselves to lucifer. When he was still in the womb, they made so many rituals dedicating him to serve lucifer. When he was four years old, he began to exercise his spiritual power. And his parents began fearing him. When he was six years, his father surrendered him to the witches to go and be trained. And by ten years, he was doing great things in the kingdom of the devil. He was feared by the normal witches. He was still a young boy, but he was so terrible in the things he did. He grew up to be a young man in his twenties with so much bloodshed on his hands. Killed at will. He had the ability to go out of his body through transcendental meditation. And he could levitate. Sometimes his body would lift off the ground and stay in the air. And sometimes he could go into a trance, and come out of his body ; his body would remain behind, and he would go out into the world. Called astro-travelling. And this guy was used by satan to destroy so many churches, to break down so many churches and to destroy so many pastors.

One day, he was assigned to destroy a church that was so full of prayer. There were so many divisions in this church, and so many confusions. And he began to work on this church. But at that time, the pastor called a fast for the whole church. And the church began to fast, and during the fasting, there was a lot of repentance and a lot of reconciliation. And the people came together, and they began to pray for the work of the Lord in their midst. And they continued interceding and crying to God to have mercy and intervene in their lives. And as they days went by, this man was coming again and again with demon spirits against this church. But there was a word of prophecy that came telling the Christians to rise up and to wage warfare against the powers of darkness that were attacking the church.

So one day, this man leaves his body in his room and goes astro-travelling. And leads a mighty force of demonic spirits against this church. Now this is his testimony. He was moving in the spirit in the air over the church and they were trying to attack, but there was a covering of light over the church. And suddenly, there was an army of angels that attacked them and there was fighting in the air, and all the demons fled, but he was arrested. Arrested by whom ? The angels ! And he saw himself being held by about six angels, and they brought him through the roof right before the altar. And there he was. And the people were praying. They were deep in prayer in spiritual warfare, binding and breaking and casting out. And the pastor was on the platform leading the prayers and the warfare. And the Spirit of the Lord spoke to the pastor, and said, « The yoke has been broken, and the victim is there before you. Help him through deliverance. » And he opened his eyes and he saw this young man, who had collapsed there. His body was with him. He was in his body. The young man says he doesn't know how his body joined him ; he had left it in his house. But there he was in his body, and he didn't know how he had entered in except the angel had carried him through the roof.

Now these things are difficult to believe, but the pastor silenced the church and told the church what the Lord had told him and asked the young man, « Who are you ? » The young man was trembling, and the demons began coming out of him. So they prayed for deliverance, and afterwards, he began to share his life. That young man has now come to the Lord and is now an evangelist, preaching the Gospel. And he is being used by the Lord mightily in setting other people free in the ministry of deliverance. But one night, I went to a dinner, and the sole reason I went is that someone told me about this young man, and I was so curious to see him. So I sat at that dinner and some time in the evening, this man was given the chance to give his testimony. And he talked about so many things. Sometimes he cried because of the things he did. And then as he finished, he made an appeal. There were so many pastors in that room. And he said, « I appeal to you, pastors. Please teach the people how to pray. » The people who don't pray can be taken in anything, in anything by the devil, and there are ways that the enemy exploits their lives and their prayers. People who don't know how to pray, they literally pray, and the enemy knows even how to exploit their prayers. We're going to talk about that. And he also said to the pastors, « Teach the people how to use the spiritual armor that God provides. »

Then he began to give a testimony of how he used to lead expositions into the air. He would go with other satanic agents and lots of demon spirits into the air. It was like a shift, you've got to go and work your shift. So regularly he had a time he had to go and wage war in the heavenlies. And he said that in the heavenlies, in the spiritual realm, if the land is covered under the blanket of darkness, that blanket is so thick , it is like a rock. And it covers the whole area. And these spirits are able to go on top of this as well as below this blanket. And from that level, they influence the events on earth. Both evil spirits and human agents that are serving the devil and when they leave their shifts they go down on earth at the points of covenant, even waters or on the land at the points of covenant for refreshing of their spirit. And how do they refresh their spirit ? By the sacrifices that people give at these altars. They could be sacrifices in open witchcraft, they could be sacrifices in bloodshed of all types including abortion, including warfare and human sacrifices and animal sacrifices. They could be sacrifices of sexual immorality where people go into sexual perversions and all kinds of promiscuity. And that act services the strength of these powers. And many are the different types of sacrifices.

He talked about lots of things which really troubled my mind. He said when they are up there and the Christians begin to pray on earth, the prayers of the Christians appear to them in three forms. All prayers appear like smoke that is rising up into the heavens, and he says that some prayers appear like smoke and they go meandering and disappear in the air. He says that the people who normally pray like that and their prayers disappear are people who have sin in their lives and they are not willing to deal with it. Their prayers are so weak, they are blown and they disappear in the air.

And he said there are others whose prayers are like smoke that rises up until it reaches this rock, but it does not break through the rock. He says, usually these are who try to purify themselves, but they lack the faith in what they are doing as they pray. And usually they ignore the other keys to use/areas that they need to put together in prayer.

It says that the third type of prayer is like smoke that is filled with fire. And as it rises up, it is so hot that as it reaches the rock, the rock begins to melt like wax and it pierces that rock and goes through, and he said many times, people begin to pray and their prayers are like the first type of prayer, but as they continue praying, their prayers change and become like the second prayer. And as they continue praying, suddenly there is suddenly fire that is filling their prayers. And their prayers become so powerful, they pierce through the rock. And he said, many times would they notice the prayers of the saints changing and coming very close to the state of fire, they communicate to other spirits on earth and they tell them, « Distract that person from prayer. Stop them praying. Pull them out. » And many times so many Christians yield to these distractions. They are pressing through, they are repenting. They are allowing the Word to check their spirit up. Faith has been building up. Their prayers are becoming more focused. Then the devil sees their prayers are gaining strength and the distractions begin. Telephones ring. Sometimes we, in the middle of very, very intense prayer, the telephone rings and you think you can go to answer the phone and then come back and continue praying. When you come back, you go back to the beginning. And that’s what the devil wants. Other kinds of distractions come your way, even if it means touching your body and bringing some pain somewhere. Even if it means making you hungry and you want to go to the kitchen and fix something to eat. As long as they can get you out of that place, they have defeated you. And he will say to the pastors, « Teach people. Set aside some time. Not for just some casual kind of praying. They can do that the rest of the day. Once in a day, they should have a time when they are focusing wholeheartedly on God, nothing distracting them. And if people persist in this kind of prayer and allow themselves to be inspired in the spirit and keep going and keep going, something happens in the spirit. The fire touches that rock, and it melts. And this man said, when the melting begins, it is so hot, no demon spirit can stand it. No human spirit can stand it. They all flee. They all run away. There comes an opening in the spiritual realm. And as soon as this comes, all this trouble in prayer stops. The person who is praying on the ground just feels like prayer is suddenly so smooth, so enjoysome and so powerful and intense. And I’ve discovered at that moment, we normally lose conscience of time and other things. Not that we become disorderly. God takes care of our time. But it is like you lay down everything, and you hook up with God. And this man said that when the prayers go through, from that moment there can be no resistance at all, and the person praying will continue as long as he wants. There is no resistance that can stop him.

And then he said, after he finishes praying, the hole remains open, and he said that people, when they rise out of their place of prayer, and they walk out, this open hole moves along with them. They are no longer operating under the blanket. They are operating under open heavens. And he said in that state, the devil cannot do what he wants against them. And the presence of the Lord is like a pillar from heaven resting on their lives. They are protected, and there is so much power inside that pillar that as they move around, that presence touches other people. It discerns what the enemy has done in other people. And as they talk to people and those people are standing with them, they come inside this pillar. And as long as they stay inside that pillar, all the bondages of the enemy weaken. So when these people who have this spiritual break-through share Jesus Christ with the sinners, their resistance is low. It is so easy to bring them through. When they pray for the sick or pray about things, the presence which is there makes all the difference. And this man said the devil hates such people. And it said if there are places where prayer is regularly being prayed through like that, the presence comes upon that place and does not leave. So even the people who don't know God, when they come into this place suddenly all the bondages are weakened. And if someone cared to just minister to them patiently and with love, they can easily be pulled through, not by power nor by might but by the Spirit of God, who is present. And he said, if no one bothers about these people, they come into his presence, they feel convicted, they begin to debate whether to yield or not, but if they are not pulled through, when they walk away from this place, bondages get stronger. And the devil tries his best not to allow them to come back into such an environment.

You can imagine we were all seated looking at this man. He was telling us the things he used to do and what he used to see. Then he told us what they would do to people who have broken through in prayer. He said they marked such people ; they studied such people. They dug up everything they could find about such people. So they knew their weaknesses, and when someone overcomes them in prayer and breaks through, they communicate with other spirits and say, « Target him with this and with this and with this. These are his weaknesses. » So when this person walks out of the prayer closet, the spirit of prayer is upon him, the presence is upon him, his spirits are high, the joy of the Lord is his strength. As he moves the enemy tries to bring those things that can distract him from focusing on the Lord. If his weakness is in the area of temper, then the enemy is going to cause people to do things which can make him really angry. And if he is not sensitive to the Holy Spirit, and he allows himself to go into the temper, he takes his eyes off the Lord. He gets angry, he feels so furious, and after a few minutes later, he wants to put that behind him and move along in the joy of the Lord, but he doesn't feel it anymore. He tries to feel good again ; he doesn't feel any good again. Why ? As he yielded to the temptation, they worked hard to close the door upstairs. And once they restore the rock, the presence is cut off. The person does not cease being a child of God. But that extra anointing that goes on his life, that presence that could do things without his manipulating anything, it's just cut off. They seek out where the weaknesses are. If it is in the temptation to sexuality, the enemy will prepare people, events, something that will suddenly draw out that passion to go towards that temptation. And if that man yields to this temptation and opens up his mind to receive these thoughts, entertains them, when he is through with everything and wants to move again in the anointing, he just discovers it is no longer there. Maybe you say, « That's not fair. » Just remember what the Bible says, « Put on the helmet of salvation. Put on the breastplate of righteousness. » We normally do not see the position, the place of these weapons of warfare. But remember what Jesus told us to pray towards the end of the Lord's prayer, « Take us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one. » Every time you have a breakthrough in prayer, as you come to the end, remember you are still a weak human being. Remember you have not yet been perfected. Ask the Lord, say «Lord, I've enjoyed this time of prayer, but when I walk out into this world, lead me not into temptation. Don't allow me to walk into the devil's trap. I know the enemy is setting a trap out there. I don't know what form it is going to take. And I know I am still weak in certain areas. If I am just put in the right place, I will yield to that. Protect me, Lord. When you see me turning that corner where the trap is, just cause me to turn to the other side. Intervene, O Lord. Don't allow me to move by just my own strength and ability. Deliver me from the evil one. » God is able to do that. He is able. That is why sometimes things happen, all you need to say is, « Thank you, Jesus. » That's why Apostle Paul wrote in the book of Thessalonians and said, « Thank God in everything for that is the will of God in Christ for you. » Some things are not good. They are painful, and we wonder why God would allow it. But if only we knew what He is saving us from, we would thank Him. When we learn to trust the Lord, we just thank Him in everything.

Beloved, I don't know whether to go deeper because I do not want to start something I cannot finish.

Let me just try to take one step forward. And this man said that when prayer breaks through like that, the answer will always come. He said he does not know a case where prayer broke through and the answer did not come. He said the answer always came, but in most cases, it would never get to the person who asked. Why? Battle in the heavenlies. He says as long as they succeed in cutting off the open heavens and the rock is restored, they watch this person, they are waiting because they know the answer is definitely coming. And then this man spoke something that really shook my faith. It is because of the next part he shared that I went into fasting ten days to say, Lord, is this true ? Can you prove it to me ? This man said that every Christian has got an angel serving that Christian. Now we know the Bible says angels are ministering spirits to us. He said that when people pray, the answer comes in the hands of the angel. The angel brings the answer like we can read it in the book of Daniel. Then he said something realy tough; if the one who prays knows the spiritual armours and is clothed with them, the answer comes by an angel who is also clothed in full armour. if the one who prayes don’t care about spiritual armoury, their angels come without spiritual armour. Christians who don’t care about what kind of thoughts come into their minds. They don’t fight the battle of their minds. Their angels come without the helmet . Whatever spiritual weapon you ignore on earth, the angel doesn’t have it as he serves you. In other words, our spiritual armour is not protecting our physical bodies ; it’s protecting our spiritual exploits. This man said, when the angel is coming, they would focus and look at him and notice the areas which are not covered, and those are the areas they would attack. If he has no helmet, they would shoot at his head. If he has no breastplate, they would shoot at his chest. If he has no shoes, they would make a fire that he is walking in the fire. Now I am just repeating what this man said. Actually, we asked him, « Can angels feel fire ? » And you know what he said to us ? Remember this is a spiritual realm. These are spirits dealing with spirits. The battle is intensive, and when they overpower an angel of God, the first thing they target is the answer he is carrying, and they get that from him, that is what they give through the cults, the witchcraft, and people say, « I got this because of witchcraft. »

Remember what the Bible says in the book of James ? All good things come from God. So where does the devil get the things he gives to his people? Some people who cannot have children, they go to witch doctors and satanists, and they get pregnant ! Who gave them that baby ? Is satan a creator ? NO ! He steals from those who don’t pray to the end. Jesus said, « Pray without ceasing. » And then He said, «But when the Son of Man comes, will He find faith ? » Will He find you still there waiting ? Or will you have given up and the enemy would steal what you have prayed for ?

Then this man said that they are not satisfied with just stealing the answer. They are also interested in detaining the angel. And they start fighting him. And he said sometimes they succeed in holding and binding the angel. And he says, when that happens, the Christian is a victim on earth. They can do anything with that Christian because he is totally left without ministry in the Spirit. I said to him, « Do you mean an angel can be held in captivity by demonic forces ? » This man did not even know the scriptures by the time he was saying all this. He did not know very many scriptures. He was just sharing his experiences. And he said, they wouldn’t hold the angel too long because as other Christians prayed elsewhere, reinforcement would come, and the angels would go free. If the Christian responsible did not pray through, he remains a captive. Then the enemy sends his own angel as an angel of light to this person, and that is where the deceptions come in. False visions and false prophecies. False leadership, I mean leading, guidance in the spirit, making wrong decisions of all types. And many times this person is open to all kinds of attack and bondages. And I asked the Lord. I left that dinner so troubled, so troubled. I said, « Lord, I don’t want even to try and believe this. » It removes all my confidence, my security. When I went to seek the Lord, it was ten days, the Lord did two things. He did not only confirm the things I had heard, he opened my mind to see a lot more that this man could not tell us of what happens in the spiritual realm. And two, he led me to see what we are supposed to do as the things are happening so that we are not overcome but that we can overcome. And we need to know three things and really come to terms with these three things.

One : how to operate with the weapons of our warfare. The Bible calls them the armour of God. It is not our armour ; it is God’s armour. When we use it, we allow God to fight on our behalf. Two : understand the relationship of the ministering spirits—the angels—to our spiritual lives. And to be sensitive to what is happening in our hearts as a leading to what needs to be happening in the spirit concerning us. That brings us to the third thing : that is the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is not supposed to come as our servant, serving us and bringing things to us. He does not run to and fro to the Father to tell Him what we need. That is the work of angels. But He stands by our side. Doing what ? Guiding us, teaching us, leading us, helping us to pray the right way. And when these things are happening in the spiritual realm, He tells us, sometimes He wakes you up in the night and says, « Pray. » You say, « No ! My time is not yet come. » And He says, « Pray now ! » Why ? He sees what is happening in the spirit. Sometimes He says, « Tomorrow—fasting ! » You say, « Oh, no, I'll start on Monday ! » But He understands what is happening in the spiritual realm. We should learn to be sensitive to the Holy Spirit. He guides us in the paths of righteousness. Beloved we've got to stop here. Maybe tomorrow morning, we can talk about how we can pray through, knowing the battles in the spirit and how we can break through. How we can maintain our breakthrough once we have scored it. And once we learn this, it becomes enjoyable. Then we learn one thing : the battle is not ours ; the battle is of the Lord ! Hallelujah! Let's just stand up. Look someone in the eye, and just think about how many times that person could have missed what God had for him. But join your hands if you can, two or three people, and just tell each other, « There's no need for more defeat ! We can overcome ! There is enough power to overcome ! Jesus has already done the whole work. » Pray for each other that the Lord will help us to overcome. We should not lose. There is enough grace, enough power for victory.

Thank you, Jesus.

Civil Unrest

Ephraim Frank

Israel

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

The crisis and fracture that we are experiencing at present in Israel are spreading far and wide, into all sectors of society. It is not a mere division between Left and Right, Secularists as opposed to Religionists. It is not just the Rightists and Religious who are disenchanted with the situation, and with their leader Ariel Sharon, who for many years was a supporter of settling the Land, both within the so called Green Line, and mainly beyond it, in Judea, Samaria and Gaza. Now many others, from all walks of life, are realizing that there is a major issue here at stake; the entire cause, reason and justification for Israel's very existence are being questioned. Below is a manifesto on behalf of those whose ideological roots have always been the Labor-leftist camp. These people are the ones who have been part of settling-the-Land movement, living in rural, mostly agricultural communities (not in the "settlements" of the Gaza and "West Bank"). It is this secular Labor-Land movement which was at the root and core of the return to the Land about hundred years ago. What is so interesting is that many who hail out of that movement are watching how their leaders have gone so far left, to be now completely at odds with the ideologies of the founding fathers of this movement. Therefore they cannot agree with their own movement's approach and are even quoting the (Zionist) founding fathers of their own movement to show how off course things have gone now, so much so that if these old-time leftist leaders would be aware of the current events they would roll over in their graves.

Below is the said manifesto. We added explanations in the square brackets. This manifesto has been distributed for the purpose of calling a mass meeting, the second one in two weeks. Rimona translated it from the Hebrew document.

"We, residents of the "landed" communities [kibbutzim and moshavim, who traditionally used to belong to the leftist Labor movement] are voicing our cry, a manifesto, in support of the pioneers of Gush Katif [the Gaza settlers] and Northern Samaria [the two areas slated for evacuation, for "starters"].

"We will protect the settlements with our bodies."

In face of a corrupt leader who is supported by anti-Zionist parties, in face of the betrayal of the constituents by their representatives, in face of a State which is deteriorating rapidly into an abyss out of which it may not be able to rescue itself. we the members of the working [rural] communities are making an outcry against the plan of destroying the settlements and the entire Land Settling Enterprise .

We will raise our voices and call to the People, repeating the words of David Ben Gurion [Israel's first prime minister who had a major role to play in creating the State, and himself a Labor Movement man who did not lean to the Right or to religion]:

"Down with the (British) mandate government [prior to Israel's independence in 1948] and with the White Paper". As it was then, in 1939, after four years of bloody and murderous events, and after the defeat that the mandatory government dealt to the Arab terror, it (the mandatory government) handed over to the murderers the big prize in the form of the White Paper forbidding Jew to immigrate and to purchase land, similarly today, after 4 years of war against Arab terror, an anti-Zionist government [only this time a Jewish one] is handing the murderers the top prize and is expelling and eradicating the nation's pioneers of Gush Katif and Northern Samaria who bravely withstood the attacks and did not surrender in battle.

Let us also remember the words of David Ben Gurion spoken in the 21st Zionist Congress: "No Jew has the right to give up and hand over the Jewish People's entitlement to the land. No Jewish body, or even the Jewish nation, has the authority to give up any one part of the land. It is a right that cannot be expropriated. Any concession of land is not binding upon the Jewish people. We will insist upon this right in any legal and moral means available to us."

Sharon, listen to the voice of this People! This People will not let you hand over our land to the Arab enemy and to expel us from our homeland! We know that Gush Katif is only the beginning, after which will be the turn of the Jordan Valley, the Golan Heights, Judea and Samaria. Israel will return to the "Auschwitz borders", a term coined by former Foreign Minister, Abba Eban [who, like Ben Gurion, was not a rightist or religious]. This is the battle for Israel's future. This Nation elected you in order to strengthen the settlements and not in order to destroy them. You have no mandate to stay in power one moment longer. You must go to the people and call for an election. We the people of the working-rural communities, who formed Israel's borders with the furrow of the plough, are calling out: A People at war does not eradicate the pioneers who are in the front lines and destroys their homes; A People at war fights its enemies and not its defenders; A People at war apprehends murderers and does not let them go; A People at War must be united and strong. This mad, ludicrous, anti-Zionist action will divide the People and will forever change the I.D.F and Israel, making Israel a different state, a state of brutal troopers, of incarceration camps for the masses, of terrible brotherly hatred, while at the same time millions of Muslims are making ready tools of war against us in order to annihilate us. The heads of the Left, who are like a herd stampeding amok behind Sharon need to remember the truths voiced by their own leader [of the past], Yaacov Hazan: "In order to reassure our national, political and independent existence we have to fight against the creation of another Arab state in the West Bank. The creation of such a state will spell disaster for us and for the Arabs. The focus of such a state will be the destruction of the State of Israel, in spite of agreements and covenants, and even a peace treaty. Life will prove stronger than all of these, and take its toll. Such an Arab state will be birthed by the P.L.O. The Palestinian Covenant is not a political plan which can be exchanged for another plan. It is expresses a world view, a philosophy. and it will be the one which will formulate the national essence of its residents. The creation of such a state will mean going to battle all over again, over the first Partition Plan [of the Land of Israel formulated by the U.N. in 1947 which the Jews accepted and the Arabs rejected, a fact which sparked the War of Independence during which Israel retrieved many more sections of the Land] . A third country in the space of Land which constitutes Israel [as Jordan is also within that space] portents almost without doubt a war, and one that will take place immediately" (Yaacov Hazan 1978).

Ordering the I.D.F. to destroy towns and remove their residents forcibly is clearly illegal. We won't allow you to turn our soldiers into brutes. The IDF is Israel's defense force and not a force at war with Israel.

The Arab enemy does not hide its schemes. The enemy wants to throw us out of our historical homeland. The enemy's insignia is an image of the entire land, including Tel Aviv. They say these things very directly, without camouflaging their intents, just watch their internet sites and T.V stations. The P.L.O's phase plan [for destroying Israel by phases] has not been put away with the Oslo Agreement. On the contrary, it has been revised, reinforced and gained momentum.

The battle for Gush Katif is also the battle for the Jordan Valley, the Golan, Judea, Samaria and Jerusalem. The battle is all about the justice of the Zionist cause! In these frenzied days let's call to mind the words of poet Natan Alterman, who was "an entire Land of Israel" man, words which were penned as if out of some terrible foresight:

Then Satan said: this hidden and preserved one, how will I subdue him? For he is brave and endowed with skill to act and fight, Resourcefulness and counsel are his. Therefore I will not weaken him, nor will I bridle him. I will not cause him to fear, or make his hands to fail, as I did in the past. Only this will I do: I will cloud his mind, and he will lose all memory of the morality and justice of his cause. End of Manifesto.

Thanks for your prayers and have a restfilled Shabbat.

Cliff Notes

Mark Kapheim

In the spirit I see a person pacing back and forth on a great cliff.

This is not the first time they have been to the cliff.

The view is breath taking. It use to be enough to just come and stand in awe but no longer.

They have back tracked from this cliff many times in search of another way to go on. None has been found and the path always leads back here, to the cliff.

A familiar voice comes to them saying they have gone as far as they can. What they desire is not for this life. That will only be found in the next life. This voice has been a comfort in past but no longer. For another voice is rising up from within them saying "You must go on, there is more".

I see writing on the side of the cliff. As I get closer I am able to make out the words. They read "The end of self". This cliff marks the end of self. This person, has come to the end of them self. There is no way, in their ability, to go on. So they pace back and forth.

Have you come to this cliff?

Yes you have. You have been to this cliff many times, in many different situations. Always, a way was provided for you. But now this cliff looks so much higher. The chasm so much deeper, wider, farther then it had been before.

What will you do?

I then see a smile fill the sky and hear a cheer and a great belly laugh of joy rattle the heavens.

I look back to the cliff and the person is no longer there.

I look back to the sky and see a great Eagle flying directly into the sun. Within His talons is the person I saw on the cliff.

There is a way to go on.

It just requires a little step of faith. :)

When we step beyond our self, is when we find God. Or should I say, that is where He enjoys, to finds us.

Exodus 19:4

"Ye have seen what I did unto the Egyptians, and how I bare you on eagles' wings, and brought you unto myself".

Is. 40:31

"But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint".

I parted the waters for you to walk out of slavery into freedom. I parted the waters for you to walk out of the desert into the promised land. But if you want to walk in the fullness of your calling. If you want to walk in the Heavenlies and the wonders of the Kingdom. I will not part the waters for you. You are just going to have to learn to walk on top of them. :)

Blessings in Him,
Mark Kaphaem

Come, Lord Jesus!

Celia Rose Okhuysen (USA)

Dream February 1, 1994

Through the airport passenger lounge windows, I could see that It was nighttime. I met an unfamiliar you fair complexioned woman who appeared to be in her mid-twenties, pleasant looking, and dressed in li casual clothing. She carried no personal effects, not even a handbag.

We began talking, and she told me that she was on her way to meet someone. She also told me that h something to do with the ocean water she had to travel over in order to meet him. She spoke of the ma great joy and excitement.

Next, we were flying over an enormous peaceful body of deep blue water. She sat by the window while the aisle seat. There was an empty seat between us. While it was nighttime, from where I sat I could cl see the blue color of the water and its vastness through the window. Eventually, we landed at a tropical surrounded by beautiful aqua-blue waters and white sand beaches. I could clearly see the color of the and sand in the dark.

It was still nighttime, and I was no longer with the young woman. I was now in the midst of many differen of people on the island. Although I did not recognize anyone, I had now joined them in waiting for some appear. We were quite excited.

Next, we saw the young woman with whom I traveled on the plane. She was dressed as a bride and beautifully radiant. Everyone admired her radiance and loveliness. She appeared quite eager for the bridegroom's arrival, and we joined her in waiting for him. END

INTERPRETATION

The nighttime represents the spiritual climate of the sinful age we live in. The young fair complexioned woman represents the faithful Church of Jesus Christ of Nazareth (Rev. 3:7-13). She carried no perso items, symbolizing that she had spiritually detached herself from all worldliness. In other words, she ca no baggage which is interpreted here as sin.

Her great joy and excitement as she spoke of waiting to meet someone who had a connection with the we traveled over symbolically represents the soon appearance of Lord Jesus — the Living Waters. Th "blue" represents Holy Spirit and His moving throughout and keeping the Church immersed in Savior a Lord Jesus Christ, Son of the Living God. (Through Holy Spirit's anointing, I am able to clearly disting colors in the dark in dreams.)

Arriving at a tropical island surrounded by peaceful waters represents a state of peace and holiness th faithful and anticipating Church of Lord Jesus currently finds Herself in as She determinedly persevere working out Her salvation with fear and trembling (Phil. 2:12). Holy Spirit continues to guide and help H remaining faithful through ongoing immersion in prayer and faithful nourishment for Her spiritual strengt reading and studying the Word.

The radiant bride represents the Church, symbolized by the many different kinds of people as we await appearance of Lord Jesus to rapture us into Glory to be with Him forevermore.

>> For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and w trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive and remain shall be caug together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And thus we shall always be with the Lord Therefore comfort one another with these words (1Thes. 4:16, 17).

>> Now this I say, brethren [Saints], that FLESH AND BLOOD CANNOT INHERIT THE KINGDOM GOD; nor does corruption [sin, pride, and self-righteousness] inherit incorruption [glory]. Behold, I tell mystery: we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised incorruptible [glorious], and we [a that moment] shall be changed [become glorious]. For this corruptible [flesh and blood] must put on incorruption [a glorious body], and this mortal [flesh and blood] must put on immortality [eternal life]. Clarity Of Vision
Becky McLendon

This afternoon in prayer the Lord gave me some words to write down and ponder.

"Do all you do with clarity of vision.
My vision. Not yours.
A crystal sea has clarity of vision.
This does away with seeing through the glass darkly.

"Clarity of vision takes you to the place of enlargement.
Your own vision is a narrowness.
Clarity of vision gives you a Kingdom view.
It is an unshakeable Kingdom.
It is an everlasting Kingdom.
It is established before the foundation of the world,
And not made by human hands.
There is no sound of a hammer in My Kingdom.

"My people with clarity of vision are like streams of clear water,
Coming together,
What do you think the river which flows out of the throne of God is made of?
Let My vision flow.
What is it for?
HEALING!
JOY!
PEACE!
RIGHTEOUSNESS AND HOLINESS!

"Clarity of vision is a single eye.
The Light of the body is the eye;
Therefore if thine eye is single, thy whole body
Shall be full of light!
You are to be a people of single eye, so the Whole body can be full of light.

"Your eye is CHRIST's eye if it is single.
And you shall be as the light of the morning
When the sun shall rise,
Even a morning without clouds as the tender grass
Springing out of the earth by clear shining after the rain.

"They shall say of you, 'Who is she that looketh forth
As morning, fair as the morn, clear as the sun and terrible
As an army with banners?"

"For I will take My rest and I will consider my dwelling place like a clear heat and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest.

"For blessed is the man in whose spirit there is no guile.
To have a single eye means you are clear as the sun and have no guile in your spirit.

"Put things on hold and wait on Me to get clarity of Vision.
There is too much "to and fro;" "too much agenda;" and "too much speculation."

" So again, do all you do with clarity of vision!"

Amen and Amen.

They
Becky McLendon

They can take prayer away from us. They can take the Ten Commandments from us. They can confiscate and burn our Bibles. They can bash political leaders from all geo-political nations. They can "separate" church from state, not realizing they are forming a state church in doing so, and also not realizing that GOD separates HIS TRUE CHURCH FROM THE "STATE" anyway. They can RIP "One nation under God" out of our "PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE" (because our ALLEGIANCE is not to a flag but to a theocratical, supernatural Kingdom that is not of this world (system).

They (whoever they are...and THEY are a people of lawlessness (rebellious and reprobate) can do all these things but THEY CANNOT TAKE CHRIST OUT OF US, AND IF CHRIST IS IN US, PRAYER IS IN US, THE WORD IS IN US AND AN ANOINTED COMMITMENT IS IN US TO OCCUPY THIS LAND IN SPITE OF "THEM"...NO MATTER WHERE OR HOW. It is getting down to THIS: Christ asks of every one of us WHO ARE YOU and WHERE ARE YOU and WHY ARE YOU HERE. If we do not know the answer to that, He says of us...GO AWAY I NEVER KNEW YOU. God makes a difference in His own people, IN SPITE of the raging of the heathen, both the "religious" and the wicked (which are all BABYLON anyway).

If your average Joe Blow Christian cannot "see" the kingdom of lawlessness at work wherever they live, then they are part of that kingdom and only the HOLY SPIRIT can reveal it and deliver them from it. As for they??? Let the heathen rage and the people speak a vain thing. Our God is an awesome God, and we are citizens of His kingdom where none of what they are conspiring to do behind their closed doors in the night will ever enter His kingdom. Look to JESUS and go on in Him, leaving this all behind you. Let His testimony reach its fullness in you, thereby drawing men unto Jesus. Oh there will be a lot of dying on the way. Oh there will be riches sold and a cross taken up. There will be a realization that everything that can be shaken WILL BE SHAKEN. And His Kingdom which cannot be shaken is all that remains.

So many fail to "see" the unshakable unseen kingdom of God. They are too busy scrutinizing what they are doing and wringing their hands. They do not determine our destiny if we are true believers. So let the "party go on." Fret not over evil doers, lest you get so caught up in your fretting you begin practicing evil yourself by bashing and campaigning against them. The wicked will do wickedly and the righteous will do righteously and never the twain shall meet. Let them have their ranting. GO INTO YOUR PRAYER CLOSET AND INTERCEDE FOR GOD'S PEOPLE of all generations. For the mystery of iniquity and the mystery of righteousness are both at work in the earth. And it STILL boils down to this: Many are called but few are chosen. We are not going to "revive" the they of the world. They can't be "revived" if they have never "LIVED." Only Christ in His Spirit, His anointing can do that. Will Jesus find FAITH in the earth when He comes? Selah

Child’s Life Threatened by Mangy Lion

Judy Bauman

Dream 1/25/05

rivermistlighthouse1@comcast.net

In this dream I was coming out of a building with a group of people. We had been at some sort of seminar, but I didn’t recognize anyone in the group. As we were walking out under a long awning, I saw right in front of us a large but thin and mangy looking male lion prowling down the middle of street. He saw the group, but paid no attention to us. As he looked for prey, the lion saw some children playing unsupervised. They were directly in front of him and to our left. As he started to stalk them, they all scattered to get away from him. The lion picked out one young boy as his victim and I could see that he would quickly kill the child if someone didn’t stop him. I yelled really loud; not a word, but a noise. The lion turned toward us and the group groaned, gasped in fear, and shirked back. It was clear that they were distraught by my bringing the lion’s attention to our position. When the lion saw the group was not going to stop him, he quickly turned back to his original course and again went after the child.

The lion had nearly caught the child when I yelled really loud for a second time. Again the agitated lion turned from his pursuit of the boy and came toward us. The group had the exact same cowardly reaction as the first time. The large animal seeing we were no real threat turned back towards the boy and again began hunting him down. I felt I had to do something to distract the lion away from the child. Since the people didn’t seem to share my conviction to help him, and I felt that I shouldn’t endanger them further, I decided I needed to leave the group and divert the lion on my own. However, as I stepped out from under the awning and began to cross the street, I immediately became the mangy lion’s targeted prey! It had become increasingly aggravated by my diverting it from its intended victim and swiftly came at me. I hurried back into the group under the awning and the mangy lion turned back to attack the boy for the fourth and surely final time. I felt if I yelled another time the group might abandon me to the lion, but if I didn’t the boy would be devoured right in front of us. I had no idea what to do to save him.

Suddenly, from out of nowhere, another lion leaped in with a man riding on his back. This lion was majestic! He was very fit, had clean gracefully flowing fur, and was adorned with a beautifully jeweled, golden saddle. The man riding the magnificent lion swiftly withdrew his sword and killed the mangy lion before it could come any closer to the child. Praise God! I woke up feeling such deep relief and joy! I was thanking God for that child’s salvation. As we know, God is rarely early but He is always on time!

Interpretation:

- The group of people ‘under an awning’ would appear to represent an assembly of people under the same protection. Most likely a church group, but there was no clear leader. It may have been because we had come together for a seminar. We had been inside learning, but when we came out and were faced with the enemy, we as a group did not know what to do. [2 Tim 3:7] It could be that the group is more symbolic of the ‘church’ in general. (Referring here to believers of all Christian denominational backgrounds.)
- The mangy lion would be Satan roaming the earth to see who he can devour. [1 Peter 5:8] He was boldly walking down the middle of the street for anyone to see which exposes that he has been left unchallenged for the most part. When he was only slightly confronted, the lion threatened the group in such a manner that not only frighten them, but also caused them turn on the person who exposed the enemy’s ploy. (Kill the messenger!) Theirs was a typical human reaction when comfort and safety are threatened. The lion never really made a truly aggressive attack toward the group. The way he came skulking towards us was more to intimidate us to inaction than to actually harm us. I believe he was making sure we were not going to get between him and his intended victim. He was concealing that he was, in reality, afraid of the group and stopped us from confronting him by using intimidation. This would reveal that many demonic attacks are designed to frighten us just enough to keep us at bay, so they are free to ravage the weak. Satan hopes he can seem so menacing that we will totally withdraw our assault against him and his cohorts. We are further led to believe (by our own flesh), that if we don't challenge the approaching lion and stay in our area of comfort, we will be alright. To me, this borders on debauchery. We do need to stay together, and there is comfort in that, however, we also need to come together to protect those who are too weak to protect themselves. The lion was distracted from his intended kill by only one voice. Can you imagine how quickly he would have fled the scene had everyone joined together and started yelling at him? If he would have gotten that child, he surely would have returned for more! (This may have been why he was so bold in the first place.) We need to learn to attack the enemy on a united front and protect God's children!

- The unsupervised children seem to be symbolic of; A) lost sheep [Luke 15:4-7 and Matt 18:10-14] B) Those who are young or immature in the Lord and have yet to find spiritual covering - orphans of the Lord so to speak. [1 Co 4:15] C) The children that some have forbid to come to Christ [Matt 19:13]
- The boy singled out by the lion seems symbolic of one of these children at their weakest, but I believe any of those children would have been an easy target.
- I believe that yelling was a type of intercession the man of God heard and understood that he needed to take action. [Rom 8:26, 27] It being a noise was more like a trumpet was blown or an alarm was sounded. [Joel 2:1]
- My choosing to leave the group while the enemy was afoot was a foolish and dangerous thing to do. Much to my dismay, even though the enemy was thin and mangy, I was no match against him on my own. [Jude 9] Though I recognized something had to be done, in the end I realized I was not going to be able to save that child without help. This reveals that when we get outside a group of believers we become easy prey for the enemy. God does not call us out in the middle of a battle. If we are to leave a group we are not to leave during times of conflict but during times of peace. Even though the group did not come to the aid of the child or react the way I thought they should, I became the target when I stepped away from the safety of fellowship. [Proverbs 11:14, Heb 10:25] I was protected when I came back under the awning and stood with them. [Eph 6:13]
- At first I thought the man and the lion were both Jesus. However, as I reflect on this dream I believe that the regal lion is Jesus; the Lion of the Tribe of Judah and the man is one who has been chosen to serve the Lord as a protector of His flock. This man of God is symbolic of those who ride or operate in the power of God, who have been chosen by Him, have learned to wield the sword of the Spirit, and know how and when to protect the lost sheep. When the majestic Lion of the Tribe of Judah came in carrying the man of God, he withdrew his sword, which is the word of God, and he killed the enemy! [Eph 6:17] Christ, the word made flesh, in the man is what brought the victory! It takes men and women of God who not only know how to wield the sword to beat such a foe, but they must be given the authority by God to ride atop the Lion of Judah to lead Christ's church. It would be dangerous to sit in that saddle presumptuously. This is a place only the King of kings can grant! It would also seem prudent to point out that it would be unwise to be in direct opposition to such a God-appointed person.
- I believe the ending of this dream reveals that it will take strong leaders who operate in godly power to teach the body of Christ how to wield the sword and to show that the body of Christ that we are already more than conquerors. [Rom 8:37] This way it won't matter what we are engaged in doing or what group we are among when attacks come. We will all (Christians of all denominations) know what to do and we will be more than able to stand victorious in Christ. [Matt 11:12] The enemy being utterly destroyed, not just distracted, was the work of a true commander. Those who ride in Christ's authority take note.

To God be all the glory!

In Him,
Judy

Calvary's Love Was For The Whole Earth

Jeremy Lopez

For I will flood the earth this day with a passion that can not be dammed up. My people, know this day My heart is turned towards you.

I'm causing you to dive into My pool of agape this hour towards the people of the earth. I will begin to bring forth a love that the world can not stir up! For I will cause My people to begin to turn their hearts towards the people of the nations of the earth. The love that I give to you for them, shall be displayed in a fire that can not be quenched!

For the time has come to focus on My world. For many have said, "This is not My world." But I would say, "The earth is the Lords and the fullness thereof."

My people, the time has come for you to receive a vision from the heavens concerning how I think towards this planet. The earth is My footstool. My love was poured out on Calvary for the world. My heart has not changed towards the earth. For I will begin to broaden your perception this hour. Their shall be a stretching of the thought patterns in the minds of My chosen. I will begin to teach you how to rethink how you look at what I call My own.

The time has come to release a passion for those that are "asleep". For I will cause the winds to begin to blow an awakening in the earth. My focus has not changed. It has and always will be towards the nations of the earth. My love was poured out on the cross to save the world! I will start to reap My harvest of this planet. As I blew My breath over the states, countries and continents of the earth; I will start the inhaling process to draw the nations back unto Me.

I would say this hour to begin to bring heaven down to earth! That was My prayer for My church, My redeemed, My beloved to pray that I would not take you out of this world, but that I would bring heavens power, potential and plan to planet earth. Begin to give as the Father has prospered you to those in your streets and cities. Begin to strategically plant rivers of love that will spring forth in areas that the enemy has bound and called his territory.

For the angels that I have positioned in the four corners of the earth have began to cry out to me to redeem the earth. My people, the days of selfish gain for leaving the earth are over. For the time has come to begin to receive a Kingdom birthing within your spirit. Grab a hold of My heart. Grab a hold of My passion. Follow My heart. For that is where My treasure lies. For you will find My heart towards that which I have died for, My world.

Cling Only To Me
Susan Cummings

Cling only to Me, child. Do not cling to the things that you have drawn comfort from, or the things that have worked for you in the past anymore. For I am bringing change, and you must let go of all that you have relied upon, and allow Me to be your sole source and comfort.

You must trust in Me, to bring you through all of your struggles, your pains, and your thoughts and understandings. I am able to shine My Light on you and bring you into a place of freedom and of safety. I know you and have placed you where you are, so that you could know that I am faithful to you, and you would know My Hand upon you through it all.

You cannot remain where you are, nor can you retreat to the past. You must advance, and do it with Me in full control. Let go. Trust in Me, for I know what I am doing concerning you. You do not have to understand all the details, but you do have to fully trust Me to work out your life, MY Way.

Cling to Me. Draw nearer to Me, and allow Me to reveal Myself to you at this time. I have much more of Me, for you to know, and it is time for you to come. Shake off all of your fears and bring all of your cares to Me, so that I can take them, and answer them with My answers for you. Can you trust Me with your life? Can you let go, and yield full control to Me? Can you place your hand in Mine, and rest? You must.

It is time.

What you cling to, is what you love, and what you will become.

I want you to become like Me.

Do Not Mistake The Quietness For Inactivity
Susan Cummings

6/8/05

Do not mistake the quietness for inactivity. For I am always moving, always creating, and always bringing forth My Word. There is never a time when I cease reaching out to My People, or moving in their lives either. Many think they can relax, and pursue their own desires in this season, as I have given them a period of grace and all is quiet.

But it is not so. I never stop, neither do My People. I require faithfulness and obedience. Even in the quiet times, and even when they are alone. I see their hearts, and I see their attitudes, and I see the fruit that they will now sow. I have cried out to My Own, to rest, to come to Me, to sit and be filled and strengthened.

Some have done so, but most have gone their ways. Many will mourn for their loss, as they realize that they will not stand, and cannot make the time up now. For it has now changed, and I am now accelerating the events, and they are not prepared.

My faithful Ones will stand and be full of Me until the end. For it is through them that My Fullness and My Grace will now be seen. All others will stand upon their own works, and see their folly of not preparing. For all works will be tried in the fires, and be tested for their purity.

Nothing will escape My Justice or My Gaze. All men will be shown their ways. But the time to return to Me has now passed as has their season of Grace, and now they will pass through the fires, and be tried and measured and weighed. Those who rejected My Grace will be found empty and void of My Light. For they rejected Me, the Truth.

My People love their comfort and pleasures more than they love Me, and they do not deny themselves to sit at My feet. Much will be required as I am Holy, and all that is not Mine will be given to their master. For they loved their idols more than My Ways. I gave time and seasons to reach out to Mine, and waited for all to come and dine, but few loved My fares and went after their own wares. So now they will suffer in the fires.

Inactivity is not appreciated by those who sit with the world, for they love their schedules, their games, and their fleshly quests. Nothing is given by them to help those in need, but only to devour and to maim and to climb up their social ladders. No more will I allow this to remain as so, for the rest will now pass swiftly, as I have warned so many times before.

The Time of Grace is closed, and has now given way to My Justice, and it will bring much sorrow to the unrepentant and the rebellious and the slothful of My House. I have called to those who have trimmed their lamps and who watch at My Gates, and they sit in My Embrace. Nothing will remove them from their places, as they have not denied Me, but embraced My Judgments, so they will have their reward and My Graces.

Righteousness does not come by works or by greed, and the wicked will never be clothed in My Holy Robes; only the broken, and humble, and the empty ones, who have fallen before Me on their knees.

My people learn righteousness through obedience and suffering. Through laying their lives and wills down for Mine and for their brethren. It is not so in this land, as they devour one another for their own pleasures. No more!

My Fires will burn, and the seas will roar, and the earth will shake till I have broken every one who has exalted themselves over Me and against Me, and those who have prevented Mine from coming to Me.

Woe to those who have no fear and do not tremble before their God. I am Holy, and Jealous is My Name, and I will have all that is Mine. The day has passed as I said before, and now the Winds do come. All that is not Mine will fall in ruin as My Winds blow from Heaven.

Great is the Glory of My House, and great is the destruction of the altars and thrones of men. For the four winds will come and bring the fires and the waves, and the land will shake under My Weight.

My Fire will rest upon those who are Mine, and throughout the earth they will feast and dine, and they will reap the Final Harvest till the end of time. For all that they have given to Me, will now be their reward and victory. For they truly loved Me.

Woe to those who did not prepare, and who are not found in My House.

Woe to those who assumed they knew it all, and thought they were clean, and never checked to see.

Woe to those who stood in My sheep’s way, and stripped them bare and left them to die.

Woe to the inhabitants of the earth in this season of full fiery birth.

Come, Oh Breakthrough!

COME, OH BREAKTHROUGH!
The Breaker desires to come before you and take His place as your Head. Call upon Him to break through the restraining walls which have held you in confining restriction. Call upon Him for your breakthroughs! He shall bring you forth into increase and you shall burst forth onto the left and onto the right. Your fields shall be rich with increase. Your grain shall burst forth in great multiplication.

You have cried out to Me for open vision. I shall break open the heavens and bring it to you. I shall go before You and grant you vision, plan, and a destiny spread out before you like a canopy of stars.

Mic 2:13 AMP
The Breaker [the Messiah] will go up before them. They will break through, pass in through the gate and go out through it, and their King will pass on before them, the Lord at their head. [Ex 23:20,21; 33:14; Isa 63:8,9; Hos 3:5; Amos 9:11.]

1 Sam 3:1
And the child Samuel ministered unto the LORD before Eli. And the word of the LORD was precious in those days; there was no open vision.

DEMONIC INFILTRATION
I hear your dismay over demonic infiltration, and feeling like your hearing Me is drying up. Precious one, do not fear, I AM here to restore and reconstitute all that has dried up in hearing Me. You may be hiding in a cave; concerned about facing the light in what you are hearing. But I promise you, that even though you run from My voice, My Words will penetrate the cracks of your self imposed shelter and sound down into your ears. Even though you know the mocking of our enemies, you are fully protected, and your storehouse of My Word is fully loaded. Trust Me, I will send My prophetic Word into your life and you shall prosper and break forth as you believe and trust in its certainty.

2 Chronicles 20:20 NKJV
So they rose early in the morning and went out into the Wilderness of Tekoa; and as they went out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, "Hear me, O Judah and you inhabitants of Jerusalem: Believe in the LORD your God, and you shall be established; believe His prophets, and you shall prosper."

Keeping Our Gardens

KEEPING OUR GARDENS

How often we speak not seeing the fruit,
Until it's too late and the weeds take root.
Then we must return to weed our garden,
Uprooting the offenses, covering with pardon.

We soften our hearts, not hardening our chin,
Settling the account, starting once again.
When you have love it's easy to forgive.
God's love washes everything through a sieve.

Forgiving releases all of the debt,
Freeing a life to a brand new set.
It washes away the old days gone by.
It releases heavy hearts that yet sigh.

The snare that comes is with seeds not seen.
They lurk in places not yet redeemed.
These are nurtured with doubt and with thought.
Not sent to the cross, nor received what's been bought.

And so these seeds live on yet unknown.
We know not of them until they are shown.
Return to the garden, pull out the weeds,
Now seeing the fruit of our old seeds.

Offer them up to My healing hand.
Make amends and set free where you can.
Be gentle to cover the hearts that are torn.
Mend and make well places that were shorn.

Say a kind word and love with a hug,
Letting not old places sweep under rug.
Just talk them out and let Me repair -
What's been lurking, you know not where.

Ask forgiveness and trust to try once again,
To walk in My love, which frees from all sin.
It's My love that covers and releases the pain,
Into new days never to be the same.

Acts 24:16 NKJV
This being so, I myself always strive to have a conscience without offense toward God and men.

2 Cor 6:3-4 NLT
We try to live in such a way that no one will be hindered from finding the Lord by the way we act, and so no one can find fault with our ministry. In everything we do we try to show that we are true ministers of God.

Self Defense

Sandy Warner

Jul 20, 2005
SELF DEFENSE
Beloved allow Me to vindicate you. When you try to vindicate yourself, you try to clear yourself by proving and maintaining your innocence. There are times to give an explanation of your testimony to teach others who are hungry. And there are times to remain silent. Where you are misunderstood, where you are falsely accused, where you are misaligned, where you are not believed, lean upon ME to become your defense. If you lean upon your own mastery, it will only prolong your trial.

Dearest, please do not strive with men. Allow them their opinions. If what they think stands in the way of your destiny, I will do exactly what is needed to remove their opinions. Learn to lay low before Me. If you humble yourself, in due time I will raise you up. I am the One Who puts down and exalts another. Lay down your self defense precious one. I know this hurts. I know you only want love and unity. Sometimes the way to love is to remain silent in the midst of enemy accusation. In the mean time I will teach you who is hungry for the truth and who opposes such.

Ps 75:6-7 NKJV
For exaltation comes neither from the east nor from the west nor from the south. But God is the Judge: He puts down one, and exalts another.

1 Sam 25:33 AMP
And blessed be your discretion and advice, and blessed be you who have kept me today from bloodguiltiness and from avenging myself with my own hand.

Heb 10:30-31 AMP
For we know Him Who said, Vengeance is Mine [retribution and the meting out of full justice rest with Me]; I will repay [I will exact the compensation], says the Lord. And again, The Lord will judge and determine and solve and settle the cause and the cases of His people. [Deut 32:35,36.] It is a fearful (formidable and terrible) thing to incur the divine penalties and be cast into the hands of the living God!

Matt 26:62-63 NKJV
And the high priest arose and said to Him, "Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?" But Jesus kept silent.

Chicken Or Eagle

Lanna Perry

Sydney Australia

My Children, My beautiful children, I have called each of you to be eagles in Me. To rise up and fly high like eagles.

I am calling you to rise up and fly high above the circumstances that have worried you, depressed you, angered you, frustrated you and brought about discouragement. I am calling each of you to rise up like eagles, fly high above your circumstances.

I see you trying to flap your wings and trying to take off, take flight yourself, but you cannot. You do not have the strength to be able to take off on your own. It is My Spirit, resting in My empowerment that will rise you up and allow you to take flight. It is My Spirit that carries you higher than ever before. It is My Spirit that keeps you afloat and empowers you to rise up.

Do not flap your wings anymore. Relax and let go. Allow Me to stretch your wings out and set you to flight. I will show you how and when to take off, and rise above your current circumstances, however dire they may be.

As I have said My children I am calling each of you to fly, I am calling you to fly in all areas of your life. I am calling you to fly in your walk with Me. To rise up, to hear My heart more and more, to allow Me to take you where I want to take you. Allow Me to teach you to be flexible to move by the power of My Spirit.

With an eagle My children it is carried by the wind, it soars, it does not flap. You are to soar in My Spirit. I am calling each of you to soar in your times with Me, allow Me to take you higher, take you deeper in our special times. I am calling each of you to soar in your work, allow Me to carry you by My Spirit in your workplace, to move freely through you, soar by continually listening to My Spirit. Soar in your family lives. Allow Me to pour My love more and more into you, more of My Spirit so that you may soar to the next level in loving and serving those around you, not by your strength, but My strength.

Many of you My children are not soaring, are not flying in Me. Instead of being eagles, you are like chickens, running along the ground, back and forth, and not stopping to hear what My Spirit is trying to say to you. I have not created you to be chickens. I have created you to be eagles.

Chickens stay on the ground, if they take flight, they do not fly high.

Chickens see what is around them, they see like humans see. What is beside them, in front of them, behind them, but the eagle, the eagle sees hindsight. The eagle sees from above. The eagle sees with precision.

As each of you rise up as My eagles, I will teach you as you rise above your current circumstances and allow Me to teach you to soar in every area of your life, you will begin to see the ‘big picture’ of things. You will see My heart in situations in ways you never have before.

I will teach you to truly surrender and soar on My Word. I will teach you to rely completely on My Word, and to rise above things that are bringing you down. I will teach you as you are soaring to rest in Me.

You will rest in Me as you soar, as you are not flapping. I am the one carrying you and directing you. It is My Spirit that is supporting you, so you may completely rest. My heart is for each of you to soar.

I am anointing eyes, I am anointing those in the prophetic to see more. I am opening eyes up, and pouring My Spirit an anointing on My seers eyes. My seers, now is the time of increase. The birthing is in process, and now is the time that you will see at greater depths and lengths than you ever have. You will see things directly from My throne room.

The anointing for the prophetic is growing. I am increasing it for all who want to receive. I am increasing. More, more, more for My eagles, those who want to soar, and not remain as chickens running along the ground, still striving and not allowing My Holy Spirit to carry them, support them and empower them. Not placing themselves in surrender to My Spirit for Me to take them where I want to.

Do not flap anymore My precious Eagles. Do not miss out on all the blessings that I have for each of you by remaining chickens in some areas of your lives.

Do not take in food that I have not provided for you. To remain healthy you must eat well. So it is spiritually. Eagles do not eat chicken food, and chickens do not eat what eagles eat.

Make sure that you are feeding your Spirit what I am giving you. Do not feed it with things of this world. Feed it with things from heaven. Feed it with things that come straight from My hand.

My Word, My revelations, My inspirations to you, My filling, allow these things to feed your Spirit.

Do not feed on gossip, do not feed on slander, but feed on things from My hand. Eagles, watch what you eat. Watch! If you eat things of this world, you will not soar. You will not allow My Spirit to move freely through you and carry you to where I want.

Come to Me, and be ready to fly. Allow Me to stretch out your wings, and empower you by My Holy Spirit to fly.

Many of you have not used your wings, so allow Me to show you what I can do in and through you in your lives and current circumstances.

Do not remain on the ground, in the midst of the worries of this world, and circumstances. Do not be chickens, running back and forth. Do not be chickens too scared to surrender completely, do not be chickens and eat from the seeds that fall to the ground, but soar and come to the glorious feast I have for you. Meats, not seeds. Meats! Meat from My hand for you to chew on. Revelations for you to chew on.

It is time for you My children to soar. No more being chickens.

Choose today My Eagles, choose today what you will be. An Eagle or a Chicken.

Choose to either be a chicken that stays on the ground, immersed in things of this world, or come to me and choose to be an eagle to allow Me to teach you to fly, and soar above all things in your life.

When you choose to be eagles, you are completely surrendering to My Holy Spirit to carry you and take you where you need to be. Trust Me, and remember eagles do not flap. Chickens do, and I am not calling My children to be chickens.

The Great Consuming Fire
Lanna Perry

(chosenwarriorprincess@yahoo.com.au)

I am the Great Consuming Fire. I have the flame that never stops burning. I am the fire that lights up hearts that have been broken desolate and cold for so long. I am the Flame that re-ignites hope and re-ignites a passion for Me.

I am the Flame that brings life to dead places. I am the Flame that brings warmth to those who are feeling alone. I am the Flame that brings comfort to a wounded child, bringing warmth to the infected area.

I am the Flame that leads the way in dark places. I am the Flame that exposes things that are hidden, that are not of Me, and need to be exposed. I am the Great Flame, and I cannot be put out. I cannot be hidden, and nothing can hinder Me and My movement.

As water removes the existence of a normal flame, nothing can remove My existence for I am the Almighty Flame. I have existed before time began, and nobody created Me. I am the beginning and the end. I am the Great Flame.

I come and take residence in the hearts of My children. I light your hearts, set your hearts aflame, but many of you have allowed the flame to dwindle. Many of you have lost the intense love and passion you had for Me. Many of you have allowed the things of this world, your own selfish desires and cares to snuff out the flame that I started in your heart. The flame of eternity, the flame of love and passion for Me.

I the Great Flame search the hearts of My children. I search your hearts. Nothing is hidden from Me. I search your hearts and find the hidden motives, hidden sins, and hidden attitudes that are not of Me. I bring them to light, and burn them away with My fire. My fire burns away all the dross of your lives.

I am the Great Consuming Fire. I consume everything. I do not consume half of things, and leave the other half, I consume all. I want to consume all of you My children.

Many of you are not fully surrendering to Me and allowing Me to burn away things in your life that are not of Me. Some of you are loving to hold onto things that are not of Me. Some of you allowing circumstances and situations to keep you from surrendering to Me, the Great Flame, to bring about death to those things that are not of Me. To bring about a revival within you.

My children, I the Great Flame, when I touch something, when I put My hand on something, it brings revival. Nothing stays the same when My consuming fire is poured out.

Do you want personal revival? Ask Me to pour out My consuming fire upon you. Do you want your hearts to be stirred again with a passion for My name? Then ask Me to pour out My consuming fire. Do you want to see the Lord your God in a way you never have before? Then ask Me to remove the things from your life that are not of Me. Do you want to see breakthrough? Then pray and ask Me to bring My consuming fire upon your situation and burn all that is hindering a breakthrough.

I see you My children, and you want revival. Revival for your hearts and revival for your families and nations. I will bring about this revival BUT it must start with you.

Revival beings within YOU! You must be willing for Me, the Great Flame, the Great Consuming Fire, to burn away things in your life that are not pleasing to Me, in order for Me to bring about revival within you.

It is painful. When I the Great Consuming Fire, fall upon things that are not of Me, they are burnt. This is painful. Many will not endure the sacrifice and hardship, but those that do, come out the other side. They come out and their hearts have been revived, My Spirit is moving greatly within them more than ever before, more room for Me to move, and they are shining brighter than the purest gold.

Yes, hear this My children. When you allow Me to come and consume you, and you walk through the fire of trials and the burning away of things not of Me, you will come out shining brighter than the purest gold.

Many want transformation but without the burning away of dross in their lives, and the pain of that. You cannot escape the pain of dying to self and allowing My Spirit to burn away the dross in your lives when you want more of Me.

Do not allow your hearts to be cold and hard. Some of you have allowed your hearts to be cold and hard from wounds, and bitterness and unforgiveness, you need to allow My Fire, My Consuming Fire to come, to BREAKTHROUGH and bring life and warmth to your hearts again.

Revival, My Spirit is calling out Revival. I will be returning soon, and I am preparing My children NOW. My heart is yearning to pour out revival upon My children, but how many of you really want it? How many of you are really willing to pay the price to endure the fire to bring about revival in your hearts.

Allow Me to fan the flames in your hearts. You are to continue to bring yourselves to a place where I can fan this flame by My Spirit. You have the Great Flame living within you. I the Great Flame live in each of you.

I have great works for each of you to do, but you cannot do great works for Me, if you have allowed complacency and the worries of this world, and attitudes of the flesh to keep you complacent and far from a passionate love for Me.

I want My children to love Me passionately. The more and more My consuming fire touches your hearts, you will NOT remain the same. You will be changed from glory to glory. You can NEVER have too much passion for Me. You can NEVER be too on fire for Me. You can NEVER be too revived by Me.

Revival begins within the hearts of My children. You are calling out for revival within your families and cities and nations, then let it begin with you. Stop fighting Me and the hard part of dying to flesh and allow Me to move powerfully.

As you endure the fire, My Consuming Fire that will burn up all the dross of your lives, you will NOT be burned. I will NOT bring upon you a fire that is too hot to burn you, or destroy you. For I am a God of love.

I will bring about My fire upon you, Myself, the Great Flame, that is just the right temperature. The heat will not get too much for you, as I will not take you to a place where you cannot handle what is happening.

Not one hair on your head will be singed. You will be changed from glory to glory.

My children, I am calling you as My bride. To rise up and shine. Shine now in the darkness. Allow Me to shine through you. As you endure the fire more and more, My fire, you will shine brighter than the noonday sun. You will walk into dark places and light up the room.

You will be a bright lamp on a hill that will bright light to places that have not seen the light. You will see Me use you My children, and you will see My flame in you reach out further through you than ever before.

My bride, as time is drawing closer and closer to My return, I have things which I need to be accomplished. I will do wonders through you, as you are willing to be more and more consumed by Me that the world has not yet seen.

You are living in the times where I am moving quickly. There is an urgency in My Spirit. You will touch the sick and they will be healed, you will speak to the dead to rise up and they will rise. You will tell the lame to walk and they will walk. You will touch the eyes of the blind and they will see. You will touch the spiritually deaf and blind and they will hear and see.

Walk into your destiny My bride. I the Great Flame, Your Great Husband love you, My church.

Rise up and allow Me, the Great Flame to consume you. PAY THE PRICE!

Pay the price that I am calling you to pay in order to be used greatly by Me.

You will walk the streets and people will see MY FIRE in your eyes. You My children carry My Fire, You carry My presence. I live in you.

Rise up out of normality and worry. Rise up out of the mundane everyday life. Surrender to the move of My hand, surrender to Me.

Allow Me the Great consuming fire to take over you. I will leave NOTHING untouched. Allow Me to come, and take over. Fan the flame in your hearts again. Bring revival to you.

Nothing that I the Great Consuming Fire touches ever stays the same. Are you willing to be touched and revived by Me, the Almighty Flame?

Casting Off Bondages

Casting Off Bondages of Past Religion Releases True Spiritual Authority

God, our Father is speaking a personal word of magnificence - of release into heavenly realms - of true spiritual authority - of supernatural connection into open heavens. This is a word to you and I personally, and not to just someone else.

A blanket of religious slavery has restrained us for so long that we have accepted the limitations imposed by the restraints of religion and natural life. Under the blanket of limitation we have occupied ourselves with endeavors powered by human intellect and flesh. We have submitted to a false ceiling imposed by religious authority that called itself "spiritual authority". The blanket must be cast off! Our limiting systems of religious beliefs must be washed away and our spiritual minds renewed to the pure Word and Spirit of God.

The vastness of the heavens flowing the unblocked and unfiltered light of God awaits us. As we now lift the corner of the blanket and look out our hearts race with the excitement of the heavenly aroma of the fresh air of heaven entering our spiritual nostrils and filling our spiritual lungs with exciting reality of pure love and pure faith that produces limitless life. A desire and strength burst into our heart to throw off the blanket and be lifted upward toward Christ our true head and God our Father.

Released from the limited light of the false coverings we look up into the vastness of the wide place of the brightness of unlimited supernatural possibility. No longer restrained to fit the powerless form of religion, we are released (YOU and I) into the realm of God where truly nothing is impossible. Released from past restraints, the limitless faith of Jesus touches heaven and earth and Christ in us truly can do all things. Nothing is beyond possibility as you and I become one with God.

Experiencing His unfiltered love and bright light of truth causes even greater humility and we are broken and emptied of all our life strength and filled with only His heart, His mind, His faith, His love, His glorious eternal life. Though we are dead to our life and dead to our past religious ways we are more alive than ever with His quality of eternal life.

We now become enlightened to true spiritual authority and must accept that we now have true spiritual authority flowing through us. As He moves in us we can speak to the storm and it will be still. We can speak to the mountain and it will be cast into the sea. We can speak to the dead to come out of the tomb and they shall arise. We can touch and bring change into multitudes of lives and transform cities and nations. We can give a cup of cool water, provide food to the hungry, clothes to the naked, visit those in prison and provide for the widows and orphans.

The vast power of God upon this planet to reach the lost and transform the world is currently locked up in boxes of religion. Powerful men and women of God with supernatural potential sit on pews and submit to the religious limitations of "laity". Maybe they teach a Sunday school class in which they teach the limits of restrained life that they themselves have lived under all their lives. Not knowing they have the potential to command the demons that torment them and that are destroying their children. Waiting for someone else to come by and stir the waters of their stagnant pool of limited belief trained into them under the blanket of religion. Trusting in Jesus to only get them to heaven when they die. Not knowing that He has limitless eternal life for them now.

Preachers and teachers with the very best of intent continue to perpetuate the "truths" or doctrines that have been trained into them under the blanket. Standing as "clergy" and feeding the "laity" what ever they or headquarters thinks they should eat. Many leaders who may have looked out at times from under the corner of the blanket and may even be walking in a measure of freedom are yet restrained from the supernatural reality of open heaven living. They turn back to the security of the systems of religion and carry on as "pastor" over "laity", all the while wondering why their lives are so hard and why they are never able to do enough to measure up to the needs of their congregations.

The message of God is sounding out to "clergy" as from Moses to Pharaoh, "LET MY PEOPLE GO!" The people of God must be set free to cross the Jordan of death to old ways and freedom from past bondage. It was not good for Pharaoh after holding back God's people and it will not be good to be one holding back the people of God today.

The message of God to His people held in captivity in the past has been as the message of Jeremiah to God's people held captive in Babylon. They were told the captivity would be long and to faithfully serve the king of Babylon and live in peace and prosper in the captivity. The other prophets that told them the captivity would be short and to not cooperate with the king of Babylon were proven to be liars. It is good that we have served the religious systems that took us captive as a people centuries ago. It is the same as rebelling against God to resist what He has done. David never came against Saul though Saul attempted to destroy Him many times. In time God delivered David and made him the Shepherd King example of Christ.

But there also came a time when the captivity of God's people was finished. Then Jeremiah spoke God's judgement upon Babylon and spoke the word of God to the people of God to come out of Babylon. Jeremiah Spoke to the people of God in, Jer 51:45 "My people, go out of the midst of her! And let everyone deliver himself from the fierce anger of the LORD."

Babylon could not be healed just as our passing religious systems cannot be reformed. Revival, renewal, restoration, and reformation are changing God's people and not changing the religious systems of the past. The reality of the presence of God and the awesome reality of His consuming love is purifying those who are coming out from under the blanket of limitation.

The reformation process that began around 500 years ago is reaching a time of rapid progression as the powerful presence of the love of God is manifesting among the people of God. His presence is washing our minds of our old intellectually derived interpretations of Scripture and opening us to the reality of the Word of God by His Spirit. Only a pure humble heart filled with the Spirit can truly hear the Word of God clearly. The intellect alone will never discern the truth of the Word. It is Spiritual and must be revealed in us by the Spirit of God.

It is time for you and I to experience a major reformation. Time to really consider what we believe to be our limitations and open up to the vast arena of the possibilities of God. Time to come aside from our routine of limited life and seek the revelation of His eternal limitless life. Perhaps a time to reconsider our call and search out the heart of God and the fullness of His supernatural life for us.

Most of us may have never really touched or even envisioned the kingdom potential of God in our lives. In this season of religion fading away and God's kingdom coming forth, isn't it time to remove the lid from our minds and let the Spirit open the heavens to us. What is so desirable about our limited routine lives that would cause us to hold back from going for all God has and blowing the lid off? I don't know about you but for me, I must go for it.

Citizens of Heaven

Victoria Boyson

April 27, 2005

In the last days the body of Christ will become one with Christ. Just as a bride has her eyes fixed on her bridegroom, we will see and live only for our Lord. And our passion for Him will draw us together as one body. We will truly become one in the Spirit together with our Lord. Indeed, we will become the bride of Christ, as our passion for Him increases.

Many live as enemies of the cross of Christ; their minds are on earthly things. But our citizenship is in heaven (see Philippians 3:18-20).

Paul wrote to the Philippian church of a dilemma he was having: a conflict of interests between the longing in his heart and the reasoning of his mind. He told them, "To live is Christ and to die is gain" (Philippians 1:21). He was torn between his desire to live and remain on this earth to serve Christ and his desire to be with Christ.

"If I am to go on living in the body, this will mean fruitful labor for me. Yet what shall I choose? I do not know! I am torn between the two: I desire to depart and be with Christ, which is far better; but it is more necessary for you that I remain in the body" (Philippians 1:22-24).

He had so positioned himself in Christ in the spirit realm that his heart was charged with a deep longing to be with Him in heaven. He wanted to be with the One he loved, and yet it was for the One he loved that he remained on earth. To serve the cause of Christ and the kingdom of heaven, he had to stay on earth.

Kingdom Minded

Yet, while serving Christ on earth, Paul knew that his citizenship was in heaven. He lived his earthly life for heavenly purposes. His mind was not set on what he could gain for this life, but in the next. He knew that the real prize was in living his life to build for the eternal kingdom, to which, though on earth, he belonged. He was kingdom minded; his mind was set on the eternal kingdom of God.

His heart was set on the things to come, not on the things of this earth (see Colossians 3:2). His heart was with his King. He aspired to please the One he loved, whether in life or in death: "So that now as always Christ will be exalted in my body, whether by life or by death" (Philippians 1:20).

Paul's love for his Lord spurned him on to plant the seed of Christ in the hearts of others, as many as would receive. He lived his life not for himself, but to proclaim the life of Jesus. It was for the advancement of the kingdom of Christ that he lived, laying down his own ambitions and desires for that of his King. His life was poured out so that others would receive Jesus.

A Higher Purpose

A life of sacrifice lived for the Lamb of God is a life profoundly lived. To lay down our lives out of passion for our Lord is to live a life of elevated intensity and with great purpose.

To live for Jesus makes us resolute and unstoppable. We are not living for ourselves, but for a much higher purpose. That is why, in noble gentleness, we do all for the sake of the King of heaven. Any battle we face, we fight, not for ourselves, but for Him.

When our eyes are fixed on our King, we will fear nothing. The love we have for Him overcomes any fears we may face. And like a good soldier who readies himself for battle by reminding himself of what he is fighting for, we must focus on Who we are fighting for. We fight not for earthly gain, but for an eternal cause. We fight for the One we love: the King of heaven.

This is not an oppressive task; it is liberating! We can live free now. We can live free from fear and the need for competition with one another. We can live free from jealousy, for we are all working for the same cause and have the same goals. And if our brother succeeds in edifying the kingdom, then we should be overjoyed for him. When he succeeds we all succeed, for we are one in Christ.

A good soldier does not fight against his fellow soldier to become a greater hero than his friend, but he fights for and with his fellow soldiers to build them up so that the cause they are fighting for will be helped. We are to build up one another so that the body of Christ as a whole can work in unison with one another for the glory of our King.

Champions in Christ

If we live and operate in this earthly realm, being earthly minded, we are playing by its rules and we will lose. We have no authority to operate with a worldly mind set, therefore we become its victim and lose our victory.

However, if we live according to the heavenly realm, with our minds fixed on Jesus, we walk in the victory that He gave us, and we operate in the level of authority Christ did. We are then living by the rules of heaven and, by the authority of heaven, we are made victorious through Christ's victory. "And having disarmed the powers and authorities, he made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them by the cross" (Colossians 2:15).

For we have been given fullness in Christ, who is the head over every power and authority (see Colossians 2:10), and Christ is the fullness of God on earth (see Colossians 2:9). If we live in Christ, we live in the victory He won for us at Calvary; we are made champions of the earth; we truly become the head and not the tail. You are the richness of God when you walk in Christ!

As we walk in the victory and authority of Christ we become unstoppable! So we must focus on Christ, and live in Him: "Since, then, you have been raised with Christ, set your heart on things above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God. Set your minds on things above, not on earthly things" (Colossians 3:1-2).

If we, who are set apart for Christ, live according to the rules of this earthly realm, we are nothing according to its standards and have little power to influence it. But if we live our lives for the kingdom of heaven, we are heirs to the promises of God and seated with God in Christ (see Ephesians 2:6).

"For you died, and your life is now hidden with Christ in God" (Colossians 3:3). Our life is Christ; we live in Him, and it is only by living in Him that we can truly live. You are no longer who you once were, but you have been made a new creation in Christ, and you are hidden with Him in God. Your life outside of God is no longer congenial; now you live only in Him.

Heirs with Christ

" . . . giving thanks to the Father, who has qualified us to share in the inheritance of the saints of Light. For He delivered us from the domain of darkness, and transferred us to the kingdom of His beloved Son, in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins." Colossians 1:12-13

We have become a part of the kingdom of the Son, and God has qualified us to share in the inheritance of that kingdom. It is only through becoming a part of His kingdom that we will walk in the authority He did. As we are united with Christ, we walk in His authority as His bride.

As a bride takes her husband's name, she becomes a new person; she assumes His name and whatever honor and authority that goes with it. So it is with the Bride of Christ. We must assume our place by His side and reign with Him, ruling with the authority He has given us.

We must become His passionate bride driven by an all-consuming passion for our Lord. Our greatest desire must be to be one with Him. Driven by love for our King, our lives will be consumed by Him and only then can we truly live.

Beloved, let us become one with Jesus and see our burning passion for Him ignite the world!

Cedars of Lebanon

Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

Today, the third day of the week, the 15th of the 11th month - Sh'vat - is a special day here in the land. It is a day that we plant trees and redeem the land thereby. This day is called Tu B'sh'vat. As a part of the early Zionist movement, the reclamation of our inheritance started by the purchase of lots and resettling the land, known at the time as Palestine and ruled over by the Ottoman empire. The Ottomans had a rule that when trees were planted on a parcel of land it gave one a legal right to the given lot. In 1901 an organization was established in the form of a fund for the expressed purpose of redeeming the Land of Israel. The early Jewish Zionists who had the vision for such an entity gave of their lives and substance to see the birth and restoration of the Jewish Nation. This fund was called "The Jewish National Fund" or Keren Kayemeth LeIsrael. The Keren Kayemeth is responsible for the purchase and the development of much of the realastate that later became the State of Israel. But the K.K.L's function is not over. The developed and re-afforested land calls for good stewardship, which this organization still provides. Tu B'sh'vat is therefore an opportunity for the K.K.L to celebrate the land and its natural resources.

We, of the House of Joseph/Ephraim, are almost in the same condition as our brother Judah was 150 years ago. We too are just beginning to discover our national identity and the land (not the identical areas as those of Judah, see letter 246) that is still awaiting redemption. Perhaps there is something to be learned in how YHVH established Judah's nation. Thus I would like to share with you over the next couple of days a portion of the story of the JNF, taken from their magazine called "Seed and Deed" by Izi Mann, to be capped by a short article by a fellow-Israelite, whose vision is very much along these lines.

FROM THE FOREWARD: How to sum up 100 years of work in a few lines? How to condense in a few words the mission of redeeming a land for a people returning home, of planting forests on a scale of 220 million trees, of building 115 water reservoirs, restoring and reviving rivers, developing hundreds of recreation areas and parks, reclaiming land for some 1,000 communities, rolling back the desert, carving out thousands of kilometers of roads and bringing Zionist education to the entire Jewish diaspora?

FROM THE SECTION ON "THE FIRST DECADE":

Was it the sound of Theodor Herzl's gavel that set the delegates' hearts racing at the Fifth Zionist Congress in Basle in December 1901? Or was it because of Yona Kremenetzky's tears that the die was cast - leading to the establishment of the National Institution that was to become the executive arm of the Zionist Organization? Congress delegates burst into thunderous applause as the vote was announced for the founding of Keren Kayemeth LeIsrael-Jewish National Fund (KKL-JNF). It was a momentous occasion, and the delegates knew it. It was the moment that Zionism actually set foot in Erez Israel - not by mere words, declarations, debates and resolutions but by land reclamation via a national fund of and on behalf of the Jewish People.

Theodor Herzl's voice resounded through the hall of the Basle Casino, where the Fifth Zionist Congress had convened. He said that the time had come to implement the plan for a national fund. "The people" he said "will forever be not only the donors, but also the owners of this dedicated capital." When Herzl stepped down from the podium, one or another of the representatives of the Jewish People rose to speak for or against the proposal. After four days of deliberations, there was a sense of urgency in the air: the making or breaking of a crucial - the most crucial, perhaps - endeavor to restore the Jewish People to its homeland.

One of the delegates, Dr. Schalit, explained that the fund would be "the eternal possession of the Jewish People. Its monies would be used solely for the purpose of land purchase." To many people it was clear that, whereas the Congress spoke Zionism, a fund could practice Zionism. Broadly supported, it "could be an important instrument of the practical work," as another delegate said.

Yet another delegate cited Professor Zvi Hermann Shcapira's vision for a national fund to reclaim the soil of Israel. "Schapira," noted this delegate from Poland, "said that once the idea of a national fund were realized, he would be able to die in peace. I say the opposite: "once an abiding [kayemeth] national fund [karen] is realized, I will be able to live in peace."

Schapira, who passed away shortly before the Second Zionist Congress convened in 1898, never knew that four years later his proposal would figure prominently in a drama that was to be remembered as one of the high points of the Congresses. It was a moment when all eyes again turned eastward, to Erez Israel, and a day when Zionism in the diaspora reconnected with a land that was far from the body, but close to the heart.

To be continued,

Tomorrow or Thursday I will send the next portion

This is a continuation of the article that I sent out yesterday. I hope that you will take time to read this most dramatic and interesting story:

While Schapirs's proposal had many advocates, it had also one critic, jurist Max Bodenheirmer, who insisted on a precise legal formulation of the fund's goals prior to approval. For this reason, the voting on the fund's establishment had been postponed from one Congress to another. And even on that cold winter day in 1901, there were those who again suggested putting off the vote because the charter stipulating its powers had not yet been fully set down. With a majority of 81 to 54, Bodenheimer had again succeeded in pushing through a resolution to defer the vote on the fund's establishment to the next Congress.

Theodor Herzl had not been present in the hall when the resolution was adopted, and one of the delegates rushed off to inform him of what had happened. Finding him in the lobby of the building, he had also told Herzl that Vienna delegate Yona Kremenetzky, who had championed the ratification of the fund's establishment, had broken down in tears upon hearing that the decision had again been delayed.

Herzl, who saw the land of Israel reflected in Kremenetzky's tears, had hurried back to the hall. There, his loyal aide and deputy, David Wolffsohn, who was to become the second president of the Zionist Organization, suggested a way out of the predicament: a revote, divided into two parts. First, Congress delegates would vote on the question in principle of whether or not a fund should be formed. Only afterwards, would they discuss its functions. Herzl pressed Congress participants for a decision "so that we do not disperse again, having accomplished nothing, after years of exploring the possibility of establishing a national fund." Turning to the delegates of the Fifth Congress, he had issued an impassioned plea: We do not wish to disperse yet again without creating this apparatus!"

Lengthy discussion followed; finally, he had demanded of the Congress, "Do you want us to start a national fund immediately, yes or no?" Many were the voices in the audience that answered in the affirmative; he continued: Yours is the power to decide whether to postpone the establishment of the fund for another two years or until the coming of the Messiah!" And from all corners of the hall came a roaring chorus of "NO! NO!" Gratified by the reaction, Herzl had put to the vote a proposal that " the fund will be the property of the entire Jewish People." Congress delegates cast their ballots. A hush fell over the hall: as if here, at this moment, the fate of the land of Israel and the Zionist Movement hung on the scales. When Herzl announced the results 105 in favor and 82 opposed - stormy applause rocked the hall. At 7:40 p.m. on December 29th 1901, 19 Tevet 5638 according to the Hebrew calendar, Herzl proclaimed: "Thus, this date became the anniversary and festival of Keren Kayemeth LeIsrael-Jewish National Fund (KKL-JNF).

By a strange coincidence, the date already was a festival in Erez Israel. On that same day, in 1878, the first furrow had been plowed at the farming colony of Petah Tikva (door or gate of hope). So that First Furrow Day became also KKL-JNF Day. The same day. the festival, of the land of Israel.

After the close of the First Zionist Congress, Herzl had written in his diary that in Basle he had created the Jewish state. Four years later, in the same city, Herzl created KKL - JNF, which, fifty years later, would largely determine the borders of the state he had foreseen.

The proposal to establish a national, popular fund of far-reaching vision had been raised back at the First Zionist Congress by Zvi Hermann Schapira, a mathematics professor at Germany's Heidelberg University; its purpose: to purchase land in Palestine. The Congress had welcomed the plan with enthusiasm, resolving that there was "a special need to establish a national fund and a Jewish bank." And it had charged the Zionist Executive with drafting a detailed proposal for discussion at the following Congress. Herzl, too, had been excited by Schapira's motion, though in no rush to raise the subject at the successive Congresses; perhaps because he had hoped first to receive a charter from the Turkish Sultan for the establishment of a Jewish state. In his eyes, the political initiatives to this end took precedence over a fund. He believed that only after he had acquired a charter, and the Jews began to immigrate to Erez Israel, would there be a need for a fund of a "general-national character", as Schapira had put it, to purchase land.

But in the winter of 1901, upon the convening of the Fifth Zionist Congress, the charter that Herzl dreamt of seemed all too remote. Consequently, Yona Kremenetzky, an industrialist and electrical engineer, decided to urge Herzl and the leaders of the new Zionist movement to create a fund that would restore the land to the ownership of the Jewish People, regardless of any political measures. Keremenetzky, who saw the land of Israel in his mind's eye, knew that the surest road to reach it was not through international politics, but through the heart of the Jewish People and its yearning for its land.

This is quite unusual for me to be bombarding your mail box with this information. So please forgive me. But in relationship to the two previous emails I want to introduce you to a fellow Israelite/Ephraimite.

Canadian Bruce Balfour, was charged and convicted of "spying for Israel" in abstensia in a Lebanese military court in Beirut, Lebanon in the early spring of 2003. After going through four military trials and teaching the Bible through most of it, he was charged and convicted of a new crime, "teaching the Bible boldly." He was visited by some of the top cabinet ministers of the Canadian government at the Roumieh Prison and the "spying for Israel" conviction was dropped. Through intensive world media coverage and millions praying for him, his deliverance came and he left Lebanon a free man on September 3, 2003. He has since written a book about his experiences called "Rivers of Blessings: The Heart and Path of a Simple Servant." Learn more from his website www.freedom-ministries.org

If you have read my testimony/book "Back to the Land", he is the one that we went into Lebanon with in 1983. As part of his work in Lebanon and of his prophetic vision for that land, Bruce has been involved in re-introducing the cedars which have been greatly depleted from the "land of the cedars". Consequently he found himself in some dire circumstances as mentioned above. Below is a short article he has written, in which he shares what he is doing now, all of which has to do with reclaiming the land of our ancestors.

Blessings on your day, Ephraim REDEMPTION OF THE LAND BY PLANTING TREES ON MOUNT HERMON

Bruce writes: In those challenging days of old, when the slopes of Mount Hermon were heavily forested with the biblical Cedars of Lebanon and other trees of importance, "Yahshua" made His way up the slopes with Peter, James and John to a divine meeting on the summit with Elijah and Moses. As you recall a voice was heard out of a cloud: "This is my beloved Son, hear him" (Mark 9:7). [Note:

there are conjectures as to where the scene of the "transfiguration" had actually taken place], but because Yahshua traveled in those areas this mountain is the hightest.

On these same slopes of the Mount of Transfiguration a planting/redemption is being birthed to restore the biblical cedars and other appropriate species back in the soil. This planting will be the first time in history that such a biblical reforestation project will be undertaken on Mount Hermon.

The Cedar of Lebanon is described by the Creator, in Ezekiel 31, as the most beautiful tree planted in the Garden of Eden. Yahweh chose it to build His temple here in Jerusalem (ref 1Kings and 2 Chron), which has such deep meaning to the lover and student of "the Word". Solomon's house took twice as long to build, and was called "The house of the forest of Lebanon". It was probably the most awesome wood house ever constructed in the history of the world.

The Cedar is spoken of 72 times in the bible and rich meaning is attached to it, including comparing the Almighty to "The Great Cedar" under whose shadow all great nations dwell (and isn't it interesting that it is in the territory of Ephraim Zech 10:10. In Psalm 92 it says: "The righteous one grows like a cedar in Lebanon for those who are planted in the house of Yahweh". In Isaiah 61 Yahweh says that it is "His planting."

Now the time has come to begin to redeem the land which the Creator chose to be His forever alongside of our brother Yehuda. If the Almighty is drawing you in your spirit to be a part of this redemption please email me at: cedarsoflebanon2002@yahoo.com

The first planting is planned for Tu 'Bishvat (the "new year of the tree") 2006, late January, in cooperation with the "Jewish National Fund".

Bruce

Shalom Fellow Israelite, Jan 28, 2005 Interestingly, just as the installments about the Jewish National Fund we sent to you, a controversy arose here in Israel, when an Israeli-Arab civil rights organization protested the fact that plots for building, on J.N.F land (which comprise 12% of all land in Israel), would not be sold to Arabs. The Jewish National Fund's lands have been bought with money donated or given exclusively by Jews, for over 100 years and are therefore declaredly the property of the Jewish people. "The JNF is convinced that Israel is the state of the Jewish people," said Yehiel Leket, the J.N.F.'s director. "It is still a state in the making, both in terms of security and the need to safeguard its Jewish character. The Law of Return guarantees the Jewish majority and it is the JNF's role to provide land for the Jewish people."

The attempt at expropriating the rights to Jewish-owned land, of abolishing the right of return to Jews, because it is "racist", and on and on… all aim at doing away with the Jewish character of the state of the Jews, as well as with Zionism. Since Oslo and on through all the other attempts, the UN and the Arab world have bandd together to eliminate the Zionist Jewish State. Our government has now joined the effort and turned against the very root of this restoration by attacking the JNF. We thought it quite amazing that we felt to share with you the history of this organization, which is now in danger of completely losing its rights to the ownership of purchased possession. Israel's Attorney-General, Mazuz, declared that "the state cannot defend a policy in which the Israel Lands Authority prevents Israeli Arabs from applying for building plots on land belonging to the Jewish National Fund". Thus a precedent is being set for abolishing various facets of Jewish nationalism, which may ultimately lead to the globalistic-humanist stand of de-legitimizing Zionism altogether within the State of Israel. However, as we know, man may plan his way, but there is only one who is in charge – He who watches Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps and I hope that we of the redeemed remenant of Israel/Ephram are awake and alert too.

Below is an encouraging and interesting response to the J.N.F installments of the past few days and to the new effort pioneered by Bruce Balfour, which illustrates that our Father has all the ends of this matter tied together, and always has had…

Shalom Ephraim

Thanks for introducing this matter! I am so deeply blessed by it. To this date, I have never heard of anyone besides those of our own fellowship taking special interest in Lebanon as part of the Land of Beulah, and now I learn of Bruce! What a delight. I am nearly in tears over this latest step in the accomplishment of the Plan of Restoration of the Land. Our Father surely does watch over His Word to perform it, year after year, through all kinds of agents and agencies. It's all coming together, in His "fullness of time," Praise His Name!

This story [of the J.N.F] is of wonderful significance. I had heard of the JNF, but I had no idea of its history or goals. What an inspiration led to it, and what results derived from it! From this perspective, it surely looks like the Hand of YHVH in History, doesn't it? He operated through the House of Judah to recover real estate--the first instance of "Facts On the Ground."

Now let me share with you how the same Elohim operated through the House of Ephraim--at the very same time!-- to recover not real estate, but reality in the fulfillment of prophecy. This is a most wonderful conjunction of YHVH's agencies, though each was probably unknown to the other!

At the Bible School in Maine which formed the nucleus and foundation of the fellowship I've referred to in writing you before, the teaching of the Two Houses was alive and well, starting about 1898. All my grandparents were students in those days, and my paternal grandparents became prayer missionaries in Palestine about 1904 and 05, and were married there (on station) in 1906. But that's only by the way.

What's more important is that in 1901, the teacher at that school felt clearly directed by the voice of YHVH to his heart ("Jerusalem Next") to go with his wife and two devoted women students to Jerusalem, hire a room for the two, and commission them to pray on site for the restoration of the City and the Land. But as the planning began, it became clear that YHVH was not going to be satisfied with two--He was after 12! Eventually, in June, 1901, a group of 12 set out from Boston, and after a long stay for mission work in England, and another in Egypt, they arrived in Jerusalem in May, 1902.

Their purpose in going was what is so striking to me, having read your JNF account. They were going, consciously (and, they felt, at YHVH's direction), as representatives of the 12 Tribes, returning to what they now explicitly believed was their Land to establish true heart worship of the Elohim of Israel, in tribal unity on site! I see this as a spiritual complement to what the House of Judah was doing to recover their lost real estate. For "The Twelve" as they came to be known, their mission was to recover their lost spiritual and tribal heritage as a symbolic re-uniting of both Houses. This is amazing to me, as I see how our Father was operating at various levels to accomplish His plan! And no doubt He is continuing to do the same today. What more aspects may yet come to light!

And there's more to this story. The Twelve remained on station in a small house in Jerusalem (which is still there at 17 Ethiopia St.) until some time in 1903, when they moved to a large brand new house west of the City. That is also still there, having recently been used as the Bezalel School. The Twelve and the others who had joined them by this time were its first inhabitants. The building was under construction when they leased it, and it was finished to their specifications. But there were two more climactic events yet to come.

By October of 1902, they felt YHVH had clearly directed them representatively and symbolically to enact a "restoration" for the two Houses of Israel. What they understood it to mean was the restoration of the Kingdom of David, under the sovereignty of Messiah, in a single national Entity. It was for them the groundwork, spiritually, for the joining of the two sticks-- under one King. This was so clear, so real to them in spirit, that in their comprehension the Kingdom of David / Son of David had been renewed in October of 1902.

The other climactic event for these people, still operating within the context of what they viewed as the "restoration of all things," took place in 1906. The teacher, with a small group of explorers, was searching out the biblical borders of the Promised Land. They were at that time on the coast at the northern end. (In a few years, others of the group made a complete and historic land journey around the inland borders to explore and pray over their restoration.) Tripoli was the town, and they were searching for the northern inland turning point of the border, Mt. Hor, as described in Scripture. Finding what they thought might be it, they were swept by an outpouring of the Spirit, and they expressed in a faith-filled prayer the conviction that the Land was there and then "restored" not as Israel, or Palestine, or Canaan, etc., but by the future, prophetic name, "Beulah." This was a moment of supreme inspiration, according to their accounts, and it was accompanied by a tremendous sense of divine approval.

My grandparents were in Jerusalem at the time, and were married within a week of this event, remaining there until the end of 1909, and giving birth to 3 of their 5 children (including my father) in that house.

All this, you see, was going on in the spiritual world, unseen and unknown by the Zionist Congresses, but cooperating with them nonetheless! And cooperating as both Houses! I am so much encouraged to hear the "other side" of this story, that I thought you might find similar encouragement in hearing this side!

I realize, of course, that probably no one else in modern Israel had (or has) any idea of what I'm recounting, but as you and I both recognize, pubic recognition is unnecessary when it comes to the Elohim of Israel bringing His plan to fruition by whatever hidden agencies He chooses! Those who lived through those experiences were in no doubt about their significance, even if hidden from the public. And their faith was so sublime that it has echoed and re-echoed in my own spirit right down to the present, as I've learned of these things! Wonderful truths to contemplate, and more, to perpetuate, in ongoing prayer for the restoration process to continue. This forms one of the ongoing "ministries" in our fellowship right down to the present: "watchmen on the walls." Tim

I hope you enjoyed this as much as I did. Shabbat Shalom Ephraim

Church Of Martyrs

Anthony Browne

An atheist looks at the persecution of Christians.

For most citizens of Iraq, the invasion meant the end of tyranny. For one group, however, it meant a new start: the country's historic Christian community. When the war stopped, persecution by Islamists, held in check by Saddam, started.

At a church in Basra I visited a month after the war ended, the women complained of attacks against them for not wearing the Islamic veil. I saw many Christian-owned shops that had been firebombed, with many of the owners killed for exercising their legal right to sell alcohol. Two years and many church attacks later, Iraq may still be occupied by Christian foreign powers, but the Islamist plan to ethnically cleanse Iraq of its nearly 2,000-year-old Assyrian and Armenian Christian communities is reaching fruition.

There is nothing unusual about the persecution of Iraqi Christians, or the unwillingness of other Christians to help them. Rising nationalism and fundamentalism around the world have meant that Christianity is going back to its roots as the religion of the persecuted. There are now more than 300 million Christians who are either threatened with violence or legally discriminated against simply because of their faith — more than any other religion. Christians are no longer, as far as I am aware, thrown to the lions. But from China, North Korea and Malaysia, through India, Pakistan and Sri Lanka to Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Turkey, they are subjected to legalised discrimination, violence, imprisonment, relocation and forced conversion. Even in supposedly Christian Europe, Christianity has become the most mocked religion, its followers treated with public suspicion and derision and sometimes — such as the would-be EU commissioner Rocco Buttiglione — hounded out of political office.

I am no Christian, but rather a godless atheist whose soul doesn't want to be saved, thank you. I may not believe in the man with the white beard, but I do believe that all persecution is wrong. The trouble is that the trendies who normally champion human rights seem to think persecution is fine, so long as it's only against Christians. While Muslims openly help other Muslims, Christians helping Christians has become as taboo as jingoistic nationalism.

On the face of it, the idea of Christians facing serious persecution seems as far-fetched as a carpenter saving humanity. Christianity is the world's most followed religion, with two billion believers, and by far its most powerful. It is the most popular faith in six of the seven continents, and in both of the world's two biggest economies, the US and Europe. Seven of the G8 richest industrial nations are majority Christian, as are four out of five permanent members of the UN Security Council. The cheek-turners control the vast majority of the world's weapons of mass destruction.

When I bumped into George Bush in the breakfast room of the US embassy in Brussels last month, standing right behind me were two men in uniform carrying the little black 'nuclear football', containing the codes to enable the world's most powerful Christian to unleash the world's most powerful nuclear arsenal. Christians claiming persecution seem as credible as Bill Gates pleading poverty. But just as Christian-majority armies control Iraq as it ethnically cleanses itself of its Christian community, so the power of Christian countries is of little help to the Christian persecuted where most Christians now live: the Third World.

Across the Islamic world, Christians are systematically discriminated against and persecuted. Saudi Arabia — the global fountain of religious bigotry — bans churches, public Christian worship, the Bible and the sale of Christmas cards, and stops non-Muslims from entering Mecca. Christians are regularly imprisoned and tortured on trumped-up charges of drinking, blaspheming or Bible-bashing, as some British citizens have found. Just last month, furthermore, Saudi Arabia announced that only Muslims can become citizens.

The Copts of Egypt make up half the Christians in the Middle East, the cradle of Christianity. They inhabited the land before the Islamic conquest, and still make up a fifth of the population. By law they are banned from being president of the Islamic Republic of Egypt or attending Al Azhar University, and severely restricted from joining the police and army. By practice they are banned from holding any high political or commercial position. Under the 19th-century Hamayouni decrees, Copts must get permission from the president to build or repair churches — but he usually refuses. Mosques face no such controls.

Government-controlled TV broadcasts anti-Copt propaganda, while giving no airtime to Copts. It is illegal for Muslims to convert to Christianity, but legal for Christians to convert to Islam. Christian girls — and even the wives of Christian priests — are abducted and forcibly converted to Islam, recently prompting mass demonstrations. A report by Freedom House in Washington concludes: ‘The cumulative effect of these threats creates an atmosphere of persecution and raises fears that during the 21st century the Copts may have a vastly diminished presence in their homelands.’

Fr Drew Christiansen, an adviser to the US Conference of Bishops, recently conducted a study which stated that ‘all over the Middle East, Christians are under pressure. “The cradle of Christianity” is under enormous pressure from demographic decline, the growth of Islamic militancy, official and unofficial discrimination, the Iraq war, the Palestinian Intifada, failed peace policies and political manipulation.’

In the world’s most economically successful Muslim nation, Malaysia, the world’s only deliberate affirmative action programme for a majority population ensures that Muslims are given better access to jobs, housing and education. In the world’s most populous Muslim nation, Indonesia, some 10,000 Christians have been killed in the last few years by Muslims trying to Islamify the Moluccas.

In the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, most of the five million Christians live as an underclass, doing work such as toilet-cleaning. Under the Hudood ordinances, a Muslim can testify against a non-Muslim in court, but a non-Muslim cannot testify against a Muslim. Blasphemy laws are abused to persecute Christians. In the last few years, dozens of Christians have been killed in bomb and gun attacks on churches and Christian schools.

In Nigeria, 12 states have introduced Sharia law, which affects Christians as much as Muslims. Christian girls are forced to wear the Islamic veil at school, and Christians are banned from drinking alcohol. Thousands of Christians have been killed in the last few years in the ensuing violence.

Although persecution of Christians is greatest in Muslim countries, it happens in countries of all religions and none. In Buddhist-majority Sri Lanka, religious tension led to 44 churches being attacked in the first four months of 2004, with 140 churches being forced to close because of intimidation. In India, the rise of Hindu nationalism has lead to persecution not just of Muslims but of Christians. There have been hundreds of attacks against the Christian community, which has been in India since ad 100. The government’s affirmative action programme for untouchables guarantees jobs and loans for poor Hindus and Buddhists, but not for Christians.

Last year in China, which has about 70 million Christians, more than 100 ‘house churches’ were closed down, and dozens of priests imprisoned. If you join the Communist party, you get special privileges, but you can only join if you are atheist. In North Korea, Christians are persecuted as anti-communist elements, and dissidents claim they are not just imprisoned but used in chemical warfare experiments.

Dr Patrick Sookhdeo, director of the Barnabas Trust, which helps persecuted Christians, blames rising global religious tension. ‘More and more Christians are seen as the odd ones out — they are seen as transplants from the West, and not really trusted. It is getting very much worse.’
Even in what was, before multiculturalism, known as Christendom, Christians are persecuted. I have spoken to dozens of former Muslims who have converted to Christianity in Britain, and who are shunned by their community, subjected to mob violence, forced out of town, threatened with death and even kidnapped. The Barnabas Trust knows of 3,000 such Christians facing persecution in this country, but the police and government do nothing.

You get the gist. Dr Paul Marshall, senior fellow at the Centre for Religious Freedom in Washington, estimates that there are 200 million Christians who face violence because of their faith, and 350 million who face legally sanctioned discrimination in terms of access to jobs and housing. The World Evangelical Alliance wrote in a report to the UN Human Rights Commission last year that Christians are ‘the largest single group in the world which is being denied human rights on the basis of their faith’.

Part of the problem is old-style racism against non-whites; part of it is new-style guilt. If all this were happening to the world’s Sikhs or Muslims simply because of their faith, you can be sure it would lead the 10 O’Clock News and the front page of the Guardian on a regular basis. But the BBC, despite being mainly funded by Christians, is an organisation that promotes ridicule of the Bible, while banning criticism of the Koran. Dr Marshall said: ‘Christians are seen as Europeans and Americans, which means you get a lack of sympathy which you would not get if they were Tibetan Buddhists.’

Christians themselves are partly to blame for all this. Some get a masochistic kick out of being persecuted, believing it brings them closer to Jesus, crucified for His beliefs. Christianity uniquely defines itself by its persecution, and its forgiveness of its persecutors: the Christian symbol is the method of execution of its founder. Christianity was a persecuted religion for its first three centuries, until Emperor Constantine decided that worshipping Jesus was better for winning battles than worshipping the sun. In contrast, Mohammed was a soldier and ruler who led his people into victorious battle against their enemies. In the hundred years after the death of Mohammed, Islam conquered and converted most of North Africa and the Middle East in the most remarkable religious expansion in history.

To this day, while Muslims stick up for their co-religionists, Christians — beyond a few charities — have given up such forms of discrimination. Dr Sookhdeo said: ‘The Muslims have an Ummah [the worldwide Muslim community] whereas Christians do not have Christendom. There is no Christian country that says, “We are Christian and we will help Christians.”’

As a liberal democrat atheist, I believe all persecuted people should be helped equally, irrespective of their religion. But the guilt-ridden West is ignoring people because of their religion. If non-Christians like me can sense the nonsense, how does it make Christians feel? And how are they going to react? The Christophobes worried about rising Christian fundamentalism in Britain should understand that it is a reaction to our double standards. And as long as our double standards exist, Christian fundamentalism will grow.

I AM COMING!!! The SPIRIT and the BRIDE SAY COME!

I AM coming in judgment ask of Me that in my wrath I will remember mercy.
Heads are going to roll.
People will drop dead suddenly.
I mean that the bowls of intercession will be poured out in judgments with lightning and thunder from heaven to bring peoples to repentance. Rev 8:5
I will keep you from the hour of trial that is about to come upon the whole earth.
I AM shaking the church to its very foundations.
The ark of the testimony in heaven will be opened.

So seek my mercy come to the mercy seat w/acceptable offerings. I don't want what you think I want. I want my ways and the offerings of seeking me with all your heart in a humble, contrite, and a broken spirit. I will not despise these but offerings of your ways that are religious, are despised and detestable in my eyes. You bring to me an understanding of my will but the ways of the world, flesh, and the devil.

The Government of the Bride Eph 1:22 & 23
She says, " I am not a slave to any man
You will have to love me the way I am!
The secret is the great Messiah and the assembly.
I have the burning heart of God
The heart of my Messiah, lover, bridegroom!"

Make ready I AM coming soon. You don't know if you will go here or there tomorrow. I will return soon. I AM coming! REPENT! Lest your candlestick be removed.
Daughters and sons you will come and go in the midst of the assemblies untouched. I will only connect you with the like-minded. I will cause you to see.
You call black, black and white, white,
Right, right, and truth, truth.

I am coming with a sickle to harvest grapes of wrath
And the righteous into eternity.
My eyes are blazing fire.
Fire will go before you I will cover you no one will come near you without my permission.
I AM jealous over you.
My eyes are blazing with fire.
I will trample down the vineyards
Where the grapes of wrath are stored.

I said there was a window of grace and mercy over Israel right now
But blood, rivers of blood will flood this land.
This land does not belong to anyone but Me,
I direct it's destiny!
And people were dying and crying,

And blood ran in the streets.
The vultures and birds were coming,
To drink their fill and feast!

The nations are a drop in the bucket.
They are nothing to me I,
I who with one WORD created the universe!
I AM controls this land!~

What you are doing and have done in secret will be Shouted, trumpted from the rooftops!

IS 22:22; IS 55:5;REV 3:7

Jerusalem will be shaken to the ground the church will be shaken to the ground.
The church at large will be shaken shaken, shaken down to the foundations.

This is a window now of grace and mercy.
It will be over soon.
The written judgment of the Lord will be executed.
Jerusalem the church is going to be shaken.
The Jerusalem church is going to be shaken.
The Church world wide will be shaken again,
Again and again down the foundations,
To be established properly.

O JERUSALEM!!!!
Shaking, Shaking the silver and gold,
Everything that can be shaken will be shaken,
Only that which cannot be shaken will remain.
I will fill the house with my glory
The glory of the latter house shall be greater than the former. Hag 2:6-9

Comments on Reformation
Bill Somers

The article below is written in response to last weeks post Luther and Church Reformation.

Dear Clay and List Members

You had a really great discussion on church reformation last week. The tie in with the film Luther is truly a prophetic sign.

I enjoyed the discussion so much that I re-posted the entire series of messages on my WebSite, End Time Prophetic Vision, www.etpv.org

Near the end of the series of messages you were looking for someone to disagree with Danette Mallard, so I am going to offer a minor disagreement, and cover a couple other points.

First a comment on Danette and what can be expected in the coming reformation.

Second, an illustration of the process from scripture.

And finally, a look at what it means to come out of Babylon.

Danette wrote:

> Do you think the organized church will be reformed? I cant even begin to see anything like that happening....that day is over. God is putting together his own people, shaping his remnant and they'll be totally separate from organizations.
> I cant even imagine that he would reform an organized giant with masses of people who have chosen the broad road. I don't think he's ever gonna come in and sweep through them and bring reform. Its always been the nature of God as far as I can see to go out to the lowly places and raise them up. That churchy world out there doesn't even know for the most part what God is doing in secret right under their noses. He didn't reveal his own sons birth to the "church", he went out in the fields and revealed him to some lowly shepherds. Just wonder why I'm all the time hearing "reformation" when all along I see God giving that big organized institutionalized giant up.
> When people talk about "revival" and "reformation" I've gotta assume they mean remnant, as far as the rest of the masses, I see a great falling away led by a Laodician system that was never of God. God is pouring out his spirit on a remnant, different day now than then. Hey I welcome being wrong, but the day of the organization is over and those who opt out will be few but powerful!
> Sis in Christ,
> Danette

Where I disagree with Danette is in her expectation that the mass of people in today's organized church will be left out of the coming move. The organized church of today may pass away, but the people will have greater things to occupy themselves with. I offer the following long quote from Rick Joyner, which shows what we can expect to happen with the denominations and such in the days to come.

A Vision Of The Harvest

PREFACE

This is a brief summary of a vision the Lord gave me about the coming harvest. Lord willing I hope to publish the entire vision in the near future. I am distributing this summary now because there are parts to it that have become very timely for the body of Christ. I also have reason to believe this may be coming to pass much sooner than I had previously considered.

To properly understand this vision you must keep in mind that it represents a GRADUAL unfolding which takes place over a period of time, possibly many years. Though I do not know the timing of these events, it is obvious that some are already beginning to take place. Whether the complete unfolding takes five years or fifty I do now know. I do know they will come as travail does upon a woman in labor. That is, they will come in waves with relative calm in between. As we get closer to the birth these "contractions" will become both more frequent and more intense until they are constant. I also perceive that the timing of these events will not be the same for all parts of the body of Christ.

Please let me include a caution. Much of this vision seems spectacular; its fulfillment will be even more so. Some who are foreseeing these things have begun to question works they are presently involved in as being irrelevant and destined to pass away. I think there are many works that should be questioned in this manner with or without the vision, but I know that many works which are destined to pass away in this coming move are presently serving the purpose of God and helping to prepare His way. I would question any drastic changes in direction caused by any vision. This was given merely to aid and give confidence to the preparation He is already working in His people. Do with all of your heart what He has given you to do. If we are abiding in Him, the changes that are coming will be an exhilarating fulfillment of His work, not its destruction. When the Lord fulfilled the Law it did pass away, but it did so with glory. When Jesus fulfilled it, for the first time its true purpose and all that it had accomplished was realized. Many works will fade in this coming move, but they too will do so with great glory if they were indeed His work.

In this vision I do not see beyond this harvest. I believe I somewhat understand the unfolding plan of God beyond this but that is my interpretation of the scriptures. As is was not given as a part of this vision I do not feel that it should be included here. I believe that the scriptures verify this vision but I have included very few here to leave room for the Lord to speak to those who receive it individually.

The Lord has revealed to many of His prophets that there will soon be a great outpouring of His Spirit. This revival will be greater than all those preceding it. This vision includes key elements to this coming harvest and what the Lord is doing in the church now to prepare for it.

This outpouring will ultimately result in some very radical changes for both the church and the world. These need to be understood by those who would be used by God for one of the greatest events in History. To those who are diligent seekers of God and obedient to His will, this vision does not represent disruption. These things will happen to them as a natural flow of the Spirit moving them to increased light and intimacy with Him. Those that are comfortable and resist change will have a very hard time. I ask you to openly and prayerfully reflect on what I am herein sharing with you. Some of these things may not speak to you now, but I believe they will in the future and will give you great peace and confidence as you remember them.

For the coming harvest the Lord is preparing a great spiritual "fishnet", one able to hold the catch that is coming. This net is formed by the linking together of His people. The links in this net are the interrelationships of His people. The stronger the intercommunication and interrelationships, the stronger this net will be. It in not only happening in the local churches among members, but between ministries and congregations throughout the world. In Ephesians 4:15-16, we see this principle: "...we are to grow up in all aspects into Him, who is the Head, even Christ, from whom the whole body, being fitted and held together by that which every JOINT supplies...." A joint is not a part, but it is where two or more parts come together. There is a great fitting together going on in the Spirit now and it will increase in the near future, on all levels.

The Spirit is compelling pastors to get together with other pastors, prophets with prophets, apostles with apostles, and even whole congregations are beginning to visit and interrelate with other congregations apart from their own circles of emphasis. This is the Lord's doing. Some of these meetings may seem fruitless because of improper agendas but they will bear fruit, there will be links made. Soon the Lord's presence in these meetings will melt all presumption and the facades which separate us from union with Him and each other. His presence will stimulate a worship that brings about Psalm 133 unity - as we anoint the Head with our worship the oil will flow down to the edge of His robes - covering the entire body.

He is beginning this breakdown of barriers with the leadership because this is where most originate and where they are the strongest. As the walls come down here the entire body will begin to flow together. If the leaders resist this move the Lord will continue through the congregations. These will begin to relate to other members of the body of Christ and their bonds will grow stronger regardless of the resistance or warnings of their pastors. Some pastors and leaders who continue to resist this tide of unity will be removed from their place, Some will become so hardened they will become opposers and resist God to the end. Most will be changed and repent of their resistance.

Because on the magnitude of the "catch" this net will be rent many times and will be in need of constant mending. Much of the discord now taking place in the church is used by the Lord to prepare those whose task in the harvest will be almost exclusively devoted to the mending and binding of this great net. These peacemakers will have a great part in building this net and have a major impact on the effectiveness of the entire revival. Those that seem to always find themselves in the middle of conflicts should be encouraged with the knowledge that they are being prepared for a great work.

Some that were used greatly of God in the past have become too rigid in doctrinal emphasis, or are too entangled with spiritual "Ishmaels", to participate in this revival. Some of these will try to join the work but their interrelationships will be so superficial that they will quickly be torn from the net with the first catch. Those who are linked together by doctrine or who gather around personalities will quickly be torn away. Only those who are joined by and through Jesus alone will stand the pressure this harvest will bring upon the church. (Col. 1:17). The redemption of so many will bring much joy but they will come with problems which bring enormous stress to congregations and ministers. The cords of unity must be very strong to stand this pressure. Those who have not learned to take the Lord's yoke, and not try to carry the burdens themselves, will be overwhelmed. Entering the Sabbath rest of the Lord will become a major emphasis in preparation for the harvest. Heed this word!

A large number who are now considered Christians, even spirit- filled Christians, have never been led to the Lord. They were led to the church, to a personality, or to a doctrine or emphasis. Some of these will think they are important links in the net but will actually become part of the harvest, starting over again on the proper Foundation -- Jesus. This group includes many well known ministers and pastors. Their humility in this will lead multitudes to question and strengthen their own relationship to the Lord. This will strengthen and encourage the entire body of Christ.

> Many denominations, extra-local fellowships and circles of emphasis will begin disbanding and severing those ties, even those that were ordained by God for a season, in order to take their place in this great net that the Lord is now forming. For some these ties will just be ignored or forgotten until they have passed away, almost without notice, because of the greater intensity and substance of this new move. For others it will be a very painful rending as they are persecuted and rejected by those who do not understand. Those who are required to leave much behind will soon receive many times that which they have left.
> Some leaders will actually disband their organizations as they realize they are no longer relevant to what God is doing. Others will just leave them behind to disband of themselves. Ultimately, all circles of ministry or influence with individual identities will dissolve into a single identity of simply being Christians for all who become part of this harvest. Single presbyteries will form over cities and localities. These will be made up of pastors and leaders from all different backgrounds. Their unity and harmony in purpose, as well as that of the various congregations, will become a marvel to the world. The Lord will give these presbyteries great wisdom and discernment but there will be no doubt that Jesus alone will be the Head of His church. What is coming will be bigger than any man or council of men could control or administrate.
> The Lord's purpose in preparing for the harvest is to JOIN, not separate. The dismantling of organizations and disbanding of some works will be a positive and exhilarating experience for the Lord's faithful servants. They will not be just leaving something behind, they will be going on to a much greater work. Those who have fallen to worship the work of God more than the God of the work will have trouble, but most of these too will be set free by the tremendous anointing that is coming. Those that feel called to attack and tear down the old will not be sent from the Lord. There will be many "stumbling blocks" circulating in the church that will cause confusion and some destruction from time to time. They will perceive themselves as prophets sent to judge and deliver. Those serving in leadership must trust their discernment and REMOVE the stumbling blocks.

Now here is the illustration from the bible.

Balaam and the Ass

In this story there is an allegory of the end times. Balaam represents the organized church while the ass represents the prophetic remnant. The Angel of the Lord, is the Lord of course, and the drawn sword in hand speaks of Judgments in the Earth, or Judgments being carried out.

> Nu 22:23 And the ass saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand*: and the ass turned aside out of the way, and went into the field: and Balaam smote the ass, to turn her into the way.*
> Nu 22:24 But the angel of the LORD stood in a path of the vineyards, a wall being on this side, and a wall on that side.
> 25 And when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she thrust herself unto the wall, and crushed Balaam's foot against the wall: and he smote her again.
> 26 And the angel of the LORD went further, and stood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn either to the right hand or to the left.
> 27 And when the ass saw the angel of the LORD, she fell down under Balaam: and Balaam's anger was kindled, and he smote the ass with a staff.
> 28 And the LORD opened the mouth of the ass, and she said unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou hast smitten me these three times?
> 29 And Balaam said unto the ass, Because thou hast mocked me: I would there were a sword in mine hand, for now would I kill thee.
> 30 And the ass said unto Balaam, Am not I thine ass, upon which thou hast ridden ever since I was thine unto this day? was I ever wont to do so unto thee? And he said, Nay.

> 31 Then the LORD opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the way, and his sword drawn in his hand: and he bowed down his head, and fell flat on his face.

The interpretation is like this. The ass [prophetic remnant] can see what Balaam [the organized church] cannot. The ass sees the sword in hand means the remnant is aware of judgments coming. The ass takes action to avoid the judgments and protect the rider, even to the point of causing pain to Balaam.

Now Balaam beats the ass of course, and this speaks of the organized church persecuting the prophetic remnant. This is the often prophesied civil war in the church. This only goes on for a while, then the Lord intervenes and opens Balaam's eyes. Then we are told Balaam bows to him. This tells us that at some point the Lord will bring the civil war to an end, and cause all his people to worship him.

This is also prophesied in Isaiah 29. The hypocrites and stumbling blocks are described in vs. 20 and 21. And those willing to repent are redeemed in verse 24.

> Isa 29:18 And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness.
> 19 The meek also shall increase their joy in the LORD, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.
> 20 For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off:
> 21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought.
> 22 Therefore thus saith the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob, Jacob shall not now be ashamed, neither shall his face now wax pale.
> 23 But when he seeth his children, the work of mine hands, in the midst of him, they shall sanctify my name, and sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and shall fear the God of Israel.
> 24 They also that erred in spirit shall come to understanding, and they that murmured shall learn doctrine.

Leaving Babylon

We find more and more people leaving the organized churches. I have been out of them for a few years now myself. But then we also see lots of these people wondering what is the alternative. Do we have a house church, a cell church, some hybrid mixture of house meetings and seminars? We even have a Church With No Name!

There is an old saying about country folk: You can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy.

We can paraphrase that to apply it here.

You can take the believer out of Babylon, but you can't take Babylon out of the believer.

This is what is happening with many who leave the churches. They want to start something new. And this is also why in many cases they are being called out of the churches and not being sent anywhere else or not starting something new. They are just coming out to be with the Lord and learn from him. And the Lord is the only one who can take Babylon out of the believer!

The root of denominationalism goes back to The Tower Of Babel [Babylon]

> Ge 11:4 And they said, Go to, let us build us a city and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name*, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth.*

Here we see that the people wanted to make a name for them selves. The root word of denomination is nomination which means to name. Once you have a name, you are distinguished from the others. A name tells the world that we're not like those others. We're different. Picking a name sets up a barrier, a wall of separation. We have had Non-Denominational Churches for decades now. Non-Denominational is the name for that denomination. Church With No Name is a name of a church! It's still the spirit of Babylon working.

My point here is that it's not up to us to decide what form of worship we will have or what kinds of fellowship we will have. It's just up to us to hear the Lord and obey. And if he tells one group to meet in cells of 12 and another group to meet as a body of 500, why get upset? Why compare what he tells one with what he tells another? He is the builder, we are the blocks. We must trust that He knows what He is doing.

Joyner's vision above makes mention of city wide, or regional presbyteries, but no mention of actual form. Perhaps the form is to be constantly changing, or it has to vary with circumstances we are unaware of. When we seek to establish a form, we are getting back into naming names, and erecting walls.

The only name we need to be concerned with is the Name of Jesus

> Col 3:17 And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.
> Php 2:10 That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth;
> Ac 4:12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.

Complete Repentance

Barbara Lynch

November 6, 2005, 5:00 PM

God gave me Jeremiah 12

This revival is so different.
This revival is bringing the sin to the surface and dealing with it once and for all. This is a revival of complete repentance; never to go back to the sin nature ever again. Lay at My feet continually and then watch Me move on your behalf. This revival will bring nations to its knees. It will show forth the goodness of the Father. The last revival brought Holy laughter, but it did not have a long lasting effect. The last revival was one of GREAT joy, but not GREAT salvation. I am on the move and I have brought revival to this land. All must step into this revival of salvation in order to receive anything out of it. If you do not let go of your sins, you will be forever lost, for this is the last great revival to sweep across America before the coming of My son for the second time.

Confessions of a False Prophet

By Bill Somers

> What I have been guilty of is warning others of God's impending judgments and then leaving the intercession to them instead of doing my own praying.

Sept. 20, 1998
Last week we wrote and published an Article titled Alas Poor Ahab! As I was writing it I had the sense that it needed something more tacked on to the end. Yet in busyness with other matters, I let the article go as it was.

It brought in an interesting response from Richard Breazeale. He sent me a note with the Subject line of "Who Are We?" His first line reads: " This is a true word, yet not complete."
Then he goes into a discussion of judgment and of the need to pray. I soon saw that what the Ahab article is missing is the call to prayer as a response to the word of judgment.

Also this week I came across an article by Bill Burns called "Will the Real Elijah's Please Stand Up?" When I read this I knew I had been missing it. Let me quote from it.

> "The Father will not allow His prophets to prophesy judgment upon His own people without first being willing to intercede for the people and also bear the reproach of the iniquity of the people. This is the Biblical standard set forth in the Holy Scriptures, and this is how you will know the true prophets from the false:"

What I have been guilty of is warning others of God's impending judgments and then leaving the intercession to them instead of doing my own praying. A false prophet. Not in what I said, but in what I neglected to say.

After this one two punch I realized the need to get my prayer life in better order and my Writing in better balance.

Interestingly enough there came an opportunity to addend a men's intercessory 'boot camp' put on by Bro. Dick Simmons of Men for Nations. This was exactly what I needed and came in with perfect timing. I came away from the meeting with a renewed desire to pray, and a great refreshing in the Lord's purposes. So now I find myself rejoicing in the Lord's correction and ready to face new challenges. Hallelujah!

On this same topic, let me suggets you look at a short letter from Tom Heward that came in this week. You will notice the heart of a weeping prophet in what he has to say.

[1]con·fi·dence   Function: noun
1 a : a feeling or consciousness of one's powers or of reliance on one's circumstances b : faith or belief that one will act in a right, proper, or effective way   <have confidence in a leader>
2 : the quality or state of being certain : CERTITUDE
3 a : a relation of trust or intimacy
 b : reliance on another's discretion
 c : support especially in a legislative body
4 : a communication made in confidence : SECRET
synonyms CONFIDENCE, ASSURANCE, SELF-POSSESSION, APLOMB mean a state of mind or a manner marked by easy coolness and freedom from uncertainty, diffidence, or embarrassment. CONFIDENCE stresses faith in oneself and one's powers without any suggestion of conceit or arrogance

“ I said to learn of ME, for I am gentle and lowly in heart. But humble does not mean lacking confidence. I was very confident of My FATHER and what He told me. I want YOU to be confident in My ability to sustain you and to back you up when you speak for Me! I want you to come boldly before the throne of grace when you need something. I want you to hold nothing back.
I know what is in your mind anyway. I know the things that weigh you down.
I know the things that will lift you up. Hold on to Me My beloveds, for I love you as no other loves you. I am Your ABBA, and I don’t destroy the hopes of My children. It is another who does that.

Just come to ME, and I will fill you with good things. I will feed you on My sweetness and love. I will feed you with TRUTH that sets you free. I will feed you and sustain you . Is not My food more nourishing than what you eat naturally? Nothing is impossible with Me. I love you and adore you. I am Your FATHER. Do you not love your children in this way? Do you withhold your love when they don’t do everything perfectly or do you still love them?
If they persist in rebelling do you cut them off? Or do you love them into repentance? What kind of Father do you think I am?

Are you ready for the TRUTH? Do you love the truth? Confidence is knowing the TRUTH about ME, and walking in it. Confidence is knowing I love you no matter what happens or what sins you fall to. Nothing is impossible for me to forgive or heal. I AM the Mighty One of Israel. Nothing is too hard for ME. Can you move a mountain yet? Is your faith mature? Are you perfect in all your ways? Then you need more grace. You need more of ME.
Come to Me and lay at My feet and I will perfect all that concerns you!
I will NOT abandon you. The hour is coming when men think they do Me a service to kill you. Will you have confidence in My love for you enough to face them in boldness? Or will you cower and be afraid? Will you be confident in WHO I AM, and who you are to ME?

You are My precious JEWELS. I will make you to shine like the stars in the heavens if you will just put ALL your trust in ME. BE CONFIDENT that I can do anything and everything it takes to sustain you and protect you in this perilous hour. I will fill you if you will but COME to ME! Allow ME to touch you and make you whole. Lay down your rights. I bought and paid for you with the blood of My SON. SURELY goodness and mercy will follow you all the days of your life if you will but TRUST in ME.”

Ps 56:3-4 AMP What time I am afraid, I will have confidence in and put my trust and reliance in You. 4 By [the help of] God I will praise His word; on God I lean, rely, and confidently put my trust; I will not fear. What can man, who is flesh, do to me?

Ps 57:1 AMP To the Chief Musician; [set to the tune of] "Do Not Destroy." A record of memorable thoughts of David when he fled from Saul in the cave. - BE MERCIFUL and gracious to me, O God, be merciful and gracious to me, for my soul takes refuge and finds shelter and confidence in You;

Ps 62:8 AMP Trust in, lean on, rely on, and have confidence in Him at all times, you people; pour out your hearts before Him. God is a refuge for us (a fortress and a high tower). Selah [pause, and calmly think of that]!

Ps 65:5 AMP By fearful and glorious things [that terrify the wicked but make the godly sing praises] do You answer us in righteousness (rightness and justice), O God of our salvation, You Who are the confidence and hope of all the ends of the earth and of those far off on the seas;

Ps 108:1 AMP A song. A Psalm of David.
O GOD, my heart is fixed (steadfast, in the confidence of faith); I will sing, yes, I will sing praises, even with my glory [all the faculties and powers of one created in Your image]!

Ps 140:12 AMP I know and rest in confidence upon it that the Lord will maintain the cause of the afflicted, and will secure justice for the poor and needy [of His believing children].

Prov 3:26 AMP For the Lord shall be your confidence, firm and strong, and shall keep your foot from being caught [in a trap or some hidden danger].

Prov 14:26 AMP In the reverent and worshipful fear of the Lord there is strong confidence, and His children shall always have a place of refuge.

Prov 14:32-33 AMP The wicked is overthrown through his wrongdoing and calamity, but the [consistently] righteous has hope and confidence even in death. 33 Wisdom rests [silently] in the mind and heart of him who has understanding, but that which is in the inward part of [self-confident] fools is made known. [Isa 32:6.]

Prov 21:29-30 AMP A wicked man puts on the bold, unfeeling face [of guilt], but as for the upright, he considers, directs, and establishes his way [with the confidence of integrity]. 30 There is no [human] wisdom or understanding or counsel [that can prevail] against the Lord.

Prov 25:19 NKJV Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a bad tooth and a foot out of joint.

Prov 29:25 Amp The fear of man brings a snare, but whoever leans on, trusts in, and puts his confidence in the Lord is safe and set on high.
Ps 118:8-9 NKJV It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in man. 9 It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in princes.

Isa 30:15 NKJV For thus says the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel: "In returning and rest you shall be saved; In quietness and confidence shall be your strength." But you would not,

Mic 7:5-7 NKJV Do not trust in a friend; Do not put your confidence in a companion; Guard the doors of your mouth From her who lies in your bosom. 6 For son dishonors father, Daughter rises against her mother, Daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; A man's enemies are the men of his own household. 7 Therefore I will look to the LORD; I will wait for the God of my salvation

Eph 3:11-13 NKJV according to the eternal purpose which He accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord, 12 in whom we have boldness and access with confidence through faith in Him. 13 Therefore I ask that you do not lose heart at my tribulations for you, which is your glory.

Phil 3:3 NKJV For we are the circumcision, who worship God in the Spirit, rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh, Philem 21-22 NKJV Having confidence in your obedience, I write to you, knowing that you will do even more than I say. 22 But, meanwhile, also prepare a guest room for me, for I trust that through your prayers I shall be granted to you.

Heb 3:6 NKJV but Christ as a Son over His own house, whose house we are if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm to the end.

Heb 10:35-36 AMP Do not, therefore, fling away your fearless confidence, for it carries a great and glorious compensation of reward. 36 For you have need of steadfast patience and endurance, so that you may perform and fully accomplish the will of God, and thus receive and carry away [and enjoy to the full] what is promised.

1 John 2:28 AMP And now, little children, abide (live, remain permanently) in Him, so that when He is made visible, we may have and enjoy perfect confidence (boldness, assurance) and not be ashamed and shrink from Him at His coming.

1 John 3:21 AMP And, beloved, if our consciences (our hearts) do not accuse us [if they do not make us feel guilty and condemn us], we have confidence (complete assurance and boldness) before God,

1 John 5:14-15 AMP And this is the confidence (the assurance, the privilege of boldness) which we have in Him: [we are sure] that if we ask anything (make any request) according to His will (in agreement with His own plan), He listens to and hears us. 15 And if (since) we [positively] know that He listens to us in whatever we ask, we also know [with settled and absolute knowledge] that we have [granted us as our present possessions] the requests made of Him.

1 John 5:18-21 AMP We know [absolutely] that anyone born of God does not [deliberately and knowingly] practice committing sin, but the one Who was begotten of God carefully watches over and protects him [Christ's divine presence within him preserves him against the evil], and the wicked one does not lay hold (get a grip) on him or touch [him]. 19 We know [positively] that we are of God, and the whole world [around us] is under the power of the evil one.
20 And we [have seen and] know [positively] that the Son of God has [actually] come to this world and has given us understanding and insight [progressively] to perceive (recognize) and come to know better and more clearly Him Who is true; and we are in Him Who is true--in His Son Jesus Christ (the Messiah). This [Man] is the true God and Life eternal. 21 Little children, keep yourselves from idols (false gods)--[from anything and everything that would occupy the place in your heart due to God, from any sort of substitute for Him that would take first place in your life]. Amen (so let it be).

Mescaline Rush
Priscilla van Sutphin

March 24th, 2005
www.upstreamca.org
tearsofthefather@comcast.net

The Lord said to me "mescaline rush" and this is peculiar I thought, so I looked up mescaline to find out more about what it does and found these comments from a couple sites:

"Mescaline is a naturally occurring psychedelic found in several cactus species most notably, Peyote and San Pedro. Mescaline provokes pupil dilation, dizziness, vomiting, tachycardia, sensations of warm and cold, swatting, headaches. Some of the visions under the effect of mescaline can cause nightmares that can give birth to some psychosis to the consumers.

Peyote is a small, spineless cactus, Lophophora williamsii, whose principal active ingredient is the hallucinogen mescaline (3, 4, 5-trimethoxyphenethylamine). From earliest recorded time, peyote has been used by natives in northern Mexico and the southwestern United States as a part of their religious rites.

The top of the cactus above ground--also referred to as the crown--consists of disc-shaped buttons that are cut from the roots and dried. These buttons are generally chewed or soaked in water to produce an intoxicating liquid. The hallucinogenic dose of mescaline is about 0.3 to 0.5 grams and lasts about 12 hours. While peyote produced rich visual hallucinations that were important to the native peyote cults, the full spectrum of effects served as a chemically induced model of mental illness. Mescaline can be extracted from peyote or produced synthetically. Both peyote and mescaline are listed in the CSA as Schedule I hallucinogens."

This I got from a site where this youth is describing his trip on mescaline: "The first part of the trip I would say more closely resembled a clean roll on ecstasy. I was hanging out with my friends smoking up and kept getting rushes of extreme energy and love all over my body."

So then I asked the Lord what He wanted to say about it.

" The rush I want to give you is much higher than what you can get from any drug. The youth of this nation are captivated by such things in enormous numbers. MANY, MANY are doing drugs. They are able to get them easily through other school mates. There is always a source. They don't think there is any consequence to their actions because they see it on TV, in movies, and they hear about it in music. Their idols are emanating all the wrong moral values and parents are doing nothing to monitor them because they are too busy. Too busy off making money for the new car, the new house, the new furniture, the many and varied means of spending in a culture gone crazy for all the things of this world.

I am about to do an overturning of the economy and the basis from which these have been able to induce themselves into a psychosis of sorts. Their parents will no longer be able to work both jobs. Peril is coming, and all kinds of alterations in the weather that will disturb the norm for those who have basked in their wealth and poured it down the toilet. I will no longer allow people to neglect and lay waste the youth with apathy and complacency towards their own children. I am bringing judgment on those who don't care, who don't want to help others. The cases in courts will be judged more swiftly and swiftly if they do not make judgments aligned with MY judgments. Consequences will abound for those who want to go their own way. People thought I would do nothing. Now the children who have listened to and taken on the morals of the pop culture will receive consequences as well. They will get caught doing things they could before get away with.

I am holding up this standard in My church as well. The things you got away with before, you will no longer get away with, so put a guard at the door of your mouths! Take every thought captive! For I am coming to show you WHO I AM. I am longing to pour out My love and power that will make a mescaline rush seem like an ant crawling up your arm, compared to the power of MY GLORY. The rush I will give, will alter all things in your world. It will Bring to you a new perspective like you have never seen. And the revelation it will bring is far superior to any vision seen in a mescaline rush, or any other state which drugs are used to induce.

The power of the Holy Spirit will OVERTAKE THIS GENERATION of Youth to transform them into a mighty army! I will NOT allow the enemy to continue to pervert the call on their lives. To train this army, I am going to need many teachers who will love them like I love them. I need spiritual parents of sorts, who will love on the youth, who will teach them right from wrong and who will encourage them to HOPE. This generation has been log-jammed with hopelessness and death. But I will overturn the culture of death, and not allow them to be robbed any more of their destinies. The spirit of insanity has been loosed through this culture of drugs and it has robbed and stolen long enough their innocence and potential. Will you be those who speak LIFE to them and LOVE them like I love them? Will you NOT JUDGE, but just love them into repentance and speak TRUTH to them?

I have need of you! I have need of those who can TESTIFY and DEMONSTRATE My love and power to them. I WILL OVERTURN all that has come against them and you, for the role I've called you to in this last hour. Put your trust in ME. I have done a good thing in you, though you feel devastated and dry, though you are weary and worn, I am coming to renew your souls and destroy the enemy's strongholds. You will need to know how to destroy the strongholds of the enemy in the lives of others. You need to know what TRUTHS to speak to loose the enemy's hold. Look to ME to tell you all you need to know. Yesterday's methods will not work. I am DOING A NEW THING. So become dependent on ME to tell you how to help them without quenching the fire I put in them.

My name will be GLORIOUS in all the earth as you step into this hour of holiness and AWE. I am about to upset the apple cart of the enemy. I will destroy his strategies against you…though the times will continue to become more and more perilous, I will uphold you who are Mine! As you reach out to these broken minds and bodies, I will continue to pour Myself out in you as you stay IN ME. So keep close to My heart in these times, that that spirit of insanity will not overtake you. The enemy seeks whom he may devour and destroy and the level of temptations is getting stronger. So stay in My WORD and use it against the enemy with the skill of a trained swordsman!

Do not let up in the battle. Strengthen yourselves in ME. Lay down in MY ARMS and let me love, heal and empower you! Come aside now while you can."

recompense: 1 a : to give something to by way of compensation (as for a service rendered or damage incurred) b : to pay for 2 : to return in kind : REQUITE

“ I am the God of recompense. I am the Judge and the Creator of the Universe. I alone have the right to exact punishment or to give reward.
I alone know the hearts of men. Do not think to make a judgment that is not based on MY judgment. Pray that you may not fall in the day of judgment.
Pray you will be kept from the wrath to come. My judgment is for the wicked but it’s motive is to always draw them back into relationship with Me.

My heart of love is ever looking for ways to compensate those who are Mine with blessings and revelations that will help them endure till the end. My GLORY is coming to you as you keep your hearts and eyes on ME. I am forever FORGIVENESS and My mercy endures forever for anyone who will turn to ME. Do not seek what you can hold in your hands, but what your heart and soul can hold of My love and glory! I am transitioning you as you come into a new phase of this earth’s history. I am bringing you CLOSER to MY HEART and increasing the glory, increment by increment till you are filled to the full with My love and peace in your hearts. The times will only get more perilous and your CONFIDENCE needs to be IN ME. Not in your money, not in your house, not in your job, not in your own strivings. I am a GOD OF RECOMPENSE. It is up to me to deal with the wicked.

Pray! For the fervent prayers of a righteous man or woman, boy or girl, avail much! TURN the WORSHIP up to HIGH PRAISES. Sing and dance and make melody in your hearts to the LOVER OF YOUR SOUL! I AM with you even to the end of this world. For escalation continues and there is much change and lawlessness on the horizon. KEEP YOUR EYES ON ME. KEEP IN THE WORD. EAT the WORD and hold it close in your heart and mind. LIVE THE WORD. Forsake the cares of this world and put ALL your trust in ME.
I will lay the enemy waste though the mountains fall and the seas roar, I will keep you in the palm of My hand as you REMAIN IN ME. ABIDE in ME and I will abide in you! Do not grow weary. REST, and do not strive. TRUST in ME with all of your heart and lean NOT on your own understanding. Keep oil in your lamps for your LORD is at hand!

As you worship ME, I will resurrect My hope and love, and peace and joy in you! I WILL SUSTAIN you as you look to ME, and not to yourself. RELY on ME to be your recompense for the things that will come against you, and the people who will come against you. KNOW that I AM at your side and will not leave you. Keep hidden in the shadow of My wings. Come aside and be at peace in ME, casting aside all the worldly things for a time. DWELL in ME, in the worship, and the Word, and in prayer, and meditation. I will not disappoint you! I am your FATHER, and I love you and will pour out My blessings as you keep in ME."

Luke 14:13-14 KJV But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind: 14 And thou shalt be blessed; for they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just.
Luke 14:13-14 AMP But when you give a banquet or a reception, invite the poor, the disabled, the lame, and the blind. 14 Then you will be blessed (happy, fortunate, and to be envied), because they have no way of repaying you, and you will be recompensed at the resurrection of the just (upright).

Rom 12:17-18 KJV Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. 18 If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men.
Rom 12:17 AMP Repay no one evil for evil, but take thought for what is honest and proper and noble [aiming to be above reproach] in the sight of everyone. [Prov 20:22.]

Prov 20:22 AMP Do not say, I will repay evil; wait [expectantly] for the Lord, and He will rescue you. [2 Sam 16:12; Rom 12:17-19; 1 Thess 5:15; 1 Peter 3:9.]

2 Thess 1:4-10 KJV
4 So that we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye endure:
5 Which is a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which ye also suffer:
6 Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you;
7 And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, 8 In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: 9 Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power; 10 When he shall come to be glorified in his saints, and to be admired in all them that believe (because our testimony among you was believed) in that day.

2 Thess 1:6 AMP [It is a fair decision] since it is a righteous thing with God to repay with distress and affliction those who distress and afflict you,

Heb 10:30-31 KJV For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people. 31 It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

Heb 10:30-31 AMP
30 For we know Him Who said, Vengeance is Mine [retribution and the meting out of full justice rest with Me]; I will repay [I will exact the compensation], says the Lord. And again, The Lord will judge and determine and solve and settle the cause and the cases of His people. [Deut 32:35,36]
31 It is a fearful (formidable and terrible) thing to incur the divine penalties and be cast into the hands of the living God!

Ruth 2:12 AMP The Lord recompense you for what you have done, and a full reward be given you by the Lord, the God of Israel, under Whose wings you have come to take refuge!

Jer 25:14 AMP
14 For many nations and great kings shall make bondmen of them, even them [the Chaldeans who enslaved other nations]; and I will recompense [all of] them according to their deeds and according to the work of their [own] hands.

Conversion

In this salvation process, we are changing houses, going from death to life. The Lord has been showing the deeper meaning of “salvation.” It is the same as what we call conversion. The dictionary defines “conversion” as “changing from one belief system to another, changing over to suit another purpose.” The Lord is showing us that conversion is the essence of translation, or transformation and it takes revelation of His word and His Person by His spirit to do it. Revelation is conversion taking place. The whole book of Revelation is this: to the believer it’s a conversion or a confirmation, but to the unbeliever, it is a confounding and a condemnation to death and destruction. It could be called the book of conversion, or the book of the confirmation of Jesus Christ into the very being of the believer and the Kingdom of God. We can know him only by being converted in this way. No amount of studying “about Him” or religiously staring at the printed page of His word can convert. It takes a converted mind, born out of a converted spirit to know Him. We are being converted into His whole creative life. We are being converted to minister, and instead of this ministry running on money; it is being switched over to running supernaturally. God will provide all that is needed for a “converted ministry.” There will be no begging or sales of books, tapes or trinkets.

We are being converted daily. We present our bodies daily a living sacrifice and are thereby converted. Even the changed is being changed. We are like jig saw puzzles. We have to be converted before we can fit in God’s plan. We are being converted from a bastard to being a son: from manpower, to God power. This manpower has not been able to get through. Of this manpower we can do nothing. Manpower is what runs Babylon. But this church will be fully operating on God power; she will have come out of Babylon. The church will be separate from the state.

Bread and fishes had to be converted going from the little boy’s hands, to Jesus’ hands. He says to us: “When thou art converted to the God power. Go to the nations; raise the dead, heal the sick and cast out devils. These are the signs that follow those who are converted.” Conversion means to be completely turned around, with your back to what you had been, and to where you had been going, and to what you had been saying. Conversion is repentance. Conversion submits to being totally consumed by God.

A converted red heifer is consumed in God and becomes nothing more than ashes for the converting of the nations. Once converted always converted, the ashes can never become a heifer again. Olives have to be crushed to be converted. Grapes have to be pressed to make the best wine. Water has to be turned to wine before it can serve the wedding guests. It is not once "saved" as in go down an aisle and pray with the preacher and join the church and attend all the functions and be “always saved.” It is once converted (hearing the word and becoming that word revealed; Jesus revealed) always converted. Dogs return to their own vomit.... Converted believers don’t. This is the answer to why “revivals” fail more than succeed…conversion has not taken place. People have an “experience but are not converted and soon return to their own vomit.

The only preaching that truly converts the soul of man is preaching that comes from the conversion of Christ. For every miracle there was a conversion to make it fit God's plans. So why should we be any different? Think of the first miracle of Jesus. He converted the water to wine.... he told them what to do...they did it and the anointing converted it.

Remember? Jesus said to his mother,” My time is not come.” The criteria for the conversion is not complete"...first there had to be a word given, then a word heard...then a word acted on and then the conversion.

So what does Mary do? She tells the men, “Whatever He says do, do it.” She gave the word that opened their ears...then He spoke and they heard. They acted, and then the conversion took place. Jesus taking your place is the conversion. He tells you to do some thing, and then He does it.

Conversion is repentance. Conversion believes I see the crumbs from my hands can become loaves in yours. We say, as peter said: “such as I have I give to you”. Peter had to be converted to say that to that lame man, and we can only say it in the conversion.

Pray more, trust more, believe more…be converted. Praying brings on more revelation, which brings on more conversion. Revelation comes, then persecution, and then ashes. Then more revelation comes, more persecution and more ashes. The plumb line is a certain conversion needed to bring deliverance that takes us to further conversion. The pure in heart, is the converted shall see God. As we read the Bible, by revelation we are seeing God.

To the “comer outers” who have exited the organized church the Lord asks: but have you believed…been converted in your “coming out?” It’s the conversion that brings us out or else we say we are out, while still there. If there is no fire the heifer is still a heifer.
The heifer has no choices left, after becoming ashes.

To do what is "right or best" in our own eyes or in man's eyes is "expedient" but it is not what is right or best in God’s eyes. Conversion does what is right in God's eyes, no matter what man thinks. We are workers together in oneness with God. Only the converted can do this.

We must want and have, what God himself calls holiness. More than ever I believe in separation of church and state. The true church of god cannot remain in the "state" system and be the church. The word state covers a lot, when we think what he has separated us from we belong to Jesus only to be separate from state, separates us from a people. We go where they cannot go. The "state" cannot have a place in Jesus. He alone is the government and kingdom we belong to. We cannot have part of that religious system that speaks well of men. We are wrong when all men speak well of us. Unconverted men cannot speak well of the converted. We need to repent of compromise with men. We can never be "unified" with the "state."

His holiness has joined us as His body. His holiness has kept us. In His holiness we grow every day we go with His holiness, we follow it so holiness directs our paths orders our steps. He has brought us out of what we thought we wanted.

There is a way that seems to be right. But it is vanity of vanities before i do any thing i must ask, “will it help me spiritually?” Living in the spirit, is being approved of god in every thing we say or do.” That is the question for all of it. “Will it help me spiritually and will it make me more spiritual?” Conversion makes us spiritual. This conversion is a table in the presence of our enemies.

There is an unconverted people who fight the things of God. From such withhold. They don't walk in all seven spirits of God, which I believe is what we mean by “walking in the Spirit.” The Spirit of the LORD is not with them...they won't let Him be with them.   Not only do we withdraw from some, we also withhold. We can only share with what the Lord lets us be a part of. It’s not us sharing any way; it’s His holiness in us sharing. Holiness speaks to holiness and produces more holiness. Holiness converts. A stove cannot give off heat. It’s the fire in the stove, so we are like the stove. It’s not for us in ourselves, to try to do any thing it’s His power working in us. It’s not I, the stove; it’s the fire of Jesus living in me. It’s the treasure in this earthen vessel. The vessel is only the vessel...not the treasure...The treasure is definitely not man's will; he doesn’t want the treasure and looks to the vessel. As long as the will of man is in me; as long as the “what will people think?” is in me, I am of no use to God. It’s got to be a completely empty stove for His fire. “What will people think" is green wood that won't burn, just makes stinky smoke. God cannot use "what will people think,” and as long as you are walking AS A MAN, FOR MAN, and BY MAN’S WAYS you will never walk in the FULL anointing

In this conversion, we have a vision, and nothing can be added to it nor can anything be taken from it. Parts will be called false by unconverted religionists, but they still remain. They accuse us saying that we are too heavenly-minded to be any earthly good. However, when people separate themselves from God, they separate themselves from us. We are more and more coming into the contradiction of man and religion. Conversion separates the church from man’s state. God’s people must become what the Lord is saying now and be converted.

2 Tim. 1:12 says, “For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day.

He is saying to us that all that has been CONVERTED will remain. No devil in hell will be able to snatch what has been converted out of God’s hand. Once CONVERTED always CONVERTED. Let us desire God’s complete CONVERSION of us, for He has promised that what He has begun in us He will perfect in the end. That is signed by the Author and Finisher of our faith.

Amen and Amen.

Which Of You Convicts Me Of Sin?

By Bill Somers

> "Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?" (John 8:46)

The Jews of Jesus day rejected him as messiah. One of their usual arguments was that He was a sinner. And since he was a sinner, he could not be messiah! One who is a law breaker cannot possibly be the one who fulfils the law.

We see throughout the gospels where they constantly tried to accuse him of any number of things. He is mad, he is a drunkard, a friend of sinners, he breaks the traditions, he violates the Sabbath, he has a devil, he doesn't pay taxes, he wants to overthrow the law, he was born in fornication, he contradicts the writings of Moses, etc, etc. And did you see what happened when he went into the temple?

Unbelieving Jews of today still use this tactic. I came across it while following an online discussion group several years ago. This group included Christians, Orthodox and Messianic Jews debating various bible topics. Among them was, naturally, Isaiah 53, commonly considered a proof text of Jesus' messiah ship. The Orthodox Jews were going to great lengths to find alternate interpretations of Isaiah 53 or to argue that it did not refer to Jesus.

One writer made issue of Isaiah 53 verse 8b, " and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living: … " And then making reference to Genesis 1:28 "

> And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth* (Genesis 1:28)

The line of thinking went like this. If Isaiah 53 refers to Jesus, as Christians claim, it refers to his death in verse 8 by saying "he was cut off out of the land of the living". And it alludes to the fact that he died without having any offspring by saying "Who shall declare his generation?" That is to day, he died without any children, so no one can declare his generation since he had no descendants.

So how could Jesus have been sinless and have fulfilled the law when he failed to obey the very first commandment, given in Genesis 1:28, to be fruitful and multiply?

So what's wrong with this kind of argument? Primarily that it is overly literal and superficial in its rejection of the truth of scripture. [The entire gist if the re-interpretation of Isaiah 53, however is very allegorical. Is essence they claim the suffering servant of Isaiah 53 is not Jesus but Israel itself.]

Let's look at two points. Who shall declare his generation? And did Jesus obey Genesis 1:28?

Did Jesus obey Genesis 1:28?

Genesis 1:28 is a commandment given to Adam. It consists of two parts. A. "Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it "* and B. have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth."

We know that Adam failed to carryout part B and though he was fruitful and multiplied and replenished the earth, he did not subdue it. Instead he yielded dominion to satan.

Now the bible tells that Jesus was the second Adam. This commandment is then one that must be fulfilled as part of his mission.

> And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.
> Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual.
> The first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lord from heaven. (1 Corinthians 15:45-47)

The last or second man Adam is Jesus. Now does Jesus have dominion over all? Of course He does. He obtained it by being fully obedient to the Father and suffering death on the cross. We read in Matthew:

> And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. (Matthew 28:18)

And in Acts we read:

> For David is not ascended into the heavens: but he saith himself, The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand,
> Until I make thy foes thy footstool.
> Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ. (Acts 2:34-36)

I think that takes care of the question of dominion. To answer the first part we must consider the next question.

Who Shall Declare His Generation?

At the beginning of Isaiah 53 it says:

> "Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?" (Isaiah 53:1)

And later in verse 8 the prophet asks " and who shall declare his generation?": Here we have three questions, who, to whom, and who. The who that these questions refer to is the same in all three cases. The members if the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ are who; that's who!

Who hath believed our report?

Well we need to ask some more questions here. What exactly what is the 'our report' spoken of here. Could it be the Gospel? Could the prophet be referring not only to his own writings but to the Word of God as a whole, i. e. the Bible? Of course, he is saying who believes the bible, who obeys the word of God?

What is the arm of the Lord that is revealed? Often in scripture the arm of the Lord or the hand of the Lord, or especially the right hand of the Lord are terms used to refer to the second person in the trinity, Jesus. The Arm of the Lord is the active principle in the godhead.

> "So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." (Isaiah 55:11)

Here the Lord is saying he sends his word to do or accomplish some thing. This speaks of the Father sending forth Jesus on a mission. Jesus is the Word of the Lord, the Messenger of the Lord, the Angel of the Lord, the Servant in whom he delights. He is the Right Hand of the Father and He is The Arm of the Lord.

To whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?

Thus when we are asked "to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?" , we are asking who is it that receives Jesus Christ. The answer is the same. Those that believe in Him.

Who shall declare his generation?

Now can we say who shall declare his generation? Those same believers are his generation!

> Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is.* (1 John 3:2)

And we declare his generation every time we give our testimony or witness for the Lord. So Jesus' generation, his spiritual offspring, are everyone who has or will yet follow him through the veil into the Holy of Holies. Thus the word of God does not return to him empty or void, but bearing a precious harvest of redeemed souls.

Did Jesus obey Genesis 1:28?

Yes He did; and is still doing. He was fruitful and multiplied producing millions and millions of spiritual children. He will subdue the earth in the final judgments and replenish the earth in the millenium. He has taken dominion over all the creatures of the sea, air and land.

What has this got to do with End Time Prophetic Vision?

Lets look back at the three "who"s. Who hath believed our report? To whom much is given much is required. The endtime Church will operate in a special level of faith and understanding of the Word of God. We will believe the report like no other generation before us.

To whom is the Arm of the Lord revealed? This speaks of two features of the end times. One is the Revelation of Jesus Christ. Having the arm of the Lord revealed to you is to have a Revelation of Jesus Christ, with all that implies for the end times. The End Time Church will have a revelation of Jesus Christ like no other.

The second is the Power of God implied by the phrase 'arm of the Lord". The end time Church is destined to operate not just in a new level of faith, but this naturally brings with it a new level of Power. Power that we will be accountable for, but which will be unprecedented in comparison with earlier generations.

And who shall declare his generation? We will. The End Time church will be the generation to preach the good news to all the world for a witness to the Lord of Lords and the King of Kings!

All the creatures.

He has taken dominion over all the creatures of the sea, air and land. This also has a special end time application. This refers to putting his enemies under his feet. The creatures of the sea speak of Leviathan, the dragon in the sea; i.e. the devil. The fowls of the air, speak of demonic principalities and powers, rulers of wickedness in high places. And the beasts of the earth are the lower level demonic power that directly attack men. The little foxes that spoil the vine are the beasts of the field, and the vine is the Church. The demon power that afflict the Church, in other words. All of these will be put under his feet.
As the feet are the last part of the body, so the End Time Church is the last part of the body of Christ. So these will be put under our feet.

> "And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen." (Romans 16:20)

Come Out Of Hiding

Beverly Juelsgaard-Fischer

November 27, 2005

Hear the Word of the Lord this day. For I have called to and fro for My people to come forth. For I say the time has come for all people to embrace Me as their Lord, their Father, and their Savior. For am I not all of these to all? Yet all have not embraced Me in all forms. For ignorance they have embraced - many feeling that what they don’t know won’t hurt them, not realizing what it is condemning them to. For I would have all know the truth. I would have all to know Me for who I am.

So that again, I say that it is time to come out of hiding, to come out of the shadows. (I could see forms looking out from around corners, behind boxes and trees to see if it was safe.) For it is time to give up the pain and hurt of the past, that you might move forward in your calling with Me. Do not fear, for I am with you. I will protect and provide for you. For it is you who are hiding in the shadows, caves, boxes and countless other places; it is you who are the future and hope of this world.

For even David knew when it was time to come out of hiding, to come out from the cave, so that he could come forth into his destiny to be crowned king.

Many of you have been waiting weeks, months, and years for this time. Some of you have been waiting literally since the time that you were born, for some have been placed away in places by man, that they would be forgotten.

Oh fear not, My child, for I saw you lost and alone. I saw what was done with you by the hands of man and I have seen what you have become. For you have thought there is no hope, that there is not future. But I say only embrace Me, only let Me in the door that you have closed so tightly, that I may enter in. Then know that I am GOD. Know that I bring light into the darkness. Know that I am in control.

You who feel there is no forgiveness for all that you have done: Know I forgive those who ask for it. For did I not send MY OWN SON to die for you on the cross – to die for your sins? Yes, even you, too, I want. Even you are not so bad, that I wouldn’t have you for My own.

So I say all who are weak, all who are hurt, all who have been forsaken by man, all, I want, regardless of what you may have said or done, I want you all. For I do not want the enemy to have any of you – for I do not want you condemned to hell – I do not want you forever lost to Me.

Time grows short. Know this, that I will do whatever I will do to get every person to My salvation. I am not a respecter of persons. So know that many who are searching, watching, and waiting will have visitations. There will be an increase of signs, wonders, and miracles. For seeing is believing and, for some, that is the only way they will come to Me. But come they will.

Know that I, too, am looking, watching and waiting for you to run into My arms, for you to call Me Abba Father.

Consecration Of Our Mind
Walter Beuttler

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice." Romans 12:1

When the children of Israel brought a "voluntary offering" to the Lord, they were to lay the head of the offering upon the altar. This speaks to us of the consecration of our mind.

"And the priests, Aaron's sons, shall lay the parts, the head, and the fat, in order upon the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar." Leviticus 1:8

In the second chapter of Paul's first letter to the Corinthians, he contrasts two kinds of minds; the natural mind, and the spiritual mind. The natural mind is a mind darkened to spiritual things, however brilliant it might be in its own natural sphere.

It is possible, to be a child of God and yet, be largely dominated by the laws of the natural mind. The need for a spirit-enlightened mind is emphasized by Paul's prayer for the Ephesians.

"That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you the Spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of Him: The eyes of your understanding being enlightened that you may know." Ephesians 1:17, 18a

The knowledge of spiritual things does not come by intellectual effort. Rather, it comes only by revelation. Simple minded, and humble people receive things which are hid from the wise and prudent.

"At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank You, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because You have hid these things from the wise and prudent, and have revealed them to babes." Matthew 11:25

God complained in Hosea's day, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge" (Hosea 4:6a). He was not speaking of a lack of "secular" knowledge, but of a lack of the "spiritual" knowledge of God. It is one thing to know about God, yet quite another thing to know God. Just as it is one thing to know about a popular person, and quite another thing to personally know that person.

Men can store up theological facts in their minds, while the God of these facts may mean little more to them than subject matter. Not yielding their minds to be illuminated by the Holy Spirit, they fail to experience a transformation in their manner of thinking. This illumination can only take place as the Holy Spirit "renews" their minds, without which they are incapable of proving "What is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Romans 12:2b).

The thoughts and ways of God are diametrically opposed to what is called "common sense."

"For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts." Isaiah 55:9

The natural mind can be a trouble maker, especially in the realm of the spirit. It intrudes into a sphere in which it has no part, and tries to insert the authority of its own logic into a realm in which it has no qualification.

"The natural man receives not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness to him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." I Corinthians 2:14

The unspiritual mind of the unspiritual man has done, and is still doing incalculable damage to the cause of the Lord in His Church. The man with the unspiritual mind is not satisfied with the Scriptural regulation of what are commonly called the "Gifts of the Spirit." Therefore, he makes his own judgment regarding the authoritative criterion of the working of the Holy Spirit, until he regulates the "Gifts of the Spirit" out of the Church.

Having become wise in his own conceit, the unspiritual man substitutes for, and finally denies, the spiritual operations and manifestations of the Gifts of the Holy Spirit, which brought into being the movement of which he has "nominally" become a part. He will substitute feasting for fasting, ritual for life, entertainment for visitation, popularity for the cross, compromise for courage, and human psychology for spiritual discernment. He will present Christianity as sugar instead of salt, and solicit the praise of men, rather than the honor of God.

In searching the Word of God for the knowledge of His ways, in contrast to those of our own ways, we find that:

I. God Does Not Limit Himself To Man's Choice.

In the call and commissioning of an instrument, God is not restricted to the choice of human judgment, which may be based upon a consideration of "observable qualifications," or the appeal to the human eye, as in the case of Eliab.

"And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the Lord's anointed is before Him." I Samuel 16:6

God, in His superior wisdom and knowledge, may by-pass the most likely choice of man, and instead, reach out for an instrument, which man would reject.

In the selection of a King for Israel, God regarded neither experience, rank, nor seniority rights. He chose the youngest instead of the eldest, a stripling with a heart for God, in preference to a man with an attractive countenance and impressive stature. Eliab appeared to be the right choice, but he was rejected by the Lord.

"For the Lord sees not as man sees; for man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart." I Samuel 16:7b Appearances may be deceitful, and our own understanding inadequate, wherefore, we are admonished to "Trust in the Lord with all your heart; and lean not unto your own understanding" (Proverbs 3:5).

2. God Does Not Limit Himself To Man's Methods.

This principal is dramatically set forth in the taking of Jericho (Joshua 6). Being a walled city, it defied any natural means at the disposal of the Israelites. The instructions which Joshua received for its conquest were utterly unorthodox. God did not send him the latest textbooks on military science. Instead, He gave Joshua instructions which were, from a natural point of view, ridiculous.

The Israelites were to compass the city once a day for six days, and seven times on the seventh day, concluding with shouting and the blowing of trumpets. Textbook methods would have called for a certain number of scaling ladders, battering rams, and the like. God's method called for an obedient faith, regardless of the outrageous affront to the "common sense" reasoning of the natural mind.

3. God Does Not Limit Himself To Man's Means.

The inadequacy of man's own means, in contrast to those of God, is taught throughout the Bible. It is indelibly written on the pages of the history of the Church, and constantly demonstrated in experience. Yet man still prefers the glitter and polish of his own equipment, to the humble simplicity of God's provision. It is so easy to forget that the Lord's battles are not won by the might of numbers, nor by the power of human means, but by the "Spirit of the Lord."

An outstanding New Testament example of the employment of humble means by God is the Bible School of which a lowly Nazarene was its principal. He was unknown, and came from an unpopular district. His supposed father was but an ordinary carpenter. He himself had neither theological nor academic training. In selecting Him, God bypassed all the graduates of the rabbinical schools of the day. This God-appointed, academically unqualified principal told skeptical inquirers repeatedly that He could do nothing of Himself, and that He was dependent upon His Father for all that He did and taught.

The school of which He was both principal and instructor, and at times the cook, had an enrollment of twelve students. They had no prior religious training or experience. Some were but crude fishermen. One of the twelve failed. He was a thief and committed suicide before graduation. Another cursed and swore in his senior year.

Who today would suggest that we should follow these same standards? Nevertheless, their significance serves to show the lowly means which God used to bring about events that profoundly affected the entire course of world history. It further shows that factors, other than those inherent in the means themselves, were responsible for these results.

Its principal was the object of hatred by the clergy, and the subject of controversy by the multitudes. He was arrested by the authorities on false accusations, and finally put to death as a criminal. The graduates of this school were persecuted, imprisoned, tortured, and executed. All things natural were against this school and its graduates.

Far from having their works and words neutralized, and their name obliterated from the memory of man; their works and words cover the face of the Globe, in more volumes and languages than any other book, and their names are revered by more people, than those of any other person in history.

God used the humblest to accomplish the greatest end, and "has chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, … and things which are despised hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to naught the things that are: That no flesh should glory in His presence" (I Corinthians 1:27-29). God does not limit Himself to man's means.

Let us remember that "Now, we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (I Corinthians 2:12). The Lord is yet seeking those who will accept, and submit to His ways.

City Of Refuge

CITY OF REFUGE
You, My precious one, are a city of refuge. I have planted great favor and great grace into your life. Men who have greatly sinned run to your gates. I have watched you swing open the doors of your heart and receive the repentant, the guilty and the outcast. How loving and how long are your arms to shield them from the wicked one. You have heard the wicked one pound on the walls and demand entrance, and yet you have stood your ground. Thank you, My child, for loving those who have fallen. Thank you for shielding them into recovery and abiding with them until they are set free to stand tall once again.

Isa 32:1-2 KJV
Behold, a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in judgment. And a man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.

Bridge Between The Old And The New
Sandy Warner

BRIDGE BETWEEN THE OLD AND THE NEW
I am here laying face down in the sky.
Stretching out hands and toes as though to fly.
Suspended in air, I know You are there.
I can feel Your wind whisking through my hair.

I view the earth rotating day and night.
All those children are Your very delight.
You watch over them with such loving care.
Yet many still don't know that You are there.

My life passes by as I declare Your Word.
To counterbalance what's become absurd.
You comfort me as I hang in this space.
I comfort those who are also displaced.

I silently watch Your kids come and go.
Running in and out, passing to and fro.
Their lives blur by in fast forward motion.
Mine is suspended in slow devotion.

Their journey takes them up upon my back.
As I balance between judgment and lack.

With hands on Your mercy and toes that grip
Closing through time the breach that was ripped.

Let nothing be lost of their destinies.
Futures not stolen of their life in Thee.
I wait upon You to fulfill Your Word.
Tarry not in recompense, Oh my Lord!

I groan in my soul, weary of the wait.
The hour grows dark, the time is quite late.
Like a bridge over time spreading my wings.
I will not despair, setting heart to sing.

Before the sun's up, were covered in dew.
In transition between the old and new.
The dew of Your Presence hovers on us.
Canopying our lives, assuring our trust.

Hold onto me, as I hold onto them.
They will cross over time searching for gems.
They pass over that bridge You built through love.
High above the hordes, floating from above.

Walk on through to your destiny My child.
Your way is prepared, links are compiled.
One by one, making your steps assured.
What once was lame will now be cured.

Isa 35:8-10 NLT
And a main road will go through that once deserted land. It will be named the Highway of Holiness. Evil-hearted people will never travel on it. It will be only for those who walk in God's ways; fools will never walk there. Lions will not lurk along its course, and there will be no other dangers. Only the redeemed will follow it. Those who have been ransomed by the LORD will return to Jerusalem, singing songs of everlasting joy. Sorrow and mourning will disappear, and they will be overcome with joy and gladness.

Pour It All Out

POUR IT ALL OUT
Yes, we laugh with you, My love! Just laugh all that stress off your heart and your shoulders. Don't carry any burden, let it all wash off. Precious, even when you feel like you are all alone and no one is standing with you in these matters, know that you have an advocate in heaven that prays with you. I always stand with you and hold you up.

Though you are surrounded by the voices of multitudes who say it can't be done, I bow low to listen to the one who says it can. Yes, I hear your heart, the one who suffers long under the unbelief of others. Just pour out all your complaints about their complaints and I will file it all away in a box that says, "Thank you for complaining today. I AM more than able to take care of your problems."

Ps 55:22 NKJV
Cast your burden on the LORD, and He shall sustain you; He shall never permit the righteous to be moved.

Why Build
Sandy Warner

Oct 2, 2005

WHY BUILD
As I look at my life and sit in this chair,
I measure its breadth and all that is there.
I ponder my motives and see to the core.
What moves me to passion, to reach for more.

I ask myself - why go to the bother?
Your basket is full from all that you've authored.
Retire now, and rest on your laurels.
More effort spent is potential for sorrows.

If hiding from sorrow was what drives me,
Then I would never climb mountains, just to see.
Though my body is weak as I sit in my chair,
I look to the distance to see what is there.

Comfort for the lazy is not rest for souls.
I must climb in purpose to make me whole.
Today I am asked, why bother to build?
My answer is simple, from all that I yield.

When He returns He will ask me a question,
Measuring my steps of determination.
"When I return, tell Me, will I find faith?

Did you put feet to the Words I have said?"
Faith without works is dead letters on paper.
Works without faith is empty vain labors.
But the heart that leans and presses for more
To trust in His promise that He will restore…

Is the heart that can look Him straight in the eye.
Knowing it was faithful and did not deny.
For His Words, His actions, for each step uphill,
Whether to press on or rest, or just stand still.

If I stop now I will grow plump and old.

To protect my heart - is for love to grow cold.
I will do my part to help Him restore.
All that has fallen, reaching even more.

My generation is passing by so fast.
We must build bridges from faith that will last.
Not faith in empty words, but tested through walks -
Being tried in the fire, not vain empty talks.

Each step that I take is easier for them.
Having forged a way, past words that condemn.
Not listening to doubt, unbelief or fear.
But heeding His voice, as He speaks in my ear.

He goes before me with signs in the road
His yoke is easy, He carries my load.
All I do, is take one step at a time.
I trust Him to deliver what is mine.

That I might pass on what He gives to me
An inheritance so rich - in destiny.
To these my children, the ones that I love.
So they will occupy what's spoken above.

John 2:19-22 NKJV Jesus answered and said to them, "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up." Then the Jews said, "It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will You raise it up in three days ?" But He was speaking of the temple of His body.

Crushing Of The Grapes

Mark Kaphaem

"The Crushing of the Grapes to Bring Forth the New Wine"

A month ago at a conference in Cincinnati I saw a beautiful sight. I was watching as two pastors were being prayed over. The Holy Spirit was moving on them in a powerful way. As tears began to flow I saw a vivid picture of grapes being crushed in a wine press and a rush of new wine flowing forth. I also heard the words from the wedding of Canna, that the second wine would be greater than the first.

What made this even more interesting. Is that both of these pastors were from the Vineyard movement, whose very symbol was the cluster of grapes. I was a member of the Vineyard for many years and began to pray, Lord, is there a second wave coming forth from the Vineyard. A new wine that would taste even better than the first? The first wave of intimate worship and healing tasted pretty good. I could not imagine what the second batch would taste like.

I felt the Lord say yes, there will be those from the Vineyard in the new wine. But that the new wine would not come from a single movement. What would make this new wine taste so good, is that it would be a blend of all the movements. That this wine would not come forth from the making of a new movement, but that it will come forth the a crushing and blending of all the old ones.

The walls are coming down. The walls are coming down. The walls are coming down. The structures are being crushed. The forms are being crushed. The walls are coming down. The numbering of the sheep will come to an end. There is one bride and one Bridegroom. All of the sheep belong to Him.

As the body has been going through the restoration, there has been a need of many new wineskins. The time has come when no more new wineskins will be needed. For the time has come when the Bridegroom will restore the bride unto Himself. He will now be the only wineskin we need. For the bride will be in Him and He will be in the bride. He will be our wineskin. He will be our walls, He will be our structures, He will be our forms. All the sheep will be in Him.

As I saw the crushing of the grapes, I saw it in the context of the wedding of Canna. This crushing will come in the form of a wedding relationship. The wedding relationship has been under much attack from the enemy. Some surveys see the divorce rate higher in the church than in the world. As a sign of the coming move of God, we will began to see a wonderful restoration of the marriage relationship in the body of Christ. I heard the Lord say that this restoration will be like the wine. The latter will be greater than the first. So much so that the Lord said even the old ones will be given to blushing. :)

The main ingredient of this crushing is to know we can trust Him. There is nothing we can lay down that He will not replace ten times over. The crushing will be forgotten with the first taste of the new wine. I don't know about you, but I am very thirsty for this new wine. I have been craving it for many years now. There are forerunners who are serving up samples. But I want more than a sample. I want to get good and drunk. :)

Some will hold on to their walls, their structures, their forms. But there will be no life in these. The time has come to learn the difference between good and divine. There is much good work that has gone on. But when the divine is in place, the good pales in comparison.

Blessing to you all in Jesus name,

Mark Kaphaem,

Changing Of The Guards

Brenda Dowdin

July 23, 2005 Beloved:

I heard the Father saying, "There's coming a changing of the guards..." Many of you have been under Saul's leadership. I have used it to refine you and mentor you. I have used it to teach you a greater level of submission and Godly character, but now I tell you there is a changing of the guards. That which has been will be no more. I will raise up my David's.

Saul would not seek me his self, he did what seemed right in his own wicked heart. David daily fell on his face and would seek my face for direction and my purposes. "David's" are the kind of leaders I am looking for. Those are the kind of leaders that will be used in this new season. Those that ask me, "Lord, what are you doing and how can I help!"

As I was hearing this word, simultaneously I had a vision of an old barn being torn down by God's angels. It was a man made structure. I also saw angels warring and displacing demons that had held posts in the heavenly realm. I sensed God was saying both in heaven and upon the earth these old places, where the enemy has had his "hay day" are coming down in this hour. As I saw the barn coming down I heard the Lord say all old "store houses" are coming down and I will build my house, according to my will and purposes.

It is time for the David's in this hour to arise! A word to the David's!

I have seen your perseverance, I have seen your heart to establish worship and enthrone me with praises. It is now time to violently praise me in all circumstances and at all times. Great break through is before you, and incredibly new things are coming. These things are the promises I have made to you. Hope deferred makes the heart sick, but choice words in the right season are like apples of gold in silver settings! It is time Beloved One's, it is time. Do I not tell you of a thing before it springs forth! Press in these next thirty days....your time of greatness is before you! Pressing in, is the warfare. Oh Beloved, do not despair, but hold on, and press on....

What if you've had the heart of a Saul!

Repent, only God can change your heart. It is never to late with our God. His mercy is unending, But..... mean it with all your heart. For tests will surely come......."David fell on his face during tests and was obedient to the Lord, Saul arose up and took charge during tests, never consulting me first!"

Humility is the distinct difference between these two biblical characters. There are many more, such as obedience and abstinence, but this is the one I am high lighting today.

Yes, there is a changing of the guards! The old is being cut off...."I am the true vine, and My Father is the vinedresser. Every branch in Me that does not bear fruit He takes away; and every branch that bears fruit He prunes, that it may bear more fruit.." John 15:1-2

I leave this with you for your discernment. The Lord is looking in this hour at our heart motives. Are they pure? Are they righteous? Are they self seeking, or are they God seeking? Only God knows, but he plans on showing us! I am searching my own heart too!

Lovingly in Him, Brenda Dowdin

Children Of The Son
Danny Korakas

Jan 29, 2005

"You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hidden. Neither do people light a lamp and put it under a bowl. Instead they put it on a stand, and it gives light to everyone in the house. In the same way, let your light shine before men, that they may see your good deeds and praise your Father in heaven." (Matthew 5:14-16)

On a clear night the lights of a city will illuminate and even change the color of the heavens up to a hundred miles away. If a city is set upon hill, nothing within miles will hide its lights. At the time this verse was inspired and written, the fires would burn bright from oil laden lamps and could be seen for miles. As Jesus spoke these words, the people of Galilee would be very familiar with these lights that were in their cities and which sat upon the hills that overlooked the sea. If you visit the area today, you will see the city of Zefat that sits high upon one of Galilee's many hills. Cities that are well positioned become beacons of direction for weary travelers and those who are lost in unfamiliar territory.

I couldn't help but notice that the light Jesus was first referencing was the illumination given to everyone in the "HOUSE." It seems that the Lord had more in mind than just being a light to the world. I believe that we can never accomplish being a light to the world until we learn to be a light to one another as a spiritual house. If we cannot be a light to our immediate families, we are deceived to believe that we can be a light to our brothers and sisters in Christ. Likewise, if we cannot be a light to one another as believers, we certainly have little to offer the world as a guiding light to their Savior.

The lamps that were used in the homes at the time of Christ were small ceramic or stone vessels containing olive oil and a loose or floating wick. When lit, the lamp would need to be put on a shelf or a well positioned lampstand if it was to give light for the inhabitants of the house to see clearly. Many prophetic words are coming forth concerning "POSITIONING" in the body of Christ. Where the lampstands and vessels were placed in the house was vitally important in that it gave clarity of VISION and DIRECTION to all who were present and for them to fulfill their purpose in the midst of surrounding darkness.

I believe we are entering into a season of greater anointing and "DEFINITION" or a defining of our place in the body of Christ as sons and daughters. (In Matthew 4, the first temptation of Jesus by Satan was not turning the stone into bread. It was, "If you are the SON of God." It is the same initial temptation today. If the enemy can get you on this one, he has you half in the bag.) Many of the insecurities that we have witnessed in the church, whether it be those called to servant leadership or those who have just been saved, is the manifestation of striving to be a "father" or "mother" (naturally and spiritually) before having learned to be a son or daughter. I will never forget the night that the Lord spoke to me as I stood in my kitchen with my wife, "Danny, you will never be the natural and spiritual father that I would have you be until you learn and except what it means to be a son." Instantly, I knew and was arrested in my striving for affirmation through recognition. Essentially, I desired the "light" to be shown upon me and what I was attempting to accomplish rather than reflecting the Light of Christ to others. Why, because I was never properly "positioned" as a lampstand in the church. Like many, I wasted many years sitting on the sidelines insecure and unable to identify my place in the body of Christ. If this is you, today is the day that Father sets your wick aflame and positions you in a perfect place as His son or daughter to bear FRUIT that eternally remains.

The magnificent Lampstand that stood in the Temple (A type and pointing of Christ) had the fruit of an almond blossom on the ends of its arms that stretched toward heaven. Within the almond blossom was the oil which is representative of the anointing. It is important that we see and understand that the "anointing" rested in the "fruit" that was attached or a part of the Lampstand. It should be the same with us. A well positioned lampstand will be anointed to give light to everyone in the "house" as well as those who visit and from afar. The fruit of our light is the hope we have in Jesus Christ. It also gives hope and VISION to others who blind and in darkness. It is imperative that servant leadership within church begin strategic "positioning" and equipping of the saints. It is going to take all of us…When invisible light makes contact with a prism, even the natural eye recognizes that it took the entire spectrum of colors to create it. It will take us all as the body of Christ in our individual colors of grace to truly reflect the light of His love for the lost and one another.

The first century lamp gave off a bright light as long as the wick was TRIMMED (pruned), and as we read earlier, well positioned. It is worthy to note that these lamps required a FIRE to light and burn bright. We cannot continue as the church to shine in our own strength or without a willingness to be pruned to bear greater fruit. The lack thereof has produced religious striving, agendas and programs that have yielded little fruit that truly remains. The anointing of the modern church pales in comparison to what we read in scripture and history. The reason is that we have focused on man's programs and agendas. In the last 25 years, gimmicks, manipulative programs, and self-glorifying stories have replaced the Word of God in our attempt to be a light and reach the lost. We will never be able in our vain ideas to make the Word of God more relevant…It is sharper than any two edged sword and it alone cuts to the dividing of soul and spirit.

The works of the flesh or carnality will reap an increase of what is carnal or natural, rather than an increase of what is supernatural. The first century church pressed and tarried for the fire of God to touch and set them aflame with the fire of His love and a passion for those in darkness. The missing ingredient that many sense in prophetic ministry today is our lack of passion to be a light to those in darkness (souls). We have but to ask ourselves, "How many people have I witnessed or led to Christ in the last year? The last 5 years? In our lifetime?

Because these lamps required fire to light, they were not put out when the household SLEPT. Rather, they were dimmed by putting by placing a bowl of some sort over the lamp. This must have been a very familiar picture that Jesus was painting for His disciples. The directive and context of the message that Jesus was painting for them to visualize was very clear – Jesus does not want His followers and the Word of Truth that dwells within them to be hidden. He wants His message to shine brightly through us for the purpose of revealing truth in a confused and darkened world.

People groups of the world are becoming increasing unsatisfied and restless with the status quo and toil of ordinary life. People are drawn to what is fresh, different, and radically alive with purpose. If the church were to truly reflect the image and mind of Christ – it would be RADICALLY of fire and refreshingly peculiar. The lost and hurting are not drawn to the church because we are not radically in love with God nor "them." As a matter of fact, they see much of themselves in us. Much of the church has bought into the lie that we must be "relevant" to the world to reach it. The lost are not looking for relevance; they are looking for something that is aflame and radically different from the messed up, selfish, backstabbing, and hurting life they are in.

"…That you may become blameless and harmless, children of God without fault in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among whom you shine as lights in the world." (Philippians 2"15)

The purpose of light is to REVEAL what is in the darkness and to provide direction. This is our function as a prophetic church. The gift of prophecy moves through the church as a revealer of TRUTH to those things that are hidden in darkness. It is also a clarion or the sounding of the alarm to warn people of spiritual darkness and providing them a lighted path to the healing presence of God.

"For you were once in darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Walk as children of light (for the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness, righteousness, and truth), finding out what is acceptable to the Lord. And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather EXPOSE them." (Ephesians 5:8-11)

Far too many have failed to shine bright in the body of Christ because of pockets of darkness in our own hearts. The sanctifying work of the Holy Spirit is very simple: it is taking the dark pockets or areas of our heart (anger, unforgiveness, gossip, jealousy, laziness, and various lusts) and bringing them to the surface so that God can shine the light of His healing love upon them. However, many resist the light because they fear being EXPOSED. This year must be a year of willing exposure if we are to reflect the light of Christ. We must resist the impulse to hide our sins and allow the deep seated issues in our lives to come to surface if we are to be a brightly shining city on a hill. The Lord is no longer going to wink and tolerate our excuse of comparing ourselves to the next person. He is interested in our "personal" holiness and obedience. The city that shines on hill is a city that resides on the hill of the Lord. "Who shall ascend the HILL of the Lord? The Bible says it is "he who has clean hands and a pure heart." The lost of this world are groping in darkness and the Lord desires that the church be a beacon of hope and a reflection of His love. This is accomplished through clean vessels that mirror and reflect the light of His glory.

The prophetic mandate of being a "light" is modeled after Christ – The Spirit of prophecy. Jesus, as the light of the world, exposed darkness and clearly divided what was right and wrong. Without the anointing of spiritual light, people cannot clearly distinguish truth from error or right from wrong. We see this in today's society. What is "socially" acceptable has somehow found its way to become "morally" acceptable, when in fact they are completely different. Much of the world is walking in darkness and stumbling aimlessly through life. Likewise, many people are walking in dark "houses" (churches) because the light of God's presence has left. Beloved, it is not "our" light, but the reflection of His light through vessels that MIRROR Christ. The church has not shown forth the glory of God due to our constant reflection and similitude of the world. Our jealousies, divorce rate, prejudices, and sexual sins including pornography have tarnished the mirror of His glory that the Lord would have us be as the church. Look, the glory of the Lord that will cover the face of the earth will be through the church. We must allow this season in our lives to be a time of purifying ourselves as a bride without spot or wrinkle -- A bride who reflects and has become one with her bridegroom. As a city set on a hill, we should so radically stand out and be so overwhelmingly obvious that the people around us stumbling in darkness should encounter the light and presence of God.

All other religions in the world have made the claim to be the "light" to lead one to fulfillment in life. Whether they are New Age, Buddhist, Muslims, Hindus, or any other cult, they lack the glory and presence of the one true God and Creator. Our Lord Jesus Christ has anointed and filled you with His Spirit and has positioned you today upon His holy hill. His desire is to SHINE through you as a beacon of faith, hope and His love for the people of the world. We hide or put our light under a basket when we fail to share Jesus with the people and world around us. The Lord desires that testimony of His Word, love and salvation SHINE through the lives we live. Not only in the His "house" but on His holy hill for all mankind to see. Beloved, this is our commission.

Not everyone will want to hear and see the truth as we expose darkness. Many will be offended – even in the "house." Jesus stated in John 3 that many would "love darkness rather than the light because their deeds are evil." Could it be that the prophetic voice has grown comfortable in our "season of acceptance" that we fear offending man more than we fear God? Would you say that that your individual witness and fire is like the light of a city set upon a hill? Or, is it a distant glow or flicker that is barely seen and covered in some sort of shame? Maybe, you're that person that needs to fall in love with Jesus all over again. I see many in the church who appreciate Jesus and know what He has done for them. But are you burning brightly in your love and passion for Him today? There is no condemnation in Christ. His desire is for you to be set aflame in the fire of His love and reflect His love to others.

Why don't we all come back to our first love and be the fire and light that those lost in darkness are searching for. Beyond the walls of where you are reading this is a world that is literally "dying" for the fire your love.

Communion of the Saints

Comm 'union' of the Saints

"But, speaking the truth in love, may grow up in all things into Him who is the head - Christ - from whom the whole body, joined and knit together by what every joint supplies, according to the effective working by which every part does its share, causes growth of the body for the edifying of itself in love." Eph 4: 15, 16

Oh I believe! I believe, I believe, I believe that we are ONE body and something supernatural, something mighty in heavens connection to the earth has shifted and we, the body are going to begin walking this powerful verse of scripture out in the natural and the supernatural will follow.

At about 1:30 a.m this morning while lying quietly in bed, not feeling very sleepy for it had been a day that although I had planned to spend many hours of glorious rest before our King, it quickly changed to a busy household and so I literally grabbed every minute afforded to me to run and lay before Him. This went on all day, fifteen minutes here, fifteen minutes there of quiet rest before Him and by the end of the day I was so 'rested' I couldn't sleep but just lay there contemplating God's awesome glory and beauty!

My husband was already snoring lightly (just lightly mind you:) when I heard some bells ringing outside our open window, thinking it was the wind chimes hanging on our patio I still felt impelled to go see because the sound was coming from a different direction. No sooner than I had walked over to the window where my blinds were already open to catch the night breeze when I saw a young boy, maybe 14 yrs. old with jet black hair riding a one wheeled circus bike, you know the kind with a very small seat on the top and a large single wheel beneath? I am fully awake and was really trying to digest the scene before me and all that came out of my mouth was: "what the hell?" I will apologize up front if that offends anyone but that is what came first out of my mouth and I tried to again to explain to myself and my groggy husband what I was seeing.

Maybe it was one of our daughter's friends playing a trick on her? But first, he was too young and secondly, there was just no way for him to get in our back yard through the very tall fichus trees and high gate. Then the power of Holy Spirit hit my spirit and I saw that he was dressed in a white, almost iridescent looking robe while both of his arms were stretched up above his head holding a golden triangle about 3ft. high and wide with bells ringing and jewels hanging from it. Oh my friends, he was laughing so joyfully that I began to laugh and I felt the unity of the Lord's body coming together in the natural realm, then he was gone!

Suddenly from another open window, which is a french door with a screen, large enough for me to stand along side of, there came more laughter and all I could do was stand in awe and watch. I asked myself later why didn't I run out and join them but all I could do was try and capture the moment of this beautiful visitation.

We have a large backyard for Southern California, maybe a quarter acre and my husband has spent many hours of grooming his plants, fruit trees, garden and a small pond, so the view at night with the moon is quite breathtaking but nothing in comparison to seeing maybe 25 angels, although I didn't count, playing as if in a circus in our backyard.

They were singing and laughing in absolute joy while one in particular was hitting a white glowing ball the size of a softball in mid air. He would strike it once and it would go up a couple of feet and then come down and rest in the air and he did this several times. Each time he hit the white ball I felt it was a calling, a hit in my spirit to all the saints on earth and in heaven, a unity and the knowledge and wisdom in one body. I have many visitations that I have shared along the way and many that I have kept between the heavens and me but this visitation was a union of hearts all across the world. I felt the unity of the body as one and like in a circus where they all rely upon one another this is what was transpiring in my backyard with the angels and in hearts all over the nations.

The triangle the angel was holding is a symbolism of the trinity, our Father, Son and Holy Spirit as one and we too, His beautiful body! The three-fold chord; the coming together and behaving as ONE, when I am fed, so too shall you be fed in Jesus Name.

I then saw many saints from heaven appear in the spirit in my backyard, many I did not recognize and many I did from the Apostle John to Peter; oh Mary Magdalene was singing the most beautiful song when they all joined in together while many saints and angels were still climbing up and down a golden ladder from heaven. The presence of God illuminated my entire neighborhood, and the only words I could grasp from the song were: "the communion of saints." As I share this my heart is feeling so full for you, we are one dear friends, we are truly one!

Matt 17:1-3 "Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James and John his brother, led them up on high mountain by themselves and He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light. And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him." This is a communion of the saints in the spirit realm.

In Col 2: 5, Paul says: "For though I am absent in the flesh, yet I am with you in spirit, rejoicing to see your good order and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ."

There was a divine message in this visitation of unity and communion of the saints; it is real and we must behold this reality of oneness in Christ Jesus. Divine connections being made visible now in the natural realm, to God be the Glory!

>From the visions of Sadhu, he wrote: "Zechariah 3:7-8, where "those that were standing by" were not angels, but saints in glory; and God's promise, on condition of Joshua fulfilling His command, is that he will be given "a place of access to walk among them (saints) that stand by," and these are his "fellows" the spirits of men made perfect with whom he could commune.

I implore you to grasp the message and gift that is being extended here for all of us; unity and oneness in the saints in Christ Jesus, amen!

"Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." Mark 11:24

The Horseless Carriage
Robin Paisley

“And he will cut off the chariot from Ephraim and the horse from Jerusalem, and the bow shall be broken in the battle; and he shall speak peace to the nations; and his dominion shall be from sea even to sea, and from the river even to the ends of the earth.”
<>Zechariah 9:10

The days are growing darker and so doth the soul in this hour look up from her torrent of pain and see the face of our Lord. For in the greatest hour of darkness there doth emerge the greatest portion of His light. While in this station of affliction my spirit captured a vision as my soul cried out in agony and together although through violent outbreaks of despair; we were captured in a moment as if time stood still; we were immersed into His light.
When one’s soul is submerged in the spontaneous glory of the Lord time doth stand still; it is as if a snowflake is captured upon the tongue but does not melt and for a moment our entire being is in the fullness of the Lord. Here the soul is seeking our her mate while her spirit's call seems like the call of the wild and they two entwine in our Father's arms and revelation emerges, it comes forth in voltaic emotion and our thirst is quenched. Oh but only for a little while for then it seems as if one's being is too full and like a volcano it must release what the Mighty Scriber carved upon the heart, for all to share in, for all to partake of His glory and manna from the deep.

While in this glorious communion and surrender a carriage did appear adorned in jewels from emeralds, diamonds and rubies and many more and etched within the borders of the diamond threaded wheels was the name 'Bride.' The carriage was traveling at a high rate of speed, wild and seemingly out of control and instead of horses at the reigns; man was in command. There were five beastly giants pulling this carriage along and the names upon their foreheads read in boldness and in greed:

"Apostle, Prophet, Evangelist, Pastor and Teacher"

Their words of prophecy came forth in agreement with such force that a mighty wind began to blow that the carriage appeared to be flying high, but in the Spirit of the Lord it was not but in man's power with no time to ponder and wait. The muscles of the giants did glisten in the heat of the sun but inside they were obese in the pride of their own flesh and what they had accomplished in the name of the Lord.

The wind continued its beating until some of the jewels began to loosen and fall away and no sooner did this happen than would a 'prophecy' fill its space until all that was left was an empty shell of false hope and false words.

Oh but then did even a stronger wind begin to blow its rage like the raging torrents of the sea that toppled the carriage and broke it into many pieces as the giants began to try and rebuild all that was torn apart; but to their dismay it was beyond repair as they went all their separate ways. Little did they know and little could they see what was once buried beneath the rubble, beneath layers and layers of dirt was the jewels now uncovered by the wind. They soon began to dance the dance of delight as their colors merged together and sparkled in a rainbow effect and they together became one and a new carriage appeared.

The Mighty Scriber and Polisher is He then let out a whistle and a thousand horses like the sound of thunder came galloping in the wind and they all together became one. You may ask who the horses are if the carriage is the bride for I did as they met together in love. The horses' I was told is a move of God that is now sweeping the bride off her feet and reformation is birthed.

" Until we all become one in faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God, and become a perfect man according to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."
Ephesians 4:13

Clay On The Wheel

Nadine Jackson

The last few weeks, my physical body has had a strange ache plaguing it. I asked the Lord what this feeling was because it wasn’t personal. I knew it had to do with what was taking place in the spiritual realm. I could actual feel myself being shaped like clay in the potter’s hands. Then the Lord spoke these two words to me, “Play Doh.” “Play Doh,” I replied. “Yes, Play Doh,” said the Lord.

I investigated on Play Doh. Play Doh is a child’s block of clay. It originally came in 4 colors: white, red, yellow and blue. 4 is the number of creation. White is Purity, red for the Blood of Jesus, yellow is the Glory of God and blue is the Heavenly Authority and Devine Revelation given by God. 4 is also the 4 corners of the world: North, East, South, and West. These are some of Play Doh’s characteristics. Play Doh is soft, pliable, and fits easily in your hand. It comes in its own container. It has its own distinctive odor to it, which helps identifies the imitation. It has been package and sold the world over. Reveal Lord what you are saying, I prayed.

The Lord is saying to his elect, “I want you to stay F.A.T.; Flexible, Available and Teachable like Play Doh.” The aches, the pains and the fiery trials you have been experiencing is Me at work. (Is. 43: 13; John 10: 28) I am re-creating you (Gen. 2: 7) and molding you (Jerm. 18: 4). I must purify and wash you so that My Glory and Heavenly Authority can be housed in its original temple. After each shaping, I must seal My spirit within you.
(Job 23:10; Zech. 13: 9) I am creating you to be My vessels of honor so that the world, from the four corners, can see My Glory. (II Tim. 2: 20 – 21) With My essence inside you, you will shine forth the glow of My very being. (Matt. 5:14) With My essence inside you, you will leave behind a sweet smelling savor; death to some and life to others. (II Cor. 2: 15 – 16) Be F.A.T. in My hands my child. Be F.A.T. in my hands for the building of My kingdom.

Cloud of Witnesses Travail for This Generation

Ryan Wyatt

Naked Before God

With all that is going on in the world right now, I really feel that we are in a season of stripping and refinement before the Lord. God is confronting the church and the world in this season and challenging us to lay down all the worldly things that we have covered ourselves with and allow Him to strip us and cover us with His glory. These are serious times and God has incredible plans to fulfill through this generation, but the church seems to be asleep and God is waking them up. We have come to a fullness of time juncture, and God is accelerating His plans in the earth.

Cloud of Witnesses in Travail For This Generation

In September, I was ministering at a Joel's Army conference in England and had an incredible encounter in the midst of worship. The worship band was playing, and the people were loudly praising God, and I began to hear people shouting my name. I audibly heard people shouting, "RYAN, RYAN, RYAN." I looked all around me and found no one calling to me.
I then realized that I was having a spiritual encounter and entered into an open-eyed vision. I saw the Cloud of Witnesses and God's Generals from the beginning of time, and they were lined up side-by-side in a very long line. Every generation from the beginning of time was represented in this line. Every person was someone who, during their life, had pressed into their promised land and tasted of the powers of the age to come and like the spies, they brought something back that touched their whole generation with the love and power of God.

I noticed that the space in the line between each person represented many years, and the line came up to this present day. It was obvious to me that with each previous generation, there were very few that affected a whole generation. I then noticed that the line continued on past this present day with forms of people but there was no one to fill those slots.

I then saw the Cloud of Witnesses enter into a state of travail as they were vigorously interceding for this present-day generation. They were not just calling my name but countless thousands of names. Suddenly, I saw the hand of the Lord come and very quickly begin to pick people up out of the world and fill those empty slots in the line of God's Generals. There was a massive acceleration that was taking place as God began to fill each slot with thousands of revivalists and nation shakers from our time.

Things are accelerating in the earth, and for this reason, God is pulling out all the stops and calling upon this generation to wake up and lay hold of Him like never before. For this reason, God is beginning to strip his church of every worldly thing that keeps her from full devotion to Him. It is only when the church comes to realize her nakedness that she will begin to cry out in holy desperation for God to fascinate and empower a whole generation. We must first be stripped and come to realize our dire need for God.
"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."* -- Matthew 5:3
The message of the hour is that, "The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." Being poor in spirit is realizing our level of emptiness and crying out for His fullness. The eyes of the Lord are roaming to and fro throughout the earth to show Himself strong on behalf of those whose hearts are completely loyal to Him (2 Chronicles 16:9).

The Hand of Grace is Being Pulled Back "Slightly," and the Shaking of the Lord has Come!

For many years, I believe the hand of the Lord, in the form of grace, has covered us and allowed us to continue on our own path. During this time, God has given the church a chance to repent and turn whole-heartedly to him on their own. However, the church and the world have continued to slip further and further down hill and away from Him.

The church has cried out for the Lord to come, and He has come and is coming. And now the church is being faced with the results of the coming of the Lord. Look with me at Isaiah 64:1-3:

"Oh, that you would rend the heavens! That you would come down! That the mountains might shake at your presence -- as fire burns brushwood, as fire causes water to boil -- to make Your name known to your adversaries, that the nations may tremble at Your presence! When You did awesome things for which we did not look, You came down; the mountains shook at Your presence."

When the Lord begins to come He brings a shaking and a melting away of everything worldly in our midst. Look at Malachi 3:1-3:

"Behold, I send My messenger, and he will prepare the way before Me. And the Lord, whom you seek, will suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, in whom you delight. Behold He is coming, says the Lord of Hosts. But who can endure the day of His coming? And who can stand when He appears? For He is like a refiner's fire and like launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and a purifier of silver; He will purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer to the Lord an offering in righteousness."

When the Kingdom of God begins to come, it shakes everything off of your life that is not of God, and it leaves only those things behind that God has worked into your life (Hebrews 12:25-29). I firmly believe that God is in the process, right now, of actually preparing us for the next great move of God to sweep the earth. However, before He can clothe the church with another level of His glory, He is first stripping us of every worldly thing that we have held onto.

The Laodicean Age

We are currently in the time of the Laodicean age. This generation is one of the most messed up generations to ever walk the earth, yet we are also the generation that has the potential to walk in the most unprecedented level of power and glory, however, only if we submit to the current pruning of the Lord.

God is pulling back His hand just enough for a small portion of His judgments to touch the earth. He is doing this because what He might have allowed in the lives of believers in times past, He is no longer allowing. When God begins to pull back His hand of grace, you find yourself in a moment of great decision. This is not a time when God is going to allow nominal, middle-of-the-road Christians in "His" church.

Those believers that will not embrace the Lord in this season will most likely grow more and more hardened to Him. Remember that as soon as Jesus came to earth in the flesh, it was the religious people that hardened their hearts and persecuted Him. It will be no different in these days. Those that have been lukewarm will either grow colder or burn hotter for the Lord.

We are in a time of decision. Many in these days are coming to a place of realization that their life is empty, and they are feeling the burning of the Lord upon their hearts. These believers are turning closer to Him and learning to live a life of intimacy and passion with the Lord.

The Bible says in the book of Joel that many are in the valley of decision, and we have always preached that as meaning unbelievers are in the valley of decision. However, I also want to say that many believers are in the valley of decision, as well, and the Lord is no longer giving the church the option to just sit in the middle of the road. Battle lines are being drawn, and we must choose to either grow colder or hotter for Him.

When the Lord spoke to the church of Laodicea, He rebuked them because they thought they had everything together, when in fact, they were wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked. First, God had to alert them of their desperate status before they would repent and follow whole-heartedly after Him.

Most of the church, right now, has sunk into a state of apathy and passivity because, for the most part, the western church lives a life of self-sufficiency.
I was really struck with just how self-sufficient the western church really is after I ministered in Jakarta, Indonesia, this last January. I have not seen a hunger for God, like that of the Indonesians, anywhere in North America or Europe. The Indonesians prayed and sought after God as if they were absolutely spiritually bankrupt and could not live another moment without a touch from heaven.

Most pastors in the western church have to poke and prod the people to even act like they are hungry for God. The church in North America is sitting in the middle of the road and has grown self-sufficient, thinking they need nothing. Below is the address that Jesus gave to that church:

"I know your works, that you are neither cold nor hot. I could wish you were cold or hot. So then, because you are lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will vomit you out of My mouth. Because you say, 'I am rich, have become wealthy, and have need of nothing' -- and do not know that you are wretched, miserable, poor, blind and naked -- I counsel you to buy from Me gold refined in the fire, that you may be rich; and white garments, that you may be clothed, that the shame of your nakedness may not be revealed; and anoint your eyes with eye salve, that you may see. As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten. Therefore, be zealous and repent." -- Revelation 3:15-19

Not a Heartless Rebuke But Rather a Loving Warning

I don't see the above passage from Revelation as a heartless rebuke. It is actually a loving warning from a loving God that wants to alert His Bride of her state, so that she might wake up and turn and seek the Lord.

The admonition from the above reference in Revelation is that if the church will realize her nakedness and begin to seek the Lord with desperate hunger, then the church will hear the sound of the Lord knocking on the door and dine, rule, and reign with Him.

Seek First The Kingdom of God

In a day where everyone is doing what is right in their own eyes and just seeking to live the American dream, God is looking for a Bride that will do the exact opposite. One of the greatest enemies to the western church is "how blessed we are." The western world has lived under such a state of grace and blessing for so long that it has caused the church to slip into a state of apathy and passivity. The church has joined the rat race of the world that says, "Do what you have to do to not only make it but to be on top!" So we have become a generation totally consumed with "self".

The Bible calls believers "pilgrims" in this world. We are citizens of another realm and are to live our day-to-day lives from the place of abiding in heavenly realms and ruling on earth with heavenly love and power. The challenge for the church in this hour is to submit to the pruning and stripping of the Lord, to turn our eyes and affections from every temporal thing, and to begin to "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness."

When the church begins to live for heavenly things rather than for earthly satisfaction, then the grace and favor of heaven will be poured out upon us abundantly.

"Therefore do not worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' For after all these things the Gentiles seek. For your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things. But seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you." -- Matthew 6:31-33

Our Response to the Shakings

I know that people are trying to figure out why all these hurricanes and earthquakes and tsunamis and all the other disasters are happening on the earth at this time. Some believe it is God judging us, some believe they are the result of man's sinful actions, and still, others believe they are attacks from the devil. I believe they are a result of all three.

Yes, I believe that the devil is trying to wreak havoc. Yes, I believe that some of these disasters are occurring as the result of the world's sinful actions. And yes, I do also believe that God is using them to teach the world righteousness and lead them back to Him.

"With my soul I have desired you in the night, Yes, by my spirit within me I will seek you

early; For when Your judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness."* -- Isaiah 26:9

Instead of joining the rest of the world and allowing our emotions to get the best of us in response to these world shakings, let's allow these events to awaken us to the reality and seriousness of the times we are living in. Let's allow these things to cause us to seek the Lord with all that is within us and lay hold of our divine destiny to walk upon this earth fully clothed in the glory of God!

Nakedness Provides Opportunity for Fullness

Let me close with this. Before the fall, Adam and Eve were naked and did not know it. I believe this was because their minds and hearts were so enthralled with the Lord that they were literally clothed with the glory of God. All they knew was 24 hour a day God-consciousness and face-to-face encounters with Him.

After the fall, the first thing they realized was that they were naked, and they were ashamed. They immediately looked for something to cover their nakedness and wrapped themselves in fig leaves. God came to visit with them as He normally would and found them hiding and ashamed because of their nakedness. One of the first things God did was take off the fig leaves and clothe them with skins of animals.

God clothed them with animal skins because it required blood, and the shedding of blood was the only thing that could cover their sin. God's divine design was to send Jesus to shed his perfect, sinless blood to cover and wash away our sins forevermore. This was so that we could again have our nakedness covered by His Glory!

God is again looking throughout the earth for those who have not covered themselves with the things of the world but for those who are willing to submit to His stripping and pruning work and be clothed again from glory to glory! Are you naked before the Lord? Do you need to be awakened and come to a realization that you are nowhere near laying hold of your high calling? Are you truly poor in spirit and desperate for a touch from heaven?

Allow the Lord to touch you afresh and put his finger on those areas of your soul that are not of Him. This is the season to invite the refining fire of God into your life because He is a consuming fire, and He is jealous to lay hold of you!

Christ Prevails At Armageddon

Arlette Pollard

Revelation 16:16

When the last trumpet sounds
Its song upon your life
Will you be found
Standing steeped in strife
Having used all your precious time
Finding so many reasons
Through each and every season
To boldly proclaim and justify
Why it was so important
You look away from Christ
In seeking truth to satisfy
The desires of your changing appetite.

Woe to the man
Who refuses the hand of Christ
God’s holy Son
His perfect sacrifice
Into the depths of treason
He will give his life
Deceived by believing
He could win this fight
Without the love of God
To inspire his heart
Both day and night.

If you were given a second chance
To live your life over
Aware of every circumstance
That had been dependant
Upon the choices you made
Where you denied God’s saving grace
Would you still set sail this time
Across the troubled sea
Without God’s breath of life
God’s Spirit that sets hearts free
Who gives wisdom to make the flight
Over every impending steep incline.

Blessed is the man
Who fights a good fight
So that he boldly stands
Alongside of Christ
Upon holy land
God’s kingdom of eternity
Where songs are sung
By those redeemed

Continually giving thanks
To their beloved King.

> "And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon." Revelation 16:16
> "As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; so shall it be in the end of this world. The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity; and shall cast them into a furnace of fire; there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth. Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father, Who hath ears to hear, let him hear." Matthew 13:40-43

Before Adam and Eve gave into the temptation, to turn their focus away from God, their perspective of the world was that it was good. Because of their relationship with God, they walked believing life was good. Before sin entered their lives, when they would have knowledge of what God considered evil, their relationship with the world did not involve toil and labor according to the weakness of man's physical strength. To walk in the garden with the Lord did not involve suffering brought about by thoughts of pride, which causes mankind to naturally exalt their desires and opinions above others. Because their focus was completely upon the goodness of the Lord, they did not look at each other with thoughts that the other was somehow inadequate. With their focus entirely upon the goodness of God, anger, jealously, bitterness, hatred and vengeance toward the other had not entered into their thoughts.

Once Adam and Eve had knowledge of what God considered evil, their perspective of the world would change. Their hearts and minds would no longer be single focused, where the goodness of God was exalted and appreciated in each and every situation. God's spirit that had been breathed into them, so that they became living souls who were appreciative of God's goodness, would no longer dominate; instead, thoughts that knew of evil began to gain to control over their lives. Their perspective of the world would change as suffering impacted their thoughts, which would influence the way they lived and behaved toward others. This human condition, the Adamic nature, would be passed down from generation to generation. With time, the condition of man's thoughts would become defiled to the ways of God, so that self preservation and pride were embraced in murder, anger, jealously, vengeance, lust, greed, and all other forms of what God considers wickedness. In these forms, self-preservation and pride ran rampant upon the earth.

The days grew darker. It seemed that the soul of mankind had been totally consumed by unbelief. So to hear the voice of one calling out that only God is worthy to be praised, and who actually lived according to that truth, became a rare occurrence. Yet, God would continue to raise up a remnant who would remain faithful to His purposes and desires. To these people God would give truths to share with others. Through one faithful servant, Moses, God would give the commandments and the law in the first five books of Moses, which were used to develop order and respect toward God.

In the garden, Adam and Eve looked to God in sincerity, so that their perspective of the world was that it was good. There was no need for commandments to be written upon stone tablets, and no need for law to be written and made into books, because their spirit, soul and body did not have knowledge of evil. Their walk with God was good. But once the knowledge of evil entered into the world, it became necessary that the commandments and the law be written, so that God's people had continually before them an ordered record of how they were to live their lives unto Him.

When the knowledge of evil was made known, the breath of God, His spirit, which gives life to a person's soul, so that a person is made alive to the goodness of God, was hindered in responding and appreciating the voice of God. Yet even in this fallen state of existence, where man no longer saw the world as good only, God made a way for mankind to live within boundaries that would keep their souls from harm. A way was provided for the welfare of mankind through the written commandments and the law. Yet, even with the written commandments and the law man's soul became so defiled throughout the years, because of their knowledge of evil, that the law would be laid aside and forgotten.

> "But in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, wherein this Passover was holden to the Lord in Jerusalem. Moreover the workers with familiar spirits, and the wizards, and the images, and the idols, and the abominations that were spied in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, did Josiah put away, that he might perform the words of the law which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the Lord. And like unto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses; neither after him arose there any like him." 2 Kings 23:23

Josiah, the king of Judah, from the family of David, was eighteen years old when the law of Moses was found in the house of the Lord. His father, and his father before him, had done evil in the sight of the Lord, and had forsaken the Lord and turned away from the law given to Moses. Because of this Josiah had no knowledge of the law God had given to Moses. Yet at his first hearing of the words of the book of the law, he was so inspired of God's word, that he rent his clothes. Though it was prophesied that God would not forgive the trespasses of the people of Judah, yet because Josiah's heart was tender and he humbled himself before God, he would be "gathered unto his grave in peace." God promised Josiah that he would not see the wrath that He would pour out upon the people of Judah who had trespassed against the Lord.

> Josiah made a covenant with God, to keep His commandments and testimonies. Until the day he died Josiah would keep the covenant that he made unto the Lord. Yet, while Josiah was alive, the people of Judah continued to greatly rebel against the Lord, which caused the anger of the Lord to be kindled against them, so that He declared: "I will remove Judah also out of my sight, as I have removed Israel, and will cast off this city Jerusalem which I have chosen, and the house of which I said, My name shall be there." (2 Kings 23:27)

> "In his days Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt went up against the king of Assyria to the river Euphrates: and king Josiah went against him; and he slew him at Megiddo, when he had seen him." 2 Kings 23:29

In the year 609 BC, Josiah, the last righteous king of Judah, from the house of David, who lived under and according to the law established by Moses, would die as he went into battle at Megiddo (Armageddon). Though Josiah's heart was toward the Lord, so that he found favor in God's sight, those whose spirits were defiled, in that their thoughts were against God, would slay Josiah at the battle of Megiddo. From that day forward, until the day when God's beloved Son, Jesus Christ, (from the house of David, and the tribe of Judah), sat at the right hand of God, ruling and reigning with God on high, no righteous king would reign over the people of Israel.

> "And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins; wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience; among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others." Ephesians 2:1-3* *spirit – Greek 4151 – Strong's Concordance definition: wind, breath, things which are commonly perceived as having no material substance; by extension: spirit, heart, mind, the immaterial part of the inner person that can respond to God; spirit being.

The spirit that "now worketh in the children of disobedience" is not the spirit, God's breath of life, that God has given to each person. With knowledge of evil, mankind partook of thoughts that were contrary to the Word of God. They would walk as those of the world, who denied the Lord their creator. Yet, though hindered by the knowledge of evil, the spirit may still respond to God. When the Word is spoken or read the spirit may respond to God; a person can turn from unbelief toward Jesus Christ, so that they receive the gift of eternal life, the Holy Spirit. The Word through the Spirit will put to death thoughts that deny the goodness of the Lord. Through faith a person will receive the Holy Spirit, so that the spirit of a person will be set free from the bondage of the knowledge of evil, so that their spirit, soul and body are once again made alive, “quickened” unto God. The intimate relationship with God, which was destroyed in the garden, is restored through faith in Christ.

The spirits that “now worketh in the children of disobedience” are evil spirits that plague the hearts of mankind. Evil spirits bring unrighteous suffering into their lives, so they do not appreciate and enjoy the life God has given them. We know God’s spirit that is able to respond to Him, is not evil. Accordingly, we can look at the other definitions to understand the word spirit. We find it is also defined as: “things which are commonly perceived as having no material substance; by extension: spirit, heart, mind.”

God’s Word proclaims “The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?” (Jeremiah 17:9) Because of the knowledge of evil, mankind has had no difficulty in exalting their thoughts, which God calls evil, above God’s Word. Because of mankind’s knowledge of evil, they have found it natural to reject and ridicule the Lord who created them. Their hearts are desperately wicked in the sight of God. But the spirit that God gives to each individual is still able to seek out its maker. That spirit is still able to respond to God.

> “For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.” Hebrews 4:12
> “That which cometh out of the man, that defileth the man. For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness: all these evil things come from within, and defile the man.” Mark 7:20-23

Man’s thoughts, defiled by the knowledge of evil, seek out an identity in the realm of unbelief. In the realm of unbelief is found every evil thing. And in this realm of darkness, where unbelief is the light that gives life to man, a person will feed upon lies that will take their soul captive to the grave. It is here that a person who has no knowledge of God, according to the Holy Spirit, will seek out an identity and purpose for their life. But the darkness holds no good thing. What they believed would satisfy their quest for identity and purpose will end up being what causes them grief, and in some instances great torment. Involvement in the things that are found in the realm of unbelief, which is what God calls darkness, will not bless the soul of a person, but will cause injury to pierce their heart and mind. To be focused only on the darkness and not on the true Light of the world, Jesus Christ, will not quench the desires of the heart and mind.

Thoughts and ideas that exalt self above God are evil in the eyes of God. Thoughts that are aligned with unbelief will cause a person to be led astray from the goodness of God, so that unrighteous suffering pierces their heart. The thoughts that a person thinks upon, that have their origin in the realm of darkness, are what will influence the way a person behaves and reacts toward life situations. The evil spirits that defile a person, that cause them to believe and respond the way they do, are thoughts that have their origin within the realm of darkness. When evil thoughts have gained control over a person’s heart and mind then they will act contrary to the way that God would desire.

To listen, believe and act upon words, which reflect thoughts that have their origin in darkness, where the dragon, beast and the false prophet speak boldly against the goodness of God, is what will defile a person, this may lead them deeper into the realm of darkness, where the voice of God will not be heard speaking messages of holiness, kindness, love and mercy.

What a person thinks upon will influence their actions and behaviors. If a person seeks relief from pain, yet the activity they involve themselves in belongs in the realm of darkness, then that activity may eventually bring great suffering into their lives. Some thoughts will cause a person to become involved in activities that will have serious consequences. Involvement in certain activities may cause them to think and behave irrationally, so that erratic and aggressively angry behavior becomes common. These activities will bring physical harm to their body. These activities may cause their bodies to become affected by disease or addiction to harmful substances, so that not only are their thoughts defiled but their bodies as well.

> "Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ." 2 Corinthians 10:5
> "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord." Luke 4:18-19

Though the knowledge of evil has brought great grief and unrighteous suffering into the lives of mankind, God has continued to bear long with mankind. He sent His beloved Son, who is from the tribe of Judah, the house of David, to set the captives free. He came to put to death the thoughts that hold people captive to the realm of unbelief, where every evil thing exists, as they are united unto the Father through the Holy Spirit. He came to restore that which was lost in the garden, so mankind could walk in the cool of the day with the Lord, appreciative of the life they live unto Him. Through the putting to death of all thoughts that are aligned with darkness, by the Spirit, mankind will be able to proclaim that the life they live in Christ is good.

In the natural realm of existence, where God's people related to Him according to the law, and not according to grace, Josiah lost the battle at Megiddo to men whose thoughts were evil toward the Lord. The spirits of darkness, meaning the evil thoughts that filled the hearts and minds of men, overtook the spirit of a man whose heart was good in the sight of the Lord. Today, because the blood of Christ purged both the heavens and the earth, the entire world now stands under the authority of the Father, Son and the Holy Spirit. The earth and all that is it in it belongs to the Lord, and those who turn toward the Lord are saved from evil because God has extended His grace toward them, through Christ (Ephesians 2:5). Jesus Christ has made available God's spiritual kingdom, whereby people partake of God's heavenly Spirit poured out from God's throne room on high. To walk righteous before the Lord, mankind no longer needs to stand under the law, but in faith in Jesus Christ, so that they are filled of God's heavenly Spirit who will write God's commandments upon their hearts. It is when a person is filled of the Spirit that the evil spirits, thoughts that have their origin in darkness, will be put to death by the "sword of the spirit, which is the word."

In the language of the Spirit, who expresses the desires of the Father, Armageddon (Megiddo) now represents a place of victory found in Christ. Christ is the King who stands with the Spirit to fight on behalf of mankind, and when the spirits of darkness confront the Spirit that fills a person's life, they will lose the battle. Megiddo, in the natural was where the forces of evil won the battle against the last righteous king who fought under the banner of the law, but in the realm of the Spirit, where evidence of the blood of Christ is revealed, Megiddo (Armageddon) is where the spirits of darkness, confront the majesty of the King of righteousness, Jesus Christ, and are put to death by the voice of God. Through Christ when the evil spirits of darkness are confronted by the Spirit of God, they will be revealed for who they truly are; deceiving voices whose origin is in the realm of unbelief where every evil thing abounds.

The day that the blood of Christ did its perfect work, so that the Spirit was poured out and made available to anyone whose faith is placed sincerely in Christ, the evil spirits that work destruction in the lives of mankind, were confronted by the Spirit of God. When the first disciples were filled of the Spirit, so that spiritually they became warriors who stood with Christ at Armageddon (spiritual Megiddo where Christ is the King who has obtained the victory for mankind), the evil spirits were put to death. It was then that the spirits of wickedness were confronted by the Spirit of God, revealed for who they truly are and put to death by the voice of God. And what was true for the first Disciples of Christ is true for a person who stands with Christ today, filled of God's Spirit.

Through faith in Christ, evil spirits will be cast down, so that hope rises up within a person's life. Yet many remain in the realm of darkness, where every evil thing abounds. They deny and discount what God has accomplished through Jesus Christ, so they are not filled of the Spirit, who fights on behalf of God in putting to death evil thoughts that keep them buried within the grave that unbelief has dug. Though God proclaims in the realm of darkness is found no truth that will give eternal, abundant life to the spirit, soul and body, many refuse the Lord's mercy and love, and continue to be haunted by feelings of inadequacy, injury, hatred, and fear of what life holds for them. Though Christ has obtained the victory for mankind, a person must turn toward Him in sincere faith, so they are filled of the Spirit, who will fight the good fight on the behalf of God.

> "The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light. Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof." Romans 13:12-14

Colored Pegs Vision

Linda Harrington

Friday AM – Nashville, TN

During the close of worship

I saw a whirlwind with many layers of clouds swirling, whirling. As the winds began to subside I saw a giant picture map of the United States shaking; a moving of the earth and in the heavens. The rain began to come out of the whirlwind and flooded the United States. The shaking continued and the waters began to recede I saw little colored pegs (such as on a cribbage board). There was no distinct color, more of a mixture, nothing defined. The shaking continued and I saw thousands of holes in the ground. The pegs were shaken until they were rubbing and bumping against one another. The shaking continued until they began to stand upright in the holes. When they were standing there was a picture of the United States with each region, state and area a different distinct color.

When the waters receded and the pegs were in their holes there was distinct, definite pattern. As the winds began to subside the Unites States was a multi colored light shining in the darkness. Other nations began to turn and look towards the light. To the far north I could see the Host of Heaven, a mounted army behind the Lord who was seated on a white charger poised, ready and focused on the distant great wall of darkness.

Concerning President Bush

Stephen Hanson

Dec. 21, 2005

33Even so, when you see all these things, you know that it [a] is near, right at the door. 34 I tell you the truth, this generation [b] will certainly not pass away until all these things have happened. 35Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will never pass away. Matthew 24:33-35

The Lord told me today, and this is not the first time that He has told me this. This is a serious word, and one that I don't take lightly.

"I want to tell you something about President Bush. There will be some assassination attempts made on his life. He will be shot. There will be strife among many of those in government positions. This will be a year of extreme chaos. These things have been set aside but they will come to the forefront in the new year. "

"Woe to those who follow after the ways of men and not my Spirit. I tell you that this will be a difficult year as many attempt to sort things out. Know that the "times" are in my hands. Everything is progressing as it should. Many think that the events of the last days are far off. I tell you that they have not been aware of the signs. Truly, this generation will not pass away until all of these things will be accomplished. "

Crossing Over

CROSSING OVER
As you cross over this day, My favored One.
Many battles were fought, and victories won.
Alliances were formed for synergies gain.
Connected in one, you'll never be the same.

Yesterday's mind-sets are gone and behind you.
Tomorrow's path, is freshly paved and brand new.
As you follow My lead one step at a time,
You will bravely come into - all that is thine.

Graduation from youth is not a number.
Maturity in age rises from slumber,
In restraining self - against wars over flesh.
Washed in holy unction from having been threshed.

Let all that you've learned be memorial stones
Planted and remembered from all that's been honed.
You carry a legacy of sacrifice.
Poured out for love, believing I will suffice.

You are well favored and supported with care.
I will go with you, I will always be there.
Head up, shoulders back, look Me straight in the eye.
You will see My love and My grace not denied.

My favored, My honored, My beloved one.
My chosen, My tender, My valiant dear one.
Do not look back but keeping your eyes on Me,
You will walk safely into your destiny.

Jer 29:11-14 NLT For I know the plans I have for you," says the LORD. "They are plans for good and not for disaster, to give you a future and a hope . In those days when you pray, I will listen. If you look for me in earnest, you will find me when you seek me. I will be found by you," says the LORD. "I will end your captivity and restore your fortunes. I will gather you out of the nations where I sent you and bring you home again to your own land."

Shedding Light On Your Motives
Sandy Warner

SHEDDING LIGHT ON YOUR MOTIVES
Some choices lead to life and some choices lead to death. You already know that I died to give you an abundant life. I want you to be released from choosing death. No matter what choices you make, they are governed by your motives. I want to heal your soul by shedding light upon your motives.

This soul healing is something I want to do with you. I desire it to be a healing in which we partner together. When you are involved in the process, you learn through the experience of revelation which I have known and understood about you all along. I want you to see how I see you, and how I have understood your greater needs of heart, over your sins of choice.

I have said where sin abounds, My greater grace abounds. I have loved you through your sins, and understood your deep need for love. I never give you an excuse for sinning, but I do understand all the influences that have caused you to choose death through your ancestral heritage all the way back to Adam.

When I give you the understanding into what drives you and why, I AM giving you a chance to love yourself through understanding and wisdom. I AM giving you a chance to see yourself as I see you, - with loving understanding. It is a good process and a needful one.

Prov 2:5 NKJV
My son, if you receive my words, and treasure my commands within you, so that you incline your ear to wisdom, and apply your heart to understanding; Yes, if you cry out for discernment, and lift up your voice for understanding, if you seek her as silver, and search for her as for hidden treasures; Then you will understand the fear of the LORD, And find the knowledge of God.

Fire And Steel

FIRE AND STEEL
I burn the dross and melt the steel of all that is cold and stiff, unyielding and hard when I try them in the fires of life. When tempered just right, I bring those places out of the fire and hammer them into symmetry. Balanced just right, boundaries are stretched for a greater expanse. I complete that which has been forged by plunging it into the cool refreshing waters of the Holy Spirit.

Generations are passing by fast. Build bridges from faith that will last. Not faith in empty words, but tested through walking. Being tried in the fire, not in vain empty talking. Each step you take is easier having forged a way past words that condemn. Not listening to doubt, unbelief or fear but, heeding My voice as I speak into your ear.

Dan 3:25 NKJV
"Look!" he answered, "I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire; and they are not hurt, and the form of the fourth is like the Son of God."

Cross-Pollination

Catherine Brown

The Lord Holds The World In His Hands

During a time of prayer, I had a vision in which I saw the Lord Jesus holding a small globe in His hands. As the Lord held the world in His hands, the central axis of the earth opened up, forming two equal halves, and swarms of bees emerged from the centre. Fascinated by what I had just witnessed, I continued to watch the activity of the bees. Half the bees worked on the fields on one side of the axis, whilst the other half worked on the fields on the opposite side.

Cross-Pollinate

After spending some time observing the bees working, the Lord gave this instruction: "Cross-pollinate!" In response, the bees began to cross over into other fields. They continued their work of pollination, but this time, they were in different fields and on the other side of the axis of the world from which they had originally been working.

It Is Good

Jesus smiled. He surveyed the work and crossed His arms; still smiling, the Lord said, "It is good." I noticed that the blooms, which were produced as a result of the cross-pollination, were extraordinarily beautiful and unusual in their shape, color, and form. Their fragrance was breathtaking. Isn't it lovely when God engages our senses in a spiritual experience with Him?

Spiritual Application: Multiply!

To cross-pollinate is to bring two elements (pollen and a flower or plant) together, in order to reproduce a new bloom or fruit. The bee is the means through which the Lord creates these new blooms. The vision speaks of increased fruitfulness in the body of Christ, brought about through the formation of new and unusual alliances inspired by the Holy Spirit. The cross-pollination vision indicates multiplication in the body of Christ as Holy Spirit strengthens existing Godly alliances and brings into being, new and unusual gatekeeper relationships. This will result in a powerful, spiritual shift in the nations to the glory of God, as we learn to co-labor together in innovative and exciting ways.

Kingdom Alignment

Ultimately, God's intention is to give His ambassadors access to "gates" of nations to change and affect their destiny and bring them into Kingdom alignment. As Holy Spirit directs the cross-pollination of ministries, giftings, and callings, God will bring us together in unity, love, and servant hood so that He can pour out His Kingdom agendas on the earth, producing fruit to the glory of His name. Unity is God's strategy, and dominion is His goal.

Spiritual cross-pollination will result in Kingdom deposits of wisdom, revelation, gifting, and authority being produced and distributed (and/or re-distributed) in different places or in a different manner than we may presently be accustomed to. God may ask us to go to a new place or to new people, either temporarily or permanently, as His ambassadors. He may simply ask us to go and serve another who is laboring in the harvest field. The vision and call to cross-pollinate speak of multiplication of blessing and multiplication of our effectiveness as Christians here on the earth. It is time for the Kingdom to come with great power and signs and wonders. It is a time to love in Christ's agape, and in this way, the multitudes will be won for Jesus.

Gatekeepers Of God's Presence

As worshippers, we are all gatekeepers of God's presence. We each have a place where we have been assigned to co-labor with Holy Spirit and each other. We have each been gifted in God's grace with His commission, with His commandments, and with Holy Spirit's gifts and callings. Some are called to be servant-leaders within the five-fold ministry. All are called to be lovers of Jesus and to prefer one another in love.

Gatekeepers Have Individual Spheres Of Influence

In order for the fullness of these new Godly alliances to take place, we must be robed in humility and be willing to be servants of love. Without this virtue, the bride will be ineffective in her ability to communicate, collaborate, and cooperate with Holy Spirit and each other in the dynamic of spiritual cross-pollination. To the church in Corinth, Paul said this:

"We do not dare to classify or compare ourselves with some who commend themselves. When they measure themselves by themselves and compare themselves with themselves, they are not wise. We, however, will not boast beyond our proper limits, but will confine our boasting to the field God has assigned to us, a field that reaches even to you." -- 2 Corinthians 10:12-13

Paul exhorts us not to boast in our works, but to be humble and Christ-like. Paul loved to glorify Jesus and confined his "boasting" to be about our glorious Savior: "Let him who boasts boast in the Lord," (2 Corinthians 10:17). Paul explains that we are each assigned a field in which we labor for God's glory, indicating that there are individual spheres of authority within which we operate. As Kingdom gatekeepers, we are each assigned a particular sphere or area within which we may exert a Godly influence and operate in Christ's authority and compassion. One of the first places we operate as gatekeepers is within our family units.

Identify And Recognize Other Gatekeepers And Their Sphere Of Influence

"We are not going too far in our boasting, as would be the case if we had not come to you, for we did get as far as you with the gospel of Christ. Neither do we go beyond our limited by boasting of work done by others." -- 2 Corinthians 10:14-15

Paul recognized that others labored for Jesus, and [he] was happy to commend them for their ministry of the Gospel. We must recognize that there are others who labor and witness effectively for Jesus. Once we understand our calling as gatekeepers, and recognize others in their particular sphere of influence as gatekeepers, we can begin to enter into Kingdom alliances that form a corporate expression in this arena. Gatekeepers have spheres of authority in which they operate; the individual gatekeeper has an appointed sphere of authority. This is greatly enhanced when gatekeepers gather together and form a corporate Kingdom expression of gatekeeper authority, wisdom, and revelation.

Exponential Increase In Corporate Gatekeeper Anointing

"Our hope is that, as your faith continues to grow, our area of activity among you will greatly expand, so that we can preach the gospel in the regions beyond you." -- 2 Corinthians 10:15b-16

There is the potential for an exponential increase of Jesus' Kingdom when individual gatekeepers form divinely inspired alliances. This may be described as a corporate gatekeeper anointing. We are not called to operate in isolation, since the overall work of the Gospel is enhanced with cooperation, mutuality, and preferring one another in love, which leads to Kingdom increase and multiplication.

What Is A Gatekeeper?

"But the four principal gatekeepers were entrusted with the responsibility for the rooms and treasuries in the house of God. They would spend the night stationed around the house of God, because they had to guard it; and they had charge of the key for opening it each morning." -- 1 Chronicles 9:26b-27

A Kingdom gatekeeper is simply this: a person whom the Lord has entrusted with keys of revelation, wisdom, and authority and walks in intimacy with Jesus. Gatekeepers have guardianship of the treasuries of the house of God. There are many different types of gatekeepers, and each has a particular "field" of influence (as previously mentioned). These include worshipping gatekeepers, community gatekeepers, market place gatekeepers, and apostolic or prophetic gatekeepers, to name a few. Our first ministry, as gatekeepers, is to minister to the Lord.

Gatekeepers Are Those Whom God Can Entrust With Responsibility

"Altogether, those chosen to be gatekeepers at the thresholds numbered 212. They were registered by genealogy in their villages. The gatekeepers had been assigned to their positions of trust by David and Samuel the seer. They and their descendants were in charge of guarding the gates of the house of the Lord -- the house called the Tent." -- 1 Chronicles 9:22-23

Pioneer Gatekeepers

Gatekeepers are often pioneers. Two Old Testament examples of pioneer gatekeepers are Joseph and Daniel. Peter may be considered a New Testatment example of an apostolic gatekeeper as he was given keys of revelation, power, and authority:
"And I tell you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church, and the gates of Hades will not overcome it. I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven; whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven." -- Matthew 17:18-19
A gatekeeper has revelatory keys to unlock spiritual gates. In order to more fully understand the function of a gatekeeper, it is helpful to consider the purpose of gates.

Jesus Is The Gate! He Gives Access And Grants Dominion

"Jesus said, 'I tell you the truth, I am the gate for the sheep.'" -- John 10:7

The result of passing through the Gate that is Christ is salvation!

Gates Are A Point Of Access

"While the gatekeepers are still on duty, have them shut the doors and bar them. Also appoint residents of Jerusalem as guards, some at their posts and some near their own houses." -- Nehemiah 7:3

In the days of walled cities, gates were of tremendous significance. A gate was a point of access or a place where access was denied to an unwanted intruder or enemy.

Gates Are Places For Decision Making

The gateway was a place where the elders of the city met to make decisions and settle disputes. Decisions made at the gates affected the lives and destiny of those under the authority of the elders. Today, as we consider the corporate effects of gatekeepers, it is noteworthy that these will impact on a community, national, international, and global level.

Gates Are Places Of Public Assembly

"When the seventh month came and the Israelites had settled in their towns, all the people assembled as one man in the square before the Water Gate. They told Ezra, the scribe, to bring out the Book of the Law of Moses. . . " -- Esther 8:1

A Place Of Hospitality

Any stranger could seek hospitality at the city gates (e.g. Lot at the gate of the city).

A Place Of Enemy Activity

"During the time Mordecai was sitting at the king's gate, Bighthana and Teresh, two of the king's officers who guarded the doorway, became angry and conspired to assassinate King Xerxes. But Mordecai found out about the plot and told Queen Esther, who in turn reported it to the king, giving credit to Mordecai." -- Esther 2:21-22

Satan recognizes that our homes, communities, cities, and nations are gateways and have the potential for the release of incredible power, either for good or [for] evil. The story of Esther reveals that although the enemy conspired at the gate, God had his man at the gate too, and ultimately, God's Kingdom-agenda prevailed.

A Place Of Convergence/Transformation

"When Mordecai learned of all that had been done, he tore his clothes, put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the city, wailing loudly and bitterly. But he went only as far as the king's gate, because no one clothed in sackcloth was allowed to enter it." -- Esther 4:1-2

Gates were places where lives were touched and changed.

Military And Strategic Significance

Gates were the weakest places in the city's defenses. Gates, therefore, had guards to watch over who entered AND who was approaching from far away. If the enemy took the gates, then the rest of the city could easily be taken. God is downloading "military" strategies and forming strategic networks and alliances in order to position the Church to be the soul winner in our cities and nations.

A Place Of Observation

"Then the watchman saw another man running, and he called down to the gatekeeper." -- 2 Samuel 18:26

Gates are places where strategic reconnaissance information is exchanged between the watchmen of a community or nation and the gatekeepers.

A Place Of Protection

"The King was shaken. He went up to the room over the gateway and wept." -- 2 Samuel 18:33

Spiritual gates that are won for Christ are strongholds of the Lord where we can be hidden from the enemy and find rest for our souls.

A Place Of Prayer And Prophetic Revelation

"I will stand at my watch and station myself on the ramparts. I will look to see what he will say to me, and what answer I am to give to this complaint. [Then the Lord replied,] 'Write down the revelation and make it plain on tablets so that a herald may run with it. For the revelation awaits an appointed time; it speaks of the end and will not prove false. Though it linger wait for it; it will certainly come and will not delay.'" -- Habakkuk 2:1-3

A gate is a place of prayer and revelatory impartation. Spiritual gates are where we are given prophetic utterance to proclaim the decrees of the Lord. It is where Holy Spirit brings forth breakthrough, blessing, and victory on the earth.

A Place To Make Apostolic Or Prophetic Proclamation

"The people of the Lord went down to the city gates. 'Wake up, wake up, Deborah! Wake up, wake up, break out in song! Arise, O Barak! Take your captives, son of Abinoam.'" -- Judges 5:12

Gates are places where spiritual battles can be won or lost. Deborah and Barak, along with all the people, rose up to worship at the city gates.

A Place Of Worship

"Those who were musicians, heads of Levite families, stayed in the rooms of the temple and were exempt from other duties because they were responsible for the work day and night." -- 1 Chronicles 9:33

As gatekeepers of God's presence, we are all worshipping gatekeepers. As we praise and worship the Holy One, we change the spiritual atmosphere in our homes, our cities, and our nations.

A Place For Particular Activities

In Biblical times, gates also had names that described the nature of the part of the city they gave access to.

"By night I went out through the Valley Gate toward the Jackal Well and the Dung Gate, examining the walls of Jerusalem, which had been broken down, and its gates, which had been destroyed by fire. Then I moved on toward the Fountain Gate and the King's Pool. . . " -- Nehemiah 2:13-14

Gates Have Eternal Significance

Gates are places of spiritual breakthrough! In Hebrews 13:11-4, we read how Jesus suffered outside the city gates in order that we might be forgiven of our sins and have eternal life.

Gateways
Gateways are portals of glory and places of Kingdom convergence. Gateways are places of power encounters.

Developing A Global Mindset

Daniel was the Lord's ambassador; Joseph [was] a pioneer gatekeeper and administrator over Egypt. God wants us to develop a global mindset, particularly as we consider:

The Corporate Market Place
- Business
- Government
- Technology
- Media
- Communications

God's Agenda -- Unity Is The Strategy; Dominion Is The Goal

As existing Kingdom alliances are strengthened and new gatekeepers alliances are formed, Holy Spirit will enable the Church to identify enemy and world gateway systems and empower us to infiltrate these systems by releasing bypass strategies. Bypass strategies are the means through which God will bypass the agenda of hell and bring to pass His divine will.

Strategic Alliances -- Authority And Dominion

God will enable the Church to identify modern-day Cyrus (Isaiah 45) and Pharaoh type figures. Cyrus was a king (person) in authority in the world system. He was a gatekeeper into the world's resources and seats of authority. God used him to bring restoration and empowerment to his people.

Gates Are Seats Of Power And Have Potential To Release Kingdom Resource

God's intention at the gates is to release:
- Worship
- Warfare
- Wisdom
- Warnings
- Wonders
- Witness

Consider some of the world gateways, as we consider the geopolitical landscape:
- United Nations
- World Economic Forum -- global gateway organization of Trans National Corporations (TNC's)
- Non-Governmental Organizations (NGO's)
- World Trade Organization (WTO)
- World Bank and International Monetary Fund (IMF)
- International Court of Justice (ICJ)
- International Criminal Court (ICC)

Kingdom Alignment

God's intention is to give His ambassadors access to gates of nations, to change and affect the destiny of nations and bring them into Kingdom alignment.

Be blessed this day as a Gatekeeper of God's presence!

Childish Things

Bill Somers

> When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things. 1 Co 13:11

One of the earmarks of how children learn their language is they go through a stage where they are unable to grasp figurative speech. They have learned the basic meaning of words and how to communicate in sentences. But they insist on taking everything you say literally. Only after much more growth and maturity are they able to understand and communicate with adults and their use of colloquialisms, cliches, and comparisons. Strict literal understanding is one of the childish things that one leaves behind as they mature. In the coming days, the Body of Christ is going to have to mature in like manner.

In my earlier days as a Christian, I once took a series of classes on Bible Study that introduced the 10 commandments of Bible interpretation. This was all well and good providing a lot of helpful information and insight.

Quite some time later I came across a textbook on the laws of Bible Interpretation in a book store. The laws they listed were different! Our church at that time was charismatic, and this was a Baptist bookstore. They had different rules of interpretation than we did!

At my next opportunity I asked our bible teacher where he had gotten his 10 commandments of bible study. As it turns out, they were taught to him by another charismatic pastor, but their ultimate origin was not clear.

I began to see that there was something odd and perhaps self serving about these 10 laws. Each group espoused rules of interpretation that just happened to support the lines of reasoning that produced their pet doctrines. While all of these pastors were very careful about having scriptural justification for their doctrine, there was little or no attempt to provide scriptural support for the rules of interpretation. In other words, these rules were man made. And the game was rigged!

We're not going into a study of all these laws or attempt to rewrite them. I just want to look at one I find especially troublesome. And which by the way is adhered to both by charismatic types and more conservative fundamentalists.

It is the Law of Literal Interpretation. This says "Always interpret scripture literally wherever possible, and only if this fails are you to seek another way of interpretation."

The justification that is usually given for this law is you will avoid lots of errors that people have made in the past, or that you lose touch with reality. One writer heaps scorn on those who abandon literal interpretation, saying "they wander off into allegorical la-la land".

However no scripture is offered to back up this law. So we'd like to take this opportunity to present some scripture that speaks contrary to the law of literal interpretation.

Now how about some basics. What is literal interpretation? Our dictionary tells us this:.

> lit·er·al (lĭt¹er-el) adjective
> 1. Being in accordance with, conforming to, or upholding the exact or primary meaning of a word > or words.

> 2. Word for word; verbatim: a literal translation.
> 3. Avoiding exaggeration, metaphor, or embellishment; factual; prosaic: a literal description; a literal mind.

My summary of this is "sticking to the exact meaning and avoiding exaggeration, metaphor or embellishment".

So the law of literal interpretation then says "Always interpret scripture sticking to the exact meaning and avoiding exaggeration, metaphor or embellishment wherever possible, and only if this fails are you to seek another way of interpretation." Note: this is not denying that there are other ways of interpreting scripture, nor does it deny that the bible uses exaggeration, metaphor and embellishment. All it does is tell us to avoid these things.

Okay now what is Metaphor?

> met·a·phor (mèt¹e-fôr´, -fer) noun
> 1. Abbr. met., metaph.. A figure of speech in which a word or phrase that ordinarily designates one thing is used to designate another, thus making an implicit comparison, as in "a sea of troubles" or "All the world's a stage" (Shakespeare).
> 2. One thing conceived as representing another; a symbol: "The high-rise garbage repository is a metaphor for both accomplishment and failure" (Richard Sever).

Synonyms for metaphor are: allusion, allegory, colloquialism, comparison, emphasis, euphemism, exaggeration, figurativeness, figure, figure of speech, flourish, hyperbole, imagery, irony, likeness, manner of speech, mystical interpretation, parable, paradox, personification, rhetorical figure, sarcasm, satire, simile, similitude, symbolism, word-play, [also types and shadows which are images and footprints.]

Here are a couple other definitions that will serve us in this discussion.

> hy·per·bo·le (hì-pûr¹be-lê) noun
> A figure of speech in which exaggeration is used for emphasis or effect, as in I could sleep for a year or This book weighs a ton.

> si·mil·i·tude (sî-mîl¹î-t¡d´, -ty¡d´) noun
> 1. Similarity; resemblance. See synonyms at LIKENESS.
> 2. a. One closely resembling another; a counterpart. b. A perceptible likeness.
> 3. Archaic. A simile, an allegory, or a parable.

All definitions are from the American Heritage Dictionary as distributed with Microsoft Bookshelf 95.

Now what does the Bible say?

In Hosea 12, God outlines his methods of speaking to man.

> I have also spoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied visions, and used similitudes, by the ministry of the prophets. Hosea 12:10

Let me point out here that the ministry of the prophets includes those who like Moses, Isaiah, Luke, John, etc. were the actual writers of the bible. So their writings are not just historical records i. e. literal, but God's way of speaking by similitude i. e. non-literal. To put it another way, God is telling us that the bible is primarily non-literal.

Now even the historical parts are primarily non-literal. Look what Paul says here.

> Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come. 1 Corinthians 10:11

To rephrase this, Paul is saying that the things that happened in the bible are recorded as examples for our learning. So the primary use of them is not to record what happened [literal] but to impart a lesson [spiritual].

Here he is discussing another 'historical' event, showing the non-literal interpretation.

> But he who was of the bondwoman was born after the flesh; but he of the freewoman was by promise.
> Which things are an allegory: for these are the two covenants; the one from the mount Sinai, which gendereth to bondage, which is Agar. Galatians 4:23-24

He is making a case or at least a very strong hint that the histories recorded in the bible are meant as allegories.

Here is another case where Paul shows the literal view to be insignificant in comparison to the spiritual.

> For it is written in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Doth God take care for oxen?
> Or saith he it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: ….. 1 Corinthians 9:9-10

There are many cases where God presents a parable and then shows us how to interpret it.

In the parable of the vineyard in Isaiah for example, God stops to explain his figurative language

> For the vineyard of the LORD of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant: Isaiah 5:7

Here God's people are depicted as plantings. Elsewhere they are described as sheep.

> Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. Ps 100:3

In another place, he speaks of clay in the hand of the potter.

> But now, O LORD, thou art our father; we are the clay, and thou our potter; and we all are the work of thy hand. Isa 64:8

In some places He mixes the metaphor so as to make the literal rendering ridiculous.

> Many pastors have destroyed my vineyard, they have trodden my portion under foot, they have made my pleasant portion a desolate wilderness. Jer 12:10

Is God complaining that someone let the sheep graze in the vineyard and ruin the plants?

Look at Jesus explaining the parable of the sower.

> And he taught them many things by parables, and said unto them in his doctrine, Mark

> And he said unto them, Know ye not this parable? and how then will ye know all parables? The sower soweth the word.
> And these are they by the way side, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.
> And these are they likewise which are sown on stony ground; who, when they have heard the word, immediately receive it with gladness;
> And have no root in themselves, and so endure but for a time: afterward, when affliction or persecution ariseth for the word's sake, immediately they are offended.
> And these are they which are sown among thorns; such as hear the word, …. Mark 4:13-18

Here Jesus explains each element of the parable and shows their relationships. But he is also giving them a lesson in bible interpretation. Note that he says And he said unto them, Know ye not this parable? and how then will ye know all parables? This is to say, the way that you interpret this parable is the way to interpret parables in general.

Here in Luke 1 we find an example of hyperbole or exaggeration.

> Forasmuch as many have taken in hand to set forth in order a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us,
>
> Even as they delivered them unto us, which from the beginning were eyewitnesses, and ministers of the word;
>
> It seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write unto thee in order, most excellent Theophilus,
> That thou mightest know the certainty of those things, wherein thou hast been instructed. Lu 1:1-4

Are we to believe that Luke has had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, or are we to see that this is an exaggeration pointing to [describing] the real author of Luke's writings, namely the Holy Spirit?

The bible is full of religious laws and rituals, all strictly literal, right? Well looking in Collosians and Hebrews we see there that these things are shadows. They are images and pictures pointing to something greater.

> Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days:
> Which are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ. Col 2:16-17
> For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect. Heb 10:1

One problem with this law of literal interpretation is that it leads people to think that all they need to understand the bible is a good set of dictionaries. In other words, you can understand most all of the bible without the help of the Holy Spirit.

The bible comes right out and tells us that this will not work!

> But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. 1Co 2:14

Let's rephrase this verse.

> But the natural man [who interprets literally] receiveth not [cannot understand] the things of the Spirit of God: [the things written by the Spirit of God in the scriptures] for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. [because they are only understood spiritually.] 1 Co 2:14

Summary

How about this: The Law of Spiritual Interpretation: Always seek the Lord for a Spiritual Interpretation of scripture. Remember that there may be more than one correct interpretation and remain open to the possibility of a strict literal view being important as well.

Here's an example of a well known passage that is usually taken metaphorically, but also has a valid literal interpretation.

> I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. Romans 12:1

Here the literal understanding implies that there may or will be a time where God want's you to literally offer yourself up, as Paul did; dying a martyr's death.

Catch The Foxes
Sandy Warner

Aug 1, 2005

CATCH THE FOXES
The devourer is at work when you see sudden massive losses in physical, mechanical and spiritual things breaking down in your life; but seldom is there the sudden alarm of major breakdowns unless an open door has been opened to the demonic through blatant sin or through not taking one's thoughts captive. It is rather through the small subtle inroads into your life that nibble away your hedge, increments at a time. So catch the little foxes that steal your self discipline and compromise your conscience. Do not harden your sensitivity to the subtle call of My voice in your heart. You may not hear Words, but you know what is right and safe, pure and holy in regards to keeping your hedge safe. So catch the foxes as they crouch.

Song 2:14-3:1 NLT
"My dove is hiding behind some rocks, behind an outcrop on the cliff. Let me see you; let me hear your voice. For your voice is pleasant, and you are lovely." "Quick! Catch all the little foxes before they ruin the vineyard of your love, for the grapevines are all in blossom." "My lover is mine, and I am his. He feeds among the lilies! Before the dawn comes and the shadows flee away, come back to me, my love. Run like a gazelle or a young stag on the rugged mountains."

Judg 15:4-5 NKJV
Then Samson went and caught three hundred foxes; and he took torches, turned the foxes tail to tail, and put a torch between each pair of tails. When he had set the torches on fire, he let the foxes go into the standing grain of the Philistines, and burned up both the shocks and the standing grain, as well as the vineyards and olive groves.

Faith In Measure Of Hearing
Sandy Warner

FAITH IN MEASURE OF HEARING
Precious, I hear your many pleas to hear My voice and to find your way in the midst of a darkened world. You ask Me for increased measure in hearing. I hear your heart over and over again with this same desire. I hear your earnest wish. I too yearn to reach you even more.

It is so important that you understand what I AM about to tell you. What you seek is an abiding place, a place of rest in hearing Me day and night. Your place of rest in hearing Me, MUST be mixed with faith. Many earnestly wanted to enter in, but they were unable, having heard the Word but not mixing it with faith. Faith is not wavering and not doubting. How is it that faith overcomes these doubts and waverings? I will tell you very simply. Follow your conscience.

The veils between us rise and fall depending upon your sensitivity in obedience to My Spirit. You already know the issues that separate us. I AM not calling you to law, but to love. And when you understand love, it is the fuel that strengthens you in self control over the things you feed upon through your flesh, namely your appetites, your thoughts and the world. Dear one, these become veils of resistance, that erode your faith. You must have faith that you are in right standing with Me. I AM a holy God. Yes, overcome condemnation, guilt, and shame and daily accept My forgiveness. Come to Me without doubt, and set aside the appetites that do not feed My Presence in Your life. You will find that the more you do this, the greater shall be your measure of faith to not only hear My heart, but RECEIVE My Words.

Heb 4:1-4 NKJV
Therefore, since a promise remains of entering His rest, let us fear lest any of you seem to have come short of it. For indeed the gospel was preached to us as well as to them; but the word which they heard did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in those who heard it. For we who have believed do enter that rest, as He has said: "So I swore in My wrath, 'They shall not enter My rest,'" although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

Passing Through

PASSING THROUGH
I AM calling you out of your past, away from the taskmaster. When you have moved forward as far as you are able, and there remains a road block to your passage, hold your peace and remain at rest as you trust Me. Stretch forth the rod of your mouth and speak to the roadblock. Stretch forth your hand and cut it asunder. Behold, that which stood before you shall part and you shall pass through on safe ground. When you see your opportunity, move forward with purpose and aim for it remains but a brief door in time.

Ex 14:14-16 AMP
The Lord will fight for you, and you shall hold your peace and remain at rest. The Lord said to Moses, Why do you cry to Me? Tell the people of Israel to go forward! Lift up your rod and stretch out your hand over the sea and divide it, and the Israelites shall go on dry ground through the midst of the sea.

Come Up Here!

Joni Ames

As we are launching into the ten days (05/06/05 - 05/15/05) of Ascension Day to Pentecost Sunday where they waited in the Upper Room for the fulfillment of the promise of the Holy Spirit, I sensed the urging of the Lord to us to, "COME UP HERE and I will show you things to come!" (Rev. 4:1)

I believe this is a time of great grace when many who have been waiting for fulfillment of the prophetic promises the Holy Spirit has spoken will begin to see them fulfilled. - "Not by might or power, but by His Spirit!" (Zech. 4:6) - He has given to us His grace to attain them!

God's Grace is His "unmerited divine assistance" and represents also His forgiveness and favor towards us. We can all be thankful for the fact that we can tap into that!

I also believe this is an urgent clarion call from the Lord in this time that we are to come UP ABOVE our circumstances, and be focused on and seated with Him in Heavenly places. As we do this, we will see things from HIS point of view, and have those things that have been hindrances be put under our feet - for they are already under His! - And we (His People) will thus be at peace and have direction during times that others are in panic.

We Mothers are blessed to have had "our" day ("Mother's Day") during this time! It is not coincidence, for sure! For the Lord is calling to His Psalms 68:11 great company (ARMY) of women to come forth as well.

You know, as "they" all waited in the Upper Room for the promise of the Holy Spirit, it was not "just the Disciples!" - And it was not just men! - Acts 1:14 says: " These (disciples) all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication, WITH the WOMEN and Mary the mother of Jesus, AND with His brothers."

And Acts 2:1-4 tells us: (1) When the Day of Pentecost had fully come, they were ALL with one accord in one place. (2) And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting. (3) Then there appeared to them divided tongues, as of fire, and one sat upon EACH of them. (4) And they were ALL filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

So there are a number of things God is doing in this time, and one of those things is to bring His women forth, "for such a time as this." So, in this time, let's ALL say "Yes, Lord!" and engage ourselves with Him to fulfill His purposes in the earth through us that He desires to accomplish!

Some have lost cars, homes, businesses, even friends and family members, and the cost has been great. But God grants to us His great grace and favor! - His "unmerited divine assistance," and His victory, in place of our failures! - - - - PRICELESS!

Blessings,
Joni Ames

Come Up Higher

Elvi Glass

I am calling you to come higher on my mountain. Run to me and cast aside everything that hinders you. It is coming! The great outpouring you have heard and read about is about to be released. It is coming wave after wave, one after another. It is on it's way. Even now I am giving the command for release of finances, gifts and anointings. The call is going forth. Do you hear it? Are you willing to come up higher on my mountain? Are you willing to pay the price and go all the way with Me?

There is a commotion in heaven. Thousands of angels are ready and waiting in anticipation to be released. There is great anticipation. I am sealing my bondservants, those who have allowed my fire to purify them. Those who have kept their focus on Me even when it was difficult. It is those who have died to self and to the world and they are now ready to come into the fullness of my calling.

Will I find you busy with worldly things or will I find you going about my Father's business?

Dance and rejoice. Dance for the time is near. My bride betrothed to me. The bride adorned with precious jewels. Come!

Come Up Here With Me

Tina Nicolo

Dream given October 3rd, 2005.

I was in a huge bed in the middle city. I admired the bed for it's beauty. The luxurious fabric, the size and comfort were all very appealing to me. I said in my heart "I will lie here and commit fornication", but I did not. I was distracted by the activity outside. As I looked out onto the city streets, I noticed a dear friend walking by. I quickly got dress and went out to meet my friend. I walked and talked with my friend through the city and out into the country. As I listened to my friend talk I thought to myself how beautiful my friend is, how smart and precious. I couldn't remember exactly how long I knew my friend, but it seemed like forever. I would go anywhere with my friend. As we walked and talked, my mother started to follow us from a distance. She was listening, but never actually engaging in our conversation.

Suddenly, my friend said, "Tina come up here with me. Come with me in the cleft of the rocks." My friend talked to me about the coming storms. When the first storm came, it was much stronger than I had expected. As the storm raged outside my friend sat right next to me. I loved that time during the storm because my friend stayed so close. I thought I could have stayed there forever. The first storm ended and I started to get up, but my friend said "Another storm is coming" and within seconds of the warning the second storm hit.

I noticed that my mother did not follow us up. When she heard my friend's warning she got a plastic inner tube. She thought it would keep her afloat, but it had actually begin to kill her. It was around her neck. She was stuck in a raging pool of water while a waterfall pounded down on her head. The inner tube was so tight around her neck because of the immense force of water that she was being strangled to death. I heard my mother's cry for help and decided to go after her, but my friend said "Do not go after her this time or you will die...I will get her". My friend went through a wall of water to save her. I grabbed my friends feet to help, but as I re-adjusted my grip, I noticed that my friend was incredibly strong and had no need of my strength. I continued to hold onto my friend's feet, but only did so for my own comfort. My mother life was spared and the storm was over.

We came down from the mountain and continued to walk, this time back into the city. I noticed my friend started to walk much faster. An old neighbor of mine (who has been deceased for several years) stopped my friend and said "Hey we are of the same rank." My old neighbor was referring to his Mason's [of the Freemasonry] uniform . But my friend didn't acknowledge the old neighbor and we began to run. We ran up the stairs of a huge glass building. The entire building was made of clear glass, but it was stronger than steel.

I knew in my spirit that the time was very short...like maybe we had a minute or two to spare. A few people ran into the building, but the rest continued to walk in the same direction down the city streets like zombies. Some of the people who ran into the building didn't even have time to finish dressing. One man was still getting dressed as he ran up the stairs of the building. I thought that he must not belong here...he's not even dressed properly. But as I begin to watch the different people come in and talk to each other, I knew it was by the grace of God that they were there. They were spared in the last moment of time.

I suddenly remembered my mother. Soon after she was saved she went off her own way once more. She lost her way and didn't follow me and my friend to safety. I knew this time if she didn't come up she would perish. I looked out into the city streets, but did not see her. I started calling out to different groups of people, "COME UP HERE, COME UP HERE". I called out to 5 or 6 different groups of people, but I only remember the last one. I called out with such an urgency "COME UP HERE ALL YOU BACKSLIDERS."

I awoke with a stammer and said "JESUS THAT WAS YOU WITH ME." His sweet spirit permeated throughout the dream. He was so close to me and so familiar. He was like a best friend, mother, father, sister, brother, and husband all in one. He answered my thoughts HE knew me so well. This is what Jesus wants to be to us darning the coming storms. If you reach out to anything in this world to comfort you, it will be the same thing that kills you!!

We must fast and pray for all those who are not living for Christ. Oh Lord, give us your heart and mind. Break our hearts for all of those who are walking their lives right into the pits of hell...to be lost for eternity. The hour is late! BREAK OUR HEARTS FOR THE LOST!!!! BREAK MY HEART LORD!!! BURDEN ME FOR THE SAKE OF THE LOST AND DYING!!!!!!!!!

Carnality Versus Spirituality

Paul Ekemezie

nosike_ekemezie@yahoo.com

Romans 8:6—For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace*.

Most people understand the carnal mind as a mind that is full of sinful thoughts. Even though that may be a fitting description of most carnal minds, I am beginning to understand that carnality or spirituality has more to do with one's view of life.

2 Corinthians 5:16–So from now on we regard no one from a worldly point of view. Though we once regarded Christ in this way, we do so no longer.*

1 Cor 15:48-49—[48]As was the man of dust, so also are those who are made of dust; and as is the heavenly Man, so also are those who are heavenly. [49]And as we have borne the image of the man of dust, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly Man.

Carnally minded human beings (especially Christians) are those that see life from worldly viewpoint. They still reason at man-of-the-dust level. People who are spiritually minded see life from a spiritual point of view; by their spiritual reasoning they bear the image of the heavenly man.

Many people are dying today (physically and spiritually) because they have a worldly view of this life. They think that their sicknesses are caused by one virus or bacteria or the other. They think that their poverty, failure, frequent accidents, joblessness, etc., are caused by bad luck. For this reason many die from diseases, accidents, famine, and all kinds of frustrations. Those who do not die live miserable lives.

Matthew 9:35-37—[35]Jesus went through all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness. [36]When he saw the crowds, he had compassion on them, because they were harassed and helpless, like sheep without a shepherd. [37]Then he said to his disciples, "The harvest is plentiful but the workers are few.

John 10:10—The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy; I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full.

People are still being harassed by the devil, the thief, even though Jesus is in this world right now, to give them help, to be their shepherd. Carnality has kept much of humanity away from the help that Jesus desires to offer. Even Christians are not better than the rest of humanity in terms of carnality. That is why there is a dearth of harvest workers. The Christians that are supposed to decrease carnality on the earth by making disciples are themselves carnally minded, so that even if they make succeed in making the whole world Christians, the so-called Christians will yet remain harassed and helpless. In this end time God is raising up an army that will vigorously attack carnality on the earth; that is the only way to bring life and peace to those who are suffering.

Here in Swaziland, a number of places are suffering from drought. Why is there drought in Swaziland? Someone quickly answers, "It is a problem of weather." Is there any solution to this drought problem? Then you will hear; "the only solution lies in irrigation, and the government does not have enough money for that." A typical African government that wants to be good to the people would quickly rush to international creditors and take loan for irrigation. The nation will then spend at least the next decade under debt burden, and yet the problem of drought may not be adequately contained. This is the kind of trouble humans go into today because of their carnal wisdom. Carnal wisdom is highly limited in its problem solving ability.

Imagine that somebody like the Jesus of old would be found in Swaziland, and you ask him, what is the cause of drought in Swaziland? Do you think he will answer, "Weather problem"? Jesus would never give you that kind of answer. He would rather give you a spiritually oriented answer.

John 9:1-5—[1]As he went along, he saw a man blind from birth. [2]His disciples asked him, "Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?"
[3]"Neither this man nor his parents sinned," said Jesus, "but this happened so that the work of God might be displayed in his life. [4]As long as it is day, we must do the work of him who sent me. Night is coming, when no one can work. [5]While I am in the world, I am the light of the world."

Jesus says that problems in this world are opportunities for display of the work of God. Jesus Himself is the light that drives away every darkness, the solution to every problem. And He is available in every part of the world right now.

The drought in Swaziland is only an opportunity for the work of God to be displayed in Swaziland. Do you know that every single problem you see in this world represents an opportunity for the work of God to be displayed? Any person who adopts this spiritual attitude to problems is a candidate for miracle. One may ask; why is it that countless number of problems have appeared and wrecked so much havoc on this earth without any work of God being displayed? In order to answer the question, it will be necessary to look again at the opening quote of this article. God is not able to operate where there is carnality; carnality transforms what should be an opportunity for the display of God's glory into an avenue of death. If the people involved would rather adopt spirituality, God will manifest life and peace. Carnality leads to little faith (Matt 8:26), while spirituality leads to great faith (Matt 8:10). Faith enables the display of God's work.

Can the glory of God be manifested in a problem situation that could otherwise have caused great damage just by being spiritually minded? For example, AIDS is a very big problem in the world today. It is well known that AIDS is a terrible killer with no known carnal solution yet. Can a person cause miraculous healing of AIDS patients just by being spiritually minded? The Bible says yes. If being spiritually minded is life and peace, that is exactly all that is required to heal an AIDS patient. That is also what is needed to solve any other problem. However, it still remains to obtain sufficient knowledge that will make the possibility implied by the Bible to become practical. The required knowledge is what Jesus calls the truth.

John 8:32—"And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Heb 2:5-9—[5]For He has not put the world to come, of which we speak, in subjection to angels. [6]But one testified in a certain place, saying:
"What is man that You are mindful of him, or the son of man that You take care of him?
[7]You have made him a little lower than the angels; You have crowned him with glory and honor and set him over the works of Your hands.
[8]You have put all things in subjection under his feet." For in that He put all in subjection under him, He left nothing that is not put under him. But now we do not yet see all things put under him. [9]But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels, for the suffering of death crowned with glory and honor, that He, by the grace of God, might taste death for everyone.

God has already put the world to come in subjection to (that is, under the dominion of) man. This truth will become very clear when the new world emerges. God gave man dominion over the earth in the beginning, but sin destroyed all that. In the world to come, God will restore dominion to mankind. However, the problem situations in which we need to see the work of God displayed are in the present world, not the one to come. That is where verses 8 and 9 of Hebrews 2 come to play. We do not yet see man having dominion over all things on earth, but we see Jesus having it.

Eph 1:22-23— [22]And He put all things under His feet, and gave Him to be head over all things to the church, [23]which is His body, the fullness of Him who fills all in all.

God put everything under Christ's feet and the Church is a part of Christ (1 Cor 12:12). Man has not yet been glorified or exalted, and so cannot directly exercise dominion over the earth; he will be glorified in the world to come. However, in the present world man may exercise dominion indirectly, through a name—the name of God. Jesus operated on this principle before He was glorified. He exercised dominion indirectly, through a name. And He needed full obedience to the owner of that name in order to exercise dominion through the name. When Jesus was glorified, He inherited His own name. His name is a key that operates the powers of heaven. His name is a key to the kingdom of heaven.

John 17:6-8—[6]"I have manifested Your name to the men whom You have given Me out of the world. They were Yours, You gave them to Me, and they have kept Your word. [7]Now they have known that all things which You have given Me are from You. [8]For I have given to them the words which You have given Me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came forth from You; and they have believed that You sent Me.

Heb 1:4—So he became as much superior to the angels as the name he has inherited is superior to theirs.

John 20:21—Again Jesus said, "Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me, I am sending you."

Jesus sends a person by giving him/her the authority to exercise dominion through His name. This requires total submission to His authority. Once the requirement of obedience is fulfilled, nothing is impossible to the person who has the authority to exercise dominion in the name of Jesus. Such a person can command winds in the ocean to continually bring rain to a drought-stricken land, in the name of Jesus; and it will happen. He can command the spirit of AIDS to go from a person, in the name of Jesus; and it will happen. The possibilities are endless.

There is need to touch on the issue of obedience. A necessary requirement for one to exercise dominion in the name of Jesus is obedience. Virtually every person cringes at this. The reason is that many PEOPLE desire to fully obey but are dismayed to find out that they are not able. Some preachers would urge them to be more serious; they then exert more effort at obedience and yet find out that they cannot. Does it mean that some people are gifted with the ability to obey? The answer is that any person who is able to obey by the exercise of strong will is trying to attain salvation by works. It does not work. Salvation only comes by faith in Jesus Christ.

Rom 7:21-25—[21]So I find this law at work: When I want to do good, evil is right there with me. [22]For in my inner being I delight in God's law; [23]but I see another law at work in the members of my body, waging war against the law of my mind and making me a prisoner of the law of sin at work within my members. [24]What a wretched man I am! Who will rescue me from this body of death? [25]Thanks be to God–through Jesus Christ our Lord!

If you desire to fully obey Jesus Christ, you can exert dominion over your heart in the name of Jesus. You can defeat sin in your heart through the name of Jesus. It takes spiritual warfare, in the name of Jesus.

Matt 11:12—And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force.

A person meets the requirement to exercise dominion in the name of Jesus by force. Sin must be driven out of the heart by force. When a problem exists in a place, there usually is a spirit behind that problem. That spirit must be driven away by force. The problem condition must be reversed by force. The force meant here is continuing to command what is not to come into existence and what is to stop existing, for as long as it takes for change to occur. It takes persistence that is backed up with the knowledge that the name of Jesus must always win.

Overcoming The Works Of The Devil
Paul Ekemezie

Nosike_ekemezie@yahoo.com

John 10:10—The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy; I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full.

The works of the devil can be summarized as stealing, killing and destroying. Are you wallowing in poverty? Are you suffering all-round deficiency in your life? God did not make man to be so in the beginning. What happened was that man admitted the devil into his/her life by opening the doorway of sin; then the thief came in. He has been stealing the possessions of mankind. He steals our peace. He steals our joy. He steals our sufficiency.

May be you are sick onto death; you are suffering an incurable disease. May be you are HIV positive, and you fear that it is only a matter of time and AIDS will set in. The devil wants to kill you. He entered your life through the doorway of sin. It is either due to your sin or due to your parent's sin (if you contacted HIV as a baby). What about those who got it through blood transfusion?

John 14:30b—For the prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me.

The need for blood transfusion would never have existed if the devil had nothing in the patient. A person in whom the devil can find no sin can never get AIDS, even if the AIDS virus mistakenly enters the person's body. So, sin is the doorway that lets the devil in. When the devil enters, he begins to destroy.

Rom 3:10,23—[10]As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one;
[23]For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God.

We are all sinners by nature. This means that the door is often wide open for the devil to get into our lives to steal and to kill and to destroy. A very important question now is; how could the devil be driven out of our lives? Put another way, how can a person overcome the works of the devil? May be the devil has already stolen so much from a person that s/he has already been forced into prostitution or stealing. The person in view may be one of the homeless hungry youths, popularly called OVCs in Swaziland, or street children elsewhere. The person in question may already be suffering an incurable disease. Is it possible for this person to be delivered from the works of the devil? Most importantly, can the person in question, without the help of any deliverance minister or pastor, overcome the devil?

Isa 49:24-26—[24]Shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captive delivered?
[25]But thus saith the LORD, Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children.
[26]And I will feed them that oppress thee with their own flesh; and they shall be drunken with their own blood, as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the LORD am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob.

Even the lawful captives of the mighty shall be delivered; by who? The deliverance is by God, not by a minister. The job of the minister is to teach people how to get delivered. People should be delivered without necessarily being tied to any minister.

John 3:14-15—[14]Just as Moses lifted up the snake in the desert, so the Son of Man must be lifted up, [15]that everyone who believes in him may have eternal life.

Jesus has been lifted up for our salvation from every work of the devil. In the case of the bronze snake that Moses lifted up in the desert, a person who was already bitten by a live snake needed only to look up to the lifted bronze snake, and the person would be freed from snake bite—this means healing of a person already bitten and freeing from any other snake bite. In our case, which involves the lifted up Jesus, we who have been bitten by the devil are saved by believing in the one that has been lifted up. What does this believing involve?

1 John 3:22-23—[22]And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight.
[23]And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment.

Acts 4:12—Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.

There are two sides to belief in Christ. One aspect is to understand and trust in the power that is vested in His name. The other aspect is to actually put the power of His name to meaningful use. Anyone who cannot make meaningful use of the name of Jesus is not perfectly in faith in Jesus Christ. The reason for this imperfect faith in Christ of course is ignorance.

Hosea 4:6—My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to me: seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

Why did snakes kill the Israelites in the desert? They sinned against God. Why do demons destroy and punish mankind today? Human beings live in sin. It is then clear that in order to overcome the devil the doorway of sin that brought him in must be closed. Incidentally, the devil exerts the fullness of his power to make sure that that does not happen.

Matthew 12:28-29—[28]But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you.
[29]Or else how can one enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house.

How else can one enter a human heart in whom sin (Satan's goods) operates and spoil them? It is only in the name of Jesus, the only name given under heaven among men by which we are saved. It is this use of the name of Jesus that is the best purpose for which it can be used. Whatever we ask of God we receive, if we obey all His commandments. Unfortunately, many people attempt to get one thing or the other, in the name of Jesus, when they have not obeyed all His commandments. For this reason, people now doubt if all the much-talked-about power in the name of Jesus is real. This was the same mistake the sons of Sceva made.

Acts 19:13-16— [13] Some Jews who went around driving out evil spirits tried to invoke the name of the Lord Jesus over those who were demon- possessed. They would say, In the name of Jesus, whom Paul preaches, I command you to come out.
[14] Seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish chief priest, were doing this.
[15] One day the evil spirit answered them, Jesus I know, and I know about Paul, but who are you?
[16] Then the man who had the evil spirit jumped on them and overpowered them all. He gave them such a beating that they ran out of the house naked and bleeding.

As you read this article, may be you now desire to overcome the devil in your life or in another person's life. May be you have a very pressing problem you would want God to solve for you. 1 John 3:22 says that God will do for you anything you ask Him, if you can rid your life of Satan's goods (sin). And you ask, where do I start, how will I proceed?

Mat 6:31-33—[31]So do not worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' [32]For the pagans run after all these things, and your heavenly Father knows that you need them.
[33]But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well.

Your starting point is to seek the kingdom of God. What is "the kingdom of God"? It is the presence of God in your heart. As you can see in Matt 12:28 quoted above the presence of God is manifested by the Holy Spirit.

Genesis 1—[1] In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.
[2] Now the earth was formless and empty, darkness was over the surface of the deep, and the Spirit of God was hovering over the waters.
[3] And God said, "Let there be light," and there was light.

The situation of mankind today is just like that of the earth in the beginning. Then there was chaos and manifestation of the power of darkness. But God had a handle on the situation by the presence of the Holy Spirit. He simply commanded light to manifest, and darkness was pushed away. That is why a person's priority should be to seek the kingdom of God—that is, the presence of the Holy Spirit in his/her life. That is an important first step in giving God a handle in one's life.

How does a person invite the Holy Spirit into his/her life? Let me quote God's own message to a modern prophetess, in the name of Mary Clark (http://www.ft111.com/maryclar.htm), given on March 9, 2005:

> "I am the Indweller of human hearts. When a person submits to My will by telling Me that he would like for Me to dwell in his heart, I become an inhabitant of that heart."

Reverently ask God to come into your heart by His Holy Spirit, in the name of Jesus. Like Larry Lee wrote in his book, "Could you not tarry one hour", continue to say this prayer until you become sure that God has responded.

Matthew 16:19—I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven; whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven."

This was Jesus' promise before His glorification. He fulfilled the promise long ago. A lot of people have written that Peter used the key to open the kingdom of heaven to Jews on the day of Pentecost, and then to gentiles in Cornelius house (Acts 10). I personally think that one notable place where that key was used was in Acts 3:6.

Acts 3:2-8—[2]And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple;
[3]Who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms.
[4]And Peter, fastening his eyes upon him with John, said, Look on us.
[5]And he gave heed unto them, expecting to receive something of them.
[6]Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk.
[7]And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up: and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength.
[8]And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God.

I have already stated that the kingdom of heaven is the presence of the Holy Spirit. The keys of the kingdom of heaven are the things that release the power of the Holy Spirit to act on a situation. The keys are obedience to God's commandments and the name of Jesus—that is, using the Name in holiness. But the name of Jesus is the greater key. It is with the Name that you enter into the righteousness of God. How? Begin to speak to your heart, or different aspects of your life, in the name of Jesus.

Romans 8:13—For if you live according to the sinful nature, you will die; but if by the Spirit you put to death the misdeeds of the body, you will live.

How do you put to death the sinful nature in you by the Spirit? It is by commanding sinful aspects of your life to die in the name of Jesus. It takes being poor in spirit and mourning for your sins (Matt 5:3-4). You must note that mourning usually go with fasting, just as eating and drinking normally go with feasting. This is how a person who has attained to the presence of God's kingdom or Spirit in his/her heart goes on to possessing the righteousness of God. Here is a message God gave to Masha Burns (http://www.ft111.com/p0000013.htm) on March 10, 2005:

> "I am moving you in the direction of great freedom, but whatever has kept you bound must be brought to a conclusion before liberty and blessings are released in your life. This process will require honesty and exposure. You must first be honest with yourself in the examination of your own heart and mind, and then you will be required to be honest in your expressions. You cannot remain hidden or isolated and still find the release that you are looking for. Be brave; do not be afraid to step into the light. Freedom awaits!"

You know the aspects of your life that contravenes God's commandments. Be honest and then command those aspects of your life to die, in Jesus name.

If you now have attained to the righteousness of God, and you maintain it the same way you entered into it, then you have the assurance that God will solve your problems. However, the way to solve your problems is not by pleading to God to solve them. No, you use your key—which is the Name.

Exodus 4:17—But take this staff in your hand so you can perform miraculous signs with it."

Ex 14:15-16—[15]Then the LORD said to Moses, "Why are you crying out to me? Tell the Israelites to move on. [16]Raise your staff and stretch out your hand over the sea to divide the water so that the Israelites can go through the sea on dry ground.

God gave Moses a staff with which he could perform miraculous signs. The staff was the Name. But when Moses faced the formidable problem at Red Sea he began to cry to God. But God reproved him by saying something like, "what about the staff in your hand"? So, if you are sure you have the kingdom and righteousness of God, make use of your staff or the key, which is the name of Jesus. Command your problems to die in the name of Jesus. Face every other problem in your life and in other people's lives that way. Continue to command until the problems go. Victory is assured.

My understanding of the power of the name of Jesus was greatly helped by a ministry with headquarters in Nigeria, with the name "Mountain of Fire and Miracles Ministry". While I grappled with a problem that threatened my life over a period of about six years, I stumbled onto their website (http://www.mountain-of-fire.com/powermustchangehandsprayerpoints.htm) quite recently. I downloaded their prayer topics, being that I was with them for a few months in 2000, in Nsukka, Nigeria. As I made use of their prayer points, my understanding of the centrality of the name of Jesus in the kingdom of God began to develop.

The Civil War Prophecy

In 1996 Rick Joyner released a word titled Civil War in the Church. We posted that article on ETPV [www.etpv.org] and since that time have posted at least 8 other articles on the same subject. Here are a couple quotes from Joyner's post.

> Civil War in the Church Rick Joyner > http://www.etpv.org/1996-97/civwar.html
> from the Morning Star Prophetic Bulletin May 1996
> On February 23rd of this year I was shown for the third time that the church was headed for a "a spiritual civil war." I was first given an impression of this in 1988. At the beginning of 1995 I saw it again in a dream, which I wrote down as The Hordes Of Hell, Part I. On February 23rd I was told that it was time to straightforwardly warn the church, and to begin preparing for this great war with the resolve to fight until there was a complete victory. The definition of a complete victory in this war would be the complete overthrow of the Accuser of the Brethren's strongholds in the church.

….

> Philip Elston had a vision several years ago in which he saw the Lord standing with His arms outstretched. Soldiers in blue and gray uniforms were marching past Him on either side, and were laying their bloody swords on His arms. The Lord resolutely looked into the eyes of each one, saying, "No one who has their brother's blood on their sword will be used to build My house." We must never use our swords against our brothers, but only against the cords of evil that are binding them.

The Florida Outpouring

Now we have the Florida Outpouring and an escalation of this conflict.

Last week I sent an email message to a select group stating how I felt about all this. The text is below.

Dear Friends
We have seen a fresh batch of criticism rising up against the Florida Outpouring. It only comes from a few sources, yet many others are repeating and circulating these messages. It's clear to me that we are seeing an increase in the ongoing strife in the church. The long prophesied 'civil war' is heating up dramatically. This is something you don't want to get caught up in.

Here is a paragraph from a prophecy given on April 17, 2008 from Christine Beadsworth of South Africa. The point that catches my attention is where it speaks of a dividing line being drawn.

> River Of Fire Christine Beadsworth
> I say, these waters that I've released in this day, shall bring a death to all that is fleshy, these waters that I release in this day shall bring a death to all that is unclean, to every mocking voice, that has mocked My servants as they have built a place, an ark for My glory. To every voice that has cursed My servants, that voice will be silenced by the waters that are rising, and are rising and are rising and I say these waters that I release in this day, are both waters of blessing and waters of judgment for as I have said, My hand shall be toward My servants and against My enemies. I say, these waters shall be the waters of division. These waters shall be the waters that destroy – these waters of My word that I release in this day, these waters of My word that I release in this day shall be those that draw a dividing line between those that are of Me and those that are not of Me.

I also find it significant that this Florida Outpouring greatly increased on or about April 19, the date of the Jewish Passover. We think that this move is just a beginning of something much greater. It is not yet the Last Days Move but a step toward that final move. Some have mentioned that we are seeing the New Wine poured into the Old wine skins. I feel that this is correct and that we will shortly see the new wine skins come on the scene.
We also know that Judgment must come to the house of God first, after which we will see true repentance come to us.

With this in mind we are determined not to post anything critical of this outpouring, lest we be found opposing a move of God by siding with the accuser of the brethren.

Here are some scriptures to keep in mind if you are thinking about taking on the role of the critic.

> Proverbs 14:6 A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is easy unto him that understandeth..
> Mark 2:22 And no man putteth new wine into old bottles: else the new wine doth burst the bottles, and the wine is spilled, and the bottles will be marred: but new wine must be put into new bottles.
>
> Matthew 7:3 And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?
>
> Romans 14:4 Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand.
>
> 1 Samuel 16:7 But the LORD said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the LORD seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the LORD looketh on the heart.
> Revelation 12:10 And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night.

End of email message.

One of the replies I got back was quoting a host of other scriptures I was said to be ignoring. So right away someone is trying to draw me into a brother vs. brother battle using scripture versus scripture, sword against sword. No thanks, brother, I do not intend to reply.

Typically the critics are claiming that what they are doing is warning us. They will quote at great length all the bible verses on false prophets, lying signs and wonders, sheep in wolves clothing, deception in the last days, great delusion and on and on.

What they are doing is using the words of the Bible as a weapon against their own Christian brothers. This is the prophesied ‘civil war’ in full swing.

Sola Scriptura Not http://www.etpv.org/2008/solanot.html
Yet scripture alone is not enough to decide an issue. Why is this? The bible itself tells us that the letter kills and the spirit gives live. This is, for whatever reason, one of the hardest things for Christians to grasp. Yet when you are using the letter of the law to attack your brothers, you are working death. The old testament law is called the ministration of death. As ministry means service, what you are doing then is serving up death.

Scripture alone cannot settle an issue.
Scripture must be mixed with faith. As Jesus would answer his critics, He that has an ear, let him hear. So be careful not to get caught up in arguing scripture vs. scripture. That’s how you will get involved in ‘doubtful disputes with those weak in the faith.’

No amount of scripture will ever settle an argument, prove a point, or convince anyone of anything.
Scripture alone is not enough to settle an issue.
Look at what happened when Paul preached in Rome.

> Acts 28:23-24
> 23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him into his lodging; to whom he expounded and testified the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophets, from morning till evening.
> 24 And some believed the things which were spoken, and some believed not.

There can be several reasons for this. First and biggest is that you can most always find an alternate interpretation or an alternate scripture that supports the opposite view. For example I feel that these critical attacks are rooted in pride. So I caution people not to make accusations. One verse that supports my view is found in Proverbs.

> Proverbs 13:10 Only by pride cometh contention: but with the well advised is wisdom.

To counter this, someone will cite Jude, saying we are to contend for the faith.

> Jude 1:3-4
> 3 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.
> 4 For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

So what is accomplished by my quoting proverbs? Some believe and some believe not. To continue arguing my point is fruitless because scripture alone is not enough to settle an issue.

Another reason is that scripture must be mixed with faith. That is it must be received from the Spirit. Looking it up in a concordance or bible search program is not the same.

> Hebrews 4:2 For unto us was the gospel preached, as well as unto them: but the word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in them that heard it.

Yet another reason is spiritual blindness. Some people are not able to understand scripture for spiritual reasons.

> 2 Corinthians 3:14-15
> 14 But their minds were blinded: for until this day remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the old testament; which vail is done away in Christ.
> 15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the vail is upon their heart.

Spiritual things must be understood spiritually. The spirit may withhold understanding or the enemy may block one’s understanding in various cases.

Another reason is that the books are sealed.

> Isaiah 8:16 Bind up the testimony, seal the law among my disciples.

> Isaiah 29:11 And the vision of all is become unto you as the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one that is learned, saying, Read this, I pray thee: and he saith, I cannot; for it is sealed:

> Daniel 12:4 But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

The inner meaning of much scripture is sealed till such time as God chooses to reveal it.

> Revelation 5:5 And one of the elders saith unto me, Weep not: behold, the Lion of the tribe of Juda, the Root of David, hath prevailed to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof.

Obvious or not so obvious.
It should be obvious from observation that scripture alone is insufficient to settle an issue. Yet somehow we never draw that conclusion, assuming that scripture is the final authority in these matters, as we have been taught since the time of Martin Luther.

Yet we all quote scripture, myself more that most. We must realize that the best you can do in quoting scripture is use the scripture to support a line of reasoning shown you by the Lord. If the reader or listener does not receive it in faith, there is nothing more you can say. That is unless there is a demonstration of power to go along with it.

If you work out the detailed implications of every insight you share, and your reader is just not being led to follow the line of reasoning, it won’t help any. You can lead a horse to water but you can’t make him drink.

We certainly are not against quoting scripture. The bible is constantly quoting itself. The characters in the bible quote other parts of the bible in many places. And in quite a few of those cases the listeners do not understand or receive what is being said. Here is a case from John 10.

> John 10:6 This parable spake Jesus unto them: but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them.

While we have been taught that the bible is the final authority, scripture itself can show us that it is not. This may sound pretty radical, even heretical. Well consider how Jesus responded to Peter’s confession of faith.

> Matthew 16:17 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

Here Jesus is telling us that the Father in Heaven is the final authority.

The Accuser At Work

Several years back we posted a word predicting a disaster to come on a set date. It never happened. Shortly after, I learned that the author of this word was being labeled a false prophet in the internet. This puzzled and disturbed me greatly. I sought the Lord, asking him why are these men picking on this writer for missing a date. His answer came immediately.

> John 8:5 Now Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned: but what sayest thou?

And from this answer, I knew that the accuser of the brethren was at work here. This reminded me once again of the warning against getting caught up in the civil war. Some are saying that we should stone the false prophets, or at least hold them accountable to the old testament standard of prophetic accuracy.

Today’s scorners are fond of quoting the verses about a prophecy not coming to pass. They want to judge today’s prophets and other ministers after the Law. So do they want to be under the law themselves? Or do they want to oppose God?

In John 8 the Pharisees brought in a guilty woman saying:

> John 8:5 Now Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned: but what sayest thou?

Jesus stooped and wrote on the ground. Then he stood up and declared, He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her. He wrote again on the ground, and when God arose the second time his enemies were scattered.

Another ploy of the civil warrior is to quote the saying by their fruit you shall know them. And proceed to judge someone after noting a flaw in their character, forgetting that charity covers a multitude of sins.

The Pharisee who prayed in the temple correctly discerned that the publican alongside him was a sinner. The woman caught in adultery in John 8 was guilty. The woman at the well in John 4 was a sinner. [All of these are types of the church by the way.] How did Jesus treat them? He, Jesus, did not seek to judge them after the law, but showed compassion.

Let me throw in a quote from a recent article from Ron McGatlin.

> Discerning the True, the False, and the MIXTURE
> Lack of mature holiness in a gifted person causes a mixture.
> Mature holiness looks a lot like humility filled with love and spiritual power in a person with a pure heart and clean hands.
> Unholy looks like pride with needful desire and natural strength in a person with an unclean heart and dirty hands.
> A believer in process of becoming holy often will be a mixture of holy and unholy practices. This mixture is not uncommon in the leadership of churches and ministries of the church age systems.
> The false does exist and can be discerned by their fruits (Mat 7:16-18). However, what many have called false teachers, false prophets, false apostles, and false signs are not really false but mixtures. The false relates to the unholy (the harlot). The mixture relates to immature are partly holy (the adulteress). The true relates to mature holiness (the pure Bride).

Here is another good quote from an article by Robert Brownell
200+ Principles I've Stumbled Over In My Walk With Christ
Robert Brownell
http://spiritlessons.com/littlelessons.htm

> Accusing someone is a serious thing to do, not to be handled lightly, not for the immature, and not to be done without the prompting of the Holy Spirit. In scripture it was handled by the Apostles, by seasoned men and women of God. But even the disciples, as show in the Gospels, misjudged people (Mark 9:38). When you accuse another person without the prompting of the Holy Spirit, you'll be in danger of the trap of the enemy, who greatest weapon is using Christian to accuse other Christians, and cause division. Many times, in the name of "defending the truth", we are often "attacking the body". We are not doing God a favor by attacking His children.
> Take a strong warning from Philip Elston, who had a vision several years ago in which he saw the Lord standing with His arms outstretched. Soldiers in blue and gray uniforms were marching past Him on either side, and were laying their bloody swords on His arms. The Lord resolutely looked into the eyes of each one, saying, "No one who has their brother's blood on their sword will be used to build My house."

> Pride + Bible knowledge will get you as far as it did with the Pharisees.

The Revelation of Jesus Christ
What I anticipate now is That the Lord will bring this civil war to an end. It’s time for the Revelation of Jesus Christ. So when he takes the book and opens the seals, we will witness judgments. We know these will begin at the house of God. As he sets the cornerstone in place, this civil war will end. And he will begin to build his house, on the sure foundation so that the gates of Hell will not prevail against it. Amen Come Lord Jesus.

Cleansing Will Take Place
Kim Clement

"'There are four regions in the United States of America where cleansing will take place,' says the Lord.

'There are four regions in this nation,' The Spirit of God said. One shall be a Twin Territory. And God said, 'I will cleanse this nation, for an odor and a stench has come before Me.'

And when it is all said and done, and the end of October comes, and they say, 'We will celebrate Halloween,' God said, 'There will be remorse, and I will end that day with My voice through this nation.

'Four regions shall be cleansed. And I will cause this nation to tremble.

'They will say, "We're Next! Is it a Hurricane? Is it a furnace? What is it?"'

The Spirit of God said, 'But Listen!' The elements are crying out and reacting to a Heaven that is opened over this nation.

Gatekeepers, gatekeepers, gatekeepers of America, listen to the voice of the Lord –

'I will stop discord and division – enough is enough!

'And when the cleansing has taken place, there will be a mighty rushing wind that shall come in and restore this nation back to order,' says the Lord of Hosts.

'I will bring them back to the place that their forefathers dreamed. I will shut the mouths that have brought division.

'There is one gatekeeper that has prayed: your President.' And God said, 'I will show him in these three months, how a nation can be shaken and restored at the same time,' says the Spirit of God.

(Keep praying with me) Everyone is focused on this nation. Everyone is focused. . . everyone is focused on California.

When will God come and judge? But the spirit of God said, 'I've sent prophets together on the West Coast, to make declaration that God shall take the "fornia," the fornication, and the spirit that has brought so many untold millions of people to a place of degradation, and I will do something unusual.

'I will build an altar in the midst of the perversion, and show them who is in charge of the media. WHO is in charge of the media?!

'I will take CNN, and I will take some of the most powerful voices, and I will change them. And I will say, "You will no longer speak as secular humanists, but you will speak as the voice of God."

'I created the mouthpiece. I created the fog horn. I created the trumpet. I created it.'

God said, 'I created the news media; now I will infiltrate and take over and speak to this nation MYSELF,' says the Lord."

Cycles of Mercy and Judgment

by Bill Somers

Part I
The Lord is moving in cycles of mercy and judgment to reveal Himself in these last days. The early to mid 80's saw cycle of mercy. The late 80's and early 90's was a period of judgment. The refreshing of the mid 90's is a time of mercy. Another time of judgment is imminent. Another term for this is cycles of warfare and blessing.

The present move of the New Wine refreshing [Isa 28:12] is a cycle of mercy. It is the Lord showing himself as a God of mercy. It may seem to be out of balance or tending to error because it is only one side of his nature. But to reject this move is a mistake. To feel that it is "just not God" or that somehow it is a great deception misses what God is doing. This puts you in the seat of the scornful. Psalm 1 says blessed in the man who sitteth not in the seat of the scornful …. " So to scorn or reject what God sends is to not be blessed. It is missing the blessing.

Those of us who reject the Toronto blessing are therefore put in the seat of the scornful. And may perhaps be wearing the Crown of Pride. "Only by pride cometh contention: but with the well advised is wisdom." (Proverbs 13:10). These are the scornful men who rule in Jerusalem [Isa 28:14] .

Conversely when judgment comes we must see it as that, judgment from God, lest we be among those who despise the chastening of the Lord. Saying that the Judgment is 'not God', or especially, blaming the judgment on the sinners in the world, will cause us to miss opportunities to cry out in repentance and to receive redemption [mercy]. We need to repent for the sins of the Church and the world. Even worse to say that this judgment will not come against us is to make lies our refuge [Isa. 28:15]. Yet when Mercy and Judgment meet and we become mature enough to receive them both then His throne is established in us, the Church.

Then we will see the fruit of this revival, enter into the kingdom of god, in a spiritual sense, and be able to proclaim "Our God Reigns!".

This blessing movement is God revealing Himself but only in part. "we know in part, and we prophecy in part, but when ….." That is the Revelation of Jesus Christ as a God of Mercy.

When judgment comes, as it must begin at the house of God, it is the Revelation of Jesus Christ as a God of judgment. The Lord is made known [revealed] by the judgment he executeth.

When mercy and judgment meet or come together it is the Revelation of Jesus Christ as the Lamb upon the Throne.

Part of the reason for this judgment is the rejecting or scorning of the mercy! To be in balance on this issue is to behold both the severity of the Lord and his lovingkindness. Most of us are usually out of balance. We only get into deception if we stay out of balance.

And what is the judgment that is coming? "Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste." (Isaiah 28:16) The cornerstone is the Lord himself. As the Church is founded on the Lordship of Jesus, He will take his place as the Head of the Church, the chief cornerstone, the headstone, and exercise His authority over it.

The point of The Final Quest by Rick Joyner is that the judgment [warfare] is to bring us to the judgment seat of Christ. There, as we behold Him, we will see that it is also the Throne of Grace. Then we receive mercy and grace [power to obey].

The seat of the scornful tends to make us hostile and bitter. I have been there and done that and repent when I find myself thinking that way. Sometimes we are quick to criticize something. It may be a teaching, a prophecy or a movement because 'we just don't see it in the scripture'. This doesn't mean that it's not there in the bible somewhere, just that we don't see it!

There is a lot in the bible that we don't see if we were humble enough to admit it.

God is not seeking those whose doctrine is right, but those whose heart is right. None of our doctrine is completely right, when you get down to it. Compared to revelations yet to come it can't really measure up because there is so much more of the word yet to be revealed. The book is still mostly sealed to us, (and this is not just the book of Daniel, but the entire bible.)

But if you can come before His throne He'll give you what you need to know and His grace is sufficient. It is the faith to believe and the ability to obey Him.

Sometimes we know in part because He only reveals in part. The 5 blind men who studied the elephant each came away with a different description. Their disagreement is like a lot of our doctrinal squabbles. Based on our pride. Who can know all about God?

These 5 blind men have one common failing. In their pride they forgot they were blind. There was a limitation on what they could know and comprehend..

Thence the squabbles among us in our last day Laodicean Church . Or do we only think that the others are Laodicean? We need to admit that we are the Laodiceans, especially those of us with prophetic or intercessory gifts. This alone will pave the way for intercessory repentance. We need to admit being Laodicean before we can repent of being Laodicean.

Part II.
I have been aware of the New Wine outpouring since early spring of 94 and partaking of it since Sep 94.

Only recently have I really dealt with any critics of the New Wine, or New Wind, on a personal level. Specifically I refer to the writings of Andrew Strom found on his Web site, the New Zealand Revival Bulletin. I read a lot of his material but it really didn't sink in till I had a long conversation with a brother from Indiana named John Webster. Then the next morning the Lord gave me the above thoughts about cycles of mercy and judgment. Till then I guess I just couldn't comprehend what they were getting at. It gradually dawned on me that these brothers actually believe that the New Wine is a deception! And from this, following along in logical order, that it is of the devil, and those involved are false teachers and false prophets! And all this leading to some pretty serious charges! And this from spirit filled brothers! (Our ultra conservative brothers said pretty much the same things about speaking in tongues, prophesying etc.)

Then the second day after my talk with John Webster, the Lord showed me that it was because of a stumbling block! These brothers have been offended! ["A brother offended is harder to be won than a strong city: and their contentions are like the bars of a castle." (Proverbs 18:19)]

The New Wine has been a stumbling block and rock of offense to some Christians because it does not meet their expectations of what Revival is to be like. This is exactly the same kind of problem the Jews have in receiving the gospel. "But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumbling block, and unto the Greeks foolishness;" (1 Corinthians 1:23) It is a stumbling block to the Jews that Messiah should have to suffer and die. This was a case of God revealing Himself in a manner that they did not expect, doing things they could not understand. It was an offense to their national pride. So they could not accept Jesus as having been sent by God. Even his closest disciples couldn't see it till He opened the word to them on the road to Emmaus. [Luke 24:13-32]

So some of our brothers are offended because expectations are not being met. Just a the Jews expected Messiah to restore the Kingdom to Israel, many of us are expecting an awesome holiness revival like we see in history. This has not yet happened. [Pensacola excepted.] And so frustration and rejection come forth; but it's only rooted in pride.

The Awesome Holiness aspect of God is yet to manifest in this move. This will likely come as the judgments come. "The LORD is known [revealed] by the judgment which he executeth: …. (Psalms 9:16)

This is not the only stumbling block facing us today. The idea that Messiah must suffer and die is a stumbling block to the Jews. So also is the idea that Christians must suffer and die a stumbling block to the Church. Yet, as the Lord has clearly shown me, this is the price that must be paid in order to remove the veil of spiritual blindness on today's Laodicean Church.

Recall that the Laodicean Church which receives the sternest rebuke from the Lord also receives the greatest promises. "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches." (Revelation 3:21-22) "And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death." (Revelation 12:11)

Bill Somers Prophetic Vision

Can You Hear What The Spirit Is Saying?
Chip Brogden

"And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left (Isaiah 30:21)."

God desires to confound us that we may learn to listen to Him. Before we are confounded by the Lord we are dogmatic and sure of what we believe, but now we are not so sure. Before we could hear the Lord and follow His direction, but now we hear little or nothing at all. Before we were sure of our direction and calling, but now we wonder if perhaps we were mistaken. What is happening? The Lord is confounding us. He is teaching us what it means to walk by the Spirit.

What has happened up until now is we have been led by our feelings. Indeed, God uses our feelings to lead us when we are children. But now He desires our faith to grow, and to accomplish this end He will lead us into unfamiliar territory and teach us to listen to Him. Whatever plans or formulas or programs we used to ascertain God's will in days past will be fruitless during this time. We expect the Lord to do such and such, but He does not do so. We expect to feel a certain way, but we no longer have those feelings. We expect to have a certain encounter with God as in days gone by, but God seems to hide His face from us.

Is the Lord indeed hiding Himself? Is He abandoning us to our own way and refusing to speak to us anymore? No indeed, but He wishes us to rely wholly upon Him and not upon our senses and feelings, even if in times past He used our feelings.

With respect to God's Voice and guidance, as a child we learn to listen and God does lead us along as little sheep. He has to tell us every little thing: go here, say this, don't say that, take this course, be still, etc. He will give us such a sense of His Presence as to make us feel as though we are walking on air. His direction is clear and unmistakable. Children cannot be led otherwise.

After awhile, if we are hungering and thirsting for righteousness, we will begin to mature. Now God begins to wean us from the life of feeling and delicious spiritual experiences. Such times occur with less frequency as we grow older. When we ask for guidance it does not come so easily. Now we have to wait, and we are not used to waiting. We begin to wonder where we have gone wrong, and why we don't enjoy the keen sense of His Presence as we did before. Perhaps we will pray more, or become busier in our spiritual disciplines, in an attempt to recapture some of those feelings we used to enjoy, and sometimes we are rewarded with the coveted feeling. Most of the time we are not. No amount of prayer, fasting, or spiritual activity will bring the feelings back. We do not hear the crystal clear Voice of God as we did before.

How easily in days gone by we would declare, "The Lord spoke to me" thus and so; but today we do not so easily make the bold confession. Instead, we wonder why we cannot hear from God. We search our heart to see if there is some unconfessed sin, but our heart does not condemn us. We are at a loss to explain what is happening.

A Christian faced with this situation should realize that children are led by God in a childish way, but as a mature believer the Lord will lead them in a mature way. Over time we are expected to know God's WAYS as well as His WILL. When we know the ways of the Lord we will speak and move in harmony with His Spirit without having to consciously stop and ask for guidance, wait for a warm feeling or tingling sensation, and then proceed.

When we first become aware of spiritual things we are so excited at being able to have a dialogue with God that we tend to expect everything to be audible or unmistakable from that point forward. If we first met God in the fire from heaven, or in the mighty rushing wind, we expect everything to be fire and wind from henceforth. This is simply not the case. When the Lord appears to us in dazzling white, we, like the disciples, attempt to build Him a tabernacle and remain there, but Jesus does not always appear to us with shining face, bathed in light.

It reminds me of the cobbler who was praying one morning when the Lord spoke to him and said, "I will come to your shop today". The cobbler was disappointed when no one appeared but an old man, a tramp, and a child. At the end of the day the cobbler cried, "Lord, why didn't you visit my shop today, as you promised?" Then the Lord showed him how He had indeed come not once, but three times. It was just not as the cobbler expected.

As a general rule, the Lord will use extraordinary, even miraculous means to lead us when we are children, but when we are older in Him and have some experience with His ways then He expects us to rely more upon the Spirit and less upon some sensation or powerful experience. That does not preclude the Lord from moving upon us in a tangible way from time to time, only that is not His usual method for leading the mature ones. The older one becomes in the Lord the more intuitive one becomes. Everything is not cut and dry. With a clear word from God or supernatural sensation we advance with boldness, but when it is a still small voice or conscience or an impression or no guidance whatsoever, we will be less impulsive and more deliberate with each step. We will wait upon the Lord longer. We will be less confident in ourselves, and more dependent on the Lord. This dependency breeds humility.

We eventually learn that we cannot reduce God to a formula, and we can never be certain where or how He may be speaking to us in a particular situation. We learn to look for faint traces of Spirit in common, ordinary vessels and in our daily lives, instead of the mighty rushing wind at the believer's meetings.

One way the God-Man reveals Himself to us, of all ways, is not in a glorious vision or supernatural event, but in the pages of this thing we call the Bible. Imagine that. How odd. A book. Why not just appear to the one who seeks Him and speak face to face. No! Why? It would kill us. It would absolutely blow us away to be confronted with the Real Jesus, because the Jesus we have come to believe in is a fairy tale, a jolly elf, a fantasy character. The Bible prepares us for Him, does it not? Using types, shadows, stories, just to whet your appetite and get you accustomed to Him and His dealings so you are not totally shocked when you do meet Him.

How flippantly we just pick up the Word and skim through our favorite verses and say "ho hum". We haven't met the Lord. We haven't touched the God of the Word. How can we do that? Because the Bible is, outwardly speaking, so ordinary. Nothing high-tech about it. It seems so innocuous, so innocent. But it is the primary introduction we have to meeting the Man, the God-Man. Absolutely brilliant, this plan of God.

We know that God speaks to us through the Bible. As spiritual babes we may take the dogmatic position of saying that is the ONLY way God speaks to us today. As a result, our field of vision is limited to the written text and we miss the millions of other ways God desires to get through to us. Obviously the written Word is critical, for it gives us an objective criterion against which our subjective spiritual experiences may be measured. Without the objectivity of God's written Word we would all be tossed to and fro by every spiritual experience, false prophet, and false teaching.

Even so, let us not limit God by saying He will only speak to us through the Bible. What is the Bible, but a record of God's speaking to men and women across a span of many generations through a variety of means? We have audible voices, angels, visions, dreams, prophetic words, signs and wonders, judgments and natural disasters all represented in the Bible as ways in which God sought to communicate with men. These communications were written down in order to provide us with a permanent record. Finally, God sent His Son, Jesus Christ, to communicate with us face to face, and the record of these encounters were documented and placed in the Bible as well. Then, the letters of the apostles to the churches were copied and made a part of the sacred text.

There is yet another record and testimony of Jesus Christ that was present before the Bible even came into existence, and it still exists today. I am talking about the testimony of Creation itself. The Bible tells us that the heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament shows His handiwork. It says that through Jesus Christ, God formed the worlds, and that the whole creation is waiting for the manifestation of the sons of God (the Church). The fingerprints of God are everywhere in the starry black depths of outer space, in the polar ice caps of virgin white snow, in the watery depths of the Pacific, in the breathtaking heights of the Alps. His design can be seen under the microscope and through the telescope, from the intricacy of the spider web to the rings around Saturn.

Additionally, God speaks to us through other people. I don't necessarily mean preachers, teachers, and writers, but ordinary people, common people. Relatives, as well as strangers. Children in particular. God speaks to me through my own children, and through my wife. He speaks to me through my critics, and through my friends, through people I like, and through people I don't like. Sometimes it is hard to hear Him speaking through ordinary people, but His echo is unmistakable if we learn how to listen.

God constantly speaks to us through our environment, our difficult circumstances. Whenever we encounter a difficulty, when things do not go as expected, instead of rebuking the devil, let us stop and ask, "What might the Lord be speaking to me in this situation?" Perhaps you are facing a contrary wind because you are sailing the wrong direction. We must learn to discern between the assault of the enemy and the hand of the Lord.

Jesus would constantly say, "He that has an ear, let him hear." The Lord does indeed speak to us in many ways that are often overlooked. Let us ask the Lord for a hearing ear and a receptive heart. Amen.

The Work God Blesses
Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/

"And God blessed Noah and his sons, and said to them, 'Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth'" (Genesis 9:1).

Every man and woman has a work assigned to them by God. This becomes their purpose, their reason for being on the earth, their calling, their destiny. Abraham had an assignment for his life, as did Joseph. Moses was called to perform a specific life-task. David had a destiny. So did Daniel, Jeremiah, and all the prophets. Esther was raised up "for such a time as this." John the Baptist fulfilled a definite role, as did Peter and John. Paul had a purpose, a reason for being.

Only a few of these people realized what their work was. Most of them were like you and me: we only come into an awareness of our purpose slowly. Everything seems ordinary and mundane; we feel like there is nothing special about us, no calling we could possibly fulfill. Moses is a striking example. The first forty years of his life were spent learning how to be a prince of Egypt. The next forty years of his life were spent in the desert, unlearning everything he had been taught. It seemed like a huge waste of a life. When God sent him back to Egypt at the age of eighty, Moses still did not understand or appreciate the full extent of what God was calling him to do. Neither did the Hebrews. But now we understand that God had a purpose for him all along.

Or look at Joseph. At an early age he senses God's call on his life for something special. But things do not go the way he expects them to go (things seldom do). His brothers first seek to kill him, but then settle for selling him to the slave-traders. His situation improves for awhile, but then he is framed for something he did not do and gets thrown into the dungeon. As the years slipped away Joseph must have believed he'd made a mistake when he thought he heard from God. But when we see the final result everything makes perfect sense. God used those experiences to shape and mold his character, and to prepare him for the work he was called to do.

And consider Noah. In Genesis 9:1 we see that God blessed Noah and his sons. The blessing of the Lord means divine favor and approval. How do you feel when someone ELSE gets blessed? Are you happy for them? Envious? Frustrated? All we see is the end result - but we do not see all the labor, the sweat, the tears, the pain, the struggle, the misunderstanding, the confusion, the dark nights, all the things that person has endured in order to have the blessing of the Lord. I am not saying the blessing is something we can earn through self-effort; but the blessing of the Lord is the benefit of fulfilling the work He has called us to do.

In this writing we will look at the life of Noah, learn the universal principles behind the work that God blesses, and apply those principles to our lives as well. They are not complicated principles, but very, very simple. I pray they will encourage and strengthen all of us to persevere in whatever situation the Lord has placed us.

A HERITAGE OF WALKING WITH GOD

The story of Noah begins over four hundred years before he was born. The Scriptures tell us that Noah's great-great grandfather was Enoch. We know Enoch was a man who walked with God and suddenly disappeared, for God took him. Exactly what that means we can only speculate, but this much is clear: Enoch had a close relationship with the Lord.

Enoch was also a prophet. Jude 14, in the New Testament, records one of his prophecies of a future judgment. But a little closer to his own time, Enoch perceived that the Lord was about to execute judgment on the earth. So when Enoch had a son he named him "Methuselah." You remember Methuselah is the oldest person in the Bible, living to the ripe old age of 969. The name "Methuselah" has prophetic significance. Most Bible reference books give the meaning as "dart man" or "man of the spear". A less frequently found definition is of Chaldean origin and means something a little more intriguing: "at his death, the sending forth." The sending forth of what?

Perhaps that makes no sense to us - until we use the chronology provided to us in Genesis 5. All the generations of Noah are given to us with the exact time frames in which they lived and died. Enoch had a son named Methuselah, Methuselah had a son named Lamech, and Lamech had a son named Noah. When we do the calculations from Enoch to Noah, we find that Noah finished building the ark the same year his grandfather Methuselah died, just in time for the "sending forth" of a great flood - exactly 969 years after Enoch said that it would come.

So this judgment had been building for nearly a millennium. Enoch knew it was coming. Certainly Methuselah knew. Presumably Lamech knew. But none of them were called to build the ark. That work was reserved for Noah. And even then, he was five hundred years old before God revealed His purpose for Noah. Think about it: Noah walked with God for five hundred years before God gave him the plans for building the ark. If the man is not right then the plans are not right; but after five hundred years of relationship-building, the Lord finally said, "Now I can trust you to do the work I have called you to do. The survival of all life on earth depends on it." What an awesome responsibility!

THE LORD BLESSES US TO BE A BLESSING

That brings us to the first principle: the work that God blesses is bigger than us. The ark was not Noah's private little retreat. It was not his personal little ministry, his private little vision. Of course, Noah and his family were beneficiaries of the work, but the purpose of the ark was to preserve all living things. Otherwise, Noah would have built a much smaller vessel.

When the Lord gives us a work to do it will be bigger than ourselves. The size of a person's heart may be judged by the size of their work. By size I do not mean numerical or financial strength. I mean this: is the work larger than the person working? Is it fulfilling a purpose far greater than the people involved? I say this because I am convinced that most churches exist only because the pastor needs a place to preach. Entire ministries are created to give some man or woman an audience. What a tragedy that is. Yesterday I drove past a little building that calls itself a church. The church was named after the presiding elder: "Smith Apostolic Church" (not the real name, but a true story). Such work fulfills nothing of eternal significance, it only meets the self-serving needs and aspirations of the person leading it.

The work that God blesses is not merely for our own personal benefit, but for the benefit of the Body of Christ, for the Kingdom of God. Our vision must carry us beyond ourselves; our vision must survive us. The only vision that is bigger than ourselves is Christ. If our vision is Christ then we are building upon an eternal foundation, and the Lord will bless that labor. Noah carried the Messiah in his loins - the ark was meant to preserve not just physical life, but a spiritual lineage. Thus, it was bigger than Noah, and the Lord blessed the work.

THE LORD BLESSES WHAT WE CANNOT DO ON OUR OWN

The second principle is closely related to the first, and it is this: the work that God blesses is beyond our ability to do on our own. In other words, if I can do it all by myself, then I do not need the blessing of the Lord. I can simply call upon my natural talent, experience, and skill to do what needs to be done. Now, work done in this manner may or may not be successful, but irregardless, it is MY work; it is not the Lord's work, and it does not enjoy the blessing of the Lord.

The Lord delights to place us in impossible situations. Noah was no shipbuilder. Yet God calls him to do the very thing he cannot do and gives him specific and detailed plans for doing it. The sheer size and scope of the work is astounding. First, Noah is to build a boat. Not just a little fishing boat, but a floating fortress with three levels in it. The Living Bible gives the dimensions as 450 feet long, 75 feet wide, and 45 feet high. Nothing this large had ever been constructed. The project would take one hundred years to complete. But the most amazing thing about this huge boat is that it was built on dry land. The Bible says Noah had faith (cf. Hebrews 11:7)!

But building the ark was only part of the work. After the ark was complete, there was the issue of bringing every sort of animal and bird into the boat. In the movies you see the animals streaming towards the ark of their own accord while Noah looks on in amazement. Perhaps that is the way it happened. Yet the Scripture says that the Lord told Noah to go get them and bring them into the ark (cf. Genesis 6:19). He had to go and gather them. How does one go about gathering one male and one female of every kind of animal in the world? And with some species God said to get seven pairs!

Then there is the matter of food. The Lord told Noah to gather samples of every kind of food that is eaten (cf. Genesis 6:21). The food was for feeding his family and all the animals, but it was also for future planting. Today we have fruits, vegetables, nuts, and grains because Noah somehow managed to find them all and store them in the ark. Now I ask: is it humanly possible to do all the things Noah did? Can someone with no experience build a boat that large? Can an ordinary person gather together every kind of beast, bird, and bug? Can anyone gather together every kind of food in the world, and store it? The Bible says, "Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he" (Genesis 6:22). When God asks us to do the impossible, we can ask for, and expect to receive, the blessing of the Lord on our work. He will show us what to do, and He will enable us to do it.

THE LORD BLESSES OBEDIENCE, NOT ORIGINALITY

The third and final principle is this: the work that God blesses is originated by God Himself. This is one of the most important lessons we can learn. I spent many years creating and executing my own plans, asking the Lord to bless them. One day I understood that instead of always trying to get the Lord to bless what I wanted to do, it was much simpler to find out what the Lord wanted to bless, and simply do THAT. Instead of trying to get God to come down to my level and do what I wanted, it was far better to come onto the Lord's ground and do what He wanted. Great synergy and blessing is released when we simply cooperate with what God has already purposed to do. Heaven backs us up with tremendous power and authority. Instead of trying to make something happen, I simply flow in a current that already exists. The Lord will deny no request that is in agreement with what He Himself has originated.

Noah could expect the blessing of the Lord on his work because he was simply carrying out what the Lord had already determined to do. It is so much easier this way. Often the greatest hindrance to the best is the good. The greatest hindrance to Isaac is Ishmael. There are many good things we can create, many good things we can do. But only one thing is needed (cf. Luke 10:42). We have to discover the "one thing," and we only discover it when we are seated at the feet of Jesus. When we are only motivated by what JESUS needs, not what MAN needs and not what we think WE need, then we are on the path of continual and perpetual blessing.

Noah walked with God, and Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord (cf. Genesis 6:8,9). It took five hundred years of walking with God, but Noah found grace, and that made it all worthwhile. Let us learn to do nothing apart from this amazing grace. It is better to wait five hundred years for grace than to work for five minutes without it. What is grace? I teach people that Grace is a Man. Amazing Grace is simply Jesus living in me, doing what I cannot do. It does not matter if "what I cannot do" is save myself, overcome sin, love my neighbor, or build an ark. "For by Grace (Jesus) are you saved through faith (trusting Jesus to do what you cannot do); and that not of yourselves: it (He) is the Gift of God" (Ephesians 2:8). I am insufficient; but His Grace (Jesus) is sufficient. His Grace (Jesus) is more than enough. His Grace (Jesus) is Infinite Supply! But "without Me you can do nothing" (cf. John 15:5b).

Be encouraged. The Lord has a purpose for you, and a destiny for you to fulfill. But things will not always go the way you think they should. That is because the Lord calls you to something bigger than yourself, something beyond your ability, something you cannot originate or perpetuate without Him. It takes time. Noah walked with God for five hundred years and spent one hundred years building the ark. Abraham was one hundred years old before he finally saw God's promise come true. Moses spent forty years in Egypt, then forty years in the desert, before God sent him to Pharaoh. Jesus prepared thirty years for an earthly ministry of three and a half years. Dear brother, dear sister: walk with God. Find Grace. Discover the One Thing. Focus on being, not doing. And when it IS time for you to do something you can be confident that your labor of love will be the work that God blesses. Amen.

Cast Your Net On the Other Side of the Boat

James W Goll

December 19, 2005

Taking a Fresh Look at John 21: 1 - 11:

> "After these things, Jesus manifested Himself again to the disciples at the Sea of Tiberias, and He manifested Himself in this way.
> "Simon Peter, Thomas called Didymus, Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two others of His disciples were together. Simon Peter said to them, 'I am going fishing.' They said to him, 'We will also come with you.' They went out and got into the boat; and that night they caught nothing.
> "But when the day was now breaking, Jesus stood on the beach; yet the disciples did not know that it was Jesus. So Jesus said to them, 'Children, you do not have any fish, do you?' They answered Him, 'No.' And He said to them, 'Cast the net on the right-hand side of the boat, and you will find a catch.' So they cast, and then, they were not able to haul it in because of the great number of fish. Therefore, that disciple whom Jesus loved said to Peter, 'It is the Lord.' So when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put his outer garment on (for he was stripped for work), and threw himself into the sea. But the other disciples came in the little boat, for they were not far from the land, but about one hundred yards away, dragging the net full of fish.
> "So when they got out onto the land, they saw a charcoal fire already laid and fish placed on it and bread. Jesus said to them, 'Bring some of the fish which you have now caught.' Simon Peter went up and drew the net to land, full of large fish, a hundred and fifty-three; and although there were so many, the net was not torn."

What Time Is It? Seven Key Points from John 21

What time is it anyway? Using John 21 as our focal point, the following are some key prophetic teaching points to help us discern the times in which we live.

- It's Time for the Night to be Over.
- It's Time for Jesus to Manifest Himself.
- It's Time to Cast your Net on the Right Side.
- It's Time to Change Garments.
- It's Time to Throw Yourself into His Presence and Purposes.
- It's Time for Nets that will Work.
- It's Time for the Lord to Go Before Us.
- It's Time for the Catch to be Preserved.

The Nine M's--A Fresh Emphasis for a New Day

It is always time for greater intimacy with God and to give away to others what we have already received. But with the concept of discerning new wine skins to contain the new wine--the Holy Spirit is emphasizing the following nine M's in our day.

Matrix of Relationships
Mercy Ministries
Ministry Training Centers
Mighty Stream of Prayer releasing His Presence

Miracle Manifestations Marketplace Anointings
Media Mania

Middle East Emphasis
Missions Outreach

Relevant Shifts for Radical Change

Do you want to be relevant in a time when "churchianity" instead of "abandoned authentic Christianity" seems to be the rule of the day? If so, then posture yourself, your family, business, ministry and congregation to include the following shifts so that a radical change can come forth. Let the relevant shifts take place so that the "new" may emerge!

- New Voices
- New Thinking
- New Sounds
- New Aims
- New Models
- New Locations
- New Ethnic Diversity
- New Possibilities

Characteristics of a Box Breaking Generation

There is a generation that will arise that will do the double. Jesus said, "Greater works than these shall you do." Elisha carried a double portion of the anointing that rested on the Elijah generation that went before him. It has happened before, and it will again. The following are some of the characteristics that a "Box Breaking Generation" will exhibit:

- Zeal and Humility
- Companies and Teams--Gender Inclusive
- Accountability with Relational Care
- Fatherhood Empowered
- Diversities of Giftings and Anointings
- Increased Power and Accuracy
- Clarified Target

It's time to get Jesus in our boats! But when He gets there, He will speak change! He will tell us to cast our nets on the other side of the boat. Are you ready for something new? Then prayerfully consider the points listed above. Ask the Lord what it means to cast your net on the other side of the boat, and go fishing with Jesus!

Door To My Presence
Sandy Warner

Jun 8, 2005
DOORTO MY PRESENCE
You are standing in the threshold of a doorway of many opportunities. This door is surrounded by many enemies. Learn to overcome this distraction and labor to enter into deeper places of intimacy with Me. The door is open to My tangible Presence as often as you enter through worship. My Presence will wash you at the moment you call. Once you find this door, you will experience great comfort. I shall draw you as you learn to abide in fellowship in deeper and more passionate levels.

It is your focus the enemy desires. With this in mind, I have provided a stronger canopy in worship warfare that involves new expressions of worship accompanied by My tangible Presence. I will be bring My tangible Presence into meetings in greater dimensions as the corporate worship soars to higher levels. This will provide an awesome canopy for those in attendance, along with new authority in prayer over their regions.

1 Cor 16:8-9 NKJV
But I will tarry in Ephesus until Pentecost. For a great and effective door has opened to me, and there are many adversaries.

Ps 23:5-6 NKJV
You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies ; You anoint my head with oil; My cup runs over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me All the days of my life; And I will dwell in the house of the LORD Forever.

Despised Turned To Honor

DESPISED TURNED TO HONOR
Those of you who were given My hidden pearls and were sent before your time, you suffered great persecution at the hands of your enemies and the judgments of men. My precious ones, so much shame and dishonor you have suffered from the establishments of religion, - stubborn mind-sets and the demonic! You retreated and went into hiding to lay low before Me. I have used your time in the prison of obscurity to further hone you and even keep you until the time that your gifts would no longer be before your time.

I have turned the tide for you, My precious and rare vessels of dishonor. What you have held in greatest regard is now being received and honored by others as the rarest of treasures. They too have joined your heart and know the difference between the holy and the profane. Search for them and find the hungry ones who listen. You shall know them. Walk carefully and circumspectly out of prison and you shall find that it will go well with you.

Deut 6:18-19 NKJV
And you shall do what is right and good in the sight of the LORD, that it may be well with you, and that you may go in and possess the good land of which the LORD swore to your fathers, to cast out all your enemies from before you, as the LORD has spoken.

Don’t Wince And Don’t Mince

DON'T WINCE AND DON'T MINCE
Every sent one must pass through My spotlight and separate their need to be endorsed and validated with man's approval. This is something every sent-one needs to walk through until they are dead in that area. You have to be so pure in giving My Word that you don't wince and don't mince what I AM saying with mixture, due to your own needs. Your own needs for fellowship must be separated. I know how hard that is, because I have created you to need friendship. I understand your frustration, but lay this down before Me and let Me wash you, as I candle your motives and bring you into My pure flow. Then what you will say will be said with great love and purity.

John 5:44 NLT
No wonder you can't believe! For you gladly honor each other, but you don't care about the honor that comes from God alone.

Matt 6:1 NLT
"Take care! Don't do your good deeds publicly, to be admired, because then you will lose the reward from your Father in heaven.

Joshua My Chosen
Sandy Warner

Jun 12, 2005
JOSHUA MY CHOSEN
Joshua stands before those who walk with Me.
Slimed and soiled from demonic activity.
The enemy accuses both day and night
Heaping garbage and filth into the light.

My chosen faced the fire of hells furied flames.
Dark fingers pointing and casting the blame.
Not a word did he speak in his own defense
Embracing his failures with deep repentance.

Is this not My brand plucked from the fire
Burning from coals of his deepest desires?
It never was about his own performance.
Casting shadows and a mixture of nuance.

Naked and stripped of all that was flesh

His heart and soul having been threshed.
It is the Lord Your God that pounds His gavel.
No more shame he's beginning to unravel.

Wash him off with the blood of My Son.
Poured out for him in great victory won.
Stand him in garments of linen white.
Let nothing soil and let nothing blight.

He's washed and pure, with forgiveness complete
Standing among men with great counsel of seat.
Signs and wonders from ruling thrones above
These my holy ones, walk with My dove.

Take your place Joshua, and keep My charge.
Walk in My Presence with authority enlarged.
Receive the jewel that was promised you
Rare and treasured among only a few.

Seven eyes pierce the mantle on our shoulders
My Spirit rests upon you, witnessed by elders.
Wisdom and counsel, understanding from light
Knowledge is given and My Spirit of might.

You have learned to walk in the fear of Your Lord.
Knowing the stripes and bruises of Whom you adore.
Let no man touch thee lest he die from the fear
Of opposing My holy one who walks with Me near.

Now walk worthy of what has been given to you.
The power of might and wisdom too.
Your counsel will be sought by many undeserved.
Your feet will take you to whom I would serve.

For you shall not judge by what you see
But only from what you hear and see from Me.
I AM the righteous Who defends the poor.
Granting justice for the meek whose hearts are torn.

Declare My Word with the sword from your lips.
Bloody from the pain of a heart once ripped.
Slay the demonic rebels who defy My voice
Having clearly denied and making their choice.

Those demons do cower at what you speak
They tremble hearing secrets from what is leaked.
Righteousness and faithfulness wrap your waist.
The honey flows, pouring from what you taste.

Dear Joshua, My son, My beloved.
The one whom I have given My covenant.
Obey My Word and walk with Me
Into your inheritance, your destiny.

Zech 3:1-5 NKJV Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the Angel of the LORD, and Satan standing at his right hand to oppose him. And the LORD said to Satan, "The LORD rebuke you, Satan! The LORD who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is this not a brand plucked from the fire?" Now Joshua was clothed with filthy garments, and was standing before the Angel. Then He answered and spoke to those who stood before Him, saying, "Take away the filthy garments from him." And to him He said, "See, I have removed your iniquity from you, and I will clothe you with rich robes." And I said, "Let them put a clean turban on his head." So they put a clean turban on his head, and they put the clothes on him. And the Angel of the LORD stood by.

Teach Your Children To Pray

TEACH YOUR CHILDREN TO PRAY
Dear ones, pray, pray, pray. Pray about anything and everything. The moment you hear a heart in distress, expressing mounting stress… pray. As often as you pray about the little things, it keeps them from growing into bigger things. And as often as you pray with and over your children, it teaches them how to pray, when to pray, and always to pray. Talk to Me and lean upon Me in everything and teach your children to do the same.

1 Sam 12:22-24 NKJV
For the LORD will not forsake His people, for His great name's sake, because it has pleased the LORD to make you His people. Moreover, as for me, far be it from me that I should sin against the LORD in ceasing to pray for you; but I will teach you the good and the right way.

Dismantling To Remantle

Jeremy Lopez

July 12, 2005
"I am Dismantling the Old To Remantle with the New"

"This is the time of great awakening of My people. I will begin to remove the chaff and the dross of the negative things that have been spoken over you. I will start a cutting away of the lies that have risen against you. You will begin to see spiritual warfare around you like you have never seen before. Their will be songs of deliverance beginning to be sung over those who have cried out in desperation to see a change in their life. You will start hearing the prophets once more declare that war time has come! This shall be a sound of war not for the battle of flesh and blood but the battle for balance and truth for My people.

The remantling is coming to My church. I will begin to dismantle you of old mindsets and old denominational ways that you have held onto for safety. I will have no other Gods before Me that you are putting your safety and trust in! For I am your Hightower of safety. Put your trust only in Me. For I will have the attention and trust of My people! For I am truth and the way to divine life. Their is no wavering nor shadow of turning in Me that would ever lead you astray. For I am that I am!

The hurricane is coming! Oh yes, the hurricane is coming; to bring about the rain and the wind of My glory to the nations of the earth! Once more you will see great waves of power begin to flood throughout My church. For I will arise as a Mighty Man of war to conquer the "ites" that have declare war against you. Have I not said that the battle is Mine says the Lord!

You will start seeing glimpses of the Lion of the tribe of in visions and dreams once more. For the roar is beginning to be heard again throughout My church.

My people, you have lost your excitement and expectation for My presence in the house of the Lord but I will restore all that the cankerworm and the locust has stolen from you. You will begin to see the banners being lifted once more declaring that THE FIRE IS HERE, THE FIRE IS HERE! For the fire that started to burn in Toronto, Ontario was just a taste of My presence of what is to come. For I will have a people that shall be undone."

Dreams and Callings

Bayo Omoyiola, jr.

scroll_of_david@yahoo.com

Have you ever thought that your dreams could be your calling? Yea, it could be. If it is not it could have something to do with it.

At the age of 17 Joseph dreamt of greatness and those 2 dreams he dreamt where really tied to God’s calling for his life.

What is your dream? What are you dreaming of? What is your desire? What is that thing in you that burns your heart? It could lead you to the fulfillment of God’s purpose and calling upon your life.

Think about it. Develop it. It could lead you to that place called destiny. Some people never heard God calling them to a particular office, ministry or another but they had this great torque in them that drove them and they believed they had found their calling. So my question is - what is that great thing in you that gives you so much joy and happiness? It may be your calling. You have so much passion for it and you don’t struggle with it. Check it out. That may be your calling. For indeed your dreams are tied to your calling and your passion is also tied to it

Dream About Great Britain

Kathy Bippus

Aug 16, 2005
Last night I had this dream and then the word of the Lord came to me saying..

I saw the British flag, which when I seen it, it was as though there was a joining together with America and that joining represented freedom. And so I saw freedom for Great Britain. I then seen a large host. They were an army of heavenly hosts. I heard a sound of the beating of a drum, but the drum was the sound of loud clapping of multitudes of hands making one sound. This army of heavenly hosts were then stomping their feet. Lifting one leg to the sound and stomping on the last note and then repeating it with the other leg. I knew this was a war dance. I awoke I can still very distinctly remember the sound

A freedom coming to Britain. The stage has been set, the Lord of hosts has called forth His army to make war with the opposition over Britain. The sound, a declaration of freedom. For many have cried and travailed for her, she that has been clothed in darkness. Rejoice!, you that have sat in darkness, for you shall see a great Light. For I remember the seeds sown out of you to the nations, those that have fallen to the ground and died. They had sown their life for My sake, the sake of the gospel. The planting brings forth much fruit. I have not forgotten their labor nor have I forgotten you. Great Britain, Great Britain, you have squandered in ashes. As a cloak covers the light, so I have hid Myself from you for a little while. But today I call you to rejoice! For your light has come. A recompense of reward for the lives and prayers of seed sown. I visit you with grace, with liberty and freedom. Proclaim to all that will hear, this is the day of My visitation and run with enjoined hands to preach the message of Jesus Christ, for this is your hour, this is your day of great grace.

This passage of scripture came me, I believe it is for Britain, to be declared and decreed over her.....Luke 1:67-79 ` And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel; for He has visited and redeemed His people, and has raised up an horn of salvation for us in the house of David; As spake by the mouth of His holy prophets, which have been since the world began: That we should be saved from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us; To perform the mercy promised to our fathers, and to remember His holy covenant; The oath which He sware to our father Abraham, That He would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve Him without fear, In holiness and righteousness before Him, all the days of our life. And thou, child, shall be called the prophet of the Highest: for thou shall go before the face of the Lord to prepare His ways; To give knowledge of salvation unto His people for the remission of sins, Through the tender mercy of our God; whereby the Dayspring from on high has visited us, to give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.'

Love in Christ, Kathy

Dagon's Last Stand

by Bill Somers

A look at the incident with the Philistine god Dagon as a type of Satan, and what happens to him.

> When the Philistines took the ark of God, they brought it into the house of Dagon, and set it by Dagon.
> And when they of Ashdod arose early on the morrow, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of the LORD. And they took Dagon, and set him in his place again.
> And when they arose early on the morrow morning, behold, Dagon was fallen upon his face to the ground before the ark of the LORD; and the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off upon the threshold; only the stump of Dagon was left to him.
> Therefore neither the priests of Dagon, nor any that come into Dagon's house, tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod unto this day. 1 Sam 5:2-5

Let's get right to the point. The story of the Ark of God in the temple of Dagon is typical of the Incarnation, the Coming of the Lord. The first day that the ark resided in the temple speaks of the First coming of Jesus and the second day speaks of the Second Coming. Let's look at a few points.

A. As the Ark came down from Israel, Jesus came down from Heaven.

> The land of the Philistines was along the sea coast to the west of the hill country where the Israelites lived. For the Ark to travel from its home with the children of Israel to reach the Philistines, it had to go down. Down from Israel to the Coast.

B. It came into the land of the Philistines; likewise Jesus came to dwell among men.

> And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, …. (John 1:14)

C. The ark entered Dagon's temple; Jesus entered Satan's kingdom..

D. And Dagon fell upon his face before the ark; And Satan was defeated.

> …. Behold, the LORD rideth upon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt: and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, ….. Isaiah 19:1
> And unclean spirits, when they saw him, fell down before him, ….. Mark 3:11
> And he said unto them, I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven. Luke 10:18

E. They took Dagon and set him in his place. It is man who has given Satan his place.

> Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness? (Romans 6:16)

In case you need to make a connection between idols and demons or unclean spirits, consider the following scripture.

> But I say, that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not to God: …. (1 Corinthians 10:20)

Passover
In Exodus we read of the Lord's judgment against Egypt. At Passover the most important judgment took place. It was a judgment against the people of Egypt and against their gods; their idols. It also took place overnight.

> For I will pass through the land of Egypt this night, and will smite all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both man and beast; and against all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgment: I am the LORD. Exodus 12:12

The Passover is a time that speaks of redemption and judgment. This passage refers to a judgment the Lord carries out at Passover. The first time was at the time of Moses. This instance set the pattern.

The episode with the ark in 1 Samuel concludes with the ark returning to Israel.

> And they of Bethshemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley: and they lifted up their eyes, and saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it. (1 Samuel 6:13)

We know that the wheat harvest takes place about the time of Pentecost, 50 days after Passover, so the time the ark entered Dagon's temple may well have been at or near about the Passover.

The next time is during His first coming, at the Passover when Jesus was crucified. The prince of this world is judged at that point.

> Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. (John 12:31)

It corresponds to Dagon's first falling.

The Next time to come will be the fulfillment of Passover that takes place at the second coming.

This will be the final judgment of the prince of this world, when Satan is stripped of his power [hands] and authority [head]. [If you think I'm hinting at a connection between Passover and the Second Coming, you're right.]

This corresponds to Dagon's second falling over, and losing his head and hands.

After Jesus rose from the dead, we find in Matthew:

> And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. (Matthew 28:18)

But elsewhere we read:

> But to which of the angels said he at any time, Sit on my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool? (Hebrews 1:13)

This is a reference to Psalm 110.

> The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool. Psalms 110:1

Back in Hebrews it says:

> Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. ….. But now we see not yet all things put under him. (Hebrews 2:8)

That is to day even though Satan has fallen he still has power and authority in this world.

How can this be if all power is given unto Jesus? This is because Jesus does not yet exercise this power. But in Revelation chapter 11 we read of a time when He will exercise this power. It comes just after the resurrection of the two witnesses and the sounding of the seventh trumpet.

> And the four and twenty elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell upon their faces, and worshipped God,
> *Saying, We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to come; because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned. (Revelation 11:16-17)

At this time, our proclamation of Our God Reigns takes on a whole new meaning.

F. So the ark stayed overnight in Dagon's temple a second time, and Dagon fell again, this time losing his head and hands. And this points to a second confrontation between Jesus and Satan, after a dark night of judgment, when Satan will lose all power and authority.

Samson
Dagon is mentioned also in Judges 16 where Samson, a type of the end time church, is brought out of prison. The Philistines were celebrating their great victory over Samson by offering a sacrifice to Dagon. But God restored Samson who then destroyed the Temple of Dagon. A foreshadowing of the destruction of Satan's kingdom.

> … the triumphing of the wicked is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment…. (Job 20:5)

The Footstool
We find the following verse in two places in the Bible. It refers to David, a type of Jesus, and thus to Jesus and also to the church.

> Thou hast also given me the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me. 2 Samuel 22:41 and Psalms 18:40

In Joshua there is a passage that details what it means to be given the necks of your enemies. Recall that Joshua is also a type of Jesus.

> And it came to pass, when they brought out those kings unto Joshua, that Joshua called for all the men of Israel, and said unto the captains of the men of war which went with him, Come near, put your feet upon the necks of these kings. And they came near, and put their feet upon the necks of them.
> And Joshua said unto them, Fear not, nor be dismayed, be strong and of good courage: for thus shall the LORD do to all your enemies against whom ye fight. Joshua 10:24-25

So to be given the necks of you enemies means to put them under your feet. Now recall Psalm 110 where it says:

> The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool. Psalms 110:1

This means that getting the necks of your enemies makes them your footstool. When Dagon lost his hands and head, all that was left was a stump. And a stump makes an excellent footstool. The stump of Dagon started just below the head, at the neck, so Dagon's neck became a footstool.

So the Lord will make Satan a footstool for Jesus, who is seated at His right hand.

And His church will share in that final victory. As the Church is His Body, the feet speak of the last part of the Body, or the end time church. The feet that are made clean being washed with tears of repentance, and anointed by worship in his presence.

> How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth! (Isaiah 52:7)
> And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen. (Romans 16:20)

Death and Life In Christ

(Note: These are just the ramblings of a fellow sojourner pursuing oneness with the Creator of the universe).

Some Ramblings on Death & Life In Christ

Interesting, when we are at the place of feeling our greatest weakness. The place of feeling so overwhelmed that it is like we are drowning, is the same time we are positioned for our greatest breakthrough in the Kingdom of heaven.

Do you feel like you are loosing control over your life? Do you feel like you are loosing control over your family, and over your job, and over your relationships with friends.

Good! God is making some progress in your life!

Many of us come so close to a major breakthrough with God, only to pull back at the last minute.

We don't like that feeling of loosing control. We don't like that feeling that we are falling off a cliff not knowing what lies beneath us.

Hey, dying can be really scary and painful, but resurrection in Jesus is awesome! And you can not have one without the other.

I just want to encourage you this morning to take the plunge. Take that step into the unknown. His hands are there to catch you.

It is going to cost you control over your life. It is going to cost you control over others. Control is a major issue the Lord is addressing in many of our lives right now.

Let me encourage you, it is not the one who has it all together that is progressing in the Lord. It is the one who is lying on the floor crying out "help Jesus I can't do it", that is progressing in the Kingdom of Heaven.

So if you feel like you are weak, Rejoice! Be weak but do not sin. Do not surrender to sin in your weakness. Instead surrender to the strength of God. This is a vulnerable place you are in. Brethren we must love and support each other in this place. Not judge and condemn. The only way to learn His strength is to walk in our weakness and to choose His strength over sin. We choose His strength because we love Him and our desire to be with Him is stronger than our desire to sin. When we fail we choose His love over shame and condemnation and this breaks our heart. In the breaking process we learn to trust His love and our love for Him grows. Just keep turning to Him. This is the way out of sin. This is the way that leads towards life.

So if you feel like you are drowning, just go ahead and drown. But do not drown in fear and anxiety. Drown in His love and care for you.

If you feel like you are loosing control, repent that you ever had it in the first place.

If you feel like people will not do what you want them to do. Repent that you were trying to control then instead of loving them.

If you feel like you are dying, die. There is life on the other side of the cross that we are being called to. We have been taking so much time to die because of our selfishness and control and our lack of love and trust. This is painful when we see this about ourselves but even here we must take the focus off of our self and place it on the Lord. For even in dying we can only accomplish it through His grace.

Some might be saying "I don't have time to die, there are too many people who depend on me. I have a ministry and a family and I have to be there for them". Honestly, until we pass to the other side of the cross, we are doing others and the Kingdom of Heaven more harm then good with our meddling. We are not only keeping ourselves from dying but we are propping up others on our self strength and keeping them from dying and finding strength and life in Christ.

You are so close. Do not pull back into your own strength. Do not pull back into your own abilities. Do not pull back into your own understandings. Do not pull back into justifying and rationalizing and feeling good about yourself. There is nothing to feel good about or to find value in self. The only cure for self is for it to die. We do not even know what it is to feel good, to feel joy, until we feel the life of Christ rising up within us. And we realize that we have come from a small confines of the prison of self to a open universe of oneness with it's Creator. No longer alone but now one with all life, all love, all being, all creation, that is summed up in the person of Christ Jesus the Son of God. For more then Jesus becoming our life, we are now a part of His. He has made room for us, prepared a place for us, to enter into oneness with Him. Oh, that we become a part of God. Amazing and Awesome this door Jesus has opened to us with the cross. How can we not enter in. The cost is the death of our self life. The reward is oneness in the Life of Christ Jesus.

We enter into His rest when we surrender control to Him.

Dying to self is not a onetime event but a continual choosing.

The more we die the more of His life we experience.

The more of His life we experience the more we desire to die to self.

Many are so close to a major breakthrough in this process. The process will escalate in your life after this breakthrough.

The battle is in the area of control. Control is a major foothold of the religious spirit. A foothold that is keeping the church from moving forward. The spirit of control is being judged. Control is a prison. Repent of it now and enter into freedom. Freedom of the Life of Christ.

Oh Lord. Forgive us for being so small minded. For attempting to be our own god and a god over others. Break the spirit of control off of our lives. We surrender to You. We surrender control to you and choose you as our God.

Rejoice if you are overwhelmed and feel like you are loosing control of your life. You are in Gods plan for your life. You are on the brink of a major breakthrough. Do not fight to regain control. Instead let it fall and take a plunge into the open hands of God. His hands are waiting for you. One way or another the spirit of control will be broken in your life. Better to lay it down with Gods grace then to have it taken from you.

Oh please pray for me. After writing this I know I am in for a long week. :) There will be a light shining on all of these issue in my own life. Jesus, more of You and less of me.

So be it.

Jesus, Why Teach Us To Wash Feet
Mark Kaphaem

Peter was very confused by Jesus washing his feet. He is not alone. Most of the time when Jesus comes to minister something to us, we don't get it at first. That's the point. He is coming to teach us something that we currently don't get.

When Jesus began to wash Peter's feet he objected. Then when Jesus said he must let Him wash his feet to be apart of him, Peter wanted him to wash his whole body. Peter was blinded by what most often blinds us. He thought this whole foot washing thing was all about him. When Jesus comes to minister to us we often think it is all about us.

There are many things we can learn from Jesus washing our feet if we get our mind off of ourselves.

This morning in prayer I saw the Lords feet. I began to think about foot washing. Hmmm, is it because the feet always get so dirty. Hmmm, is because feet are what take us places. Hmmm, I don't know, I give up Jesus. What is it about washing feet?

The Lord asked me, where are the feet? I said, they are down low.

The Lord said, what position do you have to get in to wash feet? I said, Hmmm, (the light bulb began to come on) I have to get down low.

The Lord said, do you understand now. I said yes Jesus. I have to get down low don't I.

He said yes, if you want to minister in my Kingdom, you have to get down low.

You know, I have been learning another lesson recently.

We don't have to be all about us. Do you know why? It's not our job. That job belongs to Jesus. Jesus is all about us. And He takes His work very seriously. Our job has nothing to do with us. Our job is to be all about Jesus and His Kingdom. Oh, if we can only get that in our head and believe it. We would save ourselves so much fussing around about nothing and actually see the Kingdom of God break through on this Earth.

Lord help us learn to get low. And to trust You to be all about us, while we turn our focus, to be all about You.

Blessing upon Blessing in Jesus,

Mark Kaphaem

Death And Life

DEATH & LIFE
Broken dreams, wounds and sorrows.
Tear stained cheeks facing tomorrows.
So much behind and what is ahead?
For what I have labored now lays dead.

As you look upon the ashes
From death strokes and deep gashes,
Consider it well that with every death
Is newborn life taking first breath.

The grain of wheat must fall to the ground
To plant the crop for what is profound.
Multiplied life and multiplied blessings
Is harvested seed from all that was stressing.

The key to life and abundance in Me
Is to yield your death to My cross on the tree.
As you yield to My will and lay it all down
Tears of joy will replace your frown.

For when you look back on all that occurred.
History and memories will become blurred.
Through tomorrow's crop from what was denied
You will look over and be satisfied.

Isa 53:10-11 NLT
But it was the LORD's good plan to crush him and fill him with grief. Yet when his life is made an offering for sin, he will have a multitude of children, many heirs. He will enjoy a long life, and the LORD's plan will prosper in his hands. When he sees all that is accomplished by his anguish, he will be satisfied .

Guard Your Faith
Sandy Warner

Nov 25, 2005

GUARD YOUR FAITH
Guard your faith as the precious pearl that it is. Do not let the darts of the enemy and the darts of unbelieving men pierce your shield. Listen for the spirit behind those who are in your path. If they are loving in their resistance, then stop and pray and decide whether to share your wealth. If they are unteachable, stubborn and rebellious, do not argue truth. If they rebuke and judge, stay humble and give those that kick to Me. I will bring them to the place where they will hear My Word.

My child, your faith is very important to Me. It is our place of intimacy where we listen to one another and share precious moments. If you listen to unbelievers and their mindsets and let them bite, rip and devourer your faith, then your doubts will canker the precious communication link that we have built through out the years.

2 Cor 6:14-16 NKJV
Do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers . For what fellowship has righteousness with lawlessness? And what communion has light with darkness? And what accord has Christ with Belial? Or what part has a believer with an unbeliever ? And what agreement has the temple of God with idols? For you are the temple of the living God. As God has said: "I will dwell in them and walk among them. I will be their God, and they shall be My people."

Leaving A Legacy

LEAVING A LEGACY
Dear loving parents: your prayers, your words, your wisdom, your knowledge, and your testimony DOES make a difference. When you give your children to Me, and ask for My help in raising them, I multiply everything you say and do which builds a bridge for them to cross over the troubled waters. The bridge you are building is a legacy that will last throughout your progeny.

Deut 4:9 NLT
But watch out! Be very careful never to forget what you have seen the LORD do for you. Do not let these things escape from your mind as long as you live! And be sure to pass them on to your children and grandchildren.

Redeemed Through The Floods

Nov 21, 2005

REDEEMED THROUGH THE FLOODS
The world is engulfed in demonic floods. However, I will redeem from the murky waters those who call upon My Name, and they shall come out. They will understand what it means to be forgiven of much. They shall know that in spite of everything, My angels covered their backside even within the floods of demonic onslaught. I give mercy and strength to those who call upon Me. I hear their voice and heed their distress. I redeem everything yielded to Me and work all things together for good.

Sam 22:7 NKJV
"The LORD is my rock and my fortress and my deliverer; The God of my strength, in whom I will trust; My shield and the horn of my salvation, My stronghold and my refuge; My Savior, You save me from violence. I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised; So shall I be saved from my enemies. "When the waves of death surrounded me, The floods of ungodliness made me afraid. The sorrows of Sheol surrounded me; The snares of death confronted me. In my distress I called upon the LORD, And cried out to my God; He heard my voice from His temple, And my cry entered His ears.

We Are Thankful

Nov 24, 2005

WE ARE THANKFUL

Thank You our Father for all that You do.
Thank You dear Abba for loving us too.
How awesome to know Your angels are here.
How precious to have loved ones far and near.

This day we give thanks for every good thing.
Your gifts in plenty are under Your wings.
Your love is our refuge, Your love is our strength.
From depth, from height, from width and from length.

No weapon formed against us shall prosper.
Thanks be to Your Word, our triumph's assured.
Angels keeping charge wherever we go
They're bearing us up if we feel low.

Thanks that all things work together for good,
Building our lives, grace abounding as should.
We're more than conquerors through Jesus Christ.
Having given His life through sacrifice.

In all we give thanks for this is Your will.
We rejoice and pray, remaining here still.
Steadfast we follow Your Word and Your ways
As You lead us into a brand new day.

Our cups are half full as we wait upon You
To rebuild and repair, restore brand new.
We're forgiven, predestined, and glorified
Adopted, made righteous, and not denied.

How awesome You are, how grateful are we
That we have a future and destiny.
Our hearts are crying, dear Abba our Dad.
In Your Presence, You make us glad.

You're rich in mercy, abounding in love
Loving-kindness and justice come from above.
Thank You dear Lord, never changing are You.
We give thanks to You in all that we do.

Ps 79:13 NKJV
So we, Your people and sheep of Your pasture, will give You thanks forever; We will show forth Your praise to all generations.

Who You Are Feeding

WHO YOU ARE FEEDING
You mothers and fathers who are feeding those who are coming up in the ranks, you have no idea who you are really feeding. You are feeding tomorrow's leaders who are twice the size that you are yourselves. You have chosen to serve and raise the young. You have chosen to fulfill the very instinct that I have planted in each of you to do. It is good.

Developing A Mind For Victory

10-Day Prayer Focus: Developing A Mind For Victory

Dear Friends and Faithful Warriors:

I just returned from the Apostolic Council of Prophetic Elders (ACPE) Meeting in Colorado Springs. This was our ninth and best meeting. Peter Wagner and Cindy Jacobs did a great job of leading our time together. I then spoke at Apostle Dutch Sheets' prophetic gathering for Colorado. I am now flying to Atlanta. Please pray as I seek the Lord to order my steps this year.

The Starting the Year off Right Gathering on January 6-8 was really amazing. The revelation and release of anointing by the speakers was just incredible. Put this on your calendar and plan to be with us next January. I spoke on Waves of Change. The Lord had shown me this in mid-December.

Continue To Pray For Southeast Asia

Great shaking! Great devastation! And great opportunity for the Lord to touch many! We are connected in Sri Lanka, and recently had a couple, who minister in that nation, visit us.
On December 4, 2004, at our Firstfruits Service at Glory of Zion Outreach, Keith Pierce prophesied that Sri Lanka would be before world attention within 30 days, then 60 days, and then 90 days. He also prophesied that the Buddhist temples would be flooded and Buddhist priests would be jumping like grasshoppers to get out of the water. He then went on to say that the Lord would do a strange work to crumble the Buddhist temples from within. Well, now I understand!

I find it interesting that they are saying few animals in the game preserves were injured. Jack Hanna was on TV and said that the predator and prey warn each other when something is up. The elephant can feel it in its feet and signals the giraffe. The lion sees the giraffe is alerted, and alerts others, etc. This must be a year that we, people, become more alert and discerning.

Last Year: The Number 4 - Rearranged Boundaries

Remember, last year, that I wrote the following about the number "4":
"I feel it's important we understand the Biblical meaning of the number '4.' Four denotes God's creative works. This number is related to material completeness, or many resources taking a new form. This is a year that we must relate to the land, the world around us, and especially our city or territory. This is a year that God will be doing things so that heaven will begin to manifest in the earth realm.

"Four is the number for the great elements (earth, air, fire, and water); the regions of the earth (north, south, east, west); the divisions of the day (morning, noon, evening, midnight); the number of seasons (spring, summer, autumn, winter); and the four phases of the moon. Four also marks division.

"Four is the first number that can be evenly divided by a number other than one or itself. Therefore, this will be a year that we see division in order to bring about a completeness of God's purposes by the end of this seven year season. Watch for certain religious structures to divide. Watch for political parties to become polarized. Watch for earth boundaries to be reestablished so God's covenant purposes can be accomplished."

The following article is interesting in light of the above: Quake Rattled Earth Orbit, Changed Map of Asia
"An earthquake that unleashed deadly tidal waves on Asia was so powerful it made the Earth wobble on its axis and permanently altered the regional map, US geophysicists said. The 9.0-magnitude temblor that struck 250 kilometers (155 miles) southeast of Sumatra island Sunday may have moved small islands as much as 20 meters (66 feet), according to one expert . . . 'Based on seismic modeling, some of the smaller islands off the southwest coast of Sumatra may have moved to the southwest by about 20 meters. That is a lot of slip.

"'The northwestern tip of the Indonesian territory of Sumatra may also have shifted to the southwest by around 36 meters (120 feet),' Hudnut said. In this case, the Indian plate dived below the Burma plate, causing uplift, so most of the motion to the islands would have been vertical, not horizontal." (12/28/04, AFP).
The earth, the nations, God's people, the church -- we are all shifting and changing rapidly.

This Year: The Number 5 - Superabundant Grace In The Midst Of Confusion

This is the year that ends with "5." This number means grace or favor. This is a year where our "five senses" will recognize the Presence of a Holy God. Where God moved with the elements of the earth last year, He will move on us this year. This will be a year of unusual VICTORY. Just as David picked up five stones to defeat Goliath, the Lord has increasing victory planned for us.

I feel we are as in the days of Noah again. Noah gained favor from the Lord. He built a prototype that had never been built. As I was reading in Genesis 8, verses 5 and 6 illuminated or "jumped out" and quickened in my spirit: "And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month. In the tenth month, the tops of the mountains were seen. So it came to pass at the end of 40 days, Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made." (KJV)

This was a rhema word to me . . . the next ten months we can go from victory to victory so that in the tenth month we can see the blessings of God flowing through the windows of opportunity that He has established in the heavens for each of us.

Break Old Cycles And Watch For New Opportunities

As I was reviewing the Word of the Lord for this year (http://www.glory-of-zion.org/newsletters_0.htm), I read the following:
"Be surrounded and sealed by the Holy Spirit. Develop a new level of discernment through worship. Reality is produced when we worship in Word (Truth) and Spirit. End old cycles. Do not cycle through your wilderness again. Break the cycle of Mt. Sinai (don't get around that mountain again!) and head toward and up Mt. Zion. In the face of your enemy, violently praise! Let praise BIND the strongman and then plunder, take, and repossess your spoils."
We must not miss our windows of opportunity this year! We need to break old cycles that would cause us to half-heartedly enter in to all that the Lord has this year. We need PASSION to PRESS! Coming full circle and breaking old cycles are keys to our victory ahead.

Receive a new anointing! The anointing will give you victory over death cycles and the fear of death. Be anointed to have victory over demonic forces that would try and stop you in the future (particularly through the end of March)! Be anointed for increase and harvest so you begin to fill His storehouse!

Receive an Issachar anointing to interpret the times so you know what decisions to make! To anoint or, mashiach, refers to one who is anointed with oil, symbolizing the reception of the Holy Spirit, enabling Him to do an assigned task. Mashach means "to smear with oil or paint." Allow the Hand of the Lord to paint you with His anointing, and may your enemies know you have been set apart!

Victory!

What is victory? Victory means final and complete supremacy in battle/war, or a specific military engagement ending in triumph. Victory can also mean success in any contest or struggle involving the defeat of an opponent or the overcoming of obstacles. Now is the time to move past the obstacles that would prevent you from succeeding in what God is asking you to do!

The primary Biblical assertion is that victory belongs to God (Jonah 2:9; 1 Corinthians 15:54-57; Revelation 7:10). This is succinctly expressed in the phrase "the battle is the Lord's" (1 Samuel 17:47), i.e. victory belongs exclusively to the Lord and is His to bestow at will. Victory is only assured when we are operating in the will and timing of God in the earth realm. There are three special features of the Lord's victory.

First, the Lord's victory is the exercise of holy sovereignty in the course of history. "Victory" is another way of saying that the government of the world rests in the hands of a Holy God, who orders all things according to inflexible principles of morality, so that sometimes His holiness must be asserted against His people, and becomes "His strange deed" (Isaiah 28:21).

Second, this holy government and the power of victory are annexed to the holy rule of the only God. Therefore, there is no doubt who will ultimately win the war. Before long we will know His voice so well, that He will speak, we will obey, and victory is assured (Ezekiel 38-39; Revelation 19).

Third, the people of God enter into victory by the obedience of faith. We experience victory in God's victory (Exodus 14:13-14; Deuteronomy 28:1-14; Psalm 20; Ephesians 6:16; 1 John 5:4-5). Peace, righteousness, and salvation are associated with victory (1 Kings 22:28; Isaiah 41:3, Heb. Text) and are evidenced by the enjoyment of total well-being that victory brings.

Victory through salvation is personal enlargement and deliverance (1 Samuel 14:45; Judges 6:14). Righteousness is the personal quality which guarantees victory (Isaiah 59:16-17). All these cluster in a unique way around the cross of the Lord Jesus Christ, the supreme victory of God (Ephesians 2:14ff., Titus 3:4-7) and His righteousness (Romans 1:17, 3:21-27) (J. Pedersen, Israel, 1-4, 1926-40, Index s.v. 'Victory'; J.-J. von Allmen, Vocabulary of the Bible, 1958, s.v. 'Victory').

Our Victory In The War Ahead Is Dependent On God's Perfect Timing

1 Chronicles 12:32-33 refers to, "the sons of Issachar who had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do, their chiefs were two hundred; and all their brethren were at their command" (NKJV).

One of the first prophecies I ever received over my life was from a well-known individual that was being used in the Charismatic movement in the 1970s. He prophesied that I would understand time and have an anointing for timing. On the march in the desert, Issachar was on the East with Judah and Zebulun his brothers. They led the march toward the Promised Land (Numbers 2:5; 10:14-15). Therefore, the Issachar anointing is very important if we are going to advance in victory.

Issachar means "he will bring reward." Men of Issachar, approximately 200, knew how to ascertain the periods of the sun and moon, the intercalation of months, the dates of solemn feasts, and could interpret the signs of the times. Also, Jacob's prophecy was, "Issachar is a strong donkey, lying down between the sheepfolds. When he saw that a resting place was good . . . he bowed his shoulder to bear burdens, and became a slave at forced labor" (Genesis 49:14-15, NASB).

This anointing is very important if we are going to carry God's burdens in the earth realm, and bring them to birth at the appropriate time. Issachar was positioned on Shechem at Mt. Gerizim, "to bless the people" (Deuteronomy 27:12). To summarize, the Issachar anointing understands the timing of God, the government of God, carries the burden of the Lord, and releases the blessings of God into the earth realm at the intersection or crossroads of every season. Receive the Issachar Anointing!

In the Word of God, the timing element is built around the Feasts. The Old Testament contains two calendars -- a civil and a religious one -- and this complicates our understanding of the origins of the New Year. Therefore, Rosh Hashanah begins what is known as The Head of the Year and culminates with the Feast of Tabernacles. This is different from the first month of the year, which actually begins at Passover.

When the Bible is read with this concept of time, we seem to better recognize God's purposes in the earth. Hebraic numbers have word and pictorial meanings. This helps us understand time and stay very focused prophetically. We should begin the Head of the Year with God's revelation for that year. We should pass over or cross over into the fullness of the year with this revelation guiding our path.

I know we have entered a key kairos time that we could not afford to miss. In God's Timing for Your Life, Dutch Sheets says the following:
"At the Pool of Bethesda, Jesus came to the man who had been in his paralyzed condition for 36 years and asked him what seemed to be a strange question: 'Do you want to get well?' (John 5:6, NIV).

"The man's answer revealed that although he was waiting at the pool, he really had no hope of being healed. He was in a kairos moment, close to fullness, but hopelessness had set in. Jesus asked him this question to make him realize that, although he was waiting for the miraculous stirring in the pool, he had lost all hope of actually being healed. Only seconds away from experiencing the new - just a handclasp away from total restoration - the man was too disillusioned to recognize it. Somewhere along the way, as he went through the process of time, he lost his expectation. There wasn't anything within him that could respond in hope to Jesus' question.

"When God brings a shift, we must be ready to shift with Him. If we're not careful, we won't believe that He can bring us from the chronos stages through the kairos seasons and into fullness."
This is a kairos time for developing a mind for victory. The following 10-Day Prayer Focus will help us shift our thinking into a victory mode.

10 Days To Shift Your Mind Into A Victory Mode!

DAY 1. Read John 5. Get past any self pity. Defy the method of the day and enter into victory.

DAY 2. Read Genesis 6-9:17. Know that God has a plan and new prototype for your ultimate victory. Declare that any "waters" will recede and that you will receive the open window of His blessings.

DAY 3. Read Ruth 1-3. Receive a new anointing. The anointing represents physical refreshments after washing. In Ruth 3:3 we find where Ruth had to make her shift. Naomi told her to take off her widow's garment, wash and anoint herself. You have toiled too long. I decree all weariness breaks from you. Ruth then went to the threshing floor and found her Redeemer. May His redemptive plan and key connections come clear in your life.

DAY 4. Read 1 Kings 17-18. Agree with the Lord that you will follow Him into new arenas of supply and provision. Ask Him to move you past any poverty structure. Travail and ask Him to bring heaven's plan into sight for you.

DAY 5. Read John 2:9, 1 Corinthians 15:54-57, and Revelation 7:10. See that God is a victorious God.

DAY 6. Read Psalm 60. Know that our God will do valiantly for you.

DAY 7. Read Acts 12. Get past any past failures and watch the Lord open doors unexpectedly for you. Be sure to recognize when He is moving on your behalf.

DAY 8. Read 2 Kings 4. Know that God has victory plans to overcome your debt structures.

DAY 9. Read Luke 5. Even though you have worked hard, the Lord has a simple way to multiply you. Repent for not embracing His goodness.

DAY 10. Read Exodus 14, Deuteronomy 28, and Ephesians 6. His blessings are there for you. Violently praise, war, stand, and receive.

We should war for the victory of the Lord each month for the next ten months. We should expect to go from VICTORY TO VICTORY. Be like David in 2 Samuel 23:10:
"He arose, and attacked the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand stuck to the sword. The LORD brought about a great victory that day; and the people returned after him only to plunder."

Blessings,

Daniel Chapter 7 A New Perspective

Lishan Desta

I. The Prevailing View

Some of the most often quoted Bible prophecies on Endtime events come from the Book of Daniel. Conservative Bible scholars[i], whose view currently predominates Endtime Biblical prophesy studies, speak almost with one voice regarding the interpretation of the visions of this 6 c. B.C. Israelite prophet. One has, therefore, to duly note what these scholars say before one presents any alternative line of interpretation to theirs. This fact remains crucial particularly in any attempt to re-interpret Daniel Chapter Seven, which is one of the most popular starting places in expounding Endtime Bible prophecies. The following brief summary contains in a nutshell what conservative Biblical scholars understand to be the meaning of this particular vision of Daniel.

Going by this interpretation, the churning great sea represents the Mediterranean Sea. This is the region where all the major world empires of the ancient world rose to prominence. The wild beasts arising from the stormy sea are metaphors for successive world empires. The lion stands for the empire of Neo-Babylonia, the bear that of the Medo-Persia, and the tiger that of the Greeks. The fourth animal is taken to be the Roman Empire. The ten-horns symbolize a future Roman Empire to be revived by the Antichrist. The little horn emerging later among these ten horns is the Antichrist, who will have an obscure and insignificant origin. The Antichrist's Revived Roman Empire will be destroyed none except by the Second Coming of Christ.[ii]

Since the Antichrist is expected to arise from Europe, from the very same region where once the ancient Roman Empire held sway[iii], currently many Bible Endtime expositors eye the ongoing European economic and political integration with heightened prophetic interest. Following the words of the prophet Daniel that the Antichrist will emerge as ruler only after he overthrows three horns, similarly according to this viewpoint, the Antichrist is expected to overcome three states in the European Union before he makes his bid for total world dominance. He will be a blasphemous and very arrogant dictator, with deep hate for God and God's people. In the seven years the Antichrist lasts in power, he will unleash unprecedented persecution against the saints of God only during the last three and half years of his reign. It will be only at the appearing of Christ at His Second Coming that the Antichrist will be overcome and his empire destroyed. Then God will hand over all kingdom power on earth to the saints; the kingdom the saints will receive will last forever and ever.

There have been very few attempts to think outside this mould of interpretation, which has dominated the evangelical exposition of the vision or its popularization through Christian Endtime paperbacks. [iv] The following alternative viewpoint is presented as a new vantage point in understanding the vision in order to stir a new direction of thought.

II. An Alternative View

Establishing the Rules of Interpretation

The starting point to understand Daniel's vision should be first to duly acknowledge that this is a vision. God, who is the author of such visions and dreams, rarely conveys His message in clear, literal terms. Rather, in all the visions and dreams God gives, he gives them in forms laden with rich symbolism and metaphors. As the Bible amply demonstrates, God is the master of metaphors and types (Num. 12:6-7; Ps 78:2; Prov. 25:2; Is 29:9-12). This is made the clearer to us as we examine the visions and dreams imparted by God. Therefore, in attempting to interpret a vision or a dream, every nuance of symbol and metaphor implied should be heeded and interpreted properly. The interpretation of such symbolical dreams and visions is much assisted by the gift of interpretation bestowed by the Holy Spirit, and by the careful and diligent study of the Scriptures (Gen. 41:16; Dan. 1:17, 5:11; Prov. 1:3-6; 1 Cor. 2).

In the dreams Joseph and Daniel interpreted we do not see them following a literal or historical approach, but in finding what each object and action seen in the dream or vision signified. Assisted by the Holy Spirit they interpreted the symbols and metaphors correctly to give kings and officials the right counsel. Another good example to illustrate this point is the dream, which we read about in Judges 7:13-15, which speaks of Gideon's mission to destroy the Midianite army. The dream was wholly cast in symbolic terms, and any literal interpretation of it would have led to a wrong meaning and a different outcome. Similarly, in the New Testament one good example is the trance Peter had (Acts 10:9-15). Peter saw in his trance diverse kinds of animals being presented to him in a sheet. He was ordered by God to kill and eat these unclean animals. However, as Peter later found out the intent of this vision was not to ask Peter to overcome his traditional inhibition about kosher food. Rather that God was conveying to Peter about his obligation to preach the Gospel to gentile people, which Jews once considered as unclean. Had Peter failed to associate God's ultimate message through the vision with his calling to start to preach the Gospel to gentiles, he would have totally missed the historic moment that day at the house of Cornelius.

However, most Bible students in their attempt to interpret Daniel's dreams and visions have paid scant attention to such principles. Their emphasis has not been in decoding the symbols and metaphors, which enrich the visions. Rather they focused on finding historical patterns, which would apparently fit the flow of events as presented by the unfolding of the visions. Therefore, literalism and the historical-sense have riddled the interpretation of Daniel's visions. It is hard to believe that the Divine purpose is fully served by such an interpretative approach.

There is also a second reason as to why we cannot apply the historical approach to this vision. Contrary to what he does in his other visions, Daniel in the seventh chapter does not provide us with any historical event that could serve us as a clue to interpretation. Daniel makes no reference to any of the ancient empires, which we come across in his other visions. He mentions no Babylon or Persia, etc. Rather, the vision is told in overwhelmingly symbolic and figurative language, without historical associations. For this reason, the vision is clearly suspended in 'no' time. Without doubt, there should be a Divine purpose in doing this. This means, first the vision has to be understood in abstract terms before attempting to make any historical application of it. First has to come the proper decoding of the symbols and metaphors before trying to tie the prophesied events to any historical time period. Given these two reasons paying due attention to symbolism and metaphorical should be considered as a very important matter in understanding the ultimate intent of God in keeping this vision for posterity.[v]

Symbolism of the Vision

The major protagonists of the prophetic drama are presented to us in the form of wild animals. As said earlier, the prophetic significance of these wild animals should come only after careful interpretation of the metaphor and symbolism implied by their features and actions.[vi] To do justice to the nature of the vision, therefore, first we will delve into abstraction of the symbols and metaphors. That will allow us to extract the universal message first, without making any historical association between vision and modern day political event(s). Only the second part of this article will make the attempt to establish some connection between this vision and some relevant historical events.

The Political Storm

Sea or body of water in Scripture often symbolizes the masses of humanity, or a nation (cf. Num. 24:7; Is 17:12; Hab. 1:14; Rev. 17:15). In this case, the people are being agitated by contending and prevailing winds. The four winds churning the sea symbolize major contending ideas (cf. Eph. 4:14). They are emblematical of doctrines, ideas, or in this political sense, of ideological forces lashing out on the sea of humanity as they fiercely struggle for dominance. The number four is mentioned in this regard to symbolize the four corners of the world, implying diversity and polarity of political viewpoints in the power struggle. In short, such a vision of a raging sea at the mercy of lashing winds depicts in a metaphorical way a revolutionary situation brewing up among the people as the maelstrom of political winds lash out freely. It is in the midst of such political flux that the major contenders of power make their full appearance on the stage of history.

The four wild animals, which step out of the turbulent sea, are metaphors for political forces or powers. Scripture often employs the metaphor of wild animals to describe kings, nations, or individuals with political roles (see, for example, Num. 24:8; Ps. 80:13; Jer. 49:19, 21; Ezk. 32:2-3, etc). In the case of this vision, the four animals are the coalescing or materialization of the four contending winds of political ideas. The animals represent the forms through which the public's now gives formal expression to its political views. From the various contending political positions (winds) now come out powerful political powerbrokers in the form of parties, movements, or institutions with new political roles[vii].

Since the Prophet describes each political animal carefully, emphasizing its unique features and behavior, we will take these unique features as the starting place for the new interpretative approach.

The second important aspect we have to recognize about these animals is that they represent contemporary political entities rather than succeeding political empires. Many have written saying that the four wild animals represent world empires, which succeed each other over a long period of time. But it should be clear from Daniel's narrative that the four animals manifest and operate almost within the same time period. To support such contention, for example, the first three animals are present when God judges the fourth beast. Daniel tells us how God would give extension of life to the three beasts when He otherwise totally destroys the fourth beast. This cannot be so unless these all four beasts are contemporary political creatures (see Dan. 7: 11-12). If the four beasts are contemporary with each other, and that the fourth beast will be reigning at Christ's Second Coming, then we cannot escape the implication that all these three political animals will be in existence in the last days when God destroys the fourth beast. Hence, to fully grasp their symbolic and prophetic import, the four beasts will be interpreted in terms of modern day world politics.

The Political Animals

The Lion

The first political animal we meet is the lion. The lion, both in Scripture and secular usage, have long been associated with political might and majesty. Moreover, in Daniel's vision, to add to its grandeur and loftiness, the lion is described as possessing wings of eagle. This additional feature might indicate wisdom, longevity, or even divine origin (Deut. 33:11).[viii] But in due process the wings of the lion get clipped, and the mighty lion ends up being treated like an ordinary harmless human being (v. 4). What then all these metaphors about the lion figure are intended to signify?

Down the centuries, the lion has been used as a type of a bold and strong leader; and the lion has been the chosen emblem for kings and kingdoms and empires. Therefore, it will not be amiss to assume that this winged lion in Daniel's vision could represent a strong leader, an ancient regime, a majestic king, or simply a monarchial system with Divine origin claims.

However, in what appears to be the lion entering its years of fading glory, we see its eagle's wings being clipped. Such clipping of wings may symbolize lose of freedom of movement, or the curtailment of majesty and power in a step-by-step fashion. Given the pervading atmosphere of political turmoil cast by the vision, we can take the clippings of the wings of the lion as its humbling at the hands of its political enemies! Shorn of its majestic glory and might, the one-time dreaded lion will now be domesticated and emasculated. Its final fate will be to be treated as a mere mortal human being, or as a plaything at the hands of its enemies.

In this vision, the doom of the lion is mainly intended to foreshadow the fate of a once majestic and powerful monarchy or ruler suffering a slow degradation in its power and majesty. According to the vision, the lion king surely meets a very humbling end.

The Bear

The bear is a bulky, slow moving, crouching animal with a tendency towards bitterness and vengeance. Scripture depicts it as a very strong, voracious and destructive wild animal (2 Sam. 17:34-37; 2 Kgs. 2:23-25; Pr. 17: 12, 28:18; Hos. 13:8). In this vision, the bear has two important additional features - it is lop-sided, and devours much flesh and crunches a lot of bones.

In its metaphorical sense, therefore, the bear is intended to symbolize a political force, which is,

- slow in developing and asserting its strength,
- parochial in its operations,
- implacable and intractable, and
- a cause of much death and destruction.

As Daniel says, the bear, 'raised up itself on one side' (v. 5), and a political force, which fulfills such metaphor, in modern political terms, is a sectarian political movement operating in one side (corner) of a country. Such a political force usually engages in a war of attrition, fulfilling the Scriptural prophecy of , 'arise and devour much flesh' (v. 5).

A political movement of such nature, as history shows is most often organized around class, culture, or regional identity. Uprisings or insurgencies based on class, ideology and even religion, all tend to involve many people across the nation. On the other hand, political movements based on regional or ethnic identity turn out to be highly localized, limiting their operation to one part of the country. Moreover, they prove to be very intractable, difficult to placate or overcome. Hence, such conflicts drag out for years causing much destruction to human life and to the economy. As history shows us, such low scale, simmering regional conflicts turn out to be perpetual death machines. Like the bear in Daniel's vision, they relentlessly grind human flesh and bones, until they kill soldiers and civilians by the thousands over the years they last.

The Tiger

The symbolic importance of the tiger derives from its famed speed, lurking moves and blood drinking habits. This animal is a master of hiding, of careful steps, and ambushes. It moves in the shadows before it pounces upon its prey. We know also that the tiger's skin is spotted and patchy (Jer. 13:23); this by itself has important metaphorical implications. Moreover, adding to the complexity of the metaphor, the tiger in Daniel's vision is depicted as having four heads and four wings on its back. Due to such attributes, the tiger is most likely intended to be a symbol of a political movement displaying the following features.

It will be one, which operates in the shadows, which will plan and execute its operations in a very secretive and clandestine manner. It be inimitable at setting ambushes, in launching terrorist attacks and in carrying out assassination missions. Moreover, based on the similitude implied by the tiger's spotted skin, this political organization will have motley of followers, which will be derived from the various sections of society. In this sense, such a political movement will be national in operation rather than being parochial, like the one represented by the bear. Secondly, as much as its skin color allows the tiger to camouflage itself easily, similarly the political party typified by the tiger will equally be able to blend with the community wherein it operates.

The four heads of the tiger imply two additional qualities for this political party. First, they indicate pervasive influence throughout the four corners of the nation. Secondly, they signify the exceptional mental acumen and intellectual sophistication the party will manifest. In this sense, the party will rely on intellectual persuasion to hold together its followers. Hence, It will not depending on appeal to tradition, or charisma, ethnic identity, and brute force, etc, to get followers.

Finally, the four wings on the tiger's back signify how much mobile and agile the political party would be. Such a party, therefore, will nimbly move in all corners of the nation, making frequent tactical moves for security reasons. Since the tiger has only weak wings like the fowl's, similarly the party cannot soar high to attain majesty, or operate in a very sustained manner to achieve a long-lasting political life.

Saying all these then it can follow that the political entity symbolized by the tiger should be found among political movements of clandestine type, of motley following, of nationwide operation, of intellectual predisposition, and of short life. According to Scripture and history, there are two types of such lurking (guerrilla) political movements. One is rural, and the other is an urban-based. According to Jeremiah 5:6, if the wolf symbolizes the rural type, the tiger is a type for the urban one. Therefore, the tiger in Daniel's vision, in modern day terms, typifies an urban-based clandestine party.

The Hideous Fourth Beast

The fourth animal in its appearance is out of the ordinary. It is grotesque and most terrifying. The Beast is also very powerful to be irresistible and invincible. It easily overcame the rest of the three animals. Since Daniel could not easily match this Beast to any of the animals he was familiar with, he left it nameless.

As Daniel said, it was,

Diverse from all the others, exceeding dreadful, whose teeth were iron, and his nails of brass; which devoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with its feet... it shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and break it in pieces (vv. 19, 23).

Some of the unique features of the Beast were its ten horns. What was surprising about the horns was not as such their numbers, but that they possessed a life of their own. They engaged in what appeared to be a power struggle among each other. Literally, they removed each other from position! The victorious one from such a struggle was, as Daniel called it, the 'little horn'. This little horn had first to overthrow three other horns, before it made itself supreme. Moreover, the little horn showed great antipathy to God and His people. It had all the features of utter arrogance and cruelty. As Daniel noted, the little horn had,

Eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking great things… whose look was more stout than its fellows (v. 20).

How can then we translate this terrifying and all-conquering Beast and the little horn in terms of modern politics? In this regard, a few options are open to us. The metaphors implied by such descriptions as - hideous and most powerful animal, powerful teeth, power to overcome all the other animals, devouring the land, multiple horns that competed among each other for position, and immense antipathy to God and the saints – make us think in one particular direction than in any other. The first thing, which comes to mind, will be some form of atheistic authoritarian system, or a military dictatorship with left-wing tendencies. Such a supposition is defended on the following grounds.

(i). Diverse looks: - Such political entities as, atheistic authoritarian system or military dictatorships infuse dread among the people rather than respect and consent. Anything operating through the force of arms in politics is a political anomaly rather than a natural phenomenon. Particularly, the military in power will be out of the ordinary.

(ii). Hideous and terrifying appearance: - A totalitarian party or the military in state power are the most terrifying political entities that can be perceived at all. In particular, of all known social forces, it is the military, which possesses massive (fire) power and discipline to inspire terror and subservient obedience.[ix] Hence, the appellation given to this political organization is apt - the Beast.

(iii). Destructive: – as modern history attests, the military or a militarized party have been responsible for much oppression and suffering in almost every nation they have taken power. The first political edict such parties usually impose include the banning of other political parties, and the suppression of the people’s rights of assembly and free speech. Moreover, due to their amateur approach to politics, or as the result of ideological rigidity, such parties often cause colossal havoc to society.

(iv). Ten horns: - This metaphor implies the emergence of a select few of powerful individuals from the general body of the political movement. This select few will collectively bear direct power in the name of the organization or the movement, which gave rise to them. Collective leadership, in this case comes in the form of a military junta revolutionary command council, or a central committee. As often witnessed in history, eventually such types of revolutionary councils suffer from internal power struggles, usually leading to political purges and the emergence of a powerful dictator.

(v). The little horn: – According to Scriptures, ‘little’ is a figure of speech for an insignificant or despised person (Ps. 119:140), and ‘horn’ is a metaphor for might or ruler (Ps. 132:17; Lk. 1:70). In this regard, in the political struggle among the ruling council members, it will be an obscure individual who will emerge victorious. According to Daniel, the ‘little horn’ dictator would gain absolute power only after removing three prominent leaders (horns) who were before him[x]. Such a success often comes from having a knack for conspiracy and a talent for merciless action. However, such a person, as it appears, uses three of the more senior members of the ruling party for his front men before he finally makes his bid for political dominance.

The other notable aspect of the Beast and the little horn is that they will be openly hostile to God and to the saints. This implies that they will adopt a rabid form of secular ideology, which attempts to change the eternal laws of God. The Beast will unleash an unprecedented persecution against the saints of God (v. 25). However, after a certain length of time (v. 25), God will orchestrate the events that will destroy the fourth beast utterly. When God judges the Beast, it will be to utterly destroy it. However, God will show relative mercy to the other three political animals, allowing them some time to operate before the Kingdom of God is finally inaugurated on earth (vv. 11-12).

The Kingdom of God and The Son of Man

When God judges the fourth beast and removes governmental power from its hands, God will at the same time bestow kingdom power and authority on the Son of Man (Dan 7: 13). Many understand the Son of Man to be the Lord Jesus Christ receiving Kingdom power and authority. Jesus is now seated at the right side of God, His father, waiting until God makes His enemies His footstool. Jesus will enter into His Kingdom rule at the Endtime after the demise of the kingdom of the Antichrist (Ps. 110, 2 The:2).

However, there are also a few others who consider the Son of Man figure in Daniel’s vision as a figure for the collective body of all the saints of God (Dan. 7: 27). In Endtime revelatory terms, there are many who consider this Son of Man figure as an appellation for the ‘man-child company’, or as the ‘overcomer remnant’. It will be then this band of overcoming saints, represented by the Son of Man figure, who are chosen of God to bring Kingdom power to humanity in its fullest sense. They will be used of God to bring liberty to all creation, which is now groaning under the natural law of corruption and decay. In that day, the whole creation then would attain to the hope of glory - to the very freedom that belongs to the children of God (Rom 8: 18-23). Then wild beasts, both literal and metaphorical, shall no longer harass and oppress the land.

[i] Conservative Bible scholars, in this regard are those who believe in the Divine inspiration of the Bible and in its infallibility. In this context, such scholars accept that the Book of Daniel was composed by an exile Jew prophet during the Babylonian captivity in 6 c. B.C. However, liberal theologians on the other hand say that the visions of Daniel were written by others using his name, and the visions are composed by other Jews who witnessed the tribulation of the Greek sacrilege of the temple and the Maccabean rebellion in 2 c. B.C.

[ii] Among liberal Bible scholars, who think the book of Daniel was composed during the Maccabean period, in 2 c. B.C. the lion represents the Babylonian, the bear the Medes, the leopard the Persian, and the fourth beast the Greek empires,. The little horn that fights the saints is the Syrian king of Greek origin, Antiochus Epiphanes. It is he who unleashed a great persecution against the Jews in the years, 168 – 163 BC.

[iii] One less known conservative Biblical scholarship expects the Antichrist to arise from the region of modern day Syria. The reason given for this is simple - Antiochus Epiphanes, the forerunner of the Antichrist, had his origin from Syria.

[iv] There have also been a few attempts by a few Bible students to entertain a different viewpoint to the one widely accepted. For example, one alternative interpretation, see the lion as Great Britain and the wings of the eagle on the lion as the USA as the lion with the wings of the eagle. The bear is Russia (Soviet Union), the leopard is China, and the fourth beast is the European Union.

[v] Dreams and visions are given in cryptic form, needing proper interpretation. For example see, the Joseph related dreams found in Genesis chapters 37, 40 and 41, and the vision of Peter (Acts. 10: 9-16). See the following passages for a sample for a general understanding of the purpose of God in using symbolism to convey His prophetic message: - Num. 12: 6-8; Ps. 78: 2; Pr. 1: 5-6, 25:2; Is. 29: 9-12; Hos. 12:11; Matt. 13: 10-12; 34-35.

[vi] For example, what C.S. Lewis warns against literalism in works, which are clearly allegorical and metaphorical. He wrote, "The literary symbols are more dangerous because they are not easily recognized as symbolical."

[vii] Scripture uses wild animals or plants as symbols of rulers and states. For example, see Gen. 9-10; Num. 24:8-9; Jud. 9: 8-14; 2 Tim 4:17.

[viii] [viii] In order to establish political legitimacy among their subjects, ancient and modern monarchies have claimed Divine origin for their rule. To establish and symbolize such a connection between their earthly throne and the heavenly kingdom, they employed various rituals in state occasions, symbols on government seals, or official titles given to the monarch, etc.

[ix] Usually the wise and the discerning flee their countries as they see a party that rides on the back of the military come to power. This has some allusion to the warning about the 'abomination of desolation' the Lord Jesus gave in Matthew 24.

Dreams and Prophetic Revelations
Chuck Pierce

November 4, 2005
Dear Friends and Faithful Warriors:

I bless you in the name of Jesus and thank God daily for you (usually in the night season). I am praying Psalm 118:25, "Send NOW Prosperity." I am on a long trip that began in New Jersey, continued to the Chicago area with Robert Stearns at an Eagles' Wings gathering, and I am now going to Ann Arbor with Barbara Yoder. From here, I travel to London on Sunday.
As you know, I have tried to stay focused in prayer for England. I gave a word almost two years ago about governmental alignment and militant Islam. That word culminates this November, so I am returning to be in a meeting called "Engage!" Marty Cassady, Linda Heidler, and Aaron Smith are with me. Aaron will be leading worship Monday and Tuesday. Please pray for us. We return next Thursday. Please pray that I receive the revelation that is necessary to deliver to that nation.
On another note, I recently taped another segment with Benny Hinn for "This Is Your Day!" This was followed by taping five shows on prayer and spiritual warfare for INSP Television that can be seen on November 14-18 at 8:30 am and 9:00 pm eastern. These shows can also be watched on www.insptoday.com.

DO NOT let the Messes Distract You from MY Blessings! I Am Setting a NEW ORDER in your Mess! Celebrate in Your Messes!

I have loved leading early morning prayer at Glory of Zion on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings as much as anything I do. These past two weeks have been especially wonderful. I want to share prophetically with you what the Lord brought forth this week. First, Linda Heidler, Robert's wife and one of the Eagles of God at Glory of Zion, had a dream that was so very significant. I believe this dream really represents the Body of Christ at this time. All of us have Martha qualities. At certain times, each of us can get distracted by the tasks that need to be done and miss our "best" opportunities.

Linda's dream had two parts that are very distinct yet connected. To fully interpret a dream, you need to sense and capture the hidden emotion that the Lord is bringing into a visible, tangible expression. You will love this revelation:

The Dream:

"In the first part, I was in a very old hotel room with Marty Cassady. It was very dark in the room. Marty was in bed with the covers over her head, and I was trying to pack. My suitcase was open on the floor, and it began to rain inside the room. The roof was not leaking, but it was raining in the room. I picked up my suitcase and emptied the water out of it and put it under the bed so it would stay dry. I did the same with a pair of shoes. That was the end of the first part."

Interpretation:

Marty and Linda are key members of the Eagles of God Team. So being in a hotel room would represent the two of them traveling on a key prayer assignment. Notice that Marty had the covers pulled over her head. This could either mean she was trying to block out disturbances and remain in a resting place or that she was in denial. When interpreting a dream, you always want to pay attention to the emotion behind certain events. When I questioned Linda about her emotion over Marty in bed with the covers over her head, she knew it was because Marty was choosing to remain in a resting place and not get concerned with menial tasks.

God is saying: This month, we will do our assigned tasks, and we will be at rest doing them.

Linda was packing. Rain means spiritual blessings. When it began to rain, Linda did not perceive this as a blessing and made the (poor) choice to not allow these blessings to fill her vessel that she was taking to the next destination. She even chose to empty out the water and put the suitcase under her bed. In this season, we must correctly perceive the Lord's blessings so that we do not resist the provision He is bringing. When He begins to fill our atmosphere, we must open our vessels to allow Him to fill them.

As I mentioned, Linda shared her dream during Tuesday morning's prayer meeting. When we got to this point of the interpretation, I asked everyone to bring up the vessel that the Lord wanted them to fill. People brought up wallets, purses, keys, phones, Bibles, notebooks, day-timers, and even themselves -- lying prostrate on the floor. The entire center section of our prayer circle was totally filled with "vessels."
We also wanted the Lord to fill our shoes with His blessings, so shoes were removed and placed with the other items to be filled as vessels. The Lord began to say, "The next 10 days I am setting you on a disciplined path so I can begin to open up your vessels. Don't be stopped in getting supply. Let Me fill your vessels. Do not worry about your shoes. Let Me cleanse your walk from all the details of the past season. Let Me refresh you and fill your shoes with anointing so you will walk into the fullness of My plan. Declare that the Martha portion of your personality will stay at rest and not get distracted this year! Watch for key opportunities to seek Me!"

The Dream Continued:

"In the second part, I (Linda) was in a very large, old house. It was Christmas time, and most of my family was there, along with a few other people I know from Global Harvest Ministries. Margaret Swaine, a very regal intercessor from California, was sitting on a couch punching out small Christmas ornaments from a big cardboard sheet. It was making a huge mess. I told her that I did not think we needed that many punched out, but Robert (Linda's husband, pastor of Glory of Zion Outreach, and Dean of the Issachar School) came in and said, 'Just punch away. We can use all we can get.'

This made me mad.

Then, Robert put on a Santa Clause suit and climbed into the Christmas Tree. There was an opening in the branches that he could come up through.

This made me mad.

Everyone thought this was great fun. Someone gave a baby to him, and he was holding the baby up for everyone to see. Everyone was laughing and having a great time, so I thought I should try to have fun with them. I got the camera to take a picture of Robert and the baby, but I could not get it to work. I finally was able to take one picture of some of my nieces and nephews, and then turned to take a picture of Robert. But he had come out of the tree and taken off the Santa Suit. He said, 'That horse hair was too scratchy. I had to get out of that suit.'

This made me mad again."

Interpretation:

This part of Linda's dream is very interesting as well. Linda's emotions in the dream represent many in the Body of Christ who do not want the "mess" associated with the change of season, new birth, and celebration. Instead, they prefer to keep things in an order that they are comfortable with. Many are not willing to allow the Lord to do something new or unexpected. Robert represented the leadership of the Church who is willing to move in a new way with the Holy Spirit.

He fully entered into the emotion of the celebration. When he was presented the baby, he captured the joy of the moment and celebrated what the Lord was doing. Linda made a choice of her will to try and enter in but got distracted by focusing on her family and missed the opportunity to enter the change of season and the new thing. Notice Linda's attitude toward leadership -- whatever Robert did made her angry.

She became angry if he celebrated, if he allowed a mess, and even when he quit celebrating. The Lord desires to deliver many in the Body from hidden, controlled anger linked with religious spirits.

Do not resist His mood or resist entering the celebration. Watch how He connects you and who He connects you with in days ahead.

The Lord also began to say, "Many individuals who have had wealth but never allowed Me to use it for My Kingdom purposes are now prepared to be used by Me. I will be bringing many unusual individuals into My Kingdom so that which they have gained from ungodly means CAN BE SANCTIFIED*. Let the messes begin so I can re-adorn My people and so that they can celebrate the power of My birth."*

This is a season that we celebrate in a new way. Last year, the Lord led us in developing a victory mindset. He taught us to praise violently. Let nothing rob your praise this season. I am so thankful for Linda being transparent enough and giving me permission to share this.

Watch Carefully at the Narrow Intersections

On Tuesday morning, I began by anointing the entire prayer group with pomegranate oil.

The Lord began to speak,

"You are coming into some crowded intersections in your life. I am bringing new connections and contacts around you. Learn to think more highly of others than yourself at this time. See individuals the way I see them. I'm changing the way you're viewing and processing things. There are very narrow places for you in days ahead. You must stay in My perfect timing to make it through these narrow entry points for your future. You must stay in My perfect timing, or else you will knock others from their places.
"Walk with Me in a way you have not walked with Me. See with Me in a way you have not seen with Me, and move forward into that place of multiplication that I have called you to. Do not fear that you are lagging behind, for I am extending grace for you to catch up. I have extended your time to fulfill certain assignments that you are working on. Quickly settle legalistic issues and small, petty struggles so that you can move into all I have for you at this time. If you will not swat at every gnat in your path then you will hit the mark every time.

"For 10 months, you have warred to press through for victory. Receive grace today for the next 12 months. Stand and receive grace. Call for grace to rain on everyone connected with you. Awaken and walk forward in the blessing of strength that I AM offering you today. Receive a new sound of Amazing Grace. Ask for supernatural hunger for the lost to know Me and be saved."

Remove any HOOD of SUSPICION that has been Clouding Your Discernment

"Do not immediately judge people when they walk into your presence, but see them as I see them and see why I have allowed them to enter your path. Pull the hood of suspicion off of you so that your discernment will be pure, and healings and miracles will then break forth in all of those that I bring in. A spirit of imbedded fear has prevented My People from clearly seeing the resources that I AM bringing into their path. I will prosper those you do not expect Me to prosper. Therefore, discern clearly that you might partake in the joy of the prosperity. Pull off the hood of suspicion so that your discernment will be made pure. Watch carefully at this time, and don't allow a religious spirit of criticism and judgment to blind you."

Ask for Pure Revelation, Night Vision, and Night Revelation

"Pray for the Body to awaken and have clear discernment in the night. Pray for cleansing of your places of sleep. Decree that the bedroom of the Body of Christ become pure so I can visit My PEOPLE in the NIGHT. Awaken to night vision and gain clear discernment in the night. You will gain authority in the night watches. I will move My people to a great authority of revelation throughout the night hours. I will awaken the lost in their defiled bedrooms with dreams and visions, and they will begin to hunger for Me and run to My House."

Watch the Bush Manifest!

"I am coming full circle to find My deliverers. Many of you have made huge mistakes in the past. But I know where you are, and I will find you and manifest Myself to you this year. I am going to illuminate the bush near that place where you have been held waiting. I will find you in the workplace. I will find you in mundane jobs. I will find you in prisons. I will find you in malls. I will find you in comfortable, safe churches.
"I am searching for My deliverers this year. I know where you are, and I will manifest Myself to you again and then put you back into service. I will go deep into the bush to draw forth the supply to advance My People into this next season. I have hidden supply in the bush, and I have been waiting on you to be ready to go into the bush to harvest that supply.

"I will start giving marching orders into the bushes, and from the bushes, you will start uncovering supply. Do not let thorns, confusion, or overgrowth stop you, for I will call you and send you into the bush. From the bush, you will draw out the supply I have for you. Listen for the sound calling you from the bush. I'm calling you from third world places. Listen carefully.

"I'm calling you up into mountainous regions. I have hidden supply that I will start uncovering now. As you pray through, I will bring it into the Body. Watch carefully, for I will bring supply into My kingdom from unexpected sources -- from those who do not know me. I will bring connections for My kingdom from those that will surprise you, so watch carefully at this time. I am awakening and drawing forth My remnant throughout the nations. This will be a time that I realign nations and raise up deliverers that will realign their nations with My covenant land."

DAILY REST
You have swallowed enemy lies to think that I would refrain from building you up in My love language to you. He accuses you of false pride to hear such things from My lips that build you up into your calling, and into your full inheritance as My sons and daughters. Yes, you have gone through a long season of stripping. And I do lower the mountains and make the crooked places straight. But I also raise up the valleys in your life. You have been over corrected for a very long time, and this has caused a wound. I AM trying to reach you through the many layers of false guilt and condemnation enshrouded and embedded into your heart.

The truth is that you have been so browbeaten with your own failings and the demonic accusations, that to add any rebuke from Me is totally unnecessary. My heart is to build you up, edify you, comfort you, strengthen you, establish you. I want you to intimately know and receive My greatest favor upon your life, that you will walk into your full measure of inheritance in Me, being given birthrights as My children. You are Mine! Would I not treat you as the jewel that you are to Me? Listen again as I affirm you and surround you in My language of love.

Song of Solomon 2:4-6
He brought me to the banqueting house, And his banner over me was love. Sustain me with cakes of raisins, Refresh me with apples, For I am lovesick. His left hand is under my head, And his right hand embraces me.

Cover The Garbage

COVER THE GARBAGE
When I call you to be a watchman, it is for the purpose of praying over matters which alarm and concern you. I expose and bring you these issues because I desire you to keep your watch by way of prayer. These issues are not for you to speak to others about, or spread gossip or division among the ranks. They are only exposed for you to cover in prayer.

Loved ones, if you are being swarmed with demonic backlash to the point you have lost your own resting place in Me, then you are following issues too closely. Take one step back, and return your focus to Me, and not man; to Me and not the demonic.

Listen and pray, watch and pray. You are sent to protect those you love, but you must also protect yourself. Cover the offense that defiles and smells. Leave it behind you. Retreat to a safe distance so that our sweet smelling intimacy with one another is not disturbed. Continue to watch and pray and serve Me well.

Deut 23:12-14 AMP
You shall have a place also outside the camp to which you shall go [as a comfort station]; And you shall have a paddle or shovel among your weapons, and when you sit down outside [to relieve yourself], you shall dig a hole with it and turn back and cover up what has come from you. For the Lord your God walks in the midst of your camp to deliver you and to give up your enemies before you. Therefore shall your camp be holy, that He may see nothing indecent among you and turn away from you.

Sons Of Thunder Sons Of Nurture

THE SONS OF THUNDER & SONS OF NURTURE
Fraternal brothers have circled the globe.
Piercing heaven and earth like a giant light strobe.
Different walks, different thoughts, but used by Me.
Pouring out great gifts to set others free.

Jacobs have wrestled for blessing and won.
Contending, not relenting, as My sons.
Strong in their grip with their mighty right hand.
They have fought for and won what they demand.

With passion and zeal, and noses like flint,
These wild bucking stallions, leave hoof prints.
Marking the land in which they have galloped,
Claiming their own boundaries, they have stood up.

Courageous and brave, they face pressing odds;
Not blinking an eye, and with feet well shod.
Nostrils are flaring, sharp ears are pulled back;
Equipped to conquer with nothing they lack.

The other brothers are those just content.
Whose strivings and purpose are already spent.
John laid down his thunder, with head on My chest.
Sups at My table as My friend, not a guest.

He's found contentment to so lean on Me
Knowing his weakness, he has found My key.
Both are My Sons whom My womb has held dear.
These are beloved Sons for whom I shed tears.

Two companies circle around the globe.
Both using My rod, and wearing My robe.
Each have a portion, My kingdom on earth.
My sons, My sons, bearing gifts of great worth.

Christ Jesus, the first born of His brethren
Was sent for My work that was Sovereign.
His brothers are twins, fraternal in love.
Same DNA through My heavenly dove.

Stand jointly and respect each of your gifts.

Having walked different paths, with eyes uplift.
You trust in Me, now face one another
Embracing the hearts of your dear brothers.

Now is the time where you need to repair.
You each have the part of what is not there.
Each member connects, uniting My man.
>From this is blessing, from whence I command.

Ps 133 NKJV
Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity! It is like the precious oil upon the head, running down on the beard, the beard of Aaron, running down on the edge of his garments. It is like the dew of Hermon, descending upon the mountains of Zion; for there the LORD commanded the blessing — fife forevermore.

What You Believe And What You Know

WHAT YOU BELIEVE AND WHAT YOU KNOW
Sometimes I take you on a meandering route instead of a straight line for a specific purpose. You stop and question if you are really following Me as you wonder at the new places stretching you. Trust that I really know how to equip you and train you for all that is coming your way.

There are ways of embedding My truth into your fibers that come only through experience. You might believe, but until you experience what you believe, it is not yet anchored. There are places in your faith which need the experience so you will be able to build toward future goals. Remember, even the devils believe. What you believe is in your mind and opinions. What you know is what you experience. When what you believe marries what you experience, it produces intimacy that can never be stolen from you.

Heb 8:10-11 NKJV
For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the LORD: I will put My laws in their mind and write them on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people. None of them shall teach his neighbor, and none his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' for all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

Doctrine And Unity

David Miller

I often feel as if I am being squeezed between two sets of friends. On the one hand, I have theological friends. They value truth, biblical doctrine -- the meat of God's Word. In a world sowed with Satan's lies, God's Word is our arbiter of truth. It is an anchor that holds us steady, a rudder to guide us, a lamp to light the way. If we abandon the deep things of God's Word, we will be easily fooled and led astray by the enemy's deception. When the pulpit proclaims the deep things of God's Word and the people are firmly grounded in His truth, Christians will grow strong, discern truth from error, and will understand God's will. For the church to function properly, they say, it must maintain doctrinal purity. And I agree with them!

I have other friends for whom the highest value is the unity of the body of Christ. Jesus died to redeem one body, they say, not many. On the night before he died, Jesus prayed that his disciples would be one. Schism in the body of Christ grieves the heart of God and is a personal affront to the blood Christ shed for the church. Besides, they point out, many of the doctrines we divide over really don't matter that much. Why should the church be fractured over petty doctrinal differences? God wants a unified church. And I agree with them!

And that is why I am torn. I love to study God's word in depth and teach it expositionally. I think Christians without a firm grounding in scriptures are swimming in shark infested waters. It is folly to reject doctrine in a world of lies. I am amazed at the persistent unwillingness among some to exercise biblical, doctrinal discernment. But I also see, among us "doctrinal" folks, a sometimes petty, critical nature. Some drop the h-bomb (heretic) on anyone who does not agree with any point of their cherished creed or doctrinal system. There is a superiority of attitude among us, the kind of schismatic behavior that Paul condemned in 1 Corinthians 11.

I would like to propose a middle ground, one that cherishes doctrine without disdaining unity in the body of Christ. Paul, in 1 Corinthians 15, identified the facts of the gospel (the death and resurrection of Christ) as "of first importance." Does not that imply that there are other doctrines that are of second importance? They are important, but not as important as salvation. Is my view of baptism, or the second coming, or of church polity, as important as whether I hold a biblical view of salvation? Can we maintain doctrinal purity without fracturing the unity of the body Christ died for? I believe we can.

Four Levels of Doctrine

I propose that there are four general levels of doctrinal truth. For each level, there is an appropriate "unity response" -- a way of dealing with those who would disagree. It is important that we understand each level and respond appropriately.

Level One: Brick Wall Doctrine

There is some truth around which we must construct a brick wall of separation and protection. Jude 3 says, "Dear friends, although I was very eager to write to you about the salvation we share, I felt I had to write and urge you to contend for the faith that was once for all entrusted to the saints." There is some doctrine which we must contend for, even to the point of separation. God's word is a sword, and swords divide. There are some doctrines that all must believe. If you do not believe them, you have denied the faith. There can be no unity in the body of Christ with those whose doctrines threaten the very existence of that body.

Some Christians are unwilling to admit that this level of truth even exists. But doctrines of first importance must be contended for in uncompromising measure. What are those doctrines? I would use 1 Corinthians 15 as a guide. Paul identifies the facts of the death and resurrection of Christ as of first importance. So, "Brick Wall" doctrine is that truth which is essential to the gospel of Christ. If you question the authority of God's Word, the foundation of the gospel crumbles. Salvation is grounded in a biblical view of a sovereign, triune God. There is no compromise on these doctrines. Salvation by grace through faith alone -- the exclusivity of salvation through Christ -- is essential doctrine. The fact of Christ's return to judge the world is necessary. Around these doctrines we must erect a brick wall -- tall and thick. Those who deny these truths are not brothers in Christ. They are wolves among the sheep. We do not fellowship with them, we contend with them.

Level Two: Picket Fence Doctrine

A picket fence is a friendly way of separating neighbors. It is not a brick wall that divides, it just establishes boundaries. You chat over the fence, have picnics together, watch over each other's homes and value the neighborhood you share. Around many doctrines we do not need a brick wall, but a simple picket fence.

Imagine if there was only one church in your city. How (and who) would you baptize? What form of church government would you use? Would you practice tongues or not? Instead of fighting over these issues, we form a "Christian neighborhood." Around the neighborhood is the brick wall of protection. Inside the neighborhood we have picket fences. We chat over the fence, fellowship together, watch over and bless each other and value our unity in Christ.

Yet, we keep the picket fence. We Baptists can baptize believers, have deacons and vote on everything. The Presbyterians can sprinkle babies. The Bible churches can have elders. The charismatics can speak in tongues and prophesy. The Methodists can methodize. We can all follow our convictions on our side of the picket fence. We try to be good neighbors, have as much fellowship as we can, then go back to our homes to follow Christ according to our beliefs.

There is a church less than a quarter mile from us. There are few doctrines (other than the basics of salvation) on which we would agree. Recently, they wanted to baptize some new Christians, but their building has no baptistery. We opened our doors and filled the tub. Neither of us compromised our doctrine, but we opened the gate in our picket fence, and had the neighbors over for a visit.

So, what doctrines are Picket Fence Doctrines? First would be beliefs about church structure and polity. Infant or believer's baptism? Deacons, Elders, ruling pastors? Congregational rule, elder rule, hierarchical rule? Why fight these doctrines? I am Baptist by birth, but also by conviction. I believe the Bible teaches baptism by immersion of believers. But I don't have to hate those who sprinkle babies. I can open the scriptures and show them what I see there, but until Christ comes again, we are going to have differences of interpretation in the Christian neighborhood.

It is considered a truism that denominations are divisive and evil. I disagree. As long as they are only picket fences in the Christian neighborhood, they allow us to practice our beliefs without having to fight every issue. It is when we erect brick walls of separation around our denominational differences that the problem comes. But the picket fences allow us to maintain friendship while following our individual convictions.

Some major doctrines that may require picket fences: Calvinists and Arminians view so many things differently. The question of God's sovereignty in salvation has been the watershed doctrine that has divided the church. Though I am opposed to Arminian doctrine, I know many who hold those views and have a passion for Christ equal or greater than my own. So what do we do? We stand at the picket fence and lovingly try to convince one another of our position. When the discussion is over, we shake hands and return to our homes where we worship with the folks who believe as we do.

It is not that these doctrines do not matter. They are crucial. But I must, in humility, recognize that it is possible for someone to be a good Christian who loves Jesus and still comes to a different position than I do on these issues. If someone preaches universalism, I erect a brick wall. No fellowship. There can be no unity with wolves. But if someone disagrees with me on election or predestination, we maintain a friendship over the picket fence.

So, the Christian neighborhood is surrounded by a brick wall that protects us from the wolves, the spiritual predators. Inside that wall, we live in unity. Each of us has our own home, separated by picket fences, but we work hard to build a unified community inside the brick wall. I may not worship at First Assembly, or River of Life, or New Covenant, or Calvary Baptist, but I can still recognize them as my Christian neighbors.

Level Three: Backyard Doctrine

Even if you live in the same home, you don't always agree about everything. You sit on your deck in the backyard and talk about all kinds of things. Every doctrine of scripture is important. It is important to figure out how the world will end. We can debate the North and South Galatian theories and who wrote the book of Hebrews. We may sit in the backyard and talk about these things, but they do not affect our fellowship and we should never divide over them. Not even a picket fence is needed.

The most obvious example of backyard doctrine is eschatology. Our church has dispensational premillennial pretribulationists (wow -- that's a mouthful), premillennial posttribulationists, and Amillennialists. Who knows, maybe there is a postmillennialist hiding behind a pew somewhere. I think this doctrine matters. Every Christian should study scripture and decide what he believes. But I can see no reason why eschatology should be a point of fellowship.

If a doctrine affects salvation, erect a brick wall. If it affects the fellowship or functioning of the church, erect a friendly picket fence. But if the doctrine affects neither, then sit in the backyard talking about it, but never let it become a point of division.

Level Four: Closet Doctrine

A closet is a place of privacy. Some things I believe, I should just keep to myself. I should follow the Lordship of Christ and permit other Christians to do the same. In the early church, the question was whether a Christian should eat meat sacrificed to an idol. Paul told the Romans and Corinthians that each of us can follow our own conscience under Christ, and keep our opinions to ourselves. In 1 Corinthians 8 through 10, and in Romans 14 and 15, Paul spent a long time explaining this principle of personal freedom to his churches.

For us, the issues are observing the Sabbath (or what day to observe it), or taking a glass of wine, or going to the movies, or dietary preferences, or…the list is long. Paul commands that those who say no on disputable issues should not condemn those who say yes and those who say yes should not disdain those who say no. Each of us seeks to be obedient to Christ on these matters and allows others to do the same. We also should be willing to limit our freedom to be a blessing to others.

Three Final Considerations

First, each of us must study the Word of God and try to assign each doctrine to its proper category. We will not always agree where doctrines fit, but with the Spirit's guidance, we can uphold doctrine without sacrificing unity. Here are the questions I would ask. Is this doctrine essential to the salvation offered by God in Christ? If it is, then erect a brick wall around it. Is this doctrine essential to the fellowship or functioning of our church? If so, then erect a picket fence is needed. If the doctrine affects neither salvation nor fellowship, no fence is needed at all.

Second, great damage is done to the purity of the church when doctrines are moved to lower levels than they deserve. If we compromise fundamental doctrine for the "unity of the church" we endanger the very nature of the church. We cannot treat important doctrines like matters of personal conscience. If we do, we sin against the Lord who bought us.

Third, great damage is done to the unity of the body when doctrines are moved to a higher level than they deserve. I saw a bumper sticker recently: "If it ain't King James, it ain't Bible." Here is someone who is making the choice of a Bible version a test of faith. Something that should be left to category 3 or 4 is being moved up to category 1. That fractures the body of Christ. I should not question someone's Christian commitment because they believe the church will go through the tribulation or because they speak in tongues or baptize infants. I cannot treat these issues as if they were in category 1. If I do, I offend the blood of Christ that was shed to redeem One Body.

Some issues, I should keep to myself and allow you to do the same. Around other issues, I erect a picket fence. We can have deep friendships in the Christian neighborhood, even if we maintain separate homes. Around certain issues, I must erect a brick wall. Luther said, "Here I stand, I can do no other." There are doctrines worth contending for.

Lord, help us to always know which truth fits in which category, so that the Christian neighborhood can be protected from its enemies and still experience the unity you desire.

Day Of Fasting

Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite, Oct. 7, 2005

Since I have had to completely revamp my mailing lists, thus if you received this by mistake please reply with in the subject line "remove". Sorry for the inconvenience.

This week, in a conversation with friends visiting from the U.S., the subject of New Orleans came up and evolved into an interesting discussion. It was mentioned that some people believe that the destruction was a direct result of America's policies toward Israel. The Muslims, for their part, are claiming that the devastation, affecting millions in the southern United States, occurred because of the American invasion of Iraq. Then there are those who believe that YHVH is judging iniquity and sin as He did Sodom and Gomorra. And according to the more pragmatic ones, global warming has brought about the problems, while yet others are attributing the situation to the random activities of "Mother Nature" (coupled with human negligence and mismanagement).

But be the reasons what they may, the fact is that hundreds of thousands have been bereft of loved ones, left without homes, jobs and communities to return to. Likewise in Israel, the Disengagement left many without jobs, homes and a future. Overnight several thousand people went from security to uncertainty, confidence to despair. And so, regardless of the reasons that brought about these distressing situations, what should our response be?

As we all know, the Day of Kippur is ahead of us, a day for fasting and afflicting our souls. Let us take a moment to consider our true motivation for the fast. As I was doing some of my own stock taking, I was reminded of our ancient ancestors in Jerusalem who were quite assured of their righteousness. Seeking YHVH daily they seemed to search out His ways, they did not forsake His ordinances and were rigorous in performing His word. As a nation they did what they thought was acceptable in His eyes. Yet, on the day of the fast, although they afflicted their souls, they also complained that YHVH did not see nor take notice of them (ref Isaiah 58:2-3). YHVH's response to their piousness and complaint was short and sweet. Being aware of the true condition of their hearts, He describes their fast and the motivation behind it: "Indeed you fast for strife and debate, and to strike with the fist of wickedness… to make your voice [be] heard on high" (Isaiah 58:4), so that He would look down at their sackcloth and ashes.

YHVH then goes on to explain to them how He sees this day of fasting: "Is this not the fast that I have chosen: to loose the bonds of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, to let the oppressed go free, and that you break every yoke…the pointing of the finger and speaking wickedness? Is it not to share your bread with the hungry, and that you bring to your house the poor who are cast out; when you see the naked, that you cover him, and not hide yourself from your own flesh?" (Isaiah 58:6-7).

These religionists no doubt were very offended by these words. YHVH, however, went on to point to the right kind of fast, telling them that if they would do what He instructed the rewards would be everything that they had ever desired and more.

“If you extend your soul to the hungry and satisfy the afflicted soul, then your light shall dawn in the darkness, and your darkness shall be as the noonday. Your light shall break forth like the morning, your healing shall spring forth speedily, and your righteousness shall go before you; the glory of YHVH shall be your rear guard. Then you shall call, and YHVH will answer; You shall cry, and He will say, 'Here I am’. YHVH will guide you continually, and satisfy your soul in drought, and strengthen your bones; you shall be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters do not fail. Those from among you shall build the old waste places; you shall raise up the foundations of many generations; and you shall be called the Repairer of the Breach, the Restorer of Streets to Dwell In” (Isaiah 58:10-12).

Going back to our subject of Sodom and Gomorra, my friend asked me what was the sin that caused YHVH to judge them. I gave him the standard answer: sodomy, homosexuality etc. In response he pointed out an observation made by the prophet Ezekiel millennia after the devastation of these two cities: "Look, this was the iniquity of your sister Sodom: She and her daughter had pride, fullness of food, and abundance of idleness; neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy. And they were haughty and committed abomination before Me; therefore I took them away as I saw fit” (Ezekiel 16:49-50).

It was no other than the virtuous Jerusalem which was being addressed here and compared to Sodom, in addition YHVH also decries the following: "Your elder sister is Samaria, who dwells with her daughters to the north of you…” (ve. 46).

As the Day of Atonement draws near, oh children of the sons of Jerusalem and Samaria, let us pray that YHVH’s words will fill our heart and that we will gain an understanding of the kind of fast required of us, so that we may truly be pleasing to our Elohim.

Shabbat Shalom

Day of Repentance

National Day of Repentance: Thursday, October 13

October 10, 2005

I sought the Lord on January 1st for a word for 2005 and got a doozy. It was in fact one word – the word "vengeance." I trembled for several days, and still do, knowing that it is God's vengeance He was talking about and His patience had suffered long. My Webster's Collegiate Dictionary told me that "vengeance" means to lay claim to avenge, punishment inflicted in retaliation for an offense: with great force or vehemence and to an extreme or excessive degree. 2005 has already been a year of catastrophic events, and I believe it is only the beginning of possible shaking that can take place, but the Bible teaches us that no decree is impervious to heartfelt repentance.

In 2004 the LORD had told me that the next move of God was "The Great Quakening" with the awesome, reverential fear of the Lord being its hallmark. I can go on and on about what the LORD taught me about this next great move, but suffice it to say that He is in the midst of shaking everything that can be shaken (Hebrews 12:27-29). Yes, Jesus is the Lover of our souls, but at the same time He is also the Judge, which in the pictorial language of Hebrew means the door of life. All He does is for the purpose of promoting abundant life, even when we see death and destruction all around us His ultimate purpose is LIFE.

As many of you know we are in the High Holy Days of the Hebraic Calendar. Rosh ha Shana began October 3, 2005. On this day, the Jewish people understand that the heavens open up to receive the prayers and repentance of God's people; and they have ten days until the end of the Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur) until the heavens close sealing their fate for the coming year. Although God's people can pray and repent any and every day, I believe that we are in an especially kairos (right/ripe) time to go one-way or another. The direction we will take this coming year, as individuals and as a nation, will be dependent on God's people repenting with sincere hearts. It is not just a coincidence that the word for "return to God" (la-shuv) comes from the same Hebrew root as the word repent (teshuvah).

After the LORD told me that the word for the year was "vengeance," I ate much carpet seeking what He was saying and what was my part. He told me that He wanted a National Day of Repentance. I told Him, "Okay. Who? What? When? Where? How? And Why me?" I sought the Lord for some time before He told me that the National Day of Repentance was already laid out in His Word in Leviticus 23. Other than the three pilgrimage festivals (Passover, Pentecost and Tabernacles), there are two dates on the Biblical calendar which the LORD says are "My appointed times" (Levitcus 23:2) – a nameless holy day observed on the first day of the seventh month of Tishri (later known as Rosh Hashana) and Yom Kippurim – the Day of Atonement (a national day of repentance).

Biblical Yom Kippur is primarily a priestly institution performed in the sanctuary by the High Priest (Kohen Gadol). How perfect that the Lamb of God made us "to be a kingdom and priests to our God" (Revelation 5:10) for "Jesus has become the guarantee of a better covenant" (Hebrews 7:22) holding "His priesthood permanently" (Hebrews 7:24) as "a high priest" and "minister in the sanctuary" "in the true Tabernacle" (Hebrews 8:1-2). This "mediator of a new covenant" (Hebrews 9:15) -- Jesus -- is Christ in us the hope of glory (Colossians 1:27). It is time for His "royal priesthood," His "holy nation" (1 Peter 2:9) to humble ourselves and seek His face and pray and proclaim the excellencies of Him who called you. In the Old Testament, the Day of Atonement was the only day the priest could be in God's presence (Leviticus 16:2); therefore, another term for the Day of Atonement is "Face to Face." Although the ability for us to talk to Him face-to-face is available every day to believers in Christ, I believe that there are especial opportunities to come closer; and October 13, 2005 is one of those once in a lifetime opportunities.

I continued to seek my Beloved about what He wanted for the National Day of Repentance when five months later He showed me the "Thirteen Attributes." Little did I know at the time, but the passage of "The Thirteen Attributes of God" (Exodus 34:6-7) is recited, by His observant Jewish people, three times on the festivals and on the Days of Awe. These "Thirteen Attributes" are an expansion and reworking of the description of God in the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20:5-6), but the new description in Exodus 34 emphasizes the compassionate nature of God to an even greater extent. The Sinai covenant only hinted at God's forgiveness while the "Thirteen Attributes" makes God's merciful nature explicit. The Talmud says, that the Holy One drew His robe around Moses and showed him how to pray, 'Whenever Israel sins, let them recite [the Thirteen Attributes] before Me and I will forgive them.' … A covenant has been made concerning the thirteen attributes that [the people] will not be turned away empty-handed. (B. Rosh Hashanah 17b).

According to Jewish tradition, the day of the first forgiveness in the Bible was the day that Moses returned with the second set of Tablets (Ten Commandments), which signified that God had forgiven the nation for the sin of the Golden Calf. Moses also received God's assurance of forgiveness in the form of the "Thirteen Attributes." This day of first forgiveness was the first time the word "forgiveness" or "pardon" appears in Scripture (Exodus 34:9). This day of first forgiveness became the time when, forever after, Israel (God's people) was summoned by God to come together to receive forgiveness. It is not surprising that Exodus 34:6-7 became the cornerstone of the liturgy of forgiveness during the High Holy Days season.

I think it is time for God's "Christian" family return to our ancient root that taps into the LORD's fundamental essence of mercy through the two pillars of the Yom Kippur: God is merciful and forgiving, and sincere confession brings forgiveness and atonement. Christians know, as Jews know, that there is no intermediary that stands between us and God when we seek absolution and forgiveness. God alone can wash away sin and cleanse us completely from it. The Day of At-one-ment is a day when the world is left behind, when all barriers between human beings and God are eradicated. On this day, we can enter a new dimension, the realm of holiness where self is negated and we are all equal before God. Despite all the concern of sin, atonement, forgiveness, mercy and justice that pervades the High Holy Days, if pressed to condense their significance into one word I would choose "life." Yom Kippur deals with death and renunciation, but only so that we may return to life purified and reinvigorated.

So… on Thursday October 13, 2005 -- the Day of Atonement – the National Day of Repentance appointed by God, let us exist in another sphere. Let's come before the LORD confessing any wrongdoing so repentance and forgiveness can be achieved; then let us proclaim together as one voice the "Thirteen Attributes of Mercy" as explained in more detail in my other document entitled the "National Day of Repentance." Let us do this for ourselves, but also for our nation, for we all hang precipitously close to either life or death. The Lord is saying to us, "See, I have set before you today life and death, the blessing and the curse. So choose life in order that you may live. Consecrate yourselves for the future." (Deuteronomy 30:15,19)

The heavenly gates opened on Rosh Hashana are called the "Gates of Mercy," which traditionally are said to close at the end of the Day of Atonement. The name "Gates of Mercy" alludes to the gate by the same name in the Eastern Wall of the Temple compound. It is said that through this Beautiful, Golden, Eastern Gate -- this Gate of Mercy -- the Messiah will enter Jerusalem. Let us take this golden opportunity of mercy to return, after the existing in another sphere, transformed and full of life. L'chaim! To life!

The Lord Bless You and Keep You.

NATIONAL DAY OF REPENTANCE

October 13, 2005 – The Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur)
Joy to the World Foundation
Robin Main, mainline1@comcast.net

"The Thirteen Attributes of Mercy" God taught Moses after Israel stood at the edge of doom after having worshiped the Golden Calf. God's instruction included the wisdom that no decree is impervious to heartfelt repentance and prayer.

The purpose of Creation is to bring glory to God; and perhaps this eternal destiny of those made in His image spurred Moses to ask God to "Show me Your glory" (Exodus 33:18). In actuality, this was a request for a greater perception of God's ways. Even angels, who are purely spiritual beings, cannot approach the fullness of God's essence. However, God agreed to show Moses the highest degree of revelation that man is capable of assimilating (vs 19) in addition to teaching Moses the most efficacious order of prayer (Exodus 34:6-7).

As much as Moses was able to comprehend, the Lord showed Moses His glory; i.e. Divine goodness (Exodus 33:19). Specifically, God showed Moses His incredible mercy and how His people can enlist it through their prayers. God's mercy is not only always available, but effective in that the store of His mercy is infinite and His heart is for "mercy to triumph over judgment" (James 2:13). One does well to remember that a person needs to perform or "be" the prayer, not merely recite it. "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall receive mercy." (Matthew 5:7).

Before God taught Moses how to draw near His throne of grace to receive mercy and find grace to help in time of need (Hebrews 4:16), Exodus 34:4-5 tells of Moses complete obedience to God's instructions. In the morning Moses brought two stone Tablets, which he personally carved, up to the top of Mount Sinai, and waited until God descended in a cloud and stood with him there.

The first thing God showed Moses was how to prevent the sort of national catastrophe that nearly provoked Him to wipe out the nation. He showed Moses a prayer that always invokes His mercy when spoken with a sincere hearts. This prayer, "The Thirteen Attributes of Mercy," is recited during times of crisis when people need to beseech God to show us mercy. Traditionally, these times of crisis are: on the Day of Atonement, fast days, in time of threatening calamity, and every day. "The Thirteen Attributes of Mercy" contains thirteen Names and descriptions of God – all referring to His compassion in various situations.

God called out to Moses (Exodus 34:5) teaching him the prayer of goodness as He promised (Exodus 33:19): "The LORD, the LORD God, compassionate and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in lovingkindness and truth; who forgives iniquity, transgression and sin…" (Exodus 34:6-7).

Some of the attributes may seem to be identical, but commentators explain that they apply to all sorts of people who have varying degrees of merit. The Jewish Sages teach that God shows favor even to people who are undeserving. God showed Moses all the treasuries of reward stored up for the righteous; then Moses saw a large, unlabeled storehouse, and he asked whom it was for. God told him that it was reserved for those who did not have their own merits – the treasury of Heavenly favor. Some degrees of mercy apply to the very righteous (knowing that our own righteousness is filthy rags, but we can store up treasures in heaven) and some to those less so; some to those who repent out of love for God and some to those who repent out of fear, and so on.

Let's breakdown "The Thirteen Attributes of Mercy" prayer so we can pray with understanding. The Hebrew translation of Exodus 34:6-7 reads: "HASHEM, HASHEM, God, Compassionate and Gracious, Slow to Anger, and Abundant in Kindness and Truth; Preserver of Kindness for thousands of generations. Forgiver of Iniquity, Willful Sin, and Error, and Who Cleanses…"

1. HASHEM – This Name denotes mercy and appears twice, because it refers to two different kinds of mercy. This first HASHEM refers to God being merciful before a person sins, even though He knows that future evil lies dormant in a person.
2. HASHEM – The second declaration of HASHEM denotes that even after someone has sinned, God mercifully accepts his repentance.

3. God – This Name denotes power, and implies a greater degree or portion of mercy than indicated by the Name HASHEM.

4. Compassionate – God eases the punishment of the guilty and does not put people into temptation.

5. And Gracious – God is gracious even to the undeserving saving people from distress once it has overtaken them.

6. Slow to Anger – God is slow to anger with both the righteous and the wicked. God is patient giving people time to reflect, improve and repent instead of punishing sinners immediately.

7. And Abundant in Kindness – He is kind even to those who lack personal merit.

8. And Truth – God never reneges on His Word to reward those who serve Him.

9. Preserver of Kindness for thousands of generations – The kindness here refers to the good deeds of people, which God regards as if they had done Him kindnesses.

God forgives three categories of sin and each forgiveness is reckoned as a separate Attribute:

10. Forgiver of Iniquity – God forgives intentional sin when the sinner repents.

11. Forgiver of Willful Sin – God forgives a sin that is committed with the intention of angering God. Even so, such a serious transgression will be forgiven with repentance.

12. Forgiver of Error – God forgives sins committed out of apathy or carelessness.

13. And Who Cleanses – God always cleanses anyone who repents of his sin so that the effect of the sin vanishes. However, if one does not repent with a genuinely sincere heart that person does not receive cleansing.

On the Day of Atonement, Moses returned from his third and last forty-day period during which God taught him the entire Torah again.

On the Day of Atonement, God became reconciled to the nation as Moses carried the second Tablets of the Ten Commandments written by the finger of God down Mount Sinai into the camp.

On the Day of At-one-ment this year – October 13, 2005 – let us proclaim God's Thirteen Attributes of Mercy. Let us pray for the godly sorrow for our nation that is according to God's will and produces repentance that leads us to being saved (2 Corinthians 7:10).

Let us pray and proclaim with sincere hearts:

"The Lord, The Lord, God, Compassionate and Gracious, Slow to Anger, and Abundant in Kindness and Truth; Preserver of Kindness for thousands of generations. Forgiver of Iniquity, Willful Sin, and Error, and Who Cleanses…" (Exodus 34:6-7)

Additionally, you may want to declare Psalm 136… His mercy does endure forever!

END

Don't Be Afraid To Step Outside The Box

Betty Heimback

“Do not be afraid to step outside the box. Allow Me to stretch you and to enlarge your borders. I have much more for you than you have dared to imagine. Oh the joys of walking steadily in My anointing! Draw close and give yourself fully to Me and watch what I do!

“The only limit on My Holy Spirit is your capacity to receive. I send you vessels to be filled with My Spirit in the form of needs and trials that come. These are the opportunities for you to receive more of Me, more of My Holy Spirit. I have an overflow for you. I have abundance for you and for those around you. Open yourself to Me and allow Me to fill you to overflowing.

“Don’t draw back from what I’m calling you to do. Don’t shrink back from all that I’ve chosen you to walk in. The slightest resistance to My will, the smallest disobedience, the tiniest neglect of walking fully in the call on your life results in problems. It slows down My plan. It hinders your walk with me and My plan for your life. Leave the choice to Me.

“The rest you seek will not be found in leisure time, in recreation or reclining on your bed. The rest you seek comes in leaning fully on Me in complete surrender to My will and My way. Seek Me – then yield completely to My direction. Give up all your ideas and walk in My direction according to My plan. There you will find peace and rest in Me.”

Do Church or Be Church

Don Hawley

If you are not already a member of a small, independent, Spirit-directed home fellowship, I hope the following comparison might be an encouragement to take such a step.

One model of ‘church’	A different model of ‘church’
Attractional—expecting people to come to church (assuming that the average unchurched person wants our message, at least as we have traditionally presented it)	Incarnational—the church going to the community, living as Christ in the world, not trying to get others to fulfill some agenda or program I am trying to run, trying to help them on their journey.
Assimilation—measuring church effectiveness by how many people come to church	Formation—measuring church effectiveness by changes in lives and communities
Dualistic—dividing the sacred and secular, believing God is met in the ‘sacred’	Unified—God is present and active in all of life. We can experience God encounters in everyday events. We hallow the everyday.
Hierarchical—using a ‘top down’ corporate management system, strongly distinguishing between clergy and laity.	Priesthood of all believers—emphasizing everyone’s gifts and ministry. Everyone is involved in mission. Clergy equip everyone for ministry.
Event-oriented—groups of people gathering in rows	Everyday-oriented—seeing 24/7 lives as the priority expression of mission in communities, companies and homes

Building-oriented—The church meets in specially designated buildings.	People-oriented—The church meets anywhere people meet.
Styling church gatherings after the 1950's or 1980's	Gleaning the best spiritual disciplines of the ages
Destination—making 'decisions'	Journey—movement toward Christ, continual living for Christ
Centralized—getting everyone to do the same thing at the same time, maintaining control	Decentralized—valuing differences and uniquenesses among people and groups, more spontaneous and creative
Breadth—The bigger the church, the better it can 'perform' for people.	Depth—The deeper the relationships, the more effectively (God through) the church can transform people.
Souls	Whole persons
Being separate from the world	Living in the world
Emphasis on denominational distinctives	Emphasis on Jesus who unites
Missions is a program of the church, something leaders can schedule and budget.	Mission is the essence of the church; the core issue.
Offering support for others who do mission	Living without debt so we can be free to go and minister

Don't Doubt The Dreams Of Intercession

Diana Mourey

And don’t doubt the things that I will show you. Don’t doubt the dreams of intercession. Don’t doubt, for you have not cried out to move into that realm of the supernatural? Have you not cried out to be my intercessor? Don’t doubt, but move accordingly to the things that I place within your heart, and within your mind, even in the night hour of your sleep as the battle rages around you. Yes, I give you peace while you sleep but the battle goes on. There is warfare going on in the heavenlies and in your spirit, as my spirit within you rises up against those things going on around you, it will be accomplished; it will be accomplished; it will be accomplished.

Even that calling of intercessor causes you to move as I would move even when your mind would not comprehend. Even when your mind does not have understanding, flow with that which I place within your spirit man. Let the intercessions flow; let them come forth. Let the dreams take their place in intercession. For I will not always give the understanding of dreams; I will not always give the interpretation, but know this, saith God, they are real. They are happening in the spirit realm. As your spirit and my spirit within you deals with the things that have to be dealt with, then so be it.

Don’t take time even to question. Don’t say, “But God, is this of you; how can this be of you, because I don’t understand it?” Lean not to your own understanding, saith God, but rather trust that the things that you have cried out for, the things that you have asked of Me, would I not delight in raising you up as my intercessor? Would I not delight in bringing you forth to that place of even standing in the line of attention that I’ve called you to, yea some being on the front line more than others, but all having their place. The back line is just as important as the front line in my Kingdom, saith God. It’s according to how well you fulfill your place that I’ve called you into.

And you say in your heart, “But I’ve never had a dream; I’ve never had a vision.” Well, get ready, saith God, for you’re moving into that time, into that season, into that place that I’ve called you into. For much is going on and much will be accomplished.

Deceptive Teaching

Vern Kuenzi

The Deceptive Pre-Tribulation Rapture Teaching

I continue to be astonished by the resistance of those who adhere to the pre-tribulation rapture teaching and are closed to further discussion on the subject. I occasionally post on forums, and it never fails to amaze me how untouchable the subject can even be. I believe there really is a supernatural blinding taking place which is above and beyond logic. I’m not hesitant to say that I believe the devil is intentionally trying to keep the church deceived about this subject. It is in the devil’s best interests to keep the church in the dark, because it is the church that Jesus has authorized to overcome all the works of the devil. The devil knows that, even if the church doesn’t.

One of the problems with the pre-tribulation rapture teaching is that it inherently sees no purpose for the church to be on earth at the end of the age. But God has tremendous purposes for His church on earth at the very end of the age which involve His glory. And the Bible doesn't keep it secret. Ephesians 3:8-12 says (paraphrasing) that God's eternal purpose in Christ Jesus and the reason He created all things is to demonstrate His wisdom through the church to the powers and authorities (the devil and his fallen angels) in the heavenly places.

The fulfillment of that awesome destiny can only take place during the last three and one-half years of the age when the saints go head-to-head with the antichrist system and overcome it by the Blood of the Lamb, the word of their testimony, and by not loving their lives unto death.

Basically to teach that the church won't be on earth during that time is to miss the crux of the eternal purpose of why God created the church in the first place. The last days of this age will be the time of the greatest testimony of the church on earth throughout all history.

Everything that Jesus has in mind for His glorious church will come to fruition during that period of time. No one but Satan himself could have conceived the plot to see the church so deceived that they do not even perceive it.

No wonder Jesus said that many will fall away and the love of most will grow cold. The church doesn't have a clue what's coming. Jesus’ first warning about the end of the age was to beware of deception.

I realize this is the same note being sounded over and over again. But somewhere someone may hear this for the first time.

Blessings in Him,

Vern Kuenzi

Declare It
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Oct 16th, 2005

Declare My Word to the nations and speak TRUTH to the lost. Do not hold back your voices any longer. NOW IS THE TIME. NOW IS THE TIME TO WORSHIP, TO DECLARE MY PRAISES TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH !
Raise up your voices and shout from the rooftops what you hear in your ear.
Stop cowering in the corner and declare BOLDLY the truth.
HOW WILL THEY KNOW WITHOUT A PREACHER ?

Rom 10:14-15 NKJV How then shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher ? 15 And how shall they preach unless they are sent? As it is written: "How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the gospel of peace, Who bring glad tidings of good things!"

Be led by the Spirit of TRUTH. Ask what to speak and I will fill your mouth !
Do not turn away from the opportunity of saving souls any longer. I will hold you accountable if you do not speak up when I tell you to ! I will hold that man or woman, or child’s soul to your account ! Be open to listening to me in the grocery store, in the market, in the workplace, in the home of your friend. Speak what I give you to speak, and I will follow it with signs and wonders. Be obedient to the Spirit. Walk in the light as I am in the light.
Do not fear any longer what man can do to you.

Spend time with ME in the secret place and I will give you things to declare in the open ! I will give you the Spirit of might that you might be BOLD in proclaiming the good news, and being My witnesses to the ends of the earth.
Lay aside all fear and trepidation. Take steps forward, one by one, and I will INCREASE in you, as you obey ME. I did not come to lead the righteous to salvation. I came for the LOST sheep. So now I ask you to go for ME ?
Will you go for US? Will you seek what to speak and speak it in obedience to My will. For if you do this, I will give you MORE. But if you cower in fear like those in Gideons time, you will be disqualified for service !

Come to Me and buy gold refined in the fire. Come to ME and I will clothe you in new garments. I have new clothes for you to wear. Each of you has new clothes befitting the son or daughter of the KING of KINGS and the LORD OF LORDS ! I would dress you in robes of PURPLE so that you might remember Whose you are ! I would dress you in robes of RED so you would remember My blood shed for you. But the robe that I will give you is a robe of sackcloth and poor man’s clothing, because I have called you to HUMILITY, not to pride or arrogance. The New CLOTHES I will save for when you come home to ME…if you will but wear this robe of humility yet while on earth ! This is the way to greatness. This is the way to My heart.

Renounce the world and all it offers, for you cannot serve two masters. You will love one and hate the other if you try. You can only serve ONE MASTER, if you go the narrow path. So come to ME, and allow ME to choose the new garments for you. I want you to wear fine white linen in the Spirit, that you don't do things in your own efforts anymore, but are led ONLY by My Spirit, not by your flesh or striving to please Me. I have not given you a spirit of fear, but of power, and love and a sound mind. Cast off the old garments of the flesh and put on the new garments of the Spirit.

Be led of MY SPIRIT and you will be able to go through anything unscathed until it is time to go home. I will do STARTLING MIRACLES if you will listen to ME, and follow MY LEAD IN THIS FINAL DANCE ! I am calling you to the bridal chamber where I can speak sweet secrets in your ear. You and I will walk together in My gardens of reknown, and in the gardens of the earth. There will be good times, hard times, and terrible times, but there will be GLORY enough for all who will wear this garment of humility as I did.

You are carrying around too much weight in the spirit. You are holding on to your own ideas of how I will do things. You are holding on to earthly possessions that mean nothing in the next world. What will it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his soul. Do you want to pay the price the rich man paid in the parable of him and Lazarus ? [Luke 16] Some of you I will call to keep your homes. Some of you I will call to leave your homes. Some of you I will call to stay where you are. Some are called to be like nomads, going from one place to another, gathering up sheaves. So listen for the still small voice. Will you really lay it all down for ME ? Will you truly love ME and obey ME ? It is a time for death to man's opinions and ways of doing things.

Some of you still go to man before coming to ME for an answer on what to do. You are so habitually reliant on the ways of the world, and here I am waiting for you to be silent and inquire of ME ! When will you learn that I love you, and to whom I love and cherish, I will reveal great and marvelous things you do not know.

To some I speak in parables and poems. To some I speak in dreams and visions. To some I speak plainly and face to face. But I am speaking if you will only listen and quiet yourself and WAIT on ME . Do not be impatient as the world is ! You cannot hear if you are always doing the talking.

Listen and obey, and I will end the fray
Listen to My voice, and sing and rejoice
For I am coming down to speak and offer My crown
I am coming to save the day, if only you will say
What I want you to say !
Do not prophesy to curse another
Do not take the sword to your brother
I am all power, and I am all love
I am coming down in the form of the Dove
I will not falter, or get you off course.
I am Your Master, and yet I do not force.
To your life I will add luster
Glory will fall cluster after cluster !
Praise Me in all the far away places and
I will pour down myriads of graces !
Worship together as you celebrate ME.
I will make you what you long to be !
I will bring showers of latter day rain.
To the harvesting there will be much gain !
I am increasing and to the love there will be no ceasing.

You will have plenty to gather & there'll be no decreasing
Of wondrous power I've been seeking to releasing !
Provision will come in unusual ways.
Extend your hands to all during the days.
I will release miracles in such unusual circumstances.
I will add fruit to all your advances !
Shrink not from the plow for I am coming NOW.
Sow and you'll REAP, you'll cry and you'll weep.
But to the tears, will I cough up the deep,
That harvest will come and a new tune you'll strum.
Life will no longer ever be humdrum !

Be Who I've Made You To Be
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Oct 12, 2005
"Be who I've made you to be ! Nothing less, nothing more.
October 12th, 2005

When you get up , you fall on the floor,
When you set down, you fall out the door
When you move out, you faint and you sit.
Never dreaming of all I have, to wit.

You dream and you tarry,
Your voice you do not marry
To the sound of Mine that you hear in your head
But I want you to listen and speak what I say instead

Do not think on your own all the time
Wait for My voice, and I will make it mine
I have the rhythm and I have the beat
I am not lax as some may entreat

I am the first and I am the last
I am the beginning of all things yet past
I am love and I am kindness
I am faith and not blindness

I never take back or steal from you what is yours
I never take away but I open all the doors.
I never am deaf to the cries of the hurting
Yet in the night, listen to all the screams and blurting

Of pain, and disdain, of joy and of laughter
Of prayers, and all moaning and hope for the hereafter
I listen to all who withstand the test
I listen to all who cannot find rest

I see the pain, and the wearing of a frown
I see the gain, and all the wearing down
Surely I'm great enough to end all the fray
But there is an order to the playing out of this day
What must come, it will
What must end, lays still.

Do not give up and do not give in
I will make an end of the dark and the din
I am Joy and I AM gladness
I release darkness and lift all sadness

To the end of oppressions, I am in the making
I will deliver all in the midst of the quaking
Do not look at things, as others see
But look in the midst of all, to see ME.

Desert Dwelling

Don Hawley

October 31, 2005

I have noted a pattern in the Word concerning certain Bible characters. Here are just a few examples:

1. Elijah (immediately after his great victory at Mt. Carmel) went 40 days into the wilderness to the mountain of God (Horeb), and lived in a cave. There he got acquainted with the “still, small voice of God”—which he wouldn’t have been able to hear as clearly in the rush of regular life.

2. Jesus, immediately after his baptism in the Jordon, was “urged by the Spirit out into the barren wastelands.” Here he wrestled with some very fundamental issues.

3. John the Baptist “shouted from the wilderness.” He went there to live after leaving his family home.

4. Solomon, the most favored man on earth of his time, ended up in the desert, spiritually. In spite of his great riches and fame, he concluded “All is vanity.”

5. The great apostle Paul didn’t catch the first flight out of Damascus for Jerusalem after his encounter with Christ. Instead he headed directly for the Arabian Desert.

6. Moses left his princely life in Egypt, and went far out into the desert where he remained for 40 years.

WHY GO TO THE DESERT?
The reason for spending time in the wilderness differs from person to person.

· Some feel battered by health problems, and just need a time to recuperate. Or to talk to God about the possibility of divine healing.
· Some are not suffering from any particular ailment, but just feel exhausted and in need of rest.
· Some feel overwhelmed by the stress of life, and are battling depression.
· Some find it difficult to keep up with the pace of modern life, and want to slow the pace for a time.
· Some want to become better acquainted with God, to know him more intimately.
· Some suspect there are untapped treasures to be found in meditation. New Agers stare at their own navel and intone “Om,” as they search for the pagan god within. Christians, however, focus on the transcendent God indwelling them through the Holy Spirit.
· Some simply want time to study deeply on a particular portion of Scripture that holds much promise.
· Some find they have a lot more questions than they do answers.

God may call the Body of Christ to spend corporate time in the desert.

When the Children of Israel refused to venture into the Promised Land, God sent them to the wilderness for a lengthy stay. Most of them died there.

I have little confidence in the vision-a-week “prophets” so prevalent on the Internet, but one of the few modern prophetic voices I trust is that of Marc Dupont. This is the man who accurately prophesied the great worldwide Renewal that began in Toronto, Canada, in 1994. I went there in 1995, and immersed myself in this unprecedented move of God. Those years were the happiest of my Christian experience, and I thought surely they would culminate in the return of our Lord. When the movement ebbed I, along with many others, was greatly disappointed and not a little bewildered.

In 1997, the prophetic voice of Marc Dupont was heard again. I won’t quote his entire message, but following are some key excerpts. He is speaking to the small congregation that gave birth to the Renewal.

“Because He (God) wants us to bear greater fruit, he is going to prune us. This pruning is not punishment . . .

“I have brought the empty and the dry from all over the world in ways you formerly would not have comprehended. I have brought them to you and you have been faithful. You have baptized them deep in my refreshing love and joy . . .

“But now is the time for John the Baptists to embrace a deeper death to self . . . If you will die to self, reputation, programs, and the way the river has been nourishing the people, I will take you into an even greater baptism.

“This baptism will not be in front of the crowds. It will be alone in your prayer closet. Instead of moments of great laughter you will experience moments of great sorrow . . .

“Do not trust in programs, systems, and way in which you have been ministering. Do not trust in your own resources, personnel, or strategies. I will do something far beyond what you are capable of imagining . . .

“I am calling you to leave the focus of the John the Baptist ministry and travel with my Son into the wilderness for a season of fasting and prayer. It can be lonely there. You will miss the parties, the laughter and the drunkenness. But . . . I will give you new ministries and a deeper anointing. I will give you the treasure of the secret places rather than the joy of the parties.

“I desire my joy to be even stronger within you. When you experience that joy you will have a strength for ministry you have never known before. This joy will be very contagious to the lost and broken outside of the existing church . . .

“Follow me into deeper things.”

Much of organized religion never did embrace the Renewal, so this message is not directed to them. It is directed to the Body of Christ, which is made up of everyone who has embraced Christ and his salvation, and walks with him—whether within a particular organization or not.

Because of work responsibilities, many Christians cannot take off for long vacations. Instead, they settle for mini-vacations as opportunity permits.

Just so, we often can enjoy mini-desert experiences. Frequently, Jesus called his disciples away from their busy ministry for just such quiet times. Scriptures seem to indicate that early each morning Jesus slipped away alone to experience a mini-retreat. It was there that he learned the Father’s plans for the day.

Your own “prayer closet” provides opportunity for a brief desert encounter with God.

The few days in the Upper Room offered the 120 a spiritual desert retreat. It was a brief period, but out of it burst the power of Pentecost! The wilderness is a great birthing place.

Is God calling you to the desert for spiritual refreshment? Feel the tug, but don’t have time? Some things we simply must take time for.

WHAT WILL ONE FIND IN THE DESERT?

Years ago I used to think my father was a bit weird, because every year he went to Arizona to spend his vacation in the desert. Later, when I came to know the desert better for myself, I understood his reasoning. I even enjoyed the strange beauty of Death Valley.

Do not think of the desert as a place of punishment. It has much to offer:

· For some it is a place of refuge.

· Peace is our legacy in Christ, but it hard to come by in the midst of the pace of modern life.
· Some great truths cannot be discerned when there is too much distraction. The wilderness offers opportunity to really focus.
· Every Christian should stop from time to time and honestly evaluate his or her life. This is easier in the desert.
· Without so many things clamoring for our attention, the desert offers a new intimacy with God.

"Be still, and know that I am God." Ps. 46:10.

WHEN SHOULD ONE LEAVE THE DESERT?

It is important not to leave the wilderness prematurely. Human nature dictates that we are loathe to enter, and eager to leave. The time those Bible characters previously mentioned spent in the desert varied from 40 days to 40 years.

Elijah left after receiving a new vision of God, and he had received orders to find and anoint Elisha.
Jesus left after 40 days to begin his worldly ministry.
Moses left, protesting, when God called him for one of the greatest assignments of all time.
Paul left the desert only after a spiritual schooling that went on for years.
John the Baptist left to go to prison, and martyrdom.

We will be tempted to leave on our own volition, but only the Holy Spirit knows when the time is right. Surely we can depend on him to give a clear signal.

"He gives power to those who are tired and worn out; he offers strength to the weak. Even youths will become exhausted, and young men will give up. But those who wait on the Lord will find new strength. They will fly high on wings like eagles. They will run and not grow weary. They will walk and not faint." Is. 40:29-31.

For most of us, waiting is not what we do best. However, if the troubles Jesus prophesied are just upon us, then we had better store up the strength that comes from waiting on the Lord.

ARE YOU WATCHING THE FATHER?

Somehow I seem to have missed the import of one of Christ's vital proclamations.

"Jesus replied, 'I assure you the Son can do nothing by himself. He does only what he sees the Father doing. Whatever the Father does, the Son also does. For the Father loves the Son and tells him everything he is doing . . .'" John 5:19-20.

Organized religion has taught us to be activists, even if the motivation is mainly to build up denominational rolls. Truly valuable church members are considered to be those who are exhausting themselves with multitudinous duties.

Jesus needed Holy Spirit guidance for his ministry, but not me. Like Peter, I went around whacking off ears in the name of the Lord.

Recently, I made a list of the initiatives I had conscientiously taken for the Lord over the years, and found that virtually all of them ended in failure. I do not take accolades from other humans as true signs of success.

Gideon needed a fleece, and Jonathan a sure sign, before taking on the enemy, but not me. I launched out on only those programs that obviously would greatly benefit the Kingdom, and hence God would have little choice but to get behind my efforts. Guess what. He has a choice! And he left me high and dry to warm myself at the ashes of my failed ventures.

God is not so desperate for ideas that he has to frantically latch on to mine. We need to rework the old adage to read, "Don't just do something; sit there!"

THERE IS ALSO A MATTER OF TIMING

When we do something for the Kingdom can be as important as what we do. The disciples were always trying to goad Jesus into action, but he would not be manipulated.

"Jesus' brothers urged him to go to Judea for the celebration. 'Go where your followers can see your miracles!' they scoffed. You can't become a public figure if you hide like this! If you can do such wonderful things, prove it to the world!' . . .

"Jesus replied, 'Now is not the right time for me to go . . . I am not yet ready to go to this festival, because my time has not yet come.'" John 7:6, 8.

Obviously, the timing for a work of the Lord is very precise. But once Jesus knew the Father's will, nothing could deter him.

"Morning by morning he wakens me and opens my understanding to do his will. The Sovereign Lord has spoken to me, and I have listened. I do not rebel or turn away. I give my back to those who beat me and my cheeks to those who pull out my beard. I do not hide from shame, for they mock me and spit in my face.

"Because the Sovereign Lord helps me, I will not be dismayed. Therefore, I have set my face like a stone, determined to do his will. And I know that I will triumph." Is. 50:4-7.

Personally, I think we are living in the holding pattern described in Revelation:

"Then I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding back the four winds from blowing upon the earth. Not a leaf rustled in the trees, and the sea became as smooth as glass. And I saw another angel coming from the east, carrying the seal of the living God. And he shouted out to those four angels who had been given power to injure the land and sea, 'Wait! Don't hurt the land or the sea or the trees until we have placed the seal of God on the foreheads of his servants.'" Rev. 7:1-3.

I also believe that holding pattern is about over.

"For he will finish the work, and cut it short in righteousness; because a short work will the Lord make upon the earth." Rom.9:28.

If he is going to finish his work, perhaps this would be a good time for us to retire to the desert. There we might be made privy to some of his plans, and even learn how we can plug in effectively.

Defeating Compromise
Paul Keith Davis

October 6, 2005

Clearly this nation and the church are presently going through a great shaking. Naturally, our first question is to understand the Holy Spirit's objective during this season. What do we need to gleam from these tests and trials?

As I have been asking the Lord this question, I was reminded of a prophetic article that Bob Jones and I brought several years ago. Much of our ministry has been centered on understanding prior moves of the Spirit to discover what was done properly and what caused the downfall of many.

According to Hebrews 13:7, we should study and contemplate the lives of our spiritual fathers and examine carefully the conduct of their actions. We are given the admonition to imitate their faith because Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever (Hebrews 13:7-8). If we meet the Lord on the same conditions of faith as our fathers, then He will do through us what He did through them and much more.

Many noble qualities exemplified the men and women who went before us. They were great pioneers and forerunners who paved the way for us to enjoy the many spiritual benefits we hold dear. Nevertheless, we also learn historically that every prior revival has been lost or never fully accomplished its original mandate.

Scrutiny of these revivals will highlight one principal spirit of a diabolical nature that has facilitated this demise. It can simply be identified as the "spirit of compromise."

It is our belief that a portion of this present shaking is intended to help us address this undermining snare so that the Spirit's release that is coming can be perpetually sustained.

A Graveyard of Warriors

In Bob's original vision, he saw many churches and spiritual movements allegorically portrayed as powerful warring women who had won many notable victories. Even so, he also discovered they came to an untimely demise. He was taken to a graveyard that held the remains of this army of God. Clearly, their lives had been taken prematurely without the full accomplishment of their destiny, and Bob's mission was to discover how such a thing could occur.

The churches portrayed in Bob's revelation had been mightily anointed. They had won great victories on behalf of their Bridegroom. Even though these "women" were incredible warriors, something tragic had occurred to precipitate their demise. How could such a powerful, warlike clan end with such violence and certainty, as characterized in the graveyard Bob observed?

This resulted from unknowingly embracing the spirit of compromise that facilitated the substitution of the spirit of this world instead of the Holy Spirit. What the enemy could not accomplish in head-to-head battle, he easily achieved through this deceptive snare.

This is actually the same strategy that Balaam utilized against Israel. When he was unsuccessful in cursing God's chosen people, he altered his approach. What he could not perpetuate in direct confrontation he easily accomplished through stumbling blocks and snares facilitated through compromise.

It is our present intent to again highlight this blueprint of the enemy in hopes of strengthening the church with the spirit of wisdom and revelation so that our heritage is not lost in this generation. The New Testament reminds us of this demonic strategy from the spirit of Balaam in both Jude and the book of Revelations. It is a battle that we must learn to win.

Work In Daylight; Rest At Night

Prophetically, there are appropriate times and seasons in God. There is a time to sow and then a time to reap; a time for working and then a time for rest.

"There is an appointed time for everything. And there is a time for every event under heaven-- A time to give birth and a time to die; a time to plant and a time to uproot what is planted. A time to kill and a time to heal; a time to tear down and a time to build up."* -- Ecclesiastes 3:1-3

Logistically, the church has not been very efficient in recognizing these seasons. As a result, we expose ourselves to the spirit of this world and end up compromising our standards when we do not adjust with the ebb and flow of God's Spirit. There is a way that seems right and appropriate to man's reasoning, but the end is destruction.

"We must work the works of Him who sent Me as long as it is day; night is coming when no one can work."* -- John 9:4

Spiritually speaking, the day is the proper time for work—night is not. This is the general and universal sentiment related to the release of spiritual light into a grossly dark generation. While the day lasts it is proper to labor.

In Bob's vision he saw Churches represented as noble women who had fought gallantly during daylight hours. However, they grew weary and impatient waiting upon their Bridegroom and eventually ventured out during the "night hours" and entered into promiscuity.

They had grown weary waiting upon their Bridegroom to fulfill His promises to her. Unwisely, they had joined themselves to men (who represented the spirit of this world or human reasoning) whose initial appearance seemed good and beneficial but whose heart was evil. This resulted in spiritual assassination when these women least expected it. However, the question remained, "What led them to such an inadvisable decision?" Of course, this is an allegorical depiction of spiritual realities.

After making these few observations, Bob desired to depart the graveyard that was actually a shrine to commemorate our enemy's victories. However, before he could do so, a very naturally appealing, "smooth-talking" man approached him. This man confronted Bob with the confidence and assurance of a professional salesperson. He explicitly displayed a mastery of the human language and could easily deceive someone with this gift. No doubt this is the way Satan approached the Lord Jesus during the 40 day wilderness temptation.

Immediately, Bob asked this man his identity. The man responded by identifying himself as compromise. It was compromise that was responsible for the death of these powerful women. They had compromised the genuine for a counterfeit. They had substituted the revealed word of God for the traditions of man.

"And He (Jesus) said to them, 'Rightly did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written: "THIS PEOPLE HONORS ME WITH THEIR LIPS, BUT THEIR HEART IS FAR AWAY FROM ME. BUT IN VAIN DO THEY WORSHIP ME, TEACHING AS DOCTRINES THE PRECEPTS OF MEN." Neglecting the commandment of God, you hold to the tradition of men.'"* -- Mark 7:6-8
But the Spirit explicitly says that in later times some will fall away from the faith, paying attention to deceitful spirits and doctrines of demons, by means of the hypocrisy of liars seared in their own conscience as with a branding iron."* -- 1 Timothy 4:1-2

Despite the women's powerful attributes and their numerous victories, their strength was no match for compromise. Compromise will always destroy the most powerful of warriors.

Samson was the most anointed man of his day; yet compromise in one small area of his life cost him the anointing and the many victories that could have been achieved had he remained faithful. It was the Lord's great grace that restored Samson in the end and allowed one final victory with his death.

However, it would have been the much greater testimony to remain faithful to the end giving no place to compromise.

Inconceivable as it may seem at first; this was the same bold form by which the enemy embodied the idea of entrapping the Lord by a compromise with evil at the outset of the Lord's earthly ministry. It was an appeal to the holy purpose for which the Lord came into the earth, but upon the grounds of doing evil that good might come. Satan offered the kingdoms of this world to the Lord through an unholy alliance and a compromise of the plan of God.

The Kingdom was to be won, but in the way ordained by God and in the manner foretold in scripture. Compromise will claim to carry us to the goal we are destined to achieve in a way that seems expedient and convenient, but the end is destruction. There is a way which seems right to a man, but its end is the way of death (Proverbs 14:12).

The Death of Compromise

In Bob's vision, a holy jealousy and righteous anger arose in his heart because of the damage caused by compromise. He knew that compromise had to be destroyed, and the only weapon for this purpose is the same one the Lord Jesus utilized in His confrontation with this spirit -- The Word of God.

The living Word is like a mighty sword that forges deep into the heart of this enemy. As The Scriptures declare,

For the word of God is living and active and sharper than any two edged sword, and piercing as far as the division of soul and spirit, of both joints and marrow, and able to judge the thoughts and intentions of the heart. And there is no creature hidden from His sight, but all things are open and laid bare to the eyes of Him with whom we have to do." -- Hebrews 4:12-13

With this discovery, Bob confidently walked toward compromise and allowed the sword of God's Word to fall into position in his hand and buried it deep into the heart of compromise. It was compromise that had caused the death of the warring women (the churches). Authority from God's Word is now placed in our hands to destroy this life threatening spirit.

By grace, the Lord is releasing to this generation the wisdom and authority needed to identify and defeat this great enemy of the church. This victory is assured if we are willing to obediently heed the Lord's voice and DO THE WILL OF THE FATHER. Faithful adherence to the Word of God will always bring death to the spirit of compromise.

Learning From the Past

Instead of being at home caring for their family, the women (churches and movements) allowed compromise to deceive them into unlawful relationships. There are appropriate times and seasons for the purposes of God. There is a time to minister unto the Lord and oversee His sheep. We have been in a season focused on equipping the body of Christ to do the work of the ministry.

In Bob's symbolic vision, the women left their post of duty and wandered into promiscuous relationships with the spirit of this world resulting in defeat. Sometimes, things do not appear fruitful to the natural eye that are actually exceedingly rewarding in the realm of the Spirit. That is why our eyes must be focused on the eternal realm rather than the natural. Otherwise, a door can be opened to the spirit of compromise.

"Behold, I will throw her on a bed of sickness and those who commit adultery with her into great tribulation, unless they repent of her deeds. And I will kill her children with pestilence, and all the churches will know that I am He who searches the minds and hearts; and I will give to each one of you according to your deeds." -- Revelations 2:22-23

The Lord is to be the husband of the church, and any relationship with man that usurps the rightful position of the Lord as Bridegroom is considered spiritual adultery. The spirit of compromise will always try to convince the covenant people of God to relinquish their promised heritage for a counterfeit relationship that seems appropriate at the time.

That was the teaching of Balaam that eventually led Israel into God's judgment. Balaam was unable to curse Israel; therefore, he convinced her to compromise her covenant with God by intermingling with Balak and the people of Moab.

"And Moses said to them, 'Have you spared all the women? Behold, these caused the sons of Israel, through the counsel of Balaam, to trespass against the LORD in the matter of Peor, so the plague was among the congregation of the LORD. Now therefore, kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman who has known man intimately. But all the girls who have not known man intimately, spare for yourselves.'"* -- Numbers 31:15-18

Ours is an admonition of separation and purity while patiently waiting on the promised union with the Lord Jesus. It is the counsel of compromise to lead us away from that position at all costs.

The "way of Balaam" is the covetous conduct of the ones structurally described as "hirelings," whose primary motive is to commercialize their divine gift.

"Forsaking the right way, they have gone astray, having followed the way of Balaam, the son of Beor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness"* -- 2 Peter 2:15

The "teaching of Balaam" is the teaching of the mercenary ministry counseling the church to abandon Godly separation and noble character in favor of worldly conformity.

"But I have a few things against you, because you have there some who hold the teaching of Balaam, who kept teaching Balak to put a stumbling block before the sons of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to idols and to commit acts of immorality."* -- Revelations 2:14

Very often, following this path will seemingly bring quick results and attract scores of people with much less spiritual resistance. Nonetheless, the conclusion after all has been done is death and fruitlessness.

Balaam taught Balak to corrupt the people who could not be cursed by seducing them to marry Moabite women and commit spiritual adultery. That is the motivation of compromise as outlined in Bob's vision. He could not conquer these gallant warring women in battle; therefore, the only hope for victory was to corrupt them by seduction with the spirit of the world.

"Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit who is from God, so that we may know the things freely given to us by God."* -- 1 Corinthians 2:12

If the women had remained at their appointed abode, as was their initial responsibility, they would have become fruitful and productive. Because they allowed compromise to deceive them, their lives were ended, and their children were left to be raised as orphans in an unsupervised manner. The Lord desires women (churches) to be loyal to their Husband and abundantly fruitful -- producing offspring to the glory of God.

Compromise will always lead us into wrong relationships. Concession leads to death, while faithfulness leads to repentance, answered prayer, and victory. Even though the night hours seem long and sometimes lonesome, it would be compromise to depart from that place of responsibility and enter relationships unlawfully leading to our demise.

With those conclusions, Bob departed the mountain, realizing the destructive qualities of compromise.

A Glorious Future

The most grievous aspect of the vision was the great future forfeited by the powerful women (churches) illustrated here. Even though they had been victorious and productive, their most rewarding years were ahead of them if they could have overcome the deceptions of compromise.

These churches had been powerfully anointed warriors of the faith. The enemy was able to destroy them only during the "night," not during the "day" seasons. If the women had remained in their post of duty, the enemy would have had no access or opportunity to destroy them. Nevertheless, weeping may endure for a night, but joy comes with the morning light.

All of the strongholds of the enemy are designed to obscure our knowledge of God and His thoughts and ways through discouragement, depression, and self-pity. When our vision has been thus impaired, alternative courses are introduced that will seemingly take us to our desired destination but are not the "thoughts and ways" of God. We must not be willing to give an inch in our commitment to the Lord and our walk with Him -- not even for the most noble of causes.

Through this prophetic analogy, the women lost their first love and compromised their chastity to follow the leadership of men whom they perceived would make them more fruitful and productive. In reality, their decision cost them their lives. Our battlefield is in the souls of men where our mind, will, and emotions reside. The weapon of our warfare is divinely powerful...THE WORD OF GOD RIGHTFULLY APPROPRIATED BY THE SPIRIT OF TRUTH.
"For the weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh, but divinely powerful for the destruction of fortresses. We are destroying speculations and every lofty thing raised up against the knowledge of God, and we are taking every thought captive to the obedience of Christ."* -- 2 Corinthians 10:4-5
It is through faith AND patience that we inherit the great promises that are rightfully ours. The greatest days for the Church of Jesus Christ are directly ahead of us. Our desolate heritages are being restored to be mingled with the fresh and unprecedented release of God's great grace. Even so, Lord Jesus . . . come.

A Generation of Destiny
Paul Keith Davis

The Lord is preparing a body of spiritual warriors to emerge in our generation, meeting the scripturally foretold challenges and prophetic destiny ordained for our age. One of the greatest mandates of all time is to cooperate with the Holy Spirit, to taste the good Word of God and the powers of the age to come, and to see the Biblical directive in Numbers 14:21 fulfilled -- to be the instruments by which He fills the whole Earth with His glory. So the LORD said:

"I have pardoned them according to your word, but indeed, as I live, all the earth will be filled with the glory of the LORD."* -- Numbers 14:20,21
Like Abraham, it is our heart's cry: "My lord, if now I have found favor in your sight, please do not pass your servant by" (Genesis 18:3). Our earnest desire and highest aspiration is to be the chosen generation through which the Lord imparts revelation and the expression of His nature, character, and power, that we may begin to fill the entire Earth with God's Glory. That would be the fulfillment of the awesome prayer outlined by the Lord Himself, "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done, on earth as it is in Heaven."

We have the incredible privilege of living in the generation that will witness the unveiling of great mysteries and hidden secrets reserved for the "time of the end" (Daniel 12:4). Thankfully, the Holy Spirit is beginning to unleash great and mighty things related to our prophetic mandate. These Scriptural directives impart insight with understanding, concerning the revelation of His Glory.

With perfect certainty, there will be a company of people who reside in this place of promise. As surely as the prophetic fulfillment of the restoration of the Jewish people to the land of Israel miraculously took place, so also, will there be the divinely motivated establishment of the Bride to her inheritance.

In the same way, we witnessed the awakening of the Jewish people to their homeland, so we the Bride of Christ will be awakened to her birthright. There will initially be a message of restoration for those with ears to hear, followed by times of intense tribulation and difficulty, driving the people to the fulfillment of God's Word.

Fishers and Hunters

Early one morning, just as the sun was rising, I heard a voice in a dream saying, "I am going to send both the fishers and the hunters." I initially related this pointed statement to the restoration of the Jewish people to their native land and the establishment of a sovereign state. I later discovered a broader application of this certainty.

One of the most profound prophetic accomplishments in human history is the restoration of the Jewish people, following the Diaspora. Never before has a nation been dead for almost 20 centuries and then reborn in accordance with prophecies recorded over 2,500 years ago.

Even so, our generation has witnessed this astounding fact, and we recognize that only God's sovereign power could accomplish such a miraculous undertaking. God's word cannot fail. Every "jot and tittle" will be accomplished in its entirety.

"As the LORD lives, who brought up the sons of Israel from the land of the north and from all the countries where He had banished them. For I will restore them to their own land which I gave to their fathers. Behold, I am going to send for many fishermen," declares the LORD, "and they will fish for them; and afterwards I shall send for many hunters, and they will hunt them from every mountain and every hill, and from the clefts of the rocks." -- Jeremiah 16:15-16

Jeremiah prophesied the manner by which the Lord would execute this notable task after many centuries of dispersion, persecution, and murder. He foresaw that the Lord would birth in the hearts of men the vision of restoration of a natural homeland, and the Lord entice the Jewish people to return to their inheritance. They were the "fishers" who delivered a message of restoration and promise.

The Fishers' Message

Among them were great leaders, such as, Theodore Herzl, who was recognized as the founder of modern Zionism. He laid the foundation for the creation of sovereign rule in 1896 through his book, "The Jewish State." Another was Chaim Weizman, the first president of the Jewish state and creator of the World Zionist Organization, aimed at encouraging Jews worldwide to help develop and settle Israel. The Hebrew language was reintroduced under the leadership of Eliezer Ben-Jehudah and others.

As is generally the case when the Lord births something new, the "restorers" views were met with mixed reactions among the Jewish community. Nehemiah also encountered similar opposition in his commission for the reestablishment of the Temple. In spite of the resistance and difficulties, there would be a people who returned and fulfilled this Biblical mandate.

Their message awakened, in the hearts of many Jewish people, the desire to return to their own land. Many were willing to forsake the wealth, friendships, and security of the nations, in which they were sojourning, to return to their heritage. The early "pioneers" laid the foundation for the economic and social rebirth of the Jewish nation. They paved the way for the Lord's timing to possess the land promised to Abraham and his seed, when conditions were ripe.

"'Also, I will restore the captivity of My people Israel, and they will rebuild the ruined cities and live in them; they will also plant vineyards and drink their wine, and make gardens and eat their fruit. I will also plant them on their land, and they will not again be rooted out from their land which I have given them,' says the LORD your God." -- Amos 9:14-15

"Zionism" became a rallying cry for the Jewish people, and many from Europe and Russia answered the call. They were provoked by the proud beliefs of the Zionist movement. It proved to be an awakening in many for rebuilding the country. During the years 1882-1905 more than 25,000 Jews arrived in the land of Palestine, most were from Eastern Europe. Between 1905 and the outbreak of WWI, another 40,000 immigrated.

The Hunters'

Following the fishers, another form of motivation began to emerge in the form of the "hunters." The intense persecution and anti-Semitism prevailing throughout Europe and Russia during the late 19th and early 20th centuries began to hasten the development of modern Zionism. Finally, the genocide born by Hitler's insanity forged another exodus, driving the Jewish people to the creation of a state and their independence.

God used these persecutions to press the Jewish masses home, although it was Satan's brash intent to completely eradicate worldwide Jewry and circumvent the ultimate plan of God. As it turned out, because of the atrocities of the Holocaust, the horrified nations of the world granted official sanctions for a Jewish state, and on May 14, 1948, Israel was born. Over the following three decades, almost two million Jews would return to their homeland. Naturally, the numbers have increased substantially since then.

Our Fishers and Hunters

It is an interesting observation to note that in 1896, when Theodore Hertzl published his book "The Jewish State," arousing the Jewish people to the restoration of their inheritance, Alexander Dowie was also in Zion, Illinois, commissioning an apostolic ministry and awakening the Church to the restoration of her inheritance. Likewise, in 1948, with the official recognition of the Jewish state, the Church was also experiencing a massive healing revival. It is clear that there is an undeniable link between Israel and the Church.

At the same time, the Lord was restoring the land of Israel and, eventually, Jerusalem into the hands of the Jewish people. He was also awakening the Church to her inheritance. In the same manner that the Jewish people were dispersed among the nations of the earth, so also were Spirit-filled Christians scattered among the many religious institutions and organizations following the compromise of the Council of Nicea in 325 AD.

Israel realized her prophetic fulfillment with the establishment of a sovereign state. Likewise, the Bride, residing in her full inheritance, must also be apprehended. Heaven will retain the Lord Jesus until that covenant declaration is accomplished. As with Israel, there will be a perfect accomplishment of God's word relative to the Bride of Christ, who is betrothed to Him and knows His intimate chambers.

A Prophetic Lure

Our spiritual "Promised Land" is in view, and God's mandate will be accomplished. He will first utilize the fishers to entice and lure many to this spiritual domain through a prophetic message of restoration of our desolate heritages. Then, He will allow the hunters to drive others from necessity to the place of promise. There will be an overcoming body who will occupy their birthright. The Scriptures declare it thus.

Throughout Church history, the Lord has always had His faithful remnant model their faith according to the standards established by the early Church. Numerous end-time prophecies within the Scriptures will become timely as the Church is fashioned according to His design. The stature of the apostolic Church will be fully functioning in our day; it will shape a called-out body of believers to function in Kingdom power and authority.

The time of the end is a period for revealing and reinstating truth and exposing the hidden things of darkness. "Restorers" are beginning to emerge with a fisher's anointing that will birth desire in the hearts of Christians for the full measure of God, regardless of the opposition.

But all things that are exposed are made manifest by the light, for whatever manifests is light. Therefore, He says: "Awake, you who sleep, arise from the dead, and Christ will give you light. See then that you walk circumspectly, not as fools but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil (Ephesians 5:13-16).

The rebuilding of our apostolic heritage can be achieved through desperate hearts pursuing the Lord and the fullness of His heritage awakened through the fishers. It can also be experienced through persecution or God's discipline on "spiritual Babylon," driving His covenant people to the land of their promise by the hunters.

The Lord has pledged to reverse the captivity of His people and be jealous for His holy name. At that time, we will forget the shame and reproach of our unfaithfulness and begin to dwell securely in the land of our promise. Through His justice and holiness, He will set apart and vindicate His people from the hand of their enemies. This is true, both for the natural and spiritual Israel.

It is our prayer that each will receive, with hearing ears and sincere hearts, the message of the fishers and respond to the call to enter our destiny. It will behoove us to notice the example of the Jewish people, according to the admonition of the Apostle Paul, for therein we discovery God's ways.

Demonic Parasites

David Weber

Greetings beloved brothers and sisters in Christ,

The Lord gave me a dream last night that I feel prompted to share with you all today, as I believe it is a warning for the body of Christ of the need to be thoroughly prepared for the days that are just ahead. It seems as though many viscous attacks from the enemy are being perpetrated upon the children of God in these days, and the Lord is allowing these to teach His servants how to STAND in areas where they may have fallen in the past. To stand against temptation will bring virtue and strength to a saint, but to give into sin can bring spiritual repercussions that can be very long lasting, as enemy strongholds are sometimes set up that can be very difficult to get free from.

Let me share with you the dream:

In the dream, I believe that I represent the general body of believers in Christ. Someone was with me, but their form was never clearly seen by me (this usually represents the Lord).

The two of us were walking along side a stream that ran through an open field. This stream was very murky, almost stagnant, more like a canal of some sort rather than a stream. Anyhow, we came to an area where I waded into the stream with my bare feet, I wasn't in it for very long, maybe just a minute or so, but when I came out I noticed that I had some difficulty walking.

I went over to the bank and sat down, and when I looked at my feet they looked fine, but when I reached down and touched one of them I could feel some sort of a slimy, almost invisible creature (much like a leach - but longer like a worm) that had attached itself to me. I was able to grab a hold of the tail of the thing and peal it away from my skin until it no longer had any hold on me, but it was a very painful process of pulling it off.

I was quite relieved when I got the thing off of me, but when I stood up I still had difficulty walking. I sat down and examined my feet again and realized that these transparent slimy creatures were all over my feet! I was a little freaked out by this, but I slowly and methodically went through the process of pulling them off ... one by one. When I thought that I had gotten them all off, I then reached down and felt one that was larger than any of the others. This thing had such a bite into me that I could in no way just pull it off, but I knew if I poured some oil on it (Melalucca oil - remember that?) it would then be able to be removed. I then woke up.

You can probably see the analogy here with demonic (invisible) spirits that can become attached to us when we walk in the murky waters of sin even for just a moment. We know that we reap what we sow but sometimes we don't know just what we have reaped until we notice that we are having difficulty in our walk. The demonic entities are very good at concealing themselves while they suck the life out of us. They don't even want us to know that they exist. By God's grace the Lord will warn us of the demonic parasites and the need to be delivered from them, but unfortunately some Christians disregard the warning and just grow accustomed to their impaired walk. Others will sometimes take heed to the warning but try to get free by their own efforts. Sometimes this might even seem to work, as I was able to pull some of those things off by my own hand in the dream, but eventually, as I found out in the dream, we will find that there is something there that has such a firm bite into us that it can only come off with the oil (the anointing) that comes from deep repentance and heartfelt communion and fellowship with God.

I believe that this dream is somewhat of a prophetic warning to believers of the need to get totally free from all demonic parasites now while we still can, for if we don't, we will become crippled in our walk with Him because those things will have sucked the god-life out of us ... even as a leach sucks the life-blood out of a man.

The Lord is giving us some serious lessons these days, sometimes in words or in dreams, but soon in actual experience if we don't respond to the lesser warnings. He is preparing a holy people for some very serious times ahead ... we need to get ready.

Deliberate Love

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Dec 23rd, 2005

Prov 3:3-7 Amp Let not mercy and kindness [shutting out all hatred and selfishness] and truth [shutting out all deliberate hypocrisy or falsehood] forsake you; bind them about your neck, write them upon the tablet of your heart. [Col 3:9-12.] 4 So shall you find favor, good understanding, and high esteem in the sight [or judgment] of God and man. [Luke 2:52.]
5 Lean on, trust in, and be confident in the Lord with all your heart and mind and do not rely on your own insight or understanding. 6 In all your ways know, recognize, and acknowledge Him, and He will direct and make straight and plain your paths. 7 Be not wise in your own eyes; reverently fear and worship the Lord and turn [entirely] away from evil. [Prov 8:13.]

Matt 5:43-46 AMP You have heard that it was said, You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy; [Lev 19:18; Ps 139:21,22.]
44 But I tell you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, [Prov 25:21,22.] 45 To show that you are the children of your Father Who is in heaven; for He makes His sun rise on the wicked and on the good, and makes the rain fall upon the upright and the wrongdoers [alike]. 46 For if you love those who love you, what reward can you have? Do not even the tax collectors do that?

Prov 25:21-22 NKJV If your enemy is hungry, give him bread to eat; And if he is thirsty, give him water to drink; 22 For so you will heap coals of fire on his head, and the LORD will reward you.

Fire: symbol of presence, burning judgment of God, purifying and testing.

“Do you see it? Do you see that when you deliberately CHOOSE to love rather than to hate; to forgive rather than take vengeance, that it brings fire on the heads of those you purpose to love? When You hold on to your rights to not forgive, you are not doing anything but binding yourself and them to bitterness, hatred and resentment! So YOU MUST PURPOSE in your heart to forgive and to love those around you, regardless of what they have done to you. “

At this point I remembered a story I read in a brother’s newsletter on the persecuted church in China, and how this young woman was arrested for participating in a house church. She was put in prison, but within 6 months there, the whole section of that part of the prison was converted! Then they felt she was too much trouble so transferred her to another part of the prison, and again she set to PRAYING in that section of the prison, and eventually a couple of the guards in the yard were saved along with that whole section of the prison. It truly was a humbling thing to read. How her heart was set on pilgrimage. Her heart was like Jesus’ so much that every time she could she was worshipping God and praying for the others to KNOW Him. She was more concerned for their salvation than her own comforts and life.

Then I remembered the story of another person who was asked to go to Europe with a lady, but didn’t get a visa, that was required because she was NOT a U.S. citizen though having lived her a long time. She had not checked proper resources, so ended up the whole week in prison. In that prison were Many from other nations as well. However this one was complaining how she’d been gypped out of her ability to preach, and do what she came for. She totally missed her opportunity, because she was too busy looking at her own dilemma, instead of rejoicing and using the circumstance to bring true glory to God. It is an age old story in perspective.

Then I went back to listening to what else the Lord might want to say.

“Diffuse, and marvelous are My ways with the sons of men! I am always looking for opportunities to show and demonstrate My glory and LOVE to the nations. But people get distracted from the true purpose of My KINGDOM, by trying to build one of their own. Are you here on earth to learn to love and to share that love with others, or to serve yourself? For the Son of man, came not to serve Himself, but to do the will of the Father. Thus those who truly LOVE others, will be concerned for their ETERNAL life, and not just for what is going on in this life. This world is passing away, but My LIFE, and MY LOVE, and MY WORD will never pass away! I AM the ETERNAL ONE! My LOVE endures FOREVER and EVER, and EVER!!!

Will you ask ME for perspective in the midst of trials and troubles and ask for MY WISDOM, so that you will get a new perspective, a new PARADIGM shift for what I AM wanting for you to understand, learn, or do? It rains on the good and the wicked in this life. It is HOW you go through the trials that makes a difference. Will you stop praising ME? Will you stop worshipping ME in spirit and in truth? Will you continue to PRAISE ME, even when the going gets rough? Will YOU CONTINUE TO PROCLAIM MY GOODNESS in the midst of storms and losses, and changes in the world, that will rattle the best of the people of this world? For I am training you in the midst of the trials. I want you to COME TO ME, for MY PERSPECTIVE on what is going on. LAY DOWN YOUR LIFE, and pick up MINE! ASK and you shall receive, pressed down and flowing over will I give into your bosom, SO THAT, MY KINGDOM will be EXALTED.

The Son of man never exalted HIMSELF! If I , Your KING and SAVIOR, never sought the approval of man, nor to be exalted, then why do you continue in your idolatry to man and things in this life? Why do you seek after accolade and self aggrandizement? Is it not that YOU want to be in charge and on the throne instead of ME? Do you think I am unfair? Do you think you've had it too hard My beloveds? I tell you that many nations are in WANT and famine, and lost without HOPE. Do NOT give in to the discouragement for it leads to FEAR! DO NOT give in to the enemy's traps to keep IN THE WORLD. YOU ARE NOT OF THIS WORLD! YOU ARE IN MY KINGDOM NOW. THIS IS NOT YOUR HOME! THIS IS ONLY YOUR TEMPORARY ABODE!

I AM WITH YOU, and I will soon be with you even MORE! I am going to POUR, and POUR, and POUR! So make a choice this day whom you will serve!
Will you serve self and mammon? Or will you serve ME? I would that all My people were prophets! I would that you were all given to time spent with ME, over time in this world and all it's possessions. For I am far more lovely than anything in this world. I am the WAY, the TRUTH, and the LIFE. If you are IN ME. Then you are a recipient of ETERNAL LIFE, MY ways, and the TRUTH that comes with true relationship.

If I was your husbandman, and I am, - but I mean in this world, and you ignored me and abandoned me for doing so many other things, then how would I know that you loved me? If you never communicated with me, how would I know how you felt?

Believe me when I say, I hear every whispered "I love You" given me, from your mind, or from your mouth! Nothing is hidden from ME. I AM never , never, never, not there for you! I am ALWAYS LISTENING! All you have to do is turn your mind towards ME, and I will keep you in perfect PEACE.

So come away My beloveds, and make your heart known to ME! I LOVE YOU immensely and will never leave you nor forsake you. My heart is EVER turned towards you, NO MATTER WHAT MISTAKES YOU MAKE! My GRACE is SUFFICIENT for you!"

Ps 102 - Jude Priscilla Van Sutphin

Yahweh
Dec 18, 2005
Psalms 102 - Amplified - A Prayer of the afflicted; when he is overwhelmed and faint and pours out his complaint to God.
1 HEAR MY prayer, O Lord, and let my cry come to You. 2 Hide not Your face from me in the day when I am in distress! Incline Your ear to me; in the day when I call, answer me speedily. 3 For my days consume away like smoke, and my bones burn like a firebrand or like a hearth. 4 My heart is smitten like grass and withered, so that [in absorption] I forget to eat my food. 5 By reason of my loud groaning [from suffering and trouble] my flesh cleaves to my bones. 6 I am like a melancholy pelican or vulture of the wilderness; I am like a [desolate] owl of the waste places.
7 I am sleepless and lie awake [mourning], like a bereaved sparrow alone on the housetop. 8 My adversaries taunt and reproach me all the day; and they who are angry with me use my name as a curse. 9 For I have eaten the ashes [in which I sat] as if they were bread and have mingled my drink with weeping 10 Because of Your indignation and Your wrath, for You have taken me up and cast me away.
11 My days are like an evening shadow that stretches out and declines [with the sun]; and I am withered like grass. 12 But You, O Lord, are enthroned forever; and the fame of Your name endures to all generations.

13 You will arise and have mercy and loving-kindness for Zion, for it is time to have pity and compassion for her; yes, the set time has come [the moment designated]. [Ps 12:5; 119:126.]
14 For Your servants take [melancholy] pleasure in the stones [of her ruins] and show pity for her dust.
15 So the nations shall fear and worshipfully revere the name of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth Your glory. [Ps 96:9.] 16 When the Lord builds up Zion, He will appear in His glory; 17 He will regard the plea of the destitute and will not despise their prayer. 18 Let this be recorded for the generation yet unborn, that a people yet to be created shall praise the Lord.
19 For He looked down from the height of His sanctuary, from heaven did the Lord behold the earth,
20 To hear the sighing and groaning of the prisoner, to loose those who are appointed to death, 21 So that men may declare the name of the Lord in Zion and His praise in Jerusalem
22 When peoples are gathered together, and the kingdoms, to worship and serve the Lord. 23 He has afflicted and weakened my strength, humbling and bringing me low [with sorrow] in the way; He has shortened my days [aging me prematurely]. 24 I said, O my God, take me not away in the midst of my days, You Whose years continue throughout all generations.
25 At the beginning You existed and laid the foundations of the earth; the heavens are the work of Your hands. 26 They shall perish, but You shall remain and endure; yes, all of them shall wear out and become old like a garment. Like clothing You shall change them, and they shall be changed and pass away. 27 But You remain the same, and Your years shall have no end. [Heb 1:10-12.] 28 The children of Your servants shall dwell safely and continue, and their descendants shall be established before You.
Jude
1 J UDE, A servant of Jesus Christ (the Messiah), and brother of James, [writes this letter] to those who are called (chosen), dearly loved by God the Father and separated (set apart) and kept for Jesus Christ: 2 May mercy, [soul] peace, and love be multiplied to you. 3 Beloved, my whole concern was to write to you in regard to our common salvation. [But] I found it necessary and was impelled to write you and urgently appeal to and exhort [you] to contend for the faith which was once for all handed down to the saints [the faith which is that sum of Christian belief which was delivered verbally to the holy people of God].
4 For certain men have crept in stealthily [gaining entrance secretly by a side door]. Their doom was predicted long ago, ungodly (impious, profane) persons who pervert the grace (the spiritual blessing and favor) of our God into lawlessness and wantonness and immorality, and disown and deny our sole Master and Lord, Jesus Christ (the Messiah, the Anointed one).
5 Now I want to remind you, though you were fully informed once for all, that though the Lord [at one time] delivered a people out of the land of Egypt, He subsequently destroyed those [of them] who did not believe [who refused to adhere to, trust in, and rely upon Him].

6 And angels who did not keep (care for, guard, and hold to) their own first place of power but abandoned their proper dwelling place--these He has reserved in custody in eternal chains (bonds) under the thick gloom of utter darkness until the judgment and doom of the great day.

7 [The wicked are sentenced to suffer] just as Sodom and Gomorrah and the adjacent towns--which likewise gave themselves over to impurity and indulged in unnatural vice and sensual perversity--are laid out [in plain sight] as an exhibit of perpetual punishment [to warn] of everlasting fire. [Gen 19.]
8 Nevertheless in like manner, these dreamers also corrupt the body, scorn and reject authority and government, and revile and libel and scoff at [heavenly] glories (the glorious ones).
9 But when [even] the archangel Michael, contending with the devil, judicially argued (disputed) about the body of Moses, he dared not [presume to] bring an abusive condemnation against him, but [simply] said, The Lord rebuke you! [Zech 3:2.]
10 But these men revile (scoff and sneer at) anything they do not happen to be acquainted with and do not understand; and whatever they do understand physically [that which they know by mere instinct], like irrational beasts--by these they corrupt themselves and are destroyed (perish).
11 Woe to them! For they have run riotously in the way of Cain, and have abandoned themselves for the sake of gain [it offers them, following] the error of Balaam, and have perished in rebellion [like that] of Korah! [Gen 4:3-8; Num 16:1; 22:1-24:25.]
12 These are hidden reefs (elements of danger) in your love feasts, where they boldly feast sumptuously [carousing together in your midst], without scruples providing for themselves [alone]. They are clouds without water, swept along by the winds; trees, without fruit at the late autumn gathering time--twice (doubly) dead, [lifeless and] plucked up by the roots;
13 Wild waves of the sea, flinging up the foam of their own shame and disgrace; wandering stars, for whom the gloom of eternal darkness has been reserved forever.
14 It was of these people, moreover, that Enoch in the seventh [generation] from Adam prophesied when he said, Behold, the Lord comes with His myriads of holy ones (ten thousands of His saints)
15 To execute judgment upon all and to convict all the impious (unholy ones) of all their ungodly deeds which they have committed [in such an] ungodly [way], and of all the severe (abusive, jarring) things which ungodly sinners have spoken against Him.
16 These are inveterate murmurers (grumblers) who complain [of their lot in life], going after their own desires [controlled by their passions]; their talk is boastful and arrogant, [and they claim to] admire men's persons and pay people flattering compliments to gain advantage.
17 But you must remember, beloved, the predictions which were made by the apostles (the special messengers) of our Lord Jesus Christ (the Messiah, the Anointed one). 18 They told you beforehand, In the last days (in the end time) there will be scoffers [who seek to gratify their own unholy desires], following after their own ungodly passions.
19 It is these who are [agitators] setting up distinctions and causing divisions--merely sensual [creatures, carnal, worldly-minded people], devoid of the [Holy] Spirit and destitute of any higher spiritual life.
20 But you, beloved, build yourselves up [founded] on your most holy faith [make progress, rise like an edifice higher and higher], praying in the Holy Spirit;
21 Guard and keep yourselves in the love of God; expect and patiently wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ (the Messiah)--[which will bring you] unto life eternal.
22 And refute [so as to] convict some who dispute with you, and on some have mercy who waver and doubt.
23 [Strive to] save others, snatching [them] out of [the] fire; on others take pity [but] with fear, loathing even the garment spotted by the flesh and polluted by their sensuality. [Zech 3:2-4.]
24 Now to Him Who is able to keep you without stumbling or slipping or falling, and to present [you] unblemished (blameless and faultless) before the presence of His glory in triumphant joy and exultation [with unspeakable, ecstatic delight]--
25 To the one only God, our Savior through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory (splendor), majesty, might and dominion, and power and authority, before all time and now and forever (unto all the ages of eternity). Amen (so be it).

Ps 112 Pretense
Priscilla Van Sutphin

Dec 21, 2005

Psalm 112 CJB
1 How happy is anyone who fears Adonai, who greatly delights in his mitzvot.
2 His descendants will be powerful on the earth, a blessed generation of upright people.
3. Wealth and riches are in his house, and his righteousness stands forever.
4. To the upright he shines like a light in the dark, merciful, compassionate, and righteous.
5. Things go well with the person who is merciful and lends, who conducts his affairs with fairness;
6. for he will never be moved. The righteous will be remembered forever.
7. He will not be frightened by bad news; he remains steady, trusting in Adonai.
8. His heart is set firm, he will not be afraid, till finally he looks in triumph at his enemies.
9. He distributes freely, he gives to the poor; his righteousness stands forever.
His power will be increased honorably.
10. The wicked will be angry when they see this; they will gnash their teeth and waste away, the desires of the wicked will come to nothing.

PRETENSE

Josh 24:27 AMP And Joshua said to all the people, See, this stone shall be a witness against us, for it has heard all the words the Lord spoke to us; so it shall be a witness against you, lest [afterward] you lie (pretend) and deny your God.

Zeph 1:5-7 AMP And those who worship the starry host of the heavens upon their housetops and those who [pretend to] worship the Lord and swear by and to Him and yet swear by and to [the heathen god Molech or] Malcam [their idol king], 6 And those who have drawn back from following the Lord and those who have not sought the Lord nor inquired for, inquired of, and required the Lord [as their first necessity]. 7 [Hush!] Be silent before the Lord God, for the day [of the vengeance] of the Lord is near; for the Lord has prepared a sacrifice, and He has set apart [for His use] those who have accepted His invitation. [Hab 2:20.]

Jer 3:12-17 NIV 'I will not be angry forever. 13 Only acknowledge your guilt you have rebelled against the LORD your God, you have scattered your favors to foreign gods under every spreading tree, and have not obeyed me,'" declares the LORD. 14 "Return, faithless people," declares the LORD, "for I am your husband. I will choose you "one from a town and two from a clan" and bring you to Zion. 15 Then I will give you shepherds after my own heart, who will lead you with knowledge and understanding. 16 In those days, when your numbers have increased greatly in the land," declares the LORD, "men will no longer say, 'The ark of the covenant of the LORD.' It will never enter their minds or be remembered; it will not be missed, nor will another one be made.

Matt 23:14 AMP Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, pretenders (hypocrites)! For you swallow up widows' houses and for a pretense to cover it up make long prayers; therefore you will receive the greater condemnation and the heavier sentence.

This whole sentence above, was ADDED and not in original Greek. However the following was not added

Matt 23:15 AMP Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, pretenders (hypocrites)! For you travel over sea and land to make a single proselyte, and when he becomes one [a proselyte], you make him doubly as much a child of hell (Gehenna) as you are.

Matt 23:28-29 AMP Just so, you also outwardly seem to people to be just and upright but inside you are full of pretense and lawlessness and iniquity. [Ps 5:9.] 29 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, pretenders (hypocrites)! For you build tombs for the prophets and decorate the monuments of the righteous, Luke 20:47 AMP Who make away with and devour widows' houses, and [to cover it up] with pretense make long prayers. They will receive the greater condemnation (the heavier sentence, the severer punishment).

1 Cor 1:28-30 AMP And God also selected (deliberately chose) what in the world is lowborn and insignificant and branded and treated with contempt, even the things that are nothing, that He might depose and bring to nothing the things that are, 29 So that no mortal man should [have pretense for glorying and] boast in the presence of God.
30 But it is from Him that you have your life in Christ Jesus, Whom God made our Wisdom from God, [revealed to us a knowledge of the divine plan of salvation previously hidden, manifesting itself as] our Righteousness [thus making us upright and putting us in right standing with God], and our Consecration [making us pure and holy], and our Redemption [providing our ransom from eternal penalty for sin].

Gal 2:13 AMP And the rest of the Jews along with him also concealed their true convictions and acted insincerely, with the result that even Barnabas was carried away by their hypocrisy (their example of insincerity and pretense).

Phil 1:18 AMP But what does it matter, so long as either way, whether in pretense [for personal ends] or in all honesty [for the furtherance of the Truth], Christ is being proclaimed? And in that I [now] rejoice, yes, and I shall rejoice [hereafter] also.

1 Peter 2:1 AMP SO BE done with every trace of wickedness (depravity, malignity) and all deceit and insincerity (pretense, hypocrisy) and grudges (envy, jealousy) and slander and evil speaking of every kind.

I asked the Lord what psalm to put with this and He said 83:

Psalm 83 NKJV - Prayer to Frustrate Conspiracy Against Israel A Song. A Psalm of Asaph.

1 Do not keep silent, O God! Do not hold Your peace, And do not be still, O God!
2 For behold, Your enemies make a tumult; And those who hate You have lifted up their head.
3 They have taken crafty counsel against Your people, And consulted together against Your sheltered ones.
4 They have said, "Come, and let us cut them off from being a nation, That the name of Israel may be remembered no more."
5 For they have consulted together with one consent; They form a confederacy against You:
6 The tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites; Moab and the Hagrites; 7 Gebal, Ammon, and Amalek; Philistia with the inhabitants of Tyre; 8 Assyria also has joined with them; They have helped the children of Lot. Selah
9 Deal with them as with Midian, As with Sisera, As with Jabin at the Brook Kishon,
10 Who perished at En Dor, Who became as refuse on the earth.
11 Make their nobles like Oreb and like Zeeb, Yes, all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna,
12 Who said, "Let us take for ourselves The pastures of God for a possession."
13 O my God, make them like the whirling dust, Like the chaff before the wind!

14 As the fire burns the woods, And as the flame sets the mountains on fire,
15 So pursue them with Your tempest, And frighten them with Your storm.
16 Fill their faces with shame, That they may seek Your name, O LORD.
17 Let them be confounded and dismayed forever; Yes, let them be put to shame and perish,
18 That they may know that You, whose name alone is the LORD, Are the Most High over all the earth.

1 Corinthians 4 Amplified

1 SO THEN, let us [apostles] be looked upon as ministering servants of Christ and stewards (trustees) of the mysteries (the secret purposes) of God. 2 Moreover, it is [essentially] required of stewards that a man should be found faithful [proving himself worthy of trust]. 3 But [as for me personally] it matters very little to me that I should be put on trial by you [on this point], and that you or any other human tribunal should investigate and question and cross-question me. I do not even put myself on trial and judge myself. 4 I am not conscious of anything against myself, and I feel blameless; but I am not vindicated and acquitted before God on that account. It is the Lord [Himself] Who examines and judges me.

5 So do not make any hasty or premature judgments before the time when the Lord comes [again], for He will both bring to light the secret things that are [now hidden] in darkness and disclose and expose the [secret] aims (motives and purposes) of hearts. Then every man will receive his [due] commendation from God.
6 Now I have applied all this [about parties and factions] to myself and Apollos for your sakes, brethren, so that from what I have said of us [as illustrations], you may learn [to think of men in accordance with Scripture and] not to go beyond that which is written, that none of you may be puffed up and inflated with pride and boast in favor of one [minister and teacher] against another.

7 For who separates you from the others [as a faction leader]? [Who makes you superior and sets you apart from another, giving you the preeminence?] What have you that was not given to you? If then you received it [from someone], why do you boast as if you had not received [but had gained it by your own efforts]?
8 [You behave as if] you are already filled and think you have enough [you are full and content, feeling no need of anything more]! Already you have become rich [in spiritual gifts and graces]! [Without any counsel or instruction from us, in your conceit], you have ascended your thrones and come into your kingdom without including us! And would that it were true and that you did reign, so that we might be sharing the kingdom with you!

9 For it seems to me that God has made an exhibit of us apostles, exposing us to view last [of all, like men in a triumphal procession who are] sentenced to death [and displayed at the end of the line]. For we have become a spectacle to the world [a show in the world's amphitheater] with both men and angels [as spectators].
10 We are [looked upon as] fools on account of Christ and for His sake, but you are [supposedly] so amazingly wise and prudent in Christ! We are weak, but you are [so very] strong! You are highly esteemed, but we are in disrepute and contempt!

11 To this hour we have gone both hungry and thirsty; we [habitually] wear but one undergarment [and shiver in the cold]; we are roughly knocked about and wander around homeless.

12 And we still toil unto weariness [for our living], working hard with our own hands. When men revile us [wound us with an accursed sting], we bless them. When we are persecuted, we take it patiently and endure it.

13 When we are slandered and defamed, we [try to] answer softly and bring comfort. We have been made and are now the rubbish and filth of the world [the offscouring of all things, the scum of the earth]. 14 I do not write this to shame you, but to warn and counsel you as my beloved children. 15 After all, though you should have ten thousand teachers (guides to direct you) in Christ, yet you do not have many fathers. For I became your father in Christ Jesus through the glad tidings (the Gospel).

16 So I urge and implore you, be imitators of me. 17 For this very cause I sent to you Timothy, who is my beloved and trustworthy child in the Lord, who will recall to your minds my methods of proceeding and course of conduct and way of life in Christ, such as I teach everywhere in each of the churches. 18 Some of you have become conceited and arrogant and pretentious, counting on my not coming to you. 19 But I will come to you [and] shortly, if the Lord is willing, and then I will perceive and understand not what the talk of these puffed up and arrogant spirits amount to, but their force (the moral power and excellence of soul they really possess).

20 For the kingdom of God consists of and is based on not talk but power (moral power and excellence of soul). 21 Now which do you prefer? Shall I come to you with a rod of correction, or with love and in a spirit of gentleness?

Discerning False Prophets
Clay Sikes

Aug 2, 2005

> "Now have come the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ. For the accuser of our brothers, who accuses them before our God day and night has been hurled down. They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and the word of their testimony; they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death" (Revelation 12:10,11).

We are living in the hour of "the kingdom of our God" upon the earth. We are living in a time in which those who overcome do so by the precious blood and "the word of their testimony." Overcomers are those who "do not love their lives so much as to shrink from death;" they have died to themselves and made the great exchange, His life for theirs. We have learned that our "testimony" is the word made flesh in our lives – the amount of 'word' we walk in: the symmetry of the 'word' and actual life – our testimony. Our life reflects the revelation we walk in.

As we will discuss later, we will also see how revealing the word 'testimony' is in discerning a false prophet. Please keep in mind the relevance of 'testimony' throughout what is written here; it will take on new meaning as we discuss false prophets.

In a sense we are living in the greatest of times and the worst of times. Greatest, in that we are seeing God's Kingdom come upon the earth; worst, in that false prophets have been released in unprecedented numbers.

We are living in the hour of false prophets, and accordingly, must be on guard against their influence in our lives. Not one well-meaning Christian would allow a false prophet into their life knowingly; but many are presently doing so unwittingly.

"For false Christ and false prophets will appear and perform great signs and miracles TO DECEIVE EVEN THE ELECT if it were possible. See, I have told you ahead of time" (Matthew 24:24,25).

Scripture gives us a specific time frame in which false prophets will appear; and while their existence has been well known since the time of Jesus, we have entered 'the time of the false prophet.' False prophets will appear during the same hour, the same moment in time in which "the Kingdom is being preached." As with every move of God the enemy has a plan. The devils' answer to the Kingdom's forceful advance in the earth is the unleashing of false prophets and the anti-Christ spirit (Matthew 24).

"At that time many will turn away from the faith AND WILL BETRAY AND HATE EACH OTHER, and many false prophets will appear and deceive many people…and this GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come" (Matthew 24:10,11,14).

During recent weeks, months, and years many of God's true prophets have been shouting from their spiritual roof tops, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done ON EARTH…" They have zeroed in on "Sonship," hearing and obeying God, not moving out of any motive except having heard the Holy Spirit. They have taught us the difference between 'the World's System' and 'the Kingdom of God.' They have taught us to be drawn to 'The Way' of the Kingdom (complete dependence upon God), and to turn away from the ways of the world (complete dependence upon man). They have taught us that in order to have a proper relationship with men, we must first have a proper relationship with God; that the Body must first be reconciled back to God before the true Church can be built. Any man with spiritual eyes can see the "living stones" being placed together; the Kingdom is now coming upon the earth. With all the awe of this 'great moment' in time, we are also given a warning – "Many false prophets will appear and deceive many people…" (Matthew 24:10).As the Kingdom continues to come upon the earth so too do false prophets appear.

For some strange reason we have little trouble believing the word in many different areas, but completely bypass the many warnings given about false prophets. This should serve as a wake up call as an evidence to this Bible truth!

For years the question has been asked, "How will I know a false prophet when I see one?" False prophets pervert truth, and what makes them so deadly is their depth of knowledge, or better-said, intellectual understanding of what truth is. They dazzle us with their knowledge of scripture, often entrapping us with their beliefs through their skilled use of God's word. They are often gifted with the ability to work miracles, cast out demons, heal the sick, and other supernatural occurrences. There are, however, ways to discern and separate the true from the false. Ask for God's gift of discernment as you read the following scriptures.

"Watch out for false prophets. They come to you in sheep's clothing (one who appears to be God's own), but inwardly they are ferocious wolves (their real motive is to eat the sheep). Here is where we get out first hint of a false prophet, "BY THEIR FRUIT YOU WILL RECOGNIZE THEM. Do people pick grapes from thorn bushes, or figs from thistles? Likewise every good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. A good tree CANNOT BEAR BAD FRUIT, and a bad tree cannot bear good fruit. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. Thus, BY THEIR FRUIT YOU WILL RECOGNIZE THEM" (Matthew 7:15-20).

As if obvious traits like disloyalty, mean-spirited, selfish, pleasure loving, covetous, pride filled, arrogant, lazy, and unfaithful were not enough, God gives us yet another gauge through which to see the false prophet.

We all know the fruit of the spirit; love, joy, peace…, but in a more interpretative sense "fruit," in the context of Matthew 7:15-20 is linked to a man's character, his inner self, who he really is; HIS TESTIMONY. A man's life as a Christian, or his testimony, reflects who he really is – it reflects the character of God or a lack thereof. Character creates testimony, and while we can argue doctrines until we are blue in the face, we can never argue a man's testimony. A testimony is what it is! Our testimony, like it or not, is a reflection of what truly resides within us.

Admittedly, we are all a work in progress, but consistency of character will reveal good fruit or bad. We do not suddenly get good or suddenly get bad; it is a process and that process is our testimony. Our testimony is not a one time event; it is our consistency pattern, or characteristics that determine character, which ultimately determines our true testimony.

How does our life experience define us? Watchman Nee, in his book Sit, Walk, Stand opens with "If the life of a Christian is to be pleasing to God it must be found properly adjusted to Him IN ALL THINGS. Too often we place the emphasis in our own lives upon the application of this principle to some single detail of our behavior, or of our work for him. Often we fail to appreciate either the extent of the adjustment called for or, at times, even the point from which it should begin. But God measures everything, from start to finish, by the perfections of His Son. Scripture clearly affirms that it is God's good pleasure "to sum up all things in Christ…in whom also we were made a heritage" (Ephesians 1:9-11).

God measures things from start to finish. Our lives, even our past to some extent, represents who we are, and who we are is what dwells within our heart; and what is in our heart is the fruit of our actions past, present, and future. From a practical standpoint, without accountability to our past, there is little room for correction in our future. As we gaze into life's rear-view mirror, the debris from past mistakes should be less and less visible as we travel the road of life. If the debris piles in our immediate past are not less, the lessons and necessary changes from those lessons should indicate that we have perhaps followed the wrong spirit.

Separating The True From The False

A number of issues will be discussed here that will assist us in discerning the true from the false; and while the points made in this discussion are by no means the only elements of separating the true from the false, they will point us in the general direction of understanding. We will first discuss obvious observable differences, and then the more subtle ways of discerning differences.

A true prophet will point you to Jesus, and the vision HE HAS PUT IN YOU. A false prophet will point you to himself; his vision, his purpose, his ministry, etc., The vast difference between the true and the false is that the true will always, always point you to the Jesus in you: your calling, your ministry, your purpose, and your destiny. The 'true' can point you to nothing but Jesus…the 'false' can point you to nothing but man; often himself. The false prophet will always leave you empty in a crisis, while the true will leave you full. The true prophet speaks to your heart, while the false will excite your eyes and ears. THOSE WHO ARE EASILY DAZZLED ARE PRIME CANDIDATES FOR DECEPTION FROM THE ANTI-CHRIST SPIRIT THAT FALSE PROPHETS OPERATE FROM.

While the following observable difference is not a law, I think it worth mentioning. For some years there has been great favor within the Body of Christ for the works of men and the gifts of God that operate in men, while there has been little emphasis upon the true character of God within those same men. Character seems to have fallen by the wayside as Christians, much like their counter-parts in the world, have given their respect to external gifts and works rather than the internal character of God. In other words, it has been 'what the man is all about' rather than 'who the man really is.' Character is internal, while gifts and works are external. Our character is eternal, our gifts temporal. To which should we show the greatest respect?

What is character in the context of this teaching? Character is an identifying factor in separating the true from the false. Character is a man's testimony - Who he is, and what he is. It is what his life says about him. In God's eyes, we are not defined by the externalities of who we are (our name, works, titles), but rather the internalities of what we are (our true character.) Character is a reflection of heart. Who we are in the worst of times will always reveal us (James 1:1-15). What did we do when tempted, angered, tested, tossed...? Fire reveals who we really are!

Our testimony (what we purport to believe) and our life should reflect one in the same. No man can truly lead you where he has never been. A great indicator between the true and the false is that the 'true' can only teach what is true in their life (their testimony), while the 'false' will attempt to teach, with equal passion, what they have never experienced for themselves. Arthur Burt, in defining revelation states, "Situation must be married to revelation. Until your revelation works in your situation, you do not really have a revelation." A False prophet will virtually always teach aspects of the word that he does not personally walk in.

"They overcame him (Satan) by the blood of the Lamb and by THE WORD OF THEIR TESTIMONY" (Revelation 12:11). If our testimony does not match the word (revelation) we preach, teach, and espouse, we are no more than a sounding gong. I can teach salvation because I am saved. I can share salvation because I have experienced it. I can espouse divine finances because I walk in God's provision. My word and my testimony are one in the same. A true prophet teaches what he knows from his heart (Luke 6:45), while a false prophet teaches what he knows from his head. I can be a false prophet in your life when I teach what I do not know (walk in).

As previously stated, we Christians, like our counterparts in the world, are enamored by 'the gifts.' Just as 'the world' places high premium on beauty, talent, and skill, so too do we, as Christians, hold in high esteem those gifted to preach, teach, heal, cast out demons, do miracles and the like. We tend to place little value on character or testimony, but like lambs to the slaughter are impressed by, and dangerously follow those with gifts. As mentioned; during the time the Kingdom is preached there will be many false prophets released into the earth and the very elect will be deceived were it possible.

Let the following scripture cast a warning to those who are enamored by men with 'gifts.'

"Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven. Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles? Then I will tell them plainly, "I never knew you. Away from me you evildoers!" (Matthew 7:21-23).

From the above scriptures we begin to see the value God places upon gifts. God's premium is placed on those with His character, not necessarily those with his gifts. It is the work of the enemy to rob us of our destiny and purpose; and this is being done at an alarming rate by the deceiver's chief tool – DECEPTION! Deception brings destruction, and there is no better example of this than the "The Modern Day Prosperity Message" being perpetrated upon God's people by many false prophets.

The enemy knows that our discernment is at its lowest when our needs are the greatest. He can easily deceive us with a supposed word from God (from a false prophet) that appears to meet our needs. "If you need your bills to be paid send money to this good ground TV ministry!" It is important to remember that a false prophet's purpose is to eat the sheep, or better said, eat off the sheep. Be careful of those who feel entitled to your provision! It is a loud signal that a wrong spirit is speaking!

Those most susceptible to this deception are those who have yet to die completely to themselves; those who still reside in the outer court, in their soul. Man followers are also highly susceptible to this deception.

"Enter through the narrow gate. For wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction, and many enter through it. But small is the gate and narrow the road that leads to life, and only a few find it" (Matthew 7:13,14).

Isn't it interesting that following Matthew 7:13,14 we find "Watch out for false prophets" (Matthew 7:15). Do you think there is a connection between "false prophets" and "the broad gate that leads to destruction?" Do you think it strange that God's word says, "many enter through it?" I believe with all that is within me that this word is directed to the "few" who will enter the "small gate and narrow road that lead to life." Interestingly, the word "life" is the same word "life" in John 10:10 in which Jesus says, "I have come to give them life, and give it more abundantly." The mission of the false prophet, knowingly or unknowingly, is to keep God's people from attaining Jesus' gift of "abundant life," which is the fulfillment of his destiny and purpose.

As I reread the words, "Enter through the narrow gate," I felt I heard the Lord say, "Fat people cannot get through the narrow gate!" As I meditated on what God meant, He explained "Fat" in a figurative sense means those who are full of themselves, and thus to big to pass through this narrow place. Only those who are small can walk through a narrow gate – small in the sense that they have died to themselves, their personal agendas, their pride, etc.,

Deception Comes When We Fail To Love Truth

Scripture reveals that failing to have a sincere love of the truth will lead one to embracing deception. If we have been given light and truth, but fail to walk in it, even what we have will be taken away and the Father will consequently send delusion to these saints.

II Thessalonians 2:10-11
"because they did not receive the love of the truth so as to be saved. For this reason God will send upon them a deluding influence so that they will believe what is false..."

Other aspects open us up to deception: rebellion against the governmental order of God; harboring idols; and a spirit of unbelief are some of the more evident things. Truth and error will both increase alongside one another during the times in which we live. We must not despise or reject prophecies and teaching, but must carefully examine every word. Rejection of truth can come in many forms, but single most among them is the outright rejection of God's appointed Prophetic Ministry. This cause of this error is pride driven, with the deceived being more focused on personality than actual spiritual discernment.

Never in the history of the Church has discernment been more important to the Body of Christ. It is a most needed gift of all the gifts of the Spirit. With each passing day we are closer to the triumphant return of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, and with each passing day the enemy's tactics of deception grow. The spirit of anti-Christ is not coming (future tense), but has already come (past tense) (1 John 4:3). It is naïve to believe that we are not all subject to being deceived by this spirit; hence, the importance of knowing what this spirit is all about. Knowledge of this massively deceiving spiritual force is critical in this hour.

Where will the false prophet/anti-Christ spirit levy its first major influence in our lives – OUR FLESH! This spirit will always appeal to our inadequacies, our often-poor self-image, lack of success in health, spirituality, ministry, finances, marriage, business, etc., It will offer knowledge, identity, self worth, stability, purpose, and supposedly destiny. The anti-Christ spirit appeals to the worldliness in us - often a worldliness that we do not recognize as being such. It is almost as if one must experience an attack of this spirit to get an understanding of its power. I speak from first hand experience: I have a testimony. Grasp the words of the following scriptures – "Many will follow their sensuality, and because of them the way of truth will be maligned; and their GREED will exploit you with false words…" Money is often the motive of a false prophet!

II Peter 2:1-3
"But false prophets also arose among the people, just as there will also be false teachers among you, who will secretly introduce destructive heresies...Many will follow their sensuality, and because of them the way of the truth will be maligned; 3 and in their GREED they will exploit you with false words..".

The spirit of anti-Christ is a spiritual force that always leads us away from Jesus. As stated, it lures us with supposed spiritual leadings that appeal to our flesh. The telltale sign of this spirit is that we will be asked to compromise Jesus in some seemingly small way. It is also of importance to know that this spirit is not aimed at the world, but rather God's own people. It will always attempt to exploit our impatience, while those being used to exploit us will do so out of their own "GREED." Greed is not so subtle - it is there to be seen should we care to look! Often our spiritual naivety will cause us to overlook this less than subtle factor. Perhaps we begin to understand why "the children of darkness are wiser than the children of light."

I John 4:1
"Dear friends, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits to see whether they are from God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world. This is how you can recognize the Spirit of God; Every spirit that acknowledges that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is from God, but every spirit that does not acknowledge Jesus is not from God. This is the spirit of anti-Christ, which you have heard is coming and even now is already in the world."

Here is the acid test. What does "every spirit that DOES NOT acknowledge Jesus" really mean? When we take actions, without the leading of the Spirit, we are NOT "acknowledging Jesus" through those actions. We are moving in our own strength and purpose. When we represent those actions to be God-purposed and God-motivated we have fallen victim to the delusional force of the anti-Christ spirit. Only "he who does the will of the Father," is he who "acknowledges Jesus." When I first saw this connection between I John 4:1 and Matthew 7:21-23 I shouted!

Spirit-filled Christians who are not Spirit-led Christians lead powerless ineffectual works, which are capable of creating chaos in the lives of God's people. But let us take it a step further. What about those who are NOT doing the will of the Father who are prophesying, casting out demons, and performing miracles?

"Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the Kingdom of heaven, BUT HE WHO DOES THE WILL OF MY FATHER who is in heaven will enter. Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name cast out demons, and in your name perform many miracles? And then I will declare to them, I never knew you; DEPART FROM ME: YOU WHO PRACTICE LAWLESSNESS" (Matthew 7:21-23).

Matthew 7:21-23 in NIV calls those who are not submitted to the will of the Father, "evildoers." Many well-meaning Spirit-filled Christians are not Spirit-led. Actions that are NOT originated by God's Spirit can be costly, and those who take such actions are highly susceptible to the spirit of anti-Christ. Emphasis is placed upon the external; what the eyes can see and the ears can hear (Isaiah 11:2,3/II Corinthians 10:7).

How can we do the will of the Father if we are not regularly hearing His voice (John 10: 2-4/Romans 8:14)? As discussed, we have seen those with extraordinary gifts to preach, heal the sick, do miracles, and yet felt no witness to them as strong men of God? Many prophesy, cast out demons, and perform miracles, yet do not do "the will of the Father." These men, despite their outward appearance, are not walking in the Kingdom (Matthew 7:21-23).

From my own experiences I am convinced that many follow the anti-Christ spirit without any knowledge of what spirit they are following. The sin of presumption often hides itself in noble purposes, and presumption is the birth canal for Ishmael. The anti-Christ spirit is not just after your money, he is also after your time. When we birth Ishmaels we waste much time, and as the hour grows later and the time shorter, diversions will become the devils greatest tool.

If nothing else is understood in this writing, please understand this - the gifts of God are without repentance (Romans 11:29), which means that God freely distributes these gifts just as he does musical talent, athleticism, etc., Men do not always use the gifts according to God's will. Our own tradition will make the following hard to accept. MINISTRY GIFTS CAN AND DO OPERATE OUTSIDE OF GOD'S SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS.

Some Who Perform Miracle Healings Are Not Necessarily God's Men!

As we delve deeper into this understanding, as previously mentioned, we humans are quick to judge based upon outward appearance though we are warned not to (Isaiah 11:3/II Corinthians 10:7). We are quick to judge good and evil and often that judgment is based upon what we see and what we think to be God.

Be aware in the area of healing, miracles, and other signs and wonders: all that appears to be founded in God IS NOT. While it important to give God the glory for such healings, it is equally important to properly discern the vessel through which such gifts operate. In short, miracles are not a sign of God's unequivocal endorsement of the individual, but rather a sign of His great compassion for His people. There are many within the Body of Christ today who are taking these signs and wonders as God's unmitigated endorsement of the individual and his ministry. There are leaders within the Body who are using these gifts as a platform upon which to pillage the Body for money and support of their personal agendas.

As previously stated, miracles and signs and wonders performed by individuals are no more an indication of God's character in a man than the gifts that beset great musicians, athletes, or scholars – as mentioned, the gifts of God are without repentance, meaning that God can and does bestow His gifts upon whomever He desires. Those who discern properly will quickly recognize the farce that is often being perpetrated upon the unsuspecting Body. The time has come for the unsuspecting Body to awaken to God's call to come in behind the veil and commune with Him; to awaken to the fact that God desires to have communion and relationship with His people. This intimacy produces discernment, which causes us "to know them by their fruit" (good or bad).

God wants a one-on-one relationship with us; a relationship that puts man in complete dependence upon his God with little to no dependence upon man. To the extent we depend upon man, to that same extent we forego God. To the extent we depend upon God, to that same extent we will forgo our dependence upon man. The time has come to be awakened to the gift of discernment that is activated in you as you seek God, spend time with Him, and obey His voice – "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God" (Matthew 4:4). The real character of God is formed in us as we spend time with God allowing a true relationship to develop. If we are not eating the "bread of life" – God's spoken word to us individually, we are missing the most dynamic part of God's design for man while living upon the earth.

Awaken to the reality of false prophets!

Desperate Housewives
Joni Ames

2005: Year for GOD's Desperate Housewives by Joni Ames (JoniAmes@aol.com)
www.joniames.org

This year, God is going to pour out His Spirit upon "desperate housewives" - working moms, stay at home moms, lonely widows, single moms, single women who are "Ladies in Waiting," married to and trusting in the Lord for their lives, futures, families, and ministries.

For the ladies who are married to unsaved or spiritually cold men - to those moms who have been crying out for unsaved children - all who have been trusting God for their miracle, stay on the wall of intercession, and do NOT be moved! STAY desperate for the Lord and cry out even louder! Declare and proclaim liberty and victory and do NOT stop!

This is a year for persevering women to obtain justice, even from unrighteous judges.

Do NOT draw back; do NOT remove your hand from the plow of worship and intercession! Continue to plow through to victory! Obedience births miraculous realities for you!

The cries of righteous women will be heard even into the federal courts and avail much!

This IS the year when desperate women - women who are desperate for God - will be seen, heard, and greatly rewarded!

This is the year for help to be released to women who are called to have one foot at home, and one in either business and/or ministry, both for the purpose of the other. The Prov. 31 woman was such a woman, and was able to do all that she did because she had help. Prov. 31:15 says she had hired maids. Do not feel that you are a failure if you need help! GET it!

Men who are willing to be like Mordecai and help women get into their place will, like Mordecai, receive their spot next to the King as well!

Breakthroughs for women in ministry! Many men will realize they don't need to be afraid of "women in ministry," but only women in "misery" who are not fulfilling their calling and who are also on PMS or menopause! God is going to break the back of the spirit of misogyny that has held women captive in the church with its' lie, and thus have held back many churches from fulfilling their purpose.

2005 is a year of resurrection! - It's time to come alive and truly thrive in 2005!

Word For SC - Land Of Hope and Heart
Joni Ames

JoniAmes@aol.com
The motto for the state of South Carolina is, "While I breathe, I hope."

Romans 5:5 says: "Now hope does not disappoint, because the love of God has been poured out in our hearts by the Holy Spirit who was given to us."

Romans 12:12: "Rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation, continuing steadfastly in prayer."

It's no wonder the state of South Carolina is shaped like a heart. It is a state with plenty of heart! It has been a place of divine faith, and will now come into a time of divine provision.

The spirit of poverty that has hung over the state of South Carolina has been lifted since they honored and gave to the Native American (Catawba) Indians that which was theirs. They are now in process of stepping into a time of great growth, prosperity and abundance. Christian businessmen and women who choose to make it their home will experience much increase as property values rise and businesses flourish.

For those who have seemingly lost hope, this is for you: "Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that you may abound in hope by the power of the Holy Spirit." (Romans 15:13)

2005 is the year of resurrected hope! For SC, AND for you! It's time to do more than just survive; it's time to truly LIVE and THRIVE! - "It's time to come alive and truly thrive in 2005!"

These scriptures are for you:

Psalm 20:05:, "We will rejoice in your salvation and in the name of our God we will set up our banners! May the Lord fulfill all your petitions!"

Additionally, "Therefore say to them, thus says the Lord God, NONE of my Words will be postponed ANY more; the word which I speak WILL be done, says the Lord God!" (Ezek. 12:28)

Re: Fort Mill, SC:
A fort is a: (1) Fortified place for military defense; (2) Permanent army post, (3) Place of protection and refuge.

A mill is: A place where bread, garments or tools are made.

Fort Mill sits on the area where the Catawba Indians first settled, and is literally in the center of the "cleavage" of the "heart" of the Carolinas on the map.

Fort Mill will now flourish as never before, becoming both a place of the prophets and, for Christian business men and women, profit. MorningStar's purchase and occupation of the former Heritage Grand Hotel is just a beginning of that being fulfilled.

South Carolina - the land shaped like a heart - will become known as the place where God's heartbeat is heard and echoed throughout the earth, via satellite, internet and publications, to the nations. - Much through what is done on THIS property, in the very HEART of BOTH Carolinas.

NC's motto is: "To be, rather than to seem." - It's time to BE the heartbeat of God, and to BE His heart of love, extended, to the Body.

Blessings,

Divine Delays

Wade Taylor

“But you shall receive power, after that the Holy Spirit is come upon you: and you shall be witnesses to Me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and to the uttermost part of the earth.” Acts 1:8

The word “after” tells us that there is something between the promised “power” and a productive life experience. “After” speaks of a “divine delay,” until certain conditions are met, and the Lord is satisfied to release the desired and needed - “power.”

This “process” can be seen in the life of our Lord, when He was baptized by John in preparation for His ministry.

“And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up immediately out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened to Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon Him: And lo a voice from heaven, saying, This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.” Matthew 3:16-17

When Jesus was baptized by John, as He came up out of the water, the heavens opened, the dove descended to rest upon Him, and the Father spoke - “This (explicitly) is My beloved Son in whom I am well pleased.” Jesus has now received the Spirit without measure, and a confirmation of “divine favor,” or the “approbation of God” resting upon His life.

It would appear that Jesus was ready to begin His ministry. Instead, He was immediately led into the wilderness, where for forty days, He suffered hardship, hunger, and temptation.

“And Jesus being full of the Holy Spirit returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, Being forty days tempted of the devil. And in those days He did eat nothing: and when they were ended, He afterward hungered.” Luke 4:1-2

The “wilderness” is a place where there is nothing - no divine favor or blessing, no one to seek out for help, or to give a word of encouragement. Instead, when Jesus became intensely hungry, the enemy came and reminded Him that He, being God, could easily feed Himself by turning stones into bread. Jesus refused to satisfy His hunger with anything less than the provision of His Father.

“And when the tempter came to Him, he said, If You be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread. But He answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God.” Matthew 4:3-4

It was in the place of hunger and privation, rather than in the place of blessing, that Jesus received the ultimate blessing. He had to go through a processing (wilderness time) in order to enter the higher purposes of God.

In relation to us, this “wilderness time” is an “indeterminate” span of time during which a particular purpose is accomplished. Our self-dependence and self-centeredness must come to an end through an experience of “utter dependence” on the Lord. When we are tested, we will either pass the test as an “overcomer,” or we will come short of gaining a victory over our self-life, and will need a further time of preparation.

“And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a season. And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee.” Luke 4:13-14a

Notice that Jesus entered the wilderness in the “fullness of the Spirit,” and came out in the “power of the Spirit.” Between the time of His receiving the blessing of the Father, and His receiving the enabling “power” for the outworking of His ministry, there was a time of testing - a proving time, during which Jesus suffered intense hunger.

We tend to measure our spiritual “attainment” with the “blessings,” or the “gifts” that we have been given. However, these are only the beginning. We must go beyond these (what we do), to a change in our nature (what we have become). Therefore, by divine arrangement, the Lord will place us in situations where there are no available means of satisfaction (wilderness), that a higher purpose might be accomplished.

Because the Lord is more interested in what we have become, than in what we are doing, there are “divine delays” that we must face in the outworking of our spiritual development.

Especially, at this present time there is a call to come “higher.” If we desire to go beyond the level of our present spiritual experience, and “apprehend” the present calling and purpose of our Lord, we will be taken through a difficult time of testing and proving in order to become a part of the “corporate” Jesus (He is the head, we are the body). He will again do all that He did in a single body, through a corporate body.

“Verily, verily, I say to you, He that believes on Me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go to My Father.” John 14:12

For us to have a part in this, we must be prepared, as He was prepared.

“After this I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven... And immediately I was in the spirit: and, behold, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat on the throne.” Revelation 4:1-2

In the message to the seven Churches, each “door” led into the next Church Age. At this present time, there is something different, because we are living toward the end of the Laodicean Church Age, and there is nothing further. There is a door that is to be opened, but it is not a horizontal door that will lead into another aspect of the Church, rather, it is a vertical door that leads to the throne.

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear My voice, and open the door, I will come in to him....” Revelation 3:20

This spiritual hunger - the stirring and searching that is taking place within us today, is happening because the Lord is knocking upon the door of our heart, seeking entrance within our lives, due to the urgency of the hour in which we live.

“In My Father's house are many mansions.” John 14:2a

Jesus said, “If a man love Me, he will keep My words: and My father will love him, and We will come to him and make Our abode with him” (John 14:23).

The word “abode” in verse 23, and the word “mansion” in verse 2 in the original text, is the same word. Jesus is saying, “I will come and make My abode in your very life.” Another way to say this is, “In My Father’s house are many levels of relationship.”

We progress from one level of relationship to another level. Each time, and in each step in this progression, there are dealings - things that the Lord does, to release us from the lower level, in order to prepare us for the higher level. If we are not careful, we will misunderstand and misinterpret these things.

In the Song of Solomon the Lord said:

"It was but a little that I passed from them, but I found Him whom my soul loves." Song of Solomon 3:4a

At this present time, the Lord is beginning to move within those who are being stirred to come apart and "wait on Him" in His presence, where He can begin to speak and accomplish His purpose through them.

It was "but a little" that I passed from them (pulpit ministry) that I found Him. This is a "forty-day period of time" (time of testing), where we are separated from the spiritual womb where we have been very comfortable, into a new place and level of relationship and attainment. Our tendency, rather than to wait and allow the Lord to bring the adjustment, is for us to go back to the place where we were comfortable.

I received a "word" directly from the throne of God in 1959, that I would begin a Bible school, with the purpose of preparing "overcomers" for the end-time purpose of the Lord. This visitation was so powerful that I thought it would happen within a few weeks. As time went on, things would happen that would cause me to think this ministry was about to begin. The next thing I knew, it all fell apart. This happened several times.

The blessing and the excitement came and then all at once, I was saying, "Lord, what happened?" I sought out and tried all that I knew and understood, but none of it worked. Finally, I said, "Lord, I give up." Within a short time after I said this, it happened. It was as if the stage had been set and every player was in the right place, each one acting out his part. I realized that it could not have happened sooner, as there were necessary parts that had to be in a certain place and order.

"Divine delays" stretch our patience. "I sought Him, but I found Him not" (Song of Solomon 3:2b). Why? The Lord has something better for His Bride. He is waiting (divine delay) so He can take us further, but there is a price we must accept.

The "sermon on the mount" is the "key" to a kingdom life.

"Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." Matthew 5:3

"Blessed" are all those who have come to the end of their abilities, into abject poverty and utter dependence - those who have come to the end of self, and trust the Lord, leaning heavily upon Him, and letting go of everything; "for theirs is the kingdom."

We have "arrangements" and "accommodations" in our spiritual life experience, with which we are comfortable, as we know how these patterns function. When we do certain things, we experience a certain response. If we are to go further, we must enter into a time in the "wilderness," where we can be separated from these dependencies.

In order to go higher, we must move into a place that is unfamiliar to us, leaving the familiar behind. We must be careful to stay "in the wilderness" the appointed time, as we tend to say, "I am going back, as I felt much more comfortable there, and I knew what to expect."

The Lord is seeking to bring us out from the familiar, into the higher - into the "ways" of the Spirit. Here, I must learn a new language, as His voice is becoming as the "voice of the trumpet."

"After this I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven: and the first voice which I heard was as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which said, Come up here, and I will show you things which must be hereafter. And immediately I was in the spirit: and, behold, a throne was set in heaven, and One sat on the throne." Revelation 4:1-2

We are moving from being dependent on the "pulpit" into the kingdom (throne), where we hear a present word from the Lord. It is not easy for us to move from the familiar, into the place of dependence, where we become available for the Lord to speak through us, as He may desire.

"By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed and he went out, not knowing where he went." Hebrews 11:8

He went out not knowing - as the future was veiled. There is a purpose in our wilderness experiences - the delays, and the reductions that we experience.

"And you shall remember all the way which the Lord your God led you these forty years in the wilderness, to humble you, and to prove you, to know what was in your heart, whether you would keep His commandments, or no." Deuteronomy 8:2

The delays of God reveal our true motives and intents, that correction might be made, and that we might be brought up into a higher level of relationship and experience.

"Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus. When He had heard therefore that he was sick, He abode two days still in the same place where He was. Then after that says He to His disciples, Let us go into Judaea again ... Our friend Lazarus sleeps; but I go, that I may awake him out of sleep." John 11:5-7, 11b

Martha (service) and Mary (devotion) were attempting to get Lazarus (adamic nature) healed.

"Then said Martha to Jesus, Lord, if You had been here, my brother had not died." John 11:21

Jesus stayed away "two days" (divine delay). Lazarus (adamic nature) is now bound up, and has become so dead that it smells. In the "fullness of time," Jesus came and said, "Lazarus, come forth."

Later, Jesus is sitting at the banquet table with Lazarus (John 12:1). The delay was to bring forth the higher, because life comes out of death and unless we go through that process, we cannot receive the word to "Come up." Service and devotion (religious activity) will hinder if they possibly can.

"The kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force." Matthew 11:12b

There is a purpose in the Lord seemingly discouraging us. That discouragement will only make our roots go deeper, and cause us to push all the harder.

Mark 7:25-29 is the story of a certain woman whose daughter had an unclean spirit. She came to Jesus and said, "Lord, will you heal my daughter?" He answered, "This is for the children, the chosen, not for the dogs." In other words, "you are a dog, you cannot have this." She replied, "The dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs." Jesus said, "For that saying, your daughter is healed."

This Greek woman knew what she wanted, and she refused to be insulted. Blessed are the bankrupt, the "poor" who will give up their identity, the right to their own life and become apart of the expression of His life.

"Let us not be weary in well doing (our present level of faith, believing and hope): for in due season (there is an appointed time) we shall reap, if we faint not." Galatians 6:9 (comments added)

There is a time of "divine delay" - of discouragement, where there is no apparent reward. But, there is a "due season" - an "appointed time," if we will patiently endure "our time in the wilderness," and then move past the present place of blessing, from the known, up into the unknown.

The present word is, "Come up." If we do not weary in well doing, in "that day," at the appointed hour, the body that is veiled - that which all creation is groaning for - will be "unveiled," for the outworking of the end-time purposes of the Lord in the earth.

"Come, and let us return to the Lord: for He has torn, and He will heal us; He has smitten, and He will bind us up.

"After two days will He revive us; in the third day, He will raise us up and we shall live in His sight. Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the Lord; His going forth is prepared as the morning; and He shall come to us as the rain, as the latter and former rain to the earth." Hosea 6:1-3

Submit to the time of processing, and "He will raise us up, and we will live in His sight."

Did Joel Miss It

Alison Papenfus

(And are we missing it now?)

The book of Joel opens with a shocking description of devastation. The prophet paints a picture of the sky turning black, a merciless plague of locusts falling from the heavens to consume every blade of grass, every shoot, every leaf - even the bark on the trees. As we read on we hear the wracking groans of beasts for whom no food remains, the choking cries of the dying and the stench of death by starvation begins to seep out of the pages. We watch the army of locusts moving inexorably forward, overwhelming the city by sheer force of numbers. Chilling stuff. Still more chilling for those of us who have seen locusts in action; have heard the "old timers" tell of their terror in the days before sprays could control them; have observed a "cloud" of locusts humming through the air at dawn; have seen one locust eat another locust alive; or waded through a seething mass of immature locusts as they chewed one another and the grass beneath their feet. I have learned to hate locusts with a passion, every time I encounter one they remind me of the work of the enemy - meting out suffering without a twinge of conscience; consuming everything good without the possibility of regret. Joel's description of locusts is very alive for me

Yet as I read through Joel something began to stir in my spirit. Joel was a prophet. Aren't prophets supposed to foretell? Why didn't Joel warn the people in advance? Should he not have told them that the locusts were coming?

Just skip through four centuries with me, and consider the tragedy that our world has watched in the past year. A tsunami in Asia; hurricane Katrina in the Southern US, economic and political collapse in Zimbabwe to name but three. What mocking questions have been tossed at the prophets about these events? Over and over I am asked "Didn't you know? You guys are supposed to be prophets - why didn't you warn us?" If we dredge up the annals of prophetic words over this place and that place we may find the odd mention of "something coming" - but the details are lacking - there are no specific locations or dates, no warnings to flee for the hills or sell up your property. Just as Joel watched the rape of his precious homeland, so today's prophets have been appalled by the devastation we have watched this year - as has every member of the human race.

So here's the question: did Joel miss it? Should he have prophesied the locust plague in advance? Read the book from cover to cover, nowhere in scripture is it suggested that Joel should have "seen" the locust plague before it happened. The huge value of his prophecy lies in the horrifying parallel that Joel draws between the utter devastation that was visible to the people of his time and the judgment that God proposes to send on them as a result of sin; he catapults us through history into the outpouring of the Holy Spirit and the restoration of the people of God; he clearly foretells our triumph in the Valley of Decision trumpets the victory of the glory of God across the millennia that divide us; and he provide an anchor for Peters magnificent sermon on the day of Pentecost. But predict the locusts? No - he didn't. And he makes absolutely no apology for it. For what he saw as a result of that plague was of far greater eternal significance than the mere prediction of this one minor historical "blip"

Should the prophets have foreseen the tsunami? Should we have predicted the catastrophe of Katrina? Should we have foretold the destruction of the homes of poor people in Zimbabwe? Should we have warned people to change their holiday plans - or to shore up the walls of certain rivers - or to move out of Harare? For if people are looking to us for prediction this is what they are asking for! They are asking the prophets to engage with the immediate instead of the eternal; to become pre-occupied with the preservation temporal plans and material wealth rather than the eternal purposes of an omnipresent God. Let's be honest - we did not see in advance because God did not reveal it to us - any more than he showed Joel the locusts. And the fact that prophets did not predict an event does not mean that they failed the world they were sent to serve.

But we are in danger of failing now.

Have we become so preoccupied with edification, exhortation and comfort that we can not hear God speaking in catastrophe? Are we so addicted to "programs" and "meetings" that we are reluctant to share in our nations what God is saying? Where is the courage of Joel which confronted a nation so vividly in their time of tragedy? Where are the voices that can not be silenced - demanding that people listen to what God is saying? Can't we hear the clamor in heaven that people turn and repent before the next - and more terrifying - day of the Lord comes on them? Are we ashamed of the trumpet call to acknowledge that the great battle of the Valley of Decision is closer now than it was in Joel's day? A fire has devoured the open pastures - but far worse is to come if the people of God do not get the message to call on Him. An outpouring of food and humanitarian aid is right and good - but what is the word of the Lord? - it is the responsibility of the prophets to make sure people know! There is no doubt that God is speaking - but if the trumpet gives an uncertain sound neither the world nor the church will prepare for the battle to come. It's time for every prophet to know what God is saying in their local situation - and to speak it clearly. It will make people uncomfortable - it is not a welcome word. But if we conceal it now we will answer for our silence in the Day of the Lord.

Be bold, prophets! Proclaim this among the nations - prepare for war! Wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near. Let them come up (to the battle) Joel 3.9 We did not foresee the natural - and that was fine. But we must proclaim what the Spirit is saying now!

Disciples Do

Robert Ricciardelli

Christians Don't Change The World, Disciples Do!

George Barna recently did a survey that approximated 85% of all Americans labeling themselves as "Christians". We all should by now know that the figure is somewhere around 8-20% depending who you would ask, and also what criterion you would use to categorize those "Christians." The actual word "Christian" itself was not what God gave us, but was actually given to us by unbelievers. Father calls us His son's & daughters - DISCIPLES!

To be a disciple of Christ is to be a disciplined learner of the One you have submitted yourself to. A disciple commits to learn His ways, to practice His ways, to live His ways. The Church is then to be the learning organization for the disciples of our Lord Jesus Christ. God's foundational blueprints for building learning organizations are same and can be applied to individuals, families, churches, communities, and nations. If you want to change the world, don't just be a Christian, live life as a disciple.

Disciple Characteristics

Disciples practice the truths of God as a lifestyle. It is not the knowledge we know, nor the scriptures we can quote, that make us a disciple. It is the obedience to His Word and expressions of His character in our life that is evidence of true discipleship. Most of us have sat and heard hundreds of sermons, some really good ones too! How many of those sermons are we applying in our lives today? Are we maturing?

Hebrews 5:11-14 We have much to say about this, but it is hard to explain because you are slow to learn. 12In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! 13Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant, is not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. 14But solid food is for the mature, who by constant use have trained themselves to distinguish good from evil.

All the sermons, all the study, all the good intentions that are not expressed consistently in the disciplines of our life are fruitless and not the way of a maturing disciple.

Disciples Prioritize Their Relationships

The priority diagram on our website www.vision2advance.com shows a great representation of how we should look at the key relationships in our lives. Obviously God is at the Supreme center of our lives. For those of us that are married, it would be our spouses and for others it would be their families, both spiritual and blood related. It extends out from there to churches, businesses, and government. We still see many putting business or ministry ahead of some vital relationships in their lives.

Jesus made it pretty clear how He prioritizes His relationships….

Matthew 12:50 For whoever does the will of my Father in heaven is my brother and sister and mother."

Disciples Expect Warfare and are not disappointed because they know the way of spiritual maturity is through conflict. The Holy Spirit drove Jesus into the wilderness at the beginning of His public ministry for his conflict with the Prince of Darkness. Israel after leaving Egypt could have been to the promised land in less than a week, but Father knew they were not battle ready.

Exodus 13:17 17 When Pharaoh let the people go, God did not lead them on the road through the Philistine country, though that was shorter. For God said, "If they face war, they might change their minds and return to Egypt."

Even after a few years of training in the wilderness they still continued to fail the "battle ready" tests of God and had to spend 40 years of preparation that passed a generation before God felt they were ready to go. We must remember to stand in the face of conflict and receive it as part of our discipleship training for reigning.

The word Shalom (Peace), does not mean the absence of conflict. It does mean victory or peace in the midst of conflict. One of the root concepts of Shalom is to have your foot on the neck of your enemy. How would that fit in the camp of Christian passivity? Disciples are not passive. Peace, or rest in God is not the absence of activity or conflict, but it is the absence of anxiety.

Psalm 23 speaks of about the Lord preparing a table in the midst of our enemies. So as soldiers in the army of the Lord, be willing to be trained for battle.

Earnest Hemmingway once wrote:

"In a calm Sea, every man is a captain".

We can all show strength when there is no adversity. Jesus promised that if we followed Him, we would face many challenges. If your life is void of adversity then it may be that you have not been activated in vision and purpose for your life. In the Lord's army, confrontation is a guarantee unless you are missing in action or absent without leave.

The reason many do not like pressure and tests is because it reveals where they are at, and they do not want to see where they are really at. They would rather live in the fiction of where they think they ought to be.

Disciples willingly follow leaders that are committed to teaching training and releasing others. They are committed to being a disciple and making other disciples in Jesus name. The level of training, sacrifice, and character we exemplify, determines our level of effectiveness as ambassadors of the King.

Why was Paul the single, most effective disciple of Christ we know in History? The man who wrote two thirds of the New Testament had quite the resume. He was in constant training, and the Lord prepared Him and was with Him through a life of much conflict such as;

2 Corinthians 11 24Five times I received from the Jews the forty lashes minus one. 25Three times I was beaten with rods, once I was stoned, three times I was shipwrecked, I spent a night and a day in the open sea, 26I have been constantly on the move. I have been in danger from rivers, in danger from bandits, in danger from my own countrymen, in danger from Gentiles; in danger in the city, in danger in the country, in danger at sea; and in danger from false brothers. 27I have labored and toiled and have often gone without sleep; I have known hunger and thirst and have often gone without food; I have been cold and naked. 28Besides everything else, I face daily the pressure of my concern for all the churches.

God will often engage us in battles we don't think we can win. The truth is, most of these battles cannot be won without participating along with Him. He is building our faith to know that in Him we can do all things and be victorious. You want to change the world? We can, but only by paying the price, as a disciple. We need the Holy Spirit to first change us before we can change others, recognizing that transformation of ourselves to His likeness and nature is an eternal process. We then can begin to change our families, churches, communities, and nation.

Our friend Dennis Peacocke always says, "God plays everyone who is in shape, and he plays them at the level they are prepared to play". Being an athlete, that really is a great way of looking at our Father and great Coach. What Christ-like shape are you in? What level are you playing at? What level are you training for? Let us all train to be like Christ who was obedient unto death. Let's change the world, and make the first changes be in us, in Jesus name!

Deception Is Lingering

My precious warriors, children, jewels, I am speaking to you now, to warn you of the increase of wolves in sheep's clothing. What many of you are seeing before your eyes is not what is truly inside. Many of you are seeing what is an illusion, and below the hood, there is something completely different.

Many are walking around and seem to be cloaked of Me, but look under the hoods, for underneath the hoods, the masks, is the truth of where someone is at. Deception is increasing within My church, and My children, you must be on guard and watchful at all times.

Many of you are being deceived by people who seem to be cloaked in Me, and I am wanting to bring this to light. Compare what is happening to My Word, and in the light of My Word, shall you truly see their hearts state.

For many are now hiding under 'hoods' that seem to be of Me, but are truly not walking with Me, and are allowing the enemy to use them to bring division, to bring jealousy, and strife.

The attack upon My children, that I am now slowly placing on the frontline is increasing, so My children you must get into My Word more than ever before. Some of those that you thought were cloaked greatly in Me, have fallen and are now allowing the enemy to use them to lead others astray.

Deception is raising it's ugly head in greater ways in My church lately. Yes, in greater ways, but subtler ways. This is WHY My church, I am constantly speaking to you to come to Me, and listen to Me. For as you listen to Me, you will not be deceived. As you worship ME, all deception and darkness will fall away in the light of My presence.

My church, truly examine your lives in the light of Me and My Word. Grab deception in My name, and cast it out.
The great shifting, and sudden change is beginning, and the enemy is trying to disarm many that I am placing on the frontline through deception, so stand against this.

Stand against the deception, and walk in My truth. Look beneath the hoods of man, through My Word. Many angels of light are surrounding My church, but are not from Me. I see the hearts of My people, and I see the deception trying to weave it's way deeper into My church. Do not let deception entangle you.

Listen to Me. Stand on My words more than ever before, you will see some who are upright in Me, are going to fall like the stars from the sky. A great shaking to the church is coming. So stand in Me. Keep your hearts pure before Me, and do not let darkness or deception have a hook into your lives.

Worship Me, in Spirit and in truth, worship Me, and all darkness and deception will be revealed in the light of My face.

My Heart Is Speaking

I have brought many of you to a fork in the road. I have brought many of you to a place of decision. Whether the decision is great or small, the decisions will impact eternity. I have brought many of you to this fork in the road.

You are to choose whether to continue to walk in My righteousness, no matter the sacrifice, continue to walk in My way and My holiness no matter the price, or place your feet on the path of the wicked. Now is the time to choose.

I am raising many of you up, and taking you higher in Me. I long for My church to be in unity, My body is to be unified, but many of My children, are still in the shadows, and still sleeping in Me, and are not awake and alive to all that I am doing and saying in this day. I live, I am alive, and I speak.

Many of you feel that the furnace has been turned up, the heat has been raised, but I say to you, that not one hair on your head shall be singed.

My precious branches, you are connected to Me, the Almighty Vine. How I love each of you and know all about you. I am warning you My precious branches, do not be entangled with wicked vines. Do not touch or play with vines that are not of Me. Do not play around with them, but stay clearly away from them. For the evil one is prowling to see those to whom he can devour, and if you play with vines that are not of Me, you will be snared.

I am bringing to the frontline now, those who have been faithful to Me in the little, and those who have been hidden. I am now bringing them forth, to be raised up as Mighty leaders for Me. Leaders that will get alongside those who are asleep, who are in the shadows and playing with vines that are not of Me, and lead them back to Me.

For I do not will for My children to be asleep. I will for you My children to be alive. Completely alive in Me. Walking abundantly in knowing Me and making Me known.

Do not fear the pruning and tribulation, for I am moulding those of you who have been faithful and hidden into My mighty leaders. Leaders that will prepare the next phase of My return.

Do not be entangled or conform to the vines of the wicked. Do not place one foot on the path of the wicked, but stay right away, and connected to Me, the Great Vine.

Manipulation and deception is weaving itself into My church, and I am grieved by this. Do not entertain deception, do not walk in things that are not of Me, and do not speak words against your brother that is not life words.

As you speak words of death against your brothers and sisters the enemy is able to weave his way into My church, and bring about deception, disunity and bondage.

Many of My churches are being controlled by things not of Me, and I am greatly grieved.

Many are allowing the evil one to influence what they do and speak through the wounding in their lives, and it is polluting My church. I long to heal all of My children’s wounds. Come to Me and let me heal you, and do not speak death words over your brothers and sisters, but speak life.

Stop allowing the enemy to gain ground in My church through your disobedience and words of death over each other. Oh how I greatly love and adore each of you, and long to show each of you the beauty that I see in My church.

The evil and the entertainment of vines not of Me, must stop. Repent My church, repent for entertaining and playing with vines are not of Me. Repent, allow Me to wash each of you clean and pour more of My love over you.

I want My church to shine brighter than the brightest star. The world is getting darker My children. Be watchful for peaceful faces and plans being filtered through the government for they are not of Me. Be careful of deception filtering itself through the governments, and leaders and into nations.

My church, repent, rise up.

Choose to serve Me. Choose to walk on the path of Righteousness. I am now bringing forth My leaders. My gold leaders. My anointed leaders who I will use to bring about reconciliation, healing and purity back to My church.

Descent Into Darkness And The New Orleans Paradox

Chad Taylor

"Your children will rebuild the deserted ruins of your cities. Then you will be known as the people who rebuild their walls and cities..." (Isa 58:12 NLT)

Our second trip into the Gulf Coast region and more specifically New Orleans can only be described as a slow descent down a ladder into gross darkness. As we entered the Mississippi region and crossed through Biloxi and Gulf Port and began our journey into Louisiana it was surreal and extremely difficult to grasp the magnitude of the disaster we were facing. It was only after we left the region and began our travels home for more supplies did it begin to hit me. When we crossed the Causeway bridge over Lake Pontchartrain and entered Jefferson Parrish and the city of New Orleans we took a quantum leap from normality and predictability into tragedy and catastrophe in a blink of an eye. It was like a bomb had went off and we were climbing out of our insulated "bomb shelters" called our personal lives and seeing what the real world now looked like. Everything was marked by the hurricane from the road signs to the light pole - nothing was spared or unscathed by its wrath. Steel bill board signs with a 10 ft. girth were snapped like twigs. Businesses and entire cities were folded up like an old newspaper and thrown away. In many places nothing is left. Nothing.

The closer you approached the downtown area of New Orleans the tangible reality of darkness and death permeated the air - literally. The smell alone was shocking as we drove down the streets lined with empty houses and boarded windows. Patrols of military troops dotted every corner and an army of vehicles attempting to restore some semblance of humanity raced down the streets. Displaced people stared at us like robots waiting for a meal, a bottle of water or any glimmer of hope. We visited two major hubs of distribution; Victory Fellowship and Riverside Baptist Church and the mountain of donations was impressive. Little do most know though how quickly this mountain will dwindle as thousands try to re-enter a city that at this point is uninhabitable both naturally and spiritually. It is said that the public conscious lasts about 3 weeks and the danger is, that far before the rebuilding of New Orleans supernaturally and naturally occurs, the momentum currently being sustained by donations from all over the world will lose it's steam thus creating a vacuum that the very much present evil is intent on filling. Look at it like this relating to the massive aid and clean up of New Orleans and you will foresee the danger that's now facing us, "When an unclean spirit goes out of a man (or a city?), he goes through dry places, seeking rest, and finds none. Then he says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.' And when he comes, he finds it empty, swept, and put in order. Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and the last state of that man is worse than the first. So shall it also be with this wicked generation..." (Matt. 12:43-45). The enemy desires to raise from the ashes of this devastation something even more corrupt and wicked than it was previously. If all that the enemy finds once the dust settles and the public awareness shifts is a city, "empty, swept, and put in order..." we have utterly failed in our attempt to help as sincere as our efforts may be.

Step back with me for a minute and ponder this: New Orleans's crime rate is ten times the national average, affluent corporations and businesses have fled New Orleans years ago because of the internal corruption and controversy always orbiting around the city. Just weeks before Katrina, federal officials indicted associates of the former mayor, for alleged kickbacks and contract fraud and the state ranks third in the number of elected officials convicted of crimes. Recent scandals include the conviction of 14 state judges and an FBI raid on the business and personal files of a Louisiana congressman. The Daily News goes on to note that in the 1990s the New Orleans Police Department "had the dubious distinction of being the nation's most corrupt police force and the least effective: the city had the highest murder rate in America. More than 50 officers were eventually convicted of crimes including murder, rape and robbery; two are currently on Death Row." Yearly New Orleans celebrates one of the most pagan demoralizing events in the world; Mardi Gras. By mid-August of this year, 192 murders had been committed in New Orleans, 'nearly 10 times the national average'. The New Orleans "southern decadence" festival which was to take place Labor Day weekend is described as a extreme gay celebration rivaling Mardi Gras and was only interrupted by Hurricane Katrina...

No doubt this is a major cleansing and purging by the Lord but the paradox is this: It also sets the stage for the most extreme move of God in America's history as well if we can fill the void with much, much more than cases of water and canned food. We need to move now into this vacuum and fill the air with worship and intercession 24 hrs. a day - seven days a week. But will we? We are so conditioned as a church entity to simply write a check and wash our hands leaving the dirty work to someone else that we run the great peril that New Orleans will not be revived then what is all of our efforts then? We have watched the ship of revival pass us time and time again namely Sept. 11th and the attacks on New York City. This created a public awareness of God that is unrivaled in American history and yet after a few months to a year it faded from our memory to become an epitaph on a stone memorial. The church failed to fill the spiritual vacuum created by it thus the enemy discovered that America was, "empty, swept, and put in order..." but not revived thus creating a compounded problem that we are facing now in the Gulf Coast and New Orleans. Remember this, New York is not immune to another attack the enemy is plotting and planning something much more evil and devastating right now for New York and only our sustained and perpetual prayers will stop it. This applies to New Orleans and the entire Gulf Coast territory as well, hurricanes will stack up like a deck of cards on one of Biloxi's river boats until the church learns to leap from the steps of complacency and stand in the gap with "prayers without ceasing" and sinners repent of their sin and turn to the living God. But contemplate this, "How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach, except they be sent?" (Rom 10:14-15). We must act now or forever bear this countries darkest days that await her if the Church does not move now...

We have a plan. After two trips into this devastated area we are convinced that we could accommodate teams that could arrive from around the nation to pray, fast, worship and seek the Lord for true restoration and revival. Envision this... a small to medium tent with tables and chairs with teams from all points and providences praying and seeking the Lord for New Orleans with 24 hr. recorded and live worship. Envision this... a flat-bed truck trailer hosting worship bands publicly and openly worshiping the Lord for all to hear powered by gas generators filling the ravaged air with praise. Envision this... Teams stationed and ready to invade the streets with the love of God from this "worship and intercession base camp" bringing thousands of souls to Jesus. Envision this... healing and prophetic teams ready and prepared to administer the healing power of God to broken bodies and hearts and compelling them to move on with God's destiny for their lives. Envision this... having motor homes and other means of accommodating the teams in New Orleans and possibly a church or other sort of building to sustain this 24 hrs. a day 7 days a week worship and prayer in the very thick of the gross darkness and hopelessness. I tell you this it can happen if we can raise the standard and grasp the possibilities presented to us by the Lord and reach higher than we ever have as individuals and a church. Consuming Fire and many of our friends and even people we have never met are poised and in position to accomplish such a feat, are you ready to try?

We already have use of a 34' class A motor home, a 5 ton trailer for the commercial generator and gas supply (we currently need this size of generator if anyone can donate or let us use), and an enclosed 10X 5 trailer to transport supplies into and around New Orleans (we need something bigger or more of the same). Enterprise Rent-a Car has been incredibly gracious to give us almost 50% off the trucks we've used to travel with supplies from Southwest Georgia into these areas of destruction but we will be hard pressed to continue to pay over $250 dollars a week to travel and stay in New Orleans, we need to concentrate our prayers and efforts and secure a 4-door newer to new pick-up and/or larger SUV. It is critical we take hold of this in the spirit and allow it to manifest in the natural now. Any and all creative ideas small or large will not go unnoticed or considered. Please respond. I am convinced somebody reading this has the means even as Joseph had to fill the storehouses in Egypt to make this happen. We stand waiting and ready for this answer to prayer for the appropriate vehicle(s) to convoy to New Orleans and possess the land. We are giving our life to see America revived, this is not a mere charity drive it is a precipice of impossible possibilities that looms before us like a Titanic, will we sink or rise Church? Will we respond or fall back under the peer pressure of religion and continue the gamble of Sunday morning church and the revolving doors of conferences as epic disasters line up on our hallowed shores? What will we do in this hour? New Orleans is latchkey for America, how we respond to her is how we will respond to our own cities and streets. Will she remain empty and void of God's power in us or will a vanguard of Christians leap to this opportunity and "repair the breach..." We are here ready and willing to help you do just that, only we need you to be able to do it.

1) We need a vehicle(s) equipped for such a mission not only a truck to haul and carry supplies but others to take teams and prayer warriors into these areas of compromise and pray and minister. We would even be willing to bus teams in if the means were made available. We currently have a commercial semi-truck from Oregon ready to pick up larger supplies as well for this mission. Agree with us for the "Josephs" that are currently in position to answer this request now. AMEN.

2) We need an indoor tent that could accommodate approximately 50-100 people for continued around the clock prayer and worship. The main body of activity will be in the open air the tent would simply be used to pray, worship, and help individuals on a one-on-one level. Chairs and tables would also be necessary but not many. We all hold a piece of this puzzle please find your part and lay it on the table.

3) A flat bed semi trailer that live bands and ministers could use to call New Orleans into God's presence. We could literally host ministries and strategic prophetic voices from around the country to usher in America's greatest hour. A simple piece of equipment such as this could make this happen.

4) We will also need specialized team leaders that are skilled in these areas i.e., worship leaders, healing teams (possibly trained in the Healing Rooms from Spokane, WA. etc.) prophetic and evangelistic team leaders, team leaders possibly from I.H.O.P in Kansas City and an array of others that can simply stand in the gap and receive a city to Jesus. We believe we will be able to accommodate you in New Orleans and sustain a continuum of worship, prayer and outreach pushing back the pending darkness and destruction that still pervades.

5) If you can assist us RIGHT NOW to begin to mobilize this vision please visit our link at Consuming Fire below that's dedicated to receive your help and aid either small or great to make this a reality. We are currently still using Enterprise's vehicle to do pick ups and errands for these trips and the one we are planning now if you want to help in this area for one day, a week, or any amount of time you can contact Enterprise directly at (229)-228-5742 in Thomasville, GA. A generator is currently available of this size and capacity at The Tractor Supply in Thomasville and can be contacted at (229)-228-9844. We have worked with a car dealer in the past in Thomasville that has Christians in management that could be a possibility for a truck you can contact Thrifty Car Sales in Thomasville, GA. at (229)-551-0313. These are only points of contact and we will continue to agree with you for their answers. We are planning sometime in October to begin the building of a base camp in New Orleans and at least one more trip to secure the property for such a strategy as well. We can do this.

Discernment Is Not The Problem

Bill Somers

Mount Gilead Ohio USA

www.etpv.org

> Matthew 21:23-27
> 23 And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?
> 24 And Jesus answered and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I in like wise will tell you by what authority I do these things.
> 25 The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say unto us, Why did ye not then believe him?
> 26 But if we shall say, Of men; we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet.
> 27 And they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

People are asking what is really going on in Florida. So let’s take a look at two possible explanations and see what makes more sense.

Some are saying the Florida Outpouring is not a real revival. True enough, it’s an outpouring of healing and evangelism. And it’s not the great end time outpouring of the Spirit that we have been praying for, at least not yet.

So try and follow this logic.

Since the outpouring is not a real revival, it must be a false revival. DUH!
Since it is a false revival, all the manifestations are faked. DUH!
Since the manifestations are all false, the healings must be demonic. DUH!
Since there are demonic healings, the entire outpouring must be a deception. DUH!
Since this entire business is a deception, this must be the great end time delusion. DUH!

Now try this approach.
Since God is moving in great power, the enemy is showing up and trying to spoil things.
He will throw in some strange fire and get some skeptics upset.
Then he can sow lots of discord and discredit the outpouring.
And maybe that way, he can stop the move of God before it goes any farther. Hey it worked before!
Since you can fool some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, that’s all it takes!

Discernment
Discernment: keenly selective judgment: good taste and judgment;
knowledge, understanding, grasp, appreciation, familiarity, recognition, perception,
Encarta® Thesaurus © 2000 Microsoft Corporation. All rights reserved. Developed for Microsoft by Bloomsbury Publishing Plc.

People are moaning about a lack of discernment. Discernment is not the biggest need. It’s what you do with the discernment you have. The biggest lack is a Christ like attitude. The accuser of the brethren is said to operate day and night. Revelation 12:10. Jesus is said to ever intercede before the father in heaven. Hebrews 7:25.
Which one are we going to come in agreement with? Do we curse or do we bless?

Now there is the case of a Pharisee who went up to pray Luke 18: 10-13. He had discernment, and he used it to accuse the publican of being among the extortionists, the unjust, and the adulterers.

The Christ like attitude is seen in John 8:1-11. There Jesus knew [discerned] that the Pharisees were liars, since they misquoted the Law of Moses. And he knew they were also guilty of obstructing justice, by not bringing in the other guilty party in a case of adultery. Leviticus 20:10. Did he accuse them in front of all the people in the temple? Did he expose their corruption? Or did he give them space to repent?

What Are We Looking And Praying For?

Here are a couple passages that speak a promise of restoration to God’s people, after a time of strife. I believe these foretell the end of the Civil War and the joy of the coming Kingdom of God in the great end time revival. Come Lord Jesus.

> Isaiah 29:17-24
> 17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed as a forest?
> 18 And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness.
> 19 The meek also shall increase their joy in the LORD, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.
> 20 For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off:
> 21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought.
> 22 Therefore thus saith the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob, Jacob shall not now be ashamed, neither shall his face now wax pale.
> 23 But when he seeth his children, the work of mine hands, in the midst of him, they shall sanctify my name, and sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and shall fear the God of Israel.
> 24 They also that erred in spirit shall come to understanding, and they that murmured shall learn doctrine.
> Isaiah 52:6-10
> 6 Therefore my people shall know my name: therefore they shall know in that day that I am he that doth speak: behold, it is I.
> 7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth!
> 8 Thy watchmen shall lift up the voice; with the voice together shall they sing: for they shall see eye to eye, when the LORD shall bring again Zion.
> 9 Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the LORD hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem.
> 10 The LORD hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.

Destruction In October

James Robey

Something really big is coming in October to America. America has sowed to the wind. And now she is reaping the whirlwind. Must read Amos 3:6. Must read Jeremiah 18:7-12. Must read revelation 18:2-10. The great whore of mystery Babylon America is receiving her due from our just and holy god. For decades god has sent to her prophets warning of repentance and judgment. But America has laughed and persecuted the prophets sent to her. There is nothing left for America but judgment. What else can our holy God do? America's sin has piled high to the heavens and God has remembered her iniquities. The nation is in deep darkness. And the church is in deep sleep. Come out of her and do not be a partaker of her sins, and of her plagues.

> "Come, my people, enter into your rooms, and close your doors behind you: hide for a little while, until indignation runs its course. For behold, the lord is about to come out from his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: and the earth will reveal her bloodshed, and will no longer cover her slain." (Isaiah 26:20,21). -------

A Visitation From The Lord America Forsaken By God

James Robey

September 05, 2005
Saturday morning I was praying and fellowshipping with the Lord. I was discouraged because we are not seeing revival in America, and we see so few miracles here in America. I was burdened by all the human suffering in New Orleans and the other Gulf Coast states. I asked the Lord, "Lord you said in Your Word, that the secret of the Lord is with those who fear You," Psalm 25:14. "What's going on in America?" I asked the Lord, "Tell me your secrets." My room filled with the glory and presence of the Lord. I literally touched the glory of the Lord. My room actually got whiter and brighter. The Lord stood right before me, in the form of a soft white cloudy mist, and the Lord said to me in a soft audible voice, "I HAVE FORSAKEN AMERICA, GO AND SEARCH THE SCRIPTURES." And the visitation ended. I didn't want the Lord to leave, but God is Sovereign, and does as He pleases.

I searched the scriptures and found Jeremiah 51: verses 5 & 9. Clearly Jeremiah is speaking of America being forsaken by God. God has indeed forsaken America. But America had forsaken God long ago There are so many scriptures in the Old Testament that speak of God giving over His people Israel to a reprobate mind because they had forsaken and turned from the Lord. The Lord has determined to destroy America. But the Lord does not want His people to be discouraged, but to take heart (read Jeremiah 51:45,46).

With the Manifest Presence of the Lord now God from America, you can expect the following to occur in America based on what the Lord has done in the past to wicked nations (such as what He did to Egypt, and the curses of Israel - Deut. 28): increased violence and riots, new & old diseases and pestilences and famine (Rev. 18:8), increased destruction of America in frequency and strength by natural disasters such as fires floods earthquakes hurricanes, etc. Further debauchery and wickedness of the established man-churches, (not the true elect bride of Christ), severe persecution of the bride of Christ, food and fuel shortages. So much, much more. People are literally losing their minds. America has become a dwelling place of demons and a prison of every unclean spirit (Rev. 18:2). Come out of her. You must read Jeremiah 50 & 51 and Revelation 17 & 18. They are speaking of America. So much more could be said.

I warn you, the true brothers and sisters of Jesus Christ, now is the time to repent of all your sins, because God is not playing games. God has forsaken America. It is too late for her, it's sins are as piled high as the heavens and God has remembered her. She must be paid back. And the smoke of her torment will rise to the heavens. You must saturate your minds with the pure Word of God, because satan is increasing the battle for our minds. God is shaking everything that can be shaken. If your heart is in this world or in America, you are going down. Remember Lot's Wife. If you have the peace of God, you will have nothing to fear. It is your God who is accomplishing His judgments on the great whore harlot America that has spread her fornications throughout the whole world. Brother Jim in Baltimore

Distraction and Assignments

Betty Heimbach

December 4, 2005

While praying for someone that I had been on the phone with, the Lord began to speak to me through images. I saw her with several little dogs nipping at her feet and ankles. They were biting her pants legs and pulling - trying to get her to go in another direction. They were so noisy she couldn't hear the people who were knocking on her door, or the person calling her from another room.

Then I could see the dog's collars. They had nametags on the collars. I could read some of the tags, one was “Distraction”, another was “Relationships”, and another was “Anger”. One I could read part of looked like “Resentment” and another that I couldn't see all the letters seemed to be “Rejection”. Some I could not read at all because of the angle of the tag the name wasn't visible. The leader was “Distraction”. He made the most noise and did the most tugging at her pant legs.

The Holy Spirit revealed that she is representative of many in the body of Christ today who are being harassed by the enemy. then He spoke this prophetic word to me for her - and the rest of us.

“I called you and anointed you for My purposes. But the enemy has sent Distraction and his co-workers to keep you from moving on in My plan. He has all these problems nipping at you to keep you so distracted that you are focused on trying to quiet the dogs, trying to get them off your feet and away from you – to be free of them – rather than being focused on Me.

"I send people to your door to receive from you of the gifts I have deposited in you. But the enemy keeps sending these “dogs” to you, day after day, they come back to torment you and cause you to lose your focus. One of their goals is to prevent you from hearing those I've sent to you.

"But you have authority over these pesky animals. You are the head – not the tail. You speak My truth in the power of My name and send these tormenters running – chasing their own tails instead of your feet! They have no real power over you their weapons are their noise – to draw your focus away from Me – and the fear and impatience that comes with dealing with them over and over.

"But don't be mistaken about who they are. Don't accept them as harmless pets. Regardless of how harmless they may look - they are dangerous. They are out to get you. Their aim is to distract you, to take your focus and then to trip you and trap you, to cause you to stumble and fall. Be aware they are not cute, cuddly or lovable little pets. They will not comfort you or be your friend. They are snarling, yapping, and harassing foes. Beware.

"Refocus on Me. Set you eyes on Me and My chosen path – and keep moving. Set your face like flint to follow Me no matter what comes your way. I'm calling you to walk closely with Me.

Some of these pests you will have to violently kick aside. Use My Word in authority and command them to stop harassing you – command them to leave you. Some you can ignore as though they were not even there – just keep walking. Keep moving ahead with no regard for their noise or their nipping and tugging. Keep My Word on your lips and uppermost in your mind - not the dogs. Keep putting one foot in front of the other and they will begin to fall back as you move forward with Me. Then you will be able to move on unhindered in My plan and purpose.

"Invite My presence in every time they come nipping and barking. They cannot tolerate My presence – they will leave. No longer allow them to draw your focus from Me. Keep your eyes and ears attuned to Me and My voice and move on into your destiny.

Speaking the Truth in Love
Betty Heimbach

December 3, 2005

Ephesians 4:15, 25 But speaking the truth in love, we must grow up in every way into him who is the head, into Christ, from whom the whole body joined and knit together by every ligament with which it is equipped as each part is working properly, promotes the body's growth in building itself up in love. 25) So then, putting away falsehood; let all of us speak the truth to our neighbors, for we are members of one another.

Matthew 18:15 (Jesus said,) "If another believer sins against you, go privately and point out the fault. If the other person listens and confesses it, you have won that person back."

Galatians 6:1 My friends, if anyone is detected in a transgression, you who have received the Spirit should restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness.

"Beloved,

“One reason you are now struggling with these problems is past disobedience. When I spoke My word to you, for you to speak to another of My children and and you did not obey and give the word – that was disobedience. You allowed fear of people and their response to keep you from speaking the Word I gave you to speak. You could have been an instrument in My hand, an instrument of change, an instrument of restoration in that life. But you would not.

“ You have also failed to confront problems as they arise –to address wrongs - for fear of confrontation with people. You have feared people more than Me, more than you longed to please Me. It is an act of love to speak truth from a heart of love. Learn to love while you learn to walk in truth - do it together - simultaneously.

“It is time for you to walk in a holy and awesome fear of disobedience to Me; and give up your desire to please others and keep the peace at all costs. Agape love, divine love does not mean that you never disagree with anyone. It doesn’t mean that you can’t speak the truth and confront problems. But it does dictate how you speak and the manner in which you confront.

“Don’t keep pushing down what are honest, godly reactions to those who are in error or sin. When you keep buttoning your lips when you know the truth and My Spirit has prompted you to speak that is not righteous. When you keep your lips closed and your tongue silent when you know by My Spirit you are to speak, you are no longer walking in step with Me. And when you put a lid on your emotions rather than speak honestly in love, then you are like a pressure cooker under too much pressure – in danger of exploding. Then you are apt to develop resentment or explode in anger and shame will soon follow. That is at odds with walking in love. It is not My way.

“But if you handle each problem or disagreement as it arises nothing will be too difficult for you to handle. Whether it’s annoyance with the rudeness of others, resisting someone’s attempt to control you and manipulate you, or speaking out against sin and error, trust Me, depend on Me and speak as the Holy Spirit leads you. If you allow these problems to build it can become unbearable and seemingly impossible to handle. Let Me show you how to handle these situations. Let Me give you a “righteous handle” to use in these problem areas: Walk in love while walking in truth. Place all concerns on My scale to balance truth and love, grace and truth.

“As a good parent, a godly parent, nurtures children they do not give love only. They balance love and discipline. They train by example and teaching. They speak truth in love, they model truth and honesty. So too are My children to live in relationship to one another. Prefer each other in love without compromising, without mincing words, without hiding from emotions or problems. It is all a part of love – holding each other accountable. I’ve spoken through My Word that you are to comfort each other, love each other and submit to one another. What is there to submit to if no one calls for accountability? How can there be true love without Truth itself?

“When you obey and speak what I give you – when I tell you it will accomplish My will - then give no thought nor have any concern as to what you see as a result. Hidden work is being done in those I speak to through you. Leave the outcome to Me. Be faithful to speak and act in love in all situations with patience and forbearance.

“When you hide your true feelings, your true reactions and keep silent rather than speak the Truth I have given you – you become a liar and unfruitful. My children are called to be a people of Truth. I have called you to beacon of light in dark places. When you encounter darkness in another, especially in of My chosen ones, and I speak to you from My heart - carry it out in love. Speak forth My word. It will bring blessing and unity not strife and division.

“Your present difficulty may not have occurred if you were walking in complete and quick obedience to Me. Are you ready to walk in quick obedience? Are you ready to follow My guidance as I speak to you? Be quick to hear My voice and quick to obey. Learn to be more sensitive to My desires and to pleasing Me than in the possible displeasure of others.

“I know your heart. I know your desire to please Me. But you lack a little. You lack the whole-hearted determination to follow Me at all costs – no matter what people may think. Get ready. Be prepared. Listen and obey. Listen to My voice and quickly obey what I speak to you without thought for what others will think or say. Focus on Me. And walk in love.

“Sometimes you will be unaware that I am using you to speak to someone. You will think it is only conversation. You will consider that you are only speaking things I have taught you or that you have gleaned from My word. But I can use your conversations, your sharing of what you have learned to speak a “now” word as rhema to the listener without you even knowing it.

“You want to ‘run with the horsemen’? Prepare yourself. Exercise faith in Me and My word and My ability to guide you in every situation. Trust Me. Keep your eyes and your ears attuned to Me and you will progress to running with the footmen. You will progress in this love walk. You are being prepared. You are being established. You are being perfected. Walk in eager obedience.”

Leviticus 19:17 Do not nurse hatred in your heart for any of your relatives. Confront your neighbors directly so you will not be held guilty for their crimes.

James 5:19, My dear brothers and sisters, if anyone among you wanders away from the truth and is brought back again, you can be sure that the one who brings that person back will save that sinner from death and bring about the forgiveness of many sins.

Take Up Your Weapons
Betty Heimbach

Nov. 29, 2005
When I awoke this morning as I lay in bed, I saw by the spirit, a gun lying in bed covers, almost hidden in the folds of a comforter. I asked the Lord why was I seeing a gun, was this from Him? And if so what did it mean? This is what I heard.

It is time to take up your weapons. It is time to engage in battle. Not the weapons of the world, no guns, or knives, swords or explosives. No the weapons I have given you are higher and much more effective than these. The best weapon you have is My Word. Above all else use My word to defeat the enemy. Speak My Word. Combat the lies of the enemy and bring them down to nothing by the employment of My Word.

My Word will never run out of ammunition. My Word will never fail. It will not misfire. It will not miss the mark. It is always on time, on target and triumphant. My Word will bring down strongholds reducing them to dust to be blown away by the wind of My Spirit. My Word is a weapon you can depend on in every battle.

Use your weapon of prayer. Your sincere, heartfelt, fervent prayers will break down barriers, erect walls of protection and safely; and pierce the hidden bunkers of the enemy. It will uncover and unmask to reveal the truth of the enemies tactics and strategies. Pray always in every situation, leaving nothing to chance, neglecting nothing. Bring every concern before My throne in honesty and with intense, earnest prayer.

2 Cor. 10:4 For the weapons of our warfare are not physical (weapons of flesh and blood), but they are mighty before God for the overthrow and destruction of strongholds, [Inasmuch as we] refute arguments and theories and reasonings and every proud and lofty things that sets itself up against the (true) knowledge of God; as we lead every thought and purpose away captive into the obedience of Christ, the Messiah, the Anointed One.

Discernment

Priscilla Van Sutphin

www.upstreamca.org

Heb 5:14 AMP But solid food is for full-grown men, for those whose senses and mental faculties are trained by practice to discriminate and distinguish between what is morally good and noble and what is evil and contrary either to divine or human law.

Heb 5:14 NKJV But solid food belongs to those who are of full age, that is, those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.

NT:144 KJV - judgment. aistheterion (ahee-sthay-tay'-ree-on); from a derivative of NT:143; properly, an organ of perception, i.e. (figuratively) judgment:

NT:143 KJV - senses. aisthanomai (ahee-sthan'-om-ahee); of uncertain derivation; to apprehend (properly, by the senses): KJV - perceive.

I love this scripture as there is so much in it that bears comment. Solid food is talking about knowing the depths of the Word of God more. And Priscilla says [I'm one who believes she wrote it] our SENSES are involved in it, and mental faculties. The purpose of it is to discriminate between good spirits and bad spirits and what is good or evil in divine or human law.

We have five senses: Taste, Smell, Hearing, Sight & Touch.

TASTING

Taste and see that the Lord is good is not literally meant in that scripture perhaps.

But it is part of our senses and I have known those who tasted honey when there was no honey in their mouth, but they were IN THE SPIRIT at that moment and God was giving them the sensation of honey on their lips, tongue.

Ezekiel had a taste sensation…

Ezek 2:8-3:3 NIV
8 But you, son of man, listen to what I say to you. Do not rebel like that rebellious house; open your mouth and eat what I give you." 9 Then I looked, and I saw a hand stretched out to me. In it was a scroll, 10 which he unrolled before me. On both sides of it were written words of lament and mourning and woe.

Ezekiel 3:1 And he said to me, "Son of man, eat what is before you, eat this scroll; then go and speak to the house of Israel." 2 So I opened my mouth , and he gave me the scroll to eat. 3 Then he said to me, "Son of man, eat this scroll I am giving you and fill your stomach with it." So I ate it, and it tasted as sweet as honey in my mouth .

Job 6:30 AMP Is there wrong on my tongue? Cannot my taste discern what is destructive?

Ps 119:103 AMP How sweet are Your words to my taste, sweeter than honey to my mouth! [Ps 19:10; Prov 8:11.]

SMELLING

Dan 3:26-27 NKJV Nebuchadnezzar Praises God

Then Nebuchadnezzar went near the mouth of the burning fiery furnace and spoke, saying, "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego, servants of the Most High God, come out, and come here." Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-Nego came from the midst of the fire. 27 And the satraps, administrators, governors, and the king's counselors gathered together, and they saw these men on whose bodies the fire had no power; the hair of their head was not singed nor were their garments affected, and the smell of fire was not on them.

This was totally supernatural that they had NO SMELL on their clothes of the fire, when it killed the guards who threw them in! If God can supernaturally keep us from smelling, can He also allow us to smell the supernatural? Yes.

Deut 4:27-29 NKJV And there you will serve gods, the work of men's hands, wood and stone, which neither see nor hear nor eat nor smell . 29 But from there you will seek the LORD your God, and you will find Him if you seek Him with all your heart and with all your soul.

Ps 115:6-8 NKJV [Speaking of idols in comparison to HIMSELF God says:]
6 They have ears, but they do not hear; Noses they have, but they do not smell; 7 They have hands, but they do not handle; Feet they have, but they do not walk; Nor do they mutter through their throat. 8 Those who make them are like them;
So is everyone who trusts in them.

We are made in His image. We have senses and God trains our senses to discern between good and evil through exercising them…becoming aware of them. It takes Your senses to see the chabod – the cloud of glory that was seen in the first temple.

It takes senses to feel it, and it takes smell to smell the fire of the Lord, the incense of the Lord, which comes in many varied ways. I've smelled roses before in the presence of the spirit as waves of peace washed over me during worship. I smelled incense that was so wonderful you wanted to breathe as much in of it as possible when Mahesh Chavda was speaking about ministering to the POOR. I've smelled the fire, as if something was burning all during a sermon by a man who spoke in our church once.

I smelled the roses of His presence on Che Ahn once while following him down some stairs in the old building. I've also smelled the sulfuric smell of demons. Cancer spirits especially smell like bad farts…really bad ones. And a spirit of masturbation smells like weird candle wax is the best I can describe it. I've also smelled demons that Just had an unclean smell. Some have smelled fruit smells with the presence of the Lord. Some have smelled lavender, which is spikenard. I have smelled the soap smell.

The Lord is like a refiner's fire and a fuller's SOAP. That is the presence that comes with cleansing a person sometimes. I kept smelling it in the back of my car once after my divorce and I looked and couldn't find any spilled detergent…and the Lord spoke the above scripture to me. I smelled it again in a tent meeting, where there seemed to be in some pockets of the tent…soapy smell, incense smell, and smell of roses in certain places. Perhaps it has to do with assignments of angels, but that is just speculation. The roses smell is a very common one.

Isa 3:24 AMP And it shall come to pass that instead of the sweet odor of spices there shall be the stench of rottenness; and instead of a girdle, a rope; and instead of well-set hair, baldness; and instead of a rich robe, a girding of sackcloth; and searing [of captives by the scorching heat] instead of beauty.

HEARING
The Lord makes it obvious that we can hear His voice. John 10:27 NKJV "My sheep hear My voice, and I know them, and they follow Me."

How did Peter know Ananias and Sapphira had lied to him? Because the Holy Spirit told him.

How were scriptures written…old and new? By hearing the Lord's voice.

2 Peter 1:21 AMP For no prophecy ever originated because some man willed it [to do so--it never came by human impulse], but men spoke from God who were borne along (moved and impelled) by the Holy Spirit.

John 5:28-30 NKJV Do not marvel at this; for the hour is coming in which all who are in the graves will hear His voice 29 and come forth — those who have done good, to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil, to the resurrection of condemnation. 30 I can of Myself do nothing. As I hear , I judge; and My judgment is righteous, because I do not seek My own will but the will of the Father who sent Me.

Jesus heard the voice of His Father…He prayed every day to the Father…alone…in the secret place.

John 8:47 NKJV He who is of God hears God's words; therefore you do not hear, because you are not of God."

John 10:2-3 NKJV But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. 3 To him the doorkeeper opens, and the sheep hear his voice; and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out.

John 10:16 NKJV And other sheep I have which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they will hear My voice; and there will be one flock and one shepherd.

John 14:26 NKJV But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in My name, He will teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things that I said to you.

If He teaches us all things… HOW does He teach us? How will He bring to remembrance. He speaks to us. We hear His voice, or we perceive things [impressions on the mind] or through nature. He drops in Understanding, wisdom, knowledge; Words of knowledge and words of wisdom. He draws our attention to observe certain things. He really likes it when we meditate on the word, or things He is trying to show us.

John 15:15-16 NKJV No longer do I call you servants, for a servant does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all things that I heard from My Father I have made known to you.

Jesus HEARD from the Father and so can we. He died to RESTORE the relationship Adam and Eve had with Him in the garden! HE made the way through the Holy of Holies so we could have relationship. What kind of relationship would it be if communication was one sided? What kind of relationship would you have with your husband or boyfriend, or wife or girlfriend if you never spoke?

John 15:26-27 NKJV The Coming Rejection

"But when the Helper comes, whom I shall send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who proceeds from the Father, He will testify of Me.

This is the Spirit of PROPHECY…to testify of Jesus like it says in REVELATION.

My sheep HEAR MY VOICE and they follow ME. Not they follow My word, my ordinances, but follow ME. Christ is IN US. He can speak to us through the Holy Spirit any time He wants. And he is wanting…we just have to be quiet enough to listen and to patient enough to WAIT on HIM.

Acts 2:7-8 NKJV And how is it that we hear , each in our own language in which we were born?

Acts 2:11 NKJV Cretans and Arabs — we hear them speaking in our own tongues the wonderful works of God."

Acts 3:22-23 NKJV For Moses truly said to the fathers, 'The LORD your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. Him you shall hear in all things, whatever He says to you. 23 And it shall be that every soul who will not hear that Prophet shall be utterly destroyed from among the people.'

Acts 10:22 NKJV And they said, "Cornelius the centurion, a just man, one who fears God and has a good reputation among all the nation of the Jews, was divinely instructed by a holy angel to summon you to his house, and to hear words from you."

He had to have HEARD the angel! Just like Mary the mother of Jesus.

Acts 10:33 NKJV So I sent to you immediately, and you have done well to come. Now therefore, we are all present before God, to hear all the things commanded you by God."

Acts 22:9-11 NKJV "And those who were with me indeed saw the light and were afraid, but they did not hear the voice of Him who spoke to me. 10 So I said, 'What shall I do, Lord?' And the Lord said to me, 'Arise and go into Damascus, and there you will be told all things which are appointed for you to do.' 11 And since I could not see for the glory of that light, being led by the hand of those who were with me, I came into Damascus.

Rom 11:8 NKJV Just as it is written: "God has given them a spirit of stupor, eyes that they should not see and ears that they should not hear ,To this very

Discernment - Part 2

Rom 11:8 NKJV Just as it is written: "God has given them a spirit of stupor, eyes that they should not see and ears that they should not hear ,To this very day."

1 Cor 14:21 NKJV In the law it is written: "With men of other tongues and other lips I will speak to this people; And yet, for all that, they will not hear Me," says the Lord.

1 Cor 14:21 AMP It is written in the Law, by men of strange languages and by the lips of foreigners will I speak to this people, and not even then will they listen to Me, says the Lord. [Isa 28:11,12.]

Heb 3:7-8 NKJV Be Faithful (Ps 95:7-11)

Therefore, as the Holy Spirit says: "Today, if you will hear His voice, 8 Do not harden your hearts as in the rebellion, In the day of trial in the wilderness,

1 John 4:6 NKJV We are of God. He who knows God hears us; he who is not of God does not hear us. By this we know the spirit of truth and the spirit of error.

Rev 2:7 NKJV "He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes I will give to eat from the tree of life, which is in the midst of the Paradise of God."'

Rev 2:11 NKJV "He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. He who overcomes shall not be hurt by the second death."'

Rev 13:8-10 NKJV All who dwell on the earth will worship him, whose names have not been written in the Book of Life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. 9 If anyone has an ear, let him hear . 10 He who leads into captivity shall go into captivity; he who kills with the sword must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints.

SEEING

One of the words for prophet in the old testament was a SEER.

1 Sam 9:8-9 NKJV (Formerly in Israel, when a man went to inquire of God, he spoke thus: "Come, let us go to the seer"; for he who is now called a prophet was formerly called a seer.)

The New Testament is filled with those who prophesied including Philip's daughters, the apostles, and Stephen who was not one of the 12, but a disciple of them. Throughout church history, there have been those who pressed in to know HIM more, and received their heart's desire. And there are those who He has surprised with the gifts of the Spirit. The reason HE allows us to SEE, is out of His love for us, and because these gifts help us to KNOW HIM better…and to have more AWE and RESPECT for HIM, and to encourage, comfort and edify others. To share what HE is showing us for warnings, for knowledge and understanding.

And in Daniel 12:4 He said:

Dan 12:4 AMP But you, O Daniel, shut up the words and seal the Book until the time of the end. [Then] many shall run to and fro and search anxiously [through the Book], and knowledge [of God's purposes as revealed by His prophets] shall be increased and become great. [Amos 8:12.]

Joel also seems to emphasize a time of increased prophetic outpouring:

This right AFTER in ch. 2 He describes HIS army who marches in unison…

Joel 2:23-26 NKJV Be glad then, you children of Zion, And rejoice in the LORD your God; For He has given you the former rain faithfully, And He will cause the rain to come down for you — The former rain, And the latter rain in the first month. 24 The threshing floors shall be full of wheat, And the vats shall overflow with new wine and oil.

Wheat is the fresh bread of His word – manna from the Holy Spirit – HEARING His voice; new wine, the Holy Spirit's presence in revival/awakening; and oil, the anointing of the Holy Spirit.

25 "So I will restore to you the years that the swarming locust has eaten,

The crawling locust, The consuming locust, And the chewing locust, My great army which I sent among you. 26 You shall eat in plenty and be satisfied, And praise the name of the LORD your God, Who has dealt wondrously with you; And My people shall never be put to shame.

Joel 2:28-31 NKJV "And it shall come to pass afterward That I will pour out My Spirit on all flesh; Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, Your old men shall dream dreams, Your young men shall see visions. 29 And also on My menservants and on My maidservants I will pour out My Spirit in those days. 30 "And I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth: Blood and fire and pillars of smoke. 31 The sun shall be turned into darkness, And the moon into blood, Before the coming of the great and awesome day of the LORD.

THINK OF IT! HE SAYS AFTERWARD OF WHAT HAPPENS ABOVE THAT! AMAZING! HE WILL POUR OUT HIS SPIRIT ON ALL FLESH…ALL STILL MEANS ALL. THERE WILL BE NO EXCUSE FOR NOT SERVING GOD. HE PROMISED THAT THIS WOULD BE HAPPENING BEFORE HE CAME AGAIN. AND WE SURELY ARE CLOSE TO THE SECOND COMING JUDGING FROM THE EVENTS IN THE WORLD N'EST CE PAS?

Isaiah 60 says:

Isa 60:1-3 NKJV The Gentiles Bless Zion

Arise, shine; For your light has come! And the glory of the LORD is risen upon you.
2 For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and deep darkness the people; But the LORD will arise over you, and His glory will be seen upon you.

3 The Gentiles shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising.

NOTE in this experience of Isaiah how many senses were involved. Is God not the same, yesterday, today and tomorrow?

Isa 6:1-7 NKJV Isaiah Called to Be a Prophet (cf. Ezek 1:4-28)

In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord sitting on a throne, high and lifted up, and the train of His robe filled the temple. 2 Above it stood seraphim; each one had six wings: with two he covered his face, with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew. 3 And one cried to another and said: "Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; The whole earth is full of His glory!" 4 And the posts of the door were shaken by the voice of him who cried out, and the house was filled with smoke. 5 So I said: "Woe is me, for I am undone! Because I am a man of unclean lips, And I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips; For my eyes have seen the King, The LORD of hosts." 6 Then one of the seraphim flew to me, having in his hand a live coal which he had taken with the tongs from the altar. 7 And he touched my mouth with it, and said: "Behold, this has touched your lips; Your iniquity is taken away.

Jer 9:24-25 AMP But let him who glories glory in this: that he understands and knows Me [personally and practically, directly discerning and recognizing My character], that I am the Lord, Who practices loving-kindness, judgment, and righteousness in the earth, for in these things I delight, says the Lord. [1 Cor 1:31; 2 Cor 10:17.] 25 Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, when I will punish all who though circumcised [outwardly, in the flesh] are still uncircumcised [in corresponding inward purity]-- [Rom 2:25-29.]

1 Cor 12:4-11 NKJV There are diversities of gifts , but the same Spirit. 5 There are differences of ministries, but the same Lord. 6 And there are diversities of activities, but it is the same God who works all in all. 7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to each one for the profit of all: 8 for to one is given the word of wisdom through the Spirit, to another the word of knowledge through the same Spirit, 9 to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healings by the same Spirit, 10 to another the working of miracles, to another prophecy, to another discerning of spirits, to another different kinds of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues. 11 But one and the same Spirit works all these things, distributing to each one individually as He wills.

1 Cor 12:31 NKJV But earnestly desire the best gifts . And yet I show you a more excellent way. [then comes the chapter on LOVE :)]

1 Cor 14:1 NKJV Prophecy and Tongues
Pursue love, and desire spiritual gifts , but especially that you may prophesy.

1 Cor 14:12 NKJV Even so you, since you are zealous for spiritual gifts , let it be for the edification of the church that you seek to excel.

Eph 4:8 NKJV Therefore He says: "When He ascended on high, He led captivity captive, and gave gifts to men."

Heb 2:4 NKJV God also bearing witness both with signs and wonders, with various miracles, and gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to His own will?

Rom 11:29 AMP For God's gifts and His call are irrevocable. [He never withdraws them when once they are given, and He does not change His mind about those to whom He gives His grace or to whom He sends His call.]

TOUCHING/FEELING
If GOD is made MANIFEST, the very word manifest means something you are able to see, hear, feel, touch, smell. In the old testament they could SEE the cloud of glory

And feel it, they couldn't STAND in the manifest glory of God, they fell on their faces. Just like DANIEL when the angel appeared to him in Daniel 10. He speaks of How he felt, he shares strength was put into him by the angel touching him.

Dan 10:4-11 NKJV Now on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, that is, the Tigris,[IRAQ] 5 I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in linen, whose waist was girded with gold of Uphaz! 6 His body was like beryl, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like torches of fire, his arms and feet like burnished bronze in color, and the sound of his words like the voice of a multitude. 7 And I, Daniel, alone saw the vision, for the men who were with me did not see the vision; but a great terror fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves. 8 Therefore I was left alone when I saw this great vision, and no strength remained in me; for my vigor was turned to frailty in me, and I retained no strength. 9 Yet I heard the sound of his words; and while I heard the sound of his words I was in a deep sleep on my face, with my face to the ground.

The men FLED because they FELT TERROR! Do you think Daniel maybe FELT the presence of the Lord here? And below he feels a HAND TOUCH HIM. He trembled because he was in the presence of glory.

Discernment - Part 3

Priscilla Van Sutphin

10 Suddenly, a hand touched me, which made me tremble on my knees and on the palms of my hands. 11 And he said to me, "O Daniel, man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright, for I have now been sent to you." While he was speaking this word to me, I stood trembling.

I once felt an angel touch me when I asked God to wake me up in the morning because I had no alarm at the time, and in the morning I was greatly surprised by a rough tap on the bottom of my foot, though no one seeable was there. :)

I've felt wind while dancing that went through me and gave me goosebumps, many times and knew it was angels dancing with me. I was unafraid. But I've also felt demons pass right through me to frighten me, years back. I had many demonic encounters after my mother died especially, because she was a new age witch. I've seen demons and felt them in her apt…sleeping in her bed. I saw one three dimensional last time I saw one full on, and he was surrounded by light, but bent over hunched back, scraggly grey hair, and he had talons as he scratched my knee pounding on the bed…I looked up to see the back of this figure. By then I was ticked off, and no longer frightened, and Jumped out of bed, but of course he was long gone…put on worship and recited REV. 19 & 20 which are my favorites for reminding them of their fate.

They used to torment me after her death, just as I was falling asleep, suddenly would feel gripped from behind and by the third time I cried JESUS...they'd be gone.

Again, just because it isn't in the new testament in the same way, doesn't mean it's not an authentic type of experience. REREAD this word from Jeremiah…

Jer 23:9 NKJV False Prophets and Empty Oracles
My heart within me is broken Because of the prophets ; all my bones shake.

I am like a drunken man, And like a man whom wine has overcome, because of the LORD, and because of His holy words.

I believe this is what they felt on Pentecost too, as they were accused of drunkenness. It certainly wasn't because they spoke in tongues. That doesn't look like drunkenness! It was because they staggered and shook. When God MANIFESTS with His presence…there are all kinds of things we FEEL. The scriptures say the when the presence of the Lord comes down, the mountains TREMBLE! How much more will man tremble or shake?

One can feel the glory when you raise your hands in worship. The air feels HEAVY, as if it has weight. Sometimes our legs feel heavy in the presence of God, or our arms get heavy when healing anointing comes on us.

In the presence of HIS love, my knees get weak, and I fall down. I can FEEL HIS PRESENCE. I can feel peace washing over me, or love. And I can FEEL JOY inexpressible and overflowing. It just bubbles out of us. It is that fountain of Living Waters living inside of us, that out of our innermost being flows the power of the Holy Spirit. But you can also FEEL the Holy Spirit and receive MORE of Him with each encounter in His presence.

We need our senses EXERCISED, because one can also FEEL the presence of evil.

Also, things like divination mimic prophecy and it can feel almost the same, but be of the enemy. You can SEE visions, but it doesn't always mean they are from God.

Dreams also are not all from God. The Word instructs us that Satan comes AS AN ANGEL OF LIGHT. So we can be fooled and must not trust in the feelings, senses alone, but always weigh them with the WORD OF GOD. Many people have gotten into error using new age books on dreams to interpret their dreams instead of using bible Based interpretation, and relying on GOD, waiting on HIM to show you. There absolutely can be mixture. Pride, Witchcraft and jezebel will dampen your ability to discern or feel anything. So will heavy rebellion, and rejection, or any other kind of sin, as sin blinds us. If you think you cannot be deceived, you are already in a very bad place.

Rom 11:11 AMP So I ask, Have they stumbled so as to fall [to their utter spiritual ruin, irretrievably]? By no means! But through their false step and transgression salvation [has come] to the Gentiles, so as to arouse Israel [to see and feel what they forfeited] and so to make them jealous.

Ex 10:21 NKJV The Ninth Plague: Darkness
Then the LORD said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand toward heaven, that there may be darkness over the land of Egypt, darkness which may even be felt ."

Eph 5:13-14 NKJV But all things that are exposed are made manifest by the light, for whatever makes manifest is light. 14 Therefore He says: "Awake, you who sleep, Arise from the dead, And Christ will give you light."

John 14:21 NKJV He who has My commandments and keeps them, it is he who loves Me. And he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and manifest Myself to him."

Feeling includes not only touch, but actually feeling what another is feeling emotionally. During revival often I would shake hands with someone or get around them and FEEL Pain in my heart. I was feeling their pain, or the Lord's pain for them.

2 Cor 11:29 AMP Who is weak, and I do not feel [his] weakness? Who is made to stumble and fall and have his faith hurt, and I am not on fire [with sorrow or indignation]?

NT:4697 splangchnizomai;

1 aorist esplangchnistheen (compare Buttmann, 52 (45));(splangchnon, which see);

properly, to be moved as to one's bowels, hence, to be moved with compassion, have compassion (for the bowels were thought to be the seat of love and pity): absolutely,

Luke 10:33; 15:20; [From Thayers Lexicon] NT:4696 KJV - spot.

Strongs:

splagchnizomai (splangkh-nid'-zom-ahee); middle voice from NT:4698; to have the bowels yearn, i.e. (figuratively) feel sympathy, to pity: KJV - have (be moved with) compassion.

Luke 12:56 NKJV Hypocrites! You can discern the face of the sky and of the earth, but how is it you do not discern this time?

Matt 16:3-4 NKJV and in the morning, 'It will be foul weather today, for the sky is red and threatening.' Hypocrites! You know how to discern the face of the sky, but you cannot discern the signs of the times.

Ps 19:9-14 NKJV The fear of the LORD is pure, enduring forever. The ordinances of the LORD are sure and altogether righteous. 10 They are more precious than gold, than much pure gold; they are sweeter than honey, than honey from the comb. 11 By them is your servant warned; in keeping them there is great reward.

12 Who can discern his errors? Forgive my hidden faults. 13 Keep your servant also from willful sins; may they not rule over me. Then will I be blameless, innocent of great transgression. 14 May the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be pleasing in your sight, O LORD, my Rock and my Redeemer.

Ps 139:3-4 NIV You discern my going out and my lying down; you are familiar with all my ways. 4 Before a word is on my tongue you know it completely, O LORD.

Phil 1:9-10 NIV And this is my prayer: that your love may abound more and more in knowledge and depth of insight so that you may be able to discern what is best and may be pure and blameless until the day of Christ,

WOW…Isn't that interesting! The more we grow in love, the more DISCERNMENT we get! Perhaps this is why the church in this hour is lacking in discernment eh?

Matt 16:9 AMP Do you not yet discern (perceive and understand)? Do you not remember the five loaves of the five thousand, and how many [small hand] baskets you gathered?

So perception and understanding are related to discernment.

Mark 4:13 AMP And He said to them, Do you not discern and understand this parable? How then is it possible for you to discern and understand all the parables?

Mark 7:18 AMP And He said to them, Then are you also unintelligent and dull and without understanding? Do you not discern and see that whatever goes into a man from the outside cannot make him unhallowed or unclean,

Again, over and over understanding is involved with discernment and the HOLY SPIRIT is the Source because there is a seven fold Spirit of GOD mentioned in Isaiah, and one of these is the Spirit of Understanding.

Isa 11:1 AMP AND THERE shall come forth a Shoot out of the stock of Jesse [David's father], and a Branch out of his roots shall grow and bear fruit. [Isa 4:2; Matt 2:23; Rev 5:5; 22:16.] Isa 11:2-3 NKJV The Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon Him, The Spirit of wisdom and understanding ,The Spirit of counsel and might, The Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the LORD. 3 His delight is in the fear of the LORD, And He shall not judge by the sight of His eyes, Nor decide by the hearing of His ears;

Mark 8:17 AMP And being aware [of it], Jesus said to them, Why are you reasoning and saying it is because you have no bread? Do you not yet discern or understand? Are your hearts in [a settled state of] hardness? [Isa 6:9,10; Jer 5:21.]

Luke 12:56-57 AMP You play actors (hypocrites)! You know how [intelligently] to discern and interpret and prove the looks of the earth and sky; but how is it that you do not know how to discern and interpret and apply the proof to this present time? 57 And why do you not judge what is just and personally decide what is right?

Rom 7:23-24 AMP But I discern in my bodily members [in the sensitive appetites and wills of the flesh] a different law (rule of action) at war against the law of my mind (my reason) and making me a prisoner to the law of sin that dwells in my bodily organs [in the sensitive appetites and wills of the flesh]. 24 O unhappy and pitiable and wretched man that I am! Who will release and deliver me from [the shackles of] this body of death?

1 Cor 2:15-16 AMP But the spiritual man tries all things [he examines, investigates, inquires into, questions, and discerns all things], yet is himself to be put on trial and judged by no one [he can read the meaning of everything, but no one can properly discern or appraise or get an insight into him]. 16 For who has known or understood the mind (the counsels and purposes) of the Lord so as to guide and instruct Him and give Him knowledge? But we have the mind of Christ (the Messiah) and do hold the thoughts (feelings and purposes) of His heart. [Isa 40:13.]

A MAJOR key in discernment is knowing the Word of God.

Discernment_Part 4

P Van Sutphin
Nov 17, 2005

A MAJOR key in discernment is knowing the Word of God. You must always be in the word ,if you want to discern. Much discernment comes to us through the words people speak as they give away strongholds in their thinking we can perceive through their words and actions, weighed against the Word of GOD.

1 Cor 12:10-11 AMP To another the working of miracles, to another prophetic insight (the gift of interpreting the divine will and purpose); to another the ability to discern and distinguish between [the utterances of true] spirits [and false ones], to another various kinds of [unknown] tongues, to another the ability to interpret [such] tongues. 11 All these [gifts, achievements, abilities] are inspired and brought to pass by one and the same [Holy] Spirit, Who apportions to each person individually [exactly] as He chooses.

1 Cor 14:29 AMP So let two or three prophets speak [those inspired to preach or teach], while the rest pay attention and weigh and discern what is said.

2 Cor 4:4 AMP For the god of this world has blinded the unbelievers' minds [that they should not discern the truth], preventing them from seeing the illuminating light of the Gospel of the glory of Christ (the Messiah), Who is the Image and Likeness of God.

1 Tim 2:4 AMP Who wishes all men to be saved and [increasingly] to perceive and recognize and discern and know precisely and correctly the [divine] Truth.

1 John 2:3-6 AMP And this is how we may discern [daily, by experience] that we are coming to know Him [to perceive, recognize, understand, and become better acquainted with Him]: if we keep (bear in mind, observe, practice) His teachings (precepts, commandments). 4 Whoever says, I know Him [I perceive, recognize, understand, and am acquainted with Him] but fails to keep and obey His commandments (teachings) is a liar, and the Truth [of the Gospel] is not in him. 5 But he who keeps (treasures) His Word [who bears in mind His precepts, who observes His message in its entirety], truly in him has the love of and for God been perfected (completed, reached maturity). By this we may perceive (know, recognize, and be sure) that we are in Him: 6 Whoever says he abides in Him ought [as a personal debt] to walk and conduct himself in the same way in which He walked and conducted Himself.

Time Erodes Faith
Priscilla Van Sutphin

November 20th, 2005

Fruit that sits on the shelf too long gets rotten. Know that when this begins to erode your faith you need to stir yourself up as David did and lay hold of the promises I've given you! Speak them out in FAITH, and speak out MY WORD! Prophesy to the heavenlies, and strike the arrow again and again till you break through the opposition! Sing and SHOUT for JOY, because I am soon to make your joy complete!

Do not despair at what you see around you and try to figure it all out in your own strength. Just come to ME, and ask Me the questions in your heart and quiet yourself that I can give you an answer! You are too busy with too many things on your mind. Quiet your mind! Quiet your heart! Stay your mind on ME, and you will have perfect peace! I am not slack concerning My promises. Days are coming to a close, yet people are still doing business as usual. Watch how I remove the complacency from this nation now, so that all I have intended will come to pass. You are on the threshold of awakening!

Keep your hearts hidden in Mine! STAY YOUR MINDS ON ME! What is it, I am telling you to do? Are you listening? There is a beginning flow of waters, rolling over the earth, in the midst of the trouble, and judgments on evil, there is a roar of many waters beginning. It will flow down from the throne of God into the highways and byways, into the fields and rivers of the earth; flowing to every woman and man, boy and girl, till the earth is flooded with the knowledge of the Lord Your GOD! Elijah saw the beginning of rain, like a fist rising on the sea. Again you see, My fist is rising out of the waters, and I will pound down every mountain and hill that is raised against ME, till they are beaten into valleys.

People will be STARTLED into submission to Your Lord and Savior JESUS!
Every knee will bow in the end, but all in this hour will have no excuse for I come quickly, and My sword is in My hand to execute judgment on the wickedness in the earth. I am ROUTING the enemy and there will be great DIVISION. Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs is the KINGDOM! Blessed are those who have mourned, for they will be comforted! Blessed are those who have been rejected and scorned by men, and mocked for loving me more than their order and hierarchal hatred! I have created an awesome army! In the hearts of the remnant will I explode and cause such a manifestation of My love and power, that the earth itself will tremble as it marches forth!

The UNITY that I bring is not that of pretense, and compromise. The UNITY I bring will destroy the wisdom of the wicked, and those in arrogance and pride! The Unity I bring, will cause a roar among the crowds, clamoring to get into My church. But I will bring the souls of men to a church that will be changed by My glory, that they will not hearken to men's doctrines, but to MINE! I am the LORD YOUR GOD and I will have NO other gods before ME! I am RESTORING the ancient FOUNDATION that was established on TRUTH, JUSTICE, and FAITH! My righteousness is not to be mocked and trampled down, nor My grace to be taken advantage of!

I am calling you to HOLINESS, but when the KINGDOM wind comes, there will come a HUSH and weeping and mourning for there is no hiding from the TRUTH that is a Person! I AM THE WAY THE TRUTH AND THE LIFE. Love is the standard I hold you to! Love is NOT compromise with holiness. Love from a good father will always be to rescue the child from darkness, and wickedness, and to set them on the path that leads to LIFE! For the Way is narrow that leads to life and FEW I said, find it! But the way to destruction is WIDE. So which path do you want to take? Will you drink the cup I offer you? Or will you take the easy way? Are you wanting the power of My Resurrection, and the fellowship of My sufferings? Or do you only want YOUR WAY?

1 Cor 10:20-22 NKJV Rather, that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice they sacrifice to demons and not to God, and I do not want you to have fellowship with demons. 21 You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons; you cannot partake of the Lord's table and of the table of demons. 22 Or do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than He?

Phil 3:8-12 AMP Yes, furthermore, I count everything as loss compared to the possession of the priceless privilege (the overwhelming preciousness, the surpassing worth, and supreme advantage) of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord and of progressively becoming more deeply and intimately acquainted with Him [of perceiving and recognizing and understanding Him more fully and clearly]. For His sake I have lost everything and consider it all to be mere rubbish (refuse, dregs), in order that I may win (gain) Christ (the Anointed one),
9 And that I may [actually] be found and known as in Him, not having any [self-achieved] righteousness that can be called my own, based on my obedience to the Law's demands (ritualistic uprightness and supposed right standing with God thus acquired), but possessing that [genuine righteousness] which comes through faith in Christ (the Anointed one), the [truly] right standing with God, which comes from God by [saving] faith.

10 [For my determined purpose is] that I may know Him [that I may progressively become more deeply and intimately acquainted with Him, perceiving and recognizing and understanding the wonders of His Person more strongly and more clearly], and that I may in that same way come to know the power outflowing from His resurrection [which it exerts over believers], and that I may so share His sufferings as to be continually transformed [in spirit into His likeness even] to His death, [in the hope]

11 That if possible I may attain to the [spiritual and moral] resurrection [that lifts me] out from among the dead [even while in the body].
12 Not that I have now attained [this ideal], or have already been made perfect, but I press on to lay hold of (grasp) and make my own, that for which Christ Jesus (the Messiah) has laid hold of me and made me His own.

Eph 5:11 NKJV And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather expose them.

Phil 2:1-3 NKJV Unity Through Humility - Therefore if there is any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any affection and mercy, 2 fulfill my joy by being like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind. 3 Let nothing be done through selfish ambition or conceit, but in lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than himself.

Disengage
Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite

Aug 12, 2005

Well, the countdown to the disengagement has begun. We are less than a few days away from the unknown. Demonstrations are increasing; orange ribbons are seen on many cars, bikes, dogs etc. Hundreds of thousands are participating in rallies and demonstrations. This nation is divided like never before over the issue of uprooting the settlements of Gaza and Northern Samaria. But if we were to examine the heart of the nation, we would find that there is one issue over which there is a general consensus, the underlying fear that this process will not lead to a peaceful coexistence with the Palestinians. Peace and prosperity do not seem to be what the future has in store, and very few here believe otherwise. The World Bank and other world cartels are now satisfied with Ariel Sharon and his powerful associates. The latter are ready to turn the evacuated areas over to self interest groups who are reported to be planning casinos, and other dubious institutions, in place of the dwellings of the Torah keeping, God fearing Jews. All of this is just evidence of who is behind this so-called peace process. However we, as believers in the sovereignty of the Almighty, do not want to be like Peter and draw our sword against those whom YHVH is allowing to fulfill His purposes, even though they may be going about it wrongly, or in a way we cannot agree with.

What the Almighty is actually orchestrating is a war. The world may call it a war on terror but that is only the spark. We have yet to see what YHVH has up His proverbial sleeve in order to bring to pass the words of the Prophets. The Word is very emphatic that in order for the enemies of Judah to be cut off, Ephraim's jealousy/envy (anti-Semitic attitude) must depart (Ref Isaiah 11:13). But without Ephraim first becoming aware of his real identity he will not know or understand why he is jealous of Judah.

In the Christian and Messianic world there is a "much to do" about the so-called end-time scenario and the coming of the Messiah. But a faulty theology, that reasons that the present nation Israel is fulfilling all prophecies pertaining to all Israel, will mislead many. Some have even gone so far as to predict specific dates for the return. This is not the first time in the history of prophetic interpretation that dates have been set, causing some to fall into the trap of misinterpreting the "appearing" or "coming" of Messiah. Sadly a lot of believers, in their zeal, spend time and resources trying to pray their will (according to their understanding of the Word) into being. There is almost a total disregard for the sovereignty of the Almighty Elohim of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

Whether one believes it or not, YHVH knows exactly what is going on and He is not fooled or manipulated into accomplishing and fulfilling His word in man's timing and ways. Thus we are left to trust and continue to build our relationship with Him. Faith does not demand of Him, rather it yields in obedience to the in working of His Spirit, producing humility and righteousness, which will lead to the attaining of the inheritance.

I do believe in the return to this earth of Messiah Yeshua, who will sit on the throne of David and rule over the restored nation or house of Jacob. But before His return, "all that has been spoken through the mouth of the prophets must be fulfilled", and until it does "the heavens will retain Him" (ref. Acts 3:21). This seems to be plain enough. However, is there another type of "appearing" or "coming" that we have overlooked and therefore should be considering? Paul writes that we who have received His life, through the indwelling Spirit of Holiness, must know this about ourselves, "that Yeshua the Messiah is in us" (individually and corporately) and that He is our life (ref. 2 Corinthians 13:5; Colossians 3:3-4). Thus, in a manner of speaking, Yeshua is already present with us. He indwells in His body, and if that is not the case we cannot claim to be that "body". At the same time, we must also be aware of the counterfeit that would equate a religious system with being the expression of Yeshua's body, or even with the "One New Man".

Someone made a very interesting observation about the superstructure of a religious system called Christianity. The redeemed of Israel, rather than returning to Zion (the following is a quote), "aligned themselves to the religious patterns of the day; the historic Orthodox Church, after Constantine in the 4th century AD, adopted a religious system which was in essence a form of the 'Old Testament' system, complete with priests, altars, a Christian temple (cathedral), frankincense and Jewish, synagogue-style worship pattern. The Roman Catholic Church went on to canonize the system. Luther did reform the content of the gospel, but left the outer forms of 'church' remarkably untouched; the Free-Churches freed the system from the State, the Baptists then baptized it, the Quakers dry-cleaned it, the Salvation Army put it into uniform, the Pentecostals anointed it and the Charismatics renewed it [and if I might add, the Messianics introduced it to Torah]. But until today nobody has really changed the hierarchical superstructure."

Is this religious system YHVH's expression of the life of His Son in a people that have been called and chosen to be a nation, which is to manifest His glory in righteousness, peace and joy? The "queen of heaven" governs the Babylonian religious expression and she has been very active in the life of the House of Joseph/Israel. She was well expressed by an entity known as Jezebel. However, now that the Gospel of Yeshua has come to the House of Judah guess who has shown up to reinforce Jezebel's control in Messinanism? Non other than her daughter Athaliah, who is far more dangerous than her mother. She will not only deceive through a religious expression, but will also kill the royal seed. "Now when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal heirs of the house of Judah" (2 Chronicles. 22:10). She is one very dangerous spiritual religious entity and at present is also deceiving many in the Ephraimite restoration movement, as she moves them into what is becoming a religious system of Messianism. This, in turn, is causing some to deny that Yeshua is the Son of YHVH, and they thus crucify to themselves the royal seed which brought them up out of their graves and granted life and covering to their dry bones.

Let us pray with sincere hearts to YHVH Elohim: "Your will be done and let us not be led astray by religious spirits".

Disengage and come out of her my people. Don't let Babylon and her daughters make you believe that because she, or they are willing to embrace Torah, the Feasts and even change the worship day to Shabbat, that they can be converted to Jerusalem or Zion. We must take that religious spirit, put it into a basket with an iron lid and send it back to the Valley of Shinar (ref Zechariah 5:6-11). As YHVH is restoring the Melchizedec priesthood it is paramount that we leave that religious system and enter His rest (Shabbat).

Shabbat Shalom, Ephraim

Divine Shift

Brenda Dowdin

On the morning of April 2nd I woke early and came in to pray. A grieving came over me and travail as I have not felt before. I was sobbing for some time and at the end of this travail felt exhausted. I felt completely emptied out, and heard the Father say, "Come, lay down and rest!" I laid down on my sofa and fell asleep. It was around 11:00 am when I fell asleep. I woke at 12:15 pm, and I heard the Holy Spirit say this, "There has been a "Divine Shift" in the heavenly realm. I didn't know what this represented, but I got up and went into our family room to my husband and told him what I had sensed. He replied back to me, "Yes, the pope has just died!"

I sensed the Lord share this with me, "There will be three more patriarchs I will take home this year....John 12:24, says "Most assuredly, I say to you, unless again of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it produces much grain."
The seed of the pope represented, Unity in the Body of Christ, mercy, kindness to the poor and needy, and a Kingly anointing of Diplomacy.
The next three seeds will represent: #2 the signs, wonders, healing anointing, #3 evangelism and salvation, and finally # 4 an exponential apostolic and prophetic release. As the seeds fall to the ground, these anointings will be released in a magnitude in the spirit of unheard precedence....

I hear the Spirit saying to the church, "Get ready, Get ready, Get ready!" The Father has repositioned angels all over his globe. The word says you reap what you sow. Interestingly enough many have been sowing for years in righteousness, but haven't received the reaping or harvest for their faithfulness. This in the year Beloved. This in the year. The Lord is shifting, and for those of you who have been in this place God is re-aligning His holy angles to help you and assist you in to coming in to this divine shift in the spirit. The reproach of Egypt is rolling off your backs. This isn't something you have to do, the Lord is the deliverer. Just as He sent Moses to the children of Israel, He has sent His son to bring total freedom and deliverance. Our part is to walk in obedience. Obedience is our path, this is the way we show the Lord our love to him. Dis-obedience is paralyzing. It will take you off on a side ramp from the highway of God, and stall you somewhere out on route 66 (a place in the flesh!). We must come into a new place of radical obedience. As we do, it will release the angels God has assigned over you and I to transport us into our destiny in Christ... Remember Joseph was released from prison overnight, and placed in a governmental position, 2nd to the pharaoh. I wonder if Joseph knew what his destiny entailed? Don't ever underestimate what and how God can use you. Dare to think out of the box this year. Our God is great, and the best is yet to come Beloved one's of his!

Finally a word for California, our beautiful golden state! God loves you California, he has blessed you with so much, but a time of accounting is before you....what will you do? "I ask you today, Will you humble yourselves and pray? Oh, that is what I want from you. I send out my warnings, and you who know me, know I always yearn to show you mercy. And I tell you the truth, this can be turned around. I will heal your land if you will but hear my heart for you today humble yourselves and pray. I will use you to thresh the enemy and turn this country in to a place of Godly innocence once again."

Vision and Word for you California and your Intercessors!

May 5, 2005 (year of grace, 555!) on our National Day of Prayer I traveled with a friend to the Lodi area. On the way down Highway 99 (# 9 represents: harvest, ministry, fullness, fruitfulness, number of gifts of the spirit, number of fruits of the spirit, number of birthing of a child!) as we approached Sacramento, the city of our state capitol, I sensed overwhelming anxiety. It wasn't in me, but I felt it coming at me as we entered the city gates and as we left the city gates. After leaving the city limits a Shalom came over us and we traveled on down to the Lodi area. My friend and I attended a prayer gathering and while we were there we seemed to experience another huge shifting in the spirit. So strong, my fleshly body could hardly bear what I was experiencing.

We were 25 miles due west of the most northern end of the San Andreas fault line. The next morning as I awoke this is what I heard and saw in the spirit that is coming.

There is coming an earthquake along this San Andreas fault. I saw the ground splitting apart in places and the opening of great crevices. Out of the crevices were coming forth whirlwinds, and twisters. I saw this fault line starting at San Andreas and going down the state and curving over through the south eastern desert of California. It reminded me of the tail of a scorpion?!!! That is what I saw...

This is what I sensed: God is in this, as the earth quakes it will open up the deep places to expose the darkness and to bring a new level of light in our hearts and lives. The twisters represent the winds of adversity, but God will be in the wind and protect His own. Psalm 91:7 "A thousand may fall at your side, And ten thousand at your right hand; But it shall not come near you. Only with your eyes shall you look...."

The Lord will use this to separate the sheep from the goats. He will use this to wake up those who are sleeping. Oh wake o' sleepers!
I believe the intense anxiety I felt over the city of Sacramento was what the enemy will try and bring over the government. So how do we respond to this in prayer?

Pray that damage would be minimal, protection over peoples, and all living creatures, and humble ourselves, fast and pray. Call out to the Lord, "Your kingdom come, your will be done Oh Lord!" Father I bring this prophetic declaration to you this day. Raise up your intercessors, a wake oh sleepers. Pick up your mantels and let nothing hinder you. Walk in radical obedience and come alive in the spirit! Father release your Nazarites from captivity. Release your prophets and forgive us for not listening and responding to your prophetic words over your people. Oh Lord, look not at out sins and offences, but remember your loving kindness over us. Father hear my prayer and answer oh Lord like lightning. Your Kingdom Come!

Be blessed in Him Beloved Ones,
Brenda Dowdin

Dispensation Granted

Priscilla Van Sutphin

July 27th, 2005

> Dispensation - Function: noun
> 1 a : a general state or ordering of things; specifically : a system of revealed commands and promises regulating human affairs b : a particular arrangement or provision especially of providence or nature
> 2 a : an exemption from a law or from an impediment, vow, or oath b : a formal authorization 3 a : the act of dispensing b : something dispensed or distributed
> Eph 1:7-10 AMP In Him we have redemption (deliverance and salvation) through His blood, the remission (forgiveness) of our offenses (shortcomings and trespasses), in accordance with the riches and the generosity of His gracious favor, 8 Which He lavished upon us in every kind of wisdom and understanding (practical insight and prudence), 9 Making known to us the mystery (secret) of His will (of His plan, of His purpose). [And it is this:] In accordance with His good pleasure (His merciful intention) which He had previously purposed and set forth in Him,10 [He planned] for the maturity of the times and the climax of the ages to unify all things and head them up and consummate them in Christ, [both] things in heaven and things on the earth.
> Eph 3:2-5 AMP assuming that you have heard of the stewardship of God's grace (His unmerited favor) that was entrusted to me [to dispense to you] for your benefit, 3 [And] that the mystery (secret) was made known to me and I was allowed to comprehend it by direct revelation, as I already briefly wrote you. 4 When you read this you can understand my insight into the mystery of Christ. 5 [This mystery] was never disclosed to human beings in past generations as it has now been revealed to His holy apostles (consecrated messengers) and prophets by the [Holy] Spirit

“The dispensation of My grace has no end to anyone who is willing to repent and confess that Jesus Christ is Lord and the promised Messiah! My grace is unending and steadfast. It is something undeserved and given through My providence and compassion. It is not horded by a specific few, but available to all.

The kind of Christianity practiced now in the west compared to what it will be, is of substantial difference. There has been “sloppy grace” some call it, and there has been a trampling on grace like the Nicolaitans. There has been a great LACK of grace in the church overall which should be the dispenser of great grace. Paul was sent to offer grace. My apostles were ambassadors of My grace and kindness, My power and love. That is what I want you to be!

You are to put on the new man, and put AWAY the old man, that is given to judging, criticism, condemning, and pride. You are to PUT on the new man who is given to gentleness, kindness, faith, love, courage, humility, etc. Too few are healed and delivered in the church because of wrong doctrines and lack of sound teaching to converts that prepares them for facing the world, the devil and their fleshly concerns. Many have been faithful, but just as many have not, which has left My sheep scattered on the high hills of the earth for having been maligned and misunderstood and unloved.

I desire to pour out MY LOVE on all flesh and to grant grace to anyone who will receive it. I am a Restorer and a Repairer of the breech and that is who I have called YOU to be! Think how you were when you first came to Christ.
Think of the mess you were in. Grant to everyone around you the same grace
I HAVE GIVEN TO YOU! Do not disdain the poor and unlovely. But grant love to people who don't deserve it, and it changes things! I changed you in the same way. I am the same, yesterday, today and tomorrow.

As I come and do My great work in your midst, amidst the turmoil and troubles of these times, remember MY GREAT GRACE granted to you and give to others that same grace. There are two kinds you are to dispense.
There is the grace that is undeserved mercy and there is the grace that is MY POWER to heal and cleanse, and deliver. If you will give the first, you will be able to give the second kind."

1 John 4:19 AMP We love Him, because He first loved us.

Eph 4:22-24 NIV You were taught, with regard to your former way of life, to put off your old self, which is being corrupted by its deceitful desires; 23 to be made new in the attitude of your minds; 24 and to put on the new self, created to be like God in true righteousness and holiness.

Prov 3:3 AMP Let not mercy and kindness [shutting out all hatred and selfishness] and truth [shutting out all deliberate hypocrisy or falsehood] forsake you; bind them about your neck, write them upon the tablet of your heart. [Col 3:9-12.]

Gal 5:13 AMP For you, brethren, were [indeed] called to freedom; only [do not let your] freedom be an incentive to your flesh and an opportunity or excuse [for selfishness], but through love you should serve one another.

Phil 2:3 AMP Do nothing from factional motives [through contentiousness, strife, selfishness, or for unworthy ends] or prompted by conceit and empty arrogance. Instead, in the true spirit of humility (lowliness of mind) let each regard the others as better than and superior to himself [thinking more highly of one another than you do of yourselves].

Dregs

Phil 3:8 AMP Yes, furthermore, I count everything as loss compared to the possession of the priceless privilege (the overwhelming preciousness, the surpassing worth, and supreme advantage) of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord and of progressively becoming more deeply and intimately acquainted with Him [of perceiving and recognizing and understanding Him more fully and clearly]. For His sake I have lost everything and consider it all to be mere rubbish (refuse, dregs), in order that I may win (gain) Christ (the Anointed one),

"In My hand oh Western church I have a cup. I have a cup of wrath for those who are wicked and unchanging, and I have a cup for those whose hearts want to be changed. I drank from My Father's cup the cup of suffering. I PAID THE PRICE so that you could be free from the law of sin and death. But I never said you would be free from suffering for the sake of My name did I ? Am I so worthless, and the sacrifice of My Son so cheap, that you are unwilling to pay the cost for the power that you so want?

Certainly My hand is not too short to strengthen. But will you drink from MY CUP. Will you drink My blood and eat My flesh as I asked My disciples to do?
Or will you be like those who left after I said that ? Will you be the ones to deny ME when the going gets rough. I ask because I want you to think about what I have said, not to focus on man's teachings, but MY TEACHINGS. Will you eat My flesh ? Will you drink My blood ? Or will you cling to your own life. I told you that if you seek to SAVE your life, you will lose it ? I told you that what does it profit a man if he gain the whole world but lose his soul ? I told you that a man's life does not consist in what he owns. I told you to store up in heaven blessings, not here on earth where thieves can break in and steal it. I told you to LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

But you are not willing oh Bride to let go of your things. Many of you have not turned your belongings over to ME. You want me, but you also want your homes, your cars, your fancy clothes and earrings. You cling to worthless idols of entertainment and extra cars, and extra homes, and all manner of THINGS that fade away in eternity. I also told you that the heart is willing but the flesh is weak. So I KNOW how hard it is for you to give up things.

So I MUST take away what is robbing you of the fullness of your inheritance, if you truly say, I LOVE YOU, and surrender to ME, then what you have is not your own. You are bought and paid for with a very costly price…the blood and suffering of My Son. I said the words but many do not believe My words. I said that he who leaves country, home, wife or children for the sake of My KINGDOM will inherit the Kingdom of heaven.

Oh WESTERN BRIDE you are filled to the full with advantages, but devoid of understanding and self denial. You are full of selfish ambition, pride, arrogance, presumption, greed, selfishness and contempt for the poor & tormented, and you do not realize that you are wretched, miserable, poor, blind and naked. What will I do with you ? FAITHLESS generation who walks in complacency and apathy to the needs of others while the world around you languishes. Indeed the very thing you have feared is coming upon you. For you have been heartless to My prophets and you have spurned My Holy Word, and walk not in holiness, but in adulteries beyond imagination.

How can I oh church allow you to continue misleading My flocks ? You have carried your harlotries and greed to the ends of the earth. You have polluted the streams of My church and neglected My gardens. You have stored up riches for yourself in these end times, and you do not give to the widow, the poor and handicapped. You are not willing to separate the precious from the vile in your own lives. So I WILL COME and I WILL make changes that will catapult you into the TRUTH of who you are to be. Many will fight against the goads and be unwilling to accept My chastisement. But you know that a good Father, chastises His children. A GOOD FATHER does what is best, despite how much it may hurt.

I AM THE ALPHA AND OMEGA, THE BEGINNING AND THE END! I KNOW THE END FROM THE BEGINNING AND I KNEW THE DECISIONS YOU WOULD MAKE BEFORE YOU MADE THEM. I AM IN CONTROL. I AM GOD, and YOU ARE NOT! You say you want APOSTOLIC power, yet are you willing to be as the apostles were ? Are you willing to drink the cup Paul had to drink ? I am coming to offer the cup of fellowship in My sufferings. To him who overcomes, I will give the keys to the Kingdom.

I am willing to offer all your heart desires of My kind of prosperity of SOUL. I said your body will prosper even as your soul prospers. I said that if you loved ME, you would OBEY ME. NO man can serve two masters. He either loves the one but despises the other. Choose this day whom you will serve I spoke through Joshua. And now I speak to YOU OH WESTERN BRIDE. TIME IS AT HAND. You must choose the cup I offer you, or you will be sadly disillusioned in the days to come. KNOW THAT I LOVE YOU and only want the BEST for you, which is eternity with ME. You are strangers here. But you will no longer be strangers to ME or to sharing in My suffering. "

2 Cor 11:23-30 AMP Are they [ministering] servants of Christ (the Messiah)? I am talking like one beside himself, [but] I am more, with far more extensive and abundant labors, with far more imprisonments, [beaten] with countless stripes, and frequently [at the point of] death. 24 five times I received from [the hands of] the Jews forty [lashes all] but one; [Deut 25:3.] 25 three times I have been beaten with rods; once I was stoned. three times I have been aboard a ship wrecked at sea; a [whole] night and a day I have spent [adrift] on the deep;

26 Many times on journeys, [exposed to] perils from rivers, perils from bandits, perils from [my own] nation, perils from the Gentiles, perils in the city, perils in the desert places, perils in the sea, perils from those posing as believers [but destitute of Christian knowledge and piety]; 27 In toil and hardship, watching often [through sleepless nights], in hunger and thirst, frequently driven to fasting by want, in cold and exposure and lack of clothing. 28 And besides those things that are without, there is the daily [inescapable pressure] of my care and anxiety for all the churches!
29 Who is weak, and I do not feel [his] weakness? Who is made to stumble and fall and have his faith hurt, and I am not on fire [with sorrow or indignation]? 30 If I must boast, I will boast of the things that [show] my infirmity [of the things by which I am made weak and contemptible in the eyes of my opponents].

Ecclesiastes 9:1-2 NLT This, too, I carefully explored: Even though the actions of godly and wise people are in God's hands, no one knows whether or not God will show them favor in this life.

Zeph 1:12-18 At that time I will search Jerusalem with lamps and punish those who are complacent, who are like wine left on its dregs, who think, 'The LORD will do nothing, either good or bad.' 13 Their wealth will be plundered, their houses demolished. They will build houses but not live in them; they will plant vineyards but not drink the wine.
14 "The great day of the LORD is near- near and coming quickly. Listen! The cry on the day of the LORD will be bitter, the shouting of the warrior there.
15 That day will be a day of wrath, a day of distress and anguish, a day of trouble and ruin, a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and blackness, 16 a day of trumpet and battle cry against the fortified cities and against the corner towers. 17 I will bring distress on the people and they will walk like blind men, because they have sinned against the LORD. Their blood will be poured out like dust and their entrails like filth. 18 Neither their silver nor their gold will be able to save them on the day of the LORD's wrath. In the fire of his jealousy the whole world will be consumed, for he will make a sudden end of all who live in the earth."

Rev 2:18-3:1- The Corrupt Church "And to the angel of the church in Thyatira write, 'These things says the Son of God, who has eyes like a flame of fire, and His feet like fine brass: 19 "I know your works, love, service, faith, and your patience; and as for your works, the last are more than the first. 20 Nevertheless I have a few things against you, because you allow that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess, to teach and seduce My servants to commit sexual immorality and eat things sacrificed to idols. 21 And I gave her time to repent of her sexual immorality, and she did not repent. 22 Indeed I will cast her into a sickbed, and those who commit adultery with her into great tribulation, unless they repent of their deeds. 23 I will kill her children with death, and all the churches shall know that I am He who searches the minds and hearts. And I will give to each one of you according to your works.

Ps 75:8 NIV In the hand of the LORD is a cup full of foaming wine mixed with spices ; he pours it out, and all the wicked of the earth drink it down to its very dregs.

Isa 51:17-18 NKJV God's Fury Removed
Awake, awake! Stand up, O Jerusalem, You who have drunk at the hand of the LORD The cup of His fury; You have drunk the dregs of the cup of trembling, and drained it out. 18 There is no one to guide her Among all the sons she has brought forth

Isa 51:17-23 NIV Awake, awake! Rise up, O Jerusalem, you who have drunk from the hand of the LORD the cup of his wrath, you who have drained to its dregs the goblet that makes men stagger. 18 Of all the sons she bore there was none to guide her; of all the sons she reared there was none to take her by the hand. 19 These double calamities have come upon you — who can comfort you? — ruin and destruction, famine and sword — who can console you? 20 Your sons have fainted; they lie at the head of every street, like antelope caught in a net. They are filled with the wrath of the LORD and the rebuke of your God.
21 Therefore hear this, you afflicted one, made drunk, but not with wine. 22 This is what your Sovereign LORD says, your God, who defends his people: "See, I have taken out of your hand the cup that made you stagger; from that cup, the goblet of my wrath, you will never drink again. 23 I will put it into the hands of your tormentors, who said to you, 'Fall prostrate that we may walk over you. 'And you made your back like the ground, like a street to be walked over."

Disqualified

Don Walker

"Do you not know that that those who run in a race all run, but only one receives the prize? Run in such a way that you may win. And everyone who competes in the games exercises self control in all things. They then do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we an imperishable. Therefore I run in such a way, as not without aim; I box in such a way, as not beating the air; but I buffet my body and make it my slave, lest possibly, after I have preached to others, I myself should be disqualified."

(I Corinthians 9:24-27)

The apostle Paul admitted that being disqualified from his apostolic call was a distinct possibility that caused him real trepidation. He saw as tragic the failure to fulfill the call of God on one's life and to miss the purpose for which they had been created. The word "disqualified" is the Greek word "adokimos," which can be translated as "castaway" or "rejected." In context, it conveys the idea of being "unworthy of the prize."

In this his first epistle to the Corinthians, Paul uses two metaphors – sports and history – to express his message that the fulfillment of God's call on our lives is conditional. His first analogy from the sports arena is that of a runner who competes to win. His second is that of a boxer who fights with purpose. His point being that the goal is not merely participation but winning. And winning can only be achieved through discipline and concentration. Paul's exhortation to us is that we must not approach our vocational calling as mere joggers or shadow boxers, but as athletes determined to "go for the gold." To do anything less will inevitably disqualify us.

The second metaphor is in chapter ten, and it is the historical example of the nation of Israel in the exodus. Paul highlights that what happened to them in the wilderness was intended to instruct us and serve as an example of what we ought not do. Paul makes the point that though Israel had come out of Egypt they never took possession of the Promised Land. To use another sports metaphor we could say, "they failed to go the distance."

Israel's shortcomings in the wilderness are a paradigm for how to come short of your calling. We should learn from the mistakes of the past. Unfortunately as the philosopher Hegel observed, "The only thing we learn from history is that we learn nothing from history."

Paul identifies five areas that lead to Israel's disqualification from the Promised Land. These are five problem areas that we must take heed of as well. If we fail to take seriously these warnings, we too, will find ourselves disqualified. It is not my intent to present an exposition of this passage. I simply want to point out the areas that Paul warns us are "danger zones."

The first disqualifier was that Israel "craved evil things" (I Cor. 10:6). Israel got out of Egypt, but Egypt was still in them. They, like Lot's wife, were looking back to what they had left. In Scripture, we see Egypt as representing the world system. If we are continuing to look back at the things of this world we will find reason to go back. For example, this was the apparent case of Demas, who was part of Paul's apostolic company (II Tim. 4:10).

The second disqualifier on the list is idolatry (I Cor.10:7). Even though we may not be bowing down to worship an idol of stone, we may still be ensnared by idolatry. Paul equates idolatry with coveting (Ephes. 5:5), therefore the application to us is a reality. The idea of idolatry involves placing something above the Creator. Let us not overlook our own capacity for such a thing.

The third disqualifier is sexual immorality (I Cor. 10:8). We all know that there have been many leaders that have succumbed to this sin. We see this in the Scriptures and we have likely witnessed it among our own friends and fellow laborers. The opportunities to fall in this area seem to ever be before us. As Paul warns the Corinthian believers, "He who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall" (I Cor. 10:12). Men, mightier in the spirit than myself, have fallen to sexual temptation.

The fourth and fifth disqualifiers are closely related: to test God and to grumble against Him (I Cor. 10:9-10). The testing of God that is referred to is found in Numbers 21:5-6. Here the Israelites spoke against God and against Moses, who was God's appointed leader. They said, "Why have you brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderness? For there is no food and no water, and we loathe this worthless food." Israel tested God by demanding a better provision and an easier course than what God had designed. In their grumbling against God, they revealed an attitude of ingratitude. This is the first step toward even greater wickedness. It is the beginning of man's downward descent (see Rom. 1:21).

The call of God upon our lives is holy and conditional. Heaven and eternal life are free gifts granted to us by God's grace and made possible by the atoning death and resurrection of Christ. But our fulfilling of the destiny that God has for us is dependent upon our faith and obedience (see Heb. 4:1-13). Let us not fail to take our "promised land."

DISTRACTION
You have a divided heart. Many responsibilities pull and tug and demand your attention. Only one will do. And that is to follow Me.

You have yet to understand what it means to cast your care upon Me. My burden is light and easy when you are yoked with Me. For two oxen at a plow divide the load and neither feel the true weight of the whole burden. But, ensnared by the tangled cares, you have forgotten your resting place. It's that place where you bring all that divides your time and energy back to Me. It's where you allow Me My place by your side, helping divide your load and partnering with you to get the job done.

Bring your responsibilities back to Me and let us rearrange your priorities. Together we will divide the load and not your heart. Together, in one mind, one purpose, we will get the job done and you will find joy and energy in the process.

"Or suppose a woman has ten valuable silver coins and loses one. Won't she light a lamp and look in every corner of the house and sweep every nook and cranny until she finds it? And when she finds it, she will call in her friends and neighbors to rejoice with her because she has found her lost coin. Stuffing Causes Implosion
Sandy Warner

May 6, 2005
STUFFING CAUSES IMPLOSION
I am pulling the stuffing out of you who are introverts. For years you have buried your responses and emotions to issues and not found a way to resolve them. Internalizing the pain has caused deep wounds of embedded anger and self rejection. This has nurtured soil ripe for disease which is a product of dis-ease in your body.

I cry over the wounds of My people and want them healed from the inside out. I want your bodies healthy even as your soul is. It is time to bring to Me each and everything that you have stuffed from years and years of internalizing pain, having born it yourselves. As I bring circumstances into your lives which draw these things to the surface, give them to Me to wash and cleanse. I will help you release them so you will be able to forgive others, forgive yourself and overcome the shame and rejection that has been attached to these miseries. Come My Beloved ones and release these to Me, lest you implode and lose your light.

Your Daddy's Heart
Sandy Warner

May 2, 2005
YOUR DADDY'S HEART
My dear child, I AM bringing you through a season where I will take the veil off your eyes and heart to see your Father's heart for you. I will open your understanding to see into My nature, and into the very heart of Who I AM. I have heard your cries for intimacy and have chosen to draw near to you. In so doing, I AM making Myself vulnerable to your acceptance and to your rejection. If you only understood I have made you in My image. Just as you open yourself up to share and reveal your own life with others, placing yourself at risk of rejection, so do I. Do you think that I AM too awesome to feel the pain of even one person's rejection? Think again. My love is infinite and long suffering and forgiving. I feel the pain of every child's deepest longings and only want to hold them in My arms of love.

Luke 13:34-35 NLT
"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that kills the prophets and stones God's messengers! How often I have wanted to gather your children together as a hen protects her chicks beneath her wings, but you wouldn't let me. And now look, your house is left to you empty. And you will never see me again until you say, 'Bless the one who comes in the name of the Lord!'"

Divine Engineering

Fresh Oil Releases Newsletter

5th May 2005

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ

We are privileged to be alive and a part of His Body in these exciting times. Everything that can be shaken is being shaken and this is for the purpose of the Lord’s judgment upon His enemies, the principalities and powers that have held sway in families and nations for generations. It is time for the promises of God given to us to be manifested before our eyes, time for deliverance and release and healing to break forth. With this in mind, I want to share with you some insights from the book of Esther.

This book chronicles one of God’s amazing plans of deliverance for a whole group of people and we see that He begins to put things into place to pull off His plot long before anyone involved is aware of it – except, perhaps, for Mordecai, the man who had understanding of the times and what to do. Because of His revelation insight, he was able to encourage Esther to take up her place in the plan of God. He knew it was no accident that she was taken to the king’s palace or that she became queen. I want to say to you that the circumstances you find yourself in are no accident, but rather divine engineering for the forthcoming display of God’s glory. You may find yourself out of your comfort zone, isolated from family and friends and seemingly all alone in a dangerous place. Your eyes have been opened to the plots of the enemy concerning your family’s destruction and you have been on your face before God for a long time now, crying out for deliverance. You know that only God is able to turn your situation around; the help of man has proved useless time and again and your have trusted God to fulfill the promises He has given you concerning your loved ones and the situation you face, BUT as yet, you have not seen the fulfillment.

You have battled despair and disillusionment, choosing rather to stand with your father Abraham, who did not waver concerning the promise of God even when he considered the deadness of Sarah’s womb and his own age. In the face of all these things in the natural, he remained fully persuaded that what God promised He was also able to perform! You have fought off the whispers of the enemy that say God has forgotten you and chosen to believe in His faithfulness. You have fulfilled whatever He has shown you to do as far as repentance and dealing with sin in your own life goes. And still you wait for the word of His promise to become flesh in your life. Your heart wants to fail with the waiting but you hope on in faith.

I want to say to you that the place you have found yourself in is the first banquet Esther gave for the king in chapter 5. You have been seated across the table from your enemy. You have found it to be true that God does prepare a table before you in the presence of your enemy. He has fed you with revelation from His Word and you have been aware of His presence with you at this table. In fact, the only thing that has kept you sane has been keeping your eyes on His face throughout this long night. You have ministered to Him and served Him and waited upon Him with your worship, all the while sensing the presence of the enemy at this same table. Although he has presented himself as an angel of light, the king’s confidant and counselor, you have not been unaware of his schemes. The Spirit of wisdom and revelation has been ministering to you and you can see your enemy lying in wait for you. You understand that he doesn’t just want to ruffle your feathers; his intention is the annihilation of you and your family. You have wanted to lose your cool and blurt out the whole thing but the Holy Spirit has restrained you and cautioned you from Hebrews 10:36 that you need patience and endurance to fully accomplish the will of God so that you can enjoy to the full what He has promised. You know that there are still some things that need to be done before breakthrough. So you have endured the pride and gloating on your enemy’s face as he ate at your table, consuming of that which is yours and have tried to keep your eyes on things above until finally the banquet is over and your enemy has retired until his next appointment to torment you.

In the natural, things are not looking good. It seems the enemy is prospering in his plans against you. This is why I want you to look with me at what happened in-between the first and second banquet. It is only the space of 24 hours yet there is much going on in the spirit. Haman has left the table, full of himself and glowing with pride as to how far he has been able to maneuver himself into the king's inner circle, when he passes Mordecai at the gates, who refuses to show him any honor.

Mordecai represents the faithful intercessor and prayer warrior, crying out to God for intervention. This is a picture of you and your prayer for your situation and the lives of your loved ones. You have refused to give the enemy any glory or acknowledge his works and this has stirred up great anger towards you in the demonic realm. Every time you have seen the enemy as he has passed by, you have refused to bow to him but instead have declared the promises of God and prophesied over your situation that deliverance is coming. You have called things that are not as though they were and refused to budge from your position at the gates. You have been a faithful watchman and the enemy is now designing a gallows for you. He is plotting the destruction of the faithful prayer warriors at the king's gate BUT God is ALSO working under cover of darkness!

Esther may be having a sleepless night worrying over her situation in the palace but in another part of the palace God is keeping the king awake and bringing to remembrance Mordecai's faithfulness and loyalty which has gone unrewarded. I want to say to you, 'do not grow weary in well doing for in due season you will reap if you faint not'. Mordecai's due season of recognition and vindication had come! What Mordecai had done in the closet was about to be rewarded openly – and guess what? God was going to use Mordecai's enemy to bestow honor and reward upon him. Isaiah says that the sons of those who afflicted you will come bending low to you. We are entering a season when God is openly rewarding faithfulness in the prayer closet and He delights to honor His Mordecai's, those who have wept and cried and prayed for the cause of His people, those who have uncovered and defused the plots of the enemy.

He is going to take the plans of the enemy for his own promotion and turn them for your good and recompense. There is coming a release of royal garments and crowns to God's Mordecai's and He will cause your enemy to array you in them and to lead you openly before men, declaring you to be one of His jewels.

Malachi 3;16 says

A book of remembrance was written before Him of those who feared the Lord and thought on His name. And they shall be Mine, says the Lord of Hosts, in that day when I publicly declare them to be My jewels. And I will spare them, as a man spares his own son who serves him (Amp)

God delights to honor you because you have been faithful and have honored Him. The enemy has no option but to obey the command of the King of Kings. God will oppose and humiliate the proud through the device of his own suggestion. The place the enemy desires for himself is the one God has earmarked for you. Halleluyah! Nothing you have done in the secret of your prayer closet has gone unnoticed. All has been recorded in the Book of Remembrance and the season of recompense and reward is at hand.

You are not to worry about the enemy's gallows, which casts a shadow across your feet. If God is for you, who can be against you? All through the night between the first and second banquet, the Holy Spirit is working to bring you cause before the King. He is in the process of removing Shebna from his office (Isaiah 22) and replacing him with Eliakim, the faithful counselor. Haman is on his way out, he just has no idea of it yet and the humbling he will bring upon himself through his hatred for you.

Remember all through the night when the Israelites were camped at the edge of the Red Sea, the east wind blew. Then the sea opened up and a way of deliverance was in plain sight. The Israelites were so aware of their enemies beyond the cloud and they could not see what God was busy doing on their behalf. Esther had just spent a whole evening face to face with her enemy. I doubt she got any sleep but probably prayed all night, unaware that God was busy working on the king and getting things in place for a mighty deliverance. So you too can probably not see what God has put in place on your behalf. If you look in the natural your heart will fail you because it seems the enemy is spreading like a green tree in his native soil!

Before Passover the Jews couldn't see the effect the various plagues were having on Pharaoh. In fact, it seemed things were getting worse in the slavery department. If you feel the enemy tightening his noose around your neck, know the day of deliverance is at hand. God was working in secret dismantling Pharaoh's prideful heart and He knew exactly what final blow was needed to cause him to release God's people from bondage. Just as in the case of the Israelites, when God is dealing with your enemy, it will not come near you but you will only be a spectator as you witness the reward of the wicked (psalm 91). In fact, like Mordecai, you are going to end up seated in heavenly places having used your enemy as a footstool to mount your horse! You are going to be looking down on the head of your enemy as you walk in the honor and restitution that the Lord bestows upon you.

By the time the appointment for the second banquet arrives in your life, the enemy Haman will be brought, totally humiliated to the table only to be exposed for the diabolical murderer and liar he really is and to hear his sentence pronounced over him and be removed from your life! You do not have to fear that you are going into another cycle like the last one you have been in. Although the circumstances might look the same outwardly, this season is designed for the exposing and defeating of that which you have been warring in prayer. Esther's second banquet was very different from the first, the season of weeping is over and you shall be able to reap with songs of joy. Everything that the enemy has brought against you will be turned for your good. The season of having to sit and watch the enemy triumph over you is over. You are in a new day and the Lord is bringing righteous judgment upon the heads of your enemies!

Mordecai was promoted to the position Haman had previously held and was instrumental in issuing decrees from the King's palace with the king's authority to utterly annihilate every trace of the enemy's influence in the kingdom.

Esther 8:2
And the king took off his signet ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai. And Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman

You are going to be given freedom to rule in areas where the enemy has ruled for decades - you are entering a season of operating in the King's authority as never before, making declarations for deliverance using the Lord's seal of authority. You are going to rule over the house of your enemy, clothed in royal apparel because the Spirit of the Lord has anointed you to bring the good news to the poor and downtrodden – the anointing is here to break the yoke!

Psalm 110;3 The Lord will send forth from Zion the scepter of your strength; rule then in the midst of your foes!

Blessings

Divine Inheritance
Todd Bentley

In this teaching titled Divine Inheritance*, we will define what divine inheritances are. Also we'll take a look at what mantles are. Then we'll discuss how we come into divine inheritances and how divine inheritances affect the generations to come.*

DIVINE INHERITANCES EXIST IN THE SPIRIT REALM

We often think of an inheritance as something physical such as a family heirloom, a sum of money or a piece of real estate that passes from one generation to the next when the benefactor dies. But there are spiritual inheritances as well as physical ones. We know that there is an inheritance in Christ because believers are joint heirs (Romans 8:17) and we've been blessed with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places in Christ (Ephesians 1:3). In fact, this is the most important inheritance. But did you know that there are other inheritances, in fact, many inheritances that exist and are available to us in the spirit realm?

Listen! God is speaking about inheritances, divine inheritances, and He wants to release them to us! Specifically, I saw that today we are going to receive, as a church, a revelation about divine inheritances and that we will learn how to steward what God gives us for our children's children. This revelation came to me step by step as I pondered various scriptures and in particular Psalm 139:16: "Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed. And in Your book they all were written, the days fashioned for me, when as yet there were none of them." God has ordained destiny for every human being before they are born (Psalm 139:16)! He has a plan, a purpose, a future and a hope for each of us. He has good works for us to accomplish. With this in mind, I began to seek the Lord and I asked Him several questions, such as:

So what happens when children die and never receive their inheritance? What happens to the inheritance that God ordained for them? What about an aborted baby? What happens to that child's inheritance?

What happens to the ones like Jack Coe, at 36 years of age in the prime of his ministry, who died? Did anyone ever receive the mantle of Jack Coe? And what about his inheritance?

What about the people that never reach the fullness of what God ordained for them or who never came to know Jesus Christ as their personal Lord and Savior? Did God have a future and a hope for them? Does their inheritance become available in the spirit realm?

What happens in the spirit when people don't receive their inheritance? What happens to their inheritance in heaven?

The Lord responded to my questions with His question! "Their inheritances are available to you. Do you want them?" I thought, Well how many can I have? He said, "Well, if they had been born and if they had received Jesus, I would have given them a great university or I would have given them two continents, or I would have given them an international deliverance ministry. You can have that because their destiny is still available in the spirit realm."

So I have come to understand that we can receive many inheritances. With this revelation vividly impressed upon me, I'm collecting inheritances! Do you know what divine inheritance means? Acquiring somebody else's testimony -- their story becomes your story. What they saw God do through their life becomes a reality for you. When I think about collecting inheritances, I'm talking about believers collecting the testimonies of the works of the Lord in the lives of men and women over the last 2,000 years!

Also, when the Lord spoke to me about divine inheritances, I was prompted to question Him about mantles. Here's a brief portion of what He said to me: "Todd you don't need somebody else's mantle.

You have your own mantle." The Lord revealed to me, through this prophetic word, that we can receive many inheritances but we're usually only in the right position to receive around one mantle. Although sometimes God will give more than one mantle. (I have more than one mantle.)

MANTLES

When we receive a mantle, we're receiving from God an authority, a power, a gift and a call. Scripture tell us that Elisha, the prophet, had a "double portion" of the spirit of Elijah, which is, in fact, the mantle of Elijah (II Kings 2:9-14). Even Elisha didn't have many mantles. He had one double portion of the mantle of Elijah. As I said earlier, God is revealing that we can receive many inheritances but we usually do not receive more than one mantle.

I want to ask us two questions. The first is, when are mantles available? Let's take a look at II Kings 2:8-14. We see that Elisha asked (v. 9). This is a key. He asked for a hard thing, a double portion of the spirit of Elijah, the mantle of Elijah (vs. 9-10). After Elijah died, in the passing of Elijah into heaven, his mantle became available. So, in the passing of one generation, the time comes when a mantle becomes available. We can be like Elisha and ask for someone's mantle, even if it appears to be a "hard thing."

Now here's my second question: Where can mantles be found? We see with Elijah and Elisha that Elisha found Elijah's mantle because he would not leave Elijah's side (vs. 2, 4, and 6). Elisha persevered and stuck like glue to Elijah! The principle we need to see here is that mantles are found and then received when God sees that we earnestly desire His highest will, His highest plan for our lives. In other words, we're sticking like "crazy glue" to the Lord!

Also, where was the mantle of Elisha? It was where Elisha was buried! The mantle, that double portion, went to the grave with him. Get this! Scripture tells us that when a dead man was thrown into the grave of Elisha, that when his dead body touched the bones of Elisha, the anointing that was on his bones caused the dead man to come to life! Why? It happened because he touched the mantle of Elisha which was the double portion of the spirit of Elijah, residing upon Elisha's bones. Wow!

It's interesting to note that when Elisha died, no one asked for his mantle! I'd like you to keep this in mind as I share a vision with you. A young man told this to me over seven years ago. He was taken in a vision into a valley where he saw mantles, like the garment of Elisha in II Kings 2:8, of Smith Wigglesworth, Kathryn Kuhlman, Martin Luther, Moses, Abraham and others. He saw the mantles that were upon the lives of great men and women who were used by God throughout history. He saw numbers of mantles, further than his eyes could see. Many mantles were torn and some were barely even used, as if the owners had never even put them on! Other mantles were barely even tarnished or torn. The impact of this vision has remained with me to this day. Get ready!

There are times in the spirit when our mantle can get torn and tarnished. And there are times in the spirit when our garment doesn't fit anymore and by that I mean there is room for another mantle upon our life. We can ask for a mantle like Elisha did (II Kings 2:9) and God will give it if it's His will. As a matter of fact, Elijah invited Elisha to ask (v.9). However, there are times when we're not asking for a particular mantle and God will offer one of His choosing to us. I believe the offer comes when God sees that we desire Him passionately, above all else.

In my life, the first mantle the Lord placed upon my life was an evangelist's mantle. I put that on, and I was faithful with it, and I grew into my mantle. About two years later, God came along and He had a new mantle for me to wear. He said, "Do you like this one?" I said, "Yes, I like that. What is it Lord?" He said, "It's a prophet's mantle." I remember when I tried it on it didn't fit right at first. I wasn't quite comfortable with my new identity because I was an evangelist and my identity was in the evangelistic mantle. But God said, "I want you to try this one on." Sometimes when we wear something new, we wonder if it fits right. We can feel a little awkward in a new suit like we're "sticking out." "Wow! Hey, look at what's shown up on your life buddy!"

I had to get comfortable with the prophet mantle and now it fits really well, like a glove. And then God came along and He said, "Todd, I have a new mantle for you! Look at this one!" It was called the apostolic mantle. When I saw it, I said, "God, I don't want that one! I'll wear my evangelist's mantle, I'll wear my prophet's mantle, but please don't put that 'apostle-jacket' on me. It doesn't look right and it doesn't feel right! I was just getting comfortable in the prophet's mantle!"

It didn't take me long to surrender to the Lord and receive the apostolic mantle. I'm still growing into it. We grow into these things. The mantles will grow up with you! Remember when God brought the children of Israel out of Egypt? They were 40 years in the wilderness and they wore the same clothes and the same shoes for those 40 years. As they grew up, their clothes and shoes grew with them! So we're growing into our mantle. There are three mantles that God placed on my life and I can't say that they represent the mantle of Martin Luther or John G. Lake or anyone else because each one is my mantle. I believe that it's time for believers to put on a new mantle. God is going to place a new mantle upon many believers reading this teaching, and He's going to give us a revelation about divine inheritances, too!

INHERITING THE DESOLATE INHERITANCES

What did our forefathers leave us as an inheritance? On the surface, it looks like the answer is "nothing" because we really only have a faint memory about some of the revivals that went on 200 years ago. Also, how many ministries have fathered sons and daughters to continue their mandate and then pass it along as an inheritance to the next generation? There are some great evangelists who have a legacy, but do they have sons and daughters who have inherited the work of the ministry and then carried it through and passed it on to the next generation as an inheritance? I believe the Lord is going to release an anointing on certain believers for bringing restoration that will cause men and women to come into inheritances that have been lost for many generations.

Now let's turn to the book of Isaiah 49: 8: "Thus says the Lord, in an acceptable time I've heard you. In the day of salvation I've helped you. I will preserve you and give you as a covenant to the people to restore the earth, to cause them to inherit the desolate inheritances." Have you ever thought about inheriting the inheritances that have become desolate? The meaning is: lost inheritances. The Lord said, "Todd, I'm going to cause men and women to receive desolate heritages." The word heritages means inheritances.

Another scripture the Holy Spirit gave me was Isaiah 58:12: "Those from among you shall build the old waste places; you shall raise up the foundations of many generations; and you shall be called the Repairer of the Breach, The Restorer of Streets to Dwell In." A key phrase from this scripture is: foundations of many generations. Could there be a generation today that God entrusts with the foundations of generations in the past because those generations lost what God gave them? Can we rebuild that? Is it possible that we can come into the very inheritance that God was entrusting to past generations and that we can rebuild it today and possess it in our lifetime? I believe the answer is "Yes!" We could raise up the foundations of many generations! Great, great potential! Think about that!

The prophet Isaiah says in the above scripture that "you will be called the 'Repairer of the Breech' and 'The Restorer of Streets to Dwell In.'" This means that there will be those who have an anointing for restoration and they will cause people to be restored to their path of destiny. Some of you who have gotten off track are saying, "God, please give me a prophetic sense of who I am and where I am going. What's my identity and my purpose, what's my future and my hope?"

The prophet Isaiah also spoke about the anointing to preach the good news, to heal and bind up the broken hearted and to give sight to the blind (Isaiah 61:1). [Jesus was the fulfillment of this prophecy. Luke 4:14-21).] We always stop at verse 3, but verse 4 has such an anointing on it: "And they shall rebuild the old ruins, they shall raise up the former desolations" (v. 4). God is saying: "I'm looking for history makers, and I'm going to entrust former desolations to a generation of men and women today that want to inherit what became desolate in many generations before their time."

Listen: They shall repair the ruined cities, the desolations of many generations. When I heard the heart of God on this matter, I stepped up and said, "God, I want to inherit, and I will 'step up to the plate' and inherit what has become a desolate heritage." I realized that what we live in today, our accomplishments today can only be as great as the mothers and fathers and the shoulders that we stand on. The momentum that we have in the spirit is a momentum of prior generations. The momentum that our children's children receive is the momentum of prior generations based on how faithful we are to what we inherit in this generation from those that have gone before us. So it's like a compound blessing.

GENERATIONAL BLESSING & INHERITANCE

I want to give my natural and spiritual children an inheritance from me in which the spiritual stature that I have matured into is where they start. The sons that have come under my ministry and the anointing of Fresh Fire today will start their ministry from day one at the level that took me seven years to learn how to build. They will never preach like I did in churches of 20 or 50 people because from day one they will be crusade evangelists. There are evangelists today that have come into our ministry, who have been in the ministry six months and their itinerary is full for an entire year and they've never ministered in a meeting smaller than 500 people. Why? They associated with my inheritance. Now they come into what my influence is and they start their ministry in the same circles of influence that I have, rather than from the bottom up. It's sad that many fathers of the faith don't want to bring sons and daughters in on the level where they are functioning. We need to think differently!

God always thinks in terms of the generations that are to come. And God thinks from the beginning to the end and everything in between at the same time. God is already thinking about our children's children. Why don't we? We live for the now. Everything we make we spend. By the time we're finished, there's nothing for the kids -- we're not leaving an inheritance. We're not thinking "generations" and we're not considering generational blessings and inheritances. Here's how we think: When God gives us a prophetic word, we think about it in the context of our life and ministry and how we're going to see this word come to pass in our lives and ministries. We don't think about it in terms of making our dreams and visions available to our children's children. We think about it in the context of, "Look what God gave me!" That's the way most of the church thinks, too. They haven't left much for the up-coming generation.

So the younger people come into the church and mostly all they find is religion and tradition. They understand that this isn't the way it should be, and so they're trying to find their own way. They're struggling through because there are very few good examples of fathers today. But I want to store up an inheritance for my children's children so that when they step into the destiny of the Holy Ghost, they step into the same stature that I walk in today. They start with that. That's the only way we're going to go on and take the Promised Land. It's like their floor begins where my ceiling is. We need a new mindset!

Also we need to change our thinking in the area of God's timing. Here is a scripture verse that describes how God thinks. "He remembers His covenant forever, the word which He commanded, for a thousand generations" (Psalm 105:8). When God gives the word, He thinks about the word that He gives us in the context of a thousand generations. However, when we receive a prophetic word and dream, we get excited about it and can hardly wait for it to come to pass! Even if we lived until 120 years of age, does the dream and vision die with that person when they die? What if they never did see the fulfillment of the dream or promise? Can it become my dream? Can it become my children's dream and my children's, children's, children's, children's, up to a thousand generations?

How many of us have been excited about a prophetic word over our church? But at some point there is transition, the original leaders are gone, and the church dies. So when that happens it looks like the prophetic word is gone, too. Or God gives a word over a city and we think, Oh, God, we've been waiting 50 years to do what You promised to do in our city. Most people never step into the prophetic word after the one who originally received the word dies or the church or ministry isn't operating anymore, because we don't think in terms of generations.

We don't understand how the promise of God can be inherited even up to a thousand generations. So, here's what I'm doing: As I said earlier, I'm looking for inheritances! For instance, I'm trying to find prophecies that Smith Wigglesworth gave so I can claim them for me, even though all the people he gave them to are dead and he's dead. But guess what? The prophetic word is not dead. God has given various powerful prophetic words hundreds of years ago. All the people involved in that word aren't alive anymore. But that word still stands, waiting for a believer to find the old tape or manuscript and say, "Oh, God, this one is 300 years old, and I haven't seen it come to pass. I want to start living for this inheritance because everyone involved with that word is no longer alive to inherit it."

God is looking for those who are ready to stand up and say, "God, please give me the inheritance of generations that have become desolate." So I want us to think in terms of a thousand generations because when the prophetic word comes, it's good for a thousand generations. Even if God gives me a prophetic word and, God forbid, I'm cut short in my prime, somebody needs to step up and take all my dreams and promises and continue on. And then even when they are dead and their children's children are dead, if someone doesn't know what God has promised me, then 500 years down the road that promise is forgotten and nobody inherits it and it's just available in the spirit realm. Think about that! This is deep stuff.

We usually think in terms of words that have come in the last 20 or 30 years. In fact, a generation is considered to be 30 years but what about the words that have come when a nation was formed? We can inherit those prophetic words today. God hasn't forgotten. His word is good for a thousand generations. "The counsel of the Lord stands forever, the plans of His heart to all generations" (Psalm 33:11). God thinks in terms of the generations. When God spoke to Abraham He saw Isaac. When God spoke to Isaac, He saw Jacob, and when He spoke to Jacob, He saw Joseph. When God saw Joseph, He saw you and me because all the families of the earth are blessed in Abraham.

So when God spoke to Abraham, it wasn't just a word to Abraham; it wasn't just a word to Isaac when God spoke to him; it wasn't only Jacob's word, it was our word, too. That means that we can inherit today the same dreams and visions that God promised Abraham thousands of years earlier. This means that when God said to Abraham, "And I will bless those who bless you, and I will curse him who curses you; and in you all the families of the earth shall be blessed" (Genesis 12:3) that all the families of the earth would be blessed. It was like God was saying that He wanted to bless the generations to come in the exact same way that He was blessing Abraham. Abraham was blessed!

There is a rich spiritual inheritance in Abraham! The first eight verses of Psalms 78 describe this generational mindset. Let's take a look at a few of these verses:
"For He established a testimony in Jacob, and appointed a law in Israel, which He commanded our fathers, that they should make them known to their children; that the generation to come might know them, the children who would be born, that they may arise and declare them to their children." Psalm 78:5, 6
At 29 years of age I'm thinking about my life, ministry and what I'm building, but I'm already thinking about my children's children and what kind of inheritance I can leave them. I have a responsibility to these upcoming generations. The Bible says when God moves, He moves throughout the generations to a thousand generations (Psalm 105:8)!

Having said that, it's the set time to start researching and reading some of the dreams and visions that God has promised. Ministries, cities and nations are sitting on inheritances. The plans and the counsel of the Lord stand for all generations (Psalm 33:11). And so when we uncover what God has promised, that inheritance could become ours and we could start a new legacy from that day forward that will affect our children's children. We can inherit someone else's prophetic word, dream or vision! Hallelujah!

Seven Giants In The Land
Todd Bentley

In Seven Giants in the Land*, we'll learn how to embrace the promises of God and walk in faith as we gain the Lord's perspective concerning the giants in the land. We'll examine seven* giants/strongholds such as oppression/condemnation, compromise, materialism, fear, immorality, pride, and rebellion and we'll discover how to overcome these giants.

I want to ask you to join with me in prayer so that we can position ourselves in an attitude of worship before the Lord as we begin this week's teaching.
God, today we ask for a breakthrough in the heavenly realm in the area of prophetic destiny. Father, I'm asking in the name of Jesus for a tearing down of the demonic strongholds and mindsets that are in opposition to Your promises. We want to expose and then break the demonic opposition, stronghold, and mindset of the enemy to keep us from inheriting the land of promise. So I am asking You to come, Holy Spirit. Anoint us with revelation and the power of God so that we can destroy every scheme and tactic of the devil that wants to keep us from what You promised in Your Word and what You promised us out of the mouths of the prophets. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

WALKING INTO THE PROMISED LAND

The Promised Land is our inheritance, our prophetic destiny. It's what God has promised us in His word and what He has spoken to us through the mouths of the prophets. I believe that we are crossing the waters of the Jordan River (Joshua 3) and we are saying in our hearts, "God, I want to take the land! I want the Promised Land."

The Bible is full of God's promises and we want to inherit the land of God's promise -- the milk, the honey, the fruitfulness, and the abundance that God has for us. Many believers have tapes of what God has promised them through the mouth of prophets, as well as personal promises and rhema words that have come from God's mouth. I know that many of you have visions, dreams, revelations, and prophetic words that were given to you by the Holy Spirit. However, many of the words have not yet come to pass. I believe that many believers have been waiting and asking, "Father, when am I going to have that promise? When are You going to do what You promised our church, Father?"

Have you ever asked God, "How am I going to receive Your promises?" That's what I want to "nail on the head" in this teaching. I believe that there is a demonic strategy to keep us from entering the Promised Land and God wants to show us how to overcome. There are schemes and tactics of the devil to oppose and hinder us from entering into everything that God has for us. We need to take back the land that the enemy has taken from us.

So what does the Promised Land look like? When the Lord wanted Moses and the nation of Israel to enter the Promised Land (Canaan), He told Moses to make plans to send a leader from each of the 12 tribes to spy out the land of Canaan (Numbers 13:2). Listen: Many of us have been spying out the land! You know what the land looks like? REVIVAL! I believe that we're crossing the waters of the Jordan River and in our hearts there is a militancy that the Holy Spirit is releasing upon us. The kingdom of heaven suffers violence and the violent take it by force (Matthew 11:12).

So let's take a look at what the twelve spies faced after they were commissioned to spy out the land: "And they went up through the South and came to Hebron; Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai, the descendants of Anak, were there. (Now Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.)" (Numbers 13:22). They proceeded to Hebron and they saw that the whole area was overtaken by giants, the descendants of Anak. These giants walked in such great darkness that they possessed substantial demonic authority that strengthened the principalities and powers over that region.

"DO NOT FEAR THE PEOPLE OF THE LAND, FOR THEY ARE OUR BREAD"

Before we discuss these giants in more detail I want to say that there was a whole spiritual dynamic operating over Hebron. Because of the giants' wicked influence, this place was a stronghold for demonic oppression and, in fact, even today there is intense spiritual warfare over this city and region. Hebron actually means the city of four and "seat of association."

Now another interesting point about Hebron is this -- it's where the patriarchs and the past history makers were buried -- Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Rebekah, Jacob and Leah. That's where the past revivalists, the godly seed and the godly inheritance were buried. In the very place where there was revival and the very place in history where the Holy Spirit came and moved in revival, we have even today, a stronghold in that city and region. At one time it was vibrant and alive with the power and fire of the Holy Ghost. Now it's dead, it's in sin and it's darker than it was 100 years ago. The devil wants to have a stronghold in the place where God previously poured out his Spirit, and in the future will pour out his Spirit again!

So when the spies entered this area, instead of breaking through spiritually and remembering that God promised them the land (of Canaan -- Numbers 13:2), they came under the existing demonic strongholds. All but two of the spies, Joshua and Caleb, became completely intimidated by the giants' huge stature. So when they returned home, ten of the spies gave a very convincing bad report (Numbers 13:25-33). So all the people rebelled and wanted to stone Joshua and Caleb (Numbers 14:1-10). Woe! Unfortunately, ten of the spies forgot how big God is and so they became deceived and believed that they could not overcome the enemy. WRONG! The enemy won that particular battle without laying one finger on the emerging nation of Israel. Talk about a battle for their minds!

The ten spies were judged by God and died immediately from a plague (Numbers 14:37). And the whole generation that listened and believed the bad report ended up dying in their unbelief as they wandered for 40 years in the wilderness. It's also interesting to see that their children lived to inherit the Promised Land and did not get into unbelief like their parents, but they suffered for their parents' unfaithfulness (Numbers 14:31-33).
Then Caleb, 85 years old and as strong as an ox (Joshua 14:11), went to battle against the giants a generation later after receiving Hebron as his inheritance (Joshua 14:12-14). Years later, David, a mere lad, prevailed against the giant Goliath and literally cut off his head (I Samuel 17:49-51). Hebron was the place where David was anointed king over Israel (II Samuel 5:3).

Here we are, hundreds of generations later, dealing with the same kind of strongholds, the same demonic tactics and strategies. The giants are the same! But let's take note of Joshua's counsel to the people: "Only do not rebel against the Lord, nor fear the people of the land, for they are our bread; their protection has departed from them, and the Lord is with us. Do not fear them" (Numbers 14:9). Yes, the giants are there but they are our bread! Bread is something we eat almost every single day! Listen: There will be giants set up to oppose God's will for our lives, but they will be bread for us, consumed by the power of God, if we trust in the Lord and do not fear the enemy. Going forward in faith and believing what God has spoken into our hearts will empower us to successfully walk into the promised land.

WITH THE RIGHT PERSPECTIVE WE CAN OVERCOME

We're ready now to take a look at the enemies of God's promise, Anak and his descendants (Numbers 13:22). Anak means to choke and to strangle as if strangling someone with a necklace. The devil wants to choke out, strangle, and suffocate the promise of God; often by a slow process. King Solomon said, "Where there is no vision [no redemptive revelation of God], the people perish . . . " (Proverbs 29:18 AMP). The enemy wants to choke and strangle the vision. The devil just doesn't do it overnight. He's been working slowly on our mindsets every day since we were young children. Some believers carry mindsets into the kingdom that are opposing and blocking them from God's promise and God wants to set them free!

Now I want to share with you three tactics/schemes that Anak's descendants (Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai) planned to use against the children of Israel to choke and strangle God's promise to them. The enemy of our souls continues to use these same tactics in our lives.

1. Ahiman means to block or hinder. This stronghold wants to block and hinder the Holy One's plan and the Holy One's purpose.
2. Sheshai means to whiten or white wash. This stronghold wants to make something look like more than what it really is. Here's an example. A dirty, rusty, run down automobile has some paint thrown on it to make it look new when it isn't new at all.
3. Talmai means to accumulate. The devil wants us to be so busy accumulating material goods and getting so involved in the cares of this work and into entertainment that we don't have time for God's purposes and promise.

The enemy wants something on the outside to look good but, in reality, on the inside, it's full of dead man's bones, white washed tombs (Matthew 23:27). It's hypocrisy. These strongholds try to get us to settle for something that's not authentic. It's that "settle for this" attitude; no real life or motivation. Also there's an apathetic spirit operating that tries to color our thinking: "I guess this is what my lot in life is so let's not 'push the envelope.'" "If the Lord delights in us then He'll take us into the land." "If God wants to heal me, then He'll heal me." "God is sovereign and He does whatever He pleases so I'm not going to do anything."

If these strongholds succeed in deceiving us into settling for something that's not God's will, then ultimately we're abandoning God's real plan. And the strongholds are trying to get us to accumulate, and they are working with other giants to oppose and rob us from God's promise and to keep us from entering our prophetic destiny.

We can see historically that when the Israelites confronted their enemies in one generation (when they went in to take the Promised Land), they had to deal with them in another generation. And we're going to have to deal with these strongholds, too, when we take the land. We're going to have to go to "Hebron" ourselves and overcome not only the demonic strategies but also the mindsets that bring deception.

SEVEN GIANTS IN THE LAND

Also, God didn't say we have to fight these battles alone. When Moses told the children of Israel about the Promised Land, he said that God would "cast out" their enemies:
"When the Lord your God brings you into the land which you go to possess, and has cast out many nations before you, the Hittites and the Girgashites and the Amorites and the Canaanites and the Perizzites and the Hivites and the Jebusites, seven nations greater and mightier than you . . . " Deuteronomy 7:1 (Emphasis mine)
So let's examine four more enemies that the Israelites had to confront in order to enter into God's promises: the Jebusites, the Girgashites, the Canaanites, and Hittites. (Next week in Part 2 we'll take a look at three more strongholds -- the Perizzites, the Amorites, and the Hivites.)

1. Jebusite means trodden down.
2. This tribe represents those who are discouraged, overwhelmed and defeated. There is guilt, condemnation, shame, the spirit of heaviness and depression. "I can't get over my past. I am beaten down. I am tired, I am weak. I am trodden down. It's like a heavy cloud on me." We need to overcome the power of condemnation, shame, and the feeling of guilt over what we've done in the past. The devil wants to overwhelm us, discourage us, and continually accuse us so that no matter how many times we ask God for forgiveness, we still feel condemnation.
3. Remember, the spies gave a bad report based on their wrong perspective. "There we saw the giants (the descendants of Anak came from the giants); and we were like grasshoppers in our own sight, and so we were in their sight" (Numbers 13:33).
4. Yes, the giants were big, but God is bigger and they forgot this. So often we become overwhelmed and defeated because we can't see how God is going to get us from point A to point B and the vision is too big. "I don't understand how God is ever going to fulfill what He promised me." "You don't understand where I am, God, what I've been through, how much debt I have, God, and how much trauma I have in my life." "You don't understand who I am right now in my circumstances. How am I ever going to step into what the prophet said about me?" "The vision in the spiritual realm is much bigger than I am in the natural. I don't know how God is going to get it done so I might as well give up."
5. God knows that when we have no vision, we'll perish (Proverbs 29:18). So He wants to impart vision. He wants to show us the Promised Land but, because of our mindset, we can't envision God's promises being accomplished in our imagination and dreams. The idea is too big. We're defeated because of perspective -- because we're like "grasshoppers" in our own eyes. As a man thinks in his own heart, so he is (Proverbs 23:7). "I don't think I can ever prophesy or heal the sick. I'm not worthy. I want the call and the ministry that God has promised me but . . . " But, but, but, but! And we're defeated and trodden down. Hope deferred has made the heart sick (Proverbs 13:12). But we can do what God said we can do!

6. Maybe some of us know that there was a time that God wanted to use us, but now the years have passed by and we didn't step up to the plate. So, now we think God is finished with us and the devil is right there saying, "That's right. He's done with you. He's passed you by. You're never going to be what He's promised. You can never get there. Look at you. Look at your circumstances." He has some of us locked into a defeated mindset because in the natural we can't grasp what God said in the spirit. We're so overwhelmed with all the cards stacked against us.
7. Due to my past, everything was against me! I was the last man that you would pick on your team! The last man you would ever have believed God would use to shake nations and reach tens of thousands with the gospel would be me! Nothing in the natural qualified me! Today pastors don't understand it! They love it, but they don't understand it! I was 21 years old and saved not even four years when I came into the ministry. That doesn't make sense to the natural mind. But I laid on my bed at night and I saw myself preaching in stadiums and giving altar calls. I saw people coming to Jesus and I did the miracles on my bed in my mind's eyes. In my imagination my perspective changed. Our perspective is so important!
8. Prophets had called me out and prophesied over me saying that I would reach the multitudes like Billy Graham did. "You are going to have an anointing like Benny Hinn for miracles, signs, and wonders." In the natural it is impossible, but here I am today preaching in many nations around the word. Within the next six months, Lord willing, FFM will facilitate 10 crusades in six different nations! Today God entrusts our ministry with millions of dollars for mission projects. Business men have stepped in and helped to pay for whole crusades that cost $50,000 or more. God has done it because he helped me not to let a "Jebusite perspective" of condemnation (based on the man that I was before I was saved) keep me from what God wanted to accomplish. I said, "Devil, I may not know how it's going to get done in the natural realm, but I have God's sure word from heaven!"
9. Girgashite means the dwellers of the clay, the dwellers of the marsh, compromise or living in the grey areas.
10. Revelation 3:15 speaks about compromise: "I know your works, that you are neither cold nor hot. I could wish you were cold or hot." Compromise in Webster's Dictionary means something midway. God said that if we are neither hot nor cold then He would vomit us out of His mouth (v. 16). We can't be in between; we must be either hot or cold. Compromise, discouragement, and condemnation work together. If the devil can't draw you into condemnation, discouragement, guilt or shame, then he'll try to trap you with compromise.
11. Here are some lies that involve compromise: "You don't need to be as radical and fanatical and extreme as they are. Just kind of keep it steady between you and the Lord. You don't want to offend anybody. Let's just kind of keep it quiet." If we compromise just a little here and there, suddenly we'll find ourselves far removed from what God intended for us. We need to be hot. It's either hot or nothing! If we're not hot Christians then what are we? You know when a person is on fire!
12. The devil doesn't want you to have passion. The opposite of passion is apathy. So he is going to do everything he can to get you to sin because sin robs our passion for God. Here are some of the devil's schemes: "Have a little pleasure. Don't be in complete sin." "Don't be so extreme and on fire." "Calm down a little bit and don't be such a Jesus freak." "Keep the faith but keep the flame small. You don't have to go out there and tell anyone about Jesus." "You can watch this." "It's a whole lot easier to live as a Christian in the grey areas than to live as an extreme, radical, sold out, totally abandoned, committed to Jesus Christ, burning and shining lamp."
13. When I was on the street preaching the gospel, sometimes Christians would come by and say, "I'm already saved, thank you." Or, "Listen, I've been a Christian for 20 years, thank you very much. It's guys like you who give us a bad name, trying to tell us about Jesus." "Come on now. If God wants to save somebody, He's big enough to do it. He doesn't need us running out in the streets and embarrassing ourselves." "Keep it down! You're talking too loud about Jesus in the restaurant! We don't want to disturb the rest of the people. They're paying to eat here, too." "If they wanted to hear about Jesus, they would come to church and if they wanted to hear about Jesus, they would come and ask you. So keep it down. If you keep talking so loud about God, I'm leaving the restaurant!"
14. Are you embarrassed because of God? Has compromise taken hold of your heart? Are you as hot as you once were? Have you lost the lamp and the fire of your first love? Have you lowered your standards and your convictions? If so, then how are you going to enter the promised land? Listen! The Girgashites got you!

15. Canaanite means materialism.
16. This is one of the greatest enemies today, especially in the western church. The spirit of covetousness will rob from us the promise of God. It says in Mathew 6:24, "No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon." We can't serve God and money. If we compromise and give up in our heart, defeated, feeling unworthy, then the Canaanite stronghold of materialism will come along and try to tempt us to accumulate as much paraphernalia and stuff as we can! And to pay for everything, the devil just gets us working seven days a week for 12 hours a day. Then there's no time for Jesus or our family! Materialism is about bigger toys and how much money is in the bank account.
17. Did you know that it doesn't take long before success in accumulating cash and possessions makes it harder for us to be generous? We falsely think that with more cash and possessions we'd be such big givers, but what do we do with the money that we accumulate? What would you do with a million dollars? Would you walk into the church and say, "Here's your hundred grand?" When the wealth and prestige increases (not that God doesn't use that), it's so easy to be deceived and keep telling ourselves that it's all for the kingdom. But in reality, most of the time, it isn't for the kingdom of God at all. That spirit of materialism gets us focused on accumulating cash and possessions, trying to work more to get ahead, but it's a trap.
18. Hittites means fear.
19. They were a fierce nation that brought terror and fear into the hearts of their enemies. One of the ways that the spirit of fear works against our destiny is insecurity. When Saul was chosen as the King of Israel and it was time for him to be presented to the people, he was afraid and so he hid by the baggage (I Samuel 10:22). Many of us can't step into the destiny that God has for us because of our baggage, insecurities, rejection issues, feelings of unworthiness, and because of our fears. "How am I ever going to get up in front of all those people and speak?" Maybe you have a fear of flying and you can't even get on a plane to go to the nations. Or maybe you're hiding in your past, you're hiding in your baggage, or you're hiding in your trauma.
20. In my life there was a time when I was fearful to be in the public eye in ministry because I feared that someone would dig into my past and pull out all of my "skeletons." So I didn't want to get too well known in the ministry and I said, "I don't want to get too far out there, God, because then the news and the media will talk about my past." (Politicians are just guys like you and me until they get into government, and then all of a sudden it's a big deal because they smoked a joint when they were a teenager.) As it turned out, national newspapers and television wrote and spoke about me, both the good and the bad.
21. Your fear might be a stuttering problem and you think that it's impossible to ever speak publicly into a microphone. Or fear could be holding you back from going into the ministry because of anxiety over finances and quitting your secure job and living by faith. "I don't know where the money is going to come from. It's so much easier having a secure wage." Or, "God, I know that You've called me to the nations but the real reason I'm not going is that I'm afraid of flying in an airplane and I'm afraid of trusting You." That's what fear will do. It will always challenge our trust in God. But we don't want to allow fear to be a barrier. God wants us to take steps of faith. If we're stuck in a fear mode, then the exploits that God wants to do through us to advance His Kingdom won't be accomplished. That's why God said several times: "Be strong and courageous, for the Lord your God is with you." (Joshua 1:6, 9; 11:6). He wanted to encourage Joshua and the people not to slip into fear. So often we are afraid. "Look at the people! Look at the fortified cities!" We tend to look at the bills and worry about how we're going to pay them. Or we get stuck in our insecurities.
22. God is commanding us to be strong and courageous! He wants us to be risk takers and get out of the boat and walk on the water! When God told me to quit my job because He was calling me into the nations, my first thought was this: Who the heck knows who Todd Bentley is? I don't have any invitations. I don't even know how to get started. I don't have a ministry. I don't know how to go anywhere and where is my next pay check going to come from? But I had to purpose within my heart and count the cost. Do I want God's will more than my fear? So I said, "God, I'm going to be a risk taker. I only live once. If this is really Your will for me then I will risk falling flat on my face." Don't let fear keep you back from apostolic anointing!
23. Perizzite means opened and unwalled.

24. This tribe was a roaming tribe that never bothered to secure their dwellings by building walls and cities. This open, unprotected existence represents a type of "spirit of immorality." We also call this spirit the "spirit of Babylon" which represents lust and immorality. Here's how the spirit of Babylon works: It tries to seduce. If we are led away, tempted, or enticed away from the call of God on our lives, our godly principles, or our conduct, then we've been seduced by the spirit of Babylon. This unholy spirit wants to seduce all of us, but especially our young men and women. It specializes in persuading us to forget our purpose and destiny, the promises of God, and our commission. Also, it tries to entice us with status, a name, reputation, wealth and materialism.
25. Let me give some examples. It really is true, "Pride comes before a fall" (Proverbs 16:18). It's all too easy for even an older, mature man in ministry to give in to the lust for money and sexual immorality once he's been taken over and deceived by pride. A ministry can be destroyed almost overnight because of the power of lust. We hear sometimes of a pastor who slipped into sexual sin and the ministry he was entrusted with is over, just like that. God is merciful and the pastor can be restored eventually if the proper steps are taken, but everything that the ministry was coming into in the future will come into jeopardy. Also, similar temptations are there especially for young single men who travel by themselves in the ministry and don't keep themselves protected and accountable. Pornography is trying to lure all of us. This stronghold is after us on the internet, it's after us in the video store, and it's after us in magazines, to name a few.
26. Another tactic that the enemy will use is in the area of fantasy. Sometimes women fantasize about a relationship; they're waiting for that "prince." Kathryn Kuhlman just about threw away her whole ministry for a man. The relationship seemed to offer her everything that she needed in the natural, especially the emotional comfort. The guy was even a Christian in the ministry himself. But something happened to the anointing and God told her to cut off the relationship with this man. It wasn't even that she was in sexual sin.
27. Ungodly soul ties go hand in hand with acts of immorality. Men and women can mess up their lives by falling for the lie that they can date and dabble in a relationship until their right marriage partner comes along. "Well, it seems so right, God." But it's wrong and in the end it doesn't work out, and when you meet the one that is meant for you, there is unnecessary baggage, emotional pain, and bondage because of past relationships. I don't believe in dating in the kingdom of God! I believe we can ask the Lord, "What man is meant for me?" Or, "God, what woman is meant for me?" I believe that God has a marriage partner for you. And you don't need to "try before you buy." That's a dangerous game. There is no trying and buying in the kingdom of God -- let's see if I like this one or if I like that one. God has an Eve for you. God has an Adam for you. I say, "Wait for your mate!" And don't mess around with some other woman's husband and don't mess around with some other man's wife.
28. Don't let the devil destroy your promise because of temptation. "It's mutual, we're just friends. We can hang out at night at 3 a.m." The next thing that happens is that you're in sin, guilt, and condemnation. Then the devil rubs your face in it, and he begins to accuse you and then you don't even feel worthy to be what God said you should be. So you just give up and keep on sinning anyways because "I blew it already so I might as well keep on going." See how the spirit of Babylon works? If you fall down, don't let the devil keep kicking you! Get up! "Do not rejoice over me, my enemy; when I fall, I will arise; when I sit in darkness, the Lord will be a light to me" (Micah 7:8). If you've blown it, make it right with the Lord and others. Then leave it behind, go on, be wise, and be on guard. Because the second tactic is that the enemy wants to keep us locked in guilt and condemnation for the damage we have done. But when you've made it right, you've made it right.
29. Amorite means pride and rebellion, proud, boasting, bitter and rebels.
30. The Amorites made their home in the thin air of the mountains. Amorite represents also haughtiness, self-edification, unforgiveness, and self-righteous attitudes. Now if the devil doesn't get us drawn into unforgiveness, bitterness, and rebellion, he'll try to get us into being self-righteous. "Well, I'm doing pretty well. I don't struggle with the same things that Bob or Sue struggle with. I don't know why you just can't get free of that problem that you've been struggling with for the past five years. I had no problem getting free." "How come you can't pray an hour a day? I pray two hours a day. You can't even get your life together and pray an hour a week? What's wrong with you?" And these self-righteous attitudes come up. I've come into moments of self-righteousness. We begin to accuse, judge, and criticize because we're feeling pretty good about how we're doing.

31. There are times when we feel pretty good when we've been doing all the right stuff! And even in that, we're in sin because we're feeling pretty self-righteous about how well we're doing! Before we know it, though, we find ourselves looking over at brother or sister so-and-so down the nose, and we're thinking, What's your problem? I've only been saved five years. How come you're not getting it together by now? You've been walking with the Lord Jesus for 20 years!
32. Self-righteousness comes from pride. Rebellion, unforgiveness, bitterness, and holding on to "issues" go hand in hand with pride, too. All of these areas just mentioned can be summed up like this: "You don't understand how much they hurt me. I can't let go of this." In the natural it seems right. There is injustice all over it in the natural. I know people that are kept from their prophetic promise and destiny and they will never come into what God has for them because they have a problem with leaders. "Well, I don't need to go to that church over there. That pastor doesn't even move in half the revelation that I move in so who does he think he is trying to speak into my life! He doesn't even know what he is talking about. I'm healing the sick. I'm out there doing the stuff. I'm casting out demons. God is using me in power. I am moving in the gifts of the spirit and I don't need to be in that church over there. I have way more than they have anyway. They are a dead church and I don't need to be there if they aren't going to let me do the stuff that I want to do, so I'm just going to do it over here. Who needs them anyway? I only need God's endorsement. I only need God's ordination."
33. Yes, we need God's endorsement and His ordination, but that's only a half truth. We need to be careful not to get into a spirit and attitude of rebellion with leaders -- apostles, prophets, pastors, teachers, and evangelists. If we do, we'll never go anywhere in what God has for us. We need to be accountable to people in authority and allow mature people and leaders to speak into our lives. As well, we need to be plugged into a church where God wants us to be. Otherwise we'll just do our own thing and get into pride and rebellion with an attitude that says, "Who do they think they are?"
34. Hivites means lie openly.
35. This tribe represents a type of the spirit of humanism. This spirit is represented as a serpent. Humanism is one of the strongest, if not the strongest, of all evil spirits at work in the world today. It is the exaltation of man (self-exaltation) to the place of God. This spirit manifests an attitude that says: "Let's forget about God and do it ourselves." Or "I'm getting tired of waiting for God to do what He said He was going to do. So if God doesn't get it done by this deadline, I'm going to go out here and I'm going to do it myself. I don't need God. I don't need anybody. I can just get it done myself."
36. The spirit of humanism is at work in the feminist movement today. I believe that women can take their position of authority and take their position in ministry and government. But the "feminist spirit" is the spirit of humanism that says, "Just forget about God and men! We're going to do this ourselves and if you get in our way then we are just going to run you over." This spirit, this attitude, is getting into the church. It's almost the spirit of Jezebel trying to exert itself into a place of authority through the feminist spirit and calling it "independence."
37. The spirit of humanism says, "I don't need God. Oh, that's good that you found a crutch, but I don't need something to lean on. I'm glad that you found something that helped you get off drugs and alcohol and gave you a purpose, that's good for you, but I don't need that. I'm doing fine myself. You're doing it that way and I'm doing it this way. We're both getting to the same place in the end." That's a bunch of baloney!
38. Remember, this spirit is shown in the form of a serpent and it's trying to keep us from God's promise and from our destiny. So let's look at Genesis 3:1. Here's how the spirit works: Now the serpent was more cunning than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said to the woman, "Has God indeed said, 'You shall not eat of every tree of the garden'?" Listen: For every prophetic promise, every prophetic destiny, and every promise from God's presence, the spirit of humanism is right there undermining God, saying, "Has God said?" This spirit casts doubt and suspicion, challenging the faithfulness of God and tries to brew mistrust. "Has God said? Was that really the word from God that you've been looking forward to for ten years?" It takes the place of God, exalting itself before God and coming alongside what God has promised saying "Has God said? Well if God said, then . . . ? Is that really what He meant?"
39. Soon we're tired, we're discouraged, and the kingdoms of this world just look so good. In this vulnerable condition, it's so much easier to compromise and live in the grey areas than to be an extreme, on fire, radical Christian, every day. It's so much easier just to slip on by and hope that one day we'll fly up into heaven. And we don't want to rock the boat as we go or push any > envelopes along the way! Let's just make it as best as we can; just me and Jesus. Of course we know that this mindset is wrong! Jesus told His disciples to be wise as a serpent and harmless as doves (Matthew 10:16). The serpent may be cunning, but the Lord will freely give us wisdom and discernment so that we can possess His promises and enter the Promised Land.

BIG, BIG GOD!

Before closing I just sense that we need to honor the Lord by believing what He has spoken to us. Choosing to believe what God has promised is an act of faith. It means that we're taking steps forward into the center of God's will and closer to the Promised Land. It would be so unfortunate for anyone reading this teaching to shrink back into unbelief and fear. You know, the apostle Paul spoke wisely when he said:

"Therefore do not cast away your confidence, which has great reward. For you have need of endurance, so that after you have done the will of God, you may receive the promise: 'For yet a little while, and He who is coming will come and will not tarry. Now the just shall live by faith; but if anyone draws back, My soul has no pleasure in him.' But we are not of those who draw back to perdition, but of those who believe to the saving of the soul." Hebrews 10:35-39

Keeping in mind the points that we have studied in this article, I want to invite you to examine your heart before the Lord. Take a look at where the enemy has been blocking and hindering God's promises from being fulfilled in your life. Are there areas of deception and white-washing? Are you gaining the victory over materialism, compromise, and fear? Do you know that the sins of your past are forgiven and forgotten by the Lord when they are confessed? Can you forgive yourself, too? Condemnation is not the children's bread -- the giants are our bread (Numbers 14:9)! So, I say, "LET'S EAT BREAD!"

With the right perspective, we can overcome the giants that are pitted against the fulfillment of God's promises in our lives! Last week we discovered how important it is to have the right mindset (the mind of Christ) or our perspective is wrong. We took a look at how the 10 spies negatively influenced the nation of Israel because their perception was off -- they forgot how powerful God is and, even worse, they didn't really believe His promise that they would inherit the Promised Land (Numbers 13 and 14).

Sometimes we look at those 10 spies as though they were "out of it!" After all, God recently parted the Red Sea and conquered the Egyptians on their nation's behalf. How could they have forgotten God's powerful hand of protection and deliverance? But you know, sometimes we need to point the finger at ourselves. We need to make a point of remembering all the times that the Lord has come into our circumstances with His powerful protection and deliverance. We actually honor the Lord when we believe and remember what He promises us. His words are forever true and He will help us overcome all obstacles in order to walk into those promises.

POSSESSING THE PROMISED LAND

To possess means to seize, to get, to lay hold of, to grasp, to dispossess our enemies. It means to occupy by driving out the tenants with force. It means casting out and destroying. God told the Israelites to go and spy out the land that He was giving them. Afterwards, when most of the people chose not to believe the good report of Joshua and Caleb, their unbelief cost them big time. Unbelief sucks the life out of faith and without faith they didn't have what it takes to be possessors, to be those who would dispossess the enemy. God couldn't bless their unbelief! Remember Moses said that God was going to give them the land of Canaan and the Lord was going to cast out their enemies before them (Deuteronomy 7:1). If they would have believed God, they would have seen miracles happen. They were probably hoping that if God delighted in them that He would take care of all the problems and they wouldn't have to work with Him and go into battle mode (Numbers 14:8) in order to possess the Promised Land.

God said to possess the land (Deuteronomy 7:1). In fact, it's quite a job to try and count the number of times, just in the book of Deuteronomy alone, that God told them to possess the land. Listen: If we want the promises of God to be fulfilled in our lives, we have to start possessing. It's aggressive. It means to lay hold of the promise. It means grasp the promise and occupy by driving out the tenants. It means cast out, destroy, and fight. It means if God isn't moving, then we'll move God because our actions are speaking louder than our words.

God will often ask, "How badly do you want this? Show me!" We need to be so hungry for what God has for us that we stir ourselves up to take hold of God's promises and then take action. We need to make sure that we're saying to God, "Here I am. Send me. I'm not letting go of the promise until you bless me. I am going to remind You of every word that I've received through the mouth of every prophet. I'm going to believe what You said, O God. I'm going to wait here, fast, pray, and press in as much as I have to until I receive what you said because I am not going to let it go!"

Sometimes I see believers with an attitude like they're just going to wait for sovereign "pie in the sky!" If a word is really from God, then one day it will fall out of heaven and they won't have to do anything! God will just wake them up one day and supernaturally zap them into a stadium and they'll start healing all the sick. If we're not laying our hands on those who are sick in our families and neighborhoods, we might as well forget about impacting thousands in stadiums in the nations! If we're not a witness at work, if we're not anointed to touch the people we come into contact with now, then we might as well forget about touching the thousands.

There has to be something in our hearts that is aggressive that takes the land, that presses in, that "make it happen attitude" that makes what God promised happen. My attitude is like this: I'm not just going to sit here and wait. I'm going to rise up and begin to go out there. I'm going to begin to let people know that I'm available. I want to do what I can in the natural as well as the spiritual. For instance, our ministry has a web site and we have a mailing list so that we can stay in touch with our partners every month. We carry tapes and products so that people who can't come to our conferences can also receive the revelation and teaching that we are receiving. Also, this part of the ministry helps to support us financially so that we can keep going.

When God calls and anoints us, we need good administration, good marketing, and good business skills to go hand in hand with the anointing that we have. One good strategy is to pray that God will send believers into our lives that have the skills that we don't have. But we need to be diligent to learn and develop any new skills that God is addressing and also sharpen the ones that we have already. "The soul of a lazy man desires, and has nothing; but the soul of the diligent shall be made rich" (Proverbs 13:4). When the natural and practical things are growing alongside our mature spiritual life, then we're in the right position for God to send us fully equipped into the nations.

When we have big crusades we don't just expect God to sovereignly bring over 100,000 people to the event. We buy commercials about the crusade on television, and we arrange for bulletins and mail outs. Yes, I'm making it happen and I'm not just waiting for it all to sovereignly happen. But I'm not doing it alone because I am co-laboring with God; we possess the land, every time we have a crusade.

When we dispossess the enemy and when we possess the Promised Land, we're actually of a different spirit than those who say they are unable to do it. Let's go back to the 12 spies! Caleb's perception was: "Let us go up at once and take possession, for we are well able to overcome it" (Numbers 13:30). The people's perception after they heard the bad report was: "We are not able to go up against the people, for they are stronger than we" (v. 31). The word "able" means that we have the power, we have the capacity to prevail or succeed. Listen: We can, but the decision is up to us. Do we want to? Are we going to possess? Are we going to dispossess? Are we going to walk forward in faith because God said, "This is the land that I am giving you. Now take it!"?

EXAMINING OUR HEART

If we're going to take the land, if we're going to possess the Promised Land, then we need to know the condition of our heart and what we really believe in so that we can deal with any areas that God puts His finger on.

So, I want to ask several important questions: What do you do the most and where do you spend most of your time? What do you read and watch the most? Your answers will reveal what you really believe in. Is it presence or pleasure? Maybe you thought it was presence and maybe you thought you were on fire. But now you realize that you're not on fire as much as you thought and the enemy has you locked into some areas of compromise. Or maybe your problem is fear and it's keeping you from stepping forward in faith into what God has already said. Just ask the Holy Spirit right now to come and reveal any area of your life that you need to let go. I want to invite you to join with me in prayer before we close this teaching.

PRAYER

Father, we want to ask for Your forgiveness for our unbelief. We repent for every way that our perspectives, mind sets, and beliefs have been out of Your will. We repent for our backsliding and we want to make a new commitment to You, Lord Jesus. Please cleanse us. We want to be restored to the lamp of Your first love.

Holy Spirit, please come and expose any of the tactics and schemes that the enemy is using to keep us from possessing the Promised Land. Please reveal what could be standing between us and the promise. What's keeping us from the fullness of our destiny? What's keeping us from our inheritance, God?

We want to overcome the giants and to militantly take what you have promised us and overcome every hindrance and obstacle. We want to be like Caleb and Joshua who had the right perspective. They knew what a big, faithful God You are and that You would help their nation to dispossess the giants and then take possession of the Promised Land.

Father, we thank You for writing Your promises to us upon our hearts. Today we are saying we are about to take our promise and go to war and stand against the giants in the land. God, please give us wisdom and divine strategy to fight them. With your help we can overcome them! God we believe Your promises to us are true and we know that You have a great plan, purpose, and destiny for us. Lord, we present ourselves to You as living sacrifices. If You will send us, we will go into the nations and tell whoever will listen, the gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

In the name of Jesus, we take authority today over every spiritual stronghold! We stand against those giants! Every tactic of the devil! In the name of Jesus, every giant that is trying to hinder and blocks us, we command to get out of the way of the Holy One! In the name of Jesus, we will no longer settle for less than Your perfect will! We will no longer be complacent! We are going to rise up and fight the good fight of faith!

The weapons of our warfare are mighty through God for the pulling down of strongholds. Father, let every giant stronghold in our belief system come down now! Be destroyed now! In the name of Jesus! We can do all things through Christ who strengthens us! We are more than conquerors, in the name of Jesus! Amen! Hallelujah!

Dividing The Land
Carol McCarthy

Dear Brothers & Sisters:

I was reading my daily devotional today and, the daily reading is from the Torah, (right now, I'm in Deut., Ps., and Is....and, in the New Covenant....the Book of Revelation). But, I sensed a real "NOW" word to us regarding Israel....and, all that's coming against her in this hour....dividing the Land. I'm in Is. 36 & tomorrow will be Is. 37. This, of course, is about Sennacherib of Assyria boasting against the Lord and His Land and People. The marginal notes in my Bible tell of Hezekiah's & Isaiah's prayers... that caused God to intervene in the situation with His Almighty Power.

More notes....."The Assyrian monarch invaded Judah (territories now!!), took 46 fortified cities, carried away 200,000 people, and shut up Hezekiah in Jerusalem like a bird in a cage. BUT, NOTE, how Isaiah and Hezekiah went to prayer, their anguish over Sennacherib's Blasphemy of God's Name rising ABOVE their ANXIETY for Jerusalem."

Adonai Eloheim.....is still waiting for His People to cry out to Him for deliverance & intervention....and, not trust in their "allies", nor their arm of flesh (military & politically). As then and now, in the time when Assyria was about to completely blot out Israel as a nation. The Messianic promise of God's kingdom's eventually triumphing on earth was in the balance. THE EVER IMPORTANT LESSON HERE IS: the power of persistent, diligent...crying out to God for the Church & for Israel....can & will turn God's face toward those in ANY IMPOSSIBLE SITUATION, and break the powers of darkness and our enemies.

More than letting our political representatives know that "dividing the Land" is wrong.....we, and the Body of Messiah, especially in Israel, must get on our faces and plead to God to intervene and save the Nation. God has used much and many through the centuries....to discipline Israel.....because as His Word says....His judgments DO produce repentance and righteousness. ISRAEL "MUST" see their desperate, need for God's intervention, and hearts and minds that will be open to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

God is doing things HIS WAY....so far beyond any of our understandings.....and, we must remember that HE IS STILL IN CONTROL....and the Israel/Palestinian situation has not surprised Him, nor escaped His notice. He'll use it to His Glory.....however, that may look presently.

In Christ Our Lion of Judah,

The Final Act Of This Age
Carol McCarthy

As Christian believers we are the people of destiny. Our generation now faces the divine drama at the climax of history. As the curtain opens on this final act each one of us will discover that we have a vital role to play. God knew that we would be alive in this hour. And the choices we have made in times past now cause us to pause and re-evaluate our situation. Why are we are now finally recognizing God's voice above all others? Because. as Galatians 4:4 says.. "but, when the fullness of time had come, God sent forth His Son, born of a woman.." There is a designated time for everything in life. God's Word also says. "To everything there is a season, a time for every purpose under heaven". Ecc.

3:1

From the end of the Old Testament to the beginning of the New Testament, there was a span of time, of a little over 400 years. when God was silent. Many lived and died without knowing or hearing His voice through the prophets or the priests. God's silence "spoke volumes" to them, though, revealing His displeasure of a people who turned to their own ways, living unrepentant lives.

Amazingly, as this 21st century generation emerges on the scene, God's clear voice is once again being heard, by those who have ears to hear. And not just ears to hear, but, eyes to see. God is moving in unprecedented ways across the earth in the natural realm and also in the spiritual realm.

We are seeing "natural" events unfold before us. Wars, rumors of wars, real hatred between ethnic people groups, whole governments falling, epidemics without a cure in numerous nations, drought, famine, severe weather pattern changes, earthquakes, and volcanic eruptions. And, this is all happening simultaneously with more intensity than ever before.

God is speaking to His people, much louder than in times past. He is telling us that the season has changed, and that we are no longer just in the end times, but at the "end of days". Knowledge has increased just as His Holy Word has said. Men's hearts are failing them for fear of what is coming upon the earth. Yet, in all that is coming upon mankind in this hour, God has prepared a people who are ready to enter this pivotal moment of time in the world, with the antidote and answer for all chaotic woes the earth is suffering.

The God of all creation, the Captain of all the hosts of heaven, is fully at the helm in this hour. He has a remnant, a people who have been hidden in the shadow of His wings. They have been taught by His Spirit through His Word. God's master plan of history, as we know it, is culminating as the powers of darkness contend with the powers of heaven. God has chosen a people who love Him passionately without reservation, and are fearless in the face of the legions of hell.

Herein is the "patience of the saints" spoken of by the Apostle John in the Book of Revelation. (Rev.14:12) That final act of this age will see Gods end-time congregation tried as by fire. And a chosen remnant, will overcome all hindrances and obstacles, whether great or small to bring in the final witness and victory. (Dan.12) The very essence of the life of Jesus inside each believer will withstand every assault from the enemy of our souls.

"And they (we) overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their (our) testimony, and they (we) did not love their (our) lives to the death." (Rev. 12:11) We are the privileged people of whom the prophets spoke and who would be alive at the coming of the Lord. We are preparing the way of the Lord by being those who by our holy conduct and godliness are looking for and hastening the "coming day of God". (2 Peter 3:11-12) We are the ones "building ourselves up in our most holy faith, praying in the Holy Spirit. keeping ourselves in the love of God". "And, on some have compassion, making a distinction, but, others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire, hating even the garment defiled by the flesh." (Jude 20-23)

The Lord our God has given us a task and responsibility as no other previous age has known. Technology and science has catapulted us into both the best and worst of times. What we are seeing and experiencing in this hour is not unlike what H. G. Wells prophesied in his novels which then seemed so far-fetched to his generation.

This final divine drama of the age was pre-ordained from the foundation of the world. Our sovereign God, the possessor of heaven and earth, is the choreographer. And the stage that is now being set. Jesus Christ is the Bright and Morning Star, and we, His Church, His Chosen People, and Royal Priesthood, have been mandated to stand alongside Him in this final production. The revelation of the knowledge of the glory of the Lord is being displayed in explicit ways and no longer veiled in secrecy or confusion.

The validity of God's own Word is moving into hearts and places that were once closed to Him. The Church has taken an "about face" if you will, to her plans, agendas, and programs to reach the masses. Finally, coming into that place of worshipping Him in Spirit and Truth, (John 4:23-24) facilitating the final things spoken of in the Word of God to take place.

The angels in heaven and earth, stand in amazement. Their Creator is allowing men and women, who were created a little lower than themselves, to be a vital part of God's final act. Even, as of now, many of those angelic beings have set the trumpets to their lips, ready and set for the baton of God to orchestrate the streams of people and nations to move in unison to either eternal salvation or eternal torment, separated from the splendor and beauty of God.

Now is the time to let the light of God shine by His Spirit who lives within us and to be those emissaries who will give the true answer to the world's dilemma. This world has never achieved that elusive man-made utopia. God has placed us as tools in His hand to implement His Work. We are called to bring His Word to a people who are otherwise perishing and without hope.

We now stand upon a precipice. Humankind faces cataclysmic events of a magnitude never seen before. But we, His people, will endure to the very end because He is the God of peace. He is our mighty, strong tower. He is our safety and the very essence of His life inside us causes us to be bold and courageous in this hour.

We are seeing kingdoms, nations, and leaders sweat almost drops of blood over what is coming on the earth. They are perplexed, wringing their hands in dismay. Yet, this is also the time for the Church to arise, fearlessly preaching the Gospel, setting the captives free, healing the sick, raising the dead, and truly loving each other with the love of God.

Jesus told His disciples, (including us), to watch and pray, lifting up your heads for your redemption draws nigh. His Kingdom work will be completed before He returns to earth to sit upon His throne. All His enemies will have been vanquished, including death. No more darkness, war, poverty, or sickness. His rule and reign shall begin, and the peoples of the earth will stream to His Presence. Therefore, we say with all the generations that have preceded us,

"The Spirit and the bride say 'come'. And let him who hears say, 'come'. And let him who thirsts come. Whoever desires, Let him take of the water of life freely." (Rev. 22:17)

Don't Just Walk In This Water, Drink It

Vicky Adams

Get ready for a new outpouring of renewal anointing. Others have said "that’s enough" I’m looking for congregations who will continue to ask for more! You’ve barely stepped out into the rivers of Grace & Glory. Step out more & I’ll give more!

The next stream is a stream of purity & righteousness. Don’t just walk in this water…be like Gideon’s army & drink it. Purity in the mouth is a great "flood gate" to more being poured out. Many say, "Yes Lord" & "more" with their mouths but their lives say no. Kindness on the lips & servant hands…these will be greatly rewarded with lips of glory & hands of power.

Don’t be afraid of the wine press. For Holy drunkenness to manifest consistently the wine press must continue to move! Stay in the pressure cooker & be tenderized. Relax in the Heat of purifying fires! Breathe in more grace& blow out anxieties & then the new births will manifest! Be willing to be like midwives for one another other churches & other nations.

The Fountain flowing isn’t just deep & wide. It’s clean & sweet. It’s thick with comfort. It’s living revelations to play in, roll in, splash at one another. I want my fountain flowing continuously here but the price must be paid… TOTAL Surrender! That’s where the fun begins. Who for the joy set before him despising the shame…endured the cross! It all starts at the cross! Love it!

Draw Near To My Side

Yolanda Ballard

Mar 19, 2005Every time that I call you to My side I expect you to come and that is always, because if you don't then you remain vulnerable to the enemy's devices and warfare. Many have fallen prey to the enemy only because they have given into a spirit of pride in independence and was subjected to trials of testing that need not be. Remain faithful to Me, and I will give you My crown of life which enables you to fight the enemy from the place of freedom and victory. Otherwise you will wear the ties and fetters of bondage and manipulation from the enemy.

This is the day to break lose of all that has held you back so that you can run the race freely in Me. Examine your own heart to see if your motives in ministry are truly of Me or are they used for making a name for yourself. Many have fallen prey to the spirit of pride only because they have given into the flattery the enemy uses through those who are far from Me. Don't look to be a vessel of honor for display but be a vessel of honor only because of your fruits of humility and servitude towards the body of believers in which you dwell.

Glorify My name only and lift up My words and never those of your self. Step back and make sure that the ministry that you have is truly of Me. Are you bringing encouragement and exhortation to My bride, or are you bringing items for discussion that only ends in bondage? There are many in the camp that spread stories that are steeped in deception. They have listened to the twisted lies of the evil one and have spread rumors about My Son's death and resurrection that are not true.

I said never to add or take away from My words. Do not read in heresy between the lines of My truth. You know who you are who are bringing division to My body, and you need to wake up to My most holy truth and only say what I say and not what you have heard for you will be judged for every vain and idle word that did not stem from the mouth of My Son.

So listen to Me this day. Humble yourself before My mighty throne of grace, and I will lift you up and set you free from the bondage of independence. I will wash you clean and give you a new beginning in Me. Cast aside the lies of the evil one, and seek My Spirit of truth to teach you what you need to do to undo the lies planted in your heart from your forefathers. Yes, this is a new day to be free and clean in Me, says your God.

Do Not Give Place to the Devil

Dorothea Montague

http://www.angelfire.com/in/hislove montagud@telus.net

O, My precious children, I say unto you, I am grieved and sorrowed when I see you being buffeted about by the devil, your great enemy. I perceive that you are allowing him to attack from every side and you are not engaging in warfare against him. I have given you the weapons of warfare to have victory over all that he can bring against you.

...nor give place to the devil. (Ephes. 4:27

Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. (Ephes. 6:11)

Therefore submit to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you. (James 4:7)

My children, you must seek to receive the power of My Holy Spirit and learn to walk in it.

However, when He, the Spirit of truth, has come, He will guide you into all truth. (John 16:13a)

But God has revealed them to us through His Spirit. For the Spirit searches all things, yes, the deep things of God. (1 Cor. 2:10)

Now He who searches the hearts knows what the mind of the Spirit is, because He makes intercession for the saints according to the will of God. (Rom. 8:27)

O, My children, seek to be filled with My Holy Spirit and witness the anointing and power you will have for ministry. I am bringing My saints into a new realm of My glory where nothing shall be impossible for you and wonders and miracles shall abound. Are you looking with troubled hearts at the mountains of adversities in your life? Then you are not accepting the truth of My Word for I have said....

...for assuredly I say to you, if you have faith as a mustard seed, and you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you. (John 17:20b)

O, My little ones, begin to speak in power to every mountain in your life and see it move out of your life. Try Me and see if I will not fulfill every promise in My Word. Begin to ask for those things you have need of, according to My Word, believe that My Word is truth and see it come to pass.

And all things, whatever you ask in prayer, believing, you shall receive. (Matt. 21:22)

If you ask anything in My name, I will do it. (John 14:14)

~ Believe for healing as you pray for the sick. ~ Believe that I will supply your needs as you pray. ~ Believe that I will answer your prayers for yourself and others.

I am at work in the lives of all who are faithfully serving Me, strengthening you and preparing you to meet the tumultuous times that shall ever increase around the world. You shall truly walk in the supernatural realm where you shall have victory over anything that shall come against you.

My beloved people, I am calling you to diligently study My Word. Observe the multitude of promises contained therein and see if I will not bring them to pass in your lives as you believe. Study also what has been foretold to take place in the latter days and which shall surely come to pass. O, My people, you need to spend much time in prayer for My guidance for your preparation for ever worsening times of tribulation. As you pray I shall open up for you great opportunities for you to minister to people and see wonders and miracles follow you wherever you go. This is the supernatural living I am bringing you into where you will powerfully impact all whom you meet.

Do not allow doubt to come upon you but know that I shall use you for ministry beyond anything you have ever dreamed or imagined. As you trust in Me I shall keep you strong and supply your every need for ministry. Go forth in the power of My Holy Spirit and win your world for Me.

Do Not Judge
Catharina Schouten – Meijer

I will bless them who will bless you and I will curse them who will curse you!

This morning something happened: I was talking on the phone with someone… This person told me: They are gossiping a lot about us, so then you know, Suddenly I felt the presence of our Father, so deep, I can not describe it. This afternoon He spoke to me:

"I Am the I Am. All things on this earth are from Me, all things above the earth under the earth, and what is living on this world. Congregations House Groups Ministry's are suppose to be from ME! I Am the one who give's the people their calls.
I Am the one who tell `s people to steward a Ministry , a Congregation or a Home Group.
In these days you will see what is born out of Me and what is born out of people.

But still I ask from you: DO NOT JUDGE!
It is on ME I am the one who can really tell you who is a David and who is a Saul. I say to you: DO NOT JUDGE!
Because with the measure you judge you will be judged!

To the ones that are being judged and I call in Ministry I say:

Stand up, and MY light I will shine over you, and if they judge you, every word they curse you with shall be returned on their own heads. Do not be tempt to judge them.
I Am the Lord it is My task to do that!
Drink for a short moment the bitter water, the water My people refused.

In this water are elements that will help you make your bones strong (attitude and character) and there are elements that will remove your sin that you have taken with you when you left your Egypt …(Purification)

To both of you the ones that judge and the ones who are been judged I say:

STOP! Don't do this anymore realize that I Am the Lord your God! Every time you judge a Ministry or a person you judge ME! You fight against ME!
And to know for sure if this Ministry is out of peoples flesh is not upon you to know.
That is MINE to do. I tell you: Love your enemies!
O you of little faith who do you think you are that you can do what is MINE to do!!!!"

Unity In The Spirit Part 2
Catharina Schouten - Meijer

tesjoeva@zonnet.nl

Translation: Jan Pruis

The Lord keeps reminding me that He wants us to let Him have His way in building unity and oneness in the Body of Christ…..

I was happy to receive a number of positive responses to my last article .One person wrote that the Lord had shown her exactly the same a few weeks ago and had further made clear to her that at times He even allows us to be separated from each other for a season...He is the Lord Who tears and heals us, who smites and binds us up(Hosea 6:1-3).No matter how noble and lofty it may be what we want to accomplish for God and His kingdom, as long as it is is done in the power of our own flesh it’s worth less than nothing in God’s eyes!

But…. if the instrument finally gets to that place where it is willing and able to truly declare “Father, Your will be done”, then and only then there is tumult in the enemy’s camp and the evil one will be aroused to action and declare war to us…….

Strange feeling

Do you recognize this? You sense something is going on, you’ve got this eerie and outlandish feeling and your intuition tells you it is there.

But if someone happened to ask you “What is it then?” you wouldn’t be able to utter anything close to a sensible answer…..Only a couple of hours ago I prayed with someone who had this very feeling….

The woman told me that the Lord had asked her two or three days ago:

“Dare you really trust ME ? Would you mind to surrender and set out with Me, without Me telling you where exactly we are heading?”

Actually, the Lord asked me this very same question, a long long time ago….At that occasion He told me: “Abraham took leave of his kindred at My request, without even once wondering what in the world it might be he was supposed to journey to and how it was all to get into effect – he simply took off and trusted Me!”

‘Lech Lega’, as it is written in the original Hebrew manuscript, also means: Get out of your self!

This is not meant in the way the New Age community puts it, but in the way it is ordained by our totally trustworthy Father: “Leave it all to Me, lay your own plans and ambitions down at My feet and I will show you the way!”
Anyway, just as I had done at the time this sister of ours had said ‘yes’ to the Lord and surrendered herself!

But right from that moment on this strange, suppressive and undescribable feeling came upon her……

At the very moment she told me this, the Spirit revealed to me the following:
From the moment that we totally surrender and yield to the leading of the Spirit of God, the Holy Spirit, satan and his demons set out to make our lives miserable….

He attacks us in our thought life!

You can not lay a finger to it, but yes you do experience unrest and uneasiness… just as if you've done something wrong, but you do not have the slightest clue as to what it might be…..

Like no other satan knows that from the moment you have surrendered, he loses his grip on your life…..And so he fights back!

Thank God we could pray together and break every assault on her mind, whereafter we could pray out God's hedge of protection around herself, her family and all her private circumstances!

The blood of JESUS breaks all demonic strongholds!

And you know, if the Lord wants to make something clear to you, then He will be crystal clear!

The Holy Spirit is unambiguous whenever He wants to convict us of sin. He won't allow you to be tossed around in an endless roller coaster ride of fear, unrest, anxiety and feelings of guilt without you being able to find out what exactly it is that you might have done wrong….The Lord is so clear and loving…..His admonishment doesn't hurt, it is bright and clear and it enables you to deal with the sin in question by honestly acknowledging (confessing) it to Him…

Back now to the unity in the Spirit!

Total, unconditional surrender implies that you hand over the keys of your 'kingdoms' to God and allow HIM to take care and control of everything that pertains to you, including your relationships, friendships and your marriage!

HE knows what you don't know, HE sees what you don't see!

And unity will come! Someone thought that the idea of an army of which I wrote lately, wasn't exactly a scriptural sound concept…..Well, let me assure you: The Lord is the Lord of HOSTS….. In fact, the world 'Lord' itself implies an army. His very Lordship is exemplified in His being the Lord of Hosts! Especially in the Dutch Willibrord translation we read about an army quite a lot……No, this is not an army armed with cannons, tanks and uniforms….This is Us, the Bride of Christ, a Bride with Boots on, marching on as one in His Spirit!

But, again… He is the Chief Commander, the One Who builds and makes us one…..Some of us go through the experience that while they are rising up in the Spirit, they have to leave people, dear ones even, behind…..not in strife or bitterness or strife, no, but just because of the very awareness that we are already one in Him….
Anyway, sometimes we simply do have to be separated from each other for a while. Only He knows why…..
He builds, He walks, we follow!

Father spoke to me as follows: "Joseph caught on doing the work he had to do….
He simply did what his hand found to be done….He left it up to Me to engineer restoration between him and his brothers! And…

I brought that restoration….I tore down and I healed them…."

Conclusion:

Do you want to surrender to God and yield to His plan for you and the world?
Let me assure you that saying ‘YES’ is the best thing that you could ever do in your entire life…..

At the same time… be aware that the evil one will do all that is in his power to bring you to doubt again….

But, in the very Name of JESUS resides all authority over the evil one and his demons!

You may proclaim it right now:

Satan, in the precious Name of JESUS I break your power over my thoughts and my mind….JESUS is King and Lord over all my thoughts!

*"cast down imaginations, and every high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, and bring every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ.”*2 Corinthians 10:5)

Just throw yourself in the Mighty arms of our Heavenly Father! Surely, He thinks thoughts of peace toward you and me, toward HIS Family, to give us hope in our latter end! (Jeremiah 29:11)

Amen!

Do Not Look At The Size Of What Hinders You

Jane Larsen

But Sihon king of Heshbon refused to let us pass through. For the Lord your God had made his spirit stubborn and his heart obstinate in order to give him into your hands, as he has now done. Deut 2:30

There are no obstacles on the path that I have placed you, only victories. Do not look at the size of what hinders you, look at me, Almighty God. In your hand I have placed a sword, in your mouth is my word, in front of you is Victory. Your feet are shod with peace, your helmet is of salvation. I supply all that you need to conquer what lies ahead.

Go from strength to strength. It is not your strength that is needed, for I give you mine in your time of need, your time of warring, your time of marching forward. While others fall around you, march on. When others hold back, march on. When others try to stop you, march on, for I have placed you on this path and I will direct you in all your ways.

Do not grow weary, do not look away. Before you is the crown, before you is the victory, before you is the Kingdom. I have set your feet on safe ground, I have made a way in the wilderness, a path in the desert, an oasis from the heat. I will sustain you. I will be with you all the way.

I know what stands in the path in front of you. I walked there before you. I ensured you would be safe. I prepared you for such a time as this, and supplied all you would need to see you through. Angels guard you, my word empowers you, the enemy will flee from you. Do not stop along the way nor be distracted by what you see. Victory is mine.

Determine Now To Not Look Backward

Mary Lindow

A prophetic Word from the Holy Spirit through

Do you not say, 'Four months more and then the harvest'? I tell you, open your eyes and look at the fields! They are ripe for harvest. John 4:35

PLANT YOUR FEET AND DETERMINE NOT TO LOOK BACKWARD.

The enemy will assault you to press you backwards. Have I not said, "without a prophetic vision the people perish and go backwards?"

I am ready to revisit areas that have advanced my purposes but retreated at the day of battle.

THIS IS THE BEGINNING OF THE SHAKING OF GOVERNMENTS.

There must be a confrontation of governments. My government on earth is arising and causing entire regions to shake. I am restoring and rising up leaders.

IN THE PAST SEASON, MY GIFT WITHIN LEADERS COULD NOT FIND ITS PLACE IN MY GOVERNMENT.

However, now I am causing governments and gifts to divinely “find one another." To connect. This is creating great shakings from region to region throughout this land. This alignment is creating a shift in civil government.

TODAY IS A DAY OF BREAKING OFF THAT WHICH CAUSED MY LEADERS TO RETREAT FROM THE VISITATIONS OF THE PAST.

Many advanced and then quit and retreated!

NOW IS A TIME TO ADVANCE!

I am restoring many of you to lead this advance.

There will be great connections occurring in my body in this advance.

This will be the beginning of confronting sorceries, astrology, and witchcraft, which have produced control. I am sending you forward and I am releasing supernatural wisdom. This wisdom will cast down the sorcerers, astrologers, and those practicing witchcraft throughout regions.

LOVE AND CONFIDENCE IS ARISING IN MY BODY.

The past three years have been a time of restoring a level of worship, humility, meekness and purity in your calling and boldness in the choices you make!

FROM WORSHIP YOU WILL NOW MOVE INTO A NEW SUPERNATURAL DIMENSION.

DO NOT FEAR THIS CALL TO THE SUPERNATURAL!

The Baal systems of this nation will begin to strengthen to keep my new refreshing strategies from forming and advancing in your region. Do not fear these systems, but keep confronting through prayer the powers that have attached themselves to the structures of governments in your region.

I WILL MAKE YOU INTO A SUPERNATURAL PEOPLE WHO CAN RISE UP AND OVERTHROW THAT WHICH HAS CONTROLLED YOU IN THE PAST.

My people are becoming a new, sharp threshing instrument. This threshing is producing shaking. This shaking is releasing harvest. The harvest will not rot in the fields of neglect or laziness.

THIS IS THE BEGINNING OF A POWERFUL CONSUMING FIRE.

When these occult structures are overthrown, consuming fire will sweep through this nation. And you will set my name upon the high places! My all-consuming light will address the idols and temples of religious shame and control.

I HAVE GIVEN SO MANY WHO CALL THEMSELVES “MY ANOINTED” MUCH MUCH TIME TO DEAL WITH THE HIDDEN SINS.

Sins in their marriages. Sins of competition, jealousy over who is used by me, and harsh verbal words of shame used to control and break the will of another servant in my calling. Some have called themselves my servants but have only served their own purposes in a place of self-comfort and self-promotion, letting others do the labor in prayer.

“But they did not listen or pay attention; instead, they followed the stubborn inclinations of their evil hearts. THEY WENT BACKWARD AND NOT FORWARD.” Jeremiah 7:24

Deal with your weak and cowardly attempts at holiness through repentance and honesty of heart before me and others whom you have been walking in fellowship with. The days of personal ambition and hierarchy are numbered.

MY FIRE MUST BE IN YOUR HEART!

The fear of the divine supernatural is to be removed from you. Many have fallen into fear over the supernatural spirits that have surrounded them. Therefore, they have retreated in their prayer life and fallen into passivity.

“But be sure to honor the LORD and serve him faithfully with all your heart; consider what great things He has done for you.” 1 Samuel 12:24

THIS IS THE BEGINNING OF A NEW DAY. PLANT YOUR FEET.

The window of opportunity for change is short and sweet. This will be a time that night watches are re-formed in your region, and I will revisit you in the night watch. I will visit my bride as I described in the Song of Solomon and knock upon her door. This is not a time for hesitation. Night watches will spring forth across the nations. Once again these watches will open the door to me, and I will come again. Therefore, I am calling watchmen to rise up and cry out day and night for my bride to be positioned near the door of opportunity in these lands. Be positioned, ready to open the door of opportunity in your nation.

MY BRIDE MUST NOT HESITATE TO OPEN THE DOOR SINCE HARVEST IS WAITING TO COME THROUGH THE DOOR INTO THE STOREHOUSE OF MY KINGDOM!

MY WILL HAS BEEN ACTIVATED ON EARTH.

I AM ADVANCING.

ADVANCE WITH ME.

I WILL LEAD YOU INTO WARFARE.

Many have grown fearful of confronting the enemy. I came to destroy the works of the enemy. I confronted both legalism and liberalism. I say rise up in worship that you might confront. Without confrontation, your enemy, the legalist, will gain much strength against you and narrow the boundaries of your freedom. If you will align yourselves properly and allow your gift to work within my government, I will guide you like a troop into warfare and make you victorious.

WORSHIP IS ARISING. FROM WORSHIP, YOU WILL WAR!

For a sound of war is coming into the heart of my people.

"A time will come, however, indeed it is already here, when the true (genuine) worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and in truth (reality); for the Father is seeking just such people as these as His worshipers." John 4:23

DO NOT GO BACKWARDS.

Take off the old garments that would hinder you. My advance is now in the earth. You have been blinded from the supply of the future.

A NEW SEER ANOINTING IS ABOUT TO ARISE IN MY PEOPLE.

What you couldn't see in the past, you will now see. You've tried to connect and align with some, but now I will release a new anointing for connecting. You will see strategies of supply that have been hidden from you by occult powers.

The seer anointing is coming back into your region. My people's eyes are about to see their supply. Advance is now in the earth.

Open your eyes and advance with me!

You will know Me as the Great Provider.

You will know Me as the Great Healer.

You will see Me bring fulfillments and answers to My many promises! Yes!

You will now begin to release a manifestation of My joy of release from captivity from region to region throughout this land and in all nations crying out for more of Me!

"He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, For the old order of things has passed away." Revelation 21:4

Do Not Panic
Tammy Lea Irvin

The word The Lord gave this morning.......

DO Not Panic,
Be Full Aware of the Tricks And Schemes of the enemy....
Never Have I left you And Never will I Forsake you.............
Your enemy Is a Defeated Foe...........
So Praise Me in And Thru Out all................
The enemy would have you focus on him,
Yet, I say look and see what I am doing for is he not but a pon in My Hand........
Yes, I am exposing All the Thoughts and Intents of the Hearts of man....................
Yet, Do I not always expose them to you Personally to be dealt with..........
But, the enemy would to expose the nakedness unto shame........
Yet, Be on guard and hold the Cloak of Humility tightly around, allow no place for the enemy........
For if place is allowed will not your nakedness not be seen also when he is exposed.
You will see the wicked exposed more and more................
Yet, be warned of the subtlety of you adversary.............
Do Not Be Pulled in to his trap I am letting you see it Now............
Fix Your eyes On Me and you will not stray off the path that I have set before.......
Walk In Obedience to Me, That is My Will for you...........
Bind Me, about your Head, your Neck, your Arm, Set Me As A Seal upon your Heart...........
Praise Me, Praise Me, Radically Praise Me, And see If I will not Come Quickly, as your praises
Ascending My angels shall Descending To minister On your behave...........
So Praise Me in Song, Praise Me In Dance, Praise Me with all that is Within you...
And Watch Me Move................
For your enemy is a Defeated Foe.............

Descendants of Abraham

James Goll

Effective Intercession for the Descendants of Abraham -- Jew and Non-Jew Alike!"

1) Dream of Three Ancient Wells

Some time ago, I was given a vivid dream in which I saw three ancient wells. A woman came and stood beside each well. I heard the words, "Women are Wells." As I was awakened, I realized that this dream was about the life of Abraham. So, I then searched the Scriptures and found that Abraham fathered children with three women: Hagar, Sarah, and Keturah.

The Jews are not the only offspring that Abraham produced. In fact, there are three different ethnic, generational lines that together comprise Abraham's descendants. To pray effectively for the Middle East, we must look at the prophetic promises spoken for all the descendants of Abraham. Always remember, though, that "We do not wrestle against flesh and blood." The Arabs, the Persians, nor the Jews are the enemy! Our enemy is the powers of darkness that hold people captive. So, with this in mind, let's expand our horizons and receive God's heart for all the Middle East.

Let's look at the descendants of Abraham in the order in which they were birthed.

2) Praying for the Descendants of Hagar

> Scripture Promises Concerning Ishmael
> "'And as for Ishmael, I have heard you; behold, I will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly. He shall become the father of twelve princes, and I will make him a great nation.' . . . And Ishmael his son was thirteen years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin." Genesis 17:20, 25 NASB
> "But God said to Abraham, 'Do not be distressed because of the lad and your maid; whatever Sarah tells you, listen to her, for through Isaac your descendants shall be named. And of the son of the maid I will make a nation also, because he is your descendant.' So Abraham rose early in the morning, and took bread and a skin of water, and gave them to Hagar, putting them on her shoulder, and gave her the boy, and sent her away. And she departed, and wandered about in the wilderness of Beersheba." Genesis 21:12-14 NASB
> "And God heard the lad crying; and the angel of God called to Hagar from Heaven, and said to her, 'What is the matter with you, Hagar? Do not fear, for God has heard the voice of the lad where he is. Arise, lift up the lad and hold him by the hand; for I will make a great nation of him.'" Genesis 21:17, 18 NASB

A Visionary Encounter - Ishmael Crying in the Desert

While seeking the Lord in one of our Israel Prayer watches, I was captured by hearing a voice of a young lad crying. I began to turn my attention more attentively towards the sound. As I did, a vision unfolded where I saw a desert where a young lad was crying. A mother came and hovered over him as he was sobbing.

As I continued looking in the Spirit, Genesis 17 and 21 became enlightened within my being. While meditating on this, the voice of the Holy Spirit said to me, "Remember, Ishmael also came from Abraham's seed."

Once again, the Holy Spirit convicted me suddenly and deeply. I began to cry out for all the seed of Abraham to come into its full destiny. I began to cry out for the descendants of Ishmael that for generations has been in great conflict with the descendants of Isaac.

I have declared publicly on many occasions in recent months, "The Islamic veil shall be pierced. Entire mosques shall be converted into 24/7/365 prayer and worship centers to the one true God of Yeshua -- Jesus -- the Messiah. Ishmael's cry shall be heard and a great nation shall come forth. Remember, Ishmael, too, comes from Abraham's seed!"

3) Praying for the Descendants of Sarah

Thirteen years after the birth of Ishmael, God appeared to 99-year-old Abram and said, "I am God Almighty" (Genesis 17:1). This is the first time in Scripture that God reveals Himself as "God Almighty" or, in Hebrew, El Shaddai, which means "All-Sufficient One." The Hebrew word shad is always translated as "breast." In the same way a mother provides all that is sufficient for her newborn's nourishment, God was about to reveal to Abram that he is all-powerful and able to satisfy with "blessings of the breasts and of the womb" (Genesis 49:25). This is also the way God chose to reveal Himself to Isaac, Jacob, and many others. It is the way that we must see God if we are to intercede on behalf of the descendants of Sarah.

God reassured Abraham that it was not Ishmael who would fulfill His promise of a child from his own body, though. The Lord stated:
"Sarah your wife will bear you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac [which means 'he laughs']; and I will establish My covenant with him for an everlasting covenant for his descendants after him . . . My covenant I will establish with Isaac, whom Sarah will bear to you at this season next year." Genesis 17:19, 21

Who Are the Descendants of Sarah?

Isaac was the only child that Abraham and Sarah had through their union. He, in turn, married the beautiful maiden Rebekah (Genesis 24:67). "Isaac prayed to the Lord on behalf of his wife, because she was barren; and the Lord answered him and Rebekah his wife conceived" (Genesis 25:21 NASB). Rebekah brought forth a pair of struggling twin boys named Esau and Jacob.

As time passed, Jacob treacherously stole the blessing of the firstborn son away from Esau. As the saga unfolded, Jacob had a heavenly encounter and wrestled with the angel of the Lord throughout the night; Jacob prevailed in this wrestling match, received a blessing, and his name was changed from Jacob, "the deceiver," to Israel. Now Israel, like Ishmael, the son of Hagar, became the father of many sons. Twelve tribes emerge from his lineage (see Genesis 30:1-24; 35:16-18). Israel brought forth twelve full tribes, and these became the descendants of Sarah who inherited the covenant promises of God.

One of these twelve sons of Jacob was named Judah, meaning "thanks" or "praise." The Messiah Himself is known as the Lion from the tribe of Judah (see Revelation 5:5). It is from the name Judah that the term Jew has derived. So, when we are praying for the descendants of Sarah and Abraham, we are calling forth the prophetic promises spoken over the Jewish people to come into completion.

4) Praying for the Descendants of Keturah

Abraham's wife Sarah lived almost forty years after the birth of Isaac (see Genesis 23:1, 2). Abraham loved Sarah dearly and must have experienced much grief at her loss. After finding an excellent wife for his son Isaac, Abraham took another wife, whose name was Keturah (see Genesis 25:2-4). From their union came six sons: Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak and Shuah.

Before Abraham died, he gave gifts to the sons of Keturah and sent them far away from his son, Isaac, to the land of the east (see Genesis 25:6). One of the sons of Keturah was Midian, the father of the Midianites. Some of the descendants of Keturah went to what was called Persia. Others were, apparently, scattered into Assyria.

Isaiah prophesied about the descendants of Keturah, saying: "A multitude of camels will cover you [Israel], the young camels of Midian and Ephah" (Isaiah 60:6). Remember, that Midian was a son of Keturah, and Ephah as her grandson. In the next part of this verse, Isaiah mentions yet another grandson of Keturah: Sheba. "All those from Sheba will come; they will bring gold and frankincense, and will bear good news of the praises of the Lord."

Where else have you heard of gold and frankincense together? They were two of the three gifts that the wise men brought to Jesus after His birth (see Matthew 2:1-12). I cannot confirm that the wise men were descendants of Keturah, but they did come from the east, where the descendants of Keturah had settled, and they certainly fit the description of Isaiah's prophecy.

Whether this prophecy was fulfilled literally at the birth of the Messiah or is a prophecy for the future yet to come, the minimum we can agree on is that there is prophetic destiny upon the children of Keturah. These people will rise up as people of wealth and will end up worshipping the one true God. They will bring forth praise to the Lord!

5) He Will Send a Champion!

All three national families of Abraham have, by and large, failed to recognize the true Messiah, who is Yeshua, our Lord Jesus Christ. The Jews are still looking for their Messiah to appear, while the others do not even realize that they need one. Although most accept Mohammed and Jesus as prophets, they do not believe that a Messiah is necessary. Still, the prophetic Scriptures predict that these descendants of Abraham will accept the true Messiah at a critical point in time.

I love the language of Isaiah 19:20: "He will send them a Savior and a Champion." A champion shall come. A messenger of the new covenant will be sent to turn away ungodliness from Jacob. A great spiritual revival is on God's agenda, and it will encompass all the descendants of Abraham throughout the Middle East, from the Nile River to the Euphrates.

God is the supreme multitasker. He can accomplish more than one thing at a time! Biblical prophecy indicates that alongside God's gathering of the outcasts of Israel to their homeland, he is setting the stage to do a great work among all the descendants of Abraham. Surprise us all, O Lord. Let it be so!

Days Of Awe And Glory

Dee Hoetmer

Beloved, the "big" thing you have waited for, that for which you have had expectancy in your hearts, is on the way!

The Days Of Awe And Glory are almost upon you. The fountain of living waters that flows from My throne will flow through your lives and that which you touch will be restored, where your foot treads will be given unto you.

Joshua 1:3 Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon, that have I given unto you, as I said unto Moses. Rev 21:5 And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. Rev 21:6 And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. Rev 21:7 He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son.

You will redeem the earth from the curse, operating since the fall of Adam and Eve, you will see signs and wonders and creative miracles your heart has longed to see.

Yes you have paid a great price to see My Glory, yes your way has become weary, but wait, I am coming to revive your spirit and to restore all things in greater measure than it was before.

Yes you have paid a price, yes you have held onto Me when all things seemed lost, seemed impossible. My Glory does not come without a price and you have counted the cost and walked the path of death to self anyway, loving Me more than the things of the world, than the things of the flesh. The days of divine recompense are upon you. That which you have sown will be reaped a hundred fold.

I have heard your cries of agony and despair, the days of Awe and Glory are soon upon you. Hold on to Me Beloved, hold on, do not give up the fight now, ask Me for perseverance and to restore hope to you. You are my Beautiful Beloveds, you will yet see the days of Awe and Glory!

Doors of Destiny

Susan Cummings

These past few days, the Lord has been showing me a series of things that he has for His people. With the many prophetic words and decrees that have gone forth over the internet concerning the New Year, I have hesitated to release anything into the mix. I have waited awhile longer for the Lord to complete this communication to me, so that the people of God would understand what I have been given.

It is not my intention to bring attention to myself in this encounter, but to show forth the hour of opportunity that each child of God has now come to, in the timing of God. Our lives are just a reflection of the Lords dealings in His People. We are transparent, so that He can be seen.

This is what I have been given:

I have had a reoccurring vision of standing in a darkened room or area and I am watching many windows or doors with long curtains hanging in front of them. Each of these openings have a single colored curtain, and each has a specific color or fabric. Some are brightly colored, while others are more pastel and some are more subdued in its brilliance. Others have unique fabrics and textures to them, and others have shimmering lights woven into them.

Each of the curtains are moving slightly, and it seems like a breeze is gently causing each to sway in the light breeze. There are also others doors that are further away from these that I see close up. I also discern that there are natural doors, like caves, and ones that are man made. But each has a purpose and a timing for its opening and closing.

As I am watching these curtains gently sway before their doors, I sense that the Lord is waiting for a response from me. I don't really know what to do, so I wait and watch. I know that the Lord will speak to me when He is ready or when I have received what I have been sent to learn. The Lord comes up next to me, and points at the doors with the curtains.

He says to me, "These are the doors that have been awaiting the release of those who will enter them, and fulfill their destiny." I look at each one again. Each is different, and each is made for that individual, that is why each had a unique color or quality, or so I thought. The Lord nodded.

"You are only partly correct. Each of My People have the same opportunity to serve Me. Each can come to Me, and obtain all that they need to walk out their destinies. Each has a specific calling and purpose, but each can choose and say no. I will not force anyone to come to Me, or to serve Me, or to walk out their walk. Each must desire Me above themselves or their own desires and plans."

"What you see before you are the doors of release that await you and My People who I have now brought forth. Each is a specific path for this hour, and each course will determine their final assignments. But take a close look and choose wisely. For each is a set course and cannot be altered nor exchanged after the choice is made, for time is short. For each one who chooses to serve Me, must utterly cast off their own will and pick up Mine, and then walk out that choice and it's following results."

"Each of the doors are also the release of gifts and different expressions of Myself that each will show when they walk forth into those doors. But what they express will also be affected by their amount of dying to their own selves. For what they cleave to of themselves will also come forth as they walk out their choice, as they allow their humanity to influence their destiny and their fruit that will come forth with it. I will explain it this way... If you do not entirely let go of all areas of your life and give them to Me, and fully allow Me to inhabit those areas, then what remains will taint My Presence and eventually cloud and distort the purity of My Reflection within you. The result will not be a full transformation, and will be a mixture."

"I desire that each of Mine will be a pure vessel. I am coming to all of My Children, and bringing them to their place of choosing. Whatever is in their hearts, will be what they will be drawn to. This will result in their final placement and portion. Each will serve Me, but what the results of that service will be, is up to them. I will not force anyone. Each will give their hearts to Me, or they will retain them. I will not force My Love upon anyone, nor receive forced Love that is not sincerely offered."

"What you see before you, is also your choice too. Look before you, and then choose your door." I looked at the Lord, and then back at the doors. I thought that I already had been released and knew the course that the Lord had for me. As I have been coming to the Lord and have received many changes in myself and my ways. I was confused as to the new shift and the new commission before me. The Lord watched as I struggled within myself and searched for understanding.

The Lord waited. He watched and waited for me to come to a choice. I had no choice. I could not make one. I did not want any of the doors before me, and could not identify with any of them. The Lord said, "The doors are for each to choose. Even you. Each much choose daily to serve Me, and to lay down their lives for Me and for the Harvest. There are many choices along the way. Each choice leads to another juncture and setting in My Timing for you, and then another choice is required. But in this Hour in the times of men. I am opening the final series of releases and am positioning My People into their places. So, you are at the season of new release, along with My People, and you will walk through and begin the next phase of your destiny. As will all of My People. Each to their own choice."

I looked at the doors. I went and drew closer to see them, and to view their curtains. Each door had a unique quality and set of events that would occur to the one who would enter into it. Each had a unique anointing that would be upon them and empower them to walk out that choice. Each had a specific gifting that would enable the individual to express the Lord uniquely in their walk. There were so many, and some were more compelling that the others.

Some had shining lights that glittered throughout the fabrics and compelled the viewer to their brilliance, it seemed. The one that I stood in front of was like this. I did not desire the brilliance of these lights nor the feeling of the brilliance of the lights as it seemed to illuminate the person and I drew back. I felt afraid of the beckoning lights and I sensed uneasiness about the door.

The Lord said to me, "This is good. Some of My People choose the more brilliant and public doors that bring great public exposure and brilliance, but fail to realize that it will also illuminate them, and this causes them to fall into pride and arrogance, as they cannot stand in the light without receiving it into themselves. They never gave me all of their hearts, so when the illumination comes, it exposes the area of darkness and they take the light of the gifts to themselves, and it brings them to a place of imbalance, mixture, and self destruction. Very few walk purely in the arena of public gifting and in the display of My True Power. The more of My Power and Glory that is displayed, the more death that is necessary to release it and to reflect Me. Few handle My Gifts and honor them rightly without coveting the glory. But, all men can choose which portion of Me that they desire to reflect. All of My Gifts are available to all men, and are always freely given. Many want the most prominent gifts and callings, but fail to bring the changes necessary into their lives to enable them to walk purely in that calling. But fewer still fail to fully weigh the responsibilities of their choice."

I looked at the other doors. I walked up to one that had a silky and shiny fabric in front of it. It felt like water flowing through my hands. It was so lovely to hold and it was a deep blue in color. It was very heavy even though it was silky. The fabric was not what it seemed to be. It bore a weight that did not match its appearance. I did not feel any strong drawing or attachment to this curtain, so I released it too. I stepped back and looked at it. It shimmered in the darkness, and awaited its owner to walk through it. The Lord nodded and said. "This one also bears much responsibility. My gifts are without repentance, so each must fully weigh their choices and know that their choice will bear fruit in their lives, for good or for bad. This represents the beauty of My Presence and the weight of My Glory that flows through My Gifts. For each reflects Me. But the weight of My Glory will crush those who have not fully surrendered their hearts to Me. For I Am Holy, and My Glory will not abide in those who do not walk clean."

"This door is another path of expression of Me. It bears much responsibility too. It is a path of revelation that unveils much about My Glory and My Presence, and My Word, but it bears much hardship. The greater the revelation, the greater the death and obedience that is required to walk in it. Many want to walk in My Truth, but do not want to pay the price of that knowledge. But I give all of My People the choice. They can walk in My Truth or not. I will not force anyone to come to My Light or to My Truth. Each much come freely and know Me. The ones who walk through this door will reflect My Word. It will also reflect what is in them. It will also judge what is in them that has not been given to Me, that is why I desire that all men allow Me to judge them first. For judgment must come for My people to learn righteousness. Then they can effectively teach My truth and rightly divide it."

I nodded and walked to the next curtain. It was a fabric that had many weaves and patterns woven into its folds. It was not a bright or alluring color, but it was pleasing to look at, and was heavier than the others. It has patterns of fruits and plants woven into it. It was a kind of beige or natural color. I reached out and touched its folds and felt the woven images. It was a strong fabric and it bore many things. But I could not find within me a desire for this one either. I was beginning to wonder if I had something within me that was not given to the Lord, because I couldn't identify with any of these so far. But, I waited anyways. Searching myself as I walked.

"The Lord stood at this one. He said, "This door is one of great weight and responsibility as the others. Each of them bears a great responsibility. But this one is very heavy. It is the weight of My Word. My Word is brought forth through this door through teaching and impartation of Truth. Those who choose this door, receive great understanding of My Word and the anointing to teach it to My People. Many desire this gift, and path. But fail to walk in its light. As I said before, My Word judges and reflects Me. If the person has not brought every area of their live under total authority and submission to My Word, that same Word will show forth their walk. My Word is a lamp unto their feet and a light upon their paths. But those who teach My Word, are entrusted with the Holiness of My Word and must reflect that Holiness. I am the Living Word. But few honor Me, and My Word. Few give My Word utter and total Lordship over their lives and their giftings and destinies. They only want My Word, till they get what they desire, then they walk on in their own ways. Those who teach My Word will have no excuse before My Father. For the Word will judge them and their actions, for they know the Word, and teach others to do likewise. Much Blood has been shed in this door. Many are led into destruction by those who teach My Word falsely and with insincere hearts. I am raising up those who will be Lovers of My Truth, and who will reflect Me to others through My Word. This is available to all who desire it, and who will treasure My Word as Precious."

On and on I walked. Past many doors and curtains, but I could sense no compelling drawing to any of these. Much was revealed to me by the Lord regarding the many gifts and expressions of Himself that he is now releasing, and that awaited its time to be seen in the earth.

I then came to a cave. It had a rough covering of some type that just fit over it. It was not compelling or even pleasing to see, but I felt its fabric in my hands. It has a feeling of roughness and of unuse. I just felt that few chose this door. I felt that many had come this way, but few had entered in or chose this path due to its uniqueness and its placement. It was farther away from the others. I sensed a drawing to this one, but at the same time, I felt the desire to search more. There was still something that I had not found yet.

The Lord saw my hesitancy. He nodded and said, "This is a very important door. It is the door of sacrifice. It is a very costly door and it is very highly esteemed among heaven. Sacrifice births forth the Kingdom of Heaven. For the Kingdom of Heaven is come to men, and is now within them if they choose it to be. But sacrifice is the price of obedience. My Sufferings is revealed through this door. It is the door to My Sufferings and to My Glory. It is through sacrifice that true change comes and the Light of My truth shines forth. All of My Mighty Men are trained in these caves of obscurity. But few pay the price to be changed, so they can take the message to My People so that they too can enter in. Few want to be transparent. Many want to be seen as important and as in high positions of authority in the earth, but few will lay their lives down for their brethren, to reflect Me. I am the pearl of great price. It will cost you your life to enter in, and to be My Reflection. This path brings great reward and many souls to My Father.

We walked on and passed many more. Each stood with its own path and purpose. But I could not find any that I could embrace. Although I wanted to embrace each one, as I truly did want to reflect the Lord is whatever way He desired me to, and it did not matter, for I would walk in His choice, but He did not choose for me. He waited. I began to grieve, as I felt that I had not found the place for me here, and I had missed it somewhere. I began to think of the many times I had encountered the Lord and the lessons that I had learned in them. Each was precious to me and had brought me closer to Him.

I said to Him, "Lord, I cannot choose any of these. I do not feel my destiny is here with these." I then began to recall several times that the lord had brought me into His Heart last year.

In one visionary experience, my spirit left my body after a meeting, and I rose up into the heavenlies, and saw the stars and the heavens. I saw this small square hatch type door open before me. Inside the door was the milky way, the heavens, the planets, the stars and all of creation. I suddenly understood that all of creation was in the Fathers Heart before He ever created it. I felt compelled to enter in this door.

In this door was a room of sorts. There was a loud drum beating in this room. I was told to shut the door behind me. I turned and shut the hatch. It seemed to disappear as I did and the walls became a living wall. I turned and I saw that I was in a huge heart. It was beating loudly as at first and it echoed throughout the chamber that I was in. I could feel the heartbeat of the Father, and was overwhelmed at its size and capacity for Love. With each beat that I heard and felt in that room, I understood the Father truly loves His creation and cares for it. He spoke it forth from Himself and imparted Himself into it as He did. All things existed through Him, for Him, and by Him.

It is here that I felt at home. Another time, I was back in the Fathers heart again, and I saw a desk and chair in this heart. I saw myself sitting at the desk and writing the things that the Fathers heart was beating. I did not want to leave this place. I felt at one with His Heart beat and it echoed throughout my being. But, all of a sudden, I was back in my body again after this first experience. All of these emotions welled up within me, as I re-thought about them again. This is where I belonged.

I said to the Lord, "Lord I do not desire these doors as the one to walk through. I do desire to be used by you in any of them if you choose for me to. I desire to be your vessel in any way that you choose me to. I am your servant and you can make me into whatever you desire. I take no thought for my future, for you are all that I desire. But, I cannot help but remember when you allowed me to experience Your Heart and what You feel and how much You love us. I entered into that door, as You brought me into it, I felt so close to you and your love beat all around me. I would like to choose that door if I could again. I would like to sit at that desk that I saw, and write of what your heart beats about, and of your desires, and the great love that You have for your people. I would like to write of you. I desire that your people know you and also have your heart."

"I choose this door. The door to Your Heart. For I do not desire greatness or luxuries, but I desire you. I want to know you, and to be able to tell others who you are, and what you feel, and reflect you to them. There is nothing else for me, but You. I cannot choose any other path."

I waited. My heart beat with longing for His Presence and Love, but I could only embrace that which He allowed me to. I looked at the Lord and felt that I maybe had not asked correctly. For the doors around us were shown to me, but what I desired was not here. The Lord came over to me, and took me into His arms. He enveloped me in His embrace, and held me close. I felt such acceptance from Him that I no longer felt grief or uncertainty. I felt secure in Him. He drew back after a minute, and smiled and said, "There is no other place that I desire for you to be, but in My heart. My Father and I are one. Our heart has desired that men would seek us. Oh, that men would seek us, and desire to know us, and to be one with us. For I was sent to earth to reveal the Father to men. I showed the way, for all men to come and know us, and be free. But each Man must choose his destiny."

"It is a great delight for us to bring you into Our Heart. Few want to know our Love or to walk with us. Few desire to change or to be free. They desire their own ways and future. The Father always answers those who desire to come to Him. He delights in those who love Him and want to be like Him. Many want to reflect Him, and use His Gifts, but they do not want to be Holy. They do not want to embrace Him or to live in His Light. Many use My Word, My Father, My Gifts, and My Name for their own uses, but that day is ending. The night has come, and no man will now stand under the Glory of the Father, and walk in their own ways. All will be seen and all will be clean. All will be required to choose whom they will serve fully. Those who choose to come to us, will be ours. They will be under My Blood and in My House."

"My Father sent me to prepare a place for you, and all of My People. I have done so. All is in readiness. All will enter in, who desire Truth, and who love My Word, more than themselves. It pleases us that you desire to know us, and to come to us, and to bring that knowledge of us to His People. My Word is a Living Word and it brings life to all who will receive it. My Father is calling to those who would come and partake, and then feed to those who will follow after them. It is time for the People of God to know their God."

"Be at peace, daughter, for I know all things. I knew your choice, before you made it, but I have to bring you to this place, as I do all of Mine. Each must choose. Each is responsible for that choice. Each must embrace Me in it, and reflect Me through it. I would have loved you no matter which choice you made. I would have used you in any choice, and any gift that you desired that I pour through you. I would have been reflected through you in the degree that you allowed me to. I am glorified through each of Mine, as the Father is also glorified. Each choice is just as important as the other. Each is a part of Us, and reflects Us. Each is available to all who seek Us, and desire to be made into Our Image."

"What you have asked for, I always grant. I desire that all men ould want to know My Heart, and to share it with others. For such is the Kingdom of God, the Love. Love is the greatest of all gifts, and is the foundation upon which all things exist and flow through. For God is Love. I AM Love. All things exist through Me, and out of Me, and Love upholds all things. Because of My great Love for you, I created all things, so that you could know that great love. It is just many of the things that I desire My People to know. I love them. I died for them, so that they could know that love and be with Me where I am. It is time for Love to be released in My House again. It is time for Love to be given and shared amongst the Church. It is time for true Love to be released and true Life to come forth. It is time for change. My People are known by their love. They reflect Me. The world is looking for Truth and for Love. It is time to shine forth with My Love and to communicate it to the darkness and to bring the imprisoned out into My Light."

"Enter in. Take your place in My Heart. Sit, and learn of Me. Write what I show you and what I speak to you. Many will come and sit where you will sit, and they also will write of Me. For I am bringing great Grace to those who are searching for Me. Great Grace is given to the thirsty and the hungry, and the naked. I will feed them, and fill them, and clothe them with Myself. I will reveal Myself to those who will receive Me. Write of Me, for many will read, and will embrace Me. I will be glorified through My Words. I will receive My Own to Myself and the Father."

"I am bringing greater understanding to the earth of who I AM. All men will know that there is a Living God. All men will know that I AM. All men will come to a knowledge of Me, and will choose their final destiny."

"The earth will shake with the knowledge of Me."

"The heavens will shake with the knowledge of Me."

"The seas will roar with the knowledge of Me."

"There will be no excuse. All men will see that I am in control of all things. The heavens and the earth are Mine. The heavens and the earth reflect Me and what I am doing in this hour."

"Great travail will now increase, as men are ushered into their final destinies. Great Grace will also be given to Mine who serve Me, and who reflect Me in this hour. For I will reap My Harvest, and it will be seen. Great darkness has come, and all men who refuse the knowledge of Me will be given over to the darkness and will be separated from Me. Many have warned and have faithfully cried out. Now it has come. The Storm has begun."

"Take your place. My Own are now taking their places. All is in readiness. All is now brought forth."

There Is Nothing For You To Do But Continue To Look To Me
Susan Cummings

There is nothing for you to do, but to continue to look to Me. You cannot earn or do anything to further your progress, or to elevate your position. I Am in full control. I know what I am doing. I am working all things out according to My Plan. Cease from worry, and from despair. Have faith In Me.

As you look to Me, I will bring you further into understanding and into My Timing. You cannot hurry or bring forth what isn’t there yet. You must wait upon Me. There is no pressure that should be weighing upon you, but My Yoke. If you have truly aligned yourself with Me, then walk with Me. Stay in step, and quit striving.

All things are Mine, and are wrought within My Wisdom. There is nothing that escapes Me, or that isn’t done but by My Knowledge and Will. So, rest. Continue to trust In Me, and be sensitive to My Leading. Do not let your circumstances pull you from My Arms. Do not let the cares and duties limit your time with Me. Be ever diligent to keep Me first.

Take no thought for tomorrow, but leave the cares and the decisions to my able Hands. I will lead you tomorrow. I will show you the way to go, and what to do. You cannot accomplish tomorrow today, nor plan for it. You must fully be reliant upon Me. Do not think that you can walk separate from Me and be a part of Me. You must remain In Me.

We are united by your faith In Me. Keep in tandem with Me, and allow My Peace to guide you. Listen to Me, and don’t let the voices of the day drown out My Voice. You must bring all thoughts captive. Bring all feelings captive. Take authority over them, and bring them into subjection to the Spirit. Do not be ruled by circumstances and emotions, but be led by My Spirit.

Take time to listen. Don’t run so fast, and expect Me to stop you. I will not. I desire those who hunger for Me, and come to Me first. I will not be second place. I will be your Head if you allow Me to. Stay right here, and rest now. Gather yourself and look to Me. This is necessary for the days you have entered. You must heed My Voice, and move when I say to.

You know what you are to be doing. Now wait for My Moving. Then follow My Lead. You will not fail, if you obey, and you will not miss Me, if you listen. It is time to change your focus, and bring peace to your heart. Then you will understand. Then you will know why you have been in turmoil and in despair. Bring all of your cares to Me, and leave them here.

No longer will you be subjected to every emotional or eventful tide that comes in or out. But you will stand firmly in Me. You will come into your place and will have My Grace. Each of Mine walk with Me, and they hear My Voice, and they do not follow another. They only follow Me. It’s time to shut out the world and listen anew. I have much to show you and to tell you.

Do not allow condemnation to weigh you down. Stand up. I see you, and have made provision for you. I am moving. So, break free from all lethargy and move on from there. Move into My Purposes with new vision and hope. I am in control. The enemy has kept you at bay, with these circumstances, and has prevented you from moving on in My Ways. No more. Remember My Word to you, and choose to believe it is true. Then see what I can do. For your faith gives me the room to move.

Look to Me.

Dream of Earth Changes
Susan Cummings

Last night, in a dream, the Lord took me up into the heavens. I was standing somewhere, I don't know where. But I was standing and looking out towards the earth. I saw it out in front of me. The Lord had brought me to see something He was revealing.

As I was watching it, there was lightning beginning to streak across the earth and strike in various places. It became a great lightning storm as the earth was covered in lightning. It was very fearful and awesome to see but it was very destructive on the earth.

Then after a period of time, it began to rain on the earth, great torrents of rain. Areas that did not normally get rain was now being rained on greatly and the rains flooded many areas.

Then another scene, as many volcanoes erupted and the earth became an open pit in areas. Grounds opened and lava spewed in many places. Earthquakes released the great pressures in various places and entire landscapes moved and changed.

Then another scene appeared. It began to rain fire down on the earth. Fire was erupting everywhere. Fire was burning all over in many areas. I could hear the fire and the sound was as a roar. It was fearful and terrible. It was a consuming fire.

Then another scene. This time a great wind blew upon the earth. It was a wind that shook the earth and covered it. Nothing stood in this wind. All was brought low. The winds howled and raced over the earth and great destruction was wrought. When the winds ceased there was nothing left that I could see from where I was standing in the heavens.

All was barren.

As I watched, I saw the ground of the earth then break open and a great awesome light began to stream out from within the earth. Somehow, I knew that the earth was breaking up, but it also was being created somehow.

Then the dream ended and repeated throughout the night.

Through The Gate of Surrender
Susan Cummings

In a vision, I see a scene that spreads out before me. It is a scene of an ancient town or village. There are stone walls surrounding this village and the walls are thick and high. The stones are old and there are plants growing within some of the cracks in the stone walls.

The scene is around the days end, and it is late. I see some people sitting around near the town’s walls. Some are camped outside the walls sitting by a fire, and a few are walking around the walls to go to another side. I do not see what is on the other side, so I continue to watch the scene that is spread out before me.

I study the walls for a few minutes. The walls are old, as I noted earlier. They are very tall and wide and have gaps here and there for windows, I guessed. There are no entrances on this side of the wall except for a very old gate that is completely blocked by brambles and stuff growing around it.

It must be why the people were walking around to the other side of the town wall. It seemed that no one has cleared this gate or gone through it for awhile. The only thing on this side of the wall was a camp of a few people and bushes, here and there.

I was curious, and wanted to see this gate. Instantly, as I thought about this gate, then I was taken closer to it in the vision.

The gate was indeed overgrown and very foreboding to look at. I too, would think twice about tackling the brambles before entering. It would leave you quite beat up and scratched if you tried to clear it all away from the door. The gate was closed as I peered through the brambles. It was a very heavy door and had a great big key still resting in the lock. Someone had not even bothered to remove it.

I laughed at myself then, for no one was going to take it anyways, with this mess growing all around the gate! I stood there looking at the gate. Then I noticed an inscription above the gate. It was hard to read as some of the brambles had grown over it. But I stood and reached through to move some of the branches out of the way. The inscription was very old and was etched into the rock above the gate. It read, “Surrender.”

I stepped back and wondered how long it had been here. Who had made it and why it was no longer used. I wondered why no one cared to clear this passage and make good use of a gate that would give them entrance to the town.

The Lord then spoke to me, and said, “Surrender is the least used gates of all.”

I turned and the Lord stood beside me. He was pointing to the gate.

He said, “This gate is the most valuable of all, and the least recognized. It is the most hated and the most feared, and men will do anything to not enter in through it, even though it is the quickest entrance into the town.”

“As you have guessed, this town represents My House, and it’s current state of disrepair and workmanship. The gates are many, but the most important ones are often abused, neglected, controlled, or broken down. The ones that are used the most are the ones that lead to their business or fellowship places.”

He then walked up to the brambles and took one in His hand.

He pointed and said to me, “Can you enter this gate?” I shook my head, and said, “Not without clearing the path first.”

The Lord smiled broadly. “Yes,” he said, “This is what I am doing.”

“Many think they can bypass this gate, and enter into what I am currently doing, and go through another way. There is no other gate through which men can enter in by. For I AM the Gate, and all who come to the Father, come only through here. It is through full surrender to Me, that they truly enter in.”

“I am not just talking about salvation. I have many sheep in many pastures.”

“I am talking about fully abiding In Me. Surrender comes when you truly lay all things down, and can take My Yoke upon you, and drink from My Cup. Few can. Many take My Name, My Blood, My Word and My Throne and call it theirs. But few truly have died and laid themselves at My Feet, and have given me their life to make it into My Image. Few want to look like Me, think like Me, and live like Me. Fewer still, fully surrender to Me."

"I am coming for those who are Mine. Who are fully surrendered to Me, and who live the crucified life. I am coming for those who bear My Cross and who drink My Cup. I am coming for those who know My Sufferings and My Joy. I am coming for those who bear My Mark and who bear My Name within them. For I indeed write My Word and My Name upon the tablets of the hearts and minds of My People. Those who have given their hearts and minds to Me, and who walk fully in My Ways. These are also those who bear the reproach of men in their bodies and who bear My Holiness within them. They have allowed the work of My Father to be burnt within them and without. These are the truly Righteous Ones."

Jesus then stood back and stepped closer to where I was standing. He looked at me, and said, "I want you to enter the gate."

I looked back at the gate, and at the brambles. I swallowed, and said, "Okay. I will clear the way. I will open it again for others to pass through."

I then turned and began to reach for the branches. I pulled and the branches did not move easily. The brambles did not move. They seemed to be frozen in place. They were very strong, and over time, had become deeply entrenched in the ground. This was going to be very hard work.

I strained at the brambles and thought of ways that I could move the branches. There seemed to be no way that I could see. I looked around for something to dig with. I thought if I dug them out by the roots, then I could pull each bush out, one by one. But there was nothing. The Lord was still standing there, and He had no shovel either.

The Lord watched me intently. I was getting frustrated, and stood up. The brambles were not only not moving, but they were scratching me and scraping me as well. I had made no progress. I looked at the brambles and sat down.

I looked up at the walls, and there was nothing else around with which to use for leverage, to pry up under them with. No boards, nothing. There were a few people camped further from me, but they only watched me. "No interest there in helping me," I thought to myself.

The Lord sat down next to me. He said to me, "You cannot remove them by your own works."

"Men make the mistake thinking they can work their way to Me. They can clear and clean up their lives and make things right on their own. It is only when you come to the end of yourself and realize that you can do nothing, and are nothing without Me, is when you can truly surrender all. But men do not want to give me their wills."

"Only I can remove the brambles. For they are the defenses that men erect that prevent them from drawing closer to Me. Each bramble represents those things that give you security and comfort, and strength. They feed your self esteem and make you think you are whole. It is those things that your will relies upon to feed it and to maintain it's identity."

"It is when you understand that I AM truly your Lord and that you are not separate from Me, and that your will is My Will, then you can truly release the brambles in your life to Me. Until then, you will erect them and use them for your purposes and miss My Will for your life. When men choose My Will, and fully embrace Me, then My Fire can fully come. It is My Fire that removes the brambles and all of the defenses that prevent them from knowing Me intimately. It is My Fire that will burn up all the debris that still remains, so that you can open the door and walk with Me freely."

I stood up, and went up to the brambles. I looked at them and touched their tangled knots of branches. I then said, "Lord, I surrender to you completely. Bring your Fire and burn up all debris, all the defenses, all of My identity, all of My Self Will. I am nothing without you."

Suddenly, all of the brambles just began to burn up before me. They just ignited, and were ablaze. I backed up and watched them as they burned. The brambles crackled in the flames as the fire burned the leaves and branches. There was such a sense of peace as I watched them burn. I waited as they burned down to patches of coals of fire, here and there.

I then walked through the patches of fires that still burned, and went up to the gate. The door was shut and the key was still in the old lock. It was indeed a heavy door. It was very big, and old, and it had steel bands that went through the panels. The key was a big old key and it has a rounded handle with a loop in it. I put my hand in the loop.

My hand fit perfectly within the loop. I took the key and went to turn the key. It would not turn. It had sat in the lock for a long time. It seemed to be stuck. It would not come out of the lock either. I thought for a minute. What is the key? Then, I thought, well, we enter in through the Blood. So, I said, "The Blood of Jesus Christ has atoned for me, that I may fully enter and walk intimately with Him."

The key turned and the lock clicked, and I touched the door. It was a very big door that towered over me and that many people could enter through at one time when it was open. The Lord then said, "I Am the door by which all men may enter, for I made the way available for all men. I am willing to let all pass through who wish to, but few choose to."

"Most go around this gate and try to find another way to enter in to My House. But they never deal with the root issues, the brambles, and are not truly surrendered to Me, and haven't given me their will, so I am not truly Lord."

"I take each child who comes to Me, and bring each of them through the gates to My House, one at a time. Each holds a Truth, and a key for their lives. Each brings them closer to Me and brings them a deeper knowledge of Me, but none will bring them closer or more intimate with Me, than this one. This is the most resisted and the most feared."

"If you do not fully surrender to Me, and become one with Me, and take on My Likeness and My Life, then I do not truly know you. Unless you are fully changed, you will remain a stranger, and be cast into outer darkness at My Coming."

"Men think that can camp on My Truths, and partake of a few things here and there, and make it their platform and defense, but they fail to apply Me, the Living Word, the whole Council of God, to their lives, and they are not fully changed. They only become more entangled with their works and become further alienated from Me."

"But you must fully embrace all of Me, and utterly cast yourself upon Me, and take Me fully as your Lord, and God. I alone, will change you, as you embrace Me. I alone, can make you into My Image, and not of yourself. Do not take one Truth, and discard another, but fully embrace all of My Word, and let it do it's work within you. Do not elevate one Truth above another, and build upon them, but eat them, and let them abide in you."

"My Word is to be eaten, and not built upon, and used for men's purposes. It is to be embraced. It is to be partaken of, and the fruit of it will be walked out. It is the Life that is in My Word, when properly partaken of, that will be reflected outwardly. That is what will be seen. The Surrendered Life is a visible life that is seen by all. It is hated by many."

"When I am fully reflected, then true change has come."

"This House is My House. It is built upon the foundations of many generations before you. It has seen many days of Glory and many days of defeat. It is currently fallen and in some places it is in disrepair, and those who pass by it and through it, do not strengthen the walls, and do not clean up or repair the gates. They only care for their own business matters and not for My House. They do not want to change. That will now change."

"I am bringing the true Gate Keepers and they will repair the Gates."

"I am tearing down everything that is not built by Me in this Hour, and nothing built by men will stand while My House is fallen and in disrepair. Every foundation will be exposed, and Mine will be raised up. I AM the Lord of My House, and I will have a Holy House fit for My Use."

"Be diligent in your quest for Truth, and always fully embrace Me. Allow My Word to be formed even more within you, and eat of it often. If My Words abide within you, then I will come in further, and as you make more room for Me, I will continue to sup with you, and share the meat with you from My Father's table. For the meat is not given to those who only desire bread. It is given to those who have surrendered fully to Me."

The Lord then turned and pushed the door open, and entered the city with walls.

Do You Want To Live In The House Of Dates Or Figs?

Christine Beadsworth

www.freshoilreleases.com

There is profound change coming to the church of Jesus Christ in these days. The Lord is coming to His temple! I would like to share some insights from Mark 11 in which Jesus comes into Jerusalem. Described in this chapter are three days in the journey of Jesus. On the first day He did not enter Jerusalem but went to the Mount of Olives:

Mar 11:1 And when they came nigh to Jerusalem, unto Bethphage and Bethany, at the mount of Olives, he sendeth forth two of his disciples,

We have been crying out as the Church for the presence of God in our midst and I want to say to you that Jesus has ‘come nigh’, He is at the very door. We are on the brink of experiencing His presence as never before. However, it is important to note the route of His journey to us, His Church. He stops at the Mount of Olives, which is representative of the place which is the source of the anointing, the place of olives which, being pressed, release the oil of the anointing. This was one of His favorite places, from which He looked over Jerusalem and prayed for her. Here we are told there are two towns or two houses, Bethphage, ‘the House of Figs’ and Bethany, ‘the House of Dates’. Let us look deeper into Bethany first.

'House of Dates' in itself does not seem to speak of anything in particular, until we remember that when David brought the ark of the covenant back into Jerusalem (1 Chron 16:3), he gave everyone a date-cake, a loaf of bread and a raisin-cake or flagon of wine, (depending on the translation.)

This Hebrew word translated ‘date-cake’ is only used twice in the Word and actually means 'a measured portion, a good piece'. So what is this date-cake a type or shadow of? Is this not what Mary chose, the good portion, when she sat at Jesus' feet and received a continual revelation of who He was? The ‘good portion’ is abiding in His presence, before His face. To confirm this, Bethany, 'the house of dates', was where Mary lived, and she received the Lord's seal of approval when He said, " she has chosen the good portion and it will not be taken from her". Bethany represents those who develop an intimate worship relationship with their Bridegroom.

Now let us look at Bethphage, the House of Figs. The word for ‘fig’ means ‘torpid, crude or unripe’. I looked up ‘torpid’ and discovered it means ‘having lost motion or power of exertion and feeling; dull, stupid, sluggish, inactive’ and there was an addition in brackets which said ‘unrepentant sinners remain in a state of torpid security!’. So Bethphage is a house where there is little sign of life, no movement or passion and certainly no intimacy! We will gain further insight into this House as we go along but for now let us concentrate on what Jesus dealt with as He surveyed these two towns from the Mount of Olives.

Mar 11:2 And saith unto them, Go your way into the village over against you: and as soon as ye be entered into it, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat; loose him, and bring him.

And if any man say unto you, Why do ye this? say ye that the Lord hath need of him; and straightway he will send him hither. And they went their way, and found the colt tied by the door without, in a place where two ways met; and they loose him.

Before Jesus enters Jerusalem, He issues a command to loose a colt! Something is bound and it has to be loosed before He can move on to fulfill God's appointments. He could easily have walked into Jerusalem but there was a word to be fulfilled that had been prophesied many years before! God can continue to unfold His plan without you BUT there is a prophetic word that was spoken over you many years ago and it must be fulfilled. He wants to use you to carry His purposes into Jerusalem! This colt had never been ridden by man, but it was tied up with a rope. There are many of God's people who have never been used by man for his purposes or fleshly agendas, we have been waiting for the King's call because we have a sense of destiny within us, we are set-apart for His purposes. Yet we stand bound, tied up in this place of waiting for God's appointed time of release into what was written before the foundation of the world for our lives. Any attempt to free ourselves has proved fruitless and we have had to wait for the command to come from Jesus Himself. Joseph found himself in the same place. He was in prison through no fault of his own for many years and the Word of the Lord tried and tested him while he was imprisoned. He tried to open a door for release himself by asking the butler and baker to put in a good word for him when they left the prison, but it came to nothing. He remained in that place for another two years before the command came from the throne-room to release him. How he must have questioned the purpose of his extended stay! I believe the answer is found in psalm 105:19-22

Until the time that his word came: the word of the LORD tried him. The king sent and loosed him; even the ruler of the people, and let him go free. He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance: To bind his princes at his pleasure; and teach his elders wisdom.

God had given him a promise and the preparation time was for the purpose of being tried and refined to produce a vessel fit to hold the fulfillment of the promise. This included being brought to a place of authority to wage warfare,binding principalities and powers and being schooled in the wisdom of God and not man. Joseph was hoping that the words of praise from the ex-inmates in the right ear would open the door. He was engineering or trying to manipulate his advancement in God's plans for him. He still hadn't come to the place of understanding that only God opens doors that no man can shut! So two more years of training by the Spirit were necessary. It is one thing to be placed in a position of authority but quite another to rule in the spirit of righteousness and justice, free from the bribes and manipulations of men. We see from Joseph's subsequent handling of his brothers that the prison time had served its purpose well. He was devoid of bitterness and anger but understood that even the hard and ugly things which strike our lives become tools in the Lord's hand to fashion a weapon fit for its purpose!

Back to Mark 11 - the colt was discovered tied up outside the door at the place where two ways meet. Is this where you stand, bound outside the door to your destiny? You can see the door, have some idea what is beyond it but have been unable to enter it. People have come past you and gone in and yet you can only stand and wait. The significant thing is that you stand at the place where two ways meet –and you have a choice to make. Will you go your own way and follow your own desires or will you die to self and yield to the one who looses you and be led to the feet of Jesus to be used for His purpose and pleasure. This waiting time is for you to contemplate the cost of either path. The path to Jesus ‘feet leads you to the place of pressing, of dying to self to bring forth His life, to the Mount of Olives. Paul said:

For we which live are alway delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh. So then death worketh in us, but life in you.” (2 Cor 4:11)

This path is the path to death to self which leads to life. It is the path which will bring persecution and hardship for the sake of the gospel and the the greatness of the power that comes forth from our earthen vessels will be seen to be of God. It is the path where one does not preach with persuasive words of men’s wisdom but in a demonstration of the Spirit and power. It is not the popular path but the narrow way where one is called to die to one’s reputation with the establishment of man and choose rather the approval of God. It is the path where you understand that anything you suffer in His Name causes the life of God to be released to others. The reason He has sent a command to loose you is because He has need of you!

The other way is the way of self, the way of comfort, the path where men will applaud your achievements. It is the path that leads to the best seats in the synagogues and position and power over men but it is also the way that leads to death (Pro 16:25) There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.

This path runs to and from Bethphage, House of Figs, where there is no passion for Jesus, because this house has been eating of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, where men clean the outside of the cup but the inside is full of dead men’s bones; where long prayers are made to cover up the robbing of widow’s houses. This is the House of Religion where one is made aware of one’s nakedness and only participation in the various ‘fig leaves’ offered makes one feel acceptable in God’s sight. “ Sign up for this course, participate in that group” is the cry that goes forth. There are many programs run in this house and much activity and busyness but little sign of life. There is a numbness, like a limb where the circulation has been cut off but it continues to walk on relentlessly in spite of the lack of feeling.

Jesus is presently standing on the Mount of Olives, surveying His people and weighing their hearts. It is almost a sheep and goats scenario and only He can see into the heart. Men judge by the outward appearance. This is why the Word does not tell us which House the colt was tied up at. There are colts with ‘Bethany ‘ hearts tied up and trapped at Bethphage and there are those who honor the Lord with their lips but their hearts are far from Him, going through the motions at Bethany. If we were to judge by the outward appearance we would choose the wrong candidates as vessels fit to carry the Lord’s presence. Only Jesus knows those who are fully His but the day of loosing is coming and men will exclaim as in the Song of Solomon:
(Son 3:6) Who is this that cometh out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke, perfumed with myrrh and frankincense, with all powders of the merchant?

This is an exclamation of surprise as if it is someone unexpected, not a big name preacher or a world-famous evangelist – no, God is going to use the weak and the foolish and the despised things, the nameless and the faceless ones who have been patiently waiting and submitting to refinement after refinement in preparation of being a vessel of honor.

Mary was also a ‘colt‘ who was released at God’s appointed time to carry Jesus and bring Him forth in the earth. She took the path of death to self, death to her reputation and the approval of man. Her response was:

(Luk 1:38) Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word.

She considered it a blessing to be persecuted for Jesus’ sake. She looked beyond her own comfort to the bigger picture:

(Luk 1:54) He hath helped his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy. As he spake to our fathers, to Abraham, and to his seed for ever.

She did not consider her suffering to be compared to the glory that was about to be revealed through her. This is the attitude the Spirit of God is wanting to bring forth in us. He is looking for donkeys, humble and willing to only be vessels which carry Jesus’ manifest presence into the earth but take no glory for themselves. No-one took any notice of the donkey – in fact they could hardly see it because it was covered with garments and was small. No-one shouted ‘how wonderful this little donkey is, what a stunning entrance, impeccable delivery of God’s message to us!’ They only saw Jesus, only glorified Him. If we do not put to death the desire for the praise and approval of man that lurks within our hearts, we will find ourselves offended and bitter when we are not acknowledged or noticed as being the ones who have brought about the arrival of His manifest presence. In fact I very much doubt God will use a colt who is continuously looking back towards Bethphage and the compliments of men! The need for men’s approval comes from having been fed in the House of Figs where rejection is a very real prospect if one does not behave accordingly. Sadly, one comes under a spirit that makes one a slave again to fear. Romans eight tells us that this is not the spirit that God has given; THROUGH Him we can cry ‘Abba Father!’ – we are accepted in the Beloved.

(Mar 11:11) And Jesus entered into Jerusalem, and into the temple: and when he had looked round about upon all things, and now the eventide was come, he went out unto Bethany with the twelve.

So Jesus came into the temple, observed everything that was going on and then left. He didn’t deal with the things that offended Him immediately. Sometimes we can mistake the Lord’s presence at our meetings for His approval of what is happening at them. This however is not the case in this season. We are in the time of Revelation 11:1

(Rev 11:1) And there was given me a reed like unto a rod: and the angel stood, saying, Rise, and measure the temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein.

The temple of God, His Body, is being measured and those that are worshipping are being weighed. This is a time, Beloved, to be very sensitive to the conviction of the Holy Spirit of sin in our lives. It is not the time to put off dealing with issues until later. Your future is dependant on you aligning yourself with His purposes fully in this day – ‘not my will but thine be done!’

Interestingly, we are in the 30 days before Rosh Hashanna (SEPT 3rd and 4th) during which the Jews blow the shofar every morning and examine their hearts because they understand that on Rosh Hashanna the Books of Life are opened and decisions are made in Heaven over individuals. So this whole month is a time of repentance from areas in which we have departed from God. This is done according to the searchlight of the Spirit and not by digging up our own backyards.

We are told that once Jesus had surveyed the goings-on in the temple, He went to spend the night at Bethany. Although He may visit our meetings, He dwells with those who have chosen the good portion of intimacy with Him. Church, we need habitation, not visitation and the only way to get Him to stay is to deal with sin and worship Him in intimacy. He will not come and dwell in our programs or courses. He dwells with those who are of a humble heart:

(Psa 34:18) The LORD is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saves such as be of a contrite spirit (crushed with sorrow for sin)AMP.

He will visit but He will not stay if the temple needs cleaning out!

After a night of being refreshed by the love of His friends at Bethany, Jesus sets out on His Father’s business. His first appointment is with the fig tree. This had nothing to do with his natural appetite. Jesus is hungry for worshippers who will worship Him in spirit and in truth. He dealt with the fig tree after looking at the state of things in the temple. Why does He react so angrily? The fig tree represents a system of religion which has developed from eating fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. The fig tree was covered in leaves, the very leaf Adam used to try and hide his nakedness. There was nothing nourishing on it but it gave the appearance of being healthy and attractive and full of life. This is exactly what Jesus saw in the temple the previous day. There was much activity and seemingly spiritual behavior going on. Yet these were only fig leaves to give an appearance of godliness. Programs and organization often are attempts to hide a feeling of nakedness and having nothing to offer. The Church has fallen into the trap of believing that the more meetings and courses on offer, the more spiritual we are becoming. However it is a spirit of fear that is behind all the religious programs and plans and frenzied activity; fear of not being acceptable to God; fear of being seen to be naked; fear of no-one coming to the meetings; fear of falling short of God’s requirement. It is important to realize, Beloved, that the occurence of these things is not only seen on the outside in the organized church, but on the inside, in our hearts. This is the place where we first become vulnerable to the doctrines of a religious spirit. We not only have to come out from a system of religion – the system of religion has to come out of us!

Jesus was disturbed by what He saw in His Father’s house – organization and moneychangers, the sale of doves. Moneychangers were those who made sure that people from far-off places had the right currency to offer, only then was their offering of worship acceptable. The poor could not bring their own doves because invariably there would be found something wrong with them; only doves sold at the temple were acceptable currency for them to offer. God’s righteous requirements were turned into a money-making exercise. Eating of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil produces a religious system of works to be acceptable to God. Those who come with their gifts to offer to the Lord are only allowed to exercise them in officially determined ways eg. only church-ordained prayer meetings under the control of appointed leaders. Heaven forbid anyone should start a meeting at home without the official sanction of the Pharisees!

When Jesus declared that the fig tree would no longer bear fruit, He was addressing Adam's sin and resulting fig-leaf religion, the system that laid heavy loads on men's backs and did not lift a finger to help them carry them. He proclaimed an end to this fruitless system and then went into the temple and began clearing it out.

(Mar 11:15) And they come to Jerusalem: and Jesus went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves; And would not suffer that any man should carry any vessel through the temple. And he taught, saying unto them, Is it not written, My house shall be called of all nations the house of prayer? but ye have made it a den of thieves.

He overthrew and brought down every demonic table and seat in the temple; every area in which the religious spirit had influence, was cleansed. In this time, Jesus is coming to cleanse His temple. As Malachi 3 tells us, He is coming as a refiner's fire and a fuller's soap to deal with His priests. Everything that is of a religious spirit in us is to be overthrown and pulled down, that we may offer offerings in righteousness. Any doctrine or belief-system that has been taught us by a religious spirit needs to be dismantled and the Word of Truth is coming to do it in us. He is going to turn things upside down within us and drive out all that is of man and works. This is what the day of visitation will be like. It will not be a day of comfort and pleasant sensations of His presence. He is coming to challenge the rituals we have been going through for years, thinking this is what God requires of His people. Church as we know it is never going to be the same again and there are going to be some Pharisees who are very upset!

Jesus said that they had turned the temple into a den of thieves. This is a house indwelt by thieves who are the sons of their father, the devil and he comes to steal, kill and destroy. It is a counterfeit, a system of religion set up in the place that should be a House of prayer. It robs people of a chance to experience the kingdom of God, which consists of righteousness, peace and joy. This is because there is always one more requirement to get to a place of being acceptable, one more course, one more meeting. The people of God are weary and heavy-laden and they need rest. The yoke of Jesus is easy and light – worship Him in spirit and in truth. The robe of righteousness purchased by the precious Blood is the only requirement which makes us acceptable to God.

It is interesting to note that the fig tree was cursed and the temple cleansed on the second day of His visit to Jerusalem; yet only on the third day was the evidence of this cleansing work seen in the fig tree which withered from the root up. Let this be an encouragement to you. Sometimes we deal with areas in our lives, make prophetic declarations, repent and re-consecrate ourselves yet we see no outward fruit immediately. Don't question that the work has been done. Rejoice in faith because on the third day, all that has been cut off will become apparent. The root starts to wither underground where no-one can see so it seems that our efforts have been ineffective – not so! Hosea 6;1-3 describes a process which takes place once we have repented and are wholehearted toward the Lord:

Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up. After two days will he revive us: in the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight. Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

Only on the third day are the results of the work of the second day seen. Don't waste time trying to deal with all the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. The enemy will keep you busy forever, in what is another form of the religion of works. Deal with the root and the fruit will wither and fall off on its own.

There are two houses, two trees, two ways. There is one colt, waiting for its appointment with destiny, at a crossroads. There is one temple, which needs cleansing. There is one Lord, Who is coming as a refiner's fire. John the Baptist described Him like this:

(Luk 3:16) he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire, Whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor, and will gather the wheat into his garner; but the chaff he will burn with fire unquenchable.

Let us choose the good portion of sitting at His feet; choose to eat of the tree of Life and by so doing, choose the path which is narrow but leads to life. Let us choose the fear of God over the fear of man. Let us allow the Holy Spirit free access to every area of our temples and joyfully submit to His purging fire, knowing that as we do, there is a glorious afterward as all evidence of the root of religion withers up and the way is opened for the manifest presence of Jesus to come forth through our lives.

Departure Of Holy Spirit?
Celia Rose Okhuysen

If Holy Spirit is removed along with the Faithful Church in the Rapture, how then is John 16:7-11 to be interpreted?

In Jn. 16:8 Holy Spirit convicts the world of sin. If Holy Spirit is absent during the Tribulation, how then will sinners come to repentance without conviction of sin? As for the unfaithful Church who is left behind, who then will give remembrance of the Word (Jn. 14:26) after the Antichrist shuts down Christian Web sites on the Internet? Also begins Christian persecution through shutting down all spiritual broadcasting, prohibits Bible sales and other Christian literature, and probably even the assembling of Christians together in homes to study the Word, etc.? He may even close down all Christian churches, probably through taxing them. Many Christians will be gone, and those left behind will not be able to work unless they take the Mark of the Beast. (Rev. 13:16, 17) How will lack of tithing due to these circumstances keep the churches going?

After much grief and remorseful repentance, from where will the unfaithful Church draw HELP, boldness, and great strength to refuse the Mark of the Beast, and persevere in delayed faithfulness to Lord Jesus in their persecution and martyrdom through their beheading? (Rev. 20:4)

It is not too late for the Church of Jesus Christ of Nazareth to search it's heart before Lord Jesus and repent of all convicted and revealed hidden sin by Holy Spirit as we await the Rapture (1Thes. 4:13-18 — 1Cor. 15:51-57).

"For the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only He who now restrains will do so until He is taken out of the way." (2Thes. 2:7 — NKJV)
**~~~~~~~~~~

[The following comments are quoted from DAKE'S ANNOTATED REFERENCE BIBLE, p. 230, N.T., columns 2 and 3.]

"The hinderer of lawlessness (2Th. 2:7) What is it? — (1) It is something already known (vs. 6); — (2) It now hinders lawlessness (vs. 6-7); — (3) It is strong enough to prevent the revelation of the Antichrist (vs. 6-8); — (4) It will hinder lawlessness until it is removed from the earth (vs. 7-8); — (5) It is called "he" (vs. 7); — (6) It will be removed from the earth before the second advent (vs. 7-8); — (7) It will not be here when Christ comes to destroy Antichrist (vs. 7-8).

"The hinderer is one of 3 things: (1) Governments (Rom. 13:1-7; 1Pet. 2:13); — (2) The Church (Mt. 5:13 — 2 Cor. 2:15-16 — Eph. 6:12-18 — 2Cor. 10:4-7) — (3) The Holy Spirit (Jn. 16:7-15).

"The hinderer of lawlessness must be the one that will be taken out of the world before Antichrist can be revealed (vs. 6-8).

"Will governments be taken out of the world? No, because Antichrist reigns over many kingdoms (Dan. 7:24; 11:40-45) … during the time the hinderer of lawlessness is removed (Rev. 11:15; 16:13-16).

"Will it be the Holy Spirit? No, for He will be here all through the Tribulation and forever (Jn. 14:16 — Acts 2:16-21 — Rev. 12:17 with 19:10 — Zech. 12:10-13:1). Multitudes will be saved by the Holy Spirit during the Tribulation, as now (Acts 2:16-21 — Rev. 6:9-11 — 7;1-21 — 12:5, 17 — 15:2-4 — 20:4-6).

"It is the Church. It will be raptured before Antichrist comes, and this is the only one of the hinderers of lawlessness that will be removed from the earth (1Th. 4:16).

"The 'he' of 2Thes. 2:7:

"The only argument used to prove that the Holy Spirit is the hinderer of this passage is the pronoun he. It is believed that the Church could not be referred to as he because it is the Bride of Christ; that the Church is spoken of as a virgin, a woman, and that it is referred to by feminine pronouns.

"On the contrary, the Church is:

"(1) Not referred to by feminine pronouns. — (2) Never symbolized by a woman. — (3) Never called the Bride of Christ [see note, Rev. 21:9-10: The word Bride is used only 5 times in connection with Believers (Jn. 3:29 — Rev. 21:2, 9 — 22:17] The word Bridegroom is used 10 times in connection with Believers (Mt. 9:15 — Mk. 2:19-20 — Lk. 5:34-35 — Jn. 3:29). All these passages refer to Believers who will live in the New Jerusalem, which is the Bride, the Lamb's wife (Rev. 21:2, 9-10).

"The Church is called a man (Eph. 2:15; 4:13 – "new man") and the Body of Christ (1Cor. 12:12-13, 27 — Eph. 1:22-23 — Col. 1:18, 24). Because CHRIST IS A MAN*, it would not be proper to compare His Body to that of a woman or to use feminine pronouns in referring to the Church.* Since the Church is not a woman, a lady, a virgin, a bride, and is not referred to by feminine pronouns, and since the Church is called a man and the Body of Christ, who is A MAN, the Church can be referred to by the pronoun he.

"The Church is the only one of the three hinderers of lawlessness that will be taken out of the world. We must, therefore, conclude that the he, or the hinderer of lawlessness of 2Th. 2:7, must refer to the Church being taken out of the world. And THEN shall that wicked [one] be revealed who will be destroyed 7 years later by Christ at His second advent (vs. 7-8)."

**~~~~~~~~~~

Beloved Saints of God, according to Scripture, and not "popular opinion," HOLY SPIRIT will REMAIN on earth CONVICTING THE WORLD OF SIN during the Tribulation as well as throughout the Millennium during Lord Jesus' reign on earth, and thereafter.

Doors

Lanna Perry

21st August, 2005
Sydney, Australia

I am focusing all my energy on this one thing, forgetting what is behind and looking forward to what lies ahead – Philippians 3:13

Each of you have doors in your life. Doors of the past, doors of the present and doors of the future. Doors of the past once they are closed they are not to be revisited.

Much of My church are constantly revisiting old doors. Many of My precious warriors are continually returning to things of old. Disappointments, hurts, rejections, and lies of the past.

This is a new day. The day that I the Lord your God have made. It is time to move forward. Is it not time to move forward, reach a new level and walk in all the things that I have purposed for each of you?
I have so many great and wonderful plans and treasures for My children but many are being held back. Held back by their own choice to continue to open doors of the past. Many of you are being tormented by the enemy and not finding victory in your lives and circumstances, it is because you are continually revisiting old doors, and leaving them open.

Close the doors of the past. Close them, and do not move back to them. Move forward. Walk in who you really are in Me, do not live under lies or condemnation anymore. For, can I release a church that is being tethered to their pasts? Surely not!

When I came to earth I did not continue to dwell in the past, I was always looking forward. Looking to what the day would bring and the Kingdom work I had to accomplish.

Oh My beautiful church, My friends, I love each of you more than you could ever know. You can never know the depth and the width of My love for each of you. I love to take you higher and higher. My heart is to always give you what is best and move you forward. Not staying tethered to what is behind or remaining stuck in the day, but moving forward into all the glories and treasures I have for each of you.

I am waiting on many of you. Yes, I the Lord your God am waiting on many of you to stop revisiting doors of old, not being tethered to them any longer and moving forward.

Stepping out into the areas of destiny I have called you too. Laying down mindsets once and for all that are not of Me, laying down lies once and for all that are not of Me. Taking the steps forward that I have commanded you too through My Word.

You have everything that you need right now to live victoriously in Me. I have opened the doors of heaven and poured out My blessings and all My authority on My church. So why do you wait?

Why do you wait for the door to be opened when I have already opened it for you? You are My friends, and I love you very much. I long to share My heart with each of you. In Me the doors of the future will be opened to you. Using My Word you can declare prophetically My Word over future situations.

For you are not disarmed, you are armed. You are FULLY equipped. You are lacking NOTHING. Through Calvary I have given you EVERYTHING.

Close the doors of the past. Let go and move forward. Go higher, go deeper, let Me take you where I want to take each of you. Churches, and individuals.
Be attentive to My Spirit. For I am a God of growth, I am the God of continuum. Church, Friends it is time to move forward.

Examine your hearts in the light of My Presence, allow Me to show each of you where you are still tethered and revisiting doors of old, or even remaining in the comfort of today.

Yes, look to today and listen to what I am doing today, but continue to have your eyes fixed on Me, and what I have to come, for great and mighty moves of My hand await each of you.

Doors Of Relationship
Cindy Allen

Staying focused on the vision and purposes that God has mandated, opens our sight and perception to discern the spiritual doors that mark times and seasons of divine appointments where we are destined to come face to face with God. The Lord Jesus is our harvest. If you were a stick in the mud when you entered His manifest presence, you will leave with roots that reach down deeply to draw from the wellsprings that flow with Kingdom knowledge. You will leave with fully formed branches full of leaves and fruit. Your life will bear the fruit of knowing Christ and His presence with you will become shelter for others in their times of need.

Doors of relationship are first formed out of our obedience to God and our willingness to stand in the anointing, unmoved by our circumstances or reactions of those around us. Many would believe that these encounters first manifest in the quiet of the day where we are already resting in our hidden place in the Lord. Not when the Holy Spirit is teaching and preparing us how to war with spiritual weapons. This is the time and the hour where we learn that no weapon formed against us shall prosper and ....

Rom 8:36-39
"For your sake we face death all day long; we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered."
37 No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. 38 For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, 39 neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord. NIV

The prophetic is purposed to release life breathed words to give the people of God direction for their lives. More importantly, the prophetic should release the people themselves to experience the person of Christ in greater dimensions. With our focus stayed on WHO the door is, let us be refreshed and renewed in reading the beginning of the 10th chapter of John.

John 10:7-9
7 Then Jesus said to them again, "Most assuredly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep. 8 All who ever came before Me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them. 9 I am the door. If anyone enters by Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture.
NKJV

At the very beginning of the 10th chapter of John, Jesus is teaching that anyone who does not enter the sheepfold by the door is a thief and a robber. In this example, where is the door first being manifest? IN us! Revelation 3:20 speaks of Jesus standing at this door seeking to enter in.

Rev 3:20-22
20 Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him, and he with Me. 21 To him who overcomes I will grant to sit with Me on My throne, as I also overcame and sat down with My Father on His throne. 22 He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches." ' "

When spiritual doors are being manifest in our lives, they will manifest by the order that scripture teaches. Christ first! The doors of our heart that Jesus knocks on oftentimes reveal areas of our lives that we have not yet surrendered to Him. Before Jesus comes knocking, we're not even aware of the spiritual places within us that God's presence awakens.

Because Christ IS the door, He will always reveal Himself as the door within us first before He will reveal Himself as the door within others. Just as water overflows a glass when it becomes full, faith abounds and the spirit is poured out on everything around the glass. It is the same with all that is manifest in Christ. The principal of The door (Christ) is first revealed within us. Then, in the right application, the door begins manifesting in relationships around us. Any other way leads into idolatry.

Daughters Of The American Revolution

Kathleen Pirl

August 1, 2005

I am calling you my daughters of America, to remind me to come before my throne and to remind me that your nation America was birthed to throw off religious repression, persecution, and control, to oppose taxation with out representation.

Yet you have defaulted for kings like King George, instead of standing in the liberty that your sons shed blood for to have a free country. You have let the church become a religious set of controls and oppression, instead of freedom of spirit and in mutual loving submission. You have let tithing and offerings (taxations) by con men and fleecers in the body of Christ, without accountability and accurate representation of who I am.

So daughters of my once free church, I am calling you to rise up and cry out for a revolution in my Church's in this "land of the free" America which has become a land of kings and tyranny in my most holy body.

I am sending an alarm to the Minute Men! I am sending an immediate pressing alarm to rise up from your beds of complacency! Daughters cry out for an American Revolution!

Whom the Son of Man has set free is free indeed! Do not be bewitched and default your Christian liberty!

LET THE EAGLE ONCE AGAIN SCREAM LIBERTY!!!

Death On The Highways

Ephraim Frank

Shalom Fellow Israelite,

July 8, 2005

Back in March of 1999 I opened my weekly letter with the following scripture and comment: "The earth is YHVH's, and all its fullness, the world and those who dwell therein" (Psalms 24:1). This past week we went to a burial of a neighbor (Tzvika). His daughter is in the same class as our daughter. He was 47 years old" (end of quote).

Early this morning my daughter left in a hurry to go on a two- day excursion with her pre-army training group. About a half an hour after she left, she called to say that her friend and classmate mentioned above was killed in a motorbike accident.

The rays of the yellow light of the setting sun bathed the hundreds that came to the burial of this young lady. Only a short 14 hours before she was alive, celebrating her 18th birthday. Now her friends were stooping over her grave, watering the flowers scattered over the freshly dug dirt with their tears. Her life long friend and neighbor (who was sitting in a wheelchair next to the grave) gave her a lift on his motorcycle after the party, and what was ringing in my ear was the echo of the old song of the 60's:"no one knows what happened that night, but tell Laura I love her". So many times with tragic accidents many stand around the grave wishing they would have said "Tell ---that I love her or him."

It was only a year ago that I wrote about other neighbors who lost their daughter in a car accident. A couple of years before that, two sisters from our community were also killed in an automobile crash. In between times we wrote about two believers, a mother and her nine-month pregnant daughter, who were all killed in truck-auto accident. Not to mention the Mayor's 19 year old daughter who was killed several years before that. Thus, going last night, again to our small cemetery that looks out over the Coastal Plain, we are reminded that the earth in which those bodies are lying does not belong to the Arabs or the Jews, it belongs to YHVH.

It just so happened that two days before the accident Rimona visited with the mother of our other neighbor, whose daughter was killed almost a year ago. The family is very religious, and Bat El, who was 20 when she was killed, walked in her parents' footsteps. In lieu of army service she rendered services to high school students, teaching them Judaism. Rimona was given a booklet that the family had just published of an essay that Bat El had written on the subject of Faith.

Just before Rimona left, Bat El's mother showed her the last photograph that had been taken of her daughter on the morning before the accident. Bat El had been hiking with some of her girlfriends and had been sleeping out. She got up at 4 A.M to hike to the top of the hill or mountain where they had been camping; it was there that she wanted to say the morning prayers. Her friend's camera caught her, on top of the hill, with her hands raised praising YHVH just before sunrise.

In this very enlightening essay Bat El defines "faith", quoting a few Jewish sources, and elaborates by using mainly the example of the "faith of Abraham", and the ambiguous situation that faced the latter who was asked to sacrifice the son of promise. "Abraham faced a faith issue unlike any other, while his heart was being tested. what did he think about the Almighty? Which of the two Divine revelations to him was he supposed to believe?.. " In other words, if Abraham were to be convinced that YHVH was not going to go through with the sacrifice, because of the promise, then the test would have been of no effect, and in fact YHVH's word could not be trusted or taken seriously. But, if YHVH truly and earnestly wanted Abraham to sacrifice his son, what about the promise? "Was this some kind of joke or a cruel game that Elohim was playing with Abraham?

"Well, Abraham believed in YHVH's promise as if he had never been commanded to sacrifice his son. " But he also believed that YHVH wanted him to sacrifice his son, as if there had never been a promise. "This is the secret of faith for him who is a champion of faith"; in spite of the dichotomy and irrationality of the situation. "For the man of faith the promise and the sacrifice are not mutually exclusive, in spite of all rational considerations.. "The history of the People of Israel bears out this kind of faith.. And this is not truer than in our own day and age. We, the generation of the Holocaust, the sacrifice, are also the ones who have been privileged to attain to the sovereignty of the State of Israel, after all the exiles and sacrifices. We, then, are also the generation of the promise. Thus, in spite of "And offer him there.", the "In Isaac I have I called your seed." validates Abraham's faith completely." (translated by Rimona).

It was hard to believe that a 14 year old wrote this and much more. It was not surprising therefore to hear from her mother about her special gifts, and how around the Shabbat table, and in other situations, she amazed everyone. Rabbis who knew her were all astonished at her devotion to her calling in life and her love for Truth and for the God of Israel.

In contrast to this very religious family, living up the road to our right, is the very secular family down the road to our left. Each of the girls had a completely different life style, but yet each ended up in the same place almost side by side. What can we say?

"YHVH, make me to know my end, and what is the measure of my days, that I may know how transient I am. Indeed, You have made my days as handbreadths, and my lifetime is as nothing before You; Certainly every man in his best state is but vapor. Selah" (Psalms 39:4-5).

Days Of The Spirit And The Bride
Cheryl McGrath

A Commentary in the Aftermath of December 26th, 2004
Jan 11, 2005

Apostolic Intercession Born of the Spirit

In the days immediately following the earthquake and tsunami of December 26th, a number of Christians shared with me their frustration at their inability to find adequate words to intercede as they felt they should. In the main, these were strong and experienced intercessors who normally would have no problems expressing themselves in prayer. Some felt confused and overwhelmed by their sudden sense of inadequacy, questioning why in such a monumental tragedy they found themselves unable to pray with strength and conviction. A seasoned Australian prayer warrior shared with me in an email: "(there is) Nothing but a turmoil I don't understand, and don't know how to express. The only thing coming out of me is "Your Kingdom come. Your Will be done on Earth as your will is done in Heaven" - and that seems so inadequate." Another shared "I have been in a state of grief and helplessness." Let me say here, especially to any who found themselves in this position, that I believe this experience was rather widespread among believers, even among those with powerful intercession ministries.

Personally I am persuaded that during that first week, as the sheer enormity of the event unfolded before the world, the Holy Spirit was pouring out a burden of intercession into every available vessel He could find within the church. More than "prayer warriors", the Spirit was wanting "prayer carriers" in those initial hours. Furthermore, the depth of the intercession needed was far beyond the scope of mere words for most of us. Those who were found available and willing were led into a travail more intense than many had ever previously experienced. Human trauma of such an unprecedented scale demanded an unprecedented response from Heaven - and it came! Corporate intercession, far too huge for one, two, or even a few intercessors to carry, was mobilised, not through the organisation of men and ministries, but through the spontaneous response of the Bride to the Spirit.

Those of us who somehow stumbled through the emotional trauma of those first few days perhaps did not realise to what extent the Spirit was at work beneath those surface-level emotions, drawing us into the very birth pangs of creation spoken of in scripture. Groanings too deep to utter were ascending to Heaven as the Bride-church responded to the cry of the Spirit. I believe that far from being inadequate and futile as many felt their response was, apostolic intercession was being drawn forth on a level not previously seen by men or angels. If you were one of those "vessels" the Spirit poured Himself into with a deep, unutterable travail, I encourage you to take a moment to try and grasp the prophetic significance of that! Nevermind that you didn't understand why you could find no words. Nevermind that you snapped at the children or couldn't look away from the suffering faces of the victims on the television. Nevermind that you felt restless, unfocused and overwhelmed! We should not be surprised when the natural mind does not understand the things of the Spirit. I believe what the Spirit was working out in the church in those first few days subsequent to the disaster was far bigger than any individual, and we will only begin to understand its scale and significance in days to come. Looking back, we will discover that the world changed for ever with the events of December 26th 2004, just as it did on September 11, 2001. But so too, was the church changed forever. Like a tsunami, something earth-shattering has been set in motion that cannot be turned back.

It is my firm conviction that even as the world gasped in shocked horror in those initial hours as news reports revealed more and more devastation, death and suffering, the Bride of Christ was being thrust forward into a new level of corporate intercession that can only be described as apocalyptic. Truly apostolic intercession of this nature cannot be brought forth by a man-controlled church. It is the sovereign responsibility and privilege of the Spirit of God and ushers in a new era of apostolic witness that will prepare the way for Christ's return. We are about to enter unprecedented days of the Spirit and the Bride moving as one on planet earth on such a scale and unity as has never before been known, not even in the days of the early church. In the days ahead the Spirit and Bride together will go forth across the nations, bearing manifested witness to the resurrection life of Christ. The Holy Spirit will unveil an elect company of living sacrifices that are the true Bride of Christ. As the "wife of the Lamb" yields in total submission to the holy governance and sweet fellowship of the Spirit of God, the Spirit will adorn her with the glorious reflection of the Bridegroom, revealing to the world the treasures of the knowledge of Christ that have been hidden within the Bride.

End Time Signs or "All Things Continue as They Were?"

Many church leaders have used the descriptive term "birth pangs" in response to the December 26 earthquake and tsunami that literally changed the face of the earth. Jesus was the first to use this phrase to describe some of the signs that must take place on earth before His return (Matthew 24:4-8). One leader was quoted as saying this current disaster was not a sign of the end times because creation has been groaning for hundreds of years. If you have ever experienced "birth pangs" you know they are not just there for the sake of causing grief - they have a greater purpose. A birth may take place over a lengthy period of time, or a short one, but every woman giving birth has a right to expect that those pangs are going to end with an expected result. When birth pangs are evident, you might say that the natural body is in a state of "earnest expectation" of a new life being revealed.

The scripture uses the same language to describe the revelation of the Bride-church, or the "sons of God", on the earth (Romans 8:19-22). The purpose of birth pangs is to produce change. Jesus said these birth pangs, or "sorrows" have a beginning. It follows that they will have an end. The scriptures state that creation groans in expectation of something that is to be revealed. Therefore the birth pangs of the earth should not be dismissed as "business as usual", but should be seen as a sign to the church to watch expectantly for something they are bringing forth.

Other "voices of reason" point to former earthquakes and tsunamis that have been bigger and resulted in greater loss of life, inferring that if it's not the biggest it is of less spiritual significance. I suggest that the church should be turning to the Word of God to evaluate the significance of this recent event rather than comparing wave heights and Richter Scale measurements. Rather than making premature assertions based on strictly scientific data, the church should be doing what the church is called to do - watching. Given Jesus' warning that the days prior to His return would be similar to the days in which Noah lived (see Matthew 24:37), surely we should be asking if there has ever been a natural disaster, apart from the Flood of Genesis 7, on a such a scale, destroying scores of towns and cities, submerging islands and moving at least one coastline, in one day? We should further consider that the event in question began with the largest earthquake in forty years, and then escalated with a series of killer tsunamis that stretched over twelve nations and two continents. This is not a time, then, for intellectual theorising, but to be seeking the counsel of the Spirit of God and of trusted and proven prophetic voices.

If we are to walk and interact with the world as witnesses to the truth of God's Word, we cannot be selective about the truths contained in that Word. When Jesus' disciples came to Him asking what would be the signs of the end days, He did not treat their question as irrelevant or untimely. Instead He gave them detailed information concerning the very signs the church should be watching for as His return approaches. Many argue that Jesus stated we would not know the day nor the hour when He would return, but in that same sentence He told the church to "watch therefore" (Matthew 25:13). Several years later the apostle Peter , who had experienced this conversation firsthand, exhorted the early church to be "looking for and hastening " the day of God (2 Peter 3:12). It is clear then that though we do not know the day or the hour of the Lord's return, we are to be a watchful and knowledgeable church about the signs of the times. While there may be a great many opinions and interpretations concerning the specific nature and timing of what the Bible calls the "end of the age", scripture makes it clear that natural disasters will play a major role in the days preceding the Lord's coming to reign on earth (see Revelation 8 and 16). Therefore, those who are wise will not dismiss the possibility that God may well be speaking through this recent shaking of the earth.

Is God a God of Love or Judgment?

Early on the morning of 26th December, prior to the devastating earthquake and tsunamis, I came aside with the Lord for our usual time of communion. I was wanting to share and hear His response on several matters weighing on my mind that day . However, instead of the sharing and listening I was hoping for, something unexpected occurred. Entering the restful Presence of the Lord, I suddenly began to be washed over in the Spirit by what I can only describe as waves of the most extraordinary and inexpressible Love. Each wave would roll over me, then recede, only to be followed by another wave, more intense than the previous one, pulling me deeper and deeper into what seemed like an endless ocean of pure Love. To my spiritual senses it seemed like I was being drowned in this Love that was all around me and filling me at the same time. The experience must have lasted for several minutes but I had no consciousness of time. I was only aware of the glorious Presence of the Father , and that I was in His literal embrace. For some reason I did not understand, He was filling me with the experiential knowledge of His profound Love, not only for myself, but for the whole of mankind. I want to stress that I am at ease and secure in my relationship with God as Father and I can boldly enter His Presence through the Blood of Jesus with no sense of shame, having been healed of any former barriers in that area. On two or three occasions I have been summoned into His Holy Presence to receive counsel on specific matters. However, what I experienced on the morning of December 26th was a totally new revelation of the love of the Father that was beyond the realm of words. I literally became speechless as this Love was poured over and through me, to the point where I would have gladly left my earthly body behind to stay in the intensity of the Father's embrace forever. As the Father's loving Presence continued to roll over me like huge waves, I became aware my body could not withstand this spiritual atmosphere much longer and that if I remained in this place I would die. At that point, the intensity of the waves began to weaken, until I found myself back in my normal state, wondering why I had been allowed this brief but profoundly beautiful manifestation of the pure Love of the Father. I believe I was taken by the Spirit as deep into the Father's love as my mortal frame could endure. Little did I dream, at that moment, of the horrible and tragic events that would overtake the nations of South East Asia within a few short hours of my extraordinarily beautiful experience.

I decided to share this personal story only in the hope of reassuring those who may currently be struggling to reconcile a God of love with a God who can allow natural disasters causing death and destruction on the scale we have recently witnessed. It is not the intention of this article to enter into the argument about whether the earthquake and resultant tsunamis were a sign of God's impending judgment, or otherwise. That particular debate will no doubt rage for some time to come, and I have no desire to add yet another opinion to the many already being expressed. It is disturbing to hear arguments going on in the church over this issue. Frankly, it is not important whether we think God instigated this particular natural disaster or not. God will reveal the answer by His Spirit to those who have a need to know. It is important, however, for us to understand that God CAN decree such events if He so chooses.

My purpose here is to challenge the popular misconception that God cannot be both a Loving God AND also a God who imposes judgment. It is understandable for the unredeemed world to be undecided on this issue , but when and how did the church become so confused? My own profound experience on the morning of December 26th affirmed even more deeply to me something I already believed - that God's love and desire for intimate, one to one fellowship with the human race is beyond understanding or human reason. However, on hearing a few hours later of the devastation and loss of life caused by the earthquake and tsunamis, the possibility that God's Hand could have been instrumental in allowing such carnage caused no conflict of faith within me.

Why is it that so many believers are shaken in faith by any suggestion that God could possibly be so offended by sin that He would hold mankind to account? (By the way I do not agree with the view that the tsunami was judgment on certain religions and idolatrous practices. There is just as much, if not more, false religion and idolatry in western nations, and God is no respecter of persons.) I suspect it is because the God many Christians worship is a made-to-measure customised God whose only desirable attribute is grace. But God is more than Grace, He is Truth. (John 1:17), and He is not divided. If we truly want to know God, we have to accept and live with ALL of Who He is, not just the parts we like. Remember that the same God who displayed His love for the world by allowing His dearly cherished Son to die in agony, also commanded the deaths of Egypt's firstborn. The same

Lord who humbly washed the feet of His disciples also whipped the money changers out of the temple grounds. The same Spirit who gently alighted on Christ as a dove, also left Ananias and Saphira stone cold dead at Peter's feet. And the same God who created mankind will also judge mankind.

God is a mystery far beyond the understanding of the human mind. He is not a man, that we can define and discuss and explain. He is not obliged to play by our rules or confine Himself to our humanistic sense of fair play. God's only obligation to mankind is to fulfill His Word. It doesn't matter how many theological books we read, or how many prophetic words we receive, or how many good works we do, it is only through knowing Christ we can know God. But we can never contain Him, and should not attempt to do so.

Furthermore, God does not owe us any explanations for His actions. His attributes have been clearly seen and understood by man since the creation of the world (Romans 1:18-19). Have we forgotten that He is the Creator, and we are the created?. Similarly, the church does not need to defend God. Jesus never defended or explained His Father while He was on the earth. He merely demonstrated His Father's attributes of mercy, grace, humility and an authority that was above all earthly authority, saying "if you have seen Me, you have seen the Father". At the same time He taught a threefold gospel of sin, righteousness and judgment (John 16:8-11). He did not waste time or effort reasoning with men about His Father's right to be Who He is. Jesus' stated mission to the world was about seeking and saving that which was lost (Luke 19:10). That too is the mission of the church to the world. Regardless of whether or not we as individual disciples of Christ believe this event to be wrought by God's Hand of judgment, our purpose and our mission remains the same - to be those who demonstrate the sacrificial love of God in Christ to the world. The world should be able to look at the church and say "I have seen Christ."

Which God Do We Want?

Whether or not the devastation the world endured on December 26th, and other events that will no doubt follow in coming days, prove to be acts of God's judgment or simply natural disasters on a grand scale, for those who are His children there is no conflict of faith. Our God is a God Who can both judge man and then weep with man, because He has walked as one of us. The church's role in this disaster is not to be arguing within itself and debating with the world about the validity of God's love. The truth of God's love is not-negotiable. God is not ever going to do anything more than the Cross to prove the depth of His love for all of mankind, either to the world or to the church. When You have given all You have to give there is nothing left to prove. The church's role on the earth is to do the same as Jesus did - sacrificially demonstrate that love to the homeless, the orphaned, the widowed and the brokenhearted victims of disaster.

In the gospel Jesus left His church, there is no conflict between God's heart of active love and God's acts of judgment. He is both Love and Righteousness at the same time, and is compelled to demonstrate both. It is only the foolishness of man that demands He must be one or the other. Jesus was the very embodiment of God's love, yet He taught that God should be feared (Luke 12:5) You cannot truly love God without fearing Him, and the more you love Him the more you will fear Him. For those who have been redeemed by His Son's Blood, the fear of God Jesus spoke of is not the fear of wrath and eternal judgment the world walks in. It is a reverence that dawns in us as the Spirit reveals God's absolute authority over all creation. It causes our flesh to tremble and our hearts to be irresistibly drawn towards Him. The fear of God will not cause us to run from His Presence; it will cause us to run TO His Presence. If you have ever looked out at a night sky and marveled at the vastness of the universe, you have feared God. If you have ever looked down at your sleeping child and wondered how you came to be trusted with such a gift, you have feared God. There are times when, as God's children we can run headlong into our Father's arms and share our most precious secrets and hopes with Him. There are other times when we can only kneel in silent awe and adoration in His Presence. Fearing God is simply knowing the difference. Unfortunately too much of the church no longer knows the difference.

Dear friends, if we are afraid to believe that the God who sent His Son to die for us is capable of also bringing His judgment to an apostate church and a sinful world, we have reduced Him to an entity that

Peter, John, James, Paul and the believers of the early church would not even recognise. We need to make up our mind which God we want - the God and Father of Jesus Christ, or a God we don't need to fear.

A new era is being birthed across the earth. The coming days will be the days of the Spirit and the Bride together manifesting Christ throughout the nations of the world in an unprecedented measure of glory and power. This is not a time to be reasoning and debating, it is a time to be demonstrating. The Wife of the Lamb must know her God intimately and fear Him reverently. She must be about her Father's business. The Spirit knows how to awaken the Bride - and He has begun.

"And the Spirit and the Bride say "Come!" (Rev. 22:17)

Even so, come, Lord Jesus!

Definers Of The Times

David White

"Now when they began to sing and to praise, the Lord set ambushes against the people of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir, who had come against Judah; and they were defeated." (II Chronicles 20:22)

LAST DAY OUTPOURING OF SPIRIT YET PROMISED

Regardless of how dark it may become and how much sin and lawlessness continue to increase in the world, God has still promised a last day outpouring of His Spirit upon all flesh. (Acts 2:17) God's promise remains that the knowledge of His Glory will cover the earth just as the waters cover the sea. (Hab. 2:14)

No place or people on earth will be omitted from having the opportunity to experience an outpouring of God's Spirit. This is God's word that is forever established in heaven. (Ps. 119:89)

God and God alone will have the final word as to what takes place on the earth. The Psalmist declared, "For the Kingdom is the Lord's, and He rules over the nations." (Ps. 22:28)

INCREASED DREAMS AND VISIONS COME WITH OUTPOURING

With an outpouring of His Spirit will come an increase of dreams and visions among God's people. God is committed to making His purposes and will known to His people. Job reminds us, "for God may speak in one way or another, yet man does not perceive it. In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls upon men, while slumbering on their beds, then He opens the ears of men, and seals their instruction." (Job 33:14-16)

Recently the Lord gave me a dream that speaks to some of what is on His heart for this time and season. This dream was probably more real to me than any dream I have ever had. After the dream ended, I continued to dream of how I must remember what I had just experienced.

THIS DREAM WAS MORE REAL TO ME
THAN ANY DREAM I HAD EVER HAD EVER

In the dream I was with a group of Christians, when suddenly, I was taken from them and brought to what I would describe as a platform that was part of and near the top of a very high tower. I remember looking down from the platform noticing how high I was and realizing there was no ladder or elevator or stairs that led to where I was. I knew there was no way possible that I could ever get to where I was on my own. God had to have gotten me there. I also realized there was no way I would ever get back down without God. .

. . . I remember thinking this was a place of, 'no return'.

I was reminded that God's intention is to bring the church to a place and a level many had thought was no longer possible. In spite of our obvious weaknesses and at times utter unfaithfulness, God would remain faithful to His promises. "If we are faithless, He remains faithful; He cannot deny Himself." (II Tim. 2:13)

NOT BECAUSE WE DESERVE IT, BUT BECAUSE HE IS FAITHFUL

I understood that in spite of who we were, God was taking the church to a place of, ‘no return’. This will not occur because we are in any way deserving or worthy, this was not even the issue. All of our righteousness is still as filthy rags. (Is. 64:6) "It is not because of your righteousness or the uprightness of your heart that you go in to possess their land, but because of the wickedness of these nations that the Lord your God drives them out from before you, and that He may fulfill the word…" (Deut. 9:1-6). We must never forget that God is our righteousness, and He is a covenant keeping God.

Through this experience I understood that the next wave of the Spirit, of which is soon to break, will not fade away into church history books, like previous visitations, but WILL REMAIN until history comes to an end.

‘History’, is really about ‘His-story’, and at the end of age, the Lord of Glory, not the Anti-Christ will have center stage. We are entering into a time that the prophets of old, and even the angels have longed to see.

MAN WAS NOT GOING TO CLAIM CREDIT FOR THIS

As I assessed the situation and how I was unable to do anything to get down from where I was and back to where I had been, I was filled with confidence, that what God was about to do, had to be, and would be, a work of His Spirit. Man was not going to claim any credit for what He will do.

God has allowed many to get to a place where it looks impossible for them to see the fulfillment of His promises in their lives. Some have come to a place where it seems God will never be able to use them in any significant manner again. Even in the world, situations will exist that will seem hopeless. Yet what we are no longer able to do, God can and will do. He will complete the work He has promised.

The message, ‘We can’t, but God can", will be a major emphasis in the days ahead.

ALTARS OF WORSHIP

All of a sudden in the dream, I was taken from the platform on the tower to where I was suddenly a part of a worship gathering.

During the worship, some of the people present, including myself, made our way to the front and to the area around the altar. I then heard the Lord speak about what He called, ‘altars of worship’.

I am aware that God has already raised up altars of worship in many places. A number of cities have already heard the call to establish 24-hour worship centers. However many others are soon to appear, not only in this nation but also in many nations across the earth. The times we are now in will demand it. These altars of worship will release the Lord to be who He is and do what He wants to do.

Jehoshaphat, King of Judah was told that a "great multitude" was gathering against him. The enemies of God’s people were advancing. Jehoshaphat did not have the answers to the problems He now faced. The situation looked hopeless for Judah. Judah was on the verge of destruction. Listen to the king’s prayer that, according to some modern standards, may not have exhibited great faith, but nevertheless, moved the heart and hand of God. "For we have no power against this great multitude that is coming against us; nor do we know what to do, but our eyes are upon You." (II Chron. 20:12)

Jehoshaphat led the people to call upon God. Then as directed, He raised up an army of worshippers who simply sung and praised the Lord. As a result of their worship, God Himself set ambushes and defeated their enemies. God arose and His enemies were scattered. We are entering a similar hour where God will arise!

REVIVAL AND SPIRITUAL AWAKENING

Some have given up, but God has not

Some, in looking at the church and how far we are from where the Lord wants us, have lowered their expectations of seeing a sweeping revival and spiritual awakening in many places. However God has not given up. He is the God who can make a way where there seems to be no way. He has not forgotten prayers that have been prayed over generations.

After hearing the Lord speak about the altars of worship I then saw two different scenes. These events would occur, as the altars of worship were in place.

First, I saw a picture of a heavy rain that was occurring in a deep fog. I could hardly see the rain for the fog, but it was very obvious that it was raining very hard.

"ASK THE LORD FOR RAIN"

The prophet Zechariah encouraged God’s people, "Ask the Lord for rain in the days of the latter rain." Then, as we do, the assurance is that, "The Lord will make flashing clouds; He will give them showers of rain, grass in the field for everyone." (Zech. 10:1) These are the days that if we gather and ask, regardless of how dry it has been, its going to rain!

I’ve had the opportunity to travel to many different places both in the U.S. and in other countries. One thing I’ve noticed about every place, without exception, is that there are at least some, and sometimes many who live there, who have heard and believe that God has chosen their city or area for revival. I remember once questioning the Lord, about how it could be true that all these cities will be the next place where God is going to move. Yet, did not the Lord say He would pour out of His Spirit upon ‘all’ flesh? Did He not say that the knowledge of His glory would cover the earth as the water covers the sea?

It is not the time to faint or worse, give up, but rather it is the time to believe. Did not Jesus say,

"Did I not say to you that if you would believe you would see the glory of God?" (John 11:40)

"I SAW WHAT APPEARED TO BE A SCENE FROM HELL"

Next, I saw what appeared to be a scene from Hell. I saw what seemed to be corridors or levels of Hell. At one of the lower levels, I noticed what I knew was a soul of someone who had lived at some period of time on the earth. This person was forever lost, in agony, and forever hopeless.

After seeing this poor lost man or woman, I then heard the words, ‘It's all about souls’, ‘It's all about souls’, ‘It's all about souls’! It's not about our ministries, it's not about our visions and dreams, it's not about our security, it's not about our reputation, it's not about our accomplishments, it's all about souls. It is all about the harvest, and a harvest has been appointed for every city and nation on the earth.

That's why you are where you are. You did not get there on your own. God brought you there!

In Matthew 24 Jesus reminds the church that yes, "lawlessness will abound" and, "the love of many will grow cold". He continues by warning us of the absolute necessity of endurance and perseverance regardless of the trials of the times. Yet He also assures us what will be on His heart as all these things unfold and that being, the lost. . .

". . .And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then (an only then) will then end come." (Matthew 24:14)

DEFINING THE TIMES

As the enemies of God's people approached, and as it seemed doom was sure, God raised up a voice to remind the people, "Do not be afraid nor dismayed because of this great multitude for the battle is not yours but God's." (II Chronicles 20:15)

Through the prophet Jahaziel, whose name means, "God sees," God instructed the people to do three things. First, they were to position themselves.

1) To survive this battle, they had to get in their place.

2) Secondly, they had to stand still. They had to stay in their place and get still.

3) Third, they were to see the salvation of the Lord. In other words, they were to 'watch and see what God was about to do.'

At the end of the age, the church will not be defined by the times, but instead will be the definers of the times.

Doxology

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Main Entry: dox·ol·o·gy Function: noun Etymology: Medieval Latin doxologia, from Late Greek, from Greek doxa opinion, glory (from dokein to seem, seem good) + -logia -logy : a usually liturgical expression of praise to God

Ps 18:3-14 NKJV
3 I will call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised; So shall I be saved from my enemies. 4 The pangs of death surrounded me, and the floods of ungodliness made me afraid. 5 The sorrows of Sheol surrounded me; The snares of death confronted me. 6 In my distress I called upon the LORD, and cried out to my God; He heard my voice from His temple, and my cry came before Him, even to His ears. 7 Then the earth shook and trembled; The foundations of the hills also quaked and were shaken, because He was angry. 8 Smoke went up from His nostrils, and devouring fire from His mouth; Coals were kindled by it. 9 He bowed the heavens also, and came down with darkness under His feet. 10 And He rode upon a cherub, and flew; He flew upon the wings of the wind. 11 He made darkness His secret place; His canopy around Him was dark waters and thick clouds of the skies. 12 From the brightness before Him, His thick clouds passed with hailstones and coals of fire. 13 The LORD thundered from heaven, and the Most High uttered His voice, Hailstones and coals of fire. 14 He sent out His arrows and scattered the foe, lightnings in abundance, and He vanquished them. 15 Then the channels of the sea were seen, the foundations of the world were uncovered at Your rebuke, O LORD, at the blast of the breath of Your nostrils. 16 He sent from above, He took me; He drew me out of many waters. 17 He delivered me from my strong enemy, from those who hated me, for they were too strong for me. 18 They confronted me in the day of my calamity, but the LORD was my support. 19 He also brought me out into a broad place; He delivered me because He delighted in me.

Then the Lord said:
"Sing to Me a song of ascent! Sing to Me praises. For I am your Deliverer and I am coming on the wings of the wind! I am coming to make deliverance for the bondage of My people. I am coming to destroy the ramparts of darkness! I am going into the dark places of the earth, and they will cough up salvation. I will send many of you to various places and on assignments as stealth bombers! Hidden in My love and under the shadow of My wings, and the enemy will be scattered! I will ARISE! I will FIGHT for you! Believe and SPEAK MY WORD! For it has LIFE when it is empowered by My people!

Speak it over your loved ones and plead the BLOOD of Yeshua! Then I will sing to them a new song! I will sing over them! I will woo them to My side and dangle them on My knees! I will make the crooked paths straight and I will disassemble the work of the enemy in their lives! I will lead them into paths of righteousness for My names sake! ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE WITH ME!

I AM the First and the Last, the Beginning and the END! I AM the GREAT I AM! I AM the ALL CONSUMING FIRE, and MY FIRE IS FLOWING like a river to you My beloveds. I am cleansing and healing, I am delivering and freeing you from all the strategies of the enemy. I will UNCAGE you and let you speak the TRUTH to those I send you to! DO NOT BE AFRAID OF THEIR FACES! For I will send some of you BACK into the lions' dens and the haunts of jackals and you will speak MY PRONOUNCEMENTS, and the earth will tremble! Let ME lead you and guide you. Do only as I say to do. No more, and no less! DO NOT BACK OFF from their stares and unbelief!

I will empower you with the Spirit of MIGHT and you will not be afraid for I AM WITH YOU! Only speak in LOVE, and do not defend yourself to them. Speak and if they don't receive it, kick the dust out from under your feet and walk. Go to your next assignment FREE of any fear of reprisal. For I WILL DEFEND YOU. I will make your face as FLINT! I AM RAISING UP My DREAD CHAMPIONS. I will pour out My Spirit and I will have a church that is filled once again with the Spirit of the FEAR OF THE LORD!

Just PRAISE ME and spend time with ME in the WORD, for I am opening up books, books of secrets kept for some time. I am opening up books of revelation and wisdom. I will pour out into those who are willing to come aside and to wait on ME. For darkness is filling the earth. AND IT IS TIME to FILL YOU UP with MORE OF ME! I desire obedience and not sacrifice!

I am weeding out the garden of your soul and you will come forth as GOLD! I will do a perfect and mysterious work in this hour! Just come to ME My loves! ComeI am waiting for you! I LONG TO HAVE YOU IN MY ARMS! I am JEALOUS FOR YOU! Come to ME. YOU will OVERCOME by the power of your testimony and the BLOOD of the LAMB slain for the sins of the world! I AM WITH YOU! I AM WITH YOU! DO NOT THINK I HAVE GONE ANYWHERE.

Just as I was with those in the furnace of Babylon, I am with you, no matter where you go! Do not entertain defeatism! Do not entertain discouragement! THE BLOOD OF THE LAMB IS STILL POWERFUL AND LIVING AND ENOUGH TO HEAL AND SAVE! LET ME LOVE ON YOU AND DESTROY all that would keep you from intimacy with ME, and the fullness of your destiny.

Dramatic Deliverance

Gen 45:7 NKJV And God sent me before you to preserve a posterity for you in the earth, and to save your lives by a great deliverance.

Obad 17-18 NKJV Israel's Final Triumph "But on Mount Zion there shall be deliverance, and there shall be holiness; The house of Jacob shall possess their possessions. 18 The house of Jacob shall be a fire, And the house of Joseph a flame; But the house of Esau shall be stubble; They shall kindle them and devour them, and no survivor shall remain of the house of Esau, "For the LORD has spoken.

"I have a message for those of you whom I will raise up like Joseph. I am bringing forth many changes in your lives, that I may position you for great deliverances. Many of you have been used as catalysts for revival and sown many seeds for Me in a number of ways. But now I am changing the course of direction for you that you may be in a position to help MANY more be delivered from the times of great destruction coming on the earth.

So you need to draw near Me to get My plans, day to day. I have new alignments I am making to bring forth the finances that will fund the end times army and I have great ideas for making wealth for many who have a marketplace anointing. I am LOOSING those in the earth now, that you will be prepared. But know this, that I am doing this for the benefit of MY PEOPLE not just so you can hoard and spend it as you wish. This is for the deliverance of others, not only yourself. I will invest much into your hands that you can distribute it as I will. So many lives will depend on your obedience in this matter. So do not neglect the secret place in Me. Do not fail to spend time with ME so that you can get My will translated into your hearts.

Many of you will have homes of refuge. Many of you will have communities of refuge. Many of you will have resources of gold given you, and some of that will be supernaturally provided, as you put your trust in Me. I have many plans to bless you and to bring you to the place of death to self, that many others may live and not die, but go through to the end. So many are looking for deliverance from this earth, when what I want is deliverance from your flesh and the enemy, and the world. Who will GO for us? Who will lay down their lives and pick up MINE?

Foxes have holes and birds have nests, but the Son of man had no place to lay his head. He had to depend on others for support and hospitality. Many of you have too much pride yet inside of you to be that flexible. Can you give up NOW at this point, your idea of what you want to do and put it in My hands? I will give it back and provide all you need. It is a heart transition that I am calling for. I want you to be willing at any moment to change direction or roles as I lead you to. But if you are stubborn and unyielding, how can I ask you to do anything on the spur of the moment? You will then hesitate. Hesitation can get you killed in a perilous world. You must be willing to OBEY and ACT when I say to do something.

That is the kind of obedience I am calling for. Are you willing to lay down all your addictions to the things of this world and to lay down your will for Mine? If you will, I will use you as My mouthpiece and I will wreak great deliverances through you for many who are My own, or who WILL be Mine!

I will break the power of spirits of bondage to sex, drugs, alcohol, entertainment and all forms of idolatry if you will lay down all the idols in your own heart. But as long as you cling to your OWN opinions and your own ideas for your life, how can you be free to do what I WANT? Don't you know how much I LOVE YOU? There is nothing that you will lack if you are willing to love Me in this way. I am asking for TOTAL SURRENDER. No more me, myself or I in the picture. Just obedience to My will. If you will love ME back in this manner. I will use you to terrify the forces of hell, and NOTHING will be impossible for you. GREAT miracles will follow you wherever you go. Great deliverance from all forms of evil will happen as you encounter the forces of the enemy.

Isa 60:1-4 NKJV
Arise, shine; For your light has come! And the glory of the LORD is risen upon you. 2 For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and deep darkness the people; but the LORD will arise over you, and His glory will be seen upon you. 3 The Gentiles shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising. 4 "Lift up your eyes all around, and see Prominent leaders in business and industry will be saved and bring great change in influencing many others for the kingdom of God. For many do not see ME as BIG as I really am. To many I am still a weak, impotent God, even within My church who calls Me by their name yet at the same time they blaspheme My name by making me a mere man in the eyes of others.

I am not a God afar off, but close at hand! There is nothing impossible for Me. NOTHING is impossible with ME. NO-THING is impossible for ME! My love never fails, and I will not fail My church in this hour. But I AM preparing her for her finest hour and I will have a SPOTLESS BRIDE. I have loosed many more angels for this end times scenario and I will accomplish all My heart longs to in the preparing of My Bride. You are on the precipice of revival and many are looking for me in the clouds when there is still so much more to be done to accomplish the preparation of My Bride.

Many of you are unawares of the violence that fills the lives of many of My children all over the world. They are MORE PREPARED THAN YOU ARE! They are more prepared because they have been through much lack and pain, and they know how to seek My face and how to suffer with ME, that their pain would be accounted to them for the GLORY that is to come. I told you that if you share in My suffering , you will share in My GLORY. But that glory exposes your weaknesses, and brings awareness of your fallibility and utter nothingness without ME.

THAT IS WHAT IT IS SUPPOSED TO DO. BECAUSE IT IS NOT ABOUT WHAT YOU DO, IT IS ABOUT WHAT I DO THROUGH YOU! IF YOU COULD DO IT ON YOUR OWN, THERE WOULD BE NO REASON FOR ME. BUT YOU CANNOT GO THINKING " Oh now I'm ready, because I am more perfect! " NO, that 's not the way it works My beloveds. You are not to strive to be as perfect as the big name evangelists and teachers. You are to put all your trust in ME to move through you. In your WEAKNESS, I can be shown to be STRONG.

When you are absent of pride in what you can do, then you are more ready for Me to move through you. You must become empty of yourselves to be filled with ME.

Thank ME for your weaknesses. For in your weakness, people can see that it is not YOU doing the miracles and healings. It is ME. When you think yourself the least capable, then that is when I can use you, without you taking the glory for yourself!

THAT is the KEY. You can not think, only if I reach this place of perfection, then I can be used. NO! That is the voice of religious striving! I just want you to OBEY Me as I tell you what to do.

I don't use the perfect. Not many wise are chosen, remember? Remember always that My love NEVER fails for you. I am not here waiting with a hammer to beat you down. If you will just OBEY then I will loose all you need to do what I have told you. BUT YOU MUST TAKE THE STEPS OF FAITH.

1 Cor 1:26-30 NKJV Glory Only in the Lord For you see your calling, brethren, that not many wise according to the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called. 27 But God has chosen the foolish things of the world to put to shame the wise, and God has chosen the weak things of the world to put to shame the things which are mighty; 28 and the base things of the world and the things which are despised God has chosen, and the things which are not, to bring to nothing the things that are, 29 that no flesh should glory in His presence.

1 Cor 1:25-29 AMP
25 [This is] because the foolish thing [that has its source in] God is wiser than men, and the weak thing [that springs] from God is stronger than men. 26 For [simply] consider your own call, brethren; not many [of you were considered to be] wise according to human estimates and standards, not many influential and powerful, not many of high and noble birth. 27 [No] for God selected (deliberately chose) what in the world is foolish to put the wise to shame, and what the world calls weak to put the strong to shame. 28 And God also selected (deliberately chose) what in the world is lowborn and insignificant and branded and treated with contempt, even the things that are nothing, that He might depose and bring to nothing the things that are, 29 So that no mortal man should [have pretense for glorying and] boast in the presence of God.

Perfect or Perfectionism

Perfect or Perfectionism?
tearsofthefather@comcast.net
www.upstreamca.org

One of the largest injustices in the church today is the lack of patience with each other and an intolerance for anyone who doesn't move to the same beat we do. Intolerance, impatience and frustration are part of a complex stronghold associated with perfectionism along with pride, ego and vanity. It is an adulteration of true love, the kind associated with true Christian love. One is conditional, and not love at all. The other is motivated by the love of Christ in us. Perfectionism says, hurry up and get it together so we don't have to put up with your aberrant behavior or behavior which is not agreeable to us.

We don't like, sometimes, those who are different. Some in the church have traveled a much harder road, and we don't have patience with them, even enough to pray for them, when they need soaking prayer and for us to love on them . The fault is in our own dysfunction that seems invisible to those of us walking in our pride. We think we are better somehow if we are quieter and more at peace, instead of preferring the weaker brother or sister. Also, sometimes we aren't quite honest in confronting in love the things we see in others that do need attention. We are often impatient to take the time it takes to love on others. And loving on others takes time.

I remember someone teaching us at a leadership group for future cell leaders once that when you make a new convert, you should spend at least 15 minutes a week with them! At the time I was appalled that he could stand and say that without realizing the lack of concern and care there was evidenced in that statement. Remember, if you will, how the early Christians did things...they broke bread together, and shared all they had with each other. They met daily and we can't even give of our very busy time to those in need. You know if we tried less to do, to the many, and just cared for the one we know, it would speak much better for us as a whole church.

Like the person who wrote this....

Aristides, a Christian from Athens, wrote this in defense of Christians to the Emperor Hadrian in the year 125 AD....... "they love one another, and from widows they do not turn away their esteem; and they deliver the orphan from him who treats him harshly. And he, who has, gives to him who has not, without boasting. And when they see a stranger, they take him in to their homes and rejoice over him as a very brother; for they do not call them brethren after the flesh, but brethren after the spirit and in God.

And whenever one of their poor passes from the world, each one of them according to his ability gives heed to him and carefully sees to his burial. And if they hear that one of their number is imprisoned or afflicted on account of the name of their Messiah, all of them anxiously minister to his necessity , and if it is possible to redeem him they set him free. And if there is among them any that is poor and needy, and if they have no spare food, they fast two or three days in order to supply to the needy their lack of food. They observe the precepts of their Messiah with much care, living justly and soberly as the Lord their God commanded them. Every morning and every hour they give thanks and praise to God for his lovingkindnesses toward them; and for their food and their drink they offer thanksgiving to Him."

This attitude of gratefulness and thanksgiving is not evident in the pride of perfectionism. In perfectionism there is DISCONTENTMENT with self and with others. Nothing is ever done as perfectly as it SHOULD be. I know very well as I lived with perfectionism all my life, in my foster home and with my natural mother, and I became what I judged. I have had to still battle thoughts in my mind that criticize and judge others. Faultfinding is a close companion to these other spirits associated with perfectionism. And never feeling good enough is transferred often to God as a result of the harsh taskmaster in our lives. In God's eyes we often never feel good enough.

This is often accompanied by self-condemnation and condemnation of others. It fits quite well with a religious spirit because a religious spirit is like a harsh taskmaster, always demanding MORE. Always ready to compulsively confess to whatever sin there is out of fear of punishment...but without inner healing, not really achieving the peace that comes from heart change wrought by the Spirit of God when He comes and heals your inner man. Roots of perfectionism in our heart are often fueled by fear that came as a child; fear of failure, fear of punishment or abuse or neglect, that came when we didn't do things perfectly.

But fear involves TORMENT the scriptures say. And only the LOVE of GOD can cast down these fears and uproot the damage done when parents or teachers demand more of a child than they can do themselves such as happens with perfectionism. Trying to please God like we did our parents is noble but can become just a habit of compulsive behavior and confession, and no real healing will take place unless we surrender completely our will in getting the healing we need.

PRIDE is also greatly connected to this stronghold of perfectionism...pride, ego, vanity, arrogance, intolerance, frustration and impatience. It is seen in many alcoholic families and is deeply imbedded in ancient cultures all over the world.

So in an effort to dispel some religious demons I looked up the word perfect in the Word, and the study speaks for itself. God sanctifies us with His glory and in order for Him to do that we need to get into His presence, through reading the word to transform our mind, and through intimate worship and prayer and meditation with and on the Living Word Who is a person. Remembering that Christ Jesus admonished the religious that they search the scriptures for in THEM they think they have salvation, but they were unwilling to come to HIM the well of Living Water. Perfect is about WHOLENESS. Becoming whole so we can walk in His perfect will.

Paul also talks about finishing the race and working out your salvation (the word for deliverance in that case) with fear and trembling. It is a PROCESS, and not instantaneous as some would have us think. God is not like a snow sled driver yelling MUSH YOU HUSKIES! He leads us into paths of righteousness for His name's sake , it says in scripture. Emphasis on HE LEADS. We cannot accomplish perfection by trying harder to be more perfect as that is a fakery.

If we could , why would we need a Saviour?????

He is our righteousness! It is by faith we have been saved that no man could boast! But our churches are full of boasting. SO GOD MUST COME AND TRANSFORM US! His word in the Old Testament establishes this. The lame are not yet leaping like deer commonly, like it says in Isaiah 66. He promises to bring us forth to birth of Christ in us, the Hope of Glory. We are on the path. And there is also admonishment to those who stubbornly refuse to get the healing needed to be made perfect! It is ONLY in HIS PRESENCE that we can be healed and perfected. Not by our own might or strength, but by HIS SPIRIT! But we must submit to His will in inner healing and deliverance. We must cooperate with the Holy Spirit!

Eph 4:13 KJV Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ: [5046 perfect]

NT:5046 teleios (tel'-i-os); from NT:5056; complete (in various applications of labor, growth, mental and moral character, etc.); neuter (as noun, with NT:3588) completeness: KJV-of full age, man, perfect.

Phil 3:12 KJV Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus. [5048 perfect]

NT:5048 teleioo (tel-i-o'-o); from NT:5046; to complete, i.e. (literally) accomplish, or (figuratively) consummate (in character): KJV-consecrate, finish, fulfil, make) perfect.

Phil 3:15 KJV Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you.

Note it says GOD WILL REVEAL IT, not your brother or sister feeling compelled to "FIX" you. There is the responsibility to be listening through relationship with Him inferred in this. Also there is a difference in "fixing" others which is a form of control, and telling the truth in LOVE which comes out of real RELATIONSHIP with another person. We need to know the difference. Often out of fear we don't confront our friends but whatever we do it better be because God told us to do it, not out of our compulsion to "FIX" others.

Col 1:28 KJV Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus: [5046 perfect]

Col 4:12 KJV Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ saluteth you, always labouring fervently for you in prayers that ye may stand perfect and complete in all the will of God.

5046 perfect 2532 and 4137 complete

1 Thess 3:10 KJV Night and day praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might perfect that which is lacking in your faith? [2675 might perfect]

NT:2675 katartizo (kat-ar-tid'-zo); from NT:2596 and a derivative of NT:739; to complete thoroughly, i.e. repair (literally or figuratively) or adjust: KJV-fit, frame, mend, (make) perfect (-ly join together), prepare, restore.

2 Tim 3:17 KJV That the man of God may be perfect, throughly furnished unto all good works.

Herein is the reason partly of being made perfect that our works would be to the Glory of God, fully in obedience to Him.[739-perfect]

NT:739 artios (ar'-tee-os); from NT:737; fresh, i.e. (by implication) complete: KJV-perfect.

Heb 2:10 KJV For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings.

Here again is the word teleeo (5048)and we are made perfect through what? Suffering!

NT:5048 teleioo (tel-i-o'-o); from NT:5046; to complete, i.e. (literally) accomplish, or (figuratively) consummate (in character):KJV-consecrate, finish, fulfil, make) perfect.

Heb 7:19 KJV For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God.

Heb 9:9 KJV Which was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience;

Heb 9:11 KJV But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building;

Heb 10:1 KJV For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect.

Heb 12:23-25 KJV To the general assembly and church of the firstborn, which are written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect, And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel. See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven: 5048 made perfect,(teleeo again)

Heb 13:21 KJV Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

James 1:4-6 KJV But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing. If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.

5046 perfect 2041 work, 2443 that 5600 ye may be 5046 perfect

James 1:17 KJV Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. [5046 perfect]

James 1:25 KJV But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed.

James 2:22 Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect? (of course not)

James 3:2 KJV For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body.

This also indicates it is impossible to please everyone something a perfectionist does not believe totally. It speaks for FORBEARANCE a fruit of the Holy Spirit that bears with the weakness and faults of others.

1 Peter 5:10 KJV But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you. [2675 perfect]

1 John 4:17-18 KJV Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world. There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love. [5048 made perfect]

Love that is perfect.....God's love casts down all fear. When we are fearing what other people think or fearing failure, or punishment, or retaliation or death or anything we are not perfected in love and this should be a clue to us that we need His healing LOVE to touch us MORE.

Rev 3:2 KJV Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die: for I have not found thy works perfect before God. 4137 perfect

NT:4137 pleroo (play-ro'-o); from NT:4134; to make replete, i.e. (literally) to cram (a net), level up (a hollow), or (figuratively) to furnish (or imbue, diffuse, influence), satisfy, execute (an office), finish (a period or task), verify (or coincide with a prediction), etc.: KJV-accomplish, X after, (be) complete, end, expire, fill (up), fulfil, (be, make) full (come), fully preach, perfect, supply. NT:4134 pleres (play'-race); from NT:4130; replete, or covered over; by analogy, complete: KJV-full.

NT4130 pletho (play'-tho); a prolonged form of a primary pleo (pleh'-o) (which appears only as an alternate in certain tenses and in the reduplicated form pimplemi); to "fill" (literally or figuratively [imbue, influence, supply]); specifically, to fulfil (time): KJV-accomplish, full (... come), furnish.

2 Chron 19:9 KJV And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the LORD, faithfully, and with a perfect heart.[8003]

Job 1:1 There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eschewed evil. [8535 perfect]

OT:8535 tam (tawm); from OT:8552; complete; usually (morally) pious; specifically, gentle, dear: KJV-coupled together, perfect, plain, undefiled, upright.

OT:8552 tamam (taw-mam'); a primitive root; to complete, in a good or a bad sense, literal, or figurative, transitive or intransitive (as follows):KJV-accomplish, cease, be clean [passed-], consume, have done, (come to an, have an, make an) end, fail, come to the full, be all gone, X be all here, be (make) perfect, be spent, sum, be (shewself) upright, be wasted, whole.. teman, Teman. See OT:8486, OT:8487.

OT:8486 teyman (tay-mawn'); or teman (tay-mawn'); denominative from OT:3225; the south (as being on the right hand of a person facing the east): KJV-south (side, -ward, wind).

Job 8:20 KJV Behold, God will not cast away a perfect man, neither will he help the evil doers:

Job 9:20-22 KJV If I justify myself, mine own mouth shall condemn me: if I say, I am perfect, it shall also prove me perverse. Though I were perfect, yet would I not know my soul: I would despise my life. This is one thing, therefore I said it, He destroyeth the perfect and the wicked.

Job 22:3 Is it any pleasure to the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it gain to him that thou makest thy ways perfect? 8552 perfect

Job 36:4 For truly my words shall not be false: he that is perfect in knowledge is with thee.

OT:8549 tamiym (8549 he that is perfect in taw-meem'); from OT:8552; entire (literally, figuratively or morally); also (as noun) integrity, truth:KJV-without blemish, complete, full, perfect, sincerely (-ity), sound, without spot, undefiled, upright (-ly), whole.

Here we see perfection linked with integrity and truth... it is when truth goes in us, that we get set free. Someone can read the bible for 25 years, yet not practice what they read...as they have not truly taken it in. The Holy Spirit's job is to quicken the truth in our hearts when we hear it!

Ps 18:30 KJV As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the LORD is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him.

Ps 18:32 KJV It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect.

Ps 19:7 KJV The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple.

Ps 37:37 KJV Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace.

Here perfection is aligned with PEACE! He who is made perfect will have peace. And the mind that is STAYED on HIM will have peace.

Ps 64:2-4 KJV Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked; from the insurrection of the workers of iniquity: Who whet their tongue like a sword, and bend their bows to shoot their arrows, even bitter words: That they may shoot in secret at the perfect: suddenly do they shoot at him, and fear not.

Ps 101:2 KJV will behave myself wisely in a perfect way. O when wilt thou come unto me? I will walk within my house with a perfect heart.

Ps 101:1-7 KJV I will sing of mercy and judgment: unto thee, O LORD, will I sing. I will behave myself wisely in a perfect way. O when wilt thou come unto me? I will walk within my house with a perfect heart. I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the work of them that turn aside; it shall not cleave to me. A froward heart shall depart from me: I will not know a wicked person. Whoso privily slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer. Mine eyes shall be upon the faithful of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serve me. He that worketh deceit shall not dwell within my house: he that telleth lies shall not tarry in my sight. [8549 perfect]

OT:8549 tamiym (taw-meem'); from OT:8552; entire (literally, figuratively or morally); also (as noun) integrity, truth: KJV-without blemish, complete, full, perfect, sincerely (-ity), sound, without spot, undefiled, upright (-ly), whole.

It is interesting here that perfection is associated with not being unequally yoked with the wicked. That means obedience to God in all our ways, and not being afraid of the rejection of man.

Ps 138:8 KJV The LORD will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O LORD, endureth forever: forsake not the works of thine own hands. [1584 will perfect]
OT:1584 gamar (gaw-mar'); a primitive root; to end (in the sense of completion or failure): KJV-cease, come to an end, fail, perfect, perform.

Prov 11:5 KJV The righteousness of the perfect shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall by his own wickedness.

Prov 4:18 KJV But the path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day. (gradual process implied by shineth more and more glory to glory)

Prov 2:21 KJV For the upright shall dwell in the land, and the perfect shall remain in it.

Isa 18:5 KJV For afore the harvest, when the bud is perfect, and the sour grape is ripening in the flower, he shall both cut off the sprigs with pruning hooks, and take away and down the branches.

Isa 38:3 KJV And said, Remember now, O LORD, I beseech thee, how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy sight. And Hezekiah wept sore.

Over and over in scripture it refers to the perfect in HEART so look at David whom God described as a man after His own heart as an example of perfection and in that we do not see someone who never made mistakes do we, but his heart was perfect in repenting before God. In his heart David wanted to do what is right.

1 Chron 29:19 KJV And give unto Solomon my son a perfect heart, to keep thy commandments, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to do all these things, and to build the palace, for the which I have made provision. [8003 perfect]

OT:8003 shalem (shaw-lame'); from OT:7999; complete (literally or figuratively);especially friendly: KJV-full, just, made ready, peaceable, perfect (-ed), quiet, Shalem [by mistake for a name], whole.

1 Kings 8:61 KJV Let your heart therefore be perfect with the LORD our God, to walk in his statutes, and to keep his commandments, as at this day.

Micah says, and what does the Lord require of you oh man? (to paraphrase) But that you do justly, show mercy, and walk HUMBLY with your God! Jesus said Justice, mercy and FAITH are the weightier matters of the law. So continue to press in sons of man and be diligent seekers of Him as that is who He says he will reward!

If perfectionism is something you are trying to overcome "Living With a Perfectionist" by Dr David Stoop is wonderful for opening of the eyes and good suggestions for overcoming in some areas.

Prayer:

Father, in the name of Jesus, I confess that I have struggled with perfectionism and I want to be free, so I ask you to unravel the cords of perfectionism over my mind and heart and soul. I surrender to you my life completely and renounce all trying to keep in control of it. I want to surrender 100% Lord to Your will in my life. I renounce all religiosity, all perfectionism, all pride and discontentment, all ego and vanity, all frustration , intolerance and impatience with others and I thank you that You are removing them from my life; that you will give me abundant grace to over come all the works of the enemy that have hindered me. Uproot and heal all the negative experiences In my life and help me to forgive those that treated me with perfectionism. Help me Lord to worship and praise You in all things. Give me a grateful heart, a heart of thanksgiving before You. Pour out Your manifest LOVE in me and set me free from all my fears Lord, in Jesus Mighty name! Amen!

Dangerous Radical Prayers

Bill Somers

Mt. Gilead, Ohio USA

> Numbers 6:24-26
> 24 The LORD bless thee, and keep thee:
> 25 The LORD make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee:
> 26 The LORD lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.

Have you ever had someone tell you never pray for patience? And in saying this they talking about how the bible says tribulation brings patience? And who wants more tribulation, right?

Well this is partly a joke and partly an admission that one wishes to avoid God's dealings and just stay the way we are. That is we like it in our comfort zones and we want nothing to disturb us there. God however is going to put us through tribulations anyway, to produce patience whether we like it or not, so why are we making it harder than it has to be?

Blessings
The blessing quoted above is becoming a popular saying these days, and is well suited for those who love their comfort zone.

Now compare that to a really dangerous prayer, one you best not pray unless you are totally serious with God. It goes like this:

> Lord, judge me, strictly,
> and correct me severely,
> so I may serve you perfectly.

Did you say ouch?

Well we're going to build on this idea and offer some scriptural prayers of blessing. These will be based on our own end time prophetic vision; dangerous radical prayers. We will include scripture references with each one, ones that form the basis of each prayer.

In a previous article of mine, The Stumbling Block, I spoke of how the bible has over 40 some verses that detail promises to those who will follow Jesus. They are promises of persecution, suffering and martyrdom. We will lay out some dangerous radical prayers that fall under each of these headings. But first let's start with something relatively tame; and then give some of a more generic nature. Here goes!

May you never walk in the counsel of the ungodly, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornful. But let your delight be in the law of the LORD; in which you meditate day and night. And may you be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bring forth fruit in his season; whose leaf does not wither; and whatsoever he does shall prosper. [Psalms 1:1-3]

May you trust in the Lord with all your heart and not depend on your own ability or understanding. May you acknowledge him in everything you do, letting him direct you in all things. May you not be wise in your own eyes, but fear the Lord and depart from evil. [Proverbs 3:5-7]

Now one not so tame:
May you be willing in the day of His power. [Psalms 110:3]

Willing to do what? What ever the Lord will command!
[John 2:5]

May you be conformed to the image of Christ. [Romans 8:29]

May the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him: That the eyes of your understanding will be enlightened; so that you may know the hope of his calling, and the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, And the exceeding greatness of his power toward us who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, [Ephesians 1:17-19]

May God grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; and that you, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; And to know the love of Christ, which passes knowledge, that you might be filled with all the fullness of God. [Ephesians 3:16-19]

May you be poor in spirit, mournful and meek. May you hunger and thirst after the kingdom of God, and it’s righteousness. May you always be a peacemaker, merciful, and pure in heart. [Matthew 5:3-9, Matthew 6:33]

May you be hidden in Him in the day of his anger. [Zephaniah 2:3]

May you mature and grow up into the unity of the faith and the knowledge of the Son of God. May you come unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ: That you will thereafter not be as a child, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive; But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ: And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; so that you may put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness. [Ephesians 4: 13-15; 23-24]
May you be clothed with righteousness. Psalms [132:9, 16]

May you put away childish things as you mature. [1 Corinthians 13:11]

May you behold how pleasant it is to dwell in unity and receive the blessing of life for evermore. [Psalms 133:1-3]

May you be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might, putting on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. [Ephesians 6:10-13]

May the Spirit fall upon you and make you into another person. [1 Samuel 10:6-7]

Persecution

May you be persecuted for righteousness' sake. May men hate, revile, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for Jesus’ sake knowing that he who endures to the end shall be saved. [Matthew 5:3-11 Mark 13:13].

May you be troubled on every side, yet not distressed; perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed; [2 Corinthians 4:8-9]

May you count it all joy when you fall into various temptations knowing that the trying of your faith works patience. Let patience have her perfect work, that you may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

[James 1:2-4]

May you consider the things of this world as trash and waste for the excellence of the knowledge of Christ Jesus. And may you know him, the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death; [Philippians 3:8-10]

Suffering

May you be a chosen vessel unto the Lord, refined, but not with silver; rather chosen in the furnace of affliction. May he show you what great things to suffer for his name's sake. Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for you in the flesh, arm yourself likewise with the same mind: for he that has suffered in the flesh has ceased from sin; That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.
And may you never terrified by your adversaries: which is to them a proof of destruction, but to you of salvation. For to you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake; [Isaiah 48:10, Acts 9:15-16, 1 Peter 4:1-2, Philippians 1:28-29]

May you learn perfection through the things you will have to suffer. [Hebrews 5:8]

As you suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of your soul to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator. [1 Peter 4:17-19]

May the Lord demonstrate his great love for you by chastisement. And may you never despise the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when you are rebuked. For whoever the Lord loves he chastens, and scourges every son whom he receives. If you endure chastening, God deals with you as a son for your profit, that you might be a partaker of his holiness, and afterward receive the peaceable fruit of righteousness. [Hebrews 12:5-7:10-11 Revelation 3:19 Proverbs 3:11-12]

May he work patience in you by many tribulations. And may you glory in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation works patience; And patience, experience; and experience, hope: And hope will make you unashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in your heart by the Holy Ghost which is given unto you. [Romans 5:3-5]

Rejoice, inasmuch as you are a partaker of Christ's sufferings; so that, when his glory shall be revealed, you may be glad also with exceeding joy. If you are reproached for the name of Christ, then may you be happy; for the spirit of glory and of God rests upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified. [1 Peter 4:13-14]

May his strength be made perfect in your weakness May his grace be all you need in any situation. May you take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake. For when you are weak, then you are strong, because his grace is sufficient and his strength is made perfect in your weakness. [2 Corinthians 12:9-10]

May you reap in joy after sowing in sorrow. Psalms 126:5-6

May you have suffering turn to Joy as when a woman is delivered of child. John 16:20-21]

May the Rock fall upon you and grind you to powder, and may that powder then be mixed with water from the river of life, forming a marvelously pliable clay. May the master potter then take this clay and fashion a vessel fit for His use. [Luke 20:17-18, Isaiah 64:8, Romans 9:20-23, 2 Timothy 2:20-21]

Martyrdom

May you be given grace, by the mercies of God, to present your body a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And to not be conformed to this world: but to be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God. [Romans 12:1-2]

May you be ready to be offered up after you have run your race! That you will know when the time of your departure is at hand; having fought a good fight, finished your course, and kept the faith: [2 Timothy 4:6-7]

May you have boldness in the day of judgment. May the perfect love of the father be shed abroad into your heart by the Holy Spirit. So that as perfect love casts out all fear, you may walk through the valley of the Shadow of death fearing no evil. [Romans 5:5, 1 John 4:16-18, Psalms 23:4]

May you be always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest. For those who live are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in your mortal flesh. Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise you up also by Jesus. Though your outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. For your light affliction, which is but for a moment, works for you a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; as you look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. [2 Corinthians 4:6-18]

As you endure tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword may you be more than a conqueror through him that loved you. For neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate you from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. [Romans 8:35-39]

May you be able to say with Job Though He slay me, yet I will trust him! [Job 13:15]

May the Lord be your God for ever and ever: and be your guide even unto death. [Psalms 48:14]

May your death be precious in the sight of the LORD. [Psalms 116:15]

May you come to sit with him in his throne as he is seated with his father. Amen. [Revelation 3:21]

Draw Near

Chimezie Onyebilanma

7th July 2005
"Let's draw near with a true heart..." Hebrew 10: 22

In Exodus 33: 7, Moses set up the tent of meeting to provide a place for a personal encounter with God for the children of Israel. But the people would not use it. The bible said "whenever Moses went out to the tent, all the people rose and stood at the entrance to their tents, watching Moses until he entered the tent." They were content to watch from their tent doors – to worship from afar.
Why did the people not go beyond their tent doors? Why were they satisfied to remain so far away despite the open invitation to encounter God face to face? Their reaction is similar to what it was when God came to meet with them at Mount Sinai. They were afraid to draw near and so asked Moses to go instead of them. To them, God looked so awesome, so all-consuming that there was that fear that "won't I be consumed if I go too near? Won't I die?"

There is something in us that keeps us from drawing near enough to God. It is the fear that he will consume us, that we will lose control of our lives. That he will take over completely, and that will surely mean death to our goals, plans, and ambitions. Death to those things we consider to be 'our good'. So like the Israelites we are content to worship from afar – from the place of security. "they all stood and worshiped, each at the entrance to his tent". Blocked by the fear of being consumed by God they forfeited the glory of finding God and settled for emptiness.

There is always shallowness when we choose to worship from afar. We will never find intimacy except we make the choice to draw near. Whenever we seek to save our lives in our pursuit of God, we begin to lose it. It is true that intimacy will cost us something – it is risky. For when we draw near, Jesus does come to take over and consume us. And yes, we might have to give up our cherished dreams and ambitions. But all these cannot compare with the friendship we will get. Nothing can compare to the glory of seeing him with an unveiled face. The bible says "The LORD will speak to Moses face to face as a man speaks with his friend". Can anything compare with this?

Hear how Paul describes it: "I consider everything a loss compared to the surpassing greatness of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord, for whose sake I have lost all things. I consider them rubbish, that I may gain Christ" Philippians 3:8
Draw near, though you will lose your life, yet it is only then that you will find it.

PLEASE are you born again? It is not enough to believe in the existence of God, to go to church, or be interested in spiritual things. Jesus said "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me" (John 14:6). Jesus died to deliver you from sin so that you can come to God. (John 3:16) If you ask him to forgive you and give you a new heart he will. (Acts 2:38; Romans 10:9-11).Try it. I'd love to hear from you @ chim_ibidun@hotmail.com

Discernment Is Not The Problem

> Matthew 21:23-27
> 23 And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?
> 24 And Jesus answered and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I in like wise will tell you by what authority I do these things.
> 25 The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say unto us, Why did ye not then believe him?
> 26 But if we shall say, Of men; we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet.
> 27 And they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

People are asking what is really going on in Florida. So let’s take a look at two possible explanations and see what makes more sense.

Some are saying the Florida Outpouring is not a real revival. True enough, it’s an outpouring of healing and evangelism. And it’s not the great end time outpouring of the Spirit that we have been praying for, at least not yet.

So try and follow this logic.

Since the outpouring is not a real revival, it must be a false revival. DUH!
Since it is a false revival, all the manifestations are faked. DUH!
Since the manifestations are all false, the healings must be demonic. DUH!
Since there are demonic healings, the entire outpouring must be a deception. DUH!
Since this entire business is a deception, this must be the great end time delusion. DUH!

Now try this approach.
Since God is moving in great power, the enemy is showing up and trying to spoil things.
He will throw in some strange fire and get some skeptics upset.
Then he can sow lots of discord and discredit the outpouring.
And maybe that way, he can stop the move of God before it goes any farther. Hey it worked before!
Since you can fool some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, that’s all it takes!

Discernment

Discernment: keenly selective judgment: good taste and judgment;
knowledge, understanding, grasp, appreciation, familiarity, recognition, perception,
Encarta® Thesaurus © 2000 Microsoft Corporation. All rights reserved. Developed for Microsoft by Bloomsbury Publishing Plc.

People are moaning about a lack of discernment. Discernment is not the biggest need. It’s what you do with the discernment you have. The biggest lack is a Christ like attitude. The accuser of the brethren is said to operate day and night. Revelation 12:10. Jesus is said to ever intercede before the father in heaven. Hebrews 7:25.
Which one are we going to come in agreement with? Do we curse or do we bless?

Now there is the case of a Pharisee who went up to pray Luke 18: 10-13. He had discernment, and he used it to accuse the publican of being among the extortionists, the unjust, and the adulterers.

The Christ like attitude is seen in John 8:1-11. There Jesus knew [discerned] that the Pharisees were liars, since they misquoted the Law of Moses. And he knew they were also guilty of obstructing justice, by not bringing in the other guilty party in a case of adultery. Leviticus 20:10. Did he accuse them in front of all the people in the temple? Did he expose their corruption? Or did he give them space to repent?

What Are We Looking And Praying For?

Here are a couple passages that speak a promise of restoration to God's people, after a time of strife. I believe these foretell the end of the Civil War and the joy of the coming Kingdom of God in the great end time revival. Come Lord Jesus.

> Isaiah 29:17-24
> 17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed as a forest?
> 18 And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness.
> 19 The meek also shall increase their joy in the LORD, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.
> 20 For the terrible one is brought to nought, and the scorner is consumed, and all that watch for iniquity are cut off:
> 21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought.
> 22 Therefore thus saith the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob, Jacob shall not now be ashamed, neither shall his face now wax pale.
> 23 But when he seeth his children, the work of mine hands, in the midst of him, they shall sanctify my name, and sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and shall fear the God of Israel.
> 24 They also that erred in spirit shall come to understanding, and they that murmured shall learn doctrine.
> Isaiah 52:6-10
> 6 Therefore my people shall know my name: therefore they shall know in that day that I am he that doth speak: behold, it is I.
> 7 How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth!
> 8 Thy watchmen shall lift up the voice; with the voice together shall they sing: for they shall see eye to eye, when the LORD shall bring again Zion.
> 9 Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the LORD hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem.
> 10 The LORD hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.

Discerning The Body of Christ

Clo DiPilato

A Word of the Lord on March 22,2002

Oh My people it is at the very center of My heart that you would begin to discern that which I have placed within the center of your hearts which causes you to be a lively stone in the temple of the living God that makes up the living edifice I call the Christ, the many-membered Body which is the completion and fullness of My Son who sits on the throne in heaven ruling and reigning and henceforth expecting until His enemies are made His footstool, and until all things are subdued unto Himself.

I am at work within My people to agitate you into the place of understanding that truly I AM a "many-membered Body" and even as the expression of nature is varied and with a multiplicity of facets and expressions even so I reveal Myself with fullness and variety through My people, and when you begin to understand this you will no longer bite or devour or doubt or cast dispersion upon one another, but you will begin to see that even as a diamond with many rays of light reflected and refracted out of the brilliance catching the light and the glory of the Sun (Son) , even so I reveal Myself through this many-membered Body.

That which I have given you to show forth of My person and My revelation and My will in the earth is not undermined or put in any jeopardy or disdain because you receive the balance of an opposing word or truth. And yet My people insist on thinking that their little portion of truth, their little portion of light is the ultimate in understanding and revelation and they forbid the significant other voices through which I speak that I might have the representative of My true fullness in the Earth.

For all that I do in this earth, I have a prophetic expression. I have an expression of warning and judgment, and I have an expression of blessing and health and wholeness. My eyes wander throughout the whole earth to see those whose hearts are perfect toward Me, and turned toward Me and longing toward Me, and I am quick to speak a word of power and blessing and reconciliation on the behalf of those who seek Me. Your discerning the need for my chastening and correction and wrath upon sin and disobedience and backslidings will never dilute My love and determination to dispense My favor, and My grace and My mercy when I so desire to pour it out on a people or a person who seeks Me and desires to know Me and please Me, no matter how frail their flesh may be, and no matter how pronounced their weaknesses may seem to you.

And in the fullness of time when the cup of my wrath is full and I have pressed out the grapes of my wrath it shall be clearly seen that it is a winepress I have trodden alone . I am the only one who truly sees into the hearts of men to render righteous and undefiled and unadulterated and pure judgment because I am the one who sees deeply into every motive and situation, and therefore I have left the judgment purely to My Son who sees with My eyes, and it shall only be given to a people who see as I see to "sit on the 12 thrones judging Israel (My people) in the earth." I do not see as men see, and I do not hear as men hear, but with righteous judgment and with equity I judge all the earth to render unto every man according to his works, and if I cannot trust My own people to truly discern My body in the earth, how I can I trust you to sit in judgment of the world, and of angels (which indeed is the very inheritance of the saints in light?)

I am not giving My judgments or My words of judgment to any people or any person or any prophet who is not fully discerning My Body in the earth because I will not have My works and My word defiled by the heart that has no understanding of My purpose or the manifestation of My Body in the earth.

And when you are so limited in your understanding that you can't perceive My fullness manifested in My people on many levels of truth, and many levels of expression then you do not understand Me.

If you are in the desert where there is no water and the ground is parched and dry and the slithering creatures of the earth feed on the dust are you going to declare because you are in the desert that there is no lush green mountain from which flows out fountains, rivers, and streams of waters coursing between the pathways of rocks and earth cut out by the very force of those waters?

And yet My people do this very thing when they fail to recognize that just as I express Myself and My nature through the Creation with the different aspects of My character showcased fully where ever you might light your eyes in this earth, even so I express Myself through My Body from My anger and wrath and judgments to My mercy and life and restoration and reconciliation.

You prophets of judgment who despise My vessels of Mercy and Grace, I am against this attitude in your spirit!!! You only have a facet of My truth and a facet of the revelation of My will and purpose. You do not have the whole picture. You are only a stone in the edifice I am building for My glory, and if you refuse to be built up together with those of a different expression than you are working against the manifestation of the fullness of My glory and knowledge being realized in the Earth. You cry out against sin and uncleanness, but then you defeat My very purpose in bringing a people together that I can fill with My glory so that there is NO desire for such things by NOT recognizing where I am coming forth in a greater fullness of life and purity.
You have your eyes only to see the wicked and the perverse, and you refuse to perceive where I am exalted in love and honor and obedience. Beware lest you be as Jonah, more determined to be the recognized prophet in the land than a vessel of My choosing to lead people to repentance and restoration.

You prophets of prosperity and blessing and never-ending Mercy who despise the words of warning and judgment I send through My servants, you lack understanding that I have truly created vessels as My weapons of war against the wicked works of Satan even trying to infiltrate My people with worldliness and habits of sin and uncleanness. I have raised these ones up to manifest My Holy anger against that which keeps My people from entering in fully to what I have for them.

Don't you know that only that which is truly holy and pure can inherit the fullness of My glory and My blessing that you so willingly and eagerly and continuously pronounce upon My people?
Don't you realize that without the prophets coming forth with the words of warning and judgment and pronouncements against sin and uncleanness there can be NONE of the blessings and prosperity which you so eagerly preach and teach and prophesy to My people ? Without a true cleansing from all that is contrary to My holy and undefiled and sinless nature you can never be the habitation of My glory I have purposed for you to be!! You do not undermine the message I have given to you of blessing and prosperity by receiving the words of correction and judgment. You do NO disservice to My outpoured mercy and grace by allowing the hard word of the Lord to come forth in all its power and authority. Rather, you are allowing the stones of My glorious Church which I am raising up at this time in the Earth for the purpose of revealing Myself to the World to be built up together as the true habitation of God through the Spirit.

Oh my people hear the word of the Lord!!!! You cannot pick and choose what revelation of My Spirit you want manifested in My holy temple, the Church. If you want the fullness of My being and My expression to be realized in the power and glory which you prophesy about then you are going to have to begin to discern My Body in the earth, and you are going to have to begin to see that I speak as the voice of MANY WATERS.

Though you cannot understand all, or find agreement in all, you can rest in the trust of knowing that I am the God that is able to bring into a righteous focus and a greater understanding the revelation of Myself through My Body in all the aspects through which I determine to manifest. I speak with many significant voices to insure My prophetic approval upon that which I am doing in the Earth from the most gracious and merciful of My blessings to the harshest realities of My corrections and judgments. I truly am doing far more than what your own constraining dreams and visions and paradigms will naturally permit you to perceive, but if you enter into the fullness of My mind and My thinking then you will begin to understand that which I have purposed in and through My church so that My people can be as the wells of salvation which hold the water of life from which the thirsty souls of men will draw forth the living water.

Oh, if ONLY you knew the gift of God within!! But you must have a vision which supersedes your own little portion of understanding and revelation and come up into a higher place in Me where you can see the bigger picture of My Body in the earth even as I see it. Then you will see yourselves individually consecrated unto Me and My purposes and corporately revealed in the earth as the sons of God, even the mature manchild whom I am setting in authority to rule all nations with a rod of iron while at the very same time I pour forth a revelation of My mercy and grace and love and forgiveness and power of the priesthood for cleansing and restoration and deliverance and wholeness and healing to all those who will hear the cry going forth by the Spirit and the Bride saying "Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst Come. And whosoever will, let him take of the water of life freely."

Begin to perceive that even NOW I am training you to be able to understand the multifaceted-ness of My nature in how I deal with My own, and with My people because in order that you might be in this world what I have called you to be , you are going to have to understand the fullness of My dealings and My character in mercy and grace and judgment and justice for you shall indeed be the dispensers and the executors of My will in all these things when I come in the fullness of My kingdom in the Earth.

I, Jesus, the Head of My Church, shall not move in this earth apart from My Body. Thus saith the Lord!!

Respectfully Submitted to the Body of Christ,

Darkness Then Light
Terry Suggs

These things must come to this nation, but don’t be afraid, because of the prayers of the people of God, there will be a great Spiritual filling of this entire nation.

There will be flooding in one area and there will be fighting in other areas of this Nation. There will be earthquakes in some states. There will be depression in some states. There will be a great crisis in every state. There will be unemployment and there will be trouble in families.

There will be fire in some states. Then there will be a reviving of the spiritually destitute and dead things pertaining to God. There will be such a terrible time of darkness (crisis) here in this nation. God is doing a mighty new and awesome thing in this nation.

Creative miracles and notable miracles will be seen regularly. Evangelism and the miraculous will be on the rise in this Nation.

You have been given THE Very RIGHTEOUSNESS of God. You have been given power over all the power of the enemy. Satan is subject to the Christians. Use what you have been given. Don’t hold back.

Your family will be saved because you are saved.

Your ability to do things that are impossible in the natural realm and in natural human strength, is simply supplied to you by the Holy Spirit.

God is cleaning up America.

I Am is going to do it. There is a great deal of praying for this nation to be saved. Continue your prayers and intensify them. This nation will be a Christian nation once again. The power and presence of God will be here in a tangible and awesome degree. God will bring power and His presence will be great in this nation. There will be distress in other nations everywhere as well.

Nations will be needing God to intervene and bring power and glory as well. They will immersed in the word and power as will the USA. Don’t fear because of what you are seeing. I will keep those in perfect peace whose mind is kept on Me.

Prayer is the only way to overcome during these times. Stay sensitive the Spirit of God within you.

The Holy Spirit will guide you in what to do and where to go. He will overshadow you with power and protection. There are angels surrounding you and your loved ones. Some will be visible, others will not be visible.

God says that He will cleanse America and restore the light in America.
His Spirit will move upon the face of the darkness and cleanse every dark area.
Jesus gave us abundant life. Now you will see the darkness but then light will come forth.

Disarming The Irregulars

Wolfgang Simson

(Nov 2003).

The THREE BOOTHS

I saw a long line of newly-saved people entering the Kingdom of God. Everything was new for them, so there were three booths set up for them to pass through. At the first booth, they would sign up for God's army and pledge total loyalty to God. From then on, they were under orders, no longer their own, and were given a uniform and boots. At the second booth, they were given a sword, and at the third, a scythe - a harvesting tool. Astonishingly, only around one in a thousand of the new arrivals even went to the first booth; almost everyone went to the second stand, and almost everyone also ignored the third stand. Almost nobody went to all three stands, as God explicitly intended.

The IRREGULARS

Everyone hurried directly to a huge plain full of people and activity. Under an enormous dust cloud thrown up by the many feet, small groups quickly formed and were joined by the new arrivals. These countless groups made themselves banners, flags and uniforms decorated with very creative logos and emblems. It was an incredible colorful confusion of thousands of small militia. In other words, an irregular army. The chaos was complete; some blew for attack, others for retreat. Some acted out bizarre rituals, others sat around the camp fire laughing. Some practiced sword fighting, others gathered their weapons and spoke of peace. Some of the groups even attacked each other. It was a scene of hectic activity, but without any recognizable order. Generals cooked, cooks were pilots, pilots dug trenches. I was horrified, and saw clearly that this army would never win any battle. Everyone was terribly busy, but all the zealous action came to nothing in the long term.

The ANGELS

Suddenly someone shouted "The Angels of God are coming!" They were right: some way off, I could make out a huge number of God's white warriors; powerful, almost larger-than-life angels. The people broke out in an ear-shattering shout and cheer, "Hallelujah, the angels are coming. At last, it's about to begin!" The cheering was indescribable. But the excitement slowly faded, and the shouts of 'hallelujah' died out. Finally, silence descended. Then I looked at the angels more carefully. Standing close together, they looked like a police cordon in front of a crowd of hooligans, with set, sad faces. Step by step the white phalanx slowly approached the motley crowd. Consternation spread, and some of the banners began to retreat. Pale-faced, the people stumbled backwards, shocked and unable to comprehend what was happening. In their shock, some even lost their swords and pennants. The mass of people were driven back into a large valley without exits as the rows of angels slowly but deliberately advanced. The people were finally trapped in the valley like sheep. Some began to cry, others called out to God for mercy, yet others called for help. Most were simply silent.

At last, a huge angel stepped forward and said in a voice loud enough to be heard in the farthest corners of the valley, "That is enough! You have done as you please for long enough. End the war you declared yourselves. Submit to your God. Lay down the banners and flags you made yourselves. Take off the uniforms and boots you were given, as well as the insignia you created. Repent, because you have been disobedient. Lay everything on the ground beside you and kneel to ask your Father to forgive you. In His mercy, he will grant you a fresh start."

The people froze. Astonished disbelief spread through the crowd. Some started to talk, some even started shouting "Pay no attention to them! Listen to me!" But some began to understand. A few sobbed. One or two started to remove their insignia, lay down their banners and flags, take off their uniform and kneel in the dust, asking God for forgiveness for their disobedience. Whenever another person knelt - or even an entire group - an angel left the phalanx, took what the person had laid down, and carried it out to the plain, slowly creating a huge mound of banners, flags and uniforms. The angel then returned to the kneeling person, both as a sign and a guard, because some of the people who had not yet understood what was happening were angry, shouting "Traitors! Deserters!" at those who knelt, ordering them to return to their militia.

The number of stubborn rebels and militia leaders shrank continuously as more people recognized that they had been incredibly misguided and laid down their uniforms and weapons. Finally, after a long time, everyone was kneeling. The angels set the huge mound of uniforms, banners and flags alight, and everyone watched transfixed as the once so precious possessions vanished in the flames. When the fire had burned down, the angel spoke again in a very gentle voice, saying "Now stand up and follow us. Let's start over again."

A New START

The people stood up, naked, without a uniform, but their shame covered by the angel at their side who led them back to the point at which they had entered the Kingdom of God. This time, each person went slowly and deliberately to the first booth to write their name in the army register before receiving a new uniform and boots with no insignia. The angel then took them to the second booth, where they received a sword, symbolizing the Word of God. They then went on to the third and final booth, where they were given harvesting tools and a clearly-defined task and position. The angel then took them to a clearly defined position on the plain, where he instructed "his" person to assume his personal position and obey God's battle orders. The angel then left. With time, an incredibly powerful army formed. Everyone was in the right place and knew exactly what his job was. Nobody did what seemed right in their own eyes, but paid great attention to their own task and function. I saw joy, but also wild determination, written on the people's faces. That was the end of the 'film' for me. I had tears in my eyes, and was both horrified and thankful. At the end of my talk that evening, I decided to recount my vision just as I have written it here.

CLINT TOEWS

Clint Toews is a Canadian prophet and author from Winnipeg. He stood up at just that moment, explaining that he had planned to speak at another church in Toronto, but that God had redirected him, telling him to be where I would speak, and that he had a prophetic word for the moment. I do not allow just any 'prophet' to take the microphone, so checked with my friend Dr. Ken Stade, also from Winnipeg, who led the meeting. He agreed that Clint should speak.

Clint said that God has a very simple message to us all. It is written in Joshua 5:13-14. Shortly before conquering Jericho, Joshua encounters an unknown man armed with a sword. He approaches the man and asks "Are you for us or for our enemies?" The man answered "No!". Clint exclaimed "This 'NO!' is God's answer to our unspoken question about when he will join our project, our plan, fellowship, church, outreach, even our war. God will not join our human plans, and particularly not our church. It is He who builds His church. So, 'No!' But if we repent, confess our pride, our pitiful denominationalism and favoritism, and kneel down and remove our shoes because we recognize that Jesus is standing before us, the Commander of the Lord's army, then he will again assume the command which we have usurped. If we then take the place he assigns us and follow His commands, victory will come quickly; Jericho is a historic example. The honor for God's victories will then no longer go to some banner, flag, denomination, missions agency or terrific plan to save the world, but to the Lamb of God alone, Jesus Christ."

Do The Labor Of My Spirit

Stephen Hanson

May 28, 2005

"Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest." Matt. 11:28

The man who plants and the man who waters have one purpose, and each will be rewarded according to his own labor*. I Co. 3:8*

"Come to Me all of you who labor and are weary and I will give you rest. Learn of Me, for I am meek and lowly of heart. "

"Many there are, who labor in this hour. Many of you labor at many different things. You labor in your jobs. You labor with your families. But how many of you truly labor with Me? For it is a work that I am calling you to. I am calling you to work alongside Me. There is any overtime pay that you will receive as well. For you will reap a harvest with Me. You will work during the sunshine and the rain. You will work in all kinds of weather. You see, even though I've come to give you rest, I've also come to give you labor. But my labor is worth its pay. There are many that strive for many different things in this hour. Strive for the work that I would give and not that the world would give. Seek those things that are above and not those things that are upon the world. "

"I have told many of you that the hour is racing towards the last days. For I tell you that that hour is rapidly approaching. I have said in my word that scoffers would come in the last days. For they say, 'Where is He who is promised to come?' But I tell you that I will come. "

"Do the labor that I've asked you to do. Teach and do those things that I've called each of you to do. Then your labor will not be in vain."

Stephen Hanson

*Please continue to be in prayer for us. I have sent out an application to another school nearby and I'm waiting for an interview. There are 15 other applicants for this postion. Pray that the doors wil be opened so that we will see which way to go.

Lessons from the Duck Yard

By Bill Somers

Revised Aug 17, 1997

At our home in Gonzales Louisiana my wife Marylee keeps a collection of about 40 ducks of several types in a large pen in the yard. We live on 3 acres, so we have the room. We have a hose running from the house to the duck yard to give them water when needed. And they usually had plenty to meet their needs. We live in a very rainy part of the country, so often the duck yard becomes a sea of mud. That is mud, mud, mud and more mud!. Why mud? Well, because ducks have a habit of thoroughly eliminating any vegetation in any area where they are penned up. They dig down into the mud and root out anything that even resembles plant life. One side effect of this is that they create lots of holes and ruts in the ground. It becomes very uneven due to all the holes and extra treacherous when the holes turn to slippery mud.

One afternoon, while helping Marylee with some chore in the duck yard, I considered the condition of the yard. It was hot and dry that day. The ground in the duck yard was hard and dry. It was full of holes and nothing grew there. The ducks and the heat had turned it into a small scale desert! I thought to myself that this ground will need to be plowed before being re-seeded. If we were to get rid of the ducks and take down the fence and return the pen to a normal lawn, it would need a complete plowing to make it level again.

"That's part of what it means to break up the fallow ground!" The Holy Spirit spoke to me just at that moment. And in that moment He opened up a couple of verses in the bible and related them to a series of scriptures relating this to the Church. Now I see that the duck yard is a figure for the Church. And even more that the damage done by the ducks to the lawn that was originally there, parallels the devastation that the enemy has wreaked upon the Church. And further, the means I would have to use to restore the lawn are a reflection of the means the Lord will use to restore his Church in these last days.

The key verses he showed me were these:

> Doth the plowman plow all day to sow? doth he open and break the clods of his ground?
> When he hath made plain the face thereof, doth he not cast abroad the fitches, and scatter the cummin, and cast in the principal wheat and the appointed barley and the rie in their place?
> For his God doth instruct him to discretion, and doth teach him. (Isaiah 28:24-26 KJV)

And:

> 6. Then he answered and spake unto me, saying, This is the word of the LORD unto Zerubbabel, saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the LORD of hosts.
> 7. Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou shalt become a plain: and he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it.
> 8. Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,
> 9. The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house; his hands shall also finish it; and thou shalt know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto you.
> 10 For who hath despised the day of small things? for they shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel with those seven; they are the eyes of the LORD, which run to and fro through the whole earth. (Zechariah 4:6-10 KJV)

The key word linking these two passages in the word 'plain'. Plain refers to a piece of ground that is flat, level or even. Plowing up a plot of land has several results. The hard ground is broken up so it will accept new seed. The weeds are all killed off, and the ground is made plain or level. All of these are typical of what the Lord must do to the Church.

Both passages speak of a portion of ground being made plain. They are made plain for a purpose! The plowman in the passage from Isaiah had the purpose of sowing seed. Zerubabel in the passage from Zechariah has the purpose of building the House of the Lord.

The background to all this can be found in Isaiah chapter 1:24-28

> Therefore saith the Lord, the LORD of hosts, the mighty One of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine adversaries, and avenge me of mine enemies:
> And I will turn my hand upon thee, and purely purge away thy dross, and take away all thy tin:
> And I will restore thy judges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward thou shalt be > called, The city of righteousness, the faithful city.

> Zion shall be redeemed with judgment, and her converts with righteousness.
> And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners shall be together, and they that forsake the LORD shall be consumed (Isaiah 1:24-28).

This passage is a short summary of the Lords program for the end times. It includes purifying the Church, converting the lost, vengeance on the enemy, and destruction of the sinners.

Here verse 27 is the key verse giving an understanding of the Lords plans.

What is Zion?

"Zion shall be redeemed with judgment, …".*Zion is the Church. Redemption is the restoring and purifying the Church. Verse 27 elaborates on this. Judgment is the means of making this happen.

"…, and her converts with righteousness."* This is the results of the redemption. Zion will have converts, the converts will have righteousness.

> For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God? 1 Peter 4:17

The Judgment that must begin with the house of God is expressed in many ways in scripture. One of these is plowing. Here are two instances of Judgment on Jerusalem referred to as plowing.

> Micah the Morasthite prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and spake to all the people of Judah, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Zion shall be plowed like a field, and Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of a forest. Jeremiah 26:18

> Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of the forest Micah 3:12.

These verses were fulfilled literally in the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. But they also have a figurative meaning speaking of judgment on the Church. The Plowing is Judgment.

Here in Hosea the idea of breaking up fallow ground is related to righteousness. When the ground is broken up, the Lord will come and rain righteousness.

> Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness upon you. (Hosea 10:12)

Who is the Plowman?

Back in Isaiah 28 we can learn something about the plowman by the way he is described in verse 26

> For his God doth instruct him to discretion, and doth teach him. (Isaiah 28:26 KJV)

Clearly this speaks of Jesus who is instructed by the Father and only does what the Father tells him.

Now in Zechariah 4 we find a reference to a great mountain becoming a plain.

> Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou shalt become a plain: and he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it. Zechariah 4:7.

What is the great mountain mentioned here? It is Mt. Zion, a figure for the Church. A mountain that shall become a plain speaks of a great humbling that must take place. Now in this figure, the ground is become a plain, but where is the seed it is to receive? It says 'he shall bring forth the headstone thereof. Can a plain have a headstone? Can a mountain have a headstone? No what God is doing here is switching metaphors. He begins to use a different figure of speech.

In verse 9 he says " The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house …." A house can have a headstone. This is the house of God referred to in 1st Peter 4:17. That is the Church. So God is saying that the Church, seen as a plot of ground, or a mountain, must be broken up to receive seed. And this is the same as saying that the house of God must be judged so it can receive its headstone.

What is the Seed? And What is the Fallow Ground?

We know that the word of God is described as a seed, for example in the parable of the sower.

The fallow ground is our hearts. Either we break it up ourselves, or the Lord as the plowman will break it up for us. It must receive the new seed.

In Ps 119:11 we read "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee." The word hidden in the heart is the seed received by the ground. The idea of breaking up ground and opening up your heart is found in Jeremiah 4:3-4 where it says

> For thus saith the LORD to the men of Judah and Jerusalem, Break up your fallow ground, and sow not among thorns.
> Circumcise yourselves to the LORD, and take away the foreskins of your heart, …..Jeremiah 4:3-4

It is the broken and contrite heart that will receive the Word of God.

What is the Headstone?

The headstone is the one that caps off the building. Ephesians 2:20 says:

> "… Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone;

The headstone of the Church is Jesus; the Church is founded on the Lordship of Jesus. This is the headstone mentioned in Zechariah 4. The headstone of Mt. Zion.

Isaiah tells us, in the same chapter 28 where we read of the plowman,:

> Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste. Isaiah 28:16

The word 'therefore' when seen in the context of chapter 28 follows a long series of indictments of God's people. It implies that what follows the 'therefore' is His Judgment upon his people, based upon those indictments.

What is the Judgment?

The Judgment is accomplished by setting the Headstone in place. When Jesus takes his proper lace as head of the Church, He will judge the Church. Jesus is the judgment.

But this will be an occasion for great praise and rejoicing. The text in Zechariah says "he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it".

Verse 9 and 10 speak of Zerubbabel laying the foundation…:

> The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation of this house; his hands shall also finish it; and thou shalt know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto you.
> For who hath despised the day of small things? for they shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel with those seven; they are the eyes of the LORD, which run to and fro through the whole earth. (Zechariah 4:9-10 KJV)

Who is the builder?

The historical Zerubbabel is an ancestor of Jesus, figuratively he is a type of Jesus. It is Jesus [Zerubbabel] who builds the house. Recall that Jesus was a carpenter, one who built houses, and ships. Verse 10 says for they shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel. Once again we see rejoicing. Notice that Zerubbabel has in his hand a plummet. That is a plumb line, the instrument of a carpenter! A plummet, or plumb line is used to determine if something is truly vertical or upright. The line or measuring rod is used to see if something measures up to a standard. This is the same plummet seen in Isaiah 28:17 where it says "*Judgment also will I lay to the line, and righteousness to the plummet …":*The one who lays the foundation and wields the plummet is Isaiah 28 is the same one doing it in Zechariah 4. The Master Builder, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The historical Zerubbabel was the one who built the second temple, a type of the end time Church, in the book Ezra. This was a time of great rejoicing in Israel. It is prophetic of the great rejoicing and great revival to follow God's restoration of the Church in the days ahead.

> And they sang together by course in praising and giving thanks unto the LORD; because he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid Ezra 3:11.

What is the Result of Setting the Headstone in Place?

> Zion shall be redeemed with judgment, and her converts with righteousness. Isaiah 1:27

Genesis 28, shows us an example of someone putting a stone in place. Here we read in the story of Jacob, how he took a stone and set it up for a pillar.

> And he was afraid, and said, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.
> And Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone that he had put for his pillows, and set it up for a pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it. Genesis 28:17-18

In verse 17 we see he was afraid and saw that the place was dreadful. This speaks of the Fear of the Lord that must come to the Church. Calling the place 'the house of God' clearly refers to the Church. The stone that he had for a pillow can be thought of as a 'head' stone. The act of setting it up for a pillar is to set it 'in place'! [It speaks of the Son of Man having a place to lay his head, atop his body the Church!] Making the stone a pillar speaks of building something, the Church again. Once the head stone is set in place he pours oil on the top of it. This speaks of the Father sending the anointing to his people once they submit to the Lordship of Jesus. This is what is meant by the words in Zechariah 4.7 "and he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it." The grace is the anointing!

Jacob is acting as a type of the Father in this passage. It's the Father who sets the headstone in place and who imparts the anointing. It's the voice of the father crying Grace, grace! It is the Father setting up the Kingdom of God in His Church on the earth; putting the Lamb upon the Throne and saying "Rule thou in the midst of thine enemies! It is God arising and coming to his resting place. It is the fulfillment of the prayer "thy kingdom come".

We see it further illustrated in Psalm 133.

> Psalm 133 A Song of degrees of David
> 1 Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity*!*
> 2 It is like the precious ointment upon the head*, that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard: that went down to the skirts of his garments;*
> 3 As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion*: for there the LORD commanded the* blessing*, even life for evermore.*

Here you can see the psalmist speaking of Mt. Zion, the Church, in the context of pouring ointment, or oil, on the head of Aaron. Aaron is, of course, typical of Jesus, our High Priest. The body of the High priest is compared to a mountain, in that the oil on the head is likened to dew on the top of the mountain! Setting the headstone in place is equal to setting the head on top the body. This is where the Son of Man lays his head. This means that the body comes together. It comes into unity.

Unity
And so the result is UNITY! The brethren dwell together, in unity. And because of this, the Lord commands a Blessing.

This is the blessing mentioned also in Haggai 2:16, from this day will I bless you.

The same concepts are covered in the book of Ephesians. In chapter 1 we read that He is the Head of the Body

> And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church,
> Which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all Ephesians 1:22-23.

In chapter 4 there is a discussion of what happens when the head and body come together.

> Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ:
> That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;
> But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ:
> From whom the whole body fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love. Ephesians 4:13-16:

And here in chapter 2 it speaks of the Headstone, Jesus Christ, as the chief cornerstone, and how the building will grow or be built only as it is fitly framed.

> And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone;
> In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord:
> In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit. Ephesians 2:20-22

The Body and the Temple are the same. They can only grow when the head is in place. The foundation is the headstone. The Church is not the Church unless it is submitted to the head or "... holding the Head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God." Colossians 2:19

The foundation is the Lordship of Jesus. Since the foundation is the Head the Church must be built from the top down, just as illustrated in Psalm 133. There the body comes under the anointing from the top down as the oil is poured on the head. When it reaches the hem of the garment we can expect to see a release of healing power!

Instruments of Judgment

Notice that in these passages, the carpenter, the wise master builder, is never shown with hammer or nails, cement, saw or chisel. These are instruments of construction or assembly. This carpenter is shown using instruments of measurement or judgment. The passages in Ephesians indicate that once the building is 'fitly framed' or once the body is rightly joined to the head, it will grow automatically! Once the Church gets right it can't help but grow! People will be attracted to the presence of the Lord!

What is the Result of Breaking up the Ground?

> *Zion shall be redeemed with judgment, and her converts with righteousness. Isaiah 1:27

Figuratively the bible describes what happens after the ground is broken up in terms of rainfall. Once the ground is plowed and the seed is sown, the Lord sends His Rain. Here are a selection of verses that speak of the Rain and the Harvest.

> Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth. Hosea 6:3
> He shall come down like rain upon the mown grass: as showers that water the earth. Psalm 72:6
>
> Then shall he give the rain of thy seed, that thou shalt sow the ground withal; and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat and plenteous: in that day shall thy cattle feed in large pastures Isaiah 30:23.
>
> For I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour my spirit upon thy seed, and my blessing upon thine offspring. Isaiah 44:3:
>
> Drop down, ye heavens, from above, and let the skies pour down righteousness: let the earth open, and let them bring forth salvation, and let righteousness spring up together; I the LORD have created it Isaiah 45:8.
>
> Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou greatly enrichest it with the river of God, which is full > of water: thou preparest them corn, when thou hast so provided for it.

> Thou waterest the ridges thereof abundantly: thou settlest the furrows thereof: thou makest it soft with showers: thou blessest the springing thereof.
> Thou crownest the year with thy goodness; and thy paths drop fatness. Psalm 65:9-11

This verse from Micah describes the results in a more literal fashion:

> But in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the LORD shall be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow unto it. Micah 4:1

And these verses from Isaiah 2:

> And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the LORD'S house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it.
> And many people shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
> And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more
> O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the LORD Isaiah 2:2-5.

Dividing Up The Land Of Israel
Avner Boskey

August 24, 2005

"The World Has Entered Into The Time Of Dividing Up The Land Of Israel"

I have sought to clarify the real strategic, democratic, and biblical issues surrounding the Israeli government's evacuation and retreat from Gaza and Northern Samaria. My goal is to correct misinformation about events in Israel, and to present more accurate information from an Israeli, Hebrew, and Messianic perspective about facts on the ground.

Today, I ask the question -- what is the prophetic import of events going on in Israel today?

Signs and Weathermen

An ancient Indian proverb cautions care when using one's finger to point something out. A passing onlooker may end up focusing on the finger, and may totally miss the object to which one was pointing!

In Matthew 16:1-3, Yeshua warns that it is possible to be aware of current events while at the same time totally missing what these events are prophetically pointing to. Even a weatherman can miss the significance of a coming storm!

"When it's evening, you declare that tomorrow will be good weather, because the sky is reddish. And in the morning you announce that there will be nasty weather today, because the sky is red and overcast . . . You know how to discern tomorrow's weather, but you don't know how to discern the signs of the times."

What significance should be drawn about the disengagement from Gaza and Northern Samaria? Is the lesson to be learned simply a call to good citizenship, that Israel's citizens should obey their Prime Minister without question -- as it were, a unique Israeli exercise in upholding the democratic form of government? Or is the disengagement a prophetic wake up call to Israel and the nations -- a decisive prophetic line in the sand which has now been crossed, with international and eternal consequences?

The prophet Samson ended up "eyeless in Gaza." It is our prayer that, with Israel's recent departure from Gaza, the eyes of the prophets and the eyes of the Jewish people, who are all called to be prophets, would be opened more clearly and that we would all prophesy with even greater accuracy and devotion to Yeshua (see Psalm 105:15; Numbers 11:29)!

A Retreat by Any Other Name

The forced evacuation of Jewish Israelis from Gaza and parts of Northern Samaria is the first and only case in Jewish history of Jews uprooting other Jews from their homes and synagogues, and then destroying those buildings -- all in order to hand over portions of their divinely promised land to enemy forces (the uprooting of Yamit under Ariel Sharon's supervision in 1982 and its handover to Egypt probably should also be included). It is also the first case of the Israeli army retreating from terrorist forces. And it is actually the third time in the modern era that Israel has abandoned territory promised by God to Israel.
In 1956, Israel abandoned Gaza due to U.S. and Russian threats (it was later retaken by Israel in June, 1967). On July 1, 1994, Israel's Yitzhak Rabin handed over Jericho to Yasser Arafat, an event shepherded and promoted by former President Bill Clinton. Today, Sharon's unilateral retreat has been euphemistically called a "disengagement." But even in Hebrew, a retreat is still a retreat.

Frozen Snapshots

This past week, Israeli TV has broadcasted non-stop live and on-site, covering all aspects of the evacuation. Israelis have been bombarded with a marathon of sound bites and "eye bites" -- Jews removing other Jews from their homes, farms, and synagogues. The pictures, especially footage of bulldozed homes, have broken the hearts of many Israelis, while others have responded to the tragic evacuations with cold sneers and derision. While some Israeli hearts are responding to this tragedy with tenderness, other hearts are hardening and refuse to hear their brother's cry rising up out of Gaza's soil.

Some modern Israelis find it embarrassing and difficult to relate to the sufferings, exiles, and pogroms that have characterized Jewish history among the nations. They don't want to think of their people as having been victimized, and so they avert their eyes and their hearts when forced to consider such issues.
It may be shocking for some to discover that certain Israelis cannot or will not see the parallels between the suffering of Gaza's Jews and the suffering of the Jewish people in Europe and the Arab world. Nevertheless, it is heartening to know that many other Jews are finding tears on their cheeks and softening occurring in their hearts. Please pray that God will have His way with many Israeli hearts, tenderizing them and causing them to seek for Messiah Yeshua's face amidst the pain.

Here are some fleeting descriptions of scenes that flashed across Israeli TV screens this week:

Jewish Children in Gaza

A small tot steps outside his house -- unaware that his parents are about to be removed -- and shyly hands out tiny cookies to the soldiers waiting to enter. A three-year-old riding out of his home on the broad shoulders of an IDF officer asks with a big smile, "Are we going out for a fun ride?"
Another three-year-old girl runs over to an IDF commander (who has just explained to her parents that they are about to be evacuated) and gives him a big kiss and an even bigger smile. A small class of eight-year-old boys chant Psalm 130 as soldiers wait to evacuate them from their schoolroom ("Out of the depths I cry to You, O Lord! Hear my voice!")

Grown Men Crying in Gaza

As the army and police announce to Morag resident Yuval Unterman that he needs to evacuate his home, he quietly rips his shirt (a sign of Jewish religious mourning) and stands wordless in front of the soldiers. As the shammash (synagogue attendant) opens the Netzarim synagogue ark where the Torah scrolls are housed (in order to remove them and evacuate them as well), he staggers and buries his face in his hands, shaking with sobs.
Tekoa Rabbi Menahem Fruman, known for his heart-to-heart dialogue with neighboring Arab communities near Bethlehem, tenderly removes a Torah scroll from the Neve Dekalim synagogue -- his long, wispy, white beard wrapped around the scroll -- crying. He walks slowly out of the synagogue, his face creased with agonized tears. A Holocaust survivor, dressed in his original prison camp uniform, kisses soldiers who have come to evacuate him, and leaves his home weeping.

Soldiers Showing Incredible Restraint and Kindness in Gaza

One of Israel's most respected and decorated soldiers, Colonel Erez Tzukerman, commander of the famed Golani Brigade, quietly listens as a Gaza resident (a former soldier under his command) weeps and shakes at the fact that his commander and brother-in-arms is evacuating him from his own home. Erez nods his head in understanding, does not react or defend himself as he is yelled at, and then embraces the soldier as they cry together.

A 25-year-old commander quietly listens to the Fitusi family explain all the terrorism they have endured, read aloud a letter that the six-year-old daughter has written to be read to the soldiers, and then slowly walks out the door to prepare for the family's evacuation. A five-year-old boy comes over to him; the commander crouches to talk with him, kisses him on the head, and asks quietly, "Do you hate me?"

IDF Southern Command General Dan Harel and Southern District Police Chief Commander Uri Bar-Lev openly weep in different Gaza synagogues as their own forces get ready to evacuate the buildings of praying Jews. Soldiers carrying a "hilltop youth" out of a yeshiva in Homesh, Northern Samaria, lay him down gently on the ground and then hug him. He gets up and runs over to the Torah scroll being evacuated and kisses it, weeping.
A young woman soldier who has just evacuated a family from their home goes behind a bus (where she can be alone) and begins to groan and wail deeply over what she has just seen.

One soldier told me that he wandered around one of the abandoned towns after the evacuation and saw over a hundred hungry, abandoned dogs and cats; empty houses ghost-like in their stillness, with chocolate milk still on kitchen counters, freshly made bread barely taken out of open ovens, food still on the tables, half-empty fridges -- as if the Rapture had just taken place.

The lives of those evacuated have been severely shaken. Many have left homes that up to four generations have lived in. For many, their communities were all that they have ever experienced. They are now, for the most part, living in temporary housing or crowded into hotel rooms, awaiting the outcome of slow government bureaucratic processes.

Pray that God will use the pain to point these people's hearts to Himself. Pray for their resettlement to the east of the Gaza Strip, and for the daunting physical needs involved. Pray for the soldiers who have taken the brunt of evacuating Gaza's Jews. Pray that God will speak to them in their hearts and use the residual pain to open their hearts to Him, to ask questions that only He can and will answer.

A Pre-Bar Mitzvah Prophecy

Back to the Israeli television broadcasts this week: In the living room of one of the families about to be evacuated, the father asked his oldest son if he had anything that he would like to tell the commander evacuating him. The boy quietly opened his Bible to Amos 9:13-15 and chanted in sing-song Hebrew the ancient words of the prophecy. As we watched in our own living room, tears streamed down our cheeks. Hear the words of the prophet:

"Behold, the days are coming, declares YHVH, that the plowman will overtake the one who is reaping, and he who treads out the grapes will overtake the one who is sowing seed. And the mountains will drip sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt. And I will bring back My people Israel from captivity, and they shall rebuild the destroyed cities and inhabit them. And they will plant vineyards and drink the wine, and will eat the fruit of those vineyards. And I will plant (Israel) upon their own land and they shall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given to them, says YHVH, your God."

This pre-bar mitzvah boy prophesied a mouthful. God is in the process of bringing His people Israel back to their promised land of Israel. Over the past 150 years, the Jewish people have been rebuilding destroyed cities and have even planted new towns in the pristine desert sands (as in the case of Gaza's communities). As this river of restoration flows (the Hebrew word for restoration is tikkun), and as the process expands, then more Jews return, more destroyed towns are rebuilt, and the Jewish people once again find themselves at home in their own land.

Bumps in the "Restoration Road"

But there are bumps in the restoration road. This happens in every struggle and in every process of taking back from the enemy what has been stolen. Opposition and attack sometimes briefly slow down the process. The evacuation of Gaza and four villages in Northern Samaria is one such bump in the road. This is a setback and a cause for grief and mourning. The fact that Jews have been used to inflict this on other Jews is also a tragic surprise.

But the evacuation of Gaza is not the reversal of the process of restoration. It is a grievous road bump on the way. As Michael Freund said recently, "This is hardly the first setback we have suffered on our long and sometimes torturous return to Zion, and it is almost certainly not the last" ("Jewish Gaza will be rebuilt," Jerusalem Post, Wed., Aug. 17, 2005, p.14).

The Jewish people will never again be decisively exiled from their land, as one or two embittered and disgruntled Messianic preachers have been arguing for. Though there is definitely a sifting and a purification coming for the nation of Israel, it will not entail the full exile of Israel nor the full evacuation of Jerusalem (see Zechariah 14:2b). The return of the Jewish dry bones in Ezekiel 37 is described by God Himself as occurring in unbelief. But God is not caught off guard by this spiritual fact. Indeed, He is the One who is causing the people of Israel to return to the borders of the promised land -- including to the Gaza Strip.

It is important to remember that the process of restoration cannot be smoothly charted as if it were part of some American engineering manual, or even a Messianic Jewish engineering manual! The process of restoration is not easily condensed into an efficient and scientific linear equation, a four-color flow chart or an intricate time-line. Such a computerized approach to the restoration process is probably more Hellenistic than Jewish, more fatalistic than prophetic, more mechanistic than mystical.

God is a Multi-Tasker

The truth is that God is capable of doing more than one thing at a time and, in fact, God works in precisely such a multifaceted way. He has determined to bring His people back to the land of Israel, even in unbelief; to establish them in their land, even in unbelief; and to cause them to grow into an amazing and world-perplexing people, even in unbelief.

All that is lacking for Israel is the breath, the Ruach, the Spirit of God. When YHVH pours out His Ruach of grace and supplications (Zechariah 12:10), we the people of Israel will mourn, we will repent, we will embrace our Messiah Yeshua, we will come alive as a mighty army (Ezekiel 37:10), and we will move under God's feet as His divine threshing sledge bringing judgment and blessing to the nations (Isaiah 41:15; the Hebrew word for this sledge is morag, one of the names of the evacuated Gaza communities).

God's process of restoration is cyclical -- He brings His people back to the same land from which they were originally exiled and evacuated. He is moving simultaneously to establish physical restoration and spiritual restoration in the bodies and spirits of the same Jewish people who once rebelled against Moses' authority and David's dynasty. God's river of restoration continues to flow over the Jewish people and into their hearts, even though there are occasional eddies, side pools, and backwaters. And God will use the pain and the agony created by this evacuation to open Jewish hearts to His own heart, and to bring Israeli hearts into a right relationship with His own heart.

The exile and public agony of Gaza's Jews has sadly occurred, but this momentary light affliction has not stopped the process of Jewish restoration to and in the land of Israel. It has not reversed the flow of the river of restoration. Indeed, it has opened the door to one of the last days' most significant prophecies regarding the restoration of Israel and the judgment of the nations.

Three Big Prophetic Events

Two momentous prophetic events have occurred in the last 25 years.

According to Bob Jones, a prophetic brother, World War Three began on October 6, 1981, with the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar al-Sadat by Islamic jihadi forces (led by Ayman Zawahiri, now Osama Bin Laden's second-in-command). This rise of an armed and fanatic army of Islamic world jihad indicates that world jihad will figure prominently in the coming battles of WWIII.

On September 11, 2001, another prophetic brother, James Goll, was told by the Lord to turn on his TV immediately. As he watched planes crash into the World Trade Center, God told him that "the time of the hunters" had begun. This term refers to Jeremiah 16:16-18, a prophecy of a worldwide season of anti-Semitic persecution which will purify the Jewish nation as well as fully bring them back to their ancestral homeland of Israel. This prophetic word re-emphasizes that growing world-wide anti-Jewish persecution will now be linked to anti-Israel strategies and Islamic jihadi terrorism.

The third event, the time of dividing up the land of Israel, is kicking into high gear in front of our eyes, and it is the evacuation of Gaza which has proved to be the alarm bell. A little bit of background is necessary here.

"The Secret War Against The Jews"

The Arab and Islamic world has been actively trying to wipe out the Jewish State of Israel since the late 1940's. The PLO has made the destruction of Israel its organizational strategy since its inception in 1964, whether by direct armed attack or by "the plan of stages" -- whittling off pieces of Israel, through diplomacy, until direct military attack can be decisive.
The nations of the world and, in particular, the USA, have also been advocating a political process which would divide up the biblical land of Israel. The organization known as the Quartet (composed of the USA, the European Union, the UN, and Russia; see www.state.gov/r/pa/prs/ps/2003/20062.htm) has been pushing since 2003 for what it has euphemistically been labeled "a performance-based and goal-driven roadmap, with clear phases, timelines, target dates, and benchmarks aiming at . . . a permanent two-state solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict."

Since unimpeded access to Islamic oil is essential for Western economies, and since oil access is also connected with progress on dividing the land of Israel, it has become a clear policy goal of oil multinationals, Saudi Arabia, and allies in the U.S. State Department and the C.I.A., to push for strategies to make this dream a reality. Two books which throw light on these strategies are: "The Secret War Against The Jews: How Western Intelligence Betrayed the Jewish People" by John Loftus and Mark Aarons (www.john-loftus.com) and "Sleeping With the Devil: How Washington Sold Our Soul for Saudi Crude" by former C.I.A. Middle East case officer Robert Baer. Loftus and Baer are commentators for the FOX Channel.

A Long-Standing U.S. Policy Goal

It is to be assumed that Prime Minister Ariel Sharon has already run into these international and strategic hardball pressures. There is a place for much compassion here. What would you do if you were Israel's PM, you did not believe the Scriptures, and you needed to simultaneously fend off U.S. pressure, terrorist attacks, and impending legal action against yourself (possibly) and your own children (certainly) for illegal campaign funding?

It seems that Sharon hoped that he could gain world sympathy by a unilateral disengagement, while simultaneously freezing world pressure against further withdrawals. But U.S. Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice recently popped that balloon on August 18, 2005, in a NY Times article with Joel Brinkley and Steven R. Weisman. She "offered sympathy for the Israeli settlers who are being removed from their homes in Gaza" but also made it clear that she expected Israel and the Palestinians to take further steps, in short order, toward the creation of a Palestinian state. "Everyone empathizes with what the Israelis are facing," Ms. Rice said in an interview. But, she added, "It cannot be Gaza only."

In a recent TV interview here in Israel, former Consul General of Israel in New York, Alon Pinkas, stated that, with the evacuation from Gaza, "the U.S. has seen the victory of its 38-year-old policy." American Rice and Israeli Pinkas dovetail in agreeing that the evacuation of Gaza was a long-standing U.S. policy goal, and that the continuing division of the biblical land of Israel is an ongoing U.S. strategic goal.

"The Time of the Dividing Up of the Land of Israel"

So, the evacuation from Gaza is not taking place in a vacuum. At this point, with the exile of the Jewish remnant from the Gaza Strip and from parts of Northern Samaria, the world has now entered into the period which can be called "the time of the dividing up the land of Israel." The first fruits have been seen globally on television this past week. It is unfortunate that the U.S. is one of the prime movers in this dividing process.

This season will involve intensified world focus on and preoccupation with forcing Israel to retreat from other portions of the biblical heartland. It will involve political, economic, and military pressure. Two decades ago, an internationally respected, prophetic brother prophesied that the USA would face another oil embargo when a man named Abdullah would become King over Saudi Arabia. Abdullah acceded to the Saudi throne on August 3, 2005. The economic pressures against Israel will also include oil embargoes against the USA and other countries -- Islamic oil weapons crafted to weaken connections between those countries and the state of Israel.

We have been warning about the immediacy of this biblical scenario for nearly 12 years. What is sobering is that in the first round of this battle, Israel has been pressured into evacuating portions of its own lands..

What Will Eventually Develop According to the Scriptures:

- There will be a concerted effort on the part of enemy Arab nations to occupy all of the land of Israel and to destroy the Jewish state. The enemy will be characterized by murderous spite, derision, and hate-filled joy (Ezekiel 36).
- All of the nations mentioned in this future pan-Arab attack, described in Psalm 83, are presently Islamic. Look for a jihadi Islamic context in this future war against the Jewish state.
- Based on Ezekiel 38-39 this coming jihadi invasion of Israel will be decisively defeated.
- The nations of the world will continue to attempt to divide the land of Israel and will finally use military force to achieve this goal. This will result in severe judgment on those nations and the return of Messiah Yeshua (Joel 3:1-3).
- In pursuit of the above strategy, the nations will invade Israel and divide Jerusalem, expelling or evacuating Jews from East Jerusalem while allowing them to remain in West Jerusalem. This evacuation will directly catalyze the return of Messiah Yeshua (Zechariah 14:12-21).

In light of these biblical scenarios, we encourage you to keep God's strategies and prophetic plans close to your heart.

We encourage you to pray for your country -- that it would bless and protect Israel and the Jewish people, and not turn against them. We encourage you to intercede for Israel's protection and salvation. We encourage you to reach out to Jewish people around you -- your Jewish friends and acquaintances -- and to share the good news of their Messiah Yeshua's life, atoning death, and amazing resurrection.

We encourage you to prepare for the coming wave of anti-Jewish persecution, terror, and future holocaust. How will you be able to save Jewish lives and protect them as they return to their promised land?

Thanks for reading these words and for chewing on them. We bless you and thank you for your friendship, prayers, and support. They mean a lot to us!

In Yeshua, Israel's Messiah and the Light of the world!

Destruction in the City
LaTonya N Malinconico

Late 2004

Dream One: I was in the middle of tall downtown buildings and a huge flood was coming so a group of people and I decided to hold on to the buildings inside of this tall see-through building. We were a little high up in the business building. The wind was huge and swept away almost anyone who was not holding on to something. And if you were holding on to something, you had to pray and hold as tight as you could because the wind came, then a big wave of water came. Then when people thought they were safe and were starting to get off the buildings, another wave came. I remember I was in the street and I looked to my left side and saw the buildings shaking and slowly water started to come. I started to run back to the building but the dream was in slow motion. I barely made it before the water hit. I think I was in New York because the buildings were so huge. Somehow we got on a train ride and were leaving and I remember green grass but there was no conductor and everyone on the train looked tired. Then I woke up. I had forgot about this dream until I started to research and write about my dream concerning the destruction of the south. So that is why it is posted along the destruction of the south dream. This dream along with many other people's dreams about New York could mean that God is not playing when he shows us the things that will happen. If we don't warn the people, God's judgment will be on us for being bad watchmen. It also serves as a reminder that if we don't have Jesus Christ as our foundation, we will get swept away by the wind and water like a house built on sand. So let's be prepared.

Visions & Dreams
March 2005

Dream Two: My husband and I were together at my Aunt's House and I was telling them that something was happening outside. It was dark all of a sudden and loud thunders where everywhere suddenly. Then we went through one of the doors in the house and I was outside by myself and there were remnants of water everywhere. There was lightening. Huge lightening and I could tell where they would hit. Very loud!!!! Everything was flooded and desolate. I was looking around and I could see people scattered and homeless people. A few trees still stood tall. I went under one tree because I didn't want to be hit by lightening but a woman came and told me not to stand under the tree because there was a huge puddle of water there and the lightening was coming straight for it. In slow motion she grabbed me and the lightening struck and I felt it a little but it hit her instead. There were people in trenches and they were all scattered everywhere. I woke up and went to the bathroom. There I was just starting to think about the interpretation when God gave me an open vision. It was a map of the United States and zoomed in to the south and there appeared what seemed to be a fault line that spread across the tip of California to the East coast of Florida & Georgia. Under the line everything was flooded, destroyed or devastated. Then He said that the South will be destroyed because she used to be the Bible Belt and now she is a whore! Immoral in sex-sins and letting everyone run over her. I walked away and tried to go back to sleep but I couldn't and I felt sad for the South so I prayed to God that he would forgive the Sins of the South and prolong her judgment.

> (Isaiah 1:18-21) Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. (19) If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land: (20) But if ye refuse and rebel, ye shall be devoured with the sword: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken *it. (21) How is the faithful city become an harlot! it was full of judgment; righteousness lodged in it; but now murderers.

The Bible belt from Secular Sources

A bible belt is an area of fundamentalist Protestantism, where reliance on teachings from the holy books of Christianity is at its most pervasive, and often its most literal. In particular, the Bible Belt (with capitals) covers a number of southern and Midwestern states of the U.S.

The "belt" terminology is common in the U.S. to describe regions with a roughly east-west orientation that share a feature: e.g., the Rust Belt (declining industrial areas) and the Sun Belt (hot-weather states in the south and west).

“We all know the phrase, but where exactly is The Bible Belt? It is a geographical region in the South and midsection of the United States. To be a true Bible Belt Christian, you must have a clear understanding of the things you don't do, like smoking, dancing, going to the pool hall, drinking, or making a public appearance without a Bible in hand. You must believe that your actions are controlled by the Holy Spirit and that doing God's will is the most important part of your life -- no matter what scoffers might think.

Some say that certain people in the Bible Belt go overboard in both their religious and political (usually conservative) practices. But Bible Belters believe that their lives are totally controlled by God and they could no more change their ways than fly. Furthermore, they don't apologize for their seemingly irrational behavior. Like a favorite bumper sticker declares, "Christians aren't perfect, just forgiven."

The Great Awakening was the beginning of the movement. If there was a "Bible Belt" in America before then, it was located in the North with such groups as the Massachusetts Puritans and the Pennsylvania Quakers. But, about 1790, something happened. It was as if a great wave suddenly flooded the land. The second Pentecost had begun.”

Today in music, the south has impacted the lives of many through sex, drugs, cars and more sex. In videos today, especially in hip hop and pop, they are wearing no clothes. The rich go to strip bars. The girls get breast implants to be in MTV’s Spring Break. Pornography is made in the south. All of these factors along with the fact that there are so many gay couples in Atlanta and so much fornication in the sunny Miami Beach. Even here in Houston, if you stand up for the bible, they take it out of the court and tell you to go talk to the Supreme Court. Gay marriages, abortion clinics, it is all enough to God. The South needs to repeat.

I remember last year when a friend of mine told me that she had just come from a conference of preachers (nationally know) and that they were all staying at this top hotel. My friend loves to travel and have sex with famous people. She wants to be a groupie, so she is always going around to events. I asked her why was she at a preacher’s conference. And she told me that they needed girls. Most of these well-known preachers where from the south and over big churches but they are addicted to porn and sex. Many, she said were well over there 50’s and still sinning. God does not like that. Things like that make me wonder why the secular world is not interested in the gospel sometimes. They can tell when people are fake more than Christians sometimes. As Christians we are to stand up against the injustice of this nation, the sins of the pastors and teachers. God told us to preach the gospel. If the Bible Belt is going to be judged by God for the things she has not done and taking care of, where does that leave me and you? Simply, we are to pray and ask God to forgive the sins of this nation and the South. We are to help those pastors who do have sins to stop and repent before the Lord. We are to make it hard for them to play sex on regular TV. We are God’s people and he wants a church with no blemish or spot. I pray for the South and hope that God will prolong his judgment a little while longer. I have included a map of my dream along with references to Nita Johnson’s dream and Dumitru Duduman’s dream about America being destroyed to show the similarities of our dreams so that America can wake up. This is real, it is not a game to play with the Lord.

In Christ,

Everything under the bolded black line was destroyed, flooded & left devastated because of the events of my dream. God showed me in a open vision once I had awaken from the dream that there would be a line or fault line & showed me this map.

He said that judgment was set for the sins of the South because she was once the Bible-belt & had now became a whore, immoral & sex-driven, letting every immoral sin enter her until she had no voice and now she is used like a prostitute or harlot.

The following article was from Mrs. R. B. Braswell (Hattie Irene French) taken from www.pebblesofhope.org and http://www.aarons-advocates.org.

This is the Map of gulf of Mexico and the Rio Grande river flooding of Texas as Hattie saw it for the duration (two years) of the Visions and warnings given to her.
For many months only the Rio Grande River flooding was involved; then later for only a month or so, the Gulf Coast tipped into the Gulf of Mexico and was flooded (covered) with water.

No city names were mentioned and no absolute details as to where the cut off lines are to be were given. She was explicit about the southern lines being perfectly straight and helped me produce this map insofar as her poor eyesight could relate. She always refereed to the straight southern border map as "Ugly Texas"
Very close to the end of her life she heard the Words: "I Shall Restore!" and saw the form, (map) of Texas restored back to it's original shape; her comment was. "Oh Texas is beautiful again!"

This is the flooding map of the United States as Seen by my mother, Hattie; Dumitru Duduman, Dell, and Ephraim. America will burn areas are shown in Yellow, ALL of New York State will burn, not only New York City!

California, Florida, ALL of New York state is destroyed, and the city of Las Vegas are shown in yellow overlay and were seen by Dumitru Duduman as being "Sodom and Gomorra" and to be destroyed. The blue wavy portions of Texas are as seen by mother. The Mississippi River Valley Basin is outlined exactly as Dell saw it by the names of numerous cities that he was given. Mother and Ephraim saw that area to be larger toward the top as the Mississippi drainage area widens to include the whole of the Great lakes and some of the lakes of Canada as well. Essentially the entire Mississippi River Valley is to be flooded by the Great Lakes draining through it. Mother saw two mushroom clouds at the very top of the space and Duduman was told that a place of Russian penetration would be in the state of Minnesota. The whole area is a well know geologic fault zone with the Madrid Fault underling the whole region. There are countless articles on the Madrid Fault disaster of 1811 on the net.

All of these visions and warnings to mother focus around Isaiah 18 with some references to Revelation 18. Duduman was given all of Revelation 18 and told "This is the United States!" The messages are about how repent unto salvation and how to live a clean life and not about fear.

The Vision

Nita Johnson

Excerpt from "Prepare For The Winds Of Change II."

On January 27, 1989, I had been in a spirit of prayer all night and was finally just starting to dose off to sleep. Suddenly, I was fully awakened by a vision of a map of the United States. It was not a vision in my head but was what some call an open vision out in front of me.

The map was in a silvery light and was completely sectioned off into states. just as suddenly as it had appeared, I heard a voice, as robust as the sound of many waters yet with great intensity, begin to give directions. Starting with the West Coast, the voice would speak and that same silvery light would shoot down from the direction of heaven like a laser beam onto the map. The light would follow the path directed by the voice and then effects would follow as I will explain. First, the voice cried out: 'The West Coast, California, Oregon and Washington, starting from the southern most tip all the way up to Seattle, will suffer natural disasters, such as earthquakes, floods and fire, and enemy attack. "The line shot up the map taking most of California and leaving only a small section that bordered on Arizona and Nevada. It went up through Oregon taking about half of that state and then on up through Washington, taking about one-third of that state, then moving out toward the ocean through Seattle. The minute the line touched Seattle, everything west of the line disappeared,

The voice then cried out, "Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois will suffer natural disasters, such as floods, earthquakes and tornadoes, and enemy attack. immediately, this line started at about where Lansing, Michigan, is and fanned down in what became two lines going south first. Then one line swung back up easterly through Ohio, going out over the Great Lake Erie through Cleveland. The other line swung down through Indiana and then headed back up northwesterly and went out into the Great Lake Michigan up by the way of the northeast corner of Illinois and out through Chicago. When it was done, it looked like two "u"s side byside. This affected areas all through the region, for instance, as far east as Detroit and easterly in Michigan to the Great Lake itself on the west. The whole southern part of the glove experienced cataclysmic results.

Next, the voice called out, "Most of Louisiana and all of Texas will suffer natural disasters, floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, and enemy attack. " The line shot up through New Orleans east of Baton Rouge, up through Shreveport in a kind of wiggly way then cut off all of Texas. Texas disappeared. Louisiana experienced devastation but didn't disappear.

I was ready for this to end, yet the Lord continued.- New York down through Pennsylvania, the Virginias, the eastern Part of Tennessee, Georgia, and Florida will suffer natural disasters of every kind, hurricanes, flooding, earthquakes, etc. and enemy attack. "Then everything that was east of the line disappeared.

The Lord continued, "The Grand Canyon will suffer natural disasters. " The line seemed to start at the bottom of the Grand Canyon heading northerly straight up to Montana through Yellowstone. This was also accompanied by cataclysmic disasters like floods, earthquakes, volcanoes, and fires. This affected a substantial area, including Arizona, Utah, western parts of Wyoming, the eastern tip of Idaho and southwestern part of Montana, The regions did not disappear, but experienced utter catastrophe.

Then Missouri, Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama, West Tennessee, Kentucky, and on it went. There were severe heat waves, hailstorms, energy blackouts, severe snow and ice storms as well as extreme arctic cold spells to the loss of many lives. I saw it so often occur in some the least likely areas, famines, pestilence, plagues, and more. Nevada and Utah were all but destroyed through natural disasters of every kind and ultimately enemy attack. They did, however, remain on the map (Please note that I am not declaring that the states that disappeared fell off into the sea. I don't know why they disappeared, only that they did. Consequently, I am merely relating what I saw, not trying to interpret.)

I was so dumbstruck that I felt numb, even bruised. It was hard for me to pull it all together in my mind. I just sat there in shock. Finally, I realized if I didn't write it down, I'd lose a lot of it as there was so much detail. So I wrote what I could remember Some states, such as New Mexico, were lost from my memory. I couldn't remember what happened to them, so I didn't record it.

I distinctly remember, however, that the only part of the US. that was not devastated was the Central United States, a region basically west of the Missouri River, as I have indicated on the map. I also realized that many of the things that would begin happening immediately would be of an unusual nature, such as natural disasters that would seem improbable or even impossible, at least for that particular geographical area,

I was instructed that this sequence of events would start immediately, picking up momentum with time until eventually the succession would be happening with gunshot rapidity, until all was fulfilled. It's important to understand that the natural disasters did not specifically follow "the lines", but the lines seemed to indicate the borders of the severely affected areas. The only one exception was the line that went up through the Grand Canyon north to Montana. In that case, the line seemed to symbolize the central core of action with a radiating aftermath both to the east and west. I saw natural disasters in Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands followed by warheads.

Finally, I saw a severe diminishing of our nation's military. Officers, and enlisted men, as well as the closing of many critical bases were part of the scenario. Our ability to defend ourselves was critically reduced, to a point of near ineffectiveness. (The Military cut down was not incorporated in this vision, but was seen many years ago.)

These disasters have already begun, just as He said they would. Since that vision, there have been two earthquakes in California, terrible fires, a hurricane on the East Coast that did what all the meteorologists said could never happen. The storm entered inland through Charleston, South Carolina, went north and headed back into the ocean through

New York. Flooding for the first time in history was recorded in a community in northern Ohio resulting in unusual deaths. Most recently, there was an earthquake near the southern border of Missouri, and floods in the plains, and terrible disaster in Florida from tornadoes. Those are just a few instances, but hopefully, they're enough to drive the point home. These things are neither freak accidents, as some would have you believe, nor are they just satanic humor on mankind. Church, please realize that the Lord commanded everything that I saw hit the map. He also told me it was part of the sequential calamities which are warnings ultimately leading to full judgment assigned to this country. They are like blinking red lights along the path of judgment. Go back! Stop! Repent! The end is at hand! Will you hear? Will you pray? How in His great mercy would He gladly stop or minimize catastrophe for His praying church!

As I said earlier, the church will be here through much of it, but not the worst of it. At that, some will utter a sigh of deep relief, but I can't. I don't want people I love left behind to experience that. I saw the devastation. Never again will the people be able to sing, "Oh, beautiful for spacious skies, with amber waves of grain, for purple mountain majesty above the fruited plain. America, America, God shed His grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood, from sea to shining sea." It will no longer be true.

One better to quote will be Jeremiah:
Oh, that my head were waters, and my eyes a reservoir of tears, that I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people! (Jer. 9:1 Amp.)
The Lord does not delight in the announcements He has made. He has waited this long time that we, as a people, might repent. Some foolishly say, "God is love. He wouldn't do that." My friends, God is also holy and for that reason He must let this nation who is so steeped in the love of sin and idolatry drink the whole cup of wrath that it has been storing up for two hundred years. If God judged Israel even one time for the sin of the nation, then He must unleash that same righteous judgment against America.

Last, but not least, it doesn't really matter if we believe all, part, or any of what has been written in these pages. If our response is continued apathy, it will all come to pass, most of it before our eyes, as the Lord will fulfill His purpose. The motivating factor, which will cause Him to purge the land by fire, is the sin that has and will continue to rise up before His throne day and night.

Canada will experience as much devastation through various forms of natural disaster, as America. As I shared in an earlier chapter, it will be for the same reasons. Both will experience the purging fire of judgment.

The Lord weeps over the souls of men who have and will suffer through these calamities. He weeps, for His heart breaks over our pain. Fear and unbelief blinds our eyes. Jesus longs to give His light and faith, and bring the sinner to repentance. The things that have moved Him to withhold His judgments up to this point are His intense love for His church and His now over extended mercy for the unrepentant.

Dark Valleys and Mountain Tops

Dorothea Montague

My people, My beloved people, I would say unto you today, I am bringing many of you through dark valleys of suffering but always I lead you up onto the mountain top again and you experience the joy of knowing the darkness is behind you. I hear you asking, "But why must we suffer, Lord." I am calling all My people to go forth into ministries of caring for the hurting, brokenhearted people of the world and how can you minister to such without having walked in the shoes of those who are hurting and brokenhearted and who are suffering from trials of sickness and disease in their bodies.

He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds. (Psa. 147:3)

After sojourning in dark valleys for a time I am raising up countless of My people to go forth in the power of the Holy Spirit, to draw people unto Me, to bring healing to sick bodies, to bring comfort to those who have lost loved ones, to care for homeless children, to give of your much to meet the needs of multitudes who have lost everything in the disasters that have come upon the world in these days. Have I not warned in My Word?

For then there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor ever shall be and unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect's sake those days will be shortened. (Matt. 24:21,22)

Look around you, My people. Do you not see evidence of great tribulation throughout the world. I hear you crying out and saying, "Why, Lord, why are you allowing such devastation in the world?" Look around you again and observe the abomination of great sin everywhere. Do you not see that I must allow punishment against man's sinful ways.

O, My people, are you not observing that, even in the midst of great turmoil I am pouring out My Spirit upon all flesh.

And it shall come to pass afterward that I will pour out My Spirit on all flesh, your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions. And also on My menservants and on My maidservants I will pour out My Spirit in those days. (Joel 2:28,29)

My beloved ones, make yourselves ready for a great outpouring of My Spirit around the world. Observe how I am raising up your children and your teenagers to don the mantles of the prophetic, of healing, of preaching and teaching the Word. Be in readiness for the miraculous to be in evidence such as you have never seen before. Be in readiness for divine encounters with My angels who will come unto you to bring guidance as you serve Me.

Yes, My children, you are nearing the end of time but, as you willingly follow Me you shall see My glory come upon each of you as you bring the multitudes unto Me and safely into My kingdom.

Dance With God

Jill Austin

When You Dance With God, Let Him Lead

Bridal Garments of Humility

Isaiah 62:4-5 - "You shall no longer be termed Forsaken, nor shall your land any more be termed Desolate; but you shall be called Hephzibah, and your land Beulah; for the LORD delights in you, and your land shall be married . . . and as the bridegroom rejoices over the bride, so shall your God rejoice over you." NKJV

One of the greatest, most breath-taking moments in a wedding is watching the bride promenade down the aisle, wrapped in the most glorious of garments. Crowds hush and all eyes are affixed, for she has captured the room just by her appearance.

Even today, Holy Spirit is training us in humility to rule and reign with Him as His Bride. If the Bride is to be equally yoked to the Bridegroom, she must wear the same wedding garments He wore. If Jesus, the King of Kings, chose a crown of thorns, how much more should we adorn ourselves in the beauty of meekness? If He forsook His divine robes of righteousness for earthly burlap robes, how much more should we wrap ourselves in a mantle of humility?

Matching Your Heart With God's Heart

At the Marriage Supper of the Lamb, each one of us will be wrapped in different garments, brilliantly embroidered with the fruits and rewards from our earthly lives. A stunning, colorful, tailor-made royal robe will be our portion.

In the Lord's great wisdom, it's as though the outer garment that covered each person was a simple burlap robe -- a mantle of humility. Underneath that robe is the beautiful royal robe of our giftings. The Lord displays these at different times, but most of the time it is a secret testimony between you and the Lord.

Walking in humility is a heart issue, a lifestyle, an attitude that is God-given. An impartation of humility is different than a decision of humility. You can't instantaneously grow humility in your heart. Rather, it is a journey of a lifetime of matching your heart with God's heart. Ask God to do whatever it takes to make you a pure reflection of His Son.

Prayer: Lord, I give you permission to do whatever it takes to kill my pride. Help me to be the first one to run to the cross, humble out, and say "Yes" to you, Lord -- always. I need Your help to forgive and always put other people before me, even as You sacrificed everything for me. I want to cloak myself in a garment of humility so I am a Bride that matches her Husband.

When You Dance With God, Let Him Lead

I Corinthians 1:27 - "But God has chosen the foolish things of the world to put to shame the wise, and God has chosen the weak things of the world to put to shame the things which are mighty." NKJV

God does not like to be put under a microscope. Perfectionism, performance-driven, and program-oriented attitudes will hinder us from moving in the Holy Spirit!

He is asking all of us to be flexible and to let Him be God. We offend Him by the little boxes we put Him in and by the different ways religion tries to control Him. We say "everything is done in decency and order," but, Beloved, there is something greater than our human logical order: He has divine order. Divine order was for His Son, Jesus, to spit on the ground, make clay with His saliva, and spread it on a man's eyes so that he would be healed. That doesn't sound too orderly! Are you willing to move in His divine order and not be so logical and fenced in by formulas that you miss the move of Holy Spirit altogether?

Entering the School of the Holy Spirit

Guess what? God is God, and we are not! So, let Him be God. Often God will move in ways that offend your mind because He wants to test our heart. I feel like the Lord is asking us, "Are you really willing to follow Me, even if you don't always understand my rhymes and reasons? Are you really willing to make mistakes and be in The School of the Holy Spirit?"

Most of us are more concerned about protecting our own reputation than really being consumed with the fame of His name. Are we willing to step out of the boat in faith, even if we are sometimes wrong, or if we get rejected? What are you willing to risk to learn to hear the Lord? We need to be willing to do anything for God -- even make mistakes.

We must make a covenant to be available to however God wants to use us. In my journey of being a weak and broken vessel, I purposed in my heart not to just fall back on The Four Spiritual laws, or other religious tools that we can pull out of our bag of ministry tricks. But rather, I want to be willing to be a fool for Jesus. In the midst of not always knowing why God tells us to do something, we must do what He says simply because we love Him. Do not be afraid to jump off cliffs for God. Another way to spell faith is R-I-S-K!

Prayer: Lord, forgive me for putting You in a box! Let your fire come and baptize me with Your Holy Spirit. Burn up all the religion and control. Teach me how to minister to those whose hearts are broken or need physical or emotional healing. Teach me to let You lead and simply follow You!

The Least Shall be the Greatest
Jill Austin,

> James 4:6, 7, 10 - "Therefore He says: 'God resists the proud, but gives grace to the humble.' Therefore submit to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you. Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up."

Years ago when ministering in the nation of New Zealand, I was given an open-eyed vision that changed my life. I saw an enormous fiery angel full of the glory of the Lord walking up and down the nation. He was brandishing a mighty sword that was beheading those who were standing tall in their own pride, egotism, and self glory. The Lord was dealing with the haughty attitude of their heart through this powerful angel.

Those who were bowed low on their faces and postured themselves in humility were spared, knighted, and promoted. The Lord was raising them up to a new place of leadership because of their meekness and humility of heart.

God requires and honors humility! If you want your life to have significance, then position yourself at the feet of Jesus.

Church Politics and the Heart of God

As I have ministered in conferences nationally and internationally, I've seen many people moving in self-promotion and climbing the corporate ladder of ministry through church politics. Honestly, this breaks the very heart of God. It also tests our hearts when we are overlooked and others are unfairly promoted above us. The Lord allows these "fires" to work a death in our own hearts - killing our pride and need for position.

We cannot use people - or prostitute His bride - to build our name, ministry or personal mailing lists. The goal is to be so accepted and confident in His love that we do not need the lime light because we are so in love with The Light of the World, the glorious man Christ Jesus.

At the end of the day, His opinion is the only one that counts. When we are so rooted and grounded in His affections, it is easy to not care about promoting ourselves. It is then that we find ourselves in that wonderful place of reckless abandonment - of being a laid-down lover of Jesus - and our lives are truly all about Him.

There is a price behind the anointing!

The years of being overlooked are a fiery inferno, but the Lord can use it to work gold in our hearts. The challenge in this life-long journey is to keep our heart soft, humble, and bowed low before Him. Our gifts will make room for us in due season. Do we have love and humility, regardless of what happened to us or have we become disqualified because of bitterness and hardness of heart?

Prayer: Lord, help me to stay on the operating table as You perform heart surgery. Make me so rooted and grounded in Your love that I don't promote myself. Give me grace and humility to accept Your timing and orchestration of my life.

Do We Look For Another?

Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net/articles/another.html

"Now when John heard in the prison the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said unto [Jesus], 'Are you the One that should come, or do we look for another?'" (Matthew 11:2,3).

You will recall that John the Baptist was the one sent by God to be a voice in the wilderness, the prophet who went before Jesus to prepare His way and announce the coming Kingdom. John pointed out that the One coming after him was the One Who would be preferred above himself. It was John who revealed to us that great mystery of God's Purpose in seven simple words: "He must increase, but I must decrease" (John 3:30).

John's ministry reached its height when Jesus came down to the river Jordan to be baptized. There John saw the heavens opened, saw the Spirit of God descending upon Jesus like a dove, and heard a Voice saying, "This is my beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased." With evidence like this it is difficult to doubt; and so, with great authority and conviction, John said, "I saw, and bare record, that this is the Son of God" (John 1:34).

John knew his purpose had been fulfilled, and with great eagerness he handed the reins over to the One he had so faithfully proclaimed. He had prepared the way, and now the One he had been preparing everyone for had arrived.

Shortly thereafter, John was arrested and put into prison. His work was complete, his sun was setting, and just as he had said, Jesus was increasing and John was decreasing. But oh, what a decrease! The ministry was finished, the crowds were gone, and John was left alone in prison with only a few disciples who came to visit him.

When everything is stripped away you are soon left with little but your own thoughts. In prison, John had a lot of time to think. And the essence of his thoughts were along these lines: Did I make a mistake? Is Jesus the Son of God, or not? If He is the Messiah then where is His Kingdom? Why doesn't Jesus do something? Did I really see the Spirit and hear the Voice, or was that just my imagination? And if He isn't the One, do we need to start looking for another?

We can all take comfort in the knowledge that even the greatest prophet who ever lived (Luke 7:28) can have troubling thoughts, moments of doubt, and crises of faith. We all experience times when the darkness mocks us and circumstances try to convince us that the best course is to "curse God and die" (as Job's wife so eloquently put it). We can afford to be philosophical and detached about Jesus increasing and us decreasing while we are still ministering out by the Jordan, but in prison the truth of what we have been proclaiming is put to the test. Sadly, many of us fail the test. Jesus simply does not do what we expect - and this upsets us!

The real crisis of faith is along the lines of this Man. We can all disagree over Bible doctrine and interpretations of Scripture. But what will you do about Jesus? He will not change Who He is to accommodate Who we think He is. He is Who He is. We either have to come to grips with Jesus as He in fact is, or we have to settle for something less or something else. He is the same yesterday, today, and forever (Hebrews 13:8). So the question we all have to answer is this: Is Jesus enough? Is He enough, just as He is? Or do we still need Him to do something else in order to satisfy us? Intellectually we can say, "Yes, Jesus is enough. Amen to that. I believe it." But I am surprised at the growing number of people who are openly suggesting that Jesus really is not enough for them! We need fellowship, they say. Or we need God's blessings. Or we need spiritual gifts and more powerful anointings. To believe that Jesus is Enough (they say) is simply too mystical, too simplistic, too out-of-touch with the real world - no matter what Colossians 2:10 says.

I would suggest, brothers and sisters, that if Jesus is not Enough for us then we have not really met Him yet, or at the very least, we do not know Him very well. Corrie Ten Boom said, "You may never know that Jesus is all you need until Jesus is all you have." That is the purpose of all God's dealings with us in this area of being decreased (or as I like to say, being reduced to Christ). Jesus is not quite all we HAVE, and so we are reluctant to say that Jesus is all we NEED. The problem, dear friends, is not that we have too little, but that we have too much. It is not that we need more of the Lord; I believe we already have all of Him. We just need less of everything else. Like the Laodiceans, we consider ourselves to be rich, increased with goods, and in need of nothing (Revelation 3:17). Like Martha, who was vexed over "many things", we have too many religious things, too many Christian things, too many spiritual things, too many church things, too many of the "many things" that distract us from the One Thing that is needed (Luke 10:42). No one is ever vexed over the One Thing. It is always the "many things" that vex us, all those "things" apart from Jesus that we think we just cannot live without, all those "things" we think we "need" simply because when it gets right down to it, we do not see Jesus as Enough.

Now we all face the same temptation John faced. What is the temptation? There in prison he began to think, and he came up with a question, and if you really look at this question I think you will see where the suggestion comes from, and you can still hear its echo from time to time. The question is this: "Are you the One, or do we look for another?" And notice this is not John's own personal dilemma. By using the word "we" he included himself and others who were equally puzzled and wondering within themselves as to whether or not Jesus was the One.

The essence of the question is this: everything we are, everything we have, and everything we believe is based upon Jesus being the One; but Jesus has disappointed us, not so much by what He has done, but by what He has failed to do. We expected His Kingdom to be thus and so, we expected Him to be thus and so, and nothing is as we expected it would be. Now we can continue believing in this One Who frustrates us so, this One Who seems to be moving so slowly, or we can look for another, someone who can be depended upon, someone who makes sense, someone who always answers us according to our own thoughts, desires, needs, and schedule. Someone who does not require us to be decreased in order for him to be increased, someone who does not talk about denying ourselves and taking up a cross, but will just love us the way we are and let us be who we are. Are you the One, Jesus? Will you allow us to make You into what we want you to be, or do we look for another?

This "looking for another" is the entire object of our adversary, that spirit of Antichrist that is forever trying to corrupt us "from the simplicity of Christ" (II Corinthians 11:3), always trying to get us to leave "Him that called you" to follow after "another Gospel" (Galatians 1:6), which really is no other, Paul says, only the appearance of Another, Something Else, or Someone Else. At least Peter, for whatever faults he may have had, was smart enough to realize that there was no one else but Him: "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life" (John 6:68). But this does not stop people, even Christians who should know better, from "looking for another." They look for another pastor, another preacher, another teacher, another prophet, another ministry, another sign or word or prophecy or teaching or manifestation or meeting or miracle. The simplicity of Christ, the reality of Who He is, cannot keep their attention for very long.

In another place Jesus asked, "Whom seek ye?" (John 18:4). In other words, who are you looking for? This particular crowd was pressing in to have Him arrested and put to death. The day before the crowds were pressing in to proclaim "Hosanna!", and before that they were pressing in to make Him their king by force (John 6:15). At other times the people pressed Him to hear the Word of God. Still other times the people pressed Him to be healed of their diseases. Have you ever noticed that everyone wants something, that there are more takers in this world than givers? Pressing Him, pushing Him, forever wanting more and never satisfied. Very few know how to sit at His feet just to hear His Word. Very few are willing to pour out the best ointment on Him, and when they do, they are severely criticized for such a "waste". Very few are content just "to be with Him" (Mark 3:14). Instead, this one wants a loaf of bread, this one wants a healing, this one wants a teaching, this one wants a sign, this one wants an answer to a question, this one wants proof of His divinity, this one wants something to accuse Him with. Does anyone seek Him for His sake? Does anyone press upon Him, not for what He can give, but for Who He is? Does anyone seek Him out, not to get some need met, but so they "may know Him" (Philippians 3:10)?

Whom seek ye? Have you discovered Him yet, and is He enough, or do you seek another? We do not proclaim the preeminence of Christ because it is a nice doctrine to believe in; for us, it is a matter of life and death, because everything hinges on whether or not Jesus is preeminent. If He is preeminent then He is Enough, and there is nothing else but Him, and there is nothing worth proclaiming except Him. To John in prison, and to us wherever we may happen to be, Jesus says, "No, you did not make a mistake. I am the One, but I am more than you can imagine, more than you dare to dream. Blessed are they who are not offended in Me."

The Hidden Christ
Chip Brogden

Jesus, the Christ of God, did not reveal Himself to the world at large, but to a handful of disciples. We ought to ask why He did not appear upon a mountain in blinding light, or descend in a cloud, but was born into the world as a baby in a stable. A few shepherds worshipped Him the night He was born, Simeon and Anna blessed Him in the Temple at His dedication, and two years later some astrologers from the East worshipped Him. But no one else in all the world grasped the significance of this Child. He was hidden from 99.9% of the world.

When Jesus first met Peter, what was Peter's perception of Jesus? Here is a rabbi who has attracted quite a large gathering of people with His interesting stories and teachings. Very well, there is nothing wrong with that, I'll even let you borrow my boat while you preach. Did Peter perceive Who this Man really was? Of course not. He called Him "Teacher" and "Rabbi".

But then the Teacher said to go out into the deep and let down the nets for a catch of fish. Peter must decide whether or not to obey. After all, Peter was a fisherman, and since he had fished all night and caught nothing, what would be the point? What does a carpenter know about fish? Nevertheless, he complied. When he did as Jesus said and let down the nets they caught an abnormally large amount of fish, so much so that their boat threatened to capsize.

To you and me this may sound like a coincidence, or luck. Some might call it a miracle, and it is miraculous, but it is more than a miracle, it is a sign. A sign is a miracle which points to some truth. This is a miracle, but the miracle was not done just for the sake of Peter gaining an abundant supply of fish for his business. It was a sign given by Christ in order to reveal Himself to Peter. In Scriptural language, it is "revealing His glory." There is nothing glorious in the Son of Man, but in the Son of God we see glory.

Jesus merely said, "Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch of fish." Nevertheless, Peter perceived that Jesus was no ordinary man. For when he saw what happened, he fell down and sobbed, "Lord, depart from me, for I am a sinful man." The One he called Teacher he now calls Lord, and Peter is immediately made to see the contrast of himself, a sinful man, and Christ, the Holy One of God. Everyone else heard the teaching, but Peter saw the Person.

Why would catching a huge net of fish produce this reaction in Peter? Why was he not simply thankful, or happy, or incredulous? What caused him to fall down upon his knees and confess his sin? It was not because Jesus gave him an altar call, or led him in the Sinner's Prayer, or even asked if He could be his personal savior. It was not necessary, because once Peter's eyes were opened to see the Real Jesus, he fell to his knees quite naturally.

The object of Christianity is not to give people a teaching or to lead them in a prayer, but to introduce them to a Man. I would rather have thirty seconds of seeing than thirty years of preaching. People can listen to me preach all their life and never understand a word, but if the Lord opens their eyes to SEE Who I am preaching about then they will understand everything.

When people are in your presence, what do they touch - a system of beliefs, a code of conduct, an ethical standard, or a Person? We may have an abundance of words and teachings, but all of them together are nothing but letters if they are not constantly pointing us to a Living Christ.

We have surely failed if we can put together a teaching that is so easy to follow that we do not need to know the Lord Jesus. Unfortunately, when I listen to some people teach, I realize that anyone can put their teaching to good use, whether they know the Lord or not. So the teaching is worthless to the Kingdom of God because it creates no dependency upon Christ as All in All.

Eventually the revelation of Christ moved Peter to make the bold confession that "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." Jesus did not teach Peter what to say, He merely revealed Himself to Peter. He did not sit down with His disciples and say, "I am the Christ, the Son of the Living God. Now repeat that after Me several times, and I will test you on this in the morning." He did not teach them a catechism or a rosary or a mantra or a confession, He merely revealed Himself to them as He in fact is. They made the confession in due course, having revelation.

The Testimony of Jesus always springs forth from the Revelation of Christ. If we do not have the Revelation then we cannot have the Testimony. That is to say, we cannot bear witness of what we have seen and heard if we have not, in fact, seen or heard anything. We try to get people to confess in order that they may ATTAIN to something, but true confession comes forth naturally after they have OBTAINED it.

Not only was Christ Himself hidden and revealed in degrees, but most of what He taught was hidden. He purposely disguised the truth in parables, and only explained Himself privately to His disciples. Even then, much of what He said was misunderstood, and they failed to grasp the significance of it until after His resurrection, when He opened their minds and hearts to understand, and the Spirit came to bear witness of Christ and teach them inwardly.

When Christ rose from the dead, we would expect Him to present Himself alive to Pilate, to Herod, to Caiaphas, and to the all the people who had Him crucified. But He did not. We see that Christ had the ability to reveal, or not reveal Himself to people. For Mary mistook Him to be the gardener, and the two disciples on the road to Emmaus did not perceive Who He was, because it was hidden from them.

You see that Christ is revealed or hidden from men as He so desires. So many professed disciples of the Lord Jesus fail to recognize Him. The Lord tells them to go to Galilee, but they go to Emmaus. Many people sitting in church would not discern the Lord Jesus if He walked up the aisle and sat down on the altar. They are not really His sheep, therefore they cannot hear His voice, and they do not know Him.

Even His closest disciples are prone to doubt and unbelief. After the resurrection, Thomas declared, "I will not believe unless I see the scars and put my hand into the wound in His side." When Jesus therefore appeared to them He did not argue or try to convince Thomas. He simply said, "Behold! Look! See my hands and my feet!" When Thomas saw the Lord, he spontaneously cried out, "My Lord, and My God!" This is revelation. Revelation does not require any arguing or convincing, as if it all depends on how well we can make a defense of the Gospel. I see no argument in the Lord Jesus, I only see Him. Seeing Him, I am convinced, and no argument is necessary.

Now we want to impress upon you that the seeing which we talk about is an inward seeing, an inward revelation, an enlightenment of the heart. Jesus told Thomas more blessed than the ones who see with their eyes are those who see with the Spirit, and know and perceive Christ as Lord and God.

There is an apostolic prayer recorded in Ephesians 1 which touches upon this issue:

"I pray that God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ will give to you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the (full)knowledge of Him, the eyes of your understanding being enlightened, that you may know what is the hope of His calling, and the riches of His inheritance in the saints, and the exceeding greatness of His power in us who believe."

This is a rich prayer. It is very high. There are a couple of lessons for us here.

First, God must reveal His Son to us by way of the Spirit who illuminates our heart. How can we pray the Lord's Prayer for years and never enter into God's thought or mind for what it all means? Because we learned to recite the Lord's Prayer but we did not have the spirit of wisdom and revelation to SEE what we are praying for. But Paul saw it. Who showed it to him? It came to him by revelation from God Himself. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." Where and how do they see Him? Their heart is enlightened and thus made pure. In like manner, Paul prays that we too would be given this revelation of Christ.

Second, the word "knowledge" here does not mean head knowledge or facts we can learn from an encyclopedia. It is the Greek word EPI-GNOSIS, which is a compound word more accurately translated, "full-knowledge". It means to come to a mature, experiential, existential, and complete knowing of Christ. So, Paul is praying - not for sinners, but for people who are already Christians - that God will reveal Christ to them in ever increasing measure so that He may fill all things. It is another way of saying, "Your Kingdom come, Your will be done." For this indeed is God's will, thought, and design for the Church, the earth, and the universe - the whole of creation.

It is amazing to see how many times Paul uses the word "all". He says the grace of God has appeared to ALL men, that his mission is to make ALL men see, that Christ is to fill ALL in ALL, that ALL things will be gathered together into Christ. God's end is not the Church, but ALL. The Church is only the beginning. He begins with a man (Abraham), then with a family (Israel), then all the nations. In like manner, God intends to fill the individual, then the Church, then all things.

God has purposely hidden Christ and makes Him available to us only by revelation when we have humbled ourselves as children and forsaken our wisdom. Revelation is sufficient, for if we have the revelation of Christ then we see all we need to see, and if we do not have the revelation of Christ, nothing else will do us any good. The Church is the synthesis of individual disciples who have the revelation of Jesus and have received His Life, and Jesus is building His Church upon the revelation of Himself.

Do You Have the Faith for the Radical Things of God?"

Jill Austin

This weekend, I spoke at Jubilee Church in Camarillo, California, and shared about the new generation the Lord is releasing -- the Joshua Generation. I feel there are many of you who are working in the marketplace, and you are full of creative ideas that have not been fulfilled yet, so I am sharing more of this with you today.

Please read the following Scriptures:

Joshua 1:2, 3 "Now therefore, arise, go over this Jordan, you and all these people, to the land which I am giving to them -- the children of Israel. Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given you, as I said to Moses."

Joshua 6:1, 2 "Now Jericho was securely shut up because of the children of Israel; none went out, and none came in. And the LORD said to Joshua: 'See! I have given Jericho into your hand, its king, and the mighty men of valor.'"

A Church Without Walls

I feel that the Lord is releasing many new movements on the earth, and one of the movements is called "The Third Day Movement." I feel the Lord wants to release a church without walls. He wants to mobilize the men and women to do exploits in the name of the King. There needs to be a cry inside of us that we will be ones who will do exploits for the King of Glory. Amen?

When we remember Moses, it says he lived to be 120 years old. His eyes were not dim, but because of his disobedience, he was only able to see the Promised Land and not go into it, but he prayed for Joshua and gave him wisdom.

Are You a Giant-Killer or a Grasshopper?

Now, I want to go back into Moses' time a little. We all know the story about the twelve spies. We know how they went into the Promised Land, and they saw the giants. They came back and they said, "There are giants in the land -- and we are like grasshoppers." The only ones who had faith to go into the land were Joshua and Caleb.

I feel that the Lord wants to stir faith inside of us that we are not grasshoppers. I think there is something in us that says, "The giants are so big, and the strongholds of Jericho are so huge. Would God ever give us divine strategies to take down these strongholds in our lives, and in the lives of our families and friends?" There needs to be a switch to something inside us, faithfully saying, "Lord, You will give us divine strategies. We just have to take one step at a time."

Do You Have the Faith for the Radical Things of God?

You see, they weren't able to go into the Promised Land because of their unbelief. They wouldn't believe their God, so they were willing to continue in the wilderness and in a place of familiarity. Often, in the church, we are used to what is comfortable and familiar. I feel the Lord is saying, "I want to use fresh strategies and fresh impartations of my Spirit. I want you to break out of My old familiar wineskins."

There needs to be a cry inside of you that you are willing to be forerunners -- revolutionists -- that you are willing to take the glory of the Lord outside the walls of the church into the educational and political systems, the music industry, entertainment, the marketplace, and that you are willing to move in the radical things of God.

Do You Cry for a Visitation? Are You Willing to Live in the Miracles?

There needs to be a cry in you that says, "Lord, I want you to break out in the marketplace."
I feel that the Lord is saying, "Are you willing to move in the times and the seasons . . . like Daniel, like Joshua?"
Is your cry, "Lord, I want to get the fresh strategies in our world for what you are doing in our lives"? There needs to be that cry that says, "Lord, I want more of you."

They were willing to live in the miracles. Moses had radical 40-day-and-night visitations. There needs to be a cry in you that says, "I want those visitations. I want an encountering and a gripping. I want to meet my Jesus face-to-face."

There needs to be a cry in you that says, "Lord, the platform of the church is too small; but Lord, where can you radically use me to impact my world in everyday life, as a prophet, evangelist, teacher, and preacher with prophetic words and words of knowledge that can impact my world and bring a shaking of the kingdom of God?"

Be Fearlessly Radical Even Among the Rich

I want you to not only be able to move in the church, but to be able to have "suddenlies" of the Lord -- to be able to have sounds in the secular world that can start to bring the presence of Jesus Christ into stadiums for the purposes of God.

Why not have a dream? Why not develop radical inventions? Why not move in the medical community with radical intelligence to bring cures of leukemia and cancer? Some of you have been gifted in the medical field -- you've been gifted in science -- you've been given a sharpness.

I think so often in the church we say, "Yes, Lord, we should get everyone ministering to the streets." We talk about the inner city; and I feel that the Lord says, "It's not just the inner city. It's not just the poorest of the poor. I want you to be able to go to the rich. I want you to be able to go to the influential. I want you to be able to go to the educational and political systems and impact your world radically."

Why Not Dream Big?

Why do we only sanction that we take a tract and go to the street corner, when many of you are so gifted? You need to move in your gifting and use your education to activate radical strategies that will break open the King of Glory to move in your midst.

You Have More than You May Realize!

You see, some of you are saying, "I don't have anything"; but if you have a word of God, it will open up doors, and you can go into the courts of kings. The Lord is going to change how the prophets are used. We have gotten into a conference mentality.

More and more, the most radical prophetic voices are going to move almost like invisible men and women behind the scenes to go and talk to kings, prime ministers, and leaders in the world. Many of them you would never know on the platform of a church, and many of them you would never see on a conference itinerary; yet, they are used radically as brokers for the King of Glory.

It Is Big

Whatever your gift is, the Lord will use it. Whatever your talent is, the world will use it. Many times, the five-folders have sinned against the business and education system. They've said that the only place to use your gifts is from the platform, instead of empowering you to sit at corporate board tables as stock brokers, as educators, where you can give the prophetic word of the Lord and change the course of an entire corporation for Jesus Christ.

We need to stop being envious and pining away for the church platform and start being about the business of Jesus Christ. "Arriving" does not mean standing on the platform of a church. We are in a prophetic journey our whole lives. We need to carry the presence and love of Jesus wherever we go. In one place, you will give a word; in another, one person will get saved; and in another, delivered. That is part of moving in the gospel of Jesus. We need to bring the kingdom of God into everyday life. It is not enough to just sit in conferences.

If You Give it Away, He Will Multiply it Over and Over Again

When did you last dream and ask for prophetic revelation of inventions that would change the world trends in music? How about songs that would change history? How radical do you want to be? How entrepreneurial?
In everyday life, are you radical for Jesus? Is your cry, "Lord, let me see the broken, let me see the weak, let me see the despised"? You have to be willing to let God customize your own death. Now, when Joshua was going to go into Jericho, he sent two spies. They went into Jericho and they met Rahab, a prostitute.

When you go into the music or computer industries, you are going to meet Rahab. You are going to meet the gentiles. You are going to meet the prostitutes. You are going to meet the ones who say, with terror in their hearts, "I heard about your God," and you are going to bring salvation for their whole generation. Did you know that Rahab is in the line of Jesus Christ -- she is the great, great grandmother of Jesus!

Are you willing to meet Rahab? Are you willing to meet the prostitutes? Not just the prostitute on the street corner -- but that radical gentile, that sexually perverted person in the music, entertainment, or computer industry? Is there something in us that says, "Give us a radical word in season that will break open their sin, bring deliverance, and bring them to Jesus Christ?" You see, if you really loved Him, you would give Him away. If He is your first love, what else would you do but talk about Him?

For Joshua, the Jordan was in flood season. They had to believe for a miracle. Many times, when God breaks you out of the old familiar things and brings you to the new, you have to go through the flood waters. There were wild lions around the river, there was a cry for strategies. And the Lord said, "On the third day, have the priests carry the ark. Where their feet touch the water, the waters will recede."

The ark carried the glory and the presence of God. There needs to be a cry in us that, as we start to transition from the old to the new, we carry the glory and the presence of God. There needs to be a cry in us to press into the face of Jesus with hunger and passion, no matter what crosses our path.

How hungry are you? You can't do it without Him. The Jordan symbolized death; the Lord is going to kill a lot of old wineskins. It is not enough to just remember the miracles of years past. Are you moving with signs and wonders now? Are you moving with a fresh anointing of the presence of God now? Are you seeing people healed and saved? Are you crying out, saying, "Lord, I want you?"

Or Are We Barren with No Salvation?

You see, it is not enough to just have a fire party. The presence and the fire of God come to grip us with that radical first love so that everybody will get healed, saved, and delivered. There is an empowering fire, and it is not just for you.

See, the Lord is saying, "Wake up, Bride." I want the sleeping giant of the church to wake up. Come on. "Arriving" is not the platform of the church. If you just look up at people there and don't take what they're offering to get equipped and do the things of God, it is idolatry.

Idolatry is Self-Seeking, It is Not God-seeking

So, they get to the other side, and their enemies are afraid. The Lord could have said, "Joshua, now is the time to take out Jericho." What did He say? "Now is the time to call a meeting with all the warriors." And Joshua called all the men forward and took a flint knife and circumcised them!

Ladies, we can relate to this because the Lord circumcises our hearts, too. We get the easier deal on that one. Why would the Lord take a whole army and put them in a place of radical weakness and dependability on the King of Glory? They could have gone on their own strength.

In approaching Jericho, the men of war were already terrified. They had terror because they remembered the miracles that took place with the Red Sea. They knew that the God of Jehovah was in their midst. He wanted them circumcised. He wanted a fresh covenant, because they were moving into a holy war.

Will You Let the Lord Circumcise Your Heart?

I believe the Lord is saying, "Many of you need to be circumcised with a fresh anointing and a fresh repentance to move into that place of a fresh covenant; to move into that place of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; and to be able to go in and take the land."

Joshua is on a faith journey; it is not any different than ours. Suddenly, we have the flood waters. We have to follow the Lord. There is nothing else that we can do besides follow the Lord. Then our hearts are circumcised. The enemy could have come in and wiped them out, but from a great place of vulnerability, and for weeks in recovery, they had to trust in their God.

From a Place of Humility, Visitation Comes

Then the Lord came with a divine visitation. The Captain of the Hosts showed up, and He gave them divine strategies to take down Jericho. How does He give you strategies to take down the strongholds in your own life? Do you ask the Lord for divine visitations and strategies, or is your knowledge of the Lord simply, "If I come, I will get into the river"?

I tell you, people, getting in the river is not enough. Getting a little warm feeling is nice, but it is not enough. There needs to be a radical gripping of God. A gripping in the depths of who you are. No one can make this happen, because there is a sovereignty of God. There is a place that you can position your love and your hearts.

Each One of Us Is Moses!

Each one of us is moving in the old familiar ways. We are in a season where the Lord wants to break you out of your old familiar paradigms and break you into a place to be a militant Joshua Generation. Each one of you is at a crossroads of the Jordan. God is inviting you to die.

The Jordan represents the cross. We die to our selfishness; we die to just us getting it and not giving it away. You want a multiplication of the prophetic; you need to start prophesying. You want a multiplication of the gift of healing, then you need to pray for the sick. You want a multiplication of moving in wisdom, then you need to counsel people and to ask God to give you wisdom and strategies for their lives. If you start to move into the kingdom, He will give you more. If you just go home, and say that we had a radical, wild conference, but you are not on fire, starting to give away Jesus, then you missed it.

Is Moses Dead?

Are you just a little grasshopper? Or, is there something in you that says, "We have a big God. We have a God who can take down giants. We have a God who can take down every city and every stronghold. We can go before Him. We have a God who can move on our behalf."

This is a word of freedom. It is a word to get you mobilized. It is a word to get you to say, "Go for it!" "Move in God! Go for it! Be radical, fiery brides for the King of Glory! Take the land! Take the territory for God."

I want there to be a jealousy -- a holy jealousy, so you say, "Why not me? Lord, you could use a Gideon, why not me? Lord, you could use a David; why not me? Lord, you could use a little girl named Esther and made her a Queen. Lord, why not me? Lord, you could use my life. You used a Mary; why not me? Why can't you use my life?"

You See, He Can Use YOU!

Are you a Moses? Or a Joshua? Ladies, are you grasshoppers? Do you think only the men can be generals? Do you think that you can hold things in the Spirit? Can the Lord use you to move armies and come up with radical strategies for the King of Glory? Or, is it only the guys, and we get to be their shadows?
Are you guys saying, "This little light of mine, a little flicker?" Or are you a blazing torch?

There needs to be a cry that you are willing . . .

Heaven Touching Earth In Worship

Rev 4:1 - "After this I looked, and there before me was a door standing open in heaven. And the voice I had first heard speaking to me like a trumpet said, 'Come up here, and I will show you what must take place after this.'"

My goal in worship is to get behind the veil. My passion is His presence. His presence is manna that must be sought after and received every single day, or it becomes stale. There is one thing that God cannot deny - hunger for Him.

How hungry are you? Are you willing to passionately press through into His presence? Beloved, He must first deal with your heart. One key to unlock worship is to first ask the Lord if there is anything hindering us in our heart.

As I work through stripping off all sin and self before the Lord, it is as though I trade in my rags for His robes of righteousness. Then, He can begin to give you His heart, His purposes, and His love for you and His people.

DOWNLOADS FROM HEAVEN

During worship there is so much activity happening in the supernatural. It is when the creative presence of the Lord God touches His people. Some people see pictures, hear Scriptures, get a word of knowledge, or hear His voice. All of this is valid, real and scriptural. But, what does worship really do?

Worship moves the very heart of God and changes the very heart of man. It takes only a few seconds of a face-to-face encounter with the manifest presence of God to change the course of human history for you, your city, or your nation.

ENCOUNTERING SHEKINAH GLORY

In the Old Testament, His presence was often referred to as the Shekinah glory - the fire of divine visitation. God would literally come to visit His people. In II Chronicles 5:14, the glory of God filled Solomon's Temple and the priests could not stand to minister.

The thick weight of the presence of God would settle in so heavily that people would have to lay flat on the floor, prostrate before Him. Never underestimate the power of worship.

"What can make the angels cry? Cause their wings to hide their eyes?"* His beauty can! Worship is encountering Him. It is an invitation to the place where angels cannot go, beyond the very boundary lines in heaven where God will whisper to you the secrets of His burning heart. You will hear the love songs of God's heart and return them back as songs to Him.

PRAYER: Lord, awaken my heart to worship You. I want to be one who desires You alone, rather than just what You can give me or how You can use me. I want to be able to see what the angels see, go into Your throne room, encounter Your beauty and be ravished by Your love. When songs have become familiar and routine, burn a fresh fire in my heart so that worship will transport me into Your very heart!

Discovering Your Ministry
Randall Worley

www.hwministries.com

Recently while in Chicago, I conducted a survey asking for those in "full-time ministry" to stand. The response was predictable. Less than one percent of this large congregation stood. The traditional definition of "full-time ministry" had relegated their understanding to be only those who are paid church staff. The clergy and the laity is a commonly used distinction in today's church world. Laity is the Latin word that means common ones. Put another way the classification of Christians is professionals and amateurs. Professionals are paid and amateurs perform their task as a volunteer.

This mentality has created a religious culture where church is a place we go to a couple hours a week and ministry is what we do while there. God's original intention was for us to be the church not just "go to church." Pastors tirelessly encourage their congregations to bring people to church instead of taking the church to them. The misunderstanding of ministry is rooted in the belief that ministry is what I do instead who I am. Your occupation is what you do "full-time" in the real world and your ministry is what you do "part-time" in a church environment.

When NASA launches a rocket into space, the trajectory must be precise. The target can be missed by thousands of miles if there is the smallest error made in the scientist equation for navigation. Is it possible that the church has made errors in the ministry equation that has resulted in us missing the mark of how ministry is supposed to function? It is shocking to people when I tell them, Satan does not care whether they go to heaven or hell. He is, however threatened when those that have perceived themselves to be "common ones" or merely church attendees awaken to the relevancy of their ministry in the marketplace. I have met many successful but unfulfilled Christians that would give up everything to find significance. They believe that by resigning their position in the secular arena and pursuing the "full-time" ministry they find can significance.

I came to realize after years of pastoring that my recruiting philosophy was to motivate new comers to join our church, catch my vision, and be committed to what I wanted them to do. In essence, I was asking them to abandon their vision to assist me in mine. It was a reality check for me to see that I had inadvertently communicated to them that what I wanted them to do was the will of God for them. The person who influences your life to the greatest degree is not the person you believe in but the person that believes in you. The authority of a leader is not to be used to produce motivation in people through domination. A leader that has self worth will never lead to prove his worth. If believers are made to feel that they know nothing, we create an unhealthy need in them that leads to co-dependency. Leaders should take their own temperature every day by asking themselves, "Am I equipping people to fulfill their ministry or mine?"

The Lord warned the people that Saul in his insecurity would make their sons eunuchs. A eunuch was a male servant in a king's household that had been emasculated by castration. This was done to protect the king's harem. The eunuch did not have the ability or desire to reproduce. Passion between a man and a woman will produce children. When leaders are secure enough to let people be passionate about their vision they will be fruitful and fulfilled. We want have to be concerned with trying to keep them in our church or our harem. They will stay where they are fulfilled.

The greatest calling is not to ascend the proverbial corporate church ladder and become an apostle, prophet, evangelist, pastor, or teacher. The greatest in the Kingdom is a servant. Jesus confronted His disciples in Matthew 20: 17-28 about their bickering over whom would sit on the right and left of Him in His Kingdom. He told them that the way to greatness in His kingdom was to become a servant. I think Matthew had a better understanding of what Jesus meant than the others. He was a tax collector and was well acquainted with the motives and the maneuvering of men. Matthew 9:9 says that Jesus met Matthew in what we would consider the marketplace. It is interesting that Matthew describes his first encounter with Jesus by saying, "When He saw me He saw a man, not a tax collector." This was important to him because the religious leadership of that day considered men in this line of business to be unworthy and unspiritual. All of the men Jesus chose to be His disciples and eventually became apostles came from the marketplace not from the halls of religious training. Jesus could relate to the alienation they had experienced. His credibility as a teacher was constantly questioned because He had spent all of His adult life as a businessman (carpenter), rather than a student of their doctrine. The venues for Jesus' teaching were primarily in the marketplace and seldom in a synagogue or temple.

In Matthew 13, Jesus gives several parables illustrating how the Kingdom of God functions in the world. In one of them He describes the word of God as being like seed that is sown. Then later He says that the good seed are the children of the Kingdom. The sequence is that the seed is sown in you and then you are sown into the field, which is the world. I am convinced that many feel like misfits in church ministry because they do not realize that the "field or profession" which they consider to be secular and unspiritual is really where the Lord has sown them. So they continue on this treadmill of going to church receiving revelation that keeps them in frustration of how to make application. The weekly gathering of the church as a congregation is essential to provide fellowship and equipping. However, the scope of ministry must broaden beyond what we previously believed to be valid. The equipping ministries of Ephesians 4 were not given to the church to keep them ever learning and never coming to the knowledge of the truth but to equip them for their ministry in the marketplace.

Do not let yourself be confined as a spectator by thinking that you are to "go to church" week after week and be entertained by "the ministry." Your occupation is not a hindrance to your destiny;

Your destiny will shape your occupation when you turn it into your ministry.

In other words, your job is your ministry and your ministry is your job.

Earnest Desire

Priscilla Van Sutphin

Aug 23rd, 2005

“I am the Prince of Peace, the King of Kings and the LORD OF LORDS. I Am Your Source and ROCK of Salvation. Am I not able to provide all that you need? Am I so weak I cannot orchestrate everything for you that you need to do the work of My Kingdom? I own the cattle on a thousand hills.
What I want in leading you through trials is to see the condition of your own heart. I want you to see the motivations and the true nature of your own desires that war within. I WANT TO BE YOUR EARNEST DESIRE! Above all that is in the earth, I WANT TO BE YOUR FIRST LOVE.

I am wooing you My bride to first love and compassion for the things that I have compassion for. I want you to ache at the hardship of others as I do!
I want your prayers and intercessions for others and not just your own needs. Why are you here anyway? Have you an answer for that? If I AM THE ADONAI, the LORD of your life, is it not to serve me? Did you truly turn your life over to ME? Is it not to do MY will? I only did what the FATHER was doing. I was obedient even unto DEATH. Should you divert from My will for you? Should you go neighing in the desert after other lovers? Should you prostitute yourself with idols of self, money, man, & entertainment? Should I not be a JEALOUS LOVER? You are prone to idolize so many things. I am removing IDOLS in your life. I am allowing you to feel the isolation I feel when you only want to do what YOU WANT!

Do you wonder My beloveds at My wisdom? Is it not I who made the heavens and the earth? Is it not I who spoke forth the Word and brought LIFE forth into the world? You have no realization how much you seek after your own wisdom, your own will, and understanding over MINE. You think that your wisdom is My wisdom. THAT IS NOT THE CASE. The one who seeks after MY wisdom, seeks me in worship and prayer and the Word and WAITS on ME for direction. Waits on words, vision or inner peace. They don’t rush ahead planning their lives as if they had control of them.

James 4:13-16 NKJV Do Not Boast About Tomorrow
Come now, you who say, "Today or tomorrow we will go to such and such a city, spend a year there, buy and sell, and make a profit"; 14 whereas you do not know what will happen tomorrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away. 15 Instead you ought to say,"If the Lord wills, we shall live and do this or that." 16 But now you boast in your arrogance. All such boasting is evil.

I said He who comes to me must come as a child. A child cannot just do what they want. Sons and daughters obey their parents. They look to them for guidance and affirmation. Come unto Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden I said. I want you to know ME, to truly KNOW MY WAYS. In order to know them, you need to really KNOW ME – My goodness, My love, My kindness, My will, My patience and My self-control. I AM your Beloved Teacher, Your Rabbi, Your Adonai. There is nothing I will withhold from those who love ME. And I’ve told you that he who loves ME, obeys Me. How can you obey Me, if you don’t even look to ME for what you are to do?

Riddle Me this? What is brown and beige, and stubbornly goes it’s own way? Could it be a donkey? I sat on two donkeys coming into Jerusalem, the mother and the foal. I was demonstrating MY humility in obeying the Father and thereby fulfilling prophecy. But I was also saying something about obedience versus stubbornness in that display. I sat on it’s back, a place of burden, and I am the RULER over heaven and earth and all that is under the earth. I am the HEAD of My church. Both adults and children bowed to ME, as KING. A Donkey is servant to man, not man to donkey. You are not to be a servant to stubbornness and idolatry. I came to end all idolatry and restore man’s relationship to US, that you might walk WITH US , instead of going your own way.

You are My beloved, and I am yours! I am here for you night and day, day in and day out. There is nothing I will withhold from the heart that loves Me, and I am calling out to you to come CLOSER. Come to ME, and turn away from all the distractions of the world that you may walk in My perfect will. For I love you as no other loves you! I am ravished with love for My bride and I will exalt her in the days ahead in the eyes of man and demon, and all the angels in heaven. You have no idea the dimension of the love I have for you. That love is the same for every human being on earth. I desire that none would perish. Though many will turn away…I am calling out to you to come. Come closer My beloved, come into the inner chamber and lie down with ME. Lie down and rest with ME, that I might whisper to you secrets and sing over you songs of deliverance!"

1 Sam 15:23 NKJV For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, And stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry.

1 Cor 10:14 NKJV Therefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry.

Gal 5:18-21 AMP But if you are guided (led) by the [Holy] Spirit, you are not subject to the Law. 19 Now the doings (practices) of the flesh are clear (obvious): they are immorality, impurity, indecency, 20 Idolatry, sorcery, enmity, strife, jealousy, anger (ill temper), selfishness, divisions (dissensions), party spirit (factions, sects with peculiar opinions, heresies), 21 Envy, drunkenness, carousing, and the like. I warn you beforehand, just as I did previously, that those who do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

Retrofit:
1 : to furnish (as a computer, airplane, or building) with new or modified parts or equipment not available or considered necessary at the time of manufacture
2 : to install (new or modified parts or equipment) in something previously manufactured or constructed

"I am retrofitting My bride and when I finish her retrofitting, then she will cause great destruction to the enemy of your souls! I will have a people unto Myself that will only look to ME for direction and guidance, and for all they need to do it. I AM THE RESOURCE. Listen carefully as I say it again…I AM YOUR RESOURCE of everything you need. STOP looking to man to fulfill what only I can fulfill!

Listen for the sound of MY VOICE. If you quiet yourself you will hear. If you keep in the word and worship, and actually DO the Word, then MY GLORY will be your rear guard. If you stretch out your hand to feed the hungry and take in those who are outcast, and truly seek out the one who is lost, then you will ride on the high hills of the earth.

My church has been starving or only eating cookies for too long! Cookies are sweet but they cannot sustain you without malnourishment. You need to eat MEAT. Many of My sheep have grown ANEMIC in the WORD because they are still drinking milk and not eating meat. You cannot grow the way you need to if you only sip on milk, for you are no longer babies. You are adults and need to be fed adult food.

I am retrofitting teachers, and prophets, pastors and evangelists. I am retrofitting Many to be apostolic, but only those who have been willing to pay the COST. Many want the power, but not the character required to yield that power. So many are anemic because they have been fed by those who have grown fat, and no longer live My word, but only speak it. They can teach it, but not DO it, much like the Pharisees of old. My retrofitting will destroy the yokes of the enemy that have tried to hinder and I will sweep clean My threshing floor.

Behold I COME, and every knee will bow or be broken. Every heart will yield or be broken and crushed. Every mind will yield or be turned to corruption.
Behold the SUDDENLY you have been waiting for is at the door! Do not hesitate, for he who hesitates is like the waves of the sea, being tossed to and fro! Obey ME, and you will live. Deny Me and you will perish. The river of LIFE and LOVE will flow into every crevice and corner of My church and it will no longer be subject as before to the things of the past. But to those who have been in pretense, it will be a painful time of realization. Do not hesitate to come unto ME. I am the LIVING WATERS! I AM ALL YOU NEED! I love you and cherish you unlike the world that is perishing. I will never leave you nor forsake you, nor deny you, if you do not deny ME.

The former things are passing away. Yield to the NEW WINE I POUR OUT, and you will shine like the stars in the heavens! The enemy has fought you because he is fighting what I want to do! Do not be hopeless. For you have not yet suffered as unto death as I did! Do not give up the HOPE that lives inside you. ALLOW ME to come into your hearts and do the new work and you will go forth as stall fed calves and you will leap for JOY! For behold I do a NEW THING, NOW it shall spring forth! And as it overcomes you, you will do great damage to the kingdom of the enemy and he will be made a display of. Remember I told you if the world hated me, it will hate you. So do not be surprised when some do not share your excitement at what I do now!
Do not be surprised when men's hearts show their hatred towards me. They hated me and they will hate you for all I will pour into you!"

Judg 5:25-28 NIV
25 He asked for water, and she gave him milk; in a bowl fit for nobles she brought him curdled milk. 26 Her hand reached for the tent peg, her right hand for the workman's hammer. She struck Sisera, she crushed his head, she shattered and pierced his temple. 27 At her feet he sank, he fell; there he lay. At her feet he sank, he fell; where he sank, there he fell-dead.
28 "Through the window peered Sisera's mother; behind the lattice she cried out, 'Why is his chariot so long in coming? Why is the clatter of his chariots delayed?'

Luke 14:34-35 NIV 34 "Salt is good, but if it loses its saltiness, how can it be made salty again? 35 It is fit neither for the soil nor for the manure pile; it is thrown out. "He who has ears to hear, let him hear."

Acts 22:20-25 NIV And when the blood of your martyr Stephen was shed, I stood there giving my approval and guarding the clothes of those who were killing him.' 21 "Then the Lord said to me, 'Go; I will send you far away to the Gentiles.'" 22 The crowd listened to Paul until he said this. Then they raised their voices and shouted, "Rid the earth of him! He's not fit to live!"

Isa 54:16-17 NIV "See, it is I who created the blacksmith who fans the coals into flame and forges a weapon fit for its work. And it is I who have created the destroyer to work havoc; 17 no weapon forged against you will prevail, and you will refute every tongue that accuses you.

And it shall come to pass, as soon as the soles of the feet of the priests who bear the ark of the LORD, the Lord of all the earth, shall rest in the waters of the Jordan, that the waters of the Jordan shall be cut off, the waters that come down from upstream, and they shall stand as a heap." Ears To Hear

Lanna Perry

12th September, 2005
Sydney, Australia

Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what He is saying to the churches– Revelation 3:13

My precious church, My heart breaks when I continue to look at My church, and I do not see the heart changes and decisions that I require. How much longer must I continue to send forth the same message? The same type of message?

Let those who have ears to hear, hear! Why don’t you listen My church? The only way that My church is going to move forward is as My people come to Me, and commit to come to Me in the quiet place. For many are carrying Me on their backs like backpacks and are not surrendering to My will and listening for My voice.

I am the God of grace and mercy, and I am the God who forgives. My church has greatly sinned against Me, and My church, you must repent. For I will lavish My grace upon you, and I will raise you up as a holy city, a body to shine to all the world, but while you invite sin into your midst, I cannot do all that I wish to do.

Oh My church, grieve My heart no more. Lay aside all hinderances and comes away and listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. Listen to what My heart is for the church.

Do many of you know My heart for you? Do you know My heart for your church? Do you know what My heart is speaking to you daily? Are you allowing My heart to be the center of the church?

My people, listen to My Spirit. I am ministering outside the walls of your buildings. I am ministering outside. I am ministering to the broken, to the crushed, to the oppressed, to the faint and discouraged. I am outside ministering in the places that many would not expect Me too.

My people, how much longer will you stay within the walls of your buildings? When you will move forth and minister outside? When will you begin to walk deeply in what you believe I am showing you, and My heart for you?

For time is short My church. Time is short. What is happening in the physical is reflecting the spiritual. Time is short. It is time for you My church to decide what you will live for. What you will hear. If you will hear what My Spirit is saying to you, will you not move forth? Will you not take the step outside, no matter what it costs you?

My eyes are roaming the earth looking for those who are willing to be used by Me, and are willing to lay down their lives. My church, many of you are not willing to give Me your whole lives, and yet you cry out to Me, why I do not take you further. You must surrender.

Oh My church, repent! Rise up, and walk in the destiny I have for you! You are My representatives on earth. You are My vessels.

Do not pollute My house anymore. Do not lock Me outside of My house anymore.

My heart is saddened My church, because for many of My churches, I am locked outside by programs and mans desires.

Repent My church and let Me back in. Let Me begin to show you what I have called My church to be. Let Me show you what I have to come.

For a great shaking is about to hit the church, the purifying and cleansing is here. I am moving forward those who are willing to move forward and stand. I am about to do great things in this season. I am about to show the world My power in greater ways than ever before.

As a general of an army does a head count, so am I doing the head count in My church now.

Who has ears to hear?

Who is hearing what My Spirit is saying?

Repent My church. Pollute My church no more. Let Me back into My house. I will not have My house turned into a den of thieves.

My house is holy, is blameless and pure, by My Spirit, I will purify and cleanse My temple, and My church WILL shine with those who are willing to stand before Me, surrendered before Me, and seek first My Kingdom.

JESUS Promotion!!
Lanna Perry

16th September, 2005

> "Humble yourselves before the Lord" James 4:10

My beautiful church, how I delight in you and adore you. How I have called you to be My Bride, and I have such a great destiny for you. I am purifying My church. I am cleansing My church, removing all the weeds so that My church may grow like never before.

My church, I deserve all the Glory. I Am the Great Creator, Sustainer and Author of all things, and there is nothing bigger than Me. My church, I am saddened by the self-promotion that I see in My church.

I am saddened to see many hearts wanting to promote their own names, and not My Name. I see many taking the Glory for many of My works, and I will not have this.

I have seen many of you have taken a step forward into the limelight when I have said take a step back. I see many hearts are committed to promoting their names, through the works of My hands.

I will not stand for man taking My Glory. I will bring about a holy fire to My church, that will humble all, and show all My Might and My power. For I have not called My People to promote their names, but to promote My name.

For as you die to self, I rise up within you.

I see this self promotion that has come over My church, has come over through insecurity. How much longer will you My people refuse to allow Me to heal you, and fill your wounds with My healing balm? Do you not see through you not allowing Me to heal your past, and move you forward, that you are allowing the enemy to have a foothold.

Through insecurity many of you are trying to fill your wounds with the approval of man. The praise of man. I tell you the truth, nothing will satisfy you, nothing but the bread of heaven. Nothing, but Me.

I have called you to promote the name of Jesus!!!! My Name!!! I have called you to promote My Name! At all costs, dying to self that I might live in and through you.

Check your hearts My church. What do you promote? Are you promoting your own name? Or My Name?

My Holy Fire is going to fall upon My church, and burn out all pride. I will burn out pride from My church. For if you begin to promote yourselves, you will begin to worship each other's acts, ministries and names. Idols will form. Is this what I have called you too? Surely Not!

Repent for your self-promotion My church. Repent for standing in the place, that I the Lord your God am meant to stand. Do not push Me aside any longer, but choose to live radically abandoned to Me. Promoting My Name.

As you continue to die to self, and continue to let Me live in and through you My church, I will exalt you. I will exalt you. It is not for you to exalt yourselves.
Humility is leaving My church, and I am grieved. For man is nothing without Me.

Can you rely upon each other for salvation? Surely Not. Are your works stable? Surely Not.

It is only My works, and the moves of My hand, that brings life. That creates life, and produces works of eternal and supernatural value.

My church, stop promoting yourselves.

Let, I the Lord Your God, stand where I am meant to stand. For I will not stand for pride. I will not stand for man stealing My Glory.

I love each and every one so much, and I long to have all in relationship with Me. I want My name taken to every inch of the earth, so all may know My saving grace. I want My church to take My Name to the world. To promote My Name, not their own.

Promote My Name Church!!!!

Earth Change

Earth Change – Part 1 - The Hand Warmer

I recently attended a prophetic seer's conference. As I left this, I was waiting at the station to return home and another member of that conference stood near me. As we boarded the train for the 20 minute journey to Birmingham New Street (UK). The Lord started to open up something to me and as I spoke it, spoke what I saw, it was unraveled to her, to us.

I saw a pair of hands held flat, palm to palm together and in them, was a warming bag. The type that is made of material, in this case A RICH CORDED TYPE RED MATERIAL, about 5 inches square. This reminded me of a hand warming bag. Inside them you find grains of compounds, infused by chemicals which cause heat when friction and motion comes about them. As a result of this friction the chemical grains inside the bag are heated and when held in the hands, the hands experience the release of heat through the bag.

I saw the Lord securely holding this bag in his hands and moving it vigorously from left to right, disturbing the chemicals inside. Shaking the bag.

He explained that the bag was the world and that He was shaking the world. But contained with the bag were Christians and non Christians, for we are in the world but not of it. Christians and non Christians alike are experiencing and are part of what is been shaken in and with the world. But here was a difference between Gods people and the peoples of the world.

Through their shaking, described as the effects upon a house, the world's walls, windows and doors and their roof and foundations were being destroyed and dismantled. This caused the peoples to feel and experience exposure, insecurity, cold, blight and vulnerability combined with a growing sense of uncertainty, dread and unease. On the other hand, Gods people were HELD SECURELY in the Lords hands, in the red bag. You see whereas the world was experiencing coldness, the church is experiencing AND radiating warmth – in the MIDST of this situation. This warmth has come about as a result of and is a PRODUCT OF the shaking.

It is a sign to a perishing world, but God is testifying to His keeping grace by enabling those who are held securely to know that God is PRODUCING and EFFECT within all this turmoil. But we need to hear these words…BE STILL and KNOW that I am God. Despite what is happening we need to realize we cannot be snatched from His hand(s) and that it is GOD who works, both to will AND to do. So secure in this, we can marvel at HIS HANDIWORK in all this.

In amidst of this incredible SHIFTING, the world begins to "see" and "experience" the invisible HEAT of the LORD. Subconsciously the world is being "drawn" to his creative work amidst the turmoil of destructive elements. When I am lifted up I will draw all men unto myself. We are enabled, by NO FLESH or effort of our own to BE used as a witness of Him, a witness to His work, for no flesh can glory in His presence.

It's all His work; it is all of His GLORY, HIS OWN GLORY that comes from Him alone.
By all this, God is causing a heat, warmth, a fire, the RADIANCE of Him, to manifest, to reveal Himself to the creation where within He is placed. The whole of creation awaits the glorious manifestation of the sons of God. The church is IN the world, and God is in the church and the church is WITHIN HIM in the world…much could be understood of this paragraph alone, but not now. But God wants to instill and grow us a vision of Him that SURPASSES all that we have tried in the flesh to know, do and understand and indeed effect. Glory to Him.

Within it all, he reinforced and reminded me of His control of each and every situation…by simply saying the rich red corded material, was His blood, with which, He covered and soaked His church… Hallelujah. Amen.

I will continue this in Part 2 – The two trees. Please be blessed to read on.

Earth Change - Part 2 – The Two Trees

The second leg of my train journey was straight through from Birmingham to Newcastle. My reserved seat was located. A window seat alongside an aisle seat. As I knew that the journey would last 5 hours, I preferred a table seat, which was free until Sheffield. After that I may have to give this seat up if the traveler who booked it arrived. They did not, however a family of 3 took up their prebooked seat around me at the table. Liking space I moved after a while to an adjacent seat that was free, which also had a free seat next to it. By this time my original booked seat was occupied by a traveler, but the seat next to him was free.

Very quickly, the train filled up, so much so that passengers had to stand in the spaces, near the toilets, dividing the carriages. There were 2 young girls, about 17/18 years old standing there with heavy cases. Looking around me, though there was room for individual persons to sit, there was no space for the two friends to sit next to one another. I became strongly impressed to offer my seat, enabling these 2 young girls to sit together.

Here, the natural began to invade…they will think you're "tapping them up"…what will the other passengers say, particularly those who could have done the same…"wont you look foolish" and "what a scene you will create" I still was impressed to do this. So I went to the young lad who was in my seat and asked if he minded if I sat next to him, this would allow the 2 ladies to sit next to one another. No problem.

So I asked them if they had far to go, about an hour and a quarter they replied. So I explained these seats were free if they wanted it. They agreed, and in front of a whole carriage, I helped them with their bags…I felt stupid and conspicuous because the train had already traveled 5 minutes out of the station. But I knew I was doing what was needed. Everybody became aware of what was happening and there was a strange silence and veiled looks as this bumbling man, helped these girls.

Somehow I knew the atmosphere in the carriage had changed. As they left the train one of them took the trouble to say thank you, and I knew she meant it. Why this detailed description of an apparently innocuous situation?

It was because of what the Lord showed me…continuing the theme of the hand warming bag, without me realizing the teaching was being demonstrated, unknown to me. This is the REST of what He said BEFORE this happened. He took me to Ish:53:1-2. Who has believed our message and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed? 2. He grew up before him like a tender shoot, and like a root out of dry ground. He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him, nothing in his appearance that we should desire him.

Also Matt. 10:42 and if anyone gives a cup of cold water to one of these my little ones because he is my disciple, I tell you the truth, he will certainly not lose his reward.

Also I was reminded of a passage I think is in Isaiah, where it describes the Lord planting two trees next to one another in a forest. The strange think about this is that these trees were from different temperate climate zones. There was no way that these should, thrive, survive and live next to one another. It shows the ways of the Lord in causing that which should not to be married and exist to be coexistent with one another…and how he often plants the opposites next to each other. Consider the above 3 scriptural context.

The first vision was of HEAT, WARMTH or FIRE emerging through the shaking.
The second vision was of WATER being offered in discordant circumstances.

You see fire and water don't mix, they are opposites, usually water puts out fire, but in this living scene…the fire and water are COMBINED and operate TOGETHER.

The result when heat and water are combined = STEAM. God was showing me that in these times he was transforming the natural atmosphere to present a taste of HEAVENS VAPOURS. Its like swimming against the stream. If salmon achieve this to, return to their spawning grounds…Life is conceived and birthed through the process. Maybe God is bringing us the church back to His original spawning ground.

God is I believe about to transform the earthly environment, through His shaking and working to shroud this earth with heavenly vapors in the midst of the world which is falling apart and experiencing an increased exposure to the base vulnerability that exists within the fabric of man.

Its time to shine like stars…its time no longer to hide your light…its time to arise…its time to join in and experience the multiplying efforts of our Lord in all this shaking…its time to move even more so under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. Its time to allow God to re create the waters, vapors and mists of Eden's Garden. Its time for God to walk with Adam again in the COOL of the day. Its time. Its time, for the Lord is about His business and his house is not yet full.

Notice, Adam and God walked together…in the COOL of the day. The cool is the time AFTER work has ceased…highlighting the fact that its Gods time to create something within Adam as COMMUNION takes place. We and all earths residents, may be about to experience a holy moment, such as when Moses met with the Lord God at the burning bush…where Moses saw a bush before him, that though apparently on fire, alight with flame…the bush was not consumed…heaven visited, but earth was not consumed…and a holy hush prevailed.

Through a series of "opposites", God is creating the heat within the situation and as the waters are contacted…His vapours, the mist of heaven, transforms…the environment that we exist in. He is able to do exceedingly, abundantly, more than we can even ask, imagine and think…be still and may they KNOW that HE is GOD…to God be ALL the glory.

Enemy Accusation Thrown Out

Jeff Jansen

(jeffjansen@globalfireministries.com)
Global Fire Ministries - www.globalfireministries.com

I heard the Lord say "I'm working to disarm the accusations of the devil in the lives of my people that the enemy has claimed victory over." These unfounded testimonies of the devil are being dismantled by the true testimony the Lord. I heard the Lord say: "The testimonial accusations of the enemy are being thrown out today. The devil has boasted long enough in the court room of heaven bringing accusation after accusation against my people, and I am releasing a decree as a banner over them says the Lord, and it reads... "VICTORY IN THE NAME OF JESUS".

The devil has taken spoils from the camp of the Lord long enough and he will now be forced to pay back 10 times what he has stolen in retribution. "I HEARD A GAVEL DROP IN THE SPIRIT and a command was given to a messenger angel to release the verdict from the High Court of the Ancient of Days and to render a favorable outcome on behalf of the saints of God".

God is working by His Holy Spirit to bring restitution and recompense for all those who have been stolen from, robbed from and taken advantage of by the trickery and deceitful schemes of the enemy. Not only will this recompense be marked dollar for dollar or by year for year, but according to the degree of the heartache and pain the devil will be forced to make a return of a ten fold recompense for all his diabolical trickery and deceit.

I hear the voice of Freedom beginning to ring out in the ranks of God. I hear the grand stands of heaven still cheering and applauding the righteous verdict of the Great Judge of heaven and earth. I heard a strong voice in heaven saying:

"Now has come the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God, and the power of His Christ; for the accuser of our brethren,(he who keeps bringing before our God charges against them day and night), has been cast out!" (Revelation 12:10) This is the means by which the saints of God in this hour have overcome the testimonial accusations of the devil. "And they overcame him (the devil) by means of the blood of the Lamb and by the UTTERANCE OF THEIR TESTIMONY, for they did not love and cling to their lives even when faced with death."

Boasting in the Blood of the Lamb

The saints of God are overcoming the accusations of the devil by taking refuge and boasting completely in the soul cleansing blood of the Lamb. The Lord has heard cries of the righteous coming up before Him and a swift verdict has now been given. The devil has worn the Lord out with his habitual trampling of His courts. The Lord has cut Satan off from his presence. "Enough is Enough! No more railing accusations!

This very same thing took place with God's righteous servant Job. In (Job 1:6-8) "Now there was a day when the sons (the angels) of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and Satan (the adversary and accuser) also came among them".

The devil was there to bring accusation before the Lord concerning Job. Even now Satan's attempt is to turn the heart of God against those He dearly loves. The only problem is that God has already purposed to only view each of us according to the applied blood of the Lamb. When Satan comes to bring his seemingly factual accusations to God concerning us, the only thing the Righteous Judge can say is, "I have no idea what you are talking about. There doesn't seem to be any verifiable evidence or any valid reason as to the accusations you bring to me today. So remove yourself from my courtroom or I'll have you thrown out of my presence again!"

A Hedge of Protection

Even now just like Job the Lord is placing a "Hedge of Protection" around His elect. We are beginning to come out of places of obscurity and the wilderness of hiddenness where so many of us have lived for so long. It was necessary for us to be lost in these obscure places of hiddenness so that when the time of deliverance comes we are made so dependant upon the master that we can only think of Him and His desires and not our own. We've learned complete dependency upon the Living God for everything.

The enemy can find nothing to accuse these love sick slaves with!

Father in the name of Jesus I ask for deliverance too come to all today. Thank you Jesus that it's by your blood that we are able to overcome the evil plots and wicked schemes of the enemy. Holy Spirit even now bring deliverance to all who have been entangled by the web of the enemy, and release the angel of favor from the presence of the Lord with the swift verdict of freedom on their behalf. Thank you Lord that You have rendered a favorable decision on our behalf and that the verdict given is "Not Guilty" by reason of the Blood of the Lamb!

My Child, do not become unsettled in your mind. I Am your Rock and Your Foundation. I am your Sure Foundation!

The shakings will come. Yes there are wars and rumors of wars just as there are shakings and rumors of shakings. But you are not to be rattled by what I have shown you. Tell those who have heard what you have seen not to be nervous or anxious by what I have shown you. Doesn’t My word tell you that you will know, so that you will not be caught unaware?

Come, sit with Me. Come all you who labor and need rest! Come sit in My lap and let me show you that your security is in Me. Come and rest and learn of Me. I am meek and lowly of heart and you will find rest in My midst. I will show you what you must do and I will see you through it. You run here and there, but I want you to sit, My Little Ones. You wear yourselves out and quickly become distracted by the world and what is going on around you. Yes, I have called you to be My hands and feet. But wouldn’t it be good to hear from your Head – Jesus – to know where it is that you are to take My hands and feet?!?
:::smile:::

I have sent My Holy Spirit to teach you and it will do you good to sit at My feet and hear what the Spirit says.

I Am your Prince of Peace. You will never find true rest unless you are resting in Me. So come! Come to Me, My child. Be still and know – KNOW – that I Am God!

Edom Moab War

Michael Landrum

August 20, 2005

“To all those who love His appearing”

- In this prophetic “moment” the Lord’s face turns toward His bride, in order to fully prepare her for Himself.
- The last most important commission of “The Church” before the end of the church age is to intercede for God’s appointed purposes in Israel. The “Rapture” will not occur until this is fulfilled.
- Before the Bride is taken, her prayers will usher in His end-time mercies for Israel.
- His repentant Church is the vessel who with a new heart, will be moved by compassion when Israel is attacked and nearly destroyed.
- The Lord always performed a miracle when His heart was moved by compassion.
- The Holy Spirit indwelling His Church and moved by compassion will intercede, as is foretold in the book of Joel, God will answer and the enemies who surround her will be destroyed through His people Israel, [and the world will not disagree with their decision to respond severely].

These things that I will now describe came to me over three years ago…

Journal entry, Tuesday June 18, 2002:
“This A.M. in Jerusalem, the 69th suicide bombing of Israeli citizens took place, killing 19 and wounding about 50. At 2:15p.m., as [my wife] Kathy and I were retrieving e-mails at the nearby QFC store, the Spirit of the Lord came upon me, prompting me urgently to return home (a four-minute walk). As I quickened my pace, I was reminded of the many scriptures He had been putting before me of His Sovereign intention for good, for His ancient people in the land…I was brought home quickly, to look again at these scriptures and to record these impressions, and to pray. Even as I sat down in His presence, the urgency began to break out: A great ‘destabilizing’ is about to occur…The ones who would reproach Israel, and His people everywhere, will seek to terroristically and even ‘reasonably’ demand the evidence of Israel’s God to be REFUTED, before the nations…It is clear that the land WILL BE ALLOWED to be divided…
Joel 3:2
‘…and there will I deal with and execute judgment upon them (i.e. - the nations) for [their treatment of] My people and of My heritage Israel…and [because] THEY HAVE DIVIDED MY LAND.’ (Amplified Version, emphasis mine)

[But it is ALSO clear, in the promise of God, that neither the land, its people, nor shall Jerusalem ultimately be divided or defiled:]
Joel 3:17
‘So shall you KNOW that I am the Lord your God, dwelling in Zion, MY HOLY MOUNTAIN. Then shall Jerusalem be holy, and strangers and foreigners [not born into the family of God] shall no more pass through it.’ (Amplified)”

…This journal entry brought more light on the scriptures to me, which over the months I began to call, “How to pray for Israel”. At one point, Kathy was led to send the message to a friend in Israel, a vibrantly committed woman from an Orthodox Jewish family (who had found her Messiah in the Person of Jesus of Nazareth!) She wrote back, stating that she had been moved and encouraged, and had even circulated it to others. Then, in December of 2002, after much timely arrangement, Kathy and I met with Bible and prophecy teacher Chuck Missler, at his headquarters in Coeur d’Alene, Idaho. He stated that this reminded him of only one other time in his ministry when a prophetic message was brought to him several years before, that time by some Messianic Rabbis from Oregon. Now, you have to understand that Chuck knows scripture and Bible prophecy as well as any anointed scholar in the world, but he listened in complete silence for some time, as I described the message (which follows). He began to take notes, and then asked if he could use my quotes. I said, "Yes!" Within about a week, his weekly "K-rations" tape, which is sent to his subscribers all over the world, carried the message of "How to pray for Israel". Although it was abbreviated, compared to what I had shared, it listed in sequence the key scriptures that the Lord had shown me about the prophetic setting in which we, God's people, are about to be called to action in prayer, in an INTENSITY we have hardly known before—for Israel. We met with Chuck two more times. The last time was just before we moved to New Zealand on December 31, 2004. I also shared this word privately with Bible teacher Charles Capps. He was struck by it, and said he would put me in touch with his friend Mike Evans. I had first tried to contact Mike Evans (before anyone), but I was not able to make contact with him.

In "How to Pray for Israel", The sequence given is as follows:

Psalm 94:2 Lift up thyself, thou judge of the earth: render a reward to the proud.

Psalm 94:3 LORD, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?

Psalm 94:4 [How long] shall they utter [and] speak hard things? [and] all the workers of iniquity boast themselves?

Psalm 94:5 They BREAK IN PIECES thy people, O LORD, (Ed. –This is a precise description of what happens in a bus bombing) and afflict thine heritage.

Psalm 94:6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherless.

Psalm 94:7 Yet they say, The LORD shall not see, neither shall THE GOD OF JACOB regard [it]. (Ed. –note the need in the Islamic mind to define Israel's God as distinct from their own. There is a grim imperative within Islam to discredit any other name or representation of God other than their own, that of "Allah". But the name is actually taken from the pre-Mohamed era name for the "Moon god". This is clearly not YHWH, the God of JACOB.)

So what does the Lord say to do?

Joel 2:16 Gather the people, sanctify the congregation, assemble the elders, gather the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her closet.

Joel 2:17 Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O LORD, and give not thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen should rule over them: wherefore should they say among the people, Where [is] their God?

(Ed. –We MUST now understand what this actually means: there is involved here, "WHO, WHERE, and WHAT". Identified here is that we are to go to a place between the porch and the altar, which in the blueprint of Solomon's Temple refers specifically to the location of the Bronze Laver, where the priests were to wash before entering the Holy Place. Weeping is figurative of a deep repentance bringing washing, or cleansing, without which prayer cannot be heard [Ps. 66:18, and Ps. 6:8]. Then, we are instructed at precisely the intercessory words to pray. The issue of pleading to God for the REPROACH against His Name represented in His people has had powerful precedent in Israel's history [Deut. 32:26-27]; even during times of Israel's most sinful leadership [1 Kings 20:28], and has powerful promise of its effect in Israel's future [Zech. 12:9-10].)

Joel 2:18 THEN will the LORD be jealous for His land, and pity His people.

Joel 2:19 Yea, the LORD will answer and say unto His people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oil, and ye shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen.

Who is to pray this prayer? Who are the "ministers (priests) and kings"?

Rev 1:5 And from Jesus Christ, [who is] the faithful witness, [and] the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto Him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in His own blood,

Rev 1:6 And hath made us kings and priests unto God and His Father; to Him [be] glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen. KJV

In the prophetic context, between Joel 2:18 and verse 19, there is an implied "event" of God's intervention and judgment, both FOR His people, and AGAINST His enemies…

The Coming Edom-Moab war against Israel:

A. The Prophetic Setting:

1. A "broken people" (Psalms 94…)
2. A divided land (Joel 3:2)
3. A moment of extreme crisis (Joel 2:15), which is notably a THREAT FROM THE NORTH (Joel 2:20).
4. The Church intercedes; God destroys the enemy by the hand of His people Israel.
5. Ezekiel's "dry bones" (Eze. 37:4-5), "…you shall live", and
6. The Passover promise (Exodus 6:3-8), "…I WILL rescue you…AND bring you into the land".
7. With this mandate of the Church complete, the "Time of the gentiles" is fulfilled and the "Rapture" is then due to occur…

B. "Division of the land" arises out of a spiritually unfinished state or condition. It is spiritually still linked to Joshua's unfinished conquest. The LORD Himself, in the soon-coming Joshua-Messiah ("Yeshua") was prophesied by Joshua, in his old age, to finally complete the task (Joshua 13:1-6, and Joshua 23:1-5). King David, as a type of the King to come, prophetically (but for Israel, only temporarily) subdued the Edomites and the Moabites, taking their wealth and OCCUPYING THEIR LAND (1 Chronicles 18:11-13). God sent Nathan the prophet to David at the end of David's life, to announce that HE HIMSELF would appoint and plant the people of Israel, "…that they may dwell in their own place AND BE MOVED NO MORE." (1 Chronicles 17:9)

C. He Himself will SOVEREIGNLY complete the task, via the intense intercession of The Church, the "ministers and priests" of the Lord.

D. Who is the "heritage" of the Lord: Jacob vs. Esau?

1. Jacob (Genesis 35:10-12), named "Israel" was promised the land given to Abraham and Isaac.
2. Esau (Genesis 36:8-9), Jacob's brother, named "Edom", defied his Father Isaac after the Covenant blessing was denied him. He left to dwell with the descendants of Ishmael at Mt. Seir. A long history of enmity existed between Judah and Edom, and several prophets spoke unfavorably about Edom (Is.11:14; 34:5-17; Eze.32:29; Joel 3:19; Amos 1:11-12; Mal. 1:2-4).

E. Who is "Moab"? According to Genesis 19:37, Moab was the son of Lot and his oldest daughter, incestuously conceived after Lot had been graciously rescued by God out of the destruction of Sodom. The Moabites occupied the high plateau immediately east of the Dead Sea. From the time of Israel's APOSTASY at Shittim onward (Num. 25), the Moabite tableland north of the Arnon was a source of CONTENTION between Moab and Israel. During the reigns of Saul and David, Israel and Moab were at war. The OT refers to Moab as "people of (their god) Chemosh" (Num. 21:29; Jer. 48:46). Chemosh was portrayed as a god of WAR. (Ed. -Could this be paralleled to the current inhabitants of that land, and their god of "Jihad?") [References from Baker's Encyclopedia of the Bible, Vol. 2, 1988]

F. The Prayer for Israel: Joel 2:17

1. between the porch and the altar
2. against the reproach of Islam and the nations
3. to the Covenant-keeping God.

G. The significance for the Church: why do we pray this prayer for Israel?

1. For the completion of God's covenant with Israel: the Righteousness of the New Covenant imparted (Isaiah 54:4-8), a Sovereign act, in response to prayer (Isaiah 32:14-18).
2. Israel empowered as God's instrument: Eze. 25:14 (Edom and Moab destroyed, "…by the hand of my people Israel")
3. The last prophetic purpose of the Church completed (Romans 11:25-27, 31).

Effect: Israel at peace with restored borders (Joel 2:18-19, Eze. 36:1-9).

Discussion:

What have we seen of the evidence in events in modern "Edom"? Ezekiel, chapters 25, 35 and 36 all directly pertain to the prophetic events which are unfolding at the present time of the year 2005, reading with the pungency of modern-day news headlines; only, with the pungency of a vantage point from heaven that lays bare "the thoughts and intentions of the heart", as only the Word of God can do:

Ezekiel 25:12-17…

"Thus says the Lord God: Because Edom has dealt against the house of Judah by TAKING VENGEANCE and has greatly offended and has become doubly guilty…I will also stretch out my hand against Edom, and will cut off and root out man and beast from it; and I will make it desolate; from Teman (Ed.- prophetically, the principal city of Edom, which is in modern day Jordan, stretching northward into Moab, the area of modern-day Syria) even to Dedan (Ed.- modern day Saudi Arabia) they shall fall by the sword. And I will lay MY vengeance upon Edom BY THE HAND OF MY PEOPLE ISRAEL; and they shall do upon Edom ACCORDING TO MY ANGER…and they shall know MY vengeance, says the Lord God." (See also Isaiah 34; Amos 1:11-12; and Obadiah) "…Because the Philistines (Ed. - those who roughly occupy the same regions of modern-day "Palestine") have dealt revengefully and have taken vengeance CONTEMPTUOUSLY, WITH MALICE AND SPITE IN THEIR HEARTS, TO DESTROY IN PERPETUAL ENMITY…I will stretch out My hand against the Philistines…and destroy THE REMAINDER OF THE SEACOAST."

Notice also that the simultaneous regional destruction of enemies from the east, the northeast, and the west is told, because these people are of a coordinated alliance which has identifiably sworn permanent enmity against Israel and God's people. Quite apparently, no effort of governments or treaties of man will alter their intentions. Therefore God appoints to them a time of His judgment, which will be seen to the whole world as a refuting of their claims, together with His pronouncement that there is a God in Israel!

This precise description of sudden utter desolation upon Israel's specifically-named neighbors, by God THROUGH Israel, has never before occurred. From the time of Isaiah to the present day, there has not been such an event. It is a prophetic event of such a magnitude as to be observed as unfolding specifically in the time of the end, AND AS A PRELUDE of other events to follow in sequence. Damascus, Syria is one of the oldest continuously inhabited cities in the world. In Isaiah 17:1, the permanent destruction of the city is prophesied. The timing of the permanent destruction of Damascus is very likely a notable effect of this regional war. It may be significant in this respect to note that the major Islamic terrorist organizations are headquartered in Damascus. Their instigations of terror may be the tripwire for their future demise together.

The book of Joel ends with the commencement of literally a new dispensation for Israel from the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob:

“Egypt shall be a desolation, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for their violence against the children of Judah, because they have shed innocent blood in their land. But Judah SHALL REMAIN AND BE INHABITED FOREVER, and Jerusalem from generation to generation. And I WILL cleanse and hold as INNOCENT their blood and avenge it, which I have not cleansed, held innocent and avenged, for the Lord DWELLS IN ZION.” (Amos 3:19-21, Amplified)

The likely evidence is that these events are set to PRECEDE the Gog-Magog invasion.

It might be said that what we will call the Edom/Moab war, is going to be one of the unfolding phases of events leading to Armageddon, but as such, it will evidently still be a separate action, A DISTINCTLY SEPARATE “WAR”. The reasons for this include the fact that according to Ezekiel 38:11, when Gog will be enticed to attack, it will come against “the land of unwalled villages…who are at rest, who dwell securely, all of them dwelling without walls.” This is obviously not the current condition of Israel, as we speak. Israel has walls being built to protect it from terrorist infiltrators. Since the establishment of the State of Israel in 1948, it has never fully been at rest, or dwelling securely. Indeed, it has not been able to, in the face of a perpetual vow from its immediately surrounding foes to see Israel destroyed. Currently chief among these are the Palestinian terror organizations, inspired and trained by Iran, fostered and headquartered in Damascus, Syria, and financed by Saudi Arabia.

Furthermore, in that time the only “wall” that is spoken of is the wall of fire—the Shekinah Glory—which will AFTERWARD be seen around His people in Israel, not before the devastating Edom/Moab war. The expression “At rest” also has only truly applied to Israel when in its history it has been at peace with God Himself, living securely in Covenant with Him.

The evidence is that prior to the Edom/Moab event, there will yet be some serious issues that God will have to “sort out” with Israel. This would include the continued, willful forsaking of its Covenant, until its modern-day prosperity as a secular state is suddenly lost (Isaiah 17:10-11). Concurrently, the prophet declares that, “…in that day the former glory of Jacob [Israel, his might, his population, his prosperity] shall BE ENFEEBLED, and the fat of his flesh shall BECOME lean.” (Isaiah 17:4, Amplified)

Gog, however, distinctly comes “To take a SPOIL AND A PREY; to turn your hand upon the desolate places now inhabited, and assail the people gathered out of the nations, WHO HAVE OBTAINED LIVESTOCK AND GOODS, who dwell at the CENTER of the earth” (Ezekiel 38:12). Zechariah makes mention of the very SAME event in time, saying that THIS will be the time for His people from all over the (now apostate) world to return to the land:

“…Jerusalem shall be inhabited and dwell as villages without walls, because of the MULTITUDE OF PEOPLE and LIVESTOCK in it. For I, says the Lord, will be to her a WALL OF FIRE round about, and I will be the GLORY in the midst of her. Ho! Ho! Hear and flee from the land of the north…Escape to Zion…For thus said the Lord of hosts, AFTER His glory had sent me [His messenger] to the nations who plundered you, for he who touches you touches the apple or pupil of His eye.” (Zechariah 2:4-9, Amp.)

Both of these references speak of a dispensation of supernatural security, only AFTER previous disaster to the nation. These both directly describe that Israel will be occupying circumstances of tremendously acquired wealth as well as world-wide notoriety as the “center” of international attention—not negative attention, as its first 50 year history has had it, but evidently now, very positive attention. This directly implies at least two basic presumptions: 1.) Israel has no more immediate threat from its formerly “Palestinian” territories, and 2.) Israel has had enough unopposed opportunity to draw huge numbers of immigrants in a very short period of time, because the political and economic scene has drastically changed from its former state. For those inclined to think that all of this could occur through the mere process of negotiation, as has been attempted up to the present time, the scriptures say otherwise. According to scriptures such as Ezekiel 36:11 and Joel 2:18-19, God Almighty promises to build them up, to multiply, and to increase them, “…according to their FORMER ESTATE". This refers directly, in context, to His plan to grant their borders according to His original plan to Joshua. That would be anything but "negotiable" to Israel's immediately surrounding enemies, today!

Also, very revealingly, the naming of the confederation which accompanies Gog and Magog, helps to further clarify that it is a separate event in time. Ezekiel 38:5-6 describes that league, and conspicuously LEAVES OUT Teman and Dedan, and Edom/Moab. This is so presumably because they will no more be powers to be reckoned, although Dedan apparently retains some political power (Eze.38:13) at the time of the Gog invasion.

The evidence is that there will be a massive, devastating war in the middle east in the near future, brought to a crisis by the escalating instigations of Israel's implacable regional neighbors—the descendants of Edom and Moab, who have historically sought to oppose Israel, as God's Covenant people in the land of His choosing with them, for HIS GLORY IN THE EARTH. The effect will be an aftermath of Israel victorious, although bloodied, and its "Edom/Moab neighbors" utterly destroyed. Their former territories will once again be occupied, over a period of months or several years, under circumstances favorable to Israel. This period of robust prosperity will result in the covetous invasion of Gog and its confederation, which is a distinctly separate event than the previous war, but necessary as part of the plan of Almighty God to allow this stepwise escalation of confrontations and successive judgments, to reveal His wisdom and will for the Earth He created. The events of the Gog-Magog invasion, and Armageddon to follow, are of another description, and higher purpose, in the summing up of all things. This may be described in greater detail, separately.

The above is only prelude to "His Appearing"!

Echoes From Heaven

Jeannette Rodgers

I am calling forth a life called worship. Deep calleth unto deep I say unto you. The praise shall pour from your lips and your life will be worship and song shall pour from your heart. Oh, that you would hear the echoes from heaven. If your ear will incline toward Me, you will hear and be unified with the heavenly hosts that encamp around in song and worship that is never ending. The host of angels that dance and sing and worship day in and day out all day and all night , Oh how they await the unity of those called Mine. That my children in the earth will join those with Me in the heavenlies in unified worship that is everlasting.

I look to the earth and watch for the life called worship, and the song called tried, tested, faithful, victorious and blessed. I listen for the praise at the mountain and the song in the valley and the worship called hunger, brokeness, love and holiness. I have come to bring you life and Life abundantly. I have placed the song of triumph with you. I have called you worship. Cry out Cry out... for this is the song of deliverance for many. My eyes look to and fro seeking those who will only worship in Spirit and Truth which is in Me. These will hear the echoes from the heavenlies.

Oh, that you will hear the echoes from Heaven and begin to dance and worship with the legions of angels and yea, even those warrior angels that battle on your behalf. Yea, I say it is through worship that I will be glorified. Come and seek My face and not My hand alone. I call you now to an intimate place in Me, an invitation to you, to come in , into the Holy of Holies. You cannot bring luggage or baggage here. You cannot bring unforgiveness, nor jealousy, nor strife, nor anger, nor bitterness here. You cannot bring self motivation or self edification here. This place is Holy ground. Remove your shoes from your feet. Remove your attitudes. Remove your performing. Remove your heavy garments. Remove your traditions. Remove your rituals. Remove your agendas. Remove your plans. Remove your titles. Remove your positions. Remove your wealth. Remove yourself. Remove false humility, Remove pride, Remove these things that you may enter in to this Holy place, for there I AM waiting. For there worship is true. That is the place called Beauty of Holiness.

Draw nigh....that you would hear the echoes from Heaven.

There is coming healing, deliverance and holiness from this place called Beautiful in My sight. In the echoes from Heaven a song will be brought over you and healing shall be in it. One shall sing life upon you and there will be deliverance through it.

I have given Worship and it is the key to the gate called Holiness. I have given this unto you. Come in, Come in. I am releasing the echoes from Heaven to you that worship would be done in earth as it is done in Heaven.

Eagles Gathering in California

Timothy Snodgrass

Aug 27, 2005
EAGLES GATHERING IN CALIFORNIA

August 27, 2005

In the early 1980's the Holy Spirit spoke to my heart that 'as it goes in California, so it shall go with the rest of the nation', and I believe that in no time in history has this statement been more true than now. Much is being weighed in the balance as we approach the end of 2005, and our nation now appears to be walking on a thin razor's edge of either judgment or revival. Keep your eyes closely on California this year, for I believe that as it goes in California in 2005, so it will go with the rest of the nation in 2006.

Many prophetic warnings have been given to the state of California, and likewise, many promises. To say that one or the other is valid or invalid would be a misrepresentation of what the Holy Spirit is saying. Do not concentrate solely on warnings and become a 'calamitist', whereas to over-focus on judgments is the path to eventual deception. But to ignore prophetic warnings can be a deadly mistake, whereas 99% of the time prophetic warnings are given so that the Church can intercede and ultimately avert the event.

Our ministry has released some strong prophetic warnings for California for this year, including words regarding a potential great quake, but these warnings have been for the purpose of averting or minimizing the size of the events through prayer and strategic action in dealing with the root of the issues (such as dividing the land of Israel and other national issues which will eventually lead to judgment if we do not pray for our leaders, instead of judging and condemning them). Remember, we should confront and attack flawed policies and issues, not attack people. We are called to pray for our leaders, not persecute them, so while educating our people on the issues, at the same time we must watch our words and not publicly condemn the leaders whom God has placed in office. Pray for them, address them in love and respect, and expect God to miraculously work behind the scenes to solve the problem and put the house in order, whether it be the House of Representatives, a House of Worship or a household of parents with their children. Pray for your leaders, do not slander or condemn them, whereas one thing is certain: if you touch God's anointed you risk having the judgment of God fall on your own house.

This year, as much spiritual warfare is being waged over the nations of the earth, I see a changing of the guards as many leaders within the spiritual and political realms have to give account for the seeds they have sown during their time in office, whether it be good or evil. As many nations are now being weighed in the balance and on the verge of severe judgments, I see a gathering of eagles on the frontlines in key cities around the world, and a call to prayer being trumpeted by God's elect to intercede for a change of direction while there is still time. One of these key cities is San Francisco, but there are other great cities as well where I believe the eagles will be gathering to intercede for America and the nations of the world. God's time clock is Jerusalem. Israel's evacuation from Gaza this month indicates that the world has now moved one step further towards that clock striking midnight, and although judgment may be delayed temporarily, it cannot be delayed indefinitely. Use your time wisely, for the King cometh!

Blessings,

Timothy Snodgrass

MINISTRY UPDATE - Over the next three months I will be traveling to Perth, Australia; San Francisco, California; then Sumatra, Indonesia where I will be gathering with other eagles to blow the shofar of warning and intercede for God's mercy and a divine interruption of judgment in these nations for the sake of the harvest and the elect. The 9.3 quake in December was just a warning of greater judgments to follow if there is not repentance, change of direction and the beginnings of a spiritual reformation. The initial birthing process of reformation need not take place at a national level to avert judgment, but can begin as a small flame within a single city as leaders begin to repent, unite and pray for their nation in brokenness and humility. The actions taken this year will determine the destiny of many nations in 2006.

Please consider sowing a gift today towards these strategic missions in Australia, the US and Indonesia, whereas airline tickets need to be purchased thirty days in advance to get the best price. Send all gifts to:

Everything Has Its Time

Daniël 12: 10
Many people will have their hearts and lives made pure and clean, but those who are evil will keep on being evil and never understand. Only the wise will understand.

Everything Has Its Time
Eclesiasties 3
1 Everything on earth has its own time and its own season.
2 There is a time for birth and death, planting and reaping,
3 for killing and healing, destroying and building,
4 for crying and laughing, weeping and dancing,
5 for throwing stones and gathering stones, embracing and parting.
6 There is a time for finding and losing, keeping and giving,
7 for tearing and sewing, listening and speaking.
8 There is also a time for love and hate, for war and peace.

Daniel 12
Michael, the chief of the angels, is the protector of your people, and he will come at a time of terrible suffering, the worst in all of history. And your people who have their names written in The Book will be protected.
Many of those who lie dead in the ground will rise from death. Some of them will be given eternal life, and others will receive nothing but eternal shame and disgrace.
Everyone who has been wise will shine as bright as the sky above, and everyone who has led others to please God will shine like the stars.

Daniël 12: 10
Many people will have their hearts and lives made pure and clean, but those who are evil will keep on being evil and never understand. Only the wise will understand.

A word that the Lord brought to my mind:

I Am sifting and purifying….
The time is close at hand that the world will witness MY army……
But now My mighty hand moves through the lives of my warriors- in-waiting. I will clear and uproot all that's not of Me…. and redouble what already had been given……
Light will grow lighter, darkness turn darker, clean will be cleaner and the foul will get even filthier…….

I break up and bind together, I remove and I will add…… to the army of MY choosing, the band of warriors that I will put together and by My Spirit will restore….
A time and yet a short time and My people will finally be one…the time of their shattering will be put to an end…….
I call My beloved together…. Fear not the time of drinking the bitter water……. Drink it, for I am the one who offers it!

Just like leather needs to be tanned and stripped of all that needs to get out of it, likewise I am busy to sift and purify…….
Do not fear this process but rather undergo it as a blessing…….Drink the bitter water that will purify and fortify…….

You need to become like a Hammer: people need to be touched and impacted by My Word…..
You need to become like a Fire: people need to be made clean and pure by THE WORD OF MY POWER and set ablaze with zeal and passion for Me…..
You need to become like a Sword: so that I can cut asunder that which originates from Me and from the flesh…..

My Army will radiate with unblemished purity and undivided strength! I will tolerate nothing less! Do not resist what I have set out to do…… Be still and know that I am God…..
I am the Lion of Judah! Eat My food and drink My water! The honey is in Me!

I Am the Lion of Judah!
In Me you will find honey that will taste good and sweet to those who have been broken, but turn out bitter
to those who will not quit walking in the flesh!

I want to roar, I am The Lion with the Honey in Me.
Honey is sweet for those who circumcise their hearts but bitter for those who walk in the flesh. The I Am is giving you a choice today!

Go On He Said
Catharina Schouten

I called Tina Ames to help me with the translation, of this word that I received, but we end up to both taking our talid and start to worshipping the Father.
That is why there is also a little note of Tina in this word.

Tina thank you for your help, but most of all, for your pure and humble heart
Catharina Schouten
Here is the word I received:

Father told me:

I am so lonely,
I am so lonely, everyone asking things of Me.
They are coming before My Throne to complain or to ask something for them selves.
Where are the ones coming just for Me?
Will you take a seat beside Me in this place?
Will you come with Me in My Silence?
Will you strip yourself from the world and your own needs and be with Me. Will you draw near Me and give Me your love?
Will you come and sit just for My face and not for what I can do?
Will you give Me your love, your trust, will you?

Your Loving Father

This morning I was looking for the Father, I tried to shout to get financial restoration but instead of shouting, I suddenly began to sing words like, “I love you Father”, “I’m not here for asking something Father, I’m not here for what you can do or give me. I am here Father just for You.” While I was singing, I heard His sweet soft voice telling me over and over again………
“Go on………..Go on”

I sang without knowing any time, and then suddenly I felt His power and strength. I could then shout, but not for myself, “not my finances, “my” things. I heard my spirit and voice cry out for the lost souls. “Give Me back My lost souls!”
The singing gave way to groaning intercession and suddenly I felt deep down in my heart “If we will sit at His feet, give Him our love, pour out ourselves before the Throne of Father then He will take it over and we will literally pray and sing what is in His will. You totally forget about yourself when you have His love, you have everything. You are using His heart.

The Father spoke,

“I will pour out Living Water on you.
It will be for the ones who are truly in My Spirit.
The ones who sit at My feet will become one with Me.
These are not asking anything for themselves in self righteousness but truly seeking for My heart. These are the ones I will tell My secrets.

I will reveal Myself to these faithful, humble vessels.
They are in the Holy of Holies. They will reveal My Word, My Plans and I can trust them because they will bring My People to Me."

Note of Tina Ames:

There is "One Thing" I seek, to behold the Face of His Beauty, if we will only seek Him, Worship Him first, then pray our intercession will change the world. Let us come to Him in holy reverence, in honor of who He is, He is worthy of extreme adoration and praise. There is none like our Most High G-d, Our Father, in Heaven. Let us Worship the Lamb and give Him thanksgiving and praise for bringing us to the Father. Holy and Great is His Name, His is Worthy of all Praise.

Just serving Him, by serving you!

Are you Listening? He that has an ear, let him hear.
Enough is Enough, saith the Lord God Almighty!!

For in this time if you LISTEN then, you will HEAR what I am saying to you My precious one.

For do you not hear the weeping from My heart?

For you have been given these things which I have proclaimed before you so that you might walk IN THEM and TOWARDS Me. I love you with an everlasting love.
Run, Run, to Me!! Come, Come to Me.

For yeah, many cry out , Bless me , Bless me, but yeah it has been written and therefore:

2 Chronicles 7:14
[14] IF...... My people, who are called by My name, will humble themselves and pray and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways,
THEN.......will I hear from heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land.

How can it be that only through devastation you are unified?
I say unto you, Enough is Enough!
How can it be that only through death people mourn and comfort each another?
I say unto you, Enough is Enough!
How can it be that Love is shown only in times where nothing else is left?
I say unto you Enough is Enough!
How can it be that My people, My church, My children and all who were created by MY breath only call upon My name in times of need?
Truly I say unto you. Enough is Enough!
How can there be division and yet you say I AM is there,
How can there be strife and yet you say I AM is there.
How can there be bondage and yet you say I AM is there.

For surely I say unto you in this hour, where the hands of the clock have moved, the shift has come and the suddenly's and the quickly's and the unexpected is upon the earth.

Enough is Enough! Is it not?

Is it not enough that I have given you, the gift of eternal life , the blessings of Liberty, the blessings of prosperity, the blessings of unity, the blessings of love, the blessings of family, the blessings of children, the blessings of friendship, the blessing that you are because I created you with divine purpose and beauty.

Seek Me, Seek Me.....

Where I AM , there is LOVE,
Where I AM there is peace,
Where I AM there is unity,
Where I AM there is Liberty.
There you will find ME, My presence, My Love, My peace, My plans for you.

I AM your hiding place and your refuge...yeah even in the midst of all that surrounds you. IF you will seek ME you Will find Me. For it is I that wait upon you.

Is not my Word, My Life that came to bring you abundance, enough?

Listen, Listen and you will hear the trumpets as they sound.

Joel 2:19-The Lord replied; I AM sending you Grain , New Wine, and Oil: Enough to satisfy you Fully!!

Enough is Enough!!

Elbow Room

Valarie Randleman

Elbow room is a place of expansion, a place of enlargement in Me. It is not a place of limitation; it is however, a place of spaciousness. As I said to My servant Abraham: "Lift up your eyes and see".... and as you look, see with the eyes of faith. I desire to give you double eyelids as an eagle. When you look at the Son, that extra eyelid will allow you to peer directly in the light of His presence.

So I say, Rejoice and again, I say, rejoice! Continue to come to the high places of worship, praise and most important of all, to meet Me, your God. For I know the plans I have for you..., plans of a future and hope. All power and authority is in My hand. I beckon you to come often. Let's commune in the secret place for there are vast treasures in My presence. In My presence there is fullness of joy, at My right hand are pleasures forevermore. Come on up, the view is beautiful!!

Eternal Life

Cindye Coates

What is eternal life? Is it endless mediocrity? God forbid! Jesus did not just come to this amazing planet to take away our sins and keep us out of hell. He came to do that and much, much more. He gave His life in order that we might obtain the same exact life NOW that we would have if we were in heaven. There's nothing more basic and yet so misunderstood than John 3:16!

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life!"

Before we can understand the meaning of "eternal life", it is imperative that we understand the meaning of the opposite meaning "perish".

Perish – atrophy, break down, become contaminated, cease, collapse, crumble, corrode, decay, decease, decline, decompose, demise, disappear, disintegrate, degenerate, deteriorate, dissolve, dwindle, end gradually, expire, fade, fail, fall, fragment, fold, hush, lessen, melt, recede, retire, retreat, shrivel, sicken, sink, stop, slump, spoil, suppurate, taper, thin, tire, tucker out, vanish, waste, wither, wane, waste away, weaken, wear away, to withdraw.

Now lets read John 3:16…

For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believes in Him should not perish (atrophy, break down, become contaminated, cease, collapse, crumble, corrode, decay, decease, decline, decompose, demise, disappear, disintegrate, degenerate, deteriorate, dissolve, dwindle, end gradually, expire, fade, fail, fall, fragment, fold, hush, lessen, melt, recede, retire, retreat, shrivel, sicken, sink, stop, slump, spoil, suppurate, taper, thin, tire, tucker out, vanish, waste, wither, wane, waste away, weaken, wear away, and withdraw) but have ETERNAL LIFE!

Well now, that's a little more than we've probably ever considered before. Notice this foundational scripture does not emphasize sin. Neither does it mention demons and hell. It's all about the wonderful benefits of believing in Jesus to be the only begotten Son of God who came to do something totally wonderful! I wonder what would happen if we presented this message to those trapped in sin. A dog will never let you pull the bone out of his mouth unless you give him a steak instead. We all have the teeth marks to prove it.

Eternal Life in The Eternal Now

Eternal refers to eternity-past and eternity-future all compressed into the eternal now! It speaks of fullness every hour of every day. Eternal life means that we are forever growing, thriving, progressing, increasing, expanding, developing, advancing, waxing strong, enlarging, prospering, radiating, rising, scoring, shining, succeeding, abounding in plenteousness, flourishing, overflowing, proliferating, growing, improving, upgrading, blossoming, appreciating, strengthening, broadening, building, and gaining.

Eternal Life is the Now Life. It's the life in Christ, who is the same yesterday, today and forever. He is always now. We are alive in Him NOW and forever. Whatever we desire to attain when we die can actually be granted now as the life Jesus has bestowed upon all who believe in Him is eternal and that includes this present time; today. Up until now, we have denied ourselves the privilege of such a great and precious revelation. I decree and declare that this moment on, we will grasp with our understanding what we have been given by our Father right now!

Most people fail because they procrastinate. They put things off and mentally live in the future. They somehow ignore the power of living in the moment. Successful people plan for the future but live highly productive lives in present tense. They are not looking to know God when they get old. They are seeking Him today. They are not waiting to die and be free from sickness. They are receiving their healing now. They are not waiting to retire to enjoy their family. They are making their family time a priority now. They seize the moment and live life in fullness. This is the meaning of eternal life in the eternal now!

Purpose of Our Life

Note: To see God's original intent in creating mankind, we must go to Genesis and look at Adam and Eve in the garden. They're the blueprints before "the fall".

God did not create Adam and Eve to:

1. Exercise their faith for healing
2. Exercise their faith for money
3. Do spiritual warfare with demons
4. Witness to people about salvation

God created them to bring Him pleasure by enjoying His creation and each other. It was due to the fall that we find ourselves having to engage in those things mentioned above. We must understand that Jesus is held in the heavens until all things are restored. The first thing that must be restored is our minds! We must develop a redemption consciousness. We must meditate on what was purchased for us at Calvary. We must learn to possess that which was already possessed for us by Jesus. We must bring Him the pleasure He so desires and deserves. He takes pleasure in our continual, perpetual, prosperity right now!

Psalms 35:27 Let them shout for joy and be glad, Who favor my righteous cause; And let them say continually, "Let the LORD be magnified, Who has pleasure in the prosperity of His servant."

Elijah's Three Tasks

Bill Somers

> Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD: Mal 4:5

The verse quoted above should be a very important part of our end time prophetic vision. The obvious reason, pointed out by many, is that it gives a sign to look for, that must precede the Day of the Lord. Many have written that they expect to see a movement or ministry that would function like Elijah did. Men and women moving in the spirit and power or Elijah. Some are even expecting Elijah himself to come in the flesh!

The second reason is that this verse links the ministry of Elijah with the End Times. I find that there is something very special about the story of Elijah as related in the Books of the Kings.

King Solomon takes up 11 chapters of 1 Kings. Jereboam has chapters 12, 13 and half of 14. Chapter 15 and 16 take us through a group of succeeding kings taking us up to Ahab.

Elijah comes along in chapter 17 and continues to the end of 1 Kings in chapter 22 and takes up again in 2 Kings. Elijah's ministry is carried on by Elisha who finally dies at the end of chapter 13. That makes 19 chapters in all. In these 19 chapters we find a great wealth of types and allegories of the End Times.

Our opening quote from Malachi 4:5 is referred to in the Gospel of Mathew.

> And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the scribes that Elias must first come?
> And Jesus answered and said unto them, Elias truly shall first come, and restore all things.
> But I say unto you, That Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but have done unto him whatsoever they listed. Likewise shall also the Son of man suffer of them.
> Then the disciples understood that he spake unto them of John the Baptist. Mat 17:10-13

Note here that in verse 11 Jesus says Elias [Elijah] shall come, and in verse 12 He says Elias has already come! And they understood that He meant that John the Baptist was Elijah! This is a multiple fulfillment of Malachi 4:5. John the Baptist fulfilled it and it will be fulfilled again in the future.

This indicates that John the Baptist carried out the role or tasks of Elijah in Jesus time. And we can expect this to occur again in our time. It also means that God is operating according to a certain pattern in the way he works things out. This pattern was set forth in the ministry of Elijah. The pattern was repeated in the ministry of John the Baptist and will be repeated again.

What this pattern is can be found by looking at the three tasks of Elijah.

The major points in Elijah's ministry are these:

1. He has a first confrontation with Ahab,
2. He is secluded for 3 and a half years,
3. He returns and holds a sacrifice on Mt. Carmel,
4. He flees from Jezebel to Mt. Horeb,

5. He returns from Mt. Horeb to carry out his three fold commission,
6. He meets with Ahab in Naboth's vineyard,
7. He is taken up into heaven.

Item 3 here is especially important. It gives us a great picture of confrontation with evil and triumphing over it. It is also a foreshadow of end time revival and harvest. But we are going to take a look at item 5, the three fold commission of Elijah.

What exactly was it?

> And the LORD said unto him, Go, return on thy way to the wilderness of Damascus: and when thou comest, anoint Hazael to be king over Syria:
> And Jehu the son of Nimshi shalt thou anoint to be king over Israel: and Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abelmeholah shalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room.
> And it shall come to pass, that him that escapeth the sword of Hazael shall Jehu slay: and him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu shall Elisha slay. 1 Kings 19:15-17

A Pattern is Set.
Elijah was told to go and anoint Hazael, Jehu and Elisha. Elisha was to be the new prophet coming after Elijah. Jehu was to be the New King of Israel. And Hazael to be the new King of Syria. In these cases the prophet acts as the spokesman and agent of God. He passes along to the person being anointed, God's power and authority to carry out a particular office. That is he places a mantle or commission from God on a particular person to do a particular job.

We know that Samuel anointed Saul and David. The Kings were sometimes anointed by prophets this way. It is also common for prophets to anoint other prophets and pass along their gifts or mantles this way. What is so curious here is Hazael! What is the point of having Elijah anoint the King of Syria, the leader of Israel's enemies?

We find in 1 Kings 19 where Elijah recruits Elisha.

> 1 Kings 19:19 So he departed thence, and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelfth: and Elijah passed by him, and cast his mantle upon him.

And later in 2 Kings 2, Elijah finally passes the mantle to Elisha.

> 2 Kings 2:
> 9 And it came to pass, when they were gone over, that Elijah said unto Elisha, Ask what I shall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Elisha said, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me.
> 10 And he said, Thou hast asked a hard thing: nevertheless, if thou see me when I am taken from thee, it shall be so unto thee; but if not, it shall not be so.
> 11 And it came to pass, as they still went on, and talked, that, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, and parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven.
> 12 And Elisha saw it, and he cried, My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof. And he saw him no more: and he took hold of his own clothes, and rent them in two pieces.
> 13 He took up also the mantle of Elijah that fell from him, and went back, and stood by the bank of Jordan;

In 2 Kings 9, Jehu is anointed. But not by Elijah, who has been taken up into heaven by then. And it's not by Elisha either but by one of his servants.

> 2 Kings 9:
> 1 ¶ And Elisha the prophet called one of the children of the prophets, and said unto him, Gird up thy loins, and take this box of oil in thine hand, and go to Ramothgilead:
> 2 And when thou comest thither, look out there Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi, and go in, and make him arise up from among his brethren, and carry him to an inner chamber;
> 3 Then take the box of oil, and pour it on his head, and say, Thus saith the LORD, I have anointed thee king over Israel. Then open the door, and flee, and tarry not.

And we read in 2 Kings 8, how Elisha anoints Hazael.

> 2 King 8:
> 7 And Elisha came to Damascus; and Benhadad the king of Syria was sick; and it was told him, saying, The man of God is come hither.
> 8 And the king said unto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand, and go, meet the man of God, and enquire of the LORD by him, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?
> 9 So Hazael went to meet him, and took a present with him, even of every good thing of Damascus, forty camels' burden, and came and stood before him, and said, Thy son Benhadad king of Syria hath sent me to thee, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?
> 10 And Elisha said unto him, Go, say unto him, Thou mayest certainly recover: howbeit the LORD hath shewed me that he shall surely die.
> 11 And he settled his countenance stedfastly, until he was ashamed: and the man of God wept.
> 12 And Hazael said, Why weepeth my lord? And he answered, Because I know the evil that thou wilt do unto the children of Israel: their strong holds wilt thou set on fire, and their young men wilt thou slay with the sword, and wilt dash their children, and rip up their women with child.
> 13 And Hazael said, But what, is thy servant a dog, that he should do this great thing? And Elisha answered, The LORD hath shewed me that thou shalt be king over Syria.

Notice here that Elisha did not actually pass a mantle or physically anoint Hazael. He did however acknowledge him as the new King of Syria. And recognize that he would be carrying out judgment against Israel.

In some ways this reminds me of Moses before Pharaoh in Exodus 12, when Pharaoh says

> "Also take your flocks and your herds, as ye have said, and be gone; and bless me also." Exodus 12:32

So Elijah's three tasks were to raise up a new prophet, anoint a new king, and acknowledge or authorize a new enemy to execute judgment. He did not personally complete all three, his successor did some of it. Because he has left the scene before it is all completed.

The pattern repeated.

How does this compare with what John the Baptist did?
In Mark 1 we read:

> Mark 1:
> 9 And it came to pass in those days, that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized of John in Jordan.
> 10 And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens opened, and the Spirit like a dove descending upon him:

Here John did not anoint, he baptized. The effect however is the same. Jesus was the new prophet who succeeded John. For John said,

> He must increase but I must decrease. John 3:30

Jesus is also the new King of Israel. John also leaves the scene before the third task is finished.

The new 'king of Syria' is Judas Iscariot, the man of perdition. And Jesus 'anoints' or authorizes him to carry out judgment in the following passage.

> John 13:
> 21 When Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.
> 22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.
> 23 Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one of his disciples, whom Jesus loved.
> 24 Simon Peter therefore beckoned to him, that he should ask who it should be of whom he spake.
> 25 He then lying on Jesus' breast saith unto him, Lord, who is it?
> 26 Jesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it. And when he had dipped the sop, he gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon.
> 27 And after the sop Satan entered into him. Then said Jesus unto him, That thou doest, do quickly.

Here the judgment is not against Israel the nation, but against Israel personified, namely Jesus Himself. But all three elements of the commission are fulfilled. And the three characters are in parallel.

Elijah is to Elisha is to Hazael as John is to Jesus is to Judas. John baptized Jesus who was the new prophet and the new king. Jesus gave Judas permission to betray him.

The Book Of Acts

In the Book of Acts we see the same pattern again, though not quite as clear. In this case the three characters are Stephen, Paul and Caesar Nero.

Stephen's ministry has some parallels with John the Baptist's. He had a great impact in his time and ended up being martyred.

> And Stephen, full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people. Then there arose certain of the synagogue, which is called the synagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and Alexandrians, and of them of Cilicia and of Asia, disputing with Stephen. Acts 6:8-9
> And cast him out of the city, and stoned him: and the witnesses laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, whose name was Saul.
> And they stoned Stephen, calling upon God, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit. Acts 7: 58-59

His ministry was followed by that of Saul as he became Paul. So Paul was raised up and had a ministry that was greater that Stephens, just as Elisha's was greater than Elijah's and Jesus' was greater than John's. Paul was the new prophet, and he proclaimed Jesus and the new king in his ministry to the gentiles. Since Jehu is a figure of Jesus in the second coming, each instance of this pattern has Jesus as King.

As the Lord spoke of him in Acts 9:

> … for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, > and the children of Israel:

> For I will shew him how great things he must suffer for my name's sake. Acts 9:15-16

Near the end of Paul's ministry we see how Paul ends up being sent to Caesar.

> While he answered for himself, Neither against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor yet against Caesar, have I offended any thing at all.
> Then said Paul, I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews have I done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.
> For if I be an offender, or have committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof these accuse me, no man may deliver me unto them. I appeal unto Caesar.
> Then Festus, when he had conferred with the council, answered, Hast thou appealed unto Caesar? unto Caesar shalt thou go. Acts 25:8, 10-12
> Then said Agrippa unto Festus, This man might have been set at liberty, if he had not appealed unto Caesar. Acts 26:32

So what happened here is that when Paul said : I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, it was the same as when Jesus said to Judas That thou doest, do quickly . Paul was giving Caesar permission to carry out judgment against him, just as Jesus gave Judas permission.

"Caesar' has the meaning of "severed". The Caesars referred to in the New Testament are.
1. Augustus Luke 2:1
2. Tiberius Luke 3:1 20:22
3. Claudius Acts 11:28
4. Nero Acts 25:8 Philippians 4:22

Nero was the Caesar that Paul went before and who had him martyred. The name Nero, interestingly enough, is said to have a numeric of 666.

End Time Application..
I once heard an interesting discussion about ministries raising up other ministries. It was said that since the reformation, all the great leaders who came along were not able to raise up successors who went on to become greater than them. Luther, Calvin, Knox, Wesley, etc all represent peaks in the progress of the church. These peaks were followed by declines. Likewise the great revivals are all peaks in the growth of the church. Each revival was followed by a decline.

But the Word of God says

> Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD: Mal 4:5

And we take that to mean that the end time church will be gifted with a ministry that will also carry out the three tasks of Elijah. That today's church leaders will be privileged to raise up a new generation who will far surpass them in accomplishments. They will be ministries who will do the greater works.

Likewise, the revival we have today, great as it is, will be far outshone by the final end time revival and harvest that the Lord is going to give.

In this case the three tasks of Elijah are to raise up a greater ministry, Proclaim a new King, King Jesus, and to lay their lives down in service to Jesus.

The three characters are today's church, the end time church [man-child] and the beast or anti-christ, whose number is 666, and who is given power to overcome the saints. {See Satan's Final Challenge by Bill Somers}

We can see that the pattern in the ministry of Elisha is a pattern for the end time church. The pattern set by Jesus is a pattern for the end time church. The pattern followed by Paul is a pattern for the end time church, [It shows Paul to be a type of the end time church, his conversion a type of revival.]

And so this pattern as it will work out gives us three stages. First is where we are now, preparing for and anticipating a great revival and harvest.

Second will be the End Time Apostolic Church that will receive the final outpouring of the Spirit and will do the Greater Works.

Third will be a church that is willing to present their bodies a living sacrifice, laying down their lives just as Jesus and Paul did. And being able to say with Paul:

> For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand.
> I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith:
> Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing. 2 Timothy 4:6-8.

Eat My Flesh

Chip Brogden

http://www.watchman.net

Except a man eat my flesh and drink my blood, he has no life in him (John 6:53).
How can this man give us His flesh to eat? So wondered the crowd, and so we wonder, even when we know that Christ is referring to Himself in a spiritual sense (My Words are Spirit and Life...the flesh profits nothing). So what is meant by this strange command? How may we apply it to our Christian life?

It is actually not as mysterious or enigmatic as it sounds. Let us say at once that what man needs is more than healing of the body, or restoring of the soul. He needs the impartation of Life into his spirit, his inner man. In order to abide in the Living Christ one must be alive in spirit. This presence of Life in the inner man is absolutely essential. We need more than a touch from God; we must have God Himself. There is an ocean of difference between receiving the blessing and receiving the One Who blesses; between getting a touch and receiving the One Who touches; between healing and the Healer; between redemption and Redeemer; between salvation and Savior. The former deals with what God has or can do, while the latter deals with God Himself.

For too long we have contented ourselves with what God can do for us and what He can give us. We come to the Lord with a need in mind, and the next day we approach with another need, and the following day we return with yet another request. This pattern repeats itself continually. We return again and again to withdraw a little more from the heavenly bank. Surely we should let our requests be made known unto God, and we must also ask, that we may receive. But think: if a man owns a field, does he not also possess the buried treasure in the field? Christ even gave us a parable to this effect. Does it not stand to reason then, that if we receive HIM, we possess all He has? How shall He not, with His Son, freely give us all things?

So when we turn to the matter of His Life in us, it is important that we grasp Christ for Christ’s sake, and not look on Eternal Life as a separate thing Christ gives to those who ask. Christ is Our Life. We do not call upon a friend and say, I would like to speak to your emotion for a few minutes, but later I want to address your intellect. Later I hope to commune with your heart for a bit, and maybe then our bodies can go out to eat dinner while our souls remain here and read a book together. How absurd to even consider it, for we do not divide people into parts and relate to them as separate things. We relate to others holistically, and even though we can clearly identify the parts we would never dream of isolating one part of a persons life and trying to separate it from who they are.

In like manner we must begin to see that Christ is Life, the sum total of many parts which equal His Being. The individual parts are what we usually seek - a little life for the dying, some health for the sick, a word of wisdom for the ignorant, a dose of guidance for the confused, a shot of patience for the impatient, a wave of joy for the depressed. We ask for, and receive a thousand and one little pieces of Christ and think this is Christianity. This is not Christianity.

If we would realize that God only has one Gift, that is, His Son Jesus Christ, it would save us a lot of unnecessary heartache and effort. Would it shock you to learn that God has not given us a thing called eternal life? The Apostle John made this quite clear in his inspired writings, saying first of all, in the oft quoted John 3:16, that the Son is that which was given, and eternal life is simply the reward for those who receive the Son. It becomes even more apparent in the First Epistle of John, and one of my favorite passages of Scripture: This is the record, that God hath given us Eternal Life, and this Life is in His Son. He that hath the Son hath Life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not Life. Yes we are given Eternal Life, true, but the Life is not floating out in space somewhere waiting to fall on those who ask. Eternal Life has nothing to do with everlasting existence. Eternal Life is a Person; the Life is the Son; hence, we need only ask if we have received Jesus and we shall know whether we have Eternal Life. The Life is bound up in the Son, as is every one of Gods precious gifts. Having the Son, we therefore have all the Son has. Eternal Life is simply an alias for Christ.

Now the Scripture concerning eating His flesh and drinking His blood becomes clear. Jesus had just multiplied the bread and the crowd was thrilled. Give us to eat of this bread evermore, they said. Please hear what I am saying. It is good to be fed, to have the bread and fish multiplied before your eyes, and to take up the basketfuls that remain. This was indeed a miracle. But the things Christ gives you and does for you will never satisfy you. Only He alone can satisfy. They ate of the loaves, and were filled, yes. For a time. After a little while the hunger came back again, the stomachs began to growl, and they had to seek Christ for bread all over again. This pattern would fain repeat itself for ages. So Christ offered them more than another meal; He offered Himself as the final solution and fulfillment of all they hungered for.

The simple, beautiful truth of this passage is that we must receive Christ into ourselves, digesting Him so to speak, and thus uniting with Him. For he that is joined to the Lord is one spirit with Him. Obviously the physical Christ could not be received, as the crowd pointed out. How then do we receive Christ? May I say it reverently? The Holy Spirit is Christ in a receivable form. The physical Christ can multiply the loaves and fill our stomachs; but the Spiritual Christ can satisfy us with His Presence. This is why He said, It is expedient for you that I go away... but I will come again. We look forward to His Second Coming, and the Rapture of the Church, but there is an immediate sense to which He refers to as well: that is, His coming to us in the form of the Holy Spirit. As a Man we could only behold Him, as Holy Spirit we may receive Him; as a Man He could give us to eat; as Spirit He becomes our food and drink, our life and sustenance.

Encouragement
Bill Click

This word was received in my spirit Tuesday (6/14) around 10:30am. I believe it will illuminate as well as encourage. Church, we can ALL He wants for us!

"Be encouraged, body of My Son, the doors are shutting to the old ways so that the new ways can be identified and open."

"The old thoughts are being exposed as unsatisfactory so the new release of My heart can be desired and sought," says the Lord.

"The old fatigue is being revealed so that new life can be yearned for and received," says the Lord.

"You have not come to failure, but to a temporary impasse, to that moment in Me which stands between what you have had and what I have for you. You have not come to the place of stopping, but instead to a foundry that you be rekindled with new fire. You have not come to a time of destruction, but a season of coming more completely under the shadow of My wing," says the King.

"Nothing will prevent what I want, but what I want more than all else is you. Therefore, allow that which I am counting as less than yours to fall away so that I can renew you in this day," says the Lord.

"Allow Me to show you what you haven't seen, so what I have seen will be envisioned and embraced. Then you will be catapulted forwarded in the race," says the Lord.

"My will shall be revealed as you take your place in My grace, My words will be established as you cleave to My way, My anointing will be yours as you allow that which has seemingly brought you to naught to become the impetus of beginning to do as you ought. If you will, then in days ahead you will not be caught unawares due to being burdened by cares," says the Lord.

"For I am coming to bring power, I am coming to release increase, I am coming to deploy My anointed ones in their strength. But you must grasp My height, My depth, My breadth and length if you are to rise up in My strength, for I am larger than you have imagined and am desiring to do much more than you have dreamed."

"Now thrust in the sickle and see if I don't produce through you," says the Lord. "Break up the fallow ground as it is encountered. Till the soil, pour the oil and gain strength for the toil, so that you will be able to spoil the enemies plans by My commands," says the Lord.

"For I am now commanding, that you become more demanding in your standing, that you might see the landing that I have for you a place of arrival in newness, a display of wealth in My spirit, a rising of healing in your bodies and a supply of provision for My every decision," says the Lord.

Endangered Species

Priscilla Van Sutphin

May 10th, 2005

“I am looking forward to the end of all time, when I can sit with you all at My banqueting table. The plates are set out, and the food will be just wonderful. In the meantime, I am looking out for those who are truly an endangered species ! I have been working in your hearts to make them more one with Mine, and to help you to learn dependence on ME, instead of on man. I am Your Abba, and there is nothing you cannot bring to ME. Surely those who truly seek after Me and spend time with Me in this hour are an endangered species for everyone is too busy, busy striving – “busyness as usual”.

I am also setting a table before you in the presence of your enemies as you learn to worship Me in the beauty of holiness. Surely goodness and mercy will follow you the rest of your days if you will follow Me. Do not feel sad when men persecute you and say all manner of evil against you, for so they treated the prophets of old. You are not alone in this world. Many are suffering far greater things all over the earth. Those in muslim and Hindu nations and those in Buddhist and Communist nations have given of their lives, and suffer hardship and abandonment by family and friends, and the loss of all things of this earth. Do not think it strange My beloveds if you have to endure hardship as a good soldier of Christ !

I tell you the truth, that even if the earth trembles and shakes off it’s axis, not one word of my Word will be changed. All things will be fulfilled. Be NOT AFRAID , for I have conquered the world and all the power of the evil one ! I have a big surprise for the enemy’s forces. He thinks he will be able to overthrow My plans. It has always been his strategy and the pride with which he succumbed. In ages past, he has seemingly triumphed. But in this hour, I WILL ARISE AND MY NAME WILL BE MADE GLORIOUS IN THE WHOLE EARTH !

The hearts of My children in ALL NATIONS will thrill as I come closer and closer in dwelling with You, and living in UNION with you in an even greater and more tangible way !

The fire on many altars is strange fire. People worship and praise Me, and then go home and do not follow ME. Many are following men and not ME. Many are following after money and self. Many are seeking to lift their name up in the guise of lifting up Me. Whose names are a treasure to Me ?
Who is it that I come close to ? Is it not the CONTRITE of heart ? Is it not the one who TREMBLES at My name ? Yet this people are snared in holes and no one says RELEASE !!!

I will break through the gates of bronze and the bars of iron that are holding my people hostage to pride and arrogance. It will come however at a great cost to them. Pride comes before a fall I’ve said. Sometimes a fall is all that removes pride. Sometimes people will only become humble through chastening. Pray that you may be kept from the day of wrath ! Pray for those caught in the trap of the WORLD, the flesh and the devil ! Pray for the blindness & deafness to be removed ! I will soon RELEASE MY SPIRIT in power and glory ! I am not a man that I should lie, nor a son of man that I should change My mind!”

Isa 30:30-32 NKJV The LORD will cause His glorious voice to be heard,
And show the descent of His arm, with the indignation of His anger and the flame of a devouring fire, with scattering, tempest, and hailstones.
31 For through the voice of the LORD Assyria will be beaten down, As He strikes with the rod. 32 And in every place where the staff of punishment passes, which the LORD lays on him, It will be with tambourines and harps;
And in battles of brandishing He will fight with it.

Isa 31:5 NKJV Like birds flying about, so will the LORD of hosts defend Jerusalem. Defending, He will also deliver it; passing over, He will preserve it."

Ps 12:5 NKJV "For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy,
Now I will arise," says the LORD; "I will set him in the safety for which he yearns."

Isa 60:2 NKJV For behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and deep darkness the people; But the LORD will arise over you, and His glory will be seen upon you.

Isa 42:6-8 NKJV "I, the LORD, have called You in righteousness, And will hold Your hand; I will keep You and give You as a covenant to the people,
As a light to the Gentiles, 7 To open blind eyes, To bring out prisoners from the prison, Those who sit in darkness from the prison house. 8 I am the LORD, that is My name; And My glory I will not give to another, Nor My praise to carved images.

Matt 5:11-12 NKJV "Blessed are you when they revile and persecute you, and say all kinds of evil against you falsely for My sake. 12 Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for so they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Matt 5:44 NKJV But I say to you, love your enemies, bless those who curse you, do good to those who hate you, and pray for those who spitefully use you and persecute you,

Luke 11:49 NKJV Therefore the wisdom of God also said, 'I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they will kill and persecute,'

Luke 21:12-14 NKJV But before all these things, they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and prisons. You will be brought before kings and rulers for My name's sake. 13 But it will turn out for you as an occasion for testimony.

John 15:20-21 NKJV Remember the word that I said to you, 'A servant is not greater than his master.' If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they kept My word, they will keep yours also. 21 But all these things they will do to you for My name's sake, because they do not know Him who sent Me.

Covenant Life
Priscilla Van Sutphin

May 15th, 2005

Luke 1:72-75 NKJV To perform the mercy promised to our fathers and to remember His holy covenant, 73 The oath which He swore to our father Abraham: 74 To grant us that we, being delivered from the hand of our enemies, might serve Him without fear, 75 In holiness and righteousness before Him all the days of our life.

2 Cor 3:6 NKJV who also made us sufficient as ministers of the new covenant, not of the letter but of the Spirit; for the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life.

“My covenants are SURE. When I speak a promise to you, it is a covenant between you and I. Did I ever not keep My covenant with Abraham, Isaac, or Jacob ? Did I not fulfill all that I told them ? Did they have to strive to
